CONSTITUTIONALIST ARMY IS CLOSING IN ON CITY OF OJINAGA

Gen. Manzanilla, One of Huerta's Strongest Men, Deserts.

Lind Sends for O'Shaughnessy—Approves Waiting Policy.

Presidio, Tex., Jan. 8.—Gen. Francisco Villa's Constitutionalists were today reported to be slowly closing in on Ojinaga, preparatory to a renewed attack when more ammunition arrives. The Federal garrison is making ready to resist another attack.

Gen. Jose Manzanilla, one of the most important commanders of the Mexican Federal army, has deserted. He crossed over the American side yesterday from Ojinaga, and was held by the United States border patrol.

Accompanied by his son, a captain, Gen. Manzanilla gave a fictitious name to the immigration officials, but on being taken before Maj. McNamee, commanding the United States troops, he admitted his identity and asked for asylum in this country. He had discarded his sword on the Mexican side. Pending orders from Brig. Gen. Bliss at San Antonio, he was placed under custody.

Although Gen. Manzanilla is the first officer of rank of the Huerta troops to desert his post for foreign territory, three or four hundred of the regular troops had previously deserted to this side.

Gen. Manzanilla, commanding a division of regular troops as distinguished from the volunteers, was regarded as a fighting general and a strong supporter of Huerta's regime. His leaving the army was said by the the rebels to be the precursor of a gradual crossing to this side of more of the Federal troops.

Skirmish fighting between the outposts of Gen. Villa's rebel forces and the Federals has begun near Ojinaga.

After a conference of immigration, Red Cross and customs officers, all refugees were vaccinated yesterday on account of a few cases of smallpox which had been found among the 1,500 Mexican refuges now camped on this side.

WILSON DECIDING MANY QUESTIONS

President Has Had Time to "Catch Up" During His Vacation.

Pass Christian, Miss., Jan. 8.—Two weeks of quiet seclusion were completed today by President Wilson in this little village. It is the longest period of time he has spent away from Washington since he took office.

So carefully has Mr. Wilson followed a consistent program of work proportioned with exercise and rest, that the people of this section hardly realize that the president of the United States has been dwelling among them.

He has caught up with neglected details in his study of subjects thrust aside in the maelstrom of the tariff and currency agitation, and he will go back to the capital with his mind made up on many subjects of prime importance.

FIND LA CROSSE LID IS ONLY PRETENSE

Legislative Investigators Continue Search for Vice There.

La Crosse, Wis., Jan. 8.—Although La Crosse is supposed to be closed tight, Chairman Teasdale of the state vice commission announced at the opening of the hearing this morning that the commission had positive evidence that a segregated vice district exists here and he advised the local authorities and reform organizations to "get busy." Senator Teasdale said that the commission had its own agents here and had found out that while the vice district was nominally closed, it existed in fact.

Further sensational testimony developed when it was charged on the stand by Harry L. Taylor, member of the executive committee of the Public Welfare league, that employes of large firms had lost their positions because of their activity in a high license campaign a year ago, and B. S. Steadwell, a local man, who is president of the World's Purity Federation, offered to produce a letter written by one firm to employes warning them that they must not become identified with reform movements.

A half dozen witnesses furnished names of five dance halls in La Crosse which were said to be operated in connection with saloons, contrary to law.

Girl employes of stores and factories also continued their testimony today on wages and conditions in the factories. This testimony was taken in secret, only one girl being admitted to the room at a time and all spectators being excluded.

FULL BULL MOOSE TICKET FOR IOWA.

MORSE AFTER HIS ACCUSERS

Wants Congress to Order Inquiry Into His Conviction.

Also Plans to Sue Leading Men for Damages.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Charles W. Morse, former "ice king," one of the most spectacular figures in American finance and the principal actor in a drama that lasted for a half dozen years and carried him from the banking regions of New York to the Atlanta penitentiary, is about to write another chapter to his story.

After months of patient investigation and labor, Morse is trying to launch an investigation by a congressional committee of all the circumstances which led up to his conviction six years ago of violation of the national banking laws. Although his plans have not been announced, it has become known here that he also contemplates suit for damages against prominent New York bankers and other persons connected with his trial and conviction.

Talked With Borah.

Morse was in Washington Tuesday for a few hours. He had a talk with Senator Borah of Idaho, and suggested to him the need for an investigation of his case by a senate committee. Although the Idaho senator refused to press the matter, the ex-banker is understood to have left Washington still determined to force an investigation.

Morse was sent to the Atlanta peni-

SCANDAL OVER DRINK FOR TOMMY ATKINS

British Army Canteen Center of Bribery Charges.

London, Jan. 8.—Summonses against sixteen British army officers and civilians were granted today by the police magistrate at the Bow street court. The men are called to appear on Jan. 17 to asswer charges in connection with the management of the canteens in army barracks. It is hinted that a scandal of tremendous proportions will be revealed in the inquiry which will be begun on that date.

No names or particulars of the charges were given out for publication today, but it is known generally that the army officers concerned belong to the quartermaster's department and that all of them have risen from the ranks. The civilians summoned are clerks employed by contractors.

Systematic bribery is alleged to have been prevalent for some time. A secret army inquiry showed such widespread corruption that the war office decided to turn its evidence over to the regularly constituted authorities.

War office officials feared that the court-martial which they had proposed to call would not have jurisdiction sufficiently wide to deal properly with the scandal.

HE CARRIES $3,000,000 IN CURRENCY WITH HIM.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 8.—Three million dollars in coin and currency was taken through St. Louis last night by B. S. Davison, chief of police of Houston, Tex. He was taking the money from a bank in Houston to a Chicago bank. By employing him, the Houston bank saved nearly $30,000 which an express company has asked to transport the money.

SHERMAN ACT NOT TOUCHED IN NEW BILLS

Anti-Trust Measures Are Ready to Go Before Congress.

Clayton of Alabama Makes Statement Regarding Them.

Refuses Details, But Says Baltimore Platform Is Followed.

Washington, Jan. 8.—The administration anti-trust legislation program was completed today so far as the preliminary work of the house committee on judiciary is concerned. Bills have been prepared covering every phase of the trust question, and are ready for submission to the full committee soon after congress reassembles Monday. The judiciary committee members will confer next week with President Wilson and the anti-trust legislation details will be made clear.

Representative Clayton of Alabama, chairman of the committee, authorized the announcement that in co-operation with Representatives Carlin of Virginia, chairman of the subcommittee on trusts, and Representative Floyd of Arkansas, he had finished the preliminary work of the committee on the subject of trust legislation.

Sherman Law Not Touched.

He said that "bills touching every phase of the subject have been prepared," and that upon the return of the full committee to the city the bills will be taken up for consideration.

The views of the president and of the Democratic party as expressed in the national platform have been followed in the preparation of the bills, according to Mr. Clayton. He declined to give the details of the proposed legislation, but said the Sherman anti-trust law had been left intact. He also stated that one of the bills would cover interlocking directorates.

PLAN BIG WAR GAME ON ATLANTIC COAST

Army Men Say Middle West Militia May Take Part.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Another spectacular joint war game by the army and navy off the New England coast is being planned along lines suggested by Secretary Daniels. Brig. Gen. Mills, chief of the division of militia affairs, says the Middle West militia could be brought East for the maneuvers and that some of the militia of the Southern states might be sent to the border to maneuver with the regulars there.

FIRST STEAM CRAFT GOES THROUGH PANAMA CANAL.

Colon, Jan. 8.—The first steam vessel passed through the Panama canal yesterday. It was the Alexander La Valley, a crane boat, and carried no passengers. It had been operating on the Atlantic side and gradually made its way through during the course of its dredging operations.

"NO OPINION," SAYS M'ADOO

Secretary Puts Stop to Rumors About Reserve Bank Plans.

Hearing at New York Is Finished—Boston Comes Next.

New York, Jan. 8.—Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, who left New York for Boston today after concluding a hearing in the matter of regional reserve districts as provided under the new currency law, issued the following statement:

"Neither Secretary Houston nor I have expressed, directly or indirectly, any opinion or formed any conclusions on the banking questions now the subject of investigation by the organization committee under the Federal reserve act, nor shall we do so until all the facts have been submitted. To avoid the possibility of misunderstanding, we desire to say that all inferences and statements to the contrary may be accepted as unauthorized."

The board of directors of the National Bank of Commerce, one of the largest in New York city, has recommended to the shareholders that the bank accept the terms and provisions of the Federal reserve act. A special meeting of shareholders will be called for the purpose of passing upon this recommendation.

New York Hearing Finished.

The Federal reserve organization committee concluded its hearings in New York yesterday, having devoted three days to ascertaining the views of New York bankers concerning the task with which the committee is charged, of setting up the regional reserve districts provided in the new law, and selecting the cities in which the banks are to be placed.

After the hearings here had been concluded, Secretary McAdoo was asked whether he had been impressed by the arguments advanced, almost unanimously, by the New York bankers who have appeared, in favor of establishment here of a regional bank

SOUND DIPLOMATS ON NAVAL HOLIDAY

Congressmen Want to Know How Foreign Governments Regard Plan.

Washington, Jan. [illegible] diplomats in Washington may be [illegible] soon by congressional advocates of a naval holiday with a view to getting expressions from the foreign governments in support of the project. Since the passage by the house of the Hensley naval holiday resolution and the introduction of a similar resolution by Senator Thomas of Colorado, the advocates of suspension of naval construction for a year have been planning a campaign to bring the proposal to a definite conclusion.

Representative Hensley of Missouri, author of the house resolution, although not fighting the two battleship naval program for this year, purposes to lay before Secretary Bryan next week his ideas as to getting informally into communication with the representatives of the powers in Washington to ascertain the views of their governments and will be guided largely by the secretary's advice. His idea is to write letters in his capacity as an individual member of congress to the various ambassadors, asking them the sentiment of their home governments.

MEANS TO UNTANGLE WIRES ARE SOUGHT

Telephone and Telegraph Interests Must Be Completely Divorced.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Preliminary plans for the disposition by the so-called telephone trust of its $20,000,000 worth of Western Union stock were under consideration today by C. C. Todd, assistant to Attorney General McReynolds. Though no definite policy has been outlined, it is known that the attorney general and Mr. Todd would oppose a pro rata distribution of the Western Union shares among stockholders of the American Telephone & Telegraph company.

Although a final decision in the matter may not be reached for many weeks, the department of justice probably will adhere to its announced policy of allowing the American company as much time as is necessary to dispose of the Western Union stock without loss to its own stockholders.

DODGE CITY GIRLS WILL "CUT" CUSSERS, BOOZERS, SMOKERS AND GAMBLERS.

Dodge City, Kan., Jan. 8.—A Good Habits club, composed of young women who have voted to decline the attentions of young men who swear, smoke, drink intoxicating liquors or gamble, was organized here with forty members. The young women bind themselves not to attend any party or social gathering to which any young man not meeting with the club's requirement has been invited.

The young men are said to have held at least one secret meeting at which the question of yielding to the demands of the girls was discussed.

LANE EXPLAINS PLAN TO CONSERVE RADIUM

Secretary Writes to Governor Ammons Regarding Proposed Withdrawal.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Secretary Lane of the interior department today sent a letter to Governor Ammons of Colorado, declaring that the protests of the latter against the proposed withdrawal from public entry of radium-bearing land in that state were based on a "misapprehension of the facts and in part upon a misunderstanding of my recommendation to congress."

The amount of land withdrawn from public entry according to Secretary Lane will not include all radium prospects.

"It would be my intention," he said in his letter to Governor Ammons, "to recommend the exercise of this power (of withdrawal) only to the extent of retaining in public ownership a sufficient acreage of lands believed to be valuable for their radium content to insure the American people getting the radium they need at the least possible cost and with the least possible delay.

"I feel that our citizens have a right to demand this preferential consideration."

MINERS DROP DEMANDS FOR RECOGNITION

Anti-Discrimination Clause Substituted in Proposed Agreement.

Deported Leader's Return May Have Been Inspired By Governor.

Attorney for Companies Makes Statement on Conditions.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.) — Governor W. N. Ferris, who is investigating the strike of the copper miners in Northern Michigan, was prepared today to ask the mine operators just how far they will go toward compromising the trouble between them and their employes. Should a proposition be advanced by the operators, it will be placed before the strikers.

This was the third day of the governor's investigation, and was given over to a hearing of the operators. The labor leaders offered their version of the strike yesterday, and the day before county authorities told of conditions in the strike zone.

A. L. Peterman, a representative of the Calumet & Hecla company, called the governor's attention to discrepancies between the company and union statistics on the strike situation. He added that the companies were willing to submit to an actual count of employes and would throw open their books if the union would do the same.

Claude O. Taylor, president of the Michigan State Federation of Labor, promptly said that the unions would do the same thing. Governor Ferris gave no indication as to whether any such procedure would be adopted.

Abandon Recognition.

The union men are standing on their proposition of a settlement which was made recently to John B. Densmore of the department of labor. It was stated at the hearing yesterday that the union men are willing to return to work without a recognition of their union, and on the provision that the companies do not discriminate against strikers or members of the Western Federation of Miners.

Settlement Aspect Emphasized.

The settlement aspect was emphasized at the start of the conference with the mine men. The governor recalled to them that efforts to end the strike had been made in offers of arbitration and mediation and he suggested that some representative of the operators state the reason of the companies for such advances. He barred from discussion anything relating to the "awful expense to the state."

Allan Reese, chief counsel for the companies, responded. He said that the first communications from the unions had failed to state a grievance, and each management undertook to ascertain if the Western Federation of Miners really represented the employes of the company.

One company found 171 of their men desiring to be represented by the union and some 2,300 on the negative side. All told, he said, less than 25 per cent of the employes of the district were found to be members of the Federation, and on that showing the companies declined to consider the Federation as an authorized agent for the men.

No Adequate Peace Provision.

He reviewed the opening incidents of the strike, saying that the close organization of the union men enabled them to stop all work at the mines because there was no adequate provision for preserving peace.

The resumption of work under protection of the state troops, to whom he paid a tribute, was told by Mr. Reese, and he said it was due to the

CORN COMING BY SHIPLOAD

Over 1,000,000 Bushels Received and Thirteen Ships Are on Way.

New York, Jan. 8.—Nearly 300,000 bushels of Argentine corn were being unloaded in this port today, and millions more from the South American republic are under contract. The importations are the direct result of the removal of the duty on the staple under the recent tariff act.

More than 1,000,000 bushels have been received in the United States since the tariff went into effect, the first from the Argentine ever brought here, and already the competition with American corn has forced a decline in cash values.

Thirteen Shiploads Coming.

Thirteen ships are either en route here or loading with corn from the Argentine, and one American manufacturing concern which uses corn in the manufacture of syrups and kindred products, has 5,000,000 bushels from that country under contract for delivery.

When the new Argentine corn crop is harvested the importations will increase, according to trade authorities. The corn already here found the railroads unprepared to handle it and the port without adequate docking facilities. Arrangements to remedy the deficiences are being made by the transportation bureau of the produce exchange.

STRIKE CALL MEETS BUT LIGHT RESPONSE

Cape Town, Jan. 8.—The response today to the call for a general railroad strike throughout the Union of South Africa was not encouraging to the leaders of the movement. In Cape Colony, Natal and the Orange Free state, all the men continued at work as usual, while in the Transvaal the train crews with few exceptions remained on duty. Men in the railroad workshops, however, mostly laid down their tools.

Police took charge of all railroad stations in the Transvaal, and only passengers and officials were admitted. The train crews were placed under protection.

SUE REAL ESTATE INVESTMENT FIRMS

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 8.—Proceedings against several real estate "investment" companies will be instituted soon by Attorney General Carmody, co-operating with the state banking department, it was announced today.

Among the defendants will be the Manaton Realty Investing company of New York, which the courts recently held was doing an unauthorized business. It had sold about $1,000,000 worth of certificates.

The company promised, it is said, to pay 6 per cent interest to investors. This Mr. Carmody construed to be a violation of the state banking law. The company has offices in several cities. Two clergymen were among its salesmen.

FIRST CONTEST UNDER NEW LAW

Procedure in Personal Injury Case May Establish a Precedent--Negligence Plays No Part.

Although nearly 300 personal injury claims have been adjusted and settled under the terms of the workingmen's compensation act since it became a law on Oct. 1, 1913, it was not until yesterday that a case arose which involved a serious dispute between an employer and employe as to compensation for injuries alleged to have been received during the course of the employment. The case is an interesting one in that it involves a disputed question of liability in which negligence plays no part.

Mrs. Mary E. Lynch, who came to Duluth from Minneapolis a few months ago secured employment at the Beckman Fur factory, conducted by Ben Beckman at 16 East Superior street, on Oct. 7 last. After having worked for six days she complained of a pain in her right arm. She consulted a physician who discovered that she was suffering from blood poisoning. She entered a hospital and was confined to her bed for several weeks. Shortly after she was released she reentered the hospital and underwent an operation in which a portion of an affected bone was removed.

Wore Short Sleeves.

Mrs. Lynch contributes the blood poisoning to the fact that she was handling furs which had been brought into the factory for repair work. She wore short sleeves and it is her theory that the constant rubbing of the dyed and possibly germ-laden material over her arm while engaged at her work resulted in the infection which disabled her.

She told her story to Judge Dancer in district court yesterday afternoon and he conducted an informal proceeding in connection with the case.

Mr. Beckman and A. E. McManus, his attorney, were in court to deny any liability in connection for the affair. Three physicians were called to the stand to testify. They were Dr. S. H. Boyer, Dr. J. A. McCuen and Dr. T. L. Chapman, and all stated in effect that the fact that the woman was handling material such as furs did not necessarily indicate that she contracted the infection from the work. All testified that she might have received it in various other ways.

Employer's Offer.

Attorney McManus afterwards stated that his client was willing to assume the liability on a basis of compensation for four months' times and pay all of the women's hospital and doctor bills in connection with the affair. If she did not accept this, he said, he would withdraw it and take the position in court that no liability existed. Mrs. Lynch was not willing to accept the offer at that time and the court suggested that she be given time in order to again consult her physician and consider the terms of settlement. At the time of her disability she was receiving $10 per week. This would entitle her to a compensation of $6 weekly under the terms of the act.

The procedure in a contested case is entirely new with the local courts and this case may establish a precedent. The court continued the case.

Superior TERMINAL TAX LEGAL

Douglas County Wins Suit Against Soo Road for Restitution.

Will Be Appealed—Involves All Roads Having Docks in Superior.

Judge Frank A. Ross of the circuit court today upheld the constitutionality of the Wisconsin terminal taxation law in a decision in favor of Douglas county in an action started by the Soo road to recover terminal taxes for 1912, paid to the county last year. The decision holds that the classification of ore and merchandise docks for the purpose of local taxation is not arbitrary and that such docks are more essential to water transportation than to the railway business.

The suit involves terminal tax payments to the extent of $100,000 paid by the railway companies with docks in Superior. The railroads contended that the law was unconstitutional and that the docks could not be segregated for local taxation, but must be taxed by the state supreme court for a final decision.

TEN YEARS OF ACTIVITY

Public Affairs Committee Will Celebrate Its Tenth Anniversary.

The tenth anniversary of the appointment of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club will be celebrated this evening by a meeting of the surviving and resident members of the original committee and the members of the present one, and a dinner. It is also likely that there will be a number of informal speeches, although no program has been prepared.

The meeting will be just a "get-together" affair at which the work and achievements of the public affairs committee during its ten years of existence will be gone over, reviewed and discussed; and also there will doubtless be some talk as to what the committee can accomplish in the future. The history of the past ten years is, it may be said, the history of the progress of the city during that time, for the public affairs committee has either originated or helped in almost every movement for civic or business advancement that has been started since the committee came into existence.

Its crowning glory so far was the forcing of equitable freight rates which puts Duluth in a position to compete with the Twin Cities and Chicago in territory heretofore out of her reach. This will undoubtedly take a large place in tonight's discussion. There are other features of the committee's history that loom large in importance in connection with the development of Duluth. The members of the original committee were:

T. W. Hugo, chairman; Ward Ames, Sr., E. C. Little, W. B. Silvey, John Miller, L. W. Powell, J. J. LeTourneau, Rev. R. J. Mooney, C. W. Ericson, John Panton, E. L. Millar, L. R. Hurd, J. L. Washburn, A. L. Ordean, F. A. Patrick, F. E. House, W. A. McGonagle, A. L. Wolvin, Alex McDougall, A. H. Comstock, Rt. Rev. James McGolrick, Judge Page Morris, P. S. Anneke, H. B. Knudsen, Simon Clark, John J. Moe, H. R. Armstrong, George H. Crosby, G. L. Douglas, Jr., Frank Crasswelller, A. C. Weiss, John Millen, J. B. Erd, Herbert Warren, James A. Ferguson, L. A. Barnes, Z. D. Scott, J. A. Watterworth, J. T. Armstead and W. E. Richardson.

HERALD CARRIER AS A DETECTIVE

Kostica P. Cejovich, known as "Casey" among The Herald carriers of the city, proved himself an able detective at New Duluth yesterday when he assisted Capt. Fiskett and the officers in the search for the murderer of Patrolman Mooney.

"Casey," who is 15 years old, is proficient in the Slovenian language, and he was selected by Capt. Fiskett to aid the officers in their search. He lives at New Duluth and knows that section of the city very well, and made himself very useful by directing the officers to all the rooming and boarding houses of the suburb.

Yesterday afternoon "Casey" was with the officers and Zoroia when the latter pointed out the house where Rekich was rooming. The newspaper carrier marched into the house with Zoroia and Detective Toewe and assisted in arresting the fugitive.

Casey carries a Herald route at New Duluth.

"Gun Toters" Will Get No Leniency in Police Court.

Maximum Sentences Unless Good Excuse Can Be Proven.

In the future anyone arrested for carrying concealed weapons, who is unable to give a satisfactory explanation to Judge Windom or Judge Cutting, will be given the maximum penalty allowed by the statutes, imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding ninety days.

Both judges are incensed at the shooting of Patrolman Mooney at Gary while arresting two violators of the concealed weapon law, and declared this morning that they will show no mercy whatever to violators in the future. Of course, where prisoners are able to give satisfactory explanations for carrying concealed weapons, the judges will consider the cases on their merits, as has been done in the past.

But from now on a violator of this law who has a revolver in his pocket for no other reason but to carry it around will get the limit and that will be a straight sentence of ninety days in the county jail.

"I have been severe in the past with these cases," said Judge Cutting this morning, "for I have no sympathy with violators of this law. But from now on I plan to exercise my authority to the limit, when I find a prisoner, on conviction, can give no explanation whatever for his action."

Judge Windom voiced the same sentiment this morning. He declared that gun carrying will not be tolerated by the court.

Duluth Consults Other Cities for Methods of Purchasing.

Large Amount Wasted Under Old Systemless Buying Rules.

The establishment of an efficient purchasing system for the city is being taken up in earnest by Finance Commissioner Fred J. Voss.

He has a long conference with City Clerk Charles S. Palmer on the subject this morning and the latter is writing today to other cities in the country where such systems are in successful operation asking for full information.

When the annual reports and inventories, which are now being prepared, have been completed the finance commissioner will call a meeting of the heads of all departments to discuss the matter of purchases. As a result of Commissioner Voss' activity last fall the stationery, books and office supplies of various descriptions were purchased for the present year on businesslike lines. Bids for the entire supply was asked and the result was a big saving.

But other supplies which run into tens of thousands of dollars every year are still being bought in the old systemless style, via the requisition route. This is costing the city hundreds of dollars too much and affords no means of effectively checking the purchases. Commissioner Voss wants this leakage stopped at the earliest moment and will devote much of his immediate attention to solving the problem. It will take many months to get the complete system in operation but the finance commissioner believes that a definite start should be made in this direction within a short time.

PULLMAN CONDUCTOR CAN SUE THE COMPANY

Court Refuses to Enjoin Employe Hurt in Railroad Wreck.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, Jan. 8.—Federal Judge Smith McPherson today overruled the objections to the Pullman Car company and ruled that Frank J. Laughlin, a former Pullman conductor, injured in a Union Pacific wreck, may prosecute his $50,000 damage suit against the railroad.

The Pullman company applied for an injunction restraining Laughlin from conducting his action, alleging that under its contract with the Union Pacific it would be accountable for any judgment against the railroad, and claiming that Laughlin had, under his contract with the Pullman company, absolved it from liability for accident so that his suit against the railroad was in violation of his contract.

Hold at one temperature!

Is your home a house of many temperatures? Do the air conditions of your rooms vary from frigid to over-heated—from 60 to 80 degrees on an average winter day—depending upon how the wind is blowing? Do you patiently put up with, and permit your loved ones to endure meagre heating conditions from old-fashioned devices which endanger the family well-being and burden your living budget with high fuel expenses? Yes? Then why not apply the sure remedy in a quickly installed outfit of

AMERICAN RADIATORS & IDEAL BOILERS

Our far-famed heating outfits produce uniformity of warmth in all rooms, day and night—you can have 70° steadily from rising time through the day and evening, and with clean, healthful air conditions. There is no daily tussle with poker, dampers and flying ashes—as with old-time heaters; woman's cleaning work greatly reduced!

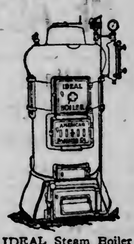

A No. 2-22-W IDEAL Boiler and 461 sq ft. of 38-in. AMERICAN Radiators, costing the owner $235, were used to heat this cottage. At this price the goods can be bought of any reputable, competent Fitter. This did not include cost of labor, pipe, valves, freight, etc., which are extra and vary according to climatic and other conditions.

You can have this one steady temperature from an outfit of IDEAL Boiler and AMERICAN Radiators under automatic control of one of our SYLPHON Heat Regulators. Either for regulating steam pressure, or temperature of rooms or hot water circulation, they automatically control draft and check-dampers of Boiler, preventing all over-heating, under-heating and fuel wastes. Under SYLPHON regulation your outfit automatically responds to slightest weather change, so just enough heat is made and distributed to meet requirements. In mild weather this regulation keeps only enough fire running to "take off the chill" with little coal burned; much economy comes from not burning fuel needlessly.

IDEAL Boilers, AMERICAN Radiators and SYLPHON Regulators are carefully tested in our Thermal Research Laboratory to insure largest heating results from coal burned. No fragile parts to burn or wear out; no risk of break-downs or repair bills.

If your home, apartments, store, factory, church, or school is subjected all winter to changing temperatures and large fuel bills, write us. You are welcome to "Ideal Heating" booklet and special information service, both free, and no obligation to buy! Act now!

SAYS TVEITMOE STILL FACES TRIAL

Federal Attorney at Los Angeles Remembers Former Indictment.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 8. — Olaf Tveitmoe, the San Francisco labor leader granted a retrial by the United States circuit court in the Indianapolis dynamite conspiracy cases, must stand trial in Los Angeles on a charge relative to the transportation of explosives for illegal purposes, it was announced by Albert Schoonover, United States district attorney.

Beside Tveitmoe, J. E. Munsey of Salt Lake City, Anton Johannson and Eugene A. Clancy of San Francisco, just after the conviction of the McNamaras, were indicted here for an alleged conspiracy to bring to the coast dynamite used by Ortie McManigal in an attempt to blow up an iron foundry on Christmas day, 1910.

Tveitmoe's case will be called before Judge Wellborn Jan. 12 to be set for trial.

"Dropped," Says Tveitmoe.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 8.—Olaf Tveitmoe took the news that he must stand trial in Los Angeles with skepticism.

"There should be on file in the records of the United States attorney's office," he said, "a stipulation entered into between Bert Schlesinger, representing Anton Johannson, Eugene A. Clancy, Munsey and myself, and Oscar Lawler representing the government as special counsel, by which it was agreed that these Los Angeles cases should be dropped, in view of the Federal prosecutions covering the same grounds. I suppose that stipulation still stands."

Lane Not a Candidate.

Sacramento, Cal., Jan. 8.—A dispatch received from Washington today quotes Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior, as refusing to be a candidate for senator or governor of California. Secretary Lane said his refusal was without qualification. He had been mentioned in connection with the Democratic state ticket this year.

SIGNS OF PROSPERITY.

French & Bassett Equip Homes for Many Young Couples.

There are many indications of prosperity shown at the sale of furniture that French & Bassett are putting on just now, but the one that A. W. Cleveland, the manager, thinks is the best of all is that many young couples, either newly married or expecting to be soon, are taking advantage of the sale and are purchasing furnishings for their homes.

"When there are so many of these young people seeking to feather the nest" said Mr. Cleveland today. "It seems to me that it is one of the best indications of good times and a bright future that any body would care to see. And you would be surprised to see how many of these young people are doing it. I can tell very easily, however, who have been married and who are about to be. With the latter either the young woman or the young man ,or sometimes both are dreadfully bashful; but as we understand conditions, and most of us have gone through the same thing ourselves, we instantly see that these young people are put at their ease, and pretty soon we are in their confidence. It's a nice thing to see them arranging to settle down, and it's nothing to be laughed at."

This is the time to buy furnishings. It is a semi-annual sale of manufacturers' samples, but this time the firm puts in its entire stock at the same reductions, and some astonishing bargains can be had. It is remarkable to note at what a little sum a small apartment can be furnished by an aspiring young couple, and a similar basis of economy can be obtained for the large householder who wishes to expand or renew in housekeeping.

Monday was the biggest sales day that the firm has ever enjoyed, but the succeeding days are pushing it hard for prestige and record.

FISH COMPANY SUES.

L. Goldish and T. Goldish, doing business under the firm name of the Lake Superior Fish company, started suit in district court yesterday afternoon against the Auto Engine works for $1,852.20 alleged damages.

The plaintiffs claim that a gasoline engine purchased from the defendant company through its agents, Wieland & Wade, did not come up to the standard claimed for it. Although satisfactory service was guaranteed from the engine which was installed in the power boat, L. Goldish, it is claimed that it could not generate sufficient power to run the boat, and that on the first trip out it became necessary to have the craft towed in.

BLINDED MINER GETS SETTLEMENT

Is Awarded $3,500 Dollars Under the Compensation Law.

For injuries, which have left him totally blind, Ilija Luziach, 34 years old, Chisholm miner, will receive $3,520.35 in full settlement of any claim for damages which he might have against his former employers, the Oliver Iron Mining company. His acceptance of the settlement, made in accordance with the terms of the workingmen's compensation act and approved by District Judge Cant, was filed yesterday with the clerk of the district court.

Luziach was employed at the Leonard pit near Chisholm. On the morning of Oct. 6 last, just five days after the new compensation law went into effect, Luziach was the victim of a dynamite explosion. Flying sand and gravel struck him in the face. Small foreign substances peppered the cornea of both eyes and destroyed the sight of each. The company's physician took care of him.

M'ADOO URGES FUND TO WAR ON PELLAGRA

Says Suspicion Exists That Certain Food Products Cause Disease.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Secretary McAdoo will ask congress to appropriate $47,000 for a pellagra hospital in some Southern city.

In a letter to Speaker Clark, Secretary McAdoo points out that pellagra has imposed great financial burdens on communities in which it prevails, and while the investigations of the disease have been systematically carried on at the marine hospital at Savannah for several years, no facilities exist for the conduct of metabolic and physico-chemical studies, considered necessary by the public health service because of the suspicion of the association of the disease with diet and metabolism.

"A number of food products are under suspicion," Secretary McAdoo wrote, "thus implicating several important industries, and it becomes important, from both sanitary and economic standpoints, to determine once and for all what bearing, if any, foods have on the continuance of the disease. These studies necessarily will be of a highly technical nature, requiring special facilities to guard against the possibility of errors."

To carry out this plan, Secretary McAdoo proposes to embrace in the recommendation for $47,000 these items: Equipment of hospital with twenty-five beds, $6,000; equipment of chemical laboratory, $3,000; pay of personnel, exclusive of pharmacist and commissioned officer, $22,000; maintenance of hospital, $12,000, and maintenance of laboratory, $4,000.

WOOD TELLS ARMY NEEDS

Wants $6,000,000 for Guns and Ammunition for Service.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Explaining that his judgment was not influenced by the Mexican situation, Maj. Gen. Wood, chief of staff of the army, has advised committees of congress that it should appropriate $3,000,000 for field guns and ammunition for the regular army and $3,000,000 for the militia.

"If you were to send our troops into war as they are now, without guns or ammunition, it would be slaughter," the general told the house military committee. "If called into the field suddenly, we should have to go with a very small allowance of ammunition, even for the guns in the hands of the troops; and we should have neither guns nor ammunition for our field artillery forces."

No More Long Wars.

In a written statement Gen. Wood said:

"It is my belief that no modern war between first-class powers will last for one year, and unless private manufacturers are now encouraged to manufacture ammunition for our guns after war is declared, they will not be in a position to do so until after war is finished, and the supply of ammunition during the war will be limited to what the arsenals can turn out. At present this is about 1,600 rounds a day, running three shifts, and this ammunition, under ordinary battle conditions, would be fired by eight guns in one day of battle. If guns are not supplied on the battlefield with ammunition they are not efficient, and when guns have exhausted the ammunition supplied, they are worse than junk, for they must be protected by other troops.

Need in Case of War.

"The war department believes, after extended study, that in case of war with a first class power, an army of 500,000 men will be needed to give us a chance of success against invasion, and that this force will be needed at once. To make it efficient it must be given its proper quota of field artillery. To do this, artillery must be on hand, for it cannot be supplied after war is started. A fire department, without its proper equipment, is worthless, irrespective of the number of men it has, and so will be your armies unless provided in time of peace with the material which will make them effective in war."

The general suggested that the United States regular mobile army should be organized into three infantry and two cavalry divisions, with an aggregate war strength of about 75,000 men, requiring fifty-four batteries, or 216 guns.

With the co-operation of the state governors, the militia, he said, now could be organized into twelve infantry and five auxiliary divisions, with an aggregate war strength of 292,000 men, needing 174 batteries of 696 guns.

Shy of Men and Guns.

"The aggregate of the two forces thus would be 367,000 men, or approximately two field armies short of the force of 500,000 men. These two field armies will require 168 guns apiece, or 336 guns. The United States garrisons abroad have sixty-eight guns."

Noting that the militia has in its hands 36 per cent of the guns it should have, the general added, "to summarize, for the regular army and volunteers we would need 696 guns, for the militia 696 guns."

The war department is trying to accumulate 1,292 field guns of various caliber, of which 763 have yet to be appropriated for, and Gen. Wood said it was not his idea that the country should be constantly armed to the teeth in preparation for any war, but that it should be reasonably prepared for war; "most decidedly so, because these things cannot be made in a day."

Referring to the United States' preparedness, he said:

"If we are unprepared for war, there would be more temptation for a country to strike us, and if it makes up its mind to do so it can strike us at any time."

London, Jan. 8.—The British board of trade returns for 1913, show that the aggregate of imports into the United Kingdom amounted to $3,845,169,795, and the exports from the United Kingdom amounted to $3,175,585,670. The respective increases were $121,966,640 and $180,780,020 over 1912. Imports of live animals and foodstuffs increased $38,321,775. The largest increases in exports were coal and fuel, $55,370,910, and iron and steel, $20,653,075.

JOHNSON'S APPEAL UNDER ADVISEMENT.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—The United States court of appeals here has taken under advisement arguments for reversal of the conviction of Jack Johnson, the colored pugilist, under sentence to pay a fine of $1,000 and serve a year in the state penitentiary for violation of the white slave act. Decisions will be rendered in about a month, it is expected.

Should the appeal go against Johnson and his attorneys desire to take the case to the United States supreme court, the negro will be compelled to come to this country to sign a new bond, or forfeit his $15,000 real estate bond here in addition to his $30,000 personal bond. Johnson will not be permitted to leave the Federal jurisdiction by the terms of any future bonds, according to the district attorney's office.

SAYS HE KILLED.

Convict From St. Paul Writes Governor to Free Innocent Man.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 8.—Joseph Gyarmati, who with John Osik both of St. Paul, is serving a life sentence in the state prison for murdering Gyarmati's wife, has written to Governor Eberhart confessing that he did the deed and asking that Osik be released.

"I killed my wife as she slept. Then I crept back downstairs and got in bed again with my friend. He know nothing of the murder Gyarmati wrote.

Gyarmati wrote two letters, one in English and one in Greek. He described the crime in detail and begs the governor to ask for forgiveness of his friend. He says that he would have told of his crime long ago, but that he wanted to tell justice. He scores the courts and the fact that a guiltless man can be sent to prison for a crime in which he had no hand.

The case will be taken up by the state pardon board with sixty other applications for clemency, Jan. 19.

Gyarmati and Osik were arrested June 19 after they had reported the finding of the jury of Gyarmati's wife in the Gyarmati home.

The woman had been strangled to death. The men claimed robbers must have killed her while they were asleep in the yard, it being a warm night.

Both maintained their innocence, but were convicted on circumstantial evidence.

DULUTHIANS ARE CLEAN

More Than 50 Per Cent of New Houses Have Bath Tubs.

That "cleanliness is next to Godliness" is practiced as well as preached in Duluth.

Approximately half of the new dwellings which were erected in Duluth last season were fitted with bath tubs, judging from the annual report of Plumbing Inspector George Kreager, as compared with the records in the building inspector's office. During the last year some 1,500 permits were issued for all improvements and it is estimated that two-thirds of them were for homes. The plumbing inspector states that during the same time 596 bath tubs were installed. In addition to these 923 wash basins were connected and 802 sinks put in.

The plumbing inspector ended the year with a balance of $86.50 above all expenses. His fees amounted to $2,147.25 while the total expenditures were $2,060.75, including salaries and incidentals. He issued 895 permits, made 1,439 inspections and ordered 227 sewers, of which fifty-nine were constructed. Including the bath tubs, wash basins and sinks 3,604 plumbing inspections were made during the past year.

Happy New Year to Mexico.

Mexico City, Jan. 8.—The President of the United States, through Charge O'Shaughnessy, replied yesterday to the New Year's greetings of the Mexican republic sent to him through President Huerta, but did so indirectly not using Huerta's name. To Senor Mohea, minister of foreign affairs, the American charge said:

"I am instructed by my government to transmit the greetings of the president of the United States to the Mexican people as well as his earnest good wishes for the prosperity of the Mexican republic."

DROP SEX HYGIENE IN CHICAGO SCHOOLS

Board Orders Course Halted Pending Expressions From Public.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—Sex hygiene lectures in the public schools were ordered discontinued yesterday by the board of education by a vote of 13 to 8. The lectures had been a special course during the last school term. It was decided that no more should be given pending a general expression from the public. Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent, took no part in the discussion for and against the course.

The resolution was introduced by Mrs. Florence Vosbrink, and provided that teaching of sex hygiene should be discontinued in the schools under whatever name it should be known. Dean Sumner of St. Peter and St. Paul cathedral; Mrs. Gertrude How Britton, and Trustees Clemenson and Warning, both physicians, were among the trustees voting against the resolution. It was said, however, that even the strongest supporters of the course were nearly reconciled to its suspension, in belief that public sentiment would demand its withdrawal in a few years. The resolution was passed on the first ballot.

WOULD BAR RIVER ICE

East Fond du Lac Resident Thinks It Unfit for Consumption.

Suburbanites Fighting to Retain Beauty Spot on River.

Whether ice companies shall be allowed to take any ice from the St. Louis river in future is the question raised by S. George Stevens of East Fond du Lac.

Mr. Stevens, in an interview today, outlined the position of the residents of that suburb, who are trying to prevent the icehouses from locating along the river front in that little homecroft settlement. He not only calls attention to the fact that the icehouses would destroy the attractiveness of the little settlement, but makes the point that the water of the St. Louis river is no longer fit for drinking, and that the ice is therefore not for consumption.

"In The Herald of last evening we noted with amusement the cunningly worded article upon the subject, 'Ice Harvest a Problem,' and especially the sub-headings to the effect that the river company may have to import its product after this year, and presumably due to the fact that 'East Fond du Lac residents would prevent locating on river,' just as if the latter suburb owned all the river frontage," said Mr. Stevens.

"The facts are that the residents of East Fond du Lac have been trying hard for the past seven years to build up that suburb and make it an ideal little homecroft settlement within the city limits, and, inasmuch as there is a pretty little strip of shore, about 1,000 feet long, directly in the center of the plat, that the owners of the Duluth Ice company have had their eyes on for some time and have been trying in a quiet way to get hold of, even in spite of opposition which they well know to exist, and are bound to absorb the little cottage and holding which are now upon the property, they would lead the people to believe that if they could not acquire that particular strip of land, and thereby absolutely ruin the entire suburb of all its attractiveness, the dear people are going to have to pay more for their ice. Just think of it!

"Yes, indeed, we have signed the petition, and thanked God that there is a possible hope of escape from the monster, and that we can retain our garden spot and continue to commune with nature, as thousands of people in this city already know we are doing, and have shared some of the pleasures with us.

"Some more facts might well be noted right here, and they are to the effect that a very great many people in our city question very seriously the advisability of using ice in any manner whatever taken from the St. Louis river, now that the population has grown to the extent it has. It is a well-known fact that no one would think of drinking the water taken from the river. Then why should we be forced to take the dose in congealed form? This is a far more grave question for the dear people than whether this company shall force its obnoxious presence in the front pew of East Fond du Lac."

DANGER IN DELAY

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous for Duluth People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they so often get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health will be gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, sorenes, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, gravel and Bright's disease may follow as the kidneys get worse. Don't neglect your kidneys. Help the kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills, which are so strongly recommended right here in West Duluth.

G. Searson, North Fifty-seventh avenue west and Euclid street, West Duluth, Minn., says: "I had kidney trouble off and on for a long time. The pains went all through the small of my back and it hurt me to stoop. Sometimes I couldn't work. I used a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured all the aches and pains. The trouble hasn't bothered me during the past year."

POOR BUSINESS PLEASES

Fewer Parcels Left at "Lost" Office of Street Railway.

"Since Oct. 1, business has fallen off about one-third of that of former years," said the manager of a certain business in the West end yesterday, which for years has flourished. "The peculiar thing about it is that not only are we benefited by its falling off but the public is also."

The business place is that of the "lost" office at the Duluth Street Railway company and the manager is Douglas C. Moore, superintendent of the company. He said that since the new rule went into effect which requires passengers to take their parcels into the car instead of allowing them to be deposited on the rear platform, the people have not been leaving the packages.

"At the present rate of decline in the business of the 'lost' office, in another year it will have fallen off more than 50 per cent," he said. "The dropping off in the number of parcels left on the cars has not only caused us a considerable less inconvenience but has also been a boon to the people who have had to spend their time and money in calling for them."

Society Installs Officers.

The Swedish Christian Sick Benefit society held its annual installation of officers at the Sloan hall, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, last night. The following officers were inducted:

SUCCUMBS TO WOUNDS

Patrolman Mooney Dies as Result of Assassin's Shot.

Patrolman Neil J. Mooney died at 4:30 this morning at the Duluth hospital, another martyr to duty.

After battling with death for more than thirty hours, Patrolman Mooney, who was shot at Gary townsite Tuesday evening while arresting Jovan Zorola and Savo Rekich, two Austrians, succumbed to the wounds from a bullet which had penetrated his right side and pierced his liver, causing a hemorrhage.

Both Zorola and Rekich, who were arrested yesterday, are being held at police headquarters on charges of murder in the first degree and will be arraigned in police court this afternoon. As Zorola has already confessed to having fired the shot, which killed Patrolman Mooney, he will probably be bound over to await the action of the grand jury, which is now in session.

Zorola is 21 and Rekich is 23 years old. They came from Austria several months ago and have been employed at the steel plant ever since they came to Duluth.

Story of Crime.

Patrolman Mooney had arrested both Zorola and Rekich about 9 o'clock Tuesday evening and was marching them down Commonwealth avenue, toward the New Duluth station, when Zorola suddenly turned around and fired at the officer. Mooney sprang upon his assailant and succeeded in taking the revolver away. The officer struck the prisoner several times on the head with the revolver, but owing to his weakened condition, had to give up his fight. Both men disappeared, going in opposite directions, according to an ante-mortem statement given by Mooney to Assistant County Attorney Mason M. Forbes yesterday morning.

Patrolman Mooney identified Zorola shortly after the latter's arrest yesterday afternoon, while Zorola aided the police in arresting Rekich. He was taken to Gary by several officers and pointed out the boarding house where Rekich lived. Upon inquiry it was learned that the latter was then in the house. Rekich did not resist arrest and was brought to headquarters late in the afternoon.

Tries to Get Train.

Zorola was taken into custody about noon yesterday at the Northern Pacific station in South Superior, where he had made inquiry several minutes before for a ticket to Minneapolis. Both J. H. Batson, station agent, and Erwin F. Luke, day operator, who had received descriptions of the two men over the wire that morning, noticed the resemblance in Zorola to one of the fugitives, and after arranging with Caniille Archambeau, a switchman, who lives at 2419 West Fifth street, Duluth, to follow and watch the fugitive, they telephoned Superior headquarters and Zorola was later placed under arrest. He was brought to Duluth by Chief of Police Troyer and Detective Perry, to whom he confessed.

Patrolman Mooney was 32 years old and was appointed patrolman June 1, 1912, and on July 1 last was detailed to the New Duluth station. He was born June 9, 1881, at South Boston, Mass., and came to Duluth about four years ago. He is survived by his parents, who reside at Prince Edward's Island, Can., and four sisters. They are Mrs. Reuben Bowman of Mizpah, Minn.; Mrs. Jane Hubbard of Cadhan, Minn.; Mrs. Anna Goulde of Malden, Mass., and Miss Mooney of Malden.

The body of the officer is being held at the Filiatrault undertaking rooms, pending word from the relatives. Arrangements for the funeral will be made by Chief Troyer, who said this morning that public service will be held and that it will be attended by nearly every member of the police department.

"I hope," the secretary said smilingly, "that I am not as green as I look."

Mr. McAdoo allowed his questioners to draw their own inferences as to what he meant. He would say nothing more, further than that the committee had reached no conclusions.

Expect Four Banks.

Those who attended the hearings and listened to the objections raised by the committee to the proposal for a huge New York bank, believed the most probable solution of the question, in the light of evidence so far adduced, was the placing of three or four regional banks on or near the Atlantic seaboard, instead of having one large district centering in New York and including New England and part of all the Middle Atlantic states. The cities most frequently mentioned in this connection were New York, Boston, Baltimore and Atlanta. Washington and Philadelphia also were alluded to often, but it was the opinion of a majority of the witnesses that Baltimore was entitled to preference over either of these cities. Washington was objected to because no large commercial interests center in that city, although some of the witnesses said it would be of advantage to establish a bank there to be in close touch with the Federal board.

Arguments in favor of Baltimore rather than Philadelphia were based upon the supposition of the advisability of a more equal geographical distribution of the regional banks, it being thought that New York and Philadelphia were in too close proximity to have each a bank. It was said also that Baltimore, by reason of its location and foreign affiliations, would serve better than Philadelphia the states of Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia and other territory north of the section which may be attached to Atlanta.

Four Western Cities.

As for the remainder of the country, the most commonly expressed opinion was that banks should be established at Chicago, St. Louis, San Francisco and New Orleans. Many other cities were mentioned for the remaining banks, but the opinion of witnesses was widely divided as to the preferable ones. Denver, Omaha, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Spokane, Seattle, Los Angeles, Kansas City, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Dallas, Houston, Tex., and Pittsburg were suggested by various bankers.

charge d'affaires, Nelson O'Shaughnessy, left for Vera Cruz last night in response to a request from John Lind to call on him there. The charge was accompanied by Mrs. O'Shaughnessy, but their little son was left behind in the capital. This fact was cited by the charge as indicating his early return and to allay any uneasiness that his trip might cause.

It is reported here that two Mexicans accompanied Mr. Lind on his recent trip on the scout cruiser Chester to Pass Christian. These men are said to have been Sebastian Camacho, an old Conservative of the Porfirio Diaz regime, and Antonio Parados, attorney of the Catholic church in the capital. The reported presence of the latter has been taken to indicate the part being played by Archbishop Mora in the settlement of the Mexican difficulties.

The archbishop and other church dignitaries have been pleading with those close to Huerta to obtain from the president whatever concession might be necessary to bring about peace. Independent of these efforts, it is known that others, including high military officers, have attempted to persuade the president of the necessity of resigning.

Resignation Story Grows.

The report that Huerta is inclined to take steps that will leave the present minister of justice, Senor Gerostieta, as his successor has gained impetus. There is another report current that a new slate will be proposed to Gen. Huerta by another group, which would place Gen. Jose Vilasco, now commanding at Torreon, in the presidency; Gen. Lauro Villar, another officer of the Diaz regime, in the ministry of war, and Francisco De La Barra in the ministry of foreign affairs.

The financial situation was not improved by the president's decree making the notes of state banks legal tender, but it is pointed out that no change could be effected by the decree until sufficient time elapses to learn what number of state banks would be able to subscribe their part of the guarantee redemption fund.

So scarce has silver currency become, not only in the capital, but in the other towns under control of the central government, that the commercial houses are transacting business with the greatest difficulty. The managers of many big concerns are considering the advisability of closing their doors. A few houses, among them Lord Coudray's oil company, have issued script for varying amounts which is being accepted at face value. This measure is contrary to law, but such is the exigency that no question as to legality has been raised.

Lind Advised "Walt."

Washington, Jan. 8.—Word has reached Washington that when President Wilson and John Lind held their conference on board the cruiser Chester, Mr. Lind expressed the belief that the waiting policy of the United States government toward Mexico was certain to be rewarded with success. The president is reported to be well satisfied with the report of Mr. Lind.

Much interest will attach to Mr. Lind's proceedings, now that he is again on Mexican soil.

Measures in preparation for the new conditions that must arise, if his judgment as to the probable elimination of Gen. Huerta at an early date is well founded, probably would include a line of important inquiries directed to factional leaders who might be expected to undertake the government of Mexico in a provisional way, at least after Huerta's retirement.

tentiary to serve a 15-year sentence. After a persistent fight, led by Mrs. Morse and backed by many promient persons, both in and out of congress, his sentence was commuted to expire immediately by Former President Taft. Mr. Taft acted on the statements of prominent army surgeons who said, in a long report, that Morse, in or out of prison, could not live longer than six months. The prisoner was released from Atlanta within five days of two years ago. Shortly afterward he sailed for Europe, took a "cure" and then returned to the United States.

Calls Charge "Flimsy."

Since his return from Europe Morse has been busily engaged in making ...ations to reopen, in the court of public opinion, at least, the case against him. He is said to hold that the principal charge on which he was convicted, the making of false entries in the books of the National Bank of North America, was a flimsy charge, and that he did nothing more than was done by scores of bankers in New York.

FERRIS ASKS COPPER MINE MANAGERS FOR PEACE PLANS; MOYER RETURNS TO HANCOCK

"back to work movement" initiated at the Calumet & Hecla. The fact that a big majority of employes wished to work confirmed the companies in their decision to have nothing to do with the Federation, he said.

Plans for arbitration from Clarence Darrow, the governor's office and the Federal department of labor all contained proposals that the arbitration include the question of recognition of the Federation, and for that reason were declined, said Mr. Reese.

The attorney said that about 10,000 men are at work, of whom 1,500 have been imported. Most of the men came back only on condition that the companies would not permit any Federation men, as such, to enter the mines. He said that it would be impossible to obtain harmonious work between union and non-union men.

"Impossible to Recede."

The attitude of the workmen and of citizens generally, he contended, made it impossible for the companies to recede in the least from their determination not to recognize the Federation. The companies still are willing to take back such members of the rank and file as have remained out because "misled by extravagant statements and promises."

The operators, however, felt they had waited long enough, although Mr. Reese denied that any time limit for return of strikers had been set. Thereupon the governor asked about the eviction suits and Mr. Reese explained that writs had been served because the companies were not in the house-renting business, and the homes were needed for actual employes.

The Calumet & Hecla had started none of these violations, and there had been no forcible or actual evictions by any company so far as he knows. The only case he could recall was one in which Andrew P. Kangus of Winona was dispossessed after he had seemingly gone away from the district with his family, but had left his goods in the house. The furniture was being cared for, he said.

Governor's Data on Men.

The governor ascertained that every company affected by the strike was represented, and then explained how James Cunningham, state labor commissioner, had collected sworn data as to the number of men at work, their nationality and conditions under which they were hired. He then read the summary of Mr. Cunningham as follows:

Isle Royale	709	295
Centennial	117	135
Superior	162	146
Laurium	25	0
Champion	118	594
Quincy	1,580	1,142
Tri-Mountain	570	349
Baltic	960	328
Osceola	1,143	548
Tamarack	591	112
Wolverine	353	106
Calumet & Hecla	4,107	4,203
Hancock	161	94
Mohawk	686	103
Ahmeek	582	246
La Salle	43	29
Allouez	305	171
Franklin	322	23
Totals	13,534	8,624

These figures, it was explained, excluded foremen and clerks, and A. L. Peterman, for the Calumet & Hecla, said that company's figures took no account of watchmen and paid deputies.

Put Operators on Record.

The governor put the operators on record as at this time refusing employment to strikers, except they surrender their union cards and recalled the stand to the contrary recorded by the union men yesterday.

The governor had some difficulty in getting definite answers from the mine men as to whether they favored labor organizations as such, but found it almost impossible to get them away from the idea that their attitude towards the Western Federation was not involved in the question.

One man declined to state his opinion, and others said they had no authority to speak for their companies. Finally F. W. Denton of the Copper Range Consolidated, Supt. John Knox of the Calumet & Hecla, Manager Dengler of Mohawk, J. L. Harris of the Hancock, said they personally had no objection to labor organizations as such.

Again the governor went on record as favoring collective bargaining for labor, pointing out the general tendency towards organization in both capital and labor.

"The Big Day."

Today was expected to be the "big day" of the governor's visit to the Copper country and his investigation of the strike. Today the governor had promised to give over to the mine managers, but it was expected he would have to crowd in conferences with Victor Berger and other members of the committee here investigating the strike on behalf of the national Socialist party, and with President Charles H. Moyer of the Western Federaton of Miners.

It was reported here that Moyer was returning accompanied by two armed guards, and local members of the Western Federation of Miners prepared to meet him at the Hancock station and form a guard of honor and escort him to the Scott hotel, where he was to meet Berger, Lord, Russell and others of the Socialist committee. It was thought probable that the governor would try to arrange to see the two parties at the same time late this afternoon.

It has been intimated that the governor is very pleased to have Moyer come back to the copper district at this time, and that he expressed such a desire and his wishes were wired to Moyer by Federation representatives in the district.

Met Grand Jurors.

The governor has conferred several times with members of the grand jury, with Attorney General Grant Fellows, and with Special Prosecutor George E. Nichols in regard to the Moyer case. It is said, he has also put Sheriff Cruse through a stiff inquisition regarding the charges of neglect of duty preferred against him by the labor people because of the Moyer affair.

It was expected that after the strong plea made by the labor people before the governor yesterday afternoon, the mine people would make today's session very interesting. It was understood that Attorney Allan Frees, for the mine managers, had prepared a voluminous statement to be read before the governor, in defense of the companies' position in this strike, their attitude toward the Federation of Miners, and on the question of settling the strike by arbitration as well as a general denial of the charges made by the Federation's representatives.

"Both can well concede something," the governor remarked last night following his interview with the labor people. A more definite statement is anticipated after he sees the mine people today.

Labor People Pleased.

The labor people are overjoyed with the governor's statement yesterday that "the employing corporations must some time recognize organized labor," believing it to mean that he will use some influence in this direction in his stand with the corporation representatives.

The stand of the governor and his methods are meeting with the approval of both factions. It is generally felt that if anyone can arrange a truce or conciliation, he can. Both sides hope he can do this. The citizens of the district are willing that both sides abide by any suggestion of the governor.

Union Opposed Strike.

The strike of copper miners, which was called on July 23, was opposed by the officials of the Western Federation of Miners, Governor Ferris was told in his talks with representatives of the union. In furtherance of this idea, the governor was asked to listen to miners and trammers who had worked underground for years, and half a score of these men related the conditions under which they had labored and the pay they had received for their efforts. The eviction cases which have been cropping up were called to his attention, and he was informed of the experiences of some of the men with special police and other officials.

As was expected, the union men stood on their proposition to John B. Densmore of the department of labor, so far as a settlement of the strike was concerned. It was revealed at the hearing that the Federation had proposed that the hours of labor and rates of pay posted by the mining companies on Dec. 1, would be allowed to stand; that the one-man drill grievance was not mentioned, and that the question of recognition was to be obviated by a non-discrimination clause.

Referendum on Settlement.

In addition the union delegation emphasized that since the strike was called only after a referendum vote had shown a big majority of the rank and file insistent on it, any proposition for a settlement must be passed on by the general membership. A. N. Hilton, chief counsel of the Federation, told the governor that neither he nor Charles H. Moyer nor any other official of the Federation had any authority to stop the strike. He indicated, however, that the officers of the union were willing to recommend to the men any basis of settlement that would carry with it any affirmation of some kind of the right of the men to join any society, union or the church or other organization that suited their fancy.

Throughout the hearing, the part that local men had taken in the affair was kept well to the front. The men delivered brief autobiographies, practically all witnesses having started to labor when less than 15 years old, and having been underground for from 15 to 25 years. They had been drill boys, trammers, miners and timber men, and their pay had ranged from $18 to $40 a month for boys and from $52 to $90 a month as miners. The men emphasized that the rich mouths were few, and contract work had brought them generally lower returns than the day rates.

Local Officials Heard.

Dan Sullivan, president of the District council of the Federation; Hugh E. Heitala, secretary of the body, and William Rickard and John Anttala, president and secretary of the Calumet local, went on record as having been opposed to the calling of the strike. Anttala said his position was due to the feeling that when the companies realized the strength of the union, they would be willing to confer on the grievances and arrive at a peaceful settlement. He said that the labor market here had been understocked for several years previous to the strike, and that there was more reason for increasing wages than lowering them.

Each said that when he and his coadjutors tried to stave off the strike, they had been accused of selling out to the companies. Hietala said that "a lot of fellows" had so accused him, and Anttala said that 100 union members had berated him for his attitude.

The former told the governor that ballot boxes had been open four days for a vote on the strike question, and that a count on July 6 showed approximately 7,880 for the strike and about 125 against the proposition. He said the membership of the various locals was then about 9,000, about 1,200 having failed to vote because of absence or indifference.

Union Figures Shown.

These figures led the governor to inquire about the present strength. He was given figures taken from the district council records showing a total of 9,815 men now in the district, of whom 7,710 were on the relief rolls. Hietala estimated that about 3,000 union men had left the district. He explained the difference between the total membership and the relief roll as representing the men who had been able to support themselves without aid from the union, and instanced the cases of twenty-five men who, he said, had made their first applications for strike benefits only last week.

Then the governor again went into the situation in the union before the strike was called, and asked Mr. Hilton why the national officers of the union had opposed the action.

"Because they felt that a strike would entail great expense and considerable suffering, and because it was felt that conditions all over the country were such that the time was inopportune for the inauguration of such industrial disturbance," was the reply.

The governor told the union men that he expected to talk with the mine managers, and asked them to give him what they considered the crux of the situation. A typical reply came from James R. Roach, personal representative of Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor.

"Crux of Situation."

"The companies are today planning continuation of their fight against trades unionism in concert," he said, "yet they ask the men to deal singly with a combination of corporations. It strikes me that it is time for the companies to wake up."

"No man is more anxious for a settlement than I am," the governor said. "I believe that corporations generally must come to the point where they will recognize organizations of their employes. There is no question of the right of men to join such organizations, and the only question confronting me now is whether I, as governor, can find a settlement here that will be of the right sort and permanent."

"Ask the company managers what they will do toward that end," suggested Claude O. Taylor, president of the Michigan State Federation of Labor.

"If the companies have any offer to make, you surely will hear of it," Governor Ferris said. "Also, I shall tell you if there is nothing of that sort in the air."

MOYER RETURNS IN SECRET TO HANCOCK.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, left Chicago secretly last night and will be on the scene of his deportation, Hancock, Mich., today. That he was a passenger on Train No. 3 was confirmed this morning through officials of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway.

Moyer's associates admitted the elaborate precautions taken to hide the labor leader's departure were due to prevent general knowledge of his return to Hancock, where he was shot and roughly handled two weeks ago.

Sent for By Governor?

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 8.—Speculation as to the reason of Charles H. Moyer's sudden return to the Copper country was almost unanimous today in connecting his departure from Chicago with a secret conference which Governor Ferris held with an unidentified man last evening. Just who attended the conference or what was the subject discussed was not revealed, but the governor said it was on "legal affairs" and it has been known that the chief executive of the state was anxious to see grand jury investigation of the Moyer-Tanner deportation gotten under way. It was surmised, therefore, that the chief executive of the federation was to be taken before the grand jury here this afternoon, and some observers guessed that he would leave for Chicago again on a later train.

Union leaders generally said that the word of his coming was news to them.

Cheered at Hancock.

Hancock, Mich., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—President Charles H. Moyer of the Western Federation of Miners, who was deported from the Copper country two weeks ago, arrived in Hancock this noon from Chicago, where he has been lying ill as the result of maltreatment. He was met at the Hancock station of the South Shore railroad by a squad of fifteen deputy sheriffs, who placed him in Sheriff Cruse's automobile and took him to his apartments at the Scott hotel.

There was a demonstration on Moyer's arrival, 500 persons assembling at the station, about half of them strikers. It was generally known he was to arrive this noon. He shook hands with personal acquaintances. He was cheered along the streets by groups of strikers. At the Scott hotel he was met by O. N. Hilton, chief counsel for the Federation of Miners.

Moyer refused to make any statement. It is anticipated that he will see Governor Ferris late this afternoon or early tonight.

Moyer appears weak. Charles H. Tanner arrived with Moyer. Moyer was guarded on the train from Champion by two detectives sent there by Governor Ferris last night.

STORIES OF TWO PRISONERS DIFFER ON BUT ONE POINT

JOVAN ZOROIA.

SAVO REKICH.

Conflicting on but one point are the two stories told this morning by Savo Rekich, 23 years old, and Jovan Zoroia, 21 years old, to Chief Troyer regarding the shooting at Gary Tuesday evening of Patrolman Neil J. Mooney, who died at the Graham hospital at 4:30 o'clock this morning.

Rekich and Zoroia are now being held at headquarters on charges of murder in the first degree, Zoroia having confessed to the shooting of the patrolman. They were both brought into the chief's office this morning and questioned regarding themselves and the shooting. They speak very little English, and their statements were interpreted for John Connelly, secretary to the chief, by Kostica P. Cejovich, the 15-year-old boy of New Duluth, known among the boys as "Casey" and who can speak seven languages.

The point on which the two prisoners differ is that Rekich claims he had no revolver and that both guns belonged to Zoroia, who did the shooting. The latter claims, however, that the gun taken by Patrolman Mooney after making the arrest belonged to Rekich although Zoroia was holding it when the officer arrived on the scene. They both agree that Zoroia was attempting to fill the revolver with cartridges, while he had another gun in his pocket.

Stories Agree.

The stories of the two men agree on all other points. Both claim that they had come from Rekich's boarding house and had gone to a store to purchase some cartridges for the revolver which Zoroia was holding when arrested. It is on the ownership of the gun that the prisoners differ.

They had just left the store and were seated near the sidewalk, leading from Commonwealth avenue and McGonagle street, attempting to load the gun, when Patrolman Mooney arrived. The officer took the weapon from Zoroia and told the men they were under arrest and that they should come with him to the New Duluth station. Zoroia was told to march ahead, while the patrolman and Rekich walked behind.

They had walked but a few paces, when Zoroia admits having turned suddenly around and fired at the officer with the gun he still had in his pocket. Mooney had searched Rekich but did not suspect Zoroia had another weapon. Rekich claims that he saw Patrolman Mooney jump at his assailant and that he then fled himself. He says he heard the two men struggling on the sidewalk and that he heard Zoroia calling to him for help, but he ran on, afraid to stop. Rekich went to his home and spent the night in his room and worked as usual yesterday at the steel plant.

While Mooney and Zoroia were fighting on the sidewalk, with the officer on top, Mooney struck Zoroia several times about the head and face with the butt of the revolver he took away from Zoroia, but owing to his weakened condition, had to give up the struggle and Zoroia, too, escaped.

It was then that the wounded patrolman crawled to the office of the Gary Realty company and there obtained assistance.

The Prisoners.

Zoroia is but 21 years old and came to this country a year ago last December from the village of Vriesko, Slavonia, Austria, which is about ten miles from Kotordarvor, also in the province of Slavonia, where Rekich came from. Rekich is 23 years old.

According to his own story, Zoroia went to Gary, Ind., shortly after arriving in America and worked there until six months ago, when he came to New Duluth, securing employment immediately after his arrival at the steel plant. Shortly after his arrival here he says he began boarding at Milan Vuichich's rooming house near Commonwealth avenue and it was there that he met Rekich. They were together up to about two weeks ago, when they moved to separate rooming houses.

Zoroia, according to his story, comes life, he said. His parents and five brothers and one sister are now living at Vriesko. He claims that he was never arrested in Austria.

Rekich, according to his story, comes from a well-to-do family in the Slavonian province. He is a graduate of the grade schools there and had gone three years in the gymnasium, or what is equivalent to the high school here. He married when 17 years old and now has a wife and two children living near his former home. They are a daughter, 5 years old, and a son, 2 years of age. He also has an aged mother, one brother and one sister living in Austria.

THREE MORE DAYS TO BREAK RECORD

Latest First Zero Weather Recorded in Duluth Was Jan. 11.

According to predictions of the local weather bureau, a forty-three-year mild weather record probably will be broken. If the mercury remains above the zero mark for three days longer a new record will be set.

Mr. Richardson compares this winter to that of 1889 when the temperature remained above zero until Jan. 11. This gives 1914 three days to beat all records of the Duluth weather bureau.

Forecaster Richardson predicts a drop in temperature at Duluth tomorrow, but he says indications are that the lowest temperature will be about 10 degrees above zero. Temperatures west and north of Duluth are lower today and a cold wave is heading this way. Weather conditions nowhere in the Northwest, however, are at all severe.

THIRTY HOURS AT HIS BEDSIDE

Patrolman's Fiancee Did Not Leave Him Until Death Came.

Miss Blanche Middlestadt, who had been engaged to marry Patrolman Mooney, the officer shot and killed by an assailant at Gary Tuesday evening, remained at the bedside of the wounded officer for nearly thirty hours, up to the time he breathed his last at 4:30 o'clock this morning.

Miss Middlestadt was one of the first to hear of the shooting Tuesday evening. She was then working at the Spalding hotel, and leaving her work, hired an automobile and was at the scene of the shooting in Gary before the police had arrived. She went with the officers to the Graham hospital and never left the bedside of the wounded patrolman until this morning.

The young woman is now ill at 28 West Second street, where she rooms.

Patrolman Mooney and the young woman became engaged to marry about six months ago and set next June for their wedding month.

Rheumatism

Remarkable Home Cure Given by One Who Had It—He Wants Every Sufferer to Benefit.

Send No Money—Just Your Address.

Years of awful suffering and misery have taught this man, Mark H. Jackson of Syracuse, New York, how terrible an enemy to human happiness rheumatism is, and have given him sympathy with all unfortunates who are within its grasp. He wants every rheumatic victim to know how he was cured. Read what he says:

"I Had Sharp Pains Like Lightning Flashes Shooting Through My Joints."

"In the spring of 1895 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bedridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.

I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of curing your Rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but, understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why suffer any longer when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today. MARK H. JACKSON,

CHARGE LORD MAYOR IS AMERICAN CITIZEN

Action to Oust O'Shea From Council of Cork Is Dismissed.

Cork, Ire., Jan. 8.—An attempt was made by court proceedings here to disqualify the lord mayor of Cork, Henry O'Shea, from sitting as a councilman, on the ground that he is an alien and a naturalized American citizen. The prosecuting counsel promised to produce evidence that the lord mayor had claimed to be an American citizen. For the defense, a statement was put in evidence from the British consul at New York that no such name as Henry O'Shea appeared to be registered as an American citizen. The magistrates, after half an hour's deliberation, announced that the case was dismissed. Leave was given to appeal to a higher court.

AVIATOR BELLIGERENT.

Vedrines Is Ready to Fight Head of French Aerial League.

Paris, Jan. 8.—A duel is in prospect between Jules Vedrines, the aviator, and Rene Quinton, president of the French Aerial league. M. Quinton said last night.

"I am awaiting M. Vedrines' seconds."

According to the announcement made Tuesday, Vedrines, who recently made a flight from Paris to Cairo, was ordered by M. Quinton to give satisfaction immediately to Henry Roux, his rival, who had made a similar flight, and who challenged Vedrines after Vedrines had struck him in the face.

A telegram was received by M. Quinton from Vedrines, reading as follows:

"I will not fight the anti-Frenchman, Roux, but will fight you as soon as I return to Paris."

Quinton affirms that he did not send an order to Vedrines to fight or return to Paris. He informed a friend at Cairo that he wished to suggest to Vedrines that he would accept any arrangements.

COMMUNION CUP IS LEGAL

Law Against Public Drinking Cups Does Not Apply to It.

Clifford L. Hilton, assistant state's attorney general, has forwarded an opinion sustaining that of the city legal department to the effect that the statute prohibiting the use of the common drinking cup does not apply to the communion cup used in church services.

The opinion does not give the grounds on which it is based, simply stating that it is the belief of the writer that the law does not apply to the communion cup. The local attorneys said that they do not consider the church a public place when the matter was laid before them by Dr. H. E. Webster, director of public health.

Dr. Webster said this morning that the opinion is, of course, final as far as the department is officially concerned, but that he believed church members should give this question serious consideration from the viewpoint of preserving their health. He stated that there can be little question but what a common drinking cup is as dangerous in a church as in any other public place, except that it is used much less frequently.

Railroads

SOUTH SHORE'S EARNINGS GOOD.

The Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railway continues to make a good showing in its volume of traffic in spite of the paralyzing effect of the strike in the Copper country.

For November, the road's gross earnings were just $2,500 less than a year ago at $262,285. Net earnings were $45,128 as compared with $33,500 for the corresponding month last year.

The company's gross revenue for the last five months aggregated $1,582,606 as compared with $1,476,941 during the same period last year. Of that, after providing for liberal expenditures on improvements, $336,049 was left for net earnings as against $322,965 a year ago.

Officials of the road look forward to favorable returns in net income from now on as a result of the greater efficiency brought about through the practical completion of the improvement program inaugurated two years ago.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if you feel Backachy or have Bladder trouble.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

Police are searching for the union men believed to be guilty.

BUTTE NEWSBOYS INAUGURATE STRIKE.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 8.—Striking newsboys, bearing I. W. W. banners, yesterday paraded the streets and again attempted to prevent the afternoon paper from reaching subscribers.

The paper, however, had stolen a march on the youngsters and, before school had been dismissed, editions for mails and carriers had been printed. The mob of newsies rushed into cafes and restaurants, tearing papers from the hands of readers and destroying them.

The boys demanded three papers for 5 cents. No afternoon newspapers have been sold on the streets in two days, and the strike against morning newspapers is set for Sunday.

To Ward Off Winter Complexion Ills

(From the Queen.)

To keep the face smooth, white and beautiful all winter, there's nothing quite so good as ordinary mercolized wax. Rough, chapped or discolored skin, inevitable in this weather, is gently absorbed by the wax and replaced by the newer, fresher skin beneath. The face exhibits no trace of the wax, the latter being applied at bedtime and washed off mornings. Creams, powders and rouges, on the other hand, are apt to appear conspicuous at this season, because of alternating expansion and contraction of the skin, due to changing temperatures. I advise you to try this simple treatment. Get an ounce of mercolized wax at any drug store and use like cold cream. This will help any skin at once, and in a week or so the complexion will look remarkably youthful and healthy.

Winds and flying dust often cause squinting and other contortions which make wrinkles. You can quickly get rid of every wrinkle, however produced, by using a harmless face bath made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pint witch hazel.—Adv.

Woman's Realm

The handsome residence of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hugh Kelley, 606 East Second street, was the scene of one of the prettiest and probably the most important social event of the week last evening, when they were hosts at a musicale which proved a treat for the 150 guests who were present. Bouquets of American Beauties were used about the rooms and in the dining room an arrangement of pink Killarney roses set off with a border of white narcissus and violets, centered the table.

Miss Rosalie Thornton of Boston was heard in two groups of piano solos which were given exquisite rendition, a varied selection showing the versatility of this young artist, who has won high praise in the two recitals she has given here. For beauty of tone and mastery of technique her work stands above the ordinary, and she responded to a hearty encore with an extra number.

Miss Berta Schmied gave some dance interpretations which were a delightful addition to the evening's program. She gave, in costume, a Spanish dance with fire and grace and charm and an old negro dance was interpreted with interesting effect. As an extra number she gave one of the new ballroom dances.

The musical numbers given by Miss Thornton included:

Etude, E major ..... Chopin
Impromptu, F sharp major ....Chopin
Nocturne, C minor .....Chopin
Phantasie, F minor ..... Chopin
"Des Abends" (evening) ....Schumann
"Aufschwung" (exaltation) Schumann
"Warum" (why?) ..... Schumann
"Mazurka" ..... Borowski
Etude, D flat minor ..... Liszt
Etude-Cascade ..... Gebhard

DICK FERRIS AND FLORENCE STONE HAVE "MADE UP"

News comes from Los Angeles, Cal., that Dick Ferris and his wife, Florence Stone, have adjusted their differences.

There has been friction between them for some time, and divorce proceedings have been imminent. Jealousy on both sides, it is claimed, was the cause.

A few days ago Ferris and his wife returned to their home and confirmed the rumor of the reconciliation. When reporters appeared Mrs. Ferris, with her arm slipped through Dick's, said: "Yes, Dick and I have made up and I think we are both glad."

The Ferrises were once residents of Duluth in a theatrical way. Dick Ferris, at first, conducted a stock company at the old Metropolitan theater, which has now given place to the Soo depot, with himself as chief star. Miss Stone was at the same time playing in stock at the Lyceum, co-star with Melbourne MacDowell in the plays that had made the latter and his late wife, Fanny Davenport, famous. There was keen rivalry between the companies, but finally both closed.

Later Mr. Ferris engaged Miss Stone as his leading woman in a stock company at his theater in Minneapolis. This business relationship developed into a love affair and soon resulted in marriage. Since then they have furnished a lot of newspaper sensation by their ventures theatrical, Dick's airship meets and later by his attempt to establish the republic of Diaz in Lower California, which he asked the United States government to sanction. Of course, he figured on being president or dictator.

DICK FERRIS.

"UNDRESSED AGE IN DRESS AND DRAMA," SAYS MRS. SPIEGEL

About 100 members of the Twentieth Century club enjoyed the drama tea held yesterday afternoon by that organization at the Glass Block tea rooms. Music and interesting talks on the drama formed the program after which the tea was served.

All of these talks were of a most interesting character and showed the results of considerable study and thought. Mrs. Robert Spiegel gave the program a brightening touch by criticising modern dress and drama. She, in substance, called this the "undressed age." She declared that "The trouble with the present day is that the women are going about half undressed and modern writers seem to be trying to present their works to us in the most undressed style."

Mrs. J. C. H. Engel, chairman of the Literature department of the club, presided and introduced the speakers. Mrs. B. E. La Londe spoke on "Gordon Craig" bringing out clearly in a few minutes the points in stage craft which he emphasises in his work and his influence in the whole dramatic world. That the appeal of the art is through the eye, and not the ear, is one of Craig's ideas, she said and he gains much of his success in stage setting through subtle effects, and strives for an appeal to the mind and not the senses. "I believe that Gordon Craig," she said, "is destined to revolutionize the stage of the future."

Max Reinhardt.

Max Reinhardt of Germany was the subject of a talk by Mrs. J. E. Samuelson. She claimed for him the title of wizard of his line of work, that of stage manager, and told of his elimination of detail and intelligent use of light and color. "To Reinhardt," she said, "The actor is a hindrance to the development of the theater and his idea is that the stage manager should be the great artist. Reinhardt eliminates all detail while Belasco produces his effects with the heaping up of detail."

Mrs. Engel spoke of the work of Livingstone Platt at the Toy theater in Boston and other American points of interest and Mrs. Robert Spiegel gave an interesting talk on Maeterlinck's Static drama. "In regard to Maeterlinck, I would say she said, "that Ibsen's line, 'He who stands alone is strongest' to be true for Maeterlinck stands alone in his art. He is an idealist and his works never offend with too materialistic things. He brings out the beauty that is in, around and about us and to get the most from his works one must read them with an alert mind. The trouble with the present day is that the women are going about half undressed and modern writers seem to be trying to present their works to us in the most undressed style. Maeterlinck is a mystic, an idealist and a prophet of the unseen and spiritual."

Mrs. Donna Riblette Flaaten sang a group of songs which were all delightfully given with Mrs. Louis Dworshak as her accompanist.

DISCUSS METHODS OF RACE BETTERMENT

SIR HORACE PLUNKETT, DR. J. H. KELLOGG, GIFFORD PINCHOT. S. S. McCLURE. IRVING FISHER.

Battle Creek, Mich., Jan. 8.—Significance of a declining death rate, apparent increase in degenerative diseases and the causes of declining birth rate were subjects discussed at the opening session today of the National Conference on Race Betterment.

Frederick L. Hoffman of Newark, N. J., estimated the world's birth rate at 34.3 a thousand and the world's death rate at 25, leaving an annual natural rate of increase of 9.3 for each thousand of population.

"The present rate of natural increase," he said, "is certain to grow if the downward tendency of the death rate is further agumented by sanitary improvement, particularly in the case of uncivilized countries and primitive race."

Decreasing Death Rates.

Mr. Hoffman declared that during the last thirty years the death rate for England and Wales has decreased from 19.4 to 14.7; that of the German empire from 25.3 to 17.9; that of American cities from 23.1 to 16.2.

"There is no question of doubt concerning the general improvement in health conditions throughout the world," Mr. Hoffman declared. For further improvement in race conditions he had the following suggestions as points to bear in mind:

"The importance of the conservation of the food-producing natural resources of the world; the necessity for improved methods of agriculture; the required reduction of economic waste; pressing need of national town planning and improved methods of housing; education in practical domestic economy; rational control of marriage and divorce; improved methods of general education; problems of modern life, conceived as social service; the economic utility of longevity, and higher educational ideals."

Object of Conference.

The object of the conference as announced is "to assemble evidence as to the extent to which degenerative tendencies are actively at work in America, and to promote agencies for race betterment." Stephen Smith, vice president of the New York state board of charities, is president of the conference. The honorary presidents are: Judge Ben. B. Lindsey, Governor Woodbridge N. Ferris and Right Hon. Sir Horace Plunkett. Prof. Irving Fisher is one of the vice presidents. Dr. J. H. Kellogg is a member of the executive committee. S. S. McClure and Gifford Pinchot are two of the members of the central committee.

Some of the topics which will be the subject of papers read before the conference are: "The Basic Principles of Race Betterment," "Apparent Increase in Degenerative Diseases," "Crime," "Sterilization," "Practical Eugenics," "Alcohol," "Tobacco, a Race Poison," "Factory Degeneration," "School Hygiene," "Infant Mortality," "Better Babies." Among those who will attend and present papers are: Dr. C. A. L. Read of Cincinnati; Mrs. Ella Flagg Young of Chicago; Jacob A. Riis of New York; Dr. D. A. Sargent of Harvard; Prof. Fisher of Yale; Dr. J. N. Hurty of Indianapolis; Dr. Ernest Hoge of Leland Stanford university; Dr. Richard Root Smith of Grand Rapids and Prof. Walter F. Willcox of Cornell.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Beware of "Perfect Gentleman."

"He is a perfect gentleman," is the declaration of faith we hear repeated over and over again. It is thus that many a young woman naively characterizes the man whose fancy she has attracted and by whom she is charmed in return.

But what supports this claim to the title "perfect gentleman?" Isn't it usually made up of surface things-To-wit: An ability to wear clothes with a certain air of distinction, to keep one's face clean, one's hair plastered, one's nails immaculate and one's manner flattering in the extreme to women? I think so. For the assertion that a man is a "perfect gentleman" is frequently changed to the tune, "He seemed such a thorough gentleman," in a tone that implies all the bitterness of disillusionment.

No type of man is more dangerous to women than the so-called "perfect gentleman." He may be 16 or 60 or even 80 and his victims any age. Many "perfect gentlemen" have betrayed the trust imposed in them by women who have loved not wisely but too well. Many a ruined life is directly traceable to the blandishments of such men. From the ranks of the "perfect gentlemen" are recruited confidence men and bigamists, wife deserters and all the nefarious horde that prey upon the gullibility of human nature, and particularly woman nature.

As a matter of fact the "perfect gentleman" is half the time a scoundrel in disguise.

It seems as though we should not be so easily taken in and that we should not need to be reminded again and again that being amiable and flattering of tongue, quick to perform gallantries and good to look at physically are not the first essentials of manliness. To be pleasant-faced and pleasant-tongued, gallant and well-dressed, constitutes no crime against manhood. A real, live man may combine each and every one of these accomplishments, but he will also have other characteristics, not so showy, perhaps, but very solid and distinguishing.

The safety of our girls and women lies in their being able to discriminate between the man whose goodness is only skin deep and the one who is sound and true clear through.

Make it a part of the creed by which you live never to trust a man because of his flattering tongue, loverlike attentions and free and generous manner. None of these things makes him undesirable. Separately and collectively they are points in his favor, if he has in reserve more solid qualities which give him the right to claim the title "gentleman" or "perfect gentleman," if you prefer.

Amusements

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—"The Bird of Paradise."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—"Good Morning, Judge."

Amusement Notes.

Richard Walton Tully's "The Bird of Paradise," will be presented by Oliver Morosco in its original sumptuous style at the Lyceum theater, tonight, tomorrow and Saturday with a matinee Saturday.

"The Bird of Paradise" is a story of modern Hawaii, and, in brief, must be termed a splendid satire on the futility of attempting to reverse the anti-civilization of ten thousand years in a score of years, or to turn back the hot surf of the indolent tropics with the icy currents of the North.

Mr. Tully, its author, is one of the most deeply versed of America's literary men. While he was still at college, and before he attained the international celebrity won by such plays as "The Bird of Paradise" and "The Rose of the Rancho," he was a globe traveller, and in particular, an intense student of Hawaiian history, customs and people.

The love stories of Paul Wislon, the American in the tropics, and Luana, the beautiful Pele girl, and, upon the other hand, of beachcomber Dean and the resolute American Diana, are absolute vital humanities—worthy any dramatist in Europe today.

Tully has told his story with unflagging interest. From the time the lovely, half nude Luana drops her melting eyes upon the handsome young American, from the time the American girl sees the shabby, shambling, south sea derelict in his bamboo jungle by the coral-bound wavelets, there is rushing action, pulsing emotion, genuine throbbing humanity. This piece held New York spell-bound.

Few Orpheum patrons who have this week watched Alcide Capitaine, a graceful young woman, perform her amazing gymnastic feats, would be willing to believe that she is the mother of a 17-year-old girl, but such is the case, and her daughter is appearing on this week's bill also.

The daughter is the young woman in the amusing act presented by Binns, Binns and Binns. Her father is the black haired man in the same act, and the aged Scotsman of the trio is her grandfather. Alcide Capitaine, or in real life, Mrs. Joseph Binns, was a young Italian girl when she met her future husband. She was still in her "teens" when she married. This is her daughter's first season on the stage, although she has traveled with her parents for many years. The four members of the family form a very devoted quartet, for they have been together ever since the birth of the daughter.

Two acts of special interest will be seen on next week's bill opening with the Sunday matinee. The headline act will be "The Lawn Party," a miniature musical burlesque presented by William J. Dooley and a company of ten clever juveniles. James Thornton, a well-known monologist, will also make his first appearance in the Duluth theater.

"Good Morning, Judge," said to be the biggest tabloid laughing hit this season, will be the attraction at the Empress for three days, starting with the matinee today.

"Good Morning, Judge," is the story of a rich brewer, a fanatic over trying to grow a beer plant from which he can brew beer, who is elected mayor because he has money, and who later on, by reason of existing village ordinances, is forced to act as a substitute judge of the municipal court. While he is sitting on the bench a case is called in which he is defendant, while a rich widow who lives next door is the plaintiff. There are many ludicrous situations which arise and of which the author has taken advantage. There is not only an unusual amount of laughs in "Good Morning, Judge," but there are two pretty love stories interwoven.

There are also a dozen musical numbers, while the costumes and scenic production are said to be equal in every respect to the average road show. The cast is headed by Miss Elaine Arndt, and includes H. J. Carter, Walter Lehmann, John V. Moore, William Marshall and many others, together with the chorus of stunning girls.

HEAR ANNA GOULD.

Cardinal Vannutelli Calls Senatura Tribunal Together.

Rome, Jan. 8.—Cardinal Vincenzo Vannutelli, as prefect of the Senatura tribunal, has called a meeting of the high court for Saturday next to decide the appeal of the Duchess de Tallyrand, formerly Anna Gould, from the verdict of the Rota tribunal annulling her marriage to Count Boni Di Castellane.

The Duchess de Tallyrand maintains that she was not regularly notified of the trial in which the decision was about to be given, and for this reason was not able to present fresh evidence or submit the depositions of witnesses ta prove her contention. Whether the Senature tribunal accepts her point of view, a new trial will take place before the Rota tribunal, when the duchess will be admitted for the purpose of placing before the court all new evidence.

If the high court rejects her contention, the next decision of the Rota tribunal will be final; otherwise it will be still possible to have the case reviewed.

THE UNTRAINED WORKER.

That was a very suggestive interview in The Herald last night with John J. Moe about the difficulty employers find in getting competent help, the difficulty many employes have to get along on the wages they are earning, and the need of some system of training store employes so they will be worth more and get more.

It opens up a good many vistas of thought, and they are mighty important to society.

Mr. Moe says that every employer has trouble getting the kind of help he wants, that minimum wage laws wouldn't help much and might hurt by crowding out of employment many low-waged employes whose wages are low because they can't earn more, and that much better than such laws would be some system of training store employes, which he suggests the public schools might furnish.

For minimum wage laws is the argument that it is bad for society to have its members paid sums too small to enable them to live and rear families wholesomely. Against such laws is the argument that they would shut out the untrained many who, being unable to earn more than the low wages they get, are yet dependent on those wages and might go jobless and wageless under laws fixing minimum wages.

Broader still is the problem opened by the suggestion of training. In any occupation, the trained employe who knows his business and is ambitious and can forge ahead gets better pay and is worth more to his employer than the unskilled worker. That goes without saying.

What is to be done about it? Mr. Moe gives an instance where a school is privately conducted which gives a business training with important results. The public schools are going in the future to give more practical training than they have in the past, and are going to consider more the ninety-and-nine than they do at present. Maybe when that time comes a part of the public school work will be training in salesmanship that will give storekeepers better help that they can afford to pay higher wages to. But what may happen in the future isn't helping much those who are earning meager wages now.

It isn't a problem to be settled offhand with any cocksure social panacea. It is a problem to be studied and thought about and worked out carefully.

In the meantime, pity for those afflicted by the condition that exists ought to prompt expedition in approaching this problem, and in devising at least temporary means of making it less burdensome to those suffering from it; which includes employers plagued with incompetent help and employes sorely harassed by too meager wages.

THE TARIFF—AN INDUSTRIAL HANDICAP.

An individual who inherits a fortune and therefore does have to struggle for his living is not likely to be industrious.

And an industry that has its profits secured to it by a preferential protective tariff is not likely to be so enterprising and progressive as an industry which must compete to the limit in the world's markets.

This, as The Herald has often said in years past, was one of the worst blights of the protective tariff system; and this is what President Wilson meant when he said that the new tariff law would "free" the American manufacturer and dealer.

Strong testimony on this point comes from the Journal of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry, which says: "Probably the greatest factor in retarding the development of scientific research among our industries has been the high tariff. This high tariff has caused many of our industries to prosper and pay enormous profits in spite of their short-sighted management. Political research, with a view to exploiting the consumer, is well understood by such managers, and it is a regrettable fact that many of them have spent thousands of dollars on the lobby, and not one cent for placing their business on a sound scientific footing."

This is completely true, and tremendously important.

Why should an industry study to develop its maximum efficiency, when a protective tariff subsidy flooded its coffers with profits at the expense of the consumers?

But now that the foolish thing of stimulating industries by the protective tariff drug is about to end, American enterprise will have a real incentive, and American industry, contending with the world on its merits, will hold its own because it deserves to, and not merely because the American people are taxed to support it.

Certain kinds of skin bleaches may now be expected to spring into popularity because they are supposed to make the tan go.

RESTRAINT OF TRADE.

The Toledo Blade tells two stories which illustrate interestingly the complexity of the so-called "trust problem."

The first is about three American coal companies. The three were neighbors. Two were rich and well established, one was just beginning. When the hard times of 1907-8 came along the two powerful companies wanted to enter into an agreement so the poor company could be carried along, but they were advised that this was action in restraint of trade and would lay every official concerned open to a term in jail.

So the little company had to shift for itself, and it went down in the wreck. Now there are two companies instead of three, as a result of competition, and the reduction from three to two eliminates the need of competition. In other words, the effect the law fears was brought about by the law's operation.

Paralleling this case, the Blade tells this story of a court decision in England, also affecting coal mines:

> For many years the district of Newcastle, in Australia, was the sole important coal producing section of the colony. For forty years, the producers made contracts with their labor so that the wage was fixed in proportion to the price of coal. In case of advance in the price of fuel, the workmen received thirteen cents out of each twenty-four cents increase. The arrangement was satisfactory all around, and a thriving community rose in the vicinity of the mines.
> About ten or twelve years ago a new coal district was opened. Competition brought the mines of the two fields near to ruin. Wages went down and workmen deserted their homes to seek more remunerative labor elsewhere. Finally, at the most desperate point, an agreement was entered into by the producers. Prices were fixed. There was money again for the promotion of sales and the opening of new veins. Wages came back to their former standard.
> In time, the coal companies were brought into court and convicted of violations of a law prohibiting restraint of trade. But on appeal to England, the decision was reversed. The court said: "It can never be of real benefit to the consumers of coal that colliery proprietors should carry on their business at a loss, or that any profit they make should depend upon the miners' wages being reduced to a minimum. Where these conditions prevail the less remunerative collieries will be closed down, there will be a great loss of capital, miners will be thrown out of employment, less coal will be produced and prices will consequently rise until it becomes possible to re-open the closed collieries or open other seams. The consumers of coal will lose in the long run."

Sound reasonable, doesn't it? Yet the Sherman law, as it stands, would prevent even such agreements as that.

And, until some means is provided for giving the public interest representation in the making of such agreements, of course they should be prohibited.

John G. A. Leishman must pay his brokers' claims even if he did get a Federal job. Aren't there going to be any perquisites left to the genial officeholder?

STATE IMMIGRATION WORK.

A copy of Farm Topics, published at Ligonier, Indiana, comes to hand with a tribute to Minnesota as a great corn state. It is but one of many such pieces of advertising Minnesota has had out of a statement of last season's corn yield sent out by Fred D. Sherman, commissioner of immigration.

The immigration department is doing good work. It never has done better work than it is doing right now. Its rather meager appropriation is being used to good advantage, and the results are manifest.

The Northern Minnesota Development association, in deciding to abandon its own immigration work, went on record in favor of a large increase in the state's appropriation for this purpose. This declaration was wise and for the good of the state.

The next legislature will be making a good investment if it increases very materially its present lamentably slight appropriation for immigration work.

No Mexican correspondent has yet been found so wild as to predict the recall of John Lind "because he talks too much."

Selling By Rule.

Washington Herald: "Why do you insist so strenuously on my placing my order right now?"

"I have taken a course in a school of scientific salesmanship and, according to all rules and theories this is the psychological moment for closing this sale."

Consciences Incorporated

Editorial in Omaha World-Herald.

In the course of an excellent editorial discussion of the demand for national prohibition The Duluth Herald says:

> Men will not be good because they have to. They are getting better very rapidly because they want to. Education that will teach the danger and the folly and the hurt and the waste of drink is solving the drink problem, and it is the only way to solve it. * * * Giving the prohibitionists all possible credit for good faith and good intentions, they are tacking the problem wrong end to when they seek to compel men to be good instead of teaching them to want to be good. Teach men to want to be sober, and prohibition will come as fast as it should. Try to compel men to be sober, whether they want to or not, and in purely human perversity they will delay the day of universal sobriety a very long time.

The philosophy of this will apply not to the liquor problem alone, but to most of the other problems of morality and betterment with which society is contending. We are attempting too much to reform ourselves by law; too little attention is given by each one of us, individually, to the reform of himself, individually—not his neighbor, nor the state, but himself. The editor of the Christian Advocate, the Rev. George P. Eckman, stated the case succintly recently when he said:

> There is no denying that our generation has an excellent social conscience. While the sense of individual sin has been dulled, the realization of corporate sin is very distinct. There never was a keener appreciation of society's obligation to individuals, or a more intense purpose to make individuals realize their duty to the social organism. Wealth joins with property in protest against every species of injustice. Political corruption is under the ban of public sentiment. Reforms are being advocated everywhere, and society has a most acute apprehension of its responsibility to make the world a better place of abode. Yet the deadly poison from which all the social iniquities spring, the sin of the selfish human heart, is regarded as having no objective reality, but as being a shrewd invention of theologians to account for a disturbed state of society.

The physician has little desire for healing himself but, with ulcerous hands, he sets about busily and noisily healing ulcers in others. It is so much easier to point out the sins of others, to point out the sins of society, and to advance methods of curing those sins, preferable by law, than it is frankly to recognize and confess one's own personal sins and set about curing them. Hence, as Dr. Eckman remarks, the "social conscience" is keenly alive, and reform by law saturates the air, but "the deadly poison—the sin of the selfish human heart—is regarded as having no objective reality."

Never mind the morality of individuals; never mind the beam in your own eye. What does one man matter? Why should the physician bother about his own sores when there is before him the noble duty of making the world honest, moral and righteous by statute? To cure an evil by a rigorous course of self-discipline, of self-denial—to dig out by its roots deep in one's own person "the sin of the selfish human heart"—is a long and painful process. Easier and simpler far to remove evils instantly by means of the legislature, or through the initiative and referendum. Says the Philadelphia Public Ledger:

> Serious persons here actually come to believe that without changing in the slightest degree the character of the people themselves the nation may metamorphose its morality by changing a few laws. The mania increases with the practice. Everyone has a new bill, but none thinks of reforming himself. Laws multiply, and we are in a worse state than we were before because they are not enforced. Thus is morality not aided while disrespect for law and authority grows. * * * The experimenters who wish to put us in swaddling clothes should take their theories where they get their inspiration—back to some medieval German city or to the France of the old regime, where every man was marked, ticketed; where his clothes, his drink and food were prescribed for him; where he was obliged to go to bed at the hour fixed and to stand in the gutter when a government official passed down the road; where his windows were faced with his salt, and his occupation settled for him by a system born of ignorance and tyranny; where the spirit and principles of a great, broad Anglo-Saxon liberty designed for real men with the power to take care of themselves and a determination to do it, was not even dreamed of.

It is coming to be a serious question whether a majority of us longer really cherish and desire, as a national Magna Charta, the spirit and principles of such a liberty—"designed for real men, with the power to take care of themselves and a determination to do it."

It is such a burden to take care of one's own morals. It is such a heavy responsibility to feel keenly a sense of personal accountability for them. It is such a fearsome task to seek to cure them by meeting the devil personally, face to face, and fighting him hand to hand.

Transfer, rather, all the evils, all the sins, to the shoulders of society; hold society, rather than each individual, responsible; and then, with each individual free from the necessity of bothering himself about himself, turn in everybody, shoulder to shoulder, and reform society by passing laws!

Mother Lands a Hard One.

Philadelphia Telegraph: The conversation in the lobby of a Washington hotel drifted to the beautiful way in which mother occasionally lands a good hard knock, when Congressman James M. Graham of Illinois, recalled an incident that occurred in the home of a friend.

One day the little 5-year-old daughter of the house was looking through a picture book when she suddenly glanced up to her mother.

"Mamma," said she, with a very serious expression, "don't men ever go to heaven?"

"Why, of course, my dear," answered the mother in a surprised voice. "What makes you ask?"

"Because," responded the little girl, turning to the book again, "I have never seen any pictures of angels with whiskers."

"That's easily accounted for, darling," was the smiling rejoinder of mother. "While men do go to heaven, they only get there by a very close shave."

Cheer.

It's a mighty good world, so it is, dear lass,
When even the worst is said,
There's a smile and a tear, a sigh and a cheer,
But better be living than dead;
A joy and a pain, a loss and a gain;
There's honey and may be some gall;
Yet still I declare, foul weather or fair,
It's a mighty good world after all.

For look, lass! at night when I break from the fight,
My kingdom's awaiting for me;
There's comfort, and rest, and the warmth of your breast,
And little ones climbing my knee.
There's fire light and song—Oh, the world may be wrong!
Its empires may topple and fall;
My home is my care—if gladness be there,
It's a mighty good world after all.

O heart of pure gold! I have made you a fold,
It's sheltered, sun fondled and warm.
O little ones, rest! I have fashioned a nest;
Sleep on! you are safe from the storm.
And sunshine will flash at our call;
So crown Love as king, and let us all sing—
"It's a mighty good world after all."

Father Tries the New Dances With Mrs. Jones

From "How Every Society Amuses Itself," in the Saturday Evening Post.

I had, until recently, assumed with some bitterness that my dancing days were over. My wife and I went to balls, to be sure, but not to dance. We left that to the younger generation, for the reason that my wife did not care to jeopardize her attire or her complexion. She was also conscious of the fact that the variety of waltz popular thirty years ago was an oddity, and that a middle-aged woman who went hopping about a ballroom must be callous to the amusement that followed her gymations.

With the advent of the turkey trot and the tango, things have changed, however. No one is too stout, too old or too clumsy to go walking solemnly round in or out of time to the music. I confess to a consciousness of absurdity when, to the exciting rhythm of Tres Moutard, I back Mrs. Jones slowly down the room and up again.

"Do you grapevine?" she inquires ardently. Yes; I admit the soft impeachment, and at once she begins some astonishing convolutions with the lower part of her body, which I attempt to follow. After several entanglements we move triumphantly across the hall.

"How beautifully you dance!" she pants.

Aged roisterer that I am, I fall for the compliment. She is a nice old thing, after all!

"Fish walk?" asks she.

I retort with total abandon:

"Come along!"

So grabbing her tightly and keeping my legs entirely stiff—as per instructions from my son—I stalk swiftly along the floor, while she backs with prodigious velocity. Away we go, an odd 400 pounds of us, until, exhausted, we collapse against the table where the champagne is being distributed.

Though I have carefully followed the directions of my preceptor, I am aware that the effect produced by our efforts is somehow not the same as his. I observe him in a close embrace with a willowy young thing, dipping gracefully in the distance. They pause, sway, run a few steps, stop dead and suddenly sink to the floor—only to rise and repeat the performance.

So the evening wears gayly on. I caper round—now sedately, now deliriously—knowing that, however big a fool I am making of myself, we are all in the same boat. My wife is doing it, too, to the obvious annoyance of our daughters. But this is the smartest ball of the season. When all the world is dancing it would be conspicuous to loiter in the doorway. Society has ruled that I must dance—if what I am doing can be so called.

A Bourbonish Attitude

Springfield Republican: The attitude persisted in by our Boston copper kings concerning the strike of the miners in the Michigan Copper country, which they control, is repugnant to the ideas regarding labor unionism, now generally held by enlightened people. There is a touch of arrogance in the latest statement by Quincy A. Shaw and R. L. Agassiz, president and vice president of the Calumet & Hecla, that they will not employ men who join the only metal miners' labor organization in America.

It is not simply a question of "recognizing" the Western Federation of Miners. That question per se has been unimportant for some time. The Western Federation many weeks ago agreed to arbitration with the question of its recognition eliminated. The copper kings in effect forbid their employes from joining any labor organization whatever. They may be willing to tolerate a "local union," unaffiliated with a large outside organization, but such unionism in the Copper country would be a farce for the simple reason that only a large organization can furnish the resources necessary to finance a strike; and the strike, barbaric as it may be, is the weapon now permitted by law to labor in fighting its battles.

The statement given out from Boston by the Calumet & Hecla officials evades the point that the Western Federation of Miners must be joined by their employes if they are to join any labor organization, powerful enough to make membership worth while. It gives what is virtually a false impression as to the company's attitude toward the principle of unionism, for, in penalizing membership in a particular labor organization, the company really seeks to drive all unionism permanently out of the Michigan copper industry. Even the Copper Country Commercial club of Michigan, in its report on the strike, called this attitude "arbitrary;" and Judge Murphy of Detroit, the representative of the governor of Michigan, denounced it as "bourbonish."

It is one thing to keep an "open shop" for all workmen whether they belong to a labor union or not. It is quite another thing to keep a "closed shop" in the sense that the shop is closed tight against all union members. Our Boston copper kings occupy an untenable position, in principle—one which no arbitration board ever concerned in the settlement of a labor dispute in the anthracite mining industry has sanctioned.

The modern labor question is tremendously difficult, but employers who take the position of the Calumet & Hecla Mining company will never help to settle it on a just and permanent basis.

Fists Across the Sea.

London Saturday Review: When the American ambassador tells us—in some degree at least seriously—that better English is spoken in America than in England it really is a little too much. At the Savage club dinner this week he said, "On our side of the Atlantic we speak English better than you do, and more of it!" The Americans are a people (or air a people) that, as Charles Dickens told them, like to be "cracked up." They are rich. They are—or seem to be—confident of themselves. They excel at the business of games. They make things "hum." But it is absurd to pretend they speak good English. Their English and their spelling of English—which, we are sorry to say, is imitated by English writers who should know better—are most unpleasant. Their twang is sometimes so. Nor is American literature of much account. The Americans, it is true, have had Emerson and Walt Whitman, two great and original writers and thinkers, and they have had Hawthorne. Bret Harte, too, counts in a smaller way, whilst William Cullen Bryant wrote a wonderful little poem, "To a Waterfowl." But the list of their writers of genius, or even high talents, is painfully restricted.

Know Him?

"Didn't know he was in that line at all. What line is his specialty?"

"The capitalization of the letter 'I.'"

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator Henry F. Hollis of New Hampshire has always had a good, practical working sense of humor. Some years ago when Hollis was attending the high school in Concord, so runs the story, he went to an examination on the subject of European history, and one of the questions was to name three of the best known Lombard leaders. Hollis knew two of them, but hadn't the remotest idea about the third. So he wrote that the third was a man named Hugo Ginseng. The name was not a familiar one to the teacher, and the next day the teacher inquired of Hollis where he came by his knowledge of Hugo Ginseng.

"I don't suppose he is mentioned in the ordinary school history," said Hollis, blindly, "but in the history we have at home—in seven volumes—it tells all about him, and I guess it is pretty well agreed among the authorities now that he was one of the most capable Lombards there were—although he didn't shove himself forward so much as some of the others."

"That is indeed very interesting," said the teacher. "Oh, if only more of the boys would do a little supplementary reading."

It often happens that persons handling the great affairs of state behave much like anybody else. For example, one night the president desired to hold a brief telephone conversation with the secretary of state. So the White House exchange undertook to call William Jennings Bryan to the telephone. But Bryan or some one had carelessly left the receiver down.

Now what do you suppose happened? If it had been Jim Hicks trying to call Phil Harper in Sedalia and Phil's receiver was down, Jim would have called one of the neighbors and asked somebody to tell Phil to go to his phone. That was precisely what happened when the president was endeavoring to talk to the secretary of state. The White House called up a near neighbor, who happened to be a justice of the supreme court of the United States, and asked him if he wouldn't send word over to Mr. Bryan to hang up the receiver.

It has been noted with a great deal of consternation here of late by friends of Victor Murdock, the Progressive leader, that Victor is putting on a lot of weight. In a little while, at the same rate of increase, he will be a fat man. No one would place any great stress on this fact, as there are lots of fat men running loose, but Victor forged to the front just a short time ago as one of the leading exponents of the delights and advantages of a rigorous diet, and a slender figure. Starting in with a waist line like a brownie, he trained down until he had to have all his clothes made over and looked like a man just emerging from a hunger strike, for the good of the order. He had a long list of rules about diet and would neither eat much himself nor let anybody else eat much without first giving a long lecture about the perils of obesity. So, now that he is putting on weight again, he was asked to explain.

"Oh, I've grown careless about my diet," confessed Victor. "I've been eating two meals a day, and no man ought to eat more than one."

The glutton!

Representative "Hampy" Moore of Philadelphia walked into one of the capitol restaurants the other day and ordered a small steak. When it came it was so small that he had grave difficulty in spreading it out enough to comprise one good bite. Eating such a steak was about as satisfactory as merely reading about food.

"I ordered a steak, and not a mere suggestion of a steak," observed "Hampy" to the colored waiter.

"Well, sah," explained the waiter, "you ordered a small steak and that'n was the smallest I could find, sah."

On an average of twice a year, Representative Ben Johnson of Kentucky gets it into his head to buy a buffalo. He writes to the leading buffalo dealers for their catalogue and price lists, and derives a great deal of pleasure from viewing with his mind's eye the landscape of his Kentucky farm with the large buffalo grazing on the hillside. But when it gets right down to a point where the next move is to buy the buffalo, Johnson always reneges. He has deer on his farm, and a wild boar, and other interesting mammalia of the field and forest, such as cows and horses, and he wants a buffalo, but something invariably prompts him to slow up just before committing himself on paper. He pauses, reconsiders, wonders what he would do with a buffalo if he had one, and postpones action. Then for six months a buffalo never enters his head. Sooner or later, though, he completes the cycle and begins his dickering for a buffalo all over again.

A Pig.

I always like a pig.
His appetite is big,
But he isn't like a chicken with its dig, dig, dig;
And he isn't like some men
Who are happy only when
They have grabbed the choicest morsel in the other fellow's pen.

A pig's not over-neat,
And his food's not always sweet;
And his highest aspiration is to eat, eat, eat.
He's the synonym for greed,
But, unlike the human breed,
He doesn't keep on piling up a lot he doesn't need.

Now, a hen will scratch around
Over forty leagues of ground,
And holler, "Come and look at what I've found, found, found."
And a man is much the same
With his thirst for empty fame,
But a pig just filled his stomach, caring naught for praise or blame.

Making an imposing front
Is the human's favorite stunt,
While a pig dismisses pretense with a grunt, grunt, grunt.
No, his figure isn't trig;
His mentality's not big;
And he's apt to be untidy—still, I always like a pig.

An Amusing Puzzle.

Exchange: A young man of the town was calling on his best girl the other evening and the clock was striking three. The young lady asked him if he was any good at working puzzles and he was. She gave him a pencil and a piece of paper and told him to make four "O's," leave a space and make three more, leave another space and make two more, then draw a perpendicular line down from the right hand side of the first "O" one up from the right side of the fourth, down from the fifth, up from the seventh and down from the eighth. He took the hint. Girls, it may pay you to commit this little puzzle to memory.

Reclaim and Settle Idle State Lands

The State Press on a Needed State Policy.

Get the Bad Blood Out.

Bagley Herald: The Aitkin Republican thinks the N. M. D. A. boys are not roasting political peanuts just right to suit his stomach. The N. M. D. A. boys are not roasting those kind of peanuts. The main plank of their entertainment is to cut them out as much as possible. But the boys are popping corn and the large showy kernels are attracting many prospective settlers to Northern Minnesota. Dear brother of Aitkin, you are a little dyspeptic, your stomach is out of order with the beautiful climate of Northern Minnesota and the grand fertility of her soil. What you want to do is to get a bottle of Northern Minnesota Booster Ointment and rub a little on that standpat stomach of yours. One application guarantees a cure. We welcome you in our midst, and the gridiron needs your push and energy. So get well quick and come along.

Not in the Least.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: The Northern Minnesota Development association never yet started anything it couldn't finish, and the tacit opposition of the state house crowd will not hinder it in the least.

Doing a Great Work.

Chisholm Miner: The meeting of the Northern Minnesota Development association was as enthusiastic and successful a meeting as has been held since its organization. The association will close the exhibit room in Minneapolis, it having served its purpose, and the officers will devote their time to agricultural development of the north part of the state. There is a great work to be done and the association will undertake to aid farmers to secure roads and markets and assist them to secure better stock and work out a plan whereby help can be secured to clear land. The association is stronger than ever and will continue to prosper just as long as its members conduct its affairs in a business-like way and not allow personalities to influence their judgment.

Another Good Man Gone Wrong.

Cambridge North Star: We agree with Bob Dunn that the Northern Minnesota Development association is running on flat tires when it objects to the transfer of the swamp lands to the state for the use and benefit of settlers in the section of the state the association was organized to assist. We might also say that the governor added some water to his own gasoline when he lent assistance to these northern knockers.

Worth Looking Into.

La Porte News: The resolution adopted by the delegates at the meeting of the N. M. D. A. in Bemidji, recommending that the present laws be repealed or amended so that prison labor "may legally be employed on public highways under proper regulations," is certainly worthy of investigation and careful consideration by the members of the next legislature. The results of experiments in states where it has been tried are unanimously favorable, and there is no question but what it can be made both beneficial to the prisoner and profitable for the state.

It Works Well Here.

Deerwood Times: Several Northern Minnesota villages have adopted a plan which is expected to work untold good for the town. Every month the business and professional men get together at a banquet and discuss the many complications which arise in their business life during the month. Gathered 'round the festive board with all feelings of animosity removed, they feel more on a par with each other and the result of their "get together" meeting makes itself apparent from the start.

It's Worth Boosting.

Cass Lake Times: It's good for sore eyes to see the way the newspapers all over the state are lining up for real reclamation of state lands. There is hardly a week in which there is not some influential additional support among the newspapers of Southern Minnesota. The Minneapolis Journal seems to be coming into camp as the latest acquisition.

Dress for the Job.

Walker Pilot: We'll have to admit that the officers of the development association went after the state swamp land drainage matter somewhat rough shod, but then kid shoe tactics wouldn't get anyone very far in a wet swamp.

The Garb of Statecraft

Chicago Tribune: Possibly it is pushing a conjecture too far to agree with the Sartorial Art Journal that if William J. Bryan had been a fussy or at least a precise man with his tailor he might have been president. Then, again, if it were the tailor that kept Mr. Bryan from being president, there is an unknown who deserves well of his country. We infinitely prefer Mr. Bryan as secretary of state—for the exact reason that the Sartorial Art Journal cannot unreservedly indorse his dress. He's too flowing, loose, ambient, circumambient expansive. He's free to the winds and indifferent to wrinkles.

There are times when statesmanship has to be attentive to small things, such as the pressing iron on the trousers of its art, and of Mr. Bryan's trousers the Journal says: "They always appear to be much too long, and are so far innocent of the attentions of a pressing iron that they resemble a pair of tubular concertinas."

A statesman exalted above the reproach of tubular concertinas might be so indifferent to small details as to take the Russian ambassador aside under the impression he was the German ambassador and tell him things which were permissible for the German ambassador to know, but awkward otherwise.

We agree with the Journal's infinitely superior opinion on such subjects that Mr. Bryan is not "an undistinguished dresser, or even a bad dresser in the ordinary sense of the term. He dresses with distinction enough, with character enough, and there is good reason to believe that he rather prides himself on the manner in which he endeavors to express his personality in the clothes he wears."

Mr. Bryan is as universal as a principle of brotherly love, as all embracing as a wind from the South, as limitless as the ether, as beneficent as an April shower, as intense as the July sun. As easy to put the elements in the pressed and precise lines of sartorial perfection as to drape this Roman in resemblance to a fashion plate.

Mr. Bryan must flow, and he does flow, coat, thoughts, scarfs, words, and hat. It may have kept him from being president, but it has made him Bryan. Who knows which were nobler?

Test for a Weak Mind.

New York Tribune: Two men in a cafe yesterday were discussing the recent gift of a noted millionaire of a large sum of money to found a chair of psychology in Columbia college.

"What is psychology, anyway?" asked one.

"It's a study of the mind, of the soul," said the other.

"What's the good of that?" asked the skeptic.

"A great deal of use," answered his companion. "I have studied it to some extent myself and can detect a weak-minded man from a strong-minded one by a very simple test. For instance, if I can make you say 'fourteen' against your will you lack will power. Will you let me try it on you? I believe I can make you say it."

"Make me say 'fourteen' against my will. You can't do it. Fire away!" and this is the way the test worked:

A.—How much are six and four?

B.—Ten.

A.—How much are eight and three?

B.—Eleven.

A.—How much are nine and seven?

B.—Sixteen.

A. (triumphantly)—Aha! There, you said it. I knew you would!

B. (indignantly)—Said what?

A.—Sixteen.

B.—But fourteen was the word we chose for the test.

A. (coolly)—Well, you have said it now, anyway.

Looking Backward.

BANKS SHOULD HELP.

To the Editor of The Herald:

At a recent meeting the merchants of Duluth agreed to quit the use of flaring red, white and blue canvas signs along Superior street. They are doing everything in their power to make Superior street a dignified, prosperous looking thoroughfare. Our banks ought to get into line and help. Two of our leading banks have canvas signs stretched across the sidewalk in front of them. These methods of advertising are all right for the Bowery district of some gone to seed and run down boom town, but for a metropolitan city they are decidedly out of place. Every Duluthian who likes to see a clean presentable city should show his disapproval of such methods of advertising, whether it be for a poultry show or a bankrupt sale.

Root to the Rescue

(By Saveyard.)

Washington, Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The other day Elihu Root made what is called a powerful argument in the United States senate discussing the Democratic bill providing for currency reform. Mr. Root has no superior at the American bar. In New York he is in the class of Joseph H. Choate and worthy to wear the mantle of Charles O'Connor, or James T. Brady, or William M. Evarts. They sneer at him as the counsel who appeared for Tweed. That is an ignoble assault, that every decent antagonist should be ashamed to make. Article VI of the Constitution guarantees the vilest criminal the advice of counsel when confronted with a charge in a legal tribunal, and Mr. Root only did his duty when he defended Tweed in the criminal prosecutions against him in New York.

I know that Rufus Choate, perhaps the most consummate advocate the American bar has produced, declined to appear for Colt—or was it Dr. Webster?—in a celebrated criminal trial; but he subsequently explained by saying he was convinced of the man's guilt and that he knew the emotions of his own nature so well that he was satisfied that at some stage of the trial he would be unable to hide his own opinion of the guilt of the accused from the jury and thus he would work a great harm to his client, which shows that Rufus Choate was as honest as a man as he was great as a lawyer. O, what a pity 'tis that all lawyers had not been builded on that plan! An honest lawyer is a pillar of the state and an ornament to society; a rascally lawyer is an ulcer on the bar and a burden on the populace.

Mr. Root is not the orator Rufus Choate or James T. Brady was, and his speech the other day was that of an advocate at the bar rather than that of a statesman in the forum. Here was a man, the most conspicuous and the ablest senator of a party that had created the "Greenback," in a financial sense the most rascally piece of legislation our country has known; it was made legal tender for debt in esse and that was bald repudiation as ever was perpetrated. It is the party that enacted the Sherman silver law, a reptile spawned by the cowardice of the party of Lincoln because it was afeared to entrust a free silver bill to Ben Harrison, a Republican president.

That Sherman law demonetized gold as effectively as would have been the case had it expressly provided that gold should not be coined at the mint nor accepted as legal tender for debt. That made the panic of 1893 which Grover Cleveland inherited from Ben Harrison and carried it like the giant he was.

Now, Elihu Root knows that. Every statesman in congress who has sense enough to put up a panel of drawbars, or herd a flock of geese, knows it; but here comes Root, the lawyer, prating about inflation and hinting turpitude at Bryan. He sought to arouse the fears of business men whose fortunes would be wrecked by unsound currency.

Well, when he got done, our old friend Dr. Jake Gallinger must needs nominate the Hon. Root for president. I do not intend to reflect on the personal integrity of Senator Root. Doubtless in vulgar things of meum et tuum he is as honest as I hope I am; but it is notorious that Mr. Root, for long years, has been the chief legal adviser of Wall Street and there is a popular prejudice, an instinctive fear, that Wall Street retained him solely to advise monopoly how to evade the law, how to be exempt from its sanctions, how to fortify itself against the statutes, and keep out of the penitentiary. That may be doing Mr. Root injustice and I hope it is; but that is the character Mr. Root has made hither and thither.

And so you see the Hon. Gallinger, as usual, has nothing but defiance for the Constitution of the United States. He proposes to nominate for president of our glorious republic Wall Street, New York. But the ticket must be completed, and there is but one way to do it—White Chapel, London, for vice president, and a foreign born is not eligible. I sometimes fear the Hon. Gallinger has not read the Constitution.

I would not wound Mr. Root's sensibilities but I am persuaded he understands this lame conceit. At least he refused the crown at the hands of the New Hampshire man.

I like the name. In 1868 in the national Republican convention at Chicago that nominated Gen. Grant for president a scene was enacted in the early proceedings when a young and stalwart figure rose among the delegates and addressed the chair. Carl Schurz was president of the body and demanded the name of the delegate.

"O W. Root of Kentucky, by G-D, sir," came the answer in clarion and commanding tone.

"For what purpose does the gentleman rise?" asked Schurz.

"To make a speech, sir," retorted Root.

I never saw O. W. Root, long since dead, but he was quite a character, lived just across the river from Cincinnati, and was once the Republican nominee for attorney general of Kentucky. It is not a common name and maybe he and the New York jurist are akin.

Pity they could not be fused. They would make Teddy go way back and sit down.

ROAD NEEDS IMPROVEMENT

Highway to Work Farm Will Get Attention in Early Spring.

When the snow is off the ground, the first job which will get attention at the new city and county work farm will be the improvement of the road leading into the institution from the Pike Lake road.

Having been cut through only last summer, it is necessarily rough and narrow. Its condition is such that it is now impassable for automobiles and cannot be any too easily negotiated by a team. This makes it out of the question to haul the prisoners to the farm by automobile, leaving to be settled only the matter of who will maintain the team which will make the trips between there and the city.

The farm was inspected yesterday afternoon by Mayor Prince, Safety Commissioner Hicken and Fire Chief Joseph Randall, who went as far as possible in a fire department automobile and footed it the balance of the way. The last leg was too tough for "Speedy" Warren Cain, the chief's driver.

The officials were greatly impressed with what has already been accomplished. The big building, in the shape of a cross, has been nearly finished. Accommodations have been provided for fifty prisoners, who will have sanitary sleeping quarters, a lounging room, a washroom and a big dining room. An ample supply of warm clothing has been provided for their use during the cold weather.

The officials found George Dase, who will have charge of the culinary department, turning out a big batch of doughnuts and cookies in the large kitchen. After their ride they lost no time in availing themselves of the cook's invitation to "dig in," especially after he pointed out the steaming coffee pot on the stove.

MOONEY WILL APPEAL CASE

Attorney Decides to Go to United States Supreme Court.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 8.—Charles N. Beum of Minneapolis and Fred J. Mooney of Duluth, the Minnesota men convicted in the United States district court in connection with dynamite cases and whose sentences were affirmed by the court of appeals, will appeal their cases to the United States supreme court.

This decision was practically reached yesterday by their lawyer, M. C. Tifft. He said if his decision is not upheld by the Iron Workers' union, that Beum and Mooney will begin serving their sentences upon the expiration of the thirty days granted for a motion for new trial or an appeal.

Cannon's Nephew Tries Suicide.

Danville, Ill., Jan. 8.—Orville W. Cannon, nephew of Joseph G. Cannon, former speaker of the house, shot himself at his home yesterday. The bullet plowed a path through his scalp, inflicting a superficial wound. Later Mr. Cannon declared the wound was inflicted accidentally while he was fooling with a couple of loaded revolvers. A second weapon, fully loaded, was found beside him on the bed by his wife, who was summoned by the noise.

OUTLOOK FOR JOBBERS GOOD

Travelers Make Heavy Sales During First Week of Year

Grocery, Shoe and Dry Goods Market Shows Great Activity.

Duluth jobbers are generally optimistic regarding the outlook for the present year. The first week of 1914 is said to have brought gratifying results in initial bookings by travelers who are now on their rounds after their holiday reunions and conferences at headquarters here.

It is reported that some of the houses have already increased their forces of salesmen and that others are making arrangements to do so with a view to going after trade over additional territory and covering old grounds more closely.

A remarkable increase in the volume of wholesale trade centering here is expected to follow the going into effect of the new lake and rail freight rates lined up in accordance with the interstate commerce commission's decision.

Collections are advised to be generally satisfactory for the season, current paper being uniformly well taken care of.

Brisk Groceries Trade.

Business in both fancy and staple groceries is being found good by Duluth jobbing houses. The Barthe-Martin company advises that the colder weather and slight snowfall gave an impetus to the trade through the extension of logging operations in Northern Minnesota.

Regarding trade quotations and market tendencies, it is noted that sugars are still weak, with refiners' figures lower than in more than twenty years back. Coffees are also on the down grade marketwise, quotations having taken another drop of half a cent a pound during the past week, making the decline 1½ cents in the last forty days.

In canned vegetables, tomatoes and pumpkins have declined, while corn is being stiffly held as a result of light supplies. Canned raspberries, cherries and both New York state and California pears are weaker, attributable to the canners being generally overstocked in those lines.

Drygoods Opening Well.

The new year is opening up nicely in drygoods, according to F. A. Patrick & Co. That is especially the case in the house's wool products department in which heavy orders are already being booked for next fall.

Every section of the country is said to be represented in the daily orders for mackinaws being received.

Shipments in general dry goods lines are now going out on spring orders booked during the last few months. It is said that these bulk up the heaviest in the aggregate in the experience of the house.

Strong Sentiment in Hardware.

Gratification is expresesd by the sales departments of the two local hardware establishments over the orders in staples being taken by salesmen since the holidays. No changes are reported in steel and iron prices during the last few days. Improvement in sentiment among the Eastern manufacturers on the general situation is commented upon and a stiffening up in the market in many products is predicted within the next three or four weeks.

Shoe Factory Busy.

"We have more unfilled orders on hand than a year ago, and our factory is running full blast and employing more hands than at this time last year," said L. D. Stickles, manager of the Northern Shoe company, today.

The company is now employing eighteen salesmen, and it is announced that its territory will be covered more closely during the present year than at any period in the past. Gus Lieber is the latest addition to the traveling staff. He will cover Southern North Dakota. Travelers are now out with the factory's new lines of felt goods for next fall delivery.

Substantial Furniture Business.

Though the present is the off-season in the furniture trade, the receipt of substantial orders from salesmen is advised by the De Witt-Seitz company. Mail orders are also coming in freely. H. F. Seitz is now away upon a visit to the markets at Chicago, Grand Rapids, Mich., Milwaukee and other points.

Last Year Its Best.

B. M. Peyton, president of the Peyton Paper company averred that his house had just wound up the best year in its history. Business for the present year has also started in promisingly with the booking of substantial orders in general stationery and paper lines.

1913 WAS WORST YEAR FOR STORMS

Taking into account the wrecks caused by the storm of Nov. 9, the Great Lakes have a record in 1913 of the worst year for disasters in their history. In the loss of ships alone, 15 vessels were wrecked, 18 sank and 1 burned to the water's edge.

PARCEL POST WILL BENEFIT SCHOOLS

Rural Districts Will Get Supplies By Mail After March 15.

Transportation of school supplies from the office of the county superintendent to the teachers in the rural communities will be simplified after March 15 next, when books and publications of all kinds will be allowed through the mails at parcel post rates.

Since the parcel post has been inaugurated, N. A. Young, county superintendent of schools, has not only effected a substantial saving in the cost of shipping supplies to the half hundred rural schools in the unorganized districts but has also found it more satisfactory and expedient.

Formerly the supplies were expressed to the nearest railroad station and then carted out to the school. Drayage costs had to be added and long delays were often occasioned.

BAR CLERGYMAN FROM MARYLAND'S SENATE.

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 8.—The right of a clergyman to hold a state senatorship has been questioned in the upper branch of the general assembly. Frank E. Williams was not allowed to qualify, pending the result of an inquiry into his right to the office because of the constitutional provision that "no minister or preacher of the gospel shall be eligible as senator."

Mr. Williams said that he was no longer a minister, having resigned and his resignation having been accepted.

LOSE $25,000,000 YEARLY BY FRAUDS

New York Merchants Ask Whitman to Help Prosecute Offenders.

New York, Jan. 8.—The annual losses suffered by merchants through commercial frauds committed in this city aggregate $25,000,000, according to a committee report representing the Merchants' association and other leading business organizations, which called upon District Attorney Charles S. Whitman with regard to a vigorous prosecution of these crimes. The prosecutor appointed Arthur C. Train, one of his assistants, to handle such cases. Complainants are to be requested by Mr. Train to aid in the prosecution until each case has been concluded, and to make no settlement without his consent.

District Attorney Whitman promised, according to the committee, to draft a bill for introduction in the state legislature aimed to expedite the prosecution of commercial crimes.

LAY TRIPLE CRIME TO MAN'S DUAL LIFE

Los Angeles Police Seek Solution of Action of Woman.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 8.—The wife of W. M. Melton, the attorney and real estate agent killed Tuesday night in the tragedy which brought death also to Mrs. Mary Graves-Cox and her daughter Florence, has been located here by the police. A history of the man's life led officers to conclude that the double murder and suicide were the outcome of Melton's inability to meet his engagement to marry Mrs. Cox.

Mrs. Melton viewed the morgue and identified the body of her husband. Police officers say they were told by her that Melton had lived at home and was regarded by her and her neighbors as a model husband. His frequent absence from home, she said, she believed was due to business.

The police theory to account for the tragedy is that Mrs. Cox learned only Tuesday of the existence of Mrs. Melton, and in a paroxysm of anger shot Melton and her daughter and then killed herself.

SALES BREAK RECORDS.

George A. Gray Company's White Sale a Great Success.

There are always record days in shopping, but the George A. Gray company is experiencing, these days, a series of record days that has even the optimistic Mr. Brinkman rather staggered.

This, please remember, is the great "white sale" period, and the Gray store is right in that with a vengeance. Year after year it has established a new record in January when the white sale was on, but this year is the limit. Mr. Brinkman was asked what was the banner sales day of the store.

"Well" said he, "I'll tell you this and you may draw your own conclusions: Last Monday was the greatest sales day the store ever had—up to that time. Since then Monday has been made to look small. What will happen before this sales is over, I would not venture to guess."

The sale is the greatest the company has ever put on. Where twenty-seven extra clerks were employes in selling white goods alone last year, there are, this year, thirty-three. And another item that shows in a measure what a volume of business is being done, is what happened to the parcels chute yesterday morning. The parcels actually were down so fast that they could not get free enough passage and broke the chute out at the sides. The company managers find that the purchases of white goods are more liberal this year than ever before and more people seem to be taking advantage of the opportunity to get the goods this year then at any other time in the store's history.

"Everything" said Mr. Brinkman "indicates a greater degree of prosperity and easy money than in recent years. People who come into the store seem to buy with a freer hand than for a long time, and act generally as if they were making good money, and are not afraid to use it if they get good value for it. I think that that is one of the best indications of financial conditions that one could ask. In fact, I may say, we have found business conditions improving to a remarkable extent for some time.

"As an indication of how business has increased over the corresponding period last year I might say that we have one delivery wagon and one auto delivery more than last year, and yesterday our chief shipping clerk told me that we will have to have another delivery wagon."

WANTS CLOSER INSPECTION

Meat Inspector Advocates Licensing Butchers to Pay Assistant.

If the inspectors and other city employes who are not heads of divisions and departments, had charge of the hiring of assistants the payroll would be much heavier than it is at present.

In his annual report Meat Inspector Leo Bernhardt recommends an assistant meat inspector be employed. He points out that Duluth has eighty-one retail butcher shops, to regulate which he would have one man devote his entire time. The other, he believes, could profitably devote his entire working hours to Michigan street and the depots. To meet the added expense he would license each retail butcher, charging each $10 per year.

The meat inspector made the same license recommendation once before in a monthly report but it did not meet with the approval of his superiors. They could not see any increased benefit to the public of a regulation which would give the butchers an excuse for boosting the already high cost of living. It was pointed out that the shops could be licensed without any fee, or with a nominal fee of not to exceed $1 a year, and all the benefits of the license system derived. They stated that licensing the markets would make it easier to keep them up to the standard and enable the department to better control them.

The meat inspector's report shows that during the year he made many inspections, condemned a considerable quantity of meat and poultry and made a large number of visits to wholesale and retail establishments.

TANGO? YES, IF IT IS DONE "RIGHT."

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 8.—The ban on all "rag" dances, which has been in effect at the University of Nebraska, has been lifted by Miss Mary Graham, dean of women. The annual military ball, the first formal dance of the year, to be held Friday, is the cause of the change in the edict. The tango, the one-step and other novelty dances will be permitted, under the condition "that they are danced right." Heretofore nothing but the waltz, two-step and five-step have been permitted.

BLAMES CONSUMERS.

Retail Grocer Says They Cause the High Cost of Living.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—Blame for the high cost of living was placed on the consumer by an official of the Retail Grocers' National association, the executives of which are meeting in Chicago.

"Did you ever hear a foreigner crying about the high cost of living?" demanded Sol Westernfield, chairman of the trade relations committee of the association. "You did not. It is the American or the very rich Americanized foreigners who do the shouting. Your real foreigner—and he is to be found in practically all neighborhoods—may be a great meat eater, but when meat is high he cuts down on his supply. No, not on his quality, on his supply. He is a thrifty body, and after a few years of thrift of that sort what happens?

"That foreigner owns a row of houses, occupied by a lot of aristocratic Americans who want what they want when they want it. These Americans call up the corner grocer six or seven times a day and order the 'best' of everything. Once a month they stroll over to their landlord and hand over their rent for the next thirty days. That's the answer."

W. Straus, banker, asserted that he would endeavor to bring about a conference of the officers of the Grocers' association and representatives of the American Society for Thrift, of which he is chairman of the organization committee. The idea of the organization is to raise the standard of individual thrift.

M. Bourseul, who was regarded by the French as the first to develop the idea of the telephone, died recently a poor man.

With the Price of Meat and Eggs Soaring

It's worth while to consider the double advantage—economy and health—of using cereal food.

Wheat and barley are rich in Nature's nutriment, and there's substantial evidence that cereals give one greater endurance than meat.

Grape-Nuts FOOD

—made from whole wheat and malted barley—contains all the natural nutritive elements of these great food grains, including the mineral phosphates—grown in the grain—which are indispensable to perfect balance of body, brain and nerves.

Grape-Nuts food is delicious, economical and convenient—ready to eat direct from the package with cream, and a little sugar if desired.

Same old reasonable price.

BOTH GAINED.

Man and Wife Thrive on Grape-Nuts.

The notion that meat is necessary for real strength and the foundation of solid flesh is not now as prevalent as formerly.

Excessive meat eaters are usually sluggish a part of the time because they are not able to fully digest their food, and the undigested portion is changed into what is practically a kind of poison that acts upon the blood and nerves, thus getting all through the system.

"I was a heavy meat eater," writes an Ills. man, "and up to two years ago was in very poor health. I suffered with indigestion so that I only weighed 95 pounds.

"Then I heard about Grape-Nuts food and decided to try it. My wife laughed at me at first, but when I gained to 125 pounds and felt so fine, she thought she would eat Grape-Nuts too. Now she is fat and well and has gained 40 pounds. We never have indigestion any more and seldom feel the desire for meat.

"A neighbor of ours, 68 years old, was troubled with indigestion for years, and was a heavy meat eater. Now, since he has been eating Grape-Nuts regularly, he says he is well and never has indigestion.

"I could name a lot of persons who have rid themselves of indigestion by changing from a heavy meat diet to Grape-Nuts." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

WRITTEN FOR THE HERALD BY REV. J. S. KIRTLEY, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: JAN. 11.

Luke x, 1-16; The Mission of the Seventy.

CONNECTION.

It was on the Master's journey to Jerusalem that autumn to attend the Feast of Tabernacles, after the most of His public work was over. On the way passing through Samaria His disciples are repulsed by their old enemies, the Samaritans, and He follows on in obscure districts. It is here He sends out some of the new and untrained disciples as He had sent out the twelve.

THE LESSON.

I.

Motive and Men. 1-3.

"Now after these things the Lord appointed seventy others, and sent them two and two before His face into every city and place, whither He Himself was about to come. And He said unto them, The harvest indeed is plenteous, but the laborers are few; pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that He send forth laborers into His harvest."

1. WHY.—He evidently had two reasons for sending them out. One is the work to be done was greater than He could do alone and He would multiply Himself. He said the harvest was great and there was need of more workers. He chose to pass through sections that He had never been in before and the people had not the opportunities that other sections had. The other reason was that it would be training them to carry on just such work when He should leave. For that reason He sent them only to places He Himself intended to visit and He would correct their mistakes and put a sort of finish on their work.

2. WHO.—They were the choicest, most capable, of the great number of followers He had. He sent them two by two, to reinforce each other. The two made more than twice one. Each was stronger for the help of the other. He prepared them for it, first by exciting their sympathy for the needy, that were like a white ripe field needing harvest hands; second, by striking them with the thought that there were so few to minister to the needy; third, He set them to praying; fourth, He made them resolve to answer their own prayers by going into the fields themselves; fifth, by frankly telling them they are to meet enmity and opposition and to be as simple and helpless as lambs in the midst of ravening wolves. Thus He sought to awaken in them sympathy, sense of responsibility, importunity in prayer, sense of the needs of people, dependence on Him. Now they are ready for minute instruction in the work.

II.

Instructions on How to Do. 4-11.

"Go your ways; behold, I send you forth as lambs in the midst of wolves. Carry no purse, no wallet, no shoes; and salute no man on the way. And into whatsoever house ye shall enter, first say, Peace be to this house. And if a son of peace be there, your peace shall rest upon him; but, if not, it shall turn to you again. And in that same house remain, eating and drinking such things as they give; for the laborer is worthy of his hire. Go not from house to house. And into whatsoever city ye enter, and they receive you, eat such things as are set before you; and heal the sick that are therein, and say unto them, The kingdom of God is come nigh unto you."

1. BAGGAGE.—They are to take nothing not strictly needed, because they were not to be gone long. Unnecessary baggage would be both useless and a hindrance. He had them provided for. Going to mission fields today, men are to be as careful in taking what is needed as they were. They took every thing needed, which was nothing; the missionaries must take things needed, which is everything. They took no purse for money, for they had no money, as the laws of hospitality provided for them, but do not provide for Christian workers today; besides the great service they were rendering entitled them to receive it with self respect. No scrip or traveling bag, for they didn't need extra clothes. No shoes, for shoes were an indoor luxury and sandals were for travel.

2. CONCENTRATION.—To stop and greet each person they met, meant to ask all sorts of questions about themselves and each other of the family and thus lose a lot of valuable time.

3. PERSONAL.—They were to take advantage of the hospitality always shown travelers, especially teachers, to bring the greatest blessings to the home. It was to be personal rather than public work. Their gracious bearing in giving the usual greeting of "peace be with you," "Shalom," in Hebrew—"Pax vobiscum" in Latin—would be a blessing to all who were of a right mind and if it was bestowed on a churl, though it did him no good, it would react on the visitor for his own good. Courtesy for courtesy's sake is a pretty good rule, as far as it goes. They could meet the emergencies of private talk but would not be ready for the controversies that might arise out in the public places when crowds were around. The enemies of Jesus were in almost every crowd and worked among the people to arouse their resistance. These raw recruits couldn't handle a situation like that.

4. STEADINESS.—They must stay at one place and not be notional and run about from house to house. It would be bad policy. If the fare is not very good, they must live as the family does. To ask for other food would be finicky and self-important and would lessen their influence. The people might give them money as well as free entertainment, but that would put them on a level with the strolling men of magic; they must not accept money.

5. WORK.—It was to be of two kinds—healing of the body, and as a result healing of the soul, by bringing them under the sway of the Messiah, Jesus. They represent the dignity of the kingdom and must sever themselves from those who neglect the appeal, even by the symbolic act of shaking the dust from their feet to signify that they take the consequences alone.

III.

Those Who Reject the Offer. 12-16.

"But into whatsoever city ye shall enter, and they receive you not, go out into the streets thereof and say, even the dust from your city, that cleaveth to our feet, we wipe off against you; nevertheless know this, that the kingdom of God is come nigh. I say unto you, it shall be more tolerable in that day for Sodom, than for that city. Woe unto thee, Chorazin! woe unto thee, Bethsaida! for if the mighty works had been done in Tyre and Sidon, which were done in you, they would have repented long ago, sitting in sackcloth and ashes. But it shall be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon in the judgment, than for you. And thou, Capernaum, shalt thou be exalted unto heaven? thou shalt be brought down unto hades. He that heareth you heareth Me; and he that rejecteth you rejecteth Me; and he that rejecteth Me rejecteth Him that sent Me."

1. ABANDONMENT.—Those who oppose are to be left alone and sorrow and repudiation shown them, in shaking the dust from the feet, as if it were polluted, as the Jews thought the dust on which a Gentile walked was unholy. But they are to be assured that the reign of God was among men anyhow and they couldn't break it. Condemnation for them and victory for the Messiah must be proclaimed.

2. PUNISHMENT.—Vicious rejection is to be punished and they must be told about it. There is a law of retribution as of gravity and of cause and effect. It is in proportion to guilt. And guilt is greater as one's opportunities are greater. Two illustrations are used. The wickedest cities of the past were Sodom and Gomorrah, but they had not ten good people in them to show them how to do. The wickedest cities then known were Tyre and Sidon. But Chorazin and Capernaum had had the advantage of His residence among them and His teachings and personal work. Therefore, their doom would be worse.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

The Master's charge to them is still vital; it has sterling and perennial value for us men in the midst of our accumulated social evils. Go to the people, get close to them, enter their houses and their hearts, make your mission domestic, be social and sociable, friendly and human; go not from house to house in a hurry, as though figures were redeemed souls, but stay long enough to win love; invite trust, and do nothing to thwart expectation; make men feel your tenderness is instinctive, and your desires real.—Clifford.

The twentieth-century wolf may not show his fangs, but he does not hesitate to let you know that he thinks you are narrow and bigoted and seeking to impose on him puritanical prohibitions of enjoyments that you are too prudish to relish yourself. "Oh, so you feel that you must go to your church this evening? What a pity to waste such a perfectly delightful evening for a joy ride!" To be pitied for one's religious convictions, sometimes, hurts as much as to be gnashed by wolf fangs. Any Christian who, in these days, wears his convictions as our nation's flag wears its stars and stripes will hear the wolves howl.—Cowan.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. What is the relation between prayer and work?
2. How is Jesus trying to engage assistants now?
3. Why are we to make the completest preparation for work?
4. Is danger an advantage or disadvantage to the Christian worker?
5. What is the law of home influence?

WOMAN HIKERS VISIT GLYNN

Force "Votes for Women" Buttons on Him and His Secretary.

Rosalie Jones Says New York-Albany March Will Become Annual.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 8.—The hike of the New York suffragettes ended here yesterday, and last night some of the eleven foot-sore and weary marchers rested at local hotels, others returning home by train. They obtained their audiences with Governor Glynn and their respective assemblymen in the interest of their "cause," and all of them were happy, even though their feet did hurt.

Three of the hikers, "General" Rosalie Jones, "Colonel" Ida Craft and "Corporal" Martha Klatzchken, walked the entire 166 miles by road in the six days and a half. They covered about twenty-five miles a day, and slept only thirty hours, they said, during the journey. While the roads were rough and at times a bitter cold wind bore down upon the little army, the women finished in fairly good condition.

"March Every Year."

"I don't want to make the hike again this year," Gen. Jones said as she gratefully sank into a big leather chair in the assembly chamber. "We shall march next year, however, and every year thereafter until women are granted suffrage."

Governor Glynn received the suffragettes late in the afternoon. Miss Jones carried a lighted lantern into the executive chamber.

"What's the idea?" queried the governor. "Are you patterning after Diogenes?"

"I'm looking for an honest statesman," replied the general, laughing. "You will have a hard time to pick out the right one," advised the governor.

Forced Badge on Governor.

The governor appeared loath to accept a "votes for women" button that Gen. Jones pressed upon him.

"Let Frank do it," he said, referring to his secretary, Frank Tierney. Finally, however, the solid array of women forced both the governor and Tierney to accept badges.

The governor did not commit himself on the suffrage question. He inquired of the suffragettes what they were advocating. They replied that they wanted a bill passed giving women the right to watch at the polls throughout New York state on election day. Previously the hikers had sent in a message which they carried from the metropolis to the executive. He told the women he "felt honored by their visit."

Miss Jones, in reply to a query regarding the long march, said her followers came to Albany "to see the farmers along the way."

Seeing and Being Seen.

Are you sure it wasn't to let the farmers see you?" inquired the governor.

More than 200 persons welcomed the hikers at the outskirts of Albany on the final leg of their journey. The Albany Political Equality association escorted the women, with a fife and drum corps, through the principal streets to the capitol. In the assembly chamber, the women urged upon their individual assemblymen the necessity of supporting the "watchers at the poll" bill. They did not address the assembly as a body.

Maryland Hikers Arrive.

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 8.—The little band of women suffragists who began a twenty-nine-mile march from Baltimore Tuesday morning, arrived here yesterday. Delegate Cyrus Cummings, who is regarded as an opponent of woman suffrage, made good his promise to the "pilgrims" by presenting the suffragette petition and letter which they had brought at the opening session of the house of delegates.

Business was practically suspended in the capital city when it became known that the army was approaching. The marchers were cheered as they passed.

TANGO ALONG THE BOX CARS

Railway Brakemen Practice New Steps for Their Annual Ball at the Armory.

Duluth brakemen in making their perilous journeys over the tops of freight cars no longer observe that caution so customary to such workmen. Now they caper lightly across the icy surfaces of the car tops in perfect tango rhythm.

Switchmen tango to the switches and have turned their little switching quarters into dance halls. Firemen swing gracefully as they heave their shovels of coal into the locomotive fire boxes, and engineers keep time to the clicking rails.

Some of the men now sing as they work, and this is their rallying cry: "I'm crazy, don't you want to come along?

We'll live in the madhouse over the hills
And play in the fields with the daffydillis,
I'm crazy, don't you want to come along?"

The actions of the railroaders may be explained by the fact that the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen will give their annual dance at the Armory Jan. 14. And it will be a tango dance. At least the tango will form part of the program and the train handlers are all learning new steps.

CHICAGO WOMAN BUYS IN DULUTH

Patronizes Local Store in Preference to Those of Windy City.

When a Duluth store gets to the point where its mail order business extends into the very heart of Chicago, it will be generally admitted it has shown some energy and progressiveness.

That has happened the George A. Gray company. Yesterday that company received an order for certain threads from Mrs. G. Flora, 2325 West Adams street, South Chicago. Attached to the order was a note which read as follows:

"In all this big city I have found no store with so complete an assortment of threads as I found at your store."

Mr. Brinkman, manager of the department, says that they get orders from as far East as New York state.

"The cause of this," said Mr. Brinkman, "is that we specialize and in certain lines lead any store in the United States. That may sound big but it is the fact. We now have three people in our mail order department and will soon have to add to that force."

FOUR PRINCETONIANS RHODES SCHOLARS.

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 8.—Announcement is made here that two more Princeton undergraduates have been elected as Rhodes scholars from their home states, which brings the total number of Princeton appointees to four as a result of the fall examination. The new men are Gilchrist B. Stockton, a senior, of Jacksonville, Fla., and Milo Lee March, a qualifying senior, of Goshen, Ind. The two men previously awarded scholarships were Wilder Graves Penfield of New Jersey, and William B. Prickett of Delaware.

DENIES REPORT ON HOME RULE TALKS.

London, Jan. 8.—"There is no truth in the suggestion of the Morning Post that the negotiations between Premier Asquith and the opposition leader, Andrew Bonar Law, in regard to the situation of the Irish province of Ulster under home rule, have broken down," says the Westminster Gazette. The newspaper is in close touch with the government.

Recalls Old Motor Accident.

Sioux City, Iowa, Jan. 8.—The skeleton of a woman believed to be Mrs. Bertha Holbrook of Sioux City, a member of a motor party of five that perished by a plunge into the Missouri river near Dakota City a year ago while en route to Omaha from Sioux City, was found yesterday at Maple Landing, thirty miles south of Sioux City.

WILSON WILL FIX CANAL ZONE RULE.

Washington, Jan. 8.—One of President Wilson's first acts on returning to Washington will be to determine the plan of government for the Panama canal zone. Secretary Garrison said that his ideas on the subject were given to the president before the latter went to Pass Christian for the holidays. Mr. Garrison declined to say whether he had recommended a military or civil government organization. The law permits either.

Clark Going Abroad Again.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 8.—Rev. Francis E. Clark, president of the World's Christian Endeavor union, will sail today for Italy on his seventeenth foreign journey in the interests of the movement, which he founded. These journeys have involved more than 250,000 miles of travels. Five of the journeys have been trips around the world.

MORE ABOUT IRRITATED LUNGS.

A "perplexed man" writes: "Ever since I was 15 years old I have been suffering from bronchial catarrh. Of late years it seems to be getting worse. I raise phlegm incessantly. My sputum has been examined several times, with no findings of tuberculosis. My nasal polypi have been cut, my soft palate cut shorter, but still no relief. My skin has a dry, "dead" appearance, and it cracks and peels off. I think my whole trouble comes from my stomach or rather my inability to assimilate what I eat. I am inclined to overeat. I tried a fruit diet. It disagreed. If I eat a light meal I am not satisfied. Two months ago severe headaches began. I got rid of them finally by fasting and then eating mainly of fruit. I never suspected that my liver was out of order. Kindly advise me. I would do anything to get rid of this terrible incubus. It is preventing me from realizing my fondest ambitions. I trust you, and am signing my full name and address. Please, however, use the nom-de-plume "Perplexed Man."

You can rest perfectly easy in your mind about your condition, and a complete cure for you will doubtless be but a question of a short time. You must, however, get down to the fundamentals causing your trouble. First of all, write to the editor of your paper and ask him to send you a former "Doctor's Helps Article" on the subject, "For Irritated Lungs." This will contain much important data, which you should know about. You have diagnosed your own condition correctly, in my judgment. Your system is heavily oversaturated with many waste products, which are poisoning and depressing as well as irritating you. The article mentioned above will give you some very important principles by which you can be guided. You belong to a type of patients that, in my experience, do not need surgery so much as they need a proper regulation and balance of their diet. The best method of obtaining this is by means of closely watching the chemical actions of the urine. The blood is filtered by the kidneys, and a great many of the poisons are eliminated through the kidneys into the urine, and by closely watching the chemical condition of the kidney secretion the patient's health can be well and easily regulated.

Regarding your fruit diet, it is quite likely that you went at the latter too heavily. Furthermore, it may be that some of the fruits which you ate were temporarily unsuited for your weakened digestion. In a poisoned, run-down system such as yours there are many features which must all work together to produce a perfectly healthy result. It's a great deal like team work of a football or baseball club. Study closely the article mentioned.

Take this letter to your doctor and have him advise you further.

DON'T COAST ACROSS A STREET CAR LINE EITHER ON SLEDS OR SKIS!

A STREET CAR CAN'T DODGE

We want to impress this fact upon the children of Duluth, and upon their mothers and fathers as well, at this season of the year.

With the first snowfall, coasting weather is here again, with all its pleasures, and also with its many dangers. Every year brings its toll of accidents, and sometimes fatalities, due to coasting. We want to eliminate that list this year, if it can be done, and it can be if children and their parents will give us their co-operation.

Coasting across street car tracks is inviting a fatal accident. A street car CAN'T DODGE, and when a loaded bobsled comes skimming down an avenue a motorman has little or no warning no matter how careful he may be. The sled is under the fender almost before he can think what to do. Often after a snowfall the rails are slippery, adding to the difficulties of the motorman and making it impossible to stop the car within several times its length.

There is only one rule to follow:

There are countless hills in Duluth suitable for coasting, where the street cars do not run, and where the sport may be enjoyed in safety. We ask the parents of Duluth to see that their children use these hills and only these. It may save you the horror of having a mangled little body brought home to you some afternoon or evening. It may save you from having a child who will be a helpless cripple all his life. You owe it to your child to protect him from this danger. We owe it to the people of Duluth to issue this reminder, and to instruct our motormen to exercise every possible precaution. We have done this, but there is only one sure way to prevent accident, and that is to observe this rule, which is also a police regulation:

Money Saved by Making Your Cough Syrup at Home

Cough medicines, as a rule, contain a large quantity of plain syrup. If you take one pint of granulated sugar, add ½ pint of warm water and stir about 2 minutes, you have as good syrup as money could buy.

If you will then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup, you will have as much cough syrup as you could buy ready made for $2.50. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours. It keeps perfectly.

You will find it one of the best cough syrups you ever used—even in whooping cough. You can feel it take hold—usually conquers an ordinary cough in 24 hours. It is just laxative enough, has a good tonic effect, and the taste is pleasant.

It is a splendid remedy, too, for whooping cough, spasmodic croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most vaulable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and other healing pine elements. No other preparation will work in this formula.

This plan for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup is now used in more homes than any other cough remedy. The plan has often been imitated but never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

HAMMELS WILL NOT BE TRIED

Case Against Alleged Gladstone, Mich., Bank Wreckers Dropped.

Existing Michigan Law Too Lax to Effect Successful Prosecution.

Iron Mountain, Mich., Jan. 8.—The Hammels, alleged to have wrecked the private bank of D. Hammel & Son at Gladstone, will not be prosecuted as a result of the proceedings being dismissed here this week by Judge Flannigan.

T. E. Strom, the prosecutor of Delta county, and M. J. Boyle of Menominee, who assisted him in preparation of the cases against David Hammel, Walter F. Hammel and Roy J. Hammel, appeared before Judge Flannigan and, representing that their faithful and energetic efforts to make a case against the accused had failed, recommended that the criminal actions be dropped.

Disastrous Failure.

The Hammel failure was one of the most disastrous for the depositors of any bank smash that has ever occurred in the Upped Peninsula and was comparable in its dire results only with the Ironwood bank failures. The bank is now in process of liquidation, but the Hammels made such a clean sweep of its assets that there is little left for the unfortunate depositors.

In connection with the dismissal of the case, Mr. Strom made public a statement in which he attributed the failure of the prosecution to the laxity of the state laws with regard to responsibilities of private bankers. He urged that the Hammel failure again shows the necessity of making such bankers fully liable for the money they hold.

FIRST WED UNDER NEW EUGENIC LAW

Chicagoan and Winnipeg Woman Married at Janesville, Wis.

Janesville, Wis., Jan. 8. — The first marriage in Wisconsin under the new eugenic law joined together here yesterday an aged couple who had not seen each other for forty years.

Marcien Hurtibiz of Chicago was the bridegroom and his bride was Mrs. Adeline Hurtibiz of Winnipeg, his brother's widow. Each is 76 years old.

To Marry For 10 Cents.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 8.—Physicians of Dane county who have refused to make the examination under the eugenics law for a fee of $3, received a jolt yesterday when Registrar of Deeds Julius G. Kroken publicly offered to record "common law" marriage contracts for 10 cents. These contracts have been recognized by the supreme court.

Kroken, the new marriage law trust buster, is a bachelor. "No $3 fee is necessary, only 10 cents is required by the marriage process through my office," said Mr. Kroken. "No health certificate, no marriage license, no pastor, will be required. If the marriage contract is drawn up legally as recognized by a recent supreme court decision, I will file it for a fee of 10 cents. That will obviate any difficulty in the disposal of real estate by having the contract filed."

IS APPOINTED CITY ATTORNEY OF CLOQUET

F. T. PERSINGER.

Cloquet, Minn., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—About all the new city council did on taking hold of affairs Tuesday night under Mayor Vibert was to appoint Dan McGillvray, assessor, and F. T. Persinger, city attorney. The salary of the city clerk was raised from $1,000 to $1,200. The next meeting will be held Jan. 26.

Leave State to Marry.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 8.—Gustave Johnson and Miss Ellen Johnson of Trade Lake, Wis., defied the marriage laws of Wisconsin by coming to Minneapolis yesterday, where they became husband and wife.

"I am not afraid of the examination provided by the Wisconsin law, but we had planned on having our wedding today and did not propose to wait a month," said Johnson. "I will fight the law to the end, if they arrest me."

Issue Less Licenses.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 8.—The immediate effect of the new eugenics marriage law in the first week of its enforcement, which ended last night, has been to cut to almost nothing the number of marriage licenses issued. Most county clerks reported that no requests for licenses had been made; others had refused several requests when the applicant had not presented the requisite physician's certificate that the man was free from disease.

OFFERS $20 MORE PER ACRE IN VAIN

North Dakotan Late to Land Sale Has Tender Spurned.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—A farmer who wished to purchase the quarter of a section of Cass county school lands that was sold for $65 an acre here this week was too late for the sale and when he found it had been disposed of before his arrival, went to the purchaser and offered him $85 for the land.

The bonus of $20 per acre for the contract was spurned by the new owner who wanted the property himself so badly that he would have paid $100 on a competitive bid.

NORTH DAKOTA NOW RAISES MANY HOGS

About $3,000,000 Worth of Pork Sold By Farmers of State.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—North Dakota is answering the question of how to diversify farming by selling $3,000,000 worth of hogs in the face of a cholera epidemic that destroyed at least a half a million dollars' worth more. The sales to St. Paul alone reached 133,000 as against 67,000 sold in 1912. In addition to these there were shipments to other points and the large number killed and consumed in this state.

Prizes Prove Incentive.

The increase is due to the prizes offered for corn and hog raising by the bankers of the state through the Better Farming association.

The cholera epidemic appears to have spent its force and those who lost during the past fall are preparing to re-engage in the business under more sanitary and improved methods.

CLOQUET WEDDING.

Arthur Fish, Formerly of Lake Linden, Mich., Becomes Benedict.

Cloquet, Minn., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—On Wednesday morning at the Lady of Our Sacred Heart church the wedding of Miss Adna Hubert and Arthur Fish was solemnized in the presence of many friends. Father Lemiere performed the ceremony.

A pretty wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents on Eighth street. A color scheme of yellow and white was carried out in the dining room.

Mr. and Mrs. Fish left for a two weeks' wedding trip to Lake Linden, Mich, the former home of the groom. Upon their return they will go to housekeeping on Eighth street.

EBERHART TO SPEAK.

Gopher Governor to Attend Fargo-Tri-State Convention.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Woman's day program will be an important feature of the Tri-State Grain and Stock Growers' convention here Jan. 19-23. COME TO MINNESOTA.

Many New Settlers Located in Gopher State During 1913.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 8.—That the state immigration department is bringing a considerable number of new settlers to Minnesota is indicated by a statement issued by Commissioner Fred D. Sherman, covering the work of his office for the last year.

Mr. Sherman cited some significant railroad statistics to prove that immigration here is on the increase. During 1912 the Minnesota transfer handled 1,649 cars of immigrant movables from other states destined to Minnesota points, while during the first seven months of 1913 the number handled was 2,213, a gain of 564 over the whole of 1912. While a majority of these cars represent only one family, some include the goods of several families and the commissioner believes the total addition to the population indicated by these figures will reach 12,000.

NEW YORK MILLS MAN IS KILLED BY TRAIN.

New York Mills, Minn., Jan. 8.—William St. Clair, living here, aged about 38, employed as a maintainer by the Northern Pacific here to see that the block signals are kept in order, was struck by a fast train in the vicinity of Richdale, five miles east of Perham, Monday evening and instantly killed, being literally cut in two. Victor Hopponen, his helper, who was riding on the speeder, jumped and escaped injury. It was dark and the train came around the curve, catching them unawares. As St. Clair tried to jump his foot caught and he fell back in front of the pilot of the on-rushing locomotive.

TOWN NOT WIDE OPEN.

ZONE PROHIBITION

Would Close Saloons Near State Institutions in Northern Michigan.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Much interest in the reported purpose of the Anti-Saloon league to attempt to introduce "zone prohibition" in this state, has been aroused in Upper Michigan. The plan credited to the anti-liquor forces is to seek the enactment of a law forbidding the sale of intoxicating beverages in territory within a radius of any state institution. Legislation of this kind would close the saloons at Sault Ste. Marie, the site of the state fish hatchery; at Newberry, the location of the upper peninsula hospital for the insane; at Marquette, where there are two state institutions, the branch prison and the Northern Normal school, and at Houghton, the home of the Michigan College of Mines.

ABOLISH GRAND JURY.

One of Changes to Be Proposed By State County Attorneys.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 8.—When the Minnesota County Attorneys' association meets in the old capitol, Jan. 22 and 23, needed legislation will be the principal topic discussed.

Amendment to the anti-trust laws, providing that a corporation found guilty may be subject to a fine, will be urged. Another subject that will be pressed will be the taking of dispositions by the state on the ground that its power is limited under the present statute.

The practical abolition of the grand jury except for extraordinary occasions, will be recommended, as will a change in prosecution from indictment to information. The question of abolishing justices of the peace in large counties like Ramsey, Hennepin and St. Louis and the establishment of a county court with municipal court power, also will be discussed.

Ice harvesting in this part of the Lake Superior region is rarely started before the close of January and it has been the unbroken experience that bounteous crops may be garnered during February and March.

LIVE SPORTING GOSSIP

By BRUCE

ALL right, boys—now for the hockey game. Yes, it should be the best contest we have had here since the game broke into the big league class. Better than the Houghton game? Even so; though, upon second consideration, it might not be possible to produce a better game. But anyway, if these Winnipeggers are as good as they say they are, and the record of the Victorias is open to scrutiny, why the contest is going to be a lallapulooza.

What chance do you think Duluth has? Why not ask what chance the other team has? Oh well, you see some of us are in the habit of thinking the things are better that are away from home. Oh very well, but considering that last year was the first year that we had real hockey here and played the game in a real rink, one might be pardoned for saying that the team did pretty well. Yes, maybe that is so.

But do you think there is a chance for Duluth to win? All the players say there will be one grand win and it will belong to Duluth. One of the Fort Frances players—wait, one of the fellows who played on the Fort Frances team—declared that the Winnipeggers would win; one of the other fellows on the team, declared that Duluth had the best team he ever saw. Nominate your choice.

Second Chapter.

IS the town talking about the game? Yes the town be. Will there be a large crowd there? Yes the crowd will be very large. Was it hard to get the Winnipeg team down there? They are not here as yet, but before the members of the team would promise to come both of the local telegraph offices were swamped with business. Is that true, or are you merely spoofing us? Almost, if not quite, true.

Are our players rough? Some say that our players are rough. Will they be rough in the Winnipeg game? We all hope not. The officials don't like it; neither are the spectators crazy about it, much as some of the boys may imagine otherwise. Will the official put the players off the ice if they are rough? Listen, one of the officials will be from Winnipeg, tinctured with the flavor of the Manitoba spirit and sharp of eye. Need more be said?

Aren't you afraid you will wear that question type mark out? Well, never mind.

Are the members of the Winnipeg team supposed to be faster players than the members of the Duluth team? Yes, they are supposed to be. Just what do you mean? That they are supposed to be.

Now as to team work. Well we are pretty fair to middlin' ourselves. Think they are better? Of course they, meaning no doubt the Victorias, have won the Earl Gray cup for two years and other little trophies. Naturally some of the followers of the game have been led to think that there is some degree of team perfection concealed somewhere about the Victoria bunch.

In Conclusion.

THEN, everything considered, you lead one to believe that the game might prove to be close? Oh, no, not at all; one leads one to nothing; the facts are there for mute and careful consideration—draw your own conclusions—but, by all means go and see how they are worked out—that's the chief consideration.

At the Amateur Show.

YOUNG ZZNBEJTZWSKNGHR was great. After being told that if he got rough he would be disqualified, Young Zznbejtzwsknghr did a tango, periormed a neat card trick and then a slide was thrown on the screen giving a diagram explanation of the latest craze, croquet. Meanwhile the orchestra played that lively and lilting air, "Everybody Doing It." A good time was had by all.

Please Don't Be Rough.

THERE is no need for the members of the Duluth Hockey team to get messy. They are out there to play hockey; not to attempt to violate the Minnesota anti-fight law. Somehow it would seem that the members of the local team have earned or otherwise received a name for being rough. Duluth has too fine a playing aggregation to resort to this sort of practice; as a matter of fact it would appear that we can win games without rough play. The best argument is that the people who pay to see the games don't want it. Give the public what it wants. That is what made P. T. Barnum rich and fairly famous.

The Return of Brown.

ONE of the officials of the Twin Ports Athletic club will leave for Milwaukee in the near future to line up some prospective opponents for Pal Brown. Only the best men in the game will be considered, according to the statement of one of the officials of the club.

According to Sig Abrams the best card that can be put on will be the opening number of the club. While believing that Brown will be a magnet of extraordinary drawing powers, the official in question stated that the preliminaries and semi-windup would be of high class.

For Clean Sport, Yes.

PERMIT us a brief moment to pay our respects to one of the most enthusiastic boosters of clean sport that this city can boast of. Father Robilard gives time unstintingly to hockey and other sports, and it is due largely to the energy and clear foresight of this friend of clean sport that hockey has its present high place.

Father Robilard never hesitates to go out of his way to do a service for the game or administer a boost. It is indeed a pleasure to assist such a one as he. If there were more of the indefatigable type of Father Robilard Duluth would be a haven of amateur sport of the best type.

WILL MEET PAL BROWN

Hibbing Boxer Will Have One More Bout in Australia.

A letter received today from Pal Brown stated that the Hibbing boy would leave Australia on Feb. 8. Brown has a contract with "Snowy" Baker which calls for six battles in the antipodes. The next contest will be with Johnny Summers, who weighs 143 pounds, according to the statement of the Hibbing boy.

"The worst I should have received with McCoy was a draw," writes Pal. "He weighed 144 pounds, but we fought in his home town and anything that favored the local man went in giving the decision. He didn't hurt me, while I had him covering up during part of the fight."

Brown says that he might be matched with Ray Bronson before he leaves for home. The Indianapolis boxer is in the never never land at the present time, and it would appear from the letter that there is considerable talk of a contest between Bronson and Brown.

"I wish I were home at the present time," says Brown. "I have never been so lonesome in my life, nor so anxious to get home. The old U. S. A. looks pretty good to me. They have treated me very nicely over here, but just the same it isn't like home, and I will be one tickled kid when the coast of my country is sighted off ship."

According to the information contained in the letter, all of the boys the Hibbing fighter has met on the other side have been considerably heavier than Pal. The matter of giving away pounds of weight, however, seems something that is given little consideration in the far away country across the broad sweep of the Pacific.

MAY MATCH SMITH AND JACK JOHNSON

Believed They Can Be Brought Together in Northern Mexico.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 8.—A prize fight for the heavyweight championship of the world between Gunboat Smith and Jack Johnson, to be held across the Mexican border at Tia Juana, Lower California, July 4 next, just four years from the day Johnson defeated Jim Jeffries, is under serious consideration by the promoter who staged the Smith-Pelkey battle here on New Year's day.

The decision rests with Johnson. He has the offer now, sent him by cable.

Smith is willing to bind the match, and the promoter is confident there would be no legal obstacles.

ON OLYMPIC COMMITTEE.

Representative of Football Association Added to the List.

New York, Jan. 8.—President Robert M. Thompson of the American Olympic committee has announced the appointment of Dr. G. Randolph Manning, president of the United States Football association, as an additional member of the American Olympic committee. Dr. Manning's appointment was made in recognition of the work accomplished by the football association, and to aid in the plans providing for a representative association football team to represent this country at the Olympic games at Berlin in 1916.

Dr. Manning in turn announces the appointment of Dr. James Babbit of Haverford college to act as delegate of the National Collegiate Athletic association to the council of the United States Football association for the ensuing year. Dr. Babbit will act in the interests of the colleges and for the sake of co-operation in matters pertaining to organization, development and laws of asociation football.

Signs Young Outfielder.

New York, Jan. 8.—President Frank Farrell of the New York American league club announces that Frank Gilhooley, the young outfielder who was purchased from the Montreal club for $10,000 last season, had signed a 1914 contract. Gilhooley, who is spending the witner at his home in Toledo, Ohio, will report at Houston, Tex., on March 1.

AGGRESSIVE LEADER OF THE DULUTH TEAM

JOE LINDER.

TEAM IS IN FINE SHAPE

Curling Club Seven Is Right for the Winnipeg Game.

Trainer Bill Trepanier promises to have the members of the Duluth Curling Club Hockey team in the very best possible condition for the game of Saturday evening with the Winnipeg Victorias.

"Every member of the squad is in the very best condition at the present time," quoth William today. "If no accidents occur between now and the time of calling the game, there will be nothing to complain of on the score of condition."

The final hard practice of the week will be gone through with this evening. Tomorrow evening there will be a lighter workout, most of the time being spent in perfecting the various and complicated details of team work.

One of the anxieties of the local players is regarding the wonderful speed of the Winnipeg wings. If the wing players of the Victorias are as fast as reported, they will surely give the Duluth defense a host of trouble.

The Duluth players believe they have more than an even chance to win. The followers of the team realizing that the locals will be facing an aggregation reputed to be the best that has as yet played the curling club seven, nevertheless are rather confident that the chances are at least even for a Duluth victory.

Everything considered the contest should be close and exciting and some of the best team play ever exhibted here should be the result of the meeting.

GOTCH WILL MEET TOURNEY VICTOR.

New York, Jan. 8.—There will be a wrestling tourney at Madison Square Garden on Jan. 14 in which noted matmen from many countries will compete. The following men already have entered:

Frank Gotch, the world's champion, has assured the managers that he will meet the winner of the final bout early in March.

CLASS TEAMS OUT FOR TITLE

The final class championship basket ball game of Central high school will be played this afternoon at the Washington school gymnasium. As it stands at the present time each of the teams, the contending juniors and seniors, has won a game. The winner of the contest of today will be the champion of the school.

It is expected that the game will prove the best one in the history of class struggles, as the class quints are very evenly matched.

OUGHT TO SETTLE IT.

Hartzell Story Denied at Both Ends of the Line.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 8.—"I have never considered Roy Hartzell of the New York Americans as manager of the Denver Western league club," J. C. McGill, owner of the Denver club and the Indianapolis team of the American association, said last night. "I talked with Frank Chance two weeks ago about players I wish to secure for Indianapolis, but did not mention Hartzell and haven't the least idea how such a story started.

"As a matter of fact, I hope to be able to sell the Denver club before the time arrives when I would have to name a manager for it."

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 8.—Frank Chance, manager of the New York American league team, says he has heard nothing of a proposition to transfer Roy Hartzell, one of his utility men, to the Denver Western league team as a manager next season.

"J. C. McGill, owner of the Denver team, was out here two weeks ago," Chance said, "but nothing was said about Hartzell or the managership of the Denver team."

SUPPORT OF THE PUBLIC

Tener Thinks Fans Will Stand Behind Organized Ball.

Federals Are Basing Their Attacks on But Two Points.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 8.—President John K. Tener of the National league, at a meeting of the directors of his organization here yesterday, issued a statement in which he prophesied that public opinion would be on the side of organized baseball in case a war is waged by the Federal league.

Pointing out that the Federal attacks upon organized baseball have been confined to two points, one that the reserve clause was invalid, and the other that the parties to the national agreement are members of a trust, President Tener voiced his opinion that neither charge could be considered seriously. The statement follows:

"Baseball today owes its popularity and very existence to organization. Such organization alone has developed and will preserve and perpetuate the game to and for the American people. Nevertheless organized baseball is being attacked today by those only who desire to reap commercial benefits thereby.

"Today, however, finds baseball more completely and thoroughly organized than ever and therefore better able to withstand and combat the attacks that are being made upon it. The Federal league does not base its attacks upon an allegation that the public has not been given good, clean, high-class baseball or that the players have not been fairly treated or paid commensurate salaries, but it is endeavoring to induce players to break their contracts, and seeks to excuse and justify its conduct upon two legal points, namely, the alleged illegality of the reserve clause in the players' contracts, and the general statement that organized baseball constitutes a trust. I mean by this that the Federal league has officially announced that it will test the reserve clause in the courts and failing to justify its contention of illegality, it will then seek to have organized baseball investigated and dissolved as a trust.

Expects Public Support.

"But such a threatened war on organized baseball begun by promoters simply for financial gain and based upon broken contracts of players, takes no heed or account of the sport-loving public or the real welfare of our national game, and I believe disapproval of such a war at the bar of public opinion will count far more against this movement and its promoters than any technical decisions in the courts, even though such courts should again uphold the legality and equity of the reserve clause.

"In point of fact it is well known that the legality of the present form of contract between the league and players was attacked, but its validity in law and equity was sustained by the supreme court in Pennsylvania in the La Joie case. With respect to the allegation that either the National or American league or both of them as parties to the national agreement are illegal combinations or trusts, in restraint of trade, or in violation of anti-trust statutes, it is difficult to take such declarations seriously. Experience has demonstrated that this national agreement, existing between and satisfactory to all leagues, has done more to place our national game foremost among all outdoor sports the world over than any other influence. Under the provisions of this agreement a player has his day in court and through the national commission an opportunity is given him for a fair, impartial and thorough hearing to the end that full justice may be done him.

Can Avoid Trouble.

"We naturally and properly as sanctioned and sustained by our courts of justice, object to players breaking their contracts, but if the proposed Federal league will draw its supply from the growing field of baseball players coming to the front every year it will meet with no opposition from us.

"Speaking for the National league, I may add that we propose to continue our policy of fair dealing with our players and with the public and we have no doubt in so doing, our actions will meet with general approbation."

The proposed meeting of the National Baseball commission did not take place yesterday, partly owing to the lengthy meeting of the National league directors and partly to the fact that President Tener had to leave on an early afternoon train for the East.

When the announcement was made that there would be no further meetings of the commission at this session, both major and minor league magnates hurriedly packed their grips and left town.

The committee from the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues had hoped to take up several matters with the commission concerning legislation that was brought up at the last meeting of the National association at Columbus, but this plan was abandoned when Governor Tener left town.

The National league meeting developed little other than the statement issued by President Tener. The requests granted to the Baseball Players' fraternity deals entirely with contracts and necessitates the changing of the present contract in several particulars. This was discussed by the league magnates and it was announced that the old contracts could be signed until the new contracts are issued. The new conditions to be inserted in the new contracts, however, will be binding upon all clubs who have signed or who will sign players to old contracts.

FARGO AUTO SHOW ATTRACTS INTEREST.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Much interest is being shown in the automobile exhibit to be held here all next week. The display will be held in the Armory-Auditorium, and it is the first event in the new building. The building is decorated for the occasion. The promise of the leading manufacturers to have a large exhibit here will attract many visitors. There are sixteen dealers in Fargo and Moorhead and several of them handle two or more kinds of cars.

Fight Trial Starts.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 8.—Jess Willard, the pugilist, Thomas McCarey and "Al" Greenewald, promoters, Charles Eyton, referee, and seven others were brought to trial yesterday in the superior court here on charges of having violated the state law prohibiting prize fighting. The trial is a result of the death of John ("Bull") Young in the prize ring at Vernon, during a contest on Aug. 23, with Willard.

MEASURES CONSIDERED AGAINST THE WEATHER

Members of the Anti-Weather Committee Meet and Resolve to Ask the Grocerymen to Hold a Winter Picnic in the Hope It Will Turn Colder.

(AS REPORTED BY BRUCE.)

Perspiration streamed from the alabaster brow of Chairman Jones as he took his seat at the head of the table where the members of the Curling club anti-weather committee were taking their seats.

John Oldham had discarded the fur coat he wore down at Valparaiso, Ind., and there were lines of worry slanting at a downward angle of 45 degrees from his stern, if pale lips.

Tom McGillvray took his place at the furtherest possible position from the head of the table. It seemed that his glance was furtive and unsteady; he seemed to avoid the stern and uncompromising glance of Chairman Jones.

Jack MacGregor took his seat and added to the general gloom and air of deep despondency. The features of the Scotch secretary were wreathed in pain.

James Myron was on hand, and this occasioned a slight feeling of surprise. Fred Hargreaves came in late and several handkerchiefs were surreptitiously applied to eyes, for the expression upon the handsome countenance of the secretary of the Northwestern Curling association was so pathetic, so utterly abandoned to despair, that strong men could hardly conceal their feelings.

Call to Order.

"The meeting will please come to order," said President Jones in an unsteady voice. There was a pitcher of grape juice on the table, and before he continued he imbibed freely of the W. J. Bryan special.

"Gentlemen," continued President Jones, "I have asked that sweet singer, Jamie Myron, to come and sing before we get down to business. Heaven knows, fellow members of the anti-weather committee, that our lot is a sad one; in fact, gentlemen, almost as pathetic as the famous Lot of Biblical days."

"What history was that in?" eagerly asked Johnny Oldham.

President Jones looked mildly surprised, but continuing, turned graciously to Jamie Myron and requested him to open the meeting with some lively song.

Jamie arose and sang, "The Four Marys." The sobs of Tom McGillvray and John MacGregor became distinctly audible before the completion of the song.

Jamie arose to apologize.

"I should no ha done it," said Jamie. "But I am so overcame with the poor showing of my rink that I am in poor spirit for a comic song."

"The Four Marys" is one of the saddest of all Scotch songs, and they are all pretty sad.

"I will ask Tom McGillvray for the plans and specifications for the active winter," said Chairman Jones and there were those who imagined they could detect a cold and malignant gleam in the eyes of the chairman, as he gripped the table and awaited the reply of the official engineer of the club.

In the excitement of the moment a deep flush came over the already rosy countenance of the official engineer. In the embarrassment of the moment he took refuge in thick and almost undistinguishable Scotch accents. The best Scotch (language) is nearly undistinguishable. Many people have been attracted to the theater in the earnest endeavor to ascertain what Harry Lauder was singing and talking about.

"I dinna ken," cried Mr. McGillvray. To add to the perfect picture of the canny Scot, the official engineer in the extreme embarrassment of the moment placed that old tam-o-shanter on his head. Some of the members felt deeply for Tom and his predicament; especially for Tom.

"I canna answer," repeated the official engineer. Colle Naughton has not sent for those snow and ice scenes.

"Tut, tut," cried President Jones with stern vigor, the second tut being emphasized and confirmed with a bang on the table.

"Mr. Naughton has a very reasonable excuse. He is drawing cartoons of Mexican war scenes and is compelled to write out the names of the generals and spell them correctly. Some evenings he does not get home until 10 o'clock."

Grave Crisis.

"Gentlemen," said Chairman Jones, as the official engineer sank dismally into his seat and tried to hide his large form under the edge of the table—"gentlemen, we are facing a grave crisis. Plans and specifications for an active winter were supposed to have been prepared and approved of and forwarded to the official United States weather bureau at Washington, D. C., p. d. q. Now we gather in official conclave and find, much to my chagrin, that nothing has been done at all. I protest vigorously and ask that the protest be recorded in the official proceedings.

"Here it is the eighth of January. But a few days intervene and then comes the great bonspiel. Well, gentlemen, I leave it to you. What are you going to do about it?"

Those Posters.

"I have caused to be hung in all of the prominent hotels and several Scotch boarding houses—the Scotch seldom affect the European plan places—posters of the bonspiel," said Secretary Hargreaves, after he had been recognized by the chair. "I have looked up the Minnesota statutes and I find that I alone cannot be held for fraud; the members of the association and also the members of the club are held jointly responsible for any misrepresentations of the posters, in regard to promises of ice and snow."

Here a groan escaped from Secretary MacGregor.

"In addition to my duties of securing entries for the spiel, I have made it also part of my labor"—and here Mr. Hargreaves looked witheringly at the official engineer of the club, Mr. McGillvray, who attempted to sink lower in his chair —"I have made it a part of my busy activities to go up and call on Mr. Richardson. He has tried every expedient, even predicting warm weather on the established precedent that his prediction would be wrong. But strange and incomprehensible as it seems, the official weather man was right and it has continued warm."

"If we could only persuade the grocerymen of the city to have some outdoor event," said Mr. Oldham. "it would surely do something. It always does when the grocers have anything.

A Sort of Winter Picnic.

"An excellent idea," agreed Chairman Jones, smiling for the first time.

"Mr. MacGregor kindly get into communication with Matt Gasser and others and request, aye, beseech them to plan an outdoor event for some day of this week."

Oyster Suppers Too.

"It generally turns cold and blizzards when the church women give an oyster supper for the benefit of the church guild," spoke up John Oldham. "I have assisted several times in paying for the deficit, following the blizzard. Let us assist in getting up and later paying for the cost of a church oyster supper."

"Do you put that in the form of a motion?" asked the chairman.

"I will," replied the chairman of the games committee.

The motion was carried.

"If Charley Marshall only had a grand opera star coming to town," suggested Jamie Myron, speaking for the first time since his song; "it would surely warm then."

Chairman Jones arose and requested Secretary MacGregor to communicate with the grocerymen, the church people, and further, to request the weather man not to predict colder weather for the next week.

The meeting adjourned. The members filed out of the consultation room gloomy and morose, the feeling prevailing that the weather was a monster of frightful mien; one that was unfeeling and quite without sympathy for the game of curling.

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

association for a stake of $2,000. Sutton announced today that Hoppe had accepted his challenge for the match.

FRISTENSKY WILL MEET AMERICUS

Chicago, Jan. 8.—Gustav Fristensky has mapped out his plans for battle with Americus, whom he will meet on the mat in a finish contest Monday night at the Coliseum. The Bohemian is going to carry the fight to his Yankee rival. He is going to take the offensive throughout unless forced on the defensive, and he thinks this not likely.

The Bohemnian is going to employ some of the tactics Stanislaus Zbyszko used when he downed Charlie Cutler and Americus. He is going to work on the ankles and wrists until these members are half paralyzed, then will come the falls.

Fristensky realizes that in Americus he is meeting one of the best men in the game, a wrestler who has everything that goes to make a champion, save possibly the necessary strength. Gustav fears that should he take chances with Americus or should he take the defensive, the Baltimore grappler might trick him into a dangerous hold.

Through an interpreter, the Bohemian yesterday remarked: "I am sure I can win from my opponent Monday night, but I'm not going to let my confidence trick me into anything that might bring about a fall. I am on trial and I've got to make good. If I lose no excuses will satisfy the public. Too many foreigners have come over here and on some pretext or other have been permitted to stall along. With me it's win or go back home, and I want other matches, a championship battle, if possible.

"Then, too, I want to re-establish the athletic admiration of the Bohemian people, a something that was shattered when Smejkle came here and made such a miserable showing against Gotch. Americus is fast and clever and knows plenty of tricks and holds, but he'll never get a chance to display them. The minute we shake hands, it's to the mat.

"Once on the carpet, I'll get behind my man and never break from that position until Americus' shoulders are in the mat. My additional nineteen pounds will serve me well, and I doubt if Americus can stand the punishment I will put him to when I begin to twist his wrists and ankles."

De Oro Continues to Win.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—Champion Alfred De Oro last night won the third consecutive block of the play for the three-cushion billiard championship, defeating Charles Morin of Chicago 50 to 31. The score for the series stood: De Oro, 150; Morin, 115.

MILLER IN HIS OLD FORM

Defeats Jordan in Hard Battle at Fort William.

Fort William, Ont., Jan. 8.—Walter Miller, the wonderful little St. Paul welterweight wrestler, last night successfully defended his title against young Jordan of Chicago. Miller was forced to the limit, and during the couple of hours the pair spent on the mat he had to resort to every trick in his repertoire. He won the first fall after one hour and thirty-one minutes of the toughest wrestling ever seen in Fort William.

He took the second fall with a scissor and body hold in thirty minutes. Both men weighed in at the welterweight limit. Three thousand spectators witnessed the match and although Miller ruled the favorite Jordan was cheered time and again for his splendid work. The match was not of the parlor variety.

BIG DULUTHS BEAT KELLEYS

The Big Duluth Hockey team defeted the Kelley Hardware seven last evening at the French rink in one of the prettiest games of the Duluth Amateur league season, the clothiers triumphing by the score of 3 to 2.

It required 9½ minutes of overtime to make the deciding score, Roswalt shooting a pretty goal for the winning count.

Alder shot the first goal after two minutes of play. Roswalt secured the second after some fourteen minutes of play. G. Olson made the third. In the second half Lendgren tied up the score which remained knotted until the overtime score ended a pretty struggle.

The lineup:

GOOD MARKSMANSHIP.

Amateur and Professional Champions Have Fine Records.

New York, Jan. 8.—The records of more than 200 amateurs and professional trapshooters are included in the official averages for the season of 1913, as just announced by the Interstate Association for the Encouragement of Trapshooting. The averages are based on a minimum of 2,000 targets and the list is compiled from the records of more than 7,000 trapshooters who competed at registered tournaments during last year.

National Amateur Champion Bert Lewis of Auburn, Ill., leads the army of amateur shooters with an average of .9557, having broken 5,811 targets out of 6,000 shot at during 1913. The high average among the professionals is held by W. H. Heer of Guthrie, Okla., with a record of 5,206 targets out of 5,350 shots for an average of .9730.

JAP TEAM COMING.

Will Play Baseball in America During Coming Summer.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 8.—Private advices received here report that a baseball team from the University of Keio, in Tokio, Japan, will visit the United States this year for a series of games. A nine from Stanford university visited Japan last year as guests of the University of Keio and the projected trip is in the nature of a return compliment.

Seven games have been arranged for in this state and the Keio team is anxious to make arrangements with Middle Western and Eastern colleges.

FEDERAL INVASION SPREADS TO WEST.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 8.—Frank Owens, a catcher for the Minneapolis American association baseball team, may play next season with the Toronto club of the new Federal league. Owens, who was drafted by the Washington Americans at the close of last season, received a telegram yesterday from Barney Hepburn, owner of the Toronto franchise, asking him to sign with him.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 8.—Arthur Kruger, center fielder for the Los Angeles Coast league team, will be the first Coast leaguer to jump to the Federal league. Kruger said he would go to the Kansas City Federals under a three-year contract.

Handball Games.

Johnson and Erickson of C class remain undefeated in the handball tournament of the Y. M. C. A. Johnson won from Critchfield yesterday by the scores of 21-17, 21-15. Erickson won two games from McLennan by the scores of 21-3, 21-14.

MAKES SURE HIS PAL WILL TELL NO TALES

Burglar Kills Wounded Mate After Pistol Battle With Intended Victim.

Portland, Or., Jan. 8.—Shot through the head, probably by his companion so that death would quickly seal his lips and bar the possibility of his confessing to the police, an unidentified burglar met death after a fight in which eleven shots were fired in a dark bedroom in the home of A. A. Hatcher of this city.

Investigation by detectives and officials from the coroner's office indicates that the burglar, shot twice in the body by Hatcher, sank fatally wounded about ninety feet from the Hatcher home; that his comrade then placed the muzzle of a revolver against the left side of the prostrate man's head, and sent a bullet into his brain.

A space of only a few inches saved Hatcher, his wife and the two burglars from death or injury by nitroglycerin, the police said. One of the bullets which entered the stomach of of the burglar passed through his vest about two inches from the spot where he carried a bottle of the explosive.

FREE LECTURE ON HANDLING FURNACES

On Friday evening Charles J. Enger will lecture before the local association of Stationary Engineers at their hall, 501 Lyceum building, on a subject that will interest not only the engineers but all householders who have to wrestle during the cold months with a furnace. His subject will be "Furnaces and Combustion," and it will likely contain many suggestions as to the best way of handling a furnace to get the most good out of it at the least cost. The meeting will be open to the general public.

SWEET IS SPEAKER.

New York Legislature Meets and Adjourns; Sulzer Votes With Progressives

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 8.—Beyond effecting an organization, not much work of importance was accomplished at the opening of the 1914 legislative session. Adjournment was taken last night to Jan. 19.

Governor Glynn's annual message was read in both houses. Republican Leader Brown of the senate complimented its recommendations for economy. Several bills were introduced in the senate respecting important matters, such as regulating the sale of bichloride of mercury, establishing a system of central rural schools, regulating the practice of vivisection and permitting the use of convict labor on public highways under certain conditions.

Assemblyman William Sulzer, the former governor, made two attempts to get his resolution calling for a general investigation of alleged political abuses before the assembly committee. The matter was blocked promptly by objections from the Democratic side. In presenting his objection, Assemblyman Walker referred to "the late lamented governor." Mr. Sulzer paid no attention to this. He voted with the Progressives on practically all matters of consequence.

Fill out free coupon below and mail today. It's well worth your time whether you try my Appliance or not.

The above is C. E. Brooks, inventor of the Appliance who cured himself and who is now giving others the benefit of his experience. If ruptured, write him today, at Marshall, Mich.

Pennsylvania Man Thankful

Mr. C. E. Brooks,
Marshall, Mich.

Dear Sir:—

Perhaps it will interest you to know that I have been ruptured six years and have always had trouble with it till I got your Appliance. It is very easy to wear, fits neat and snug, and is not in the way at any time, day or night. In fact, at times I did not know I had it on; it just adapted itself to the shape of the body and seemed to be a part of the body, as it clung to the spot, no matter what position I was in.

It would be a veritable God-send to the unfortunates who suffer from rupture if all could procure the Brooks Rupture Appliance and wear it. They would certainly never regret it.

My rupture is now all healed up and nothing ever did it but your Appliance. Whenever the opportunity presents itself I will say a good word for your Appliance, and also the honorable way in which you deal with ruptured people. It is a pleasure to recommend a good thing among your friends or strangers. I am,

Yours very sincerely,
JAMES A. BRITTON,
80 Spring St., Bethlehem, Pa.

Confederate Veteran Cured

Commerce, Ga., R. F. D. No. 11.

Mr. C. E. Brooks,

Dear Sir:—I am glad to tell you that I am now sound and well and can plough or do any heavy work. I can say your Appliance has effected a permanent cure. Before getting your Appliance I was in a terrible condition and had given up all hope of ever being any better. If it hadn't been for your Appliance I would never have been cured. I am sixty-eight years old and served three years in Eckle's Artillery, Oglethorpe Co. I hope God will reward you for the good you are doing for suffering humanity.

Yours sincerely,
H. D. BANKS.

Others Failed But the Appliance Cured

Mr. C. E. Brooks,
Marshall, Mich.

Dear Sir:—

Your Appliance did all you claim for the little boy, and more, for it cured him sound and well. We let him wear it for about a year in all, although it cured him 3 months after he had begun to wear it. We had tried several other remedies and got no relief, and I shall certainly recommend it to friends, for we surely owe it to you. Yours respectively,

WM. PATTERSON,
No. 717 S. Main St., Akron, O.

Cured at the Age of 76

Mr. C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.

Dear Sir:—

I began using your Appliance for the cure of rupture (I had a pretty bad case) I think in May, 1905. On November 20, 1905, I quit using it. Since that time I have not needed or used it. I am well of rupture and rank myself among those cured by the Brooks Discovery, which, considering my age, 76 years, I regard as remarkable.

Very sincerely your,
High Point, N. C. SAM A. HOOVER.

Child Cured in Four Months

21 Janser St., Dubuque, Iowa.

Mr. C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.

Dear Sir:—The baby's rupture is altogether cured, thanks to your appliance, and we are so thankful to you. If we could only have known of it sooner our little boy would not have had to suffer near as much as he did. He wore your brace a little over four months and has not worn it now for six weeks. Yours very truly,

ANDREW EGGENBERGER,

FIRST TERM IN MARCH

Short Agricultural Course at Experiment Station Is Announced.

Supt. Thompson Gives Outline of What Will Be Done.

Supt. M. J. Thompson of the Northeast experiment station announces that the preliminaries are well advanced and the program is being arranged for the first annual short agricultural course of the station, which will be held March 9 to 21.

Owing to the newness of the plant and the limited facilities for a crowd, the representation from the outlying rural districts will necessarily be confined for the present year to a restricted number. This will not affect students who can reside at home or elsewhere, and the station is but thirty minutes' walk from the car line.

It is desired by the management as far as possible to reach the younger men and boys and especially those connected with farmers' clubs. The work will be extended over a period of twelve days, March 9 to 21, inclusive.

"Roughly speaking, said Mr. Thompson, "the mornings will be given over to lecture work, the afternoons to practice work and the evenings to illustrated talks closely connected with the work of the preceding day. The program will be arranged in a progressive fashion, and each day will be featured with a particular phase of the farm industry. In passing through the successive programs dealing with land clearing, soil preparation, the first crops, stocking the farm and mapping out a definite plan of management and operation, the student readily grasps the unity and continuity of the program and each day's work follows the preceding like the chapters of a book.

"Specialized types of agriculture, the dairy, poultry, gardening, fruit culture, naturally follow at this stage although in very condensed form, while the work on rural organization will fittingly terminate the course. Additional information will shortly be available. Persons interested in taking all or part of this course will do well in filing an application at once. These should be sent to the office of the superintendent, R. R. 3, Duluth."

FARRELL LOOKS FOR GOOD TIMES

James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel corporation, predicts better times in the near future. Speaking at a recent banquet of the officers of the Carnegie Steel company at Pittsburg, he said: "I will say that I regard business prospects as bright. They are good in Pittsburg. The Steel corporation has spent $16,000,000 in the Pittsburg district during the last two years, and more operations are under contemplation."

EXPRESSES HIS APPRECIATION

Postmaster General Commends All Employes for Holiday Service.

Employes of the postal service throughout the country are recipients of letters of commendation, in which Postmaster General A. S. Burleson congratulates them on their very efficient work in handling the recent heavy holiday mail.

Postmaster General Burleson expresses his gratification at the way the mail was handled and extends the greetings of the season to all the employes of his department. Th ecommunication follows:

"To the officers and employes of the postal service:

"The splendid manner in which every employe of the postal service, in the department and in the field, acquitted himself of handling the enormous quantity of mail during the recent holiday season is not only a source of gratification to me, but a pride to every American citizen. Although the parcel post has more than doubled the usual volume of Christmas mail, the task of handling this mail proved not so much a test of the capacity of the postal service as an opportunity for the employes to demonstrate their ability to meet all emergencies. The result is a substantial evidence of the energy, resourcefulness, efficiency and loyalty of every employe, wherever his post of duty, from the highest to the most inconspicuous. This achievement assures me that all emergencies of the future will be promptly and effectively met.

"I extend to you my very best wishes for a happy and prosperous New Year.

"A. S. BURLESON,
"Postmaster General."

PLEAD GUILTY TO MARRIAGE SWINDLES.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 8.—Emma and Martin Farris, each near 70 years old, of Princeton, Ind., indicted by the Federal grand jury here on the charge of conducting a fake matrimonial bureau, appeared before Judge A. B. Anderson in the United States district court here late yesterday and changed their plea of not guilty to guilty. The judge granted the request and suspended sentence, saying that he might impose a fine on Farris later.

Louise Farris, the principal figure in the matrimonial bureau, who was indicted with her parents, pleaded guilty when arraigned about a month ago. Her sentence also was suspended. It is said her photographs and letters led to her engagement to more than fifty men.

WANT U. S. MARINES LANDED IN CHINA

That Is Said to Be Only Way to Aid Missionaries.

Pekin, Jan. 8.—The brigand Hwang Liang, who during the anti-Manchu revolt proclaimed himself Ming emperor, still defies the authorities and refuses to permit the American missionaries who have been for months at Foo Chow to return to their missions in the interior, although he has allowed all other foreigners to do so.

The American legation has made repeated representations to the Chinese foreign office on the subject, but Edward T. Williams, the former American charge d'affaires, and Paul S. Reinsch, the present American minister, have been equally unsuccessful in their efforts to persuade the Chinese government to take any action.

In American circles here it is thought that only the landing of a force of marines will accomplish the fulfillment of Chinese treaty obligations, and it is pointed out that the Japanese and other nations obtain quick satisfaction for their grievances by making naval displays. It is remarked that neither foreign residents nor the Chinese contemplate the possibility of the United States taking any such action, and consequently there will be a continuance of defiance by Hwang Liang.

FIND SERVICE PRETTY GOOD

Hibbing Commercial Club Will Not Ask for Change in Trains.

Present Missabe Train Gives More Mail From Chicago.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The present train service between Hibbing and Duluth over the Missabe road will stand so far as the Commercial club is concerned. It was decided at the meeting of the club last night not to ask the management of the Missabe railroad to change the time of departure of the passenger train from Duluth from 3:50 p. m. to 11 a. m. This matter has been agitated for some time as local merchants claimed if the train left in the morning after the arrival of the Northwestern and Soo trains from Chicago, quicker mail service from the Windy City would be in effect. Investigation has showed, however, that as the train runs now it brings mail and express from five or more trains from Chicago instead of two, and the club decided to abandon the matter.

Want Electric Cars Cleaned.

The campaign for cleaner trolley cars has hit the range. The club last night went on record to that effect and instructed its secretary to ask the general manager of the Mesaba Electric railway to keep the cars in cleaner condition, it being claimed there is an unnecessary amount of refuse in the cars, making them disagreeable for women as well as insanitary for the general public. The management will be asked to have the cars cleaned at each end of the line, at Gilbert and Hibbing.

Secretary Saxby of the club was also instructed to visit Duluth and Grand Rapids and ascertain how much travel there is between Grand Rapids and this section of the Mesaba range, with a view of furnishing information to interests allied with the Twin City Rapid Transit company of St. Paul, who have made inquiry of the club. It is believed Twin City people consider the question of perhaps building an electric line this way and the club will encourage such action. Formal notice will also be served on the Mesaba Electric company that it must get busy on its proposed Grand Rapids line or it will lose its franchise and privilege of passing through the towns between here and the Rapids.

J. L. Lewis, formerly cashier of the Mechanics & Miners' bank, was chosen publicity agent for the club.

The annual meeting of the club will be held next Wednesday.

WILLIAM NEILON,
Fire Chief.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two appointments announced Tuesday evening by Mayor Gleason and the new city commissioners, Thomas Finnegan to succeed himself as chief of police and William Neilon to succeed himself as fire chief, gave general satisfaction, as both have proved their merit on more than one occasion. The reappointment of James P. Boyle as city attorney at a salary of $150 per month, double what he previously received, also gives satisfaction. There is some criticism, however, of the general increase in salaries and the fixing of common laborers' day's wages for eight hours.

TAKEN TO OWATONNA.

Four Unfortunate Grand Rapids Children to State School.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Four children during the past two days have been taken to the state home at Owatonna from Itasca county. The first two were taken from Mr. and Mrs. Lon Johnson by the authorities because habitual drunkenness on the part of both parents caused them to be neglected. Five children have previously been taken from the same family for a similar reason. One child, a baby, will be allowed to remain with the parents, the latter being placed on probation.

Two sons of Fred Bejeault of Bovey were taken to Owatonna by Miss Ethel Shook of the judge of probate's office. The boys are 8 and 12 years old, and while the father was willing to do the best he could for them, it was thought best to place them in an institution, because the mother had deserted the home and her whereabouts is not known.

Monro from "Pal" Brown, tells of the scrap with Hughie McCoy in Australia and gives the reason for his loss of the decision. "Pal" will leave Australia for home about Feb. 8 if he does not in the meantime get a good match that will prevent.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

The secret of keeping young—is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle.

Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver. Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, Ohio. All druggists.

CLAIMS BOYS IMPOSE UPON SALOON KEEPERS

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The agitation against the sale of liquor to minors continues an absorbing question. Local saloon men claim the law should be amended to make the boys who seek and procure the liquor liable also as it is claimed that the boys impose on the saloon men often getting drink under false representations then running away.

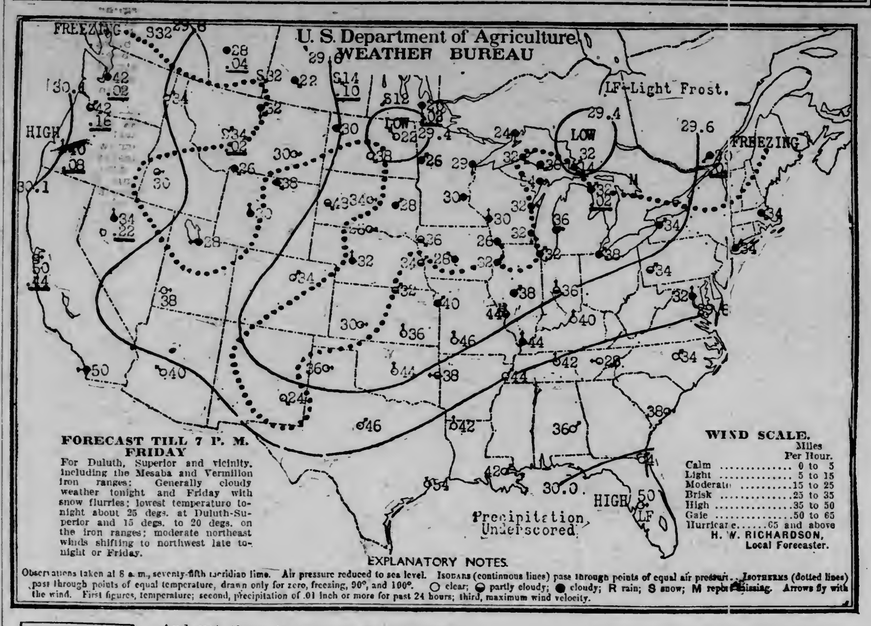

Local authorities are governed entirely by the statutes and have no recourse themselves but the agitation it is believed will result in some effort being made to amend the statutes at the next session of the legislature. A prominent saloon keeper stated that they are constantly being imposed upon by young men whose ages are very close to their majority and their refusal to sell them liquor resulted in more or less abuse.

CONVICT JASPER OF KILLING EDWIN DROOD

Dickens Students "Try" Famous Character; Shaw Foreman of Jury.

London, Jan. 8.—Students of Dickens met at Kings Hall, Covent Garden, last night and gathered up the threads of Dickens' unfinished tale, "The Mystery of Edwin Drood." The entertainment took the form of court proceedings in which John Jasper was placed on trial for the murder of Edwin Drood, G. K. Chesterton, the novelist, acting as judge. About midnight the jury returned the following verdict:

"In the British spirit of compromise, we adjudge the prisoner guilty of manslaughter."

A rider to the verdict left the prisoner to the judge's mercy and threatened those darling to question the verdict with commital for contempt of court.

The trial was held under the auspices of the Dickens' Fellowship, and many of the leading literary men of London took part. Guineas were vainly offered even for a seat on the stairs. Bernard Shaw was foreman of the jury and his sallies, with Chesterton's pompous gravity as judge, gave a most enjoyable turn to affairs.

Roars of Laughter.

Roars of laughter from time to time greeted the jokes, as when, for instance, Foreman Shaw, after listening to the prosecuting counsel's speech, bounded from his seat with the characteristic query to the judge:

"Do you imagine, my lord, that the convictions of a British jury are going to be influenced by any amount of evidence?"

The wholly spontaneous character of the proceedings—the opposing counsel not having consulted with each other or seen each other's briefs—added greatly to the zest of the affair. The trial had not been rehearsed. All the witnesses, who included impersonators of Dickens' characters, appeared in the costumes of the period.

Cecil Chesterton was counsel for the defense, and the jury was composed of Bernard Shaw (foreman), Sir Edward Russell, W. W. Jacobs, William De Morgan, William Pett Ridge, Arthur Morrison, William Archer, Juston H. McCarthy, Francesco Berger, Ridgwell Cullum, Coulson Kernahan and Thomas Seccombe.

BURNING ITCHING SCALP DISEASE

Scratched Until Scalp Cut All Over. Could Not Sleep. Hair Came Out. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured in Fifteen Days.

Ardon, Iowa.—"My son had a scalp disease; he had a burning itching for fifteen or sixteen years. On account of the intense itching he would scratch his head until his scalp was cut all over. Several scabs had formed by scratching. He would wake up at night and scratch; sometimes he could not sleep with the itch and burning. There were pimples about as large as a pin-head all over his scalp, a red rash as red as blood. His hair came out gradually. It seemed as if the hair was dry, no life in it.

"He used ———, a wash of blue stone and toilet soap, still he never got any relief until he used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. He would wash his head until it would be white with the lather from the Cuticura Soap, then he would wash his scalp clean with warm water, then rub the ointment all over his scalp. He was cured in fifteen days' time." (Signed) Mrs. Jane Edwards, Oct. 15, 1913.

In selecting a toilet soap why not procure one possessing delicate emollient properties sufficient to allay minor irritations, remove redness and roughness, prevent pore-clogging, soften and soothe sensitive conditions, and promote skin and scalp health generally? Such a soap combined with the purest of saponaceous ingredients and most fragrant and refreshing of flower odors, is Cuticura Soap. Cuticura Soap 25c. and Cuticura Ointment 50c. are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

☞Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

MILL CITY EXCITED.

Is Worked Up Over Controversy on City School Head.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 8.—All Minneapolis is worked up over the controversy between the board of education regarding the re-election of Dr. Charles M. Jordan to the superintendency of the city schools. There are seven members of the board. Three favor the retention of Dr. Jordan as the head of the schools; three oppose him. The attitude of the other is not known.

The climax was reached last night when a mass meeting of business men crowded a large hall to capacity. Eleven speakers told why Dr. Jordan should be retained at the head of the schools for at least another term of three years, and resolutions were adopted demanding his re-election.

Dr. Jordan has been superintendent of the Minneapolis schools for twenty-two years.

Andrew Berg, aged 45, living at Amasa, Iron county, was hunting with Andrew Sand, a neighbor. Sand sighted a deer. The bullet he fired missed the animal and struck Berg, who died before a doctor could reach him. A widow and six children survive.

Capt. A. J. Young of Drummond Island, Chippewa county, was returning from a hunting trip, and stepping from his boat, placed his rifle on the shore. The weapon was discharged when he picked it up and the bullet struck him in the abdomen. Death ensued several hours later. Capt. Young was a sailor of many years' experience on the Great Lakes. Three sons and the widow survive.

CHILDREN TO GIVE AWAY

Abandoned Wife Offers Four Little Ones to Poor Commission

Deported From Canada, She Is Forced to Give Up Struggle.

Mary Dudley, aged 30, mother of five children, walked into the office of the county poor commission this morning and announced that she had four children to give away. Three of the candidates for adoption trudged in with her and the fourth was a babe in arms. A little crippled girl of 10 years, who lost her right leg five years ago, hobbled in on crutches with the rest. She was the exception. All had been deported from Canada.

Mrs. Dudley brushed a big tear from her eye when she told Clerk Shogran of the poor commission that she was ready to give up the fight to keep her family together which she had been trying to do since her husband, John Dudley, to whom she was married fifteen years ago at Negaunee, Mich., abandoned her several weeks ago. The desertion, she said, occurred at Maple Creek, Sask., Can.

After Dudley had left his family, she found herself thrown on charity. The larder in her kitchen was empty and she found herself obliged to appeal to her neighbors for assistance. For a time she managed to get enough employment to earn a meager living for herself and children, but days came when she was out of work.

One day she applied to the poor authorities of the Canadian town for help. They gave her $5 and a load of coal. When she came back for a second helping, she was required to give a little of her history.

Ordered Deported.

It developed that she had been in Canada for only about eighteen months and that prior to that time she had lived in Aurora, Minn. The information was placed in the hands of the Canadian immigration authorities, who immediately ordered her deportation. The Dudleys picked up what belongings they had left, which consisted of a suitcase full of clothes and a lunch basket, and set out on the trip. At the border they were held over for three days in the Canadian immigration detention house. The family arrived in Duluth this morning.

The oldest of the children is Fern, the little crippled girl, whom the mother desires to care for herself, even if she is obliged to give up the other children. Next in line is bright-eyed Johnny. He is 10, but terribly addicted to stuttering. Myrtle, Chet Willard, 3, and a 9-month-old baby complete the family group. Mrs. Dudley wishes to place all of the children out for adoption except the oldest. If they cannot be adopted, she is willing that they be made charges of the state.

Clerk Shogran took the woman and the children to the county home for dependent children, which is conducted by Mrs. Margaret Pinkle at 16 West Fifth street. The children will be cared for there until further disposition is made of the case in the juvenile court.

Mrs. Dudley claims that while they were living in Canada, her husband purchased an automobile for $300 and spent his time taking his friends out for rides and that just before he deserted her he sold the machine for $25.

FREEDOM FOR MISMATED

Two Judges Busy in District Court With Divorce Cases.

Cruelty, Drunkenness and Infidelity Are the Chief Complaints.

Two of the judges have been busy since yesterday afternoon when the first of the cases were called hearing the tales of unhappy married life and in dissolving the marriage bonds. The decrees were granted on various grounds, desertion being the most common. Cruelty, drunkenness and infidelity are also charged.

Judge Ensign this morning granted a divorce to Katherine M. Barney, 27, from George H. Barney, 38, after three years of married life. Mrs. Barney, who is employed in the city as a domestic, charges that her husband has treated her cruelly. On many occasions she says he has brutally assaulted her in public. She also asserts that he attempted to make her lead a life of shame in order to support herself and him. During the season of navigation Barney was captain of the Herman Witt.

Grace Dillon, 34, was granted a divorce from Michael F. Dillon, also 34, in the same court on the grounds of cruelty and drunkenness. They were married at Hibbing on Feb. 13, 1904, and are parents of two children, of whom the mother obtained custody.

Ingeborg Olsen, 47, received a separation from Elias Olsen, 46, on the grounds of adultery, the case being heard before Judge Fesler. They were married in this city on Dec. 23, 1893, and are parents of one child.

Judge Fesler also granted a decree to Elizabeth Edmunds, 23, who claimed that Andrew G. Edmunds, 34, deserted her nearly two years ago. They were married Sept. 9, 1908, and Friank Fier, 36, was given a divorce from Maggie Fier, 25, on the same grounds.

Helen C. Yates was granted a divorce from William A. Yates on grounds of adultery by Judge Ensign. They were married in Duluth on Oct. 25, 1902.

Judge Ensign yesterday afternoon granted a divorce to Mary Valentine from her husband, Malcolm Valentine. Desertion was the cause. In the compiaint the plaintiff stated that her husband had left her five years ago and wrenched her from one of the lower lake ports that he did not intend to again show up. They were married in England.

Ouida Marden was granted a divorce from William Marden. They were married in St. Paul on Sept. 26, 1909. The plaintiff has been residing with her parents since Nov. 1, 1912.

Aino Wentela was given a divorce from Arvid Wentela on the ground of desertion. Mrs. Wentela told Judge Ensign that they were married on April 3, 1909, at Negaunee, Mich., and that she had been deserted on Jan. 11, 1911.

Judge Dancer granted John Buhni a divorce from his wife, Emma Buhni, after listening to a tale of ill treatment. The plaintiff exhibited a scar on his face which he alleged that his spouse had made when she threw a pair of scissors at him during a quarrel. They were married on Oct. 4, 1903, and since then, he charged, his wife has continually accused him of immoral relations with other women.

MINING STOCKS WEAK AT CLOSE

After a strong opening the market in mining stocks weakened today on the appearance of the copper producers' monthly report showing an increase of 43,509,438 pounds in stocks on hand. This was more than double the estimates of trade experts. In spite of that situation, however, closing prices showed only moderate declines from their high points of the day.

Cliff turned weak on the official announcement that the directors had decided to pass the usual annual dividend of 10c due this month owing to the low price of metal. The stock sold 5c off at 50c.

A wire was received by J. A. Percival, secretary of the Calumet & Sonora Mining company, today advising that a rich ore body had been opened in the 600-level at the mine.

Gay & Sturgis received the following wire from Boston today: "International Harvester has advanced 7 points in a week. This is the strongest indication that this company, as well as others, is getting together with the government. First thing we know the public will wake up to the fact that peace is about to be an accomplished fact between the government and the business world. When they do and want to buy stocks they won't find prices where they are now. Money is going to be worth about 4 per cent in thirty days. Stocks won't sell on a 6 to 7 per cent basis when this happens."

The Copper Producers' association reported that stocks on hand Jan. 1 were 91,438,867 pounds, against 47,929,429 pounds on Dec. 1. Production in December was 138,990,421 pounds; in November, 134,087,708 pounds; domestic delivery in December, 21,938,570 pounds; November, 46,656,858 pounds; foreign deliveries in December, 73,542,413 pounds; November, 70,067,803 pounds. Total deliveries in December, 95,480,983 pounds and in November, 118,724,661 pounds.

Old Dominion production for the month of December was 2,613,000 pounds blister copper, compared with 2,170,000 pounds in November and 2,262,000 pounds in December a year ago.

The twelve months production was 30,810,000 pounds compared with 27,671,000 pounds in 1912 and 26,675,805 in 1911.

The London correspondent of the Boston News Bureau cabled today: "Consumers are not in the market, and second hands are quoting about £66, 15s (14½ cents) for electrolytic copper. Larger producers, however, are quoting £67 and upwards."

$200,000 FOR LAKE VICTIMS' FAMILIES

Canadian and American Vessel Owners Have Contributed the Funds.

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 8.—At a meeting to be held here late today $200,000 will be distributed among the surviving relatives of the 200 Great Lakes seamen who lost their lives on Nov. 9, when the Great Lakes experienced the most severe gale known in their history. Eight men, four Americans and four Canadians will decide how to distribute the funds.

Vessel owners on both sides of the border have been generous in their contributions to the fund and the Canadian government gave $25,000. Over $80,000 was raised in Cleveland where most of the victims resided.

EUGENIC MARRIAGE AT FOND DU LAC, WIS.

Bury Mill City Man.
Minneapolis, Minn., Jan 8.—The funeral of Charles W. Dexter, a pioneer real estate man who died at his country home at Hiawatha, west of Lake Minnetonka, was held today, with interment in Lakewood. He was a native of New Hampshire aged 68, and came to this city in 1883. Mr. Dexter had an estate of 150 acres, nearly all of which was covered with heavy timber which it was his pride to preserve as a large and beautiful grove.

WHAT PAT NEEDED.

Philadelphia Telegraph: The conversation turned to Pat in a Washington club some time since when Congressman Henry A. Cooper of Wisconsin was reminded of how an esteemed citizen of that state got tangled up in a recent railroad wreck.

When the smoke had cleared away and the wreck, which wasn't a very serious affair, was pulled apart, Pat's friends found him sitting beside the track holding his head in one hand and his leg in the other, said members, of course, not being detached.

"How are you feeling, Pat?" asked one of the party, stooping to assist the wounded man. "Are you badly hurt?"

"Shure, an' thot Oi am," answered Pat, whose worst injury was a bunch of bumps. "Oi fale as if a road roller an' a blomin' mule had stepped on me durin' a foight."

"Never mind, old fellow," sympathetically returned the other. "It's not so bad as it might have been, and you will get damages."

"Damages!" exclaimed Pat. "Begorra, an Oi've had enough av thim. It's repairs thot Oi'm after now."

WOULDN'T WASTE GREASE.

Everybody's Magazine: One day a young colored man of sporty appearance dropped in at a country livery stable and said he needed a job. He looked promising, so he was set at work greasing the axles of a buggy.

In a remarkably short space of time he reported the task finished.

"Look here," said his new boss, "do you mean to say you've greased all four of them wheels already?"

"And why haven't you greased the two hind ones?"

"Well," said the new man again, "so long's the two front ones goes all right, the two hind ones jes' nachelly got to foller!"

LONDON AND ITS LUMBER.

London Chronicle: London is the most conservative city in Europe, if not in the world. It loves its lumber. You may still see those notices attached to lamp posts which announce "Standing for Four Hackney Carriages," or whatever the number may be, though for ten years (in one case, to my own knowledge, for twenty-five) no vehicles of any kind have stood there. Perhaps it is as well that these relics should remain; they are a tiny part of our social history. They will probably remain when we are flying to dinner or the theater in omni-aeros. By that time people won't know what "hackney carriage" meant, and there will be discussions in the "Notes and Queries" of the period. For each generation hands down to the next certain nuts to crack.

VACCINATION AT THE HUB.

Boston Journal: It was at a dinner party. The bright young man found himself privileged to sit next to the young woman with beautiful arms and neck. He thought himself the most favored personge in the room. Suddenly his fair companion exhibited signs of nervousness. Two of his very best jokes, saved for a special occasion, passed by unnoticed. Her face wore a look of alarm. Apprehensively the young man gazed at her and, meeting the look, she said:

"I am in misery."

"In misery?" echied the man.

"Yes," she replied. "I was vaccinated the other day and it has taken beautifully. I could almost scream, it hurts so."

The young man looked at the beautiful arms and, seeing no mark there, said:

"Why, where were you vaccinated?"

"In Boston," she replied, the smile chasing away the look of pain.

B. & M. AND SUFFRAGE GOVERNOR'S THEMES

Walsh Recommends Action By Massachusetts Legislature.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 8.—The Boston & Maine railroad was the subject of the greater part of the inaugural address of Governor David I. Walsh, delivered today. He said the road in serious straits and needed help, not only from the legislature, but also from its own stockholders. As a remedy he suggested the formation of a new corporation, in which the stock of the leased lines should be merged with those of the Boston & Maine.

The governor advocated a constitutional convention to take up woman suffrage, the initiative and referendum and compulsory workingmen's compensation. He favors a referendum on woman suffrage.

SALOONS NEED NO RESTAURANT LICENSE

That Is Opinion of Attorney General of Wisconsin.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 8.—Saloons may sell canned goods like salmon and sardines, furnish free salt and pepper and knives and forks, without coming under the state law requiring the state restaurant license. This opinion was given by Attorney General Owen today to District Attorney Charles M. Briere of Marinette.

"Under the facts stated by you it is evident that the sale of canned goods and the furnishing of crackers, pepper and salt free of charge, is simply an incident to the main business of a saloon," said the opinion. "I am therefore of the opinion that such saloon keepers are not required to take out a restaurant license."

LIGHT SENTENCES ARE RECOMMENDED.

Strassburg, Germany, Jan. 8.—"Very light sentences," were proposed today by the prosecutor in the cases of the German officers now under trial for illegal assumption of authority in connection with the Zabern incident.

At the conclusion of the testimony and the pleas for the prosecution and defense, the judge advocate, acting as prosecutor, suggested that Col. Von Reuter, commander of the Thirty-ninth infantry, should be sent to jail for seven days on the charge of wrongful imprisonment. For Lieut. Schad, he said, a sentence of three days in jail for assault was sufficient. The other charges were dropped.

The verdict is to be pronounced on Jan. 10, the same day as that in the appeal of Lieut. Baron von Forstner, who was sentenced to forty-three days' imprisonment on Dec. 19 for saber bring a crippled shoemaker.

The others are in a critical condition. It is also intimated in the telegram that other families in the vicinity have eaten some of the meat.

A Physician's Advice.

"I'd certainly give most anything to be able to fat up a few pounds and stay that way," declares every excessively thin man or woman. Such a result is not impossible, despite past failures. Thin people are victims of mal-nutrition, a condition which prevents the fatty elements of food from being taken up by the blood as they are when the powers of nutrition are normal. Instead of getting into the blood, all the fat and flesh producing elements stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste.

To correct this condition and to produce a healthy normal, amount of fat the nutritive processes must be artificially supplied with the power which nature has denied them. This can best be accomplished by eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is a scientific combination of six of the best strength-giving fat-producing elements known to the medical profession. Taken with meals, it mixes with the food and turns the sugars and starches into rich, ripe nourishment for the tissues and blood and its rapid effect is remarkable. Reported gains of from ten to twenty-five pounds in a single month are by no means infrequent. Yet its action is perfectly natural and absolutely harmless. Sargol is sold by the Boyce drug store and other good druggists everywhere and every package contains a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

Caution—While Sargol has produced remarkable results in the treatment of nervous indigestion and general stomach disorders. It should not, owing to its remarkable flesh producing effect, be used by those who are not willing to increase their weight ten pounds or more.

ALBANIAN THRONE NOT ATTRACTIVE.

Vienna, Jan. 8.—The Allgemeine Zeitung today says the prince of Wied hesitates to accept the throne of Albania, and it is believed in well-informed circles that he will finally refuse it.

Prince William of Wied, who was selected by the powers for the throne of Albania, is a brother of the reigning prince of Wied, and is 38 years old. He is married to Princess Sophia of Schoenburg-Waldenburg.

It is the report here that there are three rival claimants to the throne in the field—Essad Pasha, Ismael Kemal Bey, and Izzet Pasha. A state bordering on open hostilities exists.

MURDERER ALLEN INSANE FOR YEARS.

Schafer, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Insane for years is the statement credited to the superintendent of the state hospital for the insane as a result of the observation of Tom Allen sent from this (McKenzie) county to the asylum. He was tried for murder and the jury found him insane. He went to the asylum instead of the penitentiary or the gallows. Allen ambushed and shot Brownie Emery of whom he was jealous.

WANT LAW MADE MORE SEVERE

West Duluthians Incensed at Freedom Allowed "Gun Toters."

The shooting of firearms and the recent killing of Patrolman Neil J. Mooney of New Duluth has aroused a bitter feeling among the citizens in this end of the city against the reckless carrying of revolvers. Many stringent measures are suggested by the residents, some advocating laws making it a felony to carry arms.

The news of the death of the officer this morning added to the indignation.

Suggestions will be advanced at the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club tomorrow evening that the police department supply at least two men to patrol certain districts at night. One officer is said to be at the mercy of any crowd, while two will stand a better chance of handling them.

"It should be made a penal offense to carry a concealed weapon," said one citizen today. "Then laws can be so framed as to make allowances for bank messengers, paymasters and men of good moral character who, through circumstances, are required to carry large sums of money. Where every 'roughneck' can carry a gun and be let off with a small fine if caught, is certainly wrong. Such men should be heavily fined or imprisoned."

COMMITTEE WILL ATTEND HEARING

Commercial Club Would Help in Betterment of Train Service.

The general committee of the West Duluth Commercial club appointed last Friday evening for the purpose of selecting members who will serve on the club's special committees, will meet this evening at the Western State bank building. The committee will make plans to have many of its members attend the hearing to be held tomorrow before the state railroad and warehouse commission at the Spalding hotel.

At the hearing tomorrow it is proposed to bring before the commission alleged injustices by the Northern Pacific railroad in its charges of railroad fare between points in the suburb. It is alleged that th erailroad has taken advantage of the law allowing it to charge higher rates between points under five miles apart, and that this has been put into effect in the western end of the city.

The members of the club also intend to back up the employes of the steel plant in their opposition to having a change made in the present evening service, unless it can be shown that the men will get better service. They will also advocate the putting on an additional late train to the suburb in the evening.

SUBURBS WANT MOUNTED POLICE

Hold-ups and Shooting Affairs Alarm the Residents.

The urgent need of an extra mounted policeman for the suburbs of Gary, Smithville and Spirit Lake is to be pressed on the public safety department of the city. The district is said to be unprotected at night and recent holdups, shooting affrays and burglaries in the district have aroused a feeling of alarm among the residents.

It is said that a mounted policeman could make the rounds in a far better manner than any other. At present one of the policemen at the New Duluth station is provided with a motorcycle but this, it is claimed, is useless at any except the principal thoroughfares.

The demand on the department for such an officer probably will be presented through a petition of the residents or a request from the improvement clubs of the suburbs.

At present the suburbs are patrolled by policemen from the New Duluth station. Only three men are provided, one of whom is the sergeant-in-charge. It is claimed that this is insufficient to provide proper protection and preserve order in the community. Arrests are difficult owing to the long distance which it is necessary to walk the offenders in order to take them to the jail.

"It often happens that men who are drunk and boisterous in the Gary suburb are not arrested by the officers because it is almost impossible to get them to the police station without dragging them for a mile," said a business man today. "The suburbs need not only an additional officer but also some conveyance with which to haul the offenders to the station. When the department decides to send a man here to take the place of our late patrolman Mooney, it should recommend that he be mounted."

Beneath Your Fat a Graceful Figure Dwells

How would you like, some day, to find your own slim self, emerging from the pads and rolls of fat that have gathered on chest, hips, waist, chin, cheeks, and neck, covering up and distorting the lithe, graceful figure beneath? Then learn this well. To remove or prevent these unwelcome deposits—control their quantity and location without paying the price of violent exercise, dieting, self-denials or impairment of health; in short, to find one's own slim self beneath the fatty sheath—has been made possible by a noted physician, whose Marmola Prescription helped thousands of over-fat men and women to reduce safely and surely from 10 to 16 ounces per day until the natural health of the system is restored and slimness results. Marmola Prescription Tablets, the new form of this great remedy, each contain an exact dose of the famous Marmola Prescription. Like the original prescription, they are absolutely sure and harmless. Nearly every druggist keeps these wonderful little tablets, or they may be secured direct by mail from the Marmola Co., Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich. 75c for a large case is the uniform price.

WITH THE CURLERS

In addition to being city assessor, J. Allyn Scott finds time to appear every evening at the Western Curling club to either play the game or be leader of the "rooters" cheering the good "lays" made by the players. As a curling fan there are few men in West Duluth who "have anything on" Mr. Scott.

Mr. Scott is the able "third" man on the Iltis rink. For several years he steered the destinies of his own rink, but this year he has laid aside his ambition to personally steer a rink through the season and has asked for no more prominent a place than the position just ahead of the skip.

Mr. Scott was formerly president of the club, and now is one of its two vice presidents. He intends leading a bunch of "rooters" this evening to Superior to cheer the locals to victory in the first contest with the Superior Curling club for the Manley-McLennan trophy.

A large delegation from the Western Curling club will go to Superior tonight to witness the contest across the river. The rinks will be skipped by Frank H. Wade, Dr. W. E. Judson, Emil J. Zauft and T. F. Wieland.

Want City Owned Market.

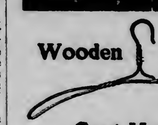

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—A municipal meat market is being agitated and the city council has before it a petition, signed by 150 citizens, asking that the step be taken. Officials, however, doubt the power of the city to engage in such industry, believing that charter limitation prohibits it.

MARKET OFF AT FINISH

Wheat Weakens at Close on Break in Coarse Grains.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 8.—The market weakened at the close in sympathy with break in coarse grains and decline at Minneapolis. May wheat closed ⅜c off and July ¼c off. May durum closed unchanged.

Oats closed ¼c off at 34⅝@35⅛c. Rye closed unchanged at 50@53c for the best grades, and barley unchanged at from 45@67c.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 87⅜c bid, and calls at 87⅝@87⅞c bid.

At Winnipeg, January oats closed at 32⅛c bid and May at 36⅛c.

Small receipts and higher Liverpool and European cables brought about a firm situation in the wheat market today. Inspections at Duluth were only 26 cars as compared with 135 cars last year, and arrivals of all grains on the tracks here this morning aggregated only 55 cars. At Winnipeg receipts were down to 78 cars of wheat compared with 213 a year ago. A wire received by a Duluth grain house from Winnipeg today said that current light receipts on that market reflect the shortage of supplies remaining in farmers' hands through the three Western provinces, and that no improvement need be expected in grain handlings till such time as the line elevators begin to ship out. Failing a sharp advance in quotations, that is not expected to come about much before the opening of navigation.

The Buenos Ayres market was also stronger today, as the result of good bidding from Liverpool and Europe. Corn closed extremely weak there at from 1⅜ to 2¾c lower in line with the break on the American markets. Heavy sales of Argentine corn for shipment to America were reported.

May wheat opened unchanged at 88⅜c and gained just ⅛c during the first three hours' trading. July opened ⅛c up at 89¾c and gained ⅛c more.

Good buying turned up in May durum, resulting in a moderate advance in its price. It opened at 87⅜c and gained ⅜c up to the final hour.

Flax Sells Higher.

With current receipts at a minimum and higher cables, the market in flaxseed was strong from the opening up to about the close on steady bidding by crushers, who are said to be endeavoring to accumulate supplies at around the present level. Winnipeg was also higher, though not to the same extent as the local board.

Trading in the seed was on an advancing price basis from the start, and as a net result of the session's business, advances of ⅜@⅞c were recorded. Operations were confined to the May option, which opened ⅛c up at $1.54¼ and closed at $1.54⅜. January flax closed at $1.50⅜ nominally. The close was slightly off from the high.

At Winnipeg, January flax closed at $1.28¼, and May at $1.35⅞.

The visible supply of grain in the United States is now 104,000,000 bu, the largest on record.

A wire received by Parker Paine from Chicago today said: "Wish to call you attention to the great underlying strength in our wheat market, proof of which is the steady quotations during this severe break in the coarse grains. Am inclined to believe that we will not have much of an upturn in wheat while this liquidation in corn and oats is going on, but I think conservative purchases on the little setbacks from this level are in order and will ultimately prove profitable."

Considerable corn from North Dakota points has been marketed in Duluth during the last few days. This is a new development in the market here.

The Minneapolis cash market was strong, with a good demand. One northern blue stem sold at from 1c over to 1c under May, and velvet chaff at 1@1½c discount. Flour sales were just fair. Millers all reported good inquiries, but bids were very low. Cash one northern wheat sold at from 86⅝@87⅞c, and No. 2 northern at from 83⅜@86⅜c.

Baker received the following wire from Minneapolis today: "If this wheat market stands up another day or two like this, I would be inclined to think it would have a good advance soon. Millers tell me they have more inquiry for flour than for weeks."

The Inter Ocean says: "Bulls on wheat said much wheat had disappeared on the weak spots during the last two days.

"Corn—At the low points for May was within a fraction of the lowest figure made Aug. 1, when the drouth scare was started. Millions of bushels of short corn have been brought in lately."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Wheat—Steady American cables and the firmer feeling at Winnipeg were offset by rain in India, free Plata offerings, and easier spot markets, and prices at the opening were ⅛d lower. Later this was recovered on the strong bids for Australian wheat and firmer Manitoba offers. At 1:30 p. m. the market was steady, unchanged and held in check by the weakness in corn.

"Corn opened ⅞d lower and later declined ⅛@⅜d on the weakness in Buenos Ayres, forecasts of liberal Argentine shipmetns this week, a lower spot market and the weakness in America."

Argentine estimates: Wheat, 400,000 bu, and corn 2,550,000 bu. Arrivals of new wheat the disappointing. The corn crop there is making excellent progress.

The New York Journal of Commerce says: "More than 1,000,000 bu of Argentine corn have arrived at United States ports within the past three days, and 8,000,000 have already been imported since the duty was taken off. Fifteen vessels are now either en route or loaded for this country."

According to statistics just issued by the department of trade and commerce at Ottawa, 100,652 cars of wheat were inspected at Winnipeg during the four months ended Dec. 31, or nearly 30,000 cars in excess of the number inspected during the corresponding period of 1912. The average high grade was shown in the fact that 57,031 cars graded No. 1 Manitoba northern as against 8,787 the year before.

For the four months, the total number of cars of grain inspected was 140,393 as compared with 100,849 cars during the same period of 1912.

The sample grain market is now in operation at Fort William and good results are reported to have been attained so far. Samples are coming forward in fair volume from growers in the West. It is said that the greater parts of the arrivals are ungraded stuff for which there was no Western market. The grain offering is, however, being readily handled by dealers at Fort William who have cleaning facilities at the small elevators which enable them to separate and make use of the mixtures represented in the samples.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Corn Prices Go Down on Declines in Buenos Ayres.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—Sharp declines in the price of corn at Buenos Ayres carried today's market here down grade. There were predictions that Argentine shipments would gain in volume this week. In addition, mild weather in the United States appeared to show that demand from feeders would continue relatively scant. The opening was ⅛@¼c to ⅜c lower. After a slight rally the market broke nearly 1c a bu all around.

Strength at Liverpool brought about a firmer feeling later, but the effect failed to last. The close was nervous, ¼@⅜c to ⅝c under last night.

Wheat became easy on account of the corn weakness. Offerings, however, were light, prospects of export sales making the bears cautious. Prices started a shade to ⅛@¼c off, hardened a bit, and then sagged again.

Free seeding by one of the largest houses in the trade resulted in values being further depressed. The close was heavy at 1⅛@1¼c to 1⅝@1½c net decline.

Higher prices for hogs lifted provisions. First sales varied from 5@7½c to 12½c higher and there was a subsequent further gain.

STOCKS ARE IRREGULAR

Market Opens Higher and Has Good Undertone in Morning

Weakness of Specialties Later Unsettles List and Close Is Heavy.

New York, Jan. 8.—The advance in stocks during the morning was assisted by heavy absorption of Reading and the improvement of monetary conditions in foreign financial centers.

Call money renewed at 2½ per cent and there was further relaxation in quotations for time loans and mercantile discounts.

Pressure against a few vulnerable stocks retarded the main movement of the market, but recessions were moderate and the list maintained a good undertone.

Bonds were firm.

There was a good demand at the opening of the market today for the favorite stocks and prices in a majority of cases were higher. Reading, Texas Company and Erie were bid up a point. American Snuff and Rumely preferred rose 1½. There were a few weak spots in the market. New Haven and American Sugar declined 1.

The better feeling which pervaded the early market was undermined to some extent by weakness of New Haven. That stock dropped 2 points on its unfavorable November earnings and other representative shares reacted half a point or so.

Strength of Reading had a sustaining effect on the market despite the large increase in copper supplies and additions to idle freight cars. Copper shares declined on the monthly report.

Weakness of various specialties ultimately caused the railroad shares to crumble. Reading lost its advance of a point and Union Pacific sold as much under yesterday's close.

The market closed heavy. Bears concentrated their efforts on a few shares with a big speculative market, but the general list showed some resistance after prices had returned to about yesterday's close. A drop of 4 points in American Sugar had a generally depressing influence.

WHAT LEGAL AID HAS DONE

More Than $5,000 in Small Claims Collected During Year.

"Protect Society and Reform Criminal" Probation Officer's Aim.

The free legal aid bureau of the welfare department handled 607 cases and made collections amounting to $5,230.48 during the last year, according to the annual report submitted to Mayor Prince by Frank Hicks, manager of the welfare department.

From a few cases during the first few months of its existence, which was last February, the bureau's activities have increased steadily. Last month ninety-five cases of various kinds were disposed of and the indications are that the present year will see the number running well over 100 each month.

Manager Hicks has personal charge of the legal aid work and in addition to that did a tremendous amount of work as the probation officer of the police court. The purpose of the bureau is to advise and assist those who have not sufficient funds to retain the services of an attorney. Manager Hicks states that the co-operation of the attorneys in the city has made the bureau possible and modestly refraining from detailing the hundreds of cases which he has personally handled, generously declares that whatever success has been achieved by the bureau has been due to the assistance of other attorneys. For years Mr. Hicks was one of the leading practitioners at the St. Louis county bar and is now engaged in welfare work solely through his deep interest in that field.

Of the ninety-five cases handled during December, twenty-five were wage claims and twenty came from persons seeking advice, while the others were of a widely assorted character. The collections amount to $160.81, which was distributed to claimants free of charge.

Probation Work.

As probation officer Mr. Hicks had charge of 128 persons who were placed on parole from the police court. Of these 19 were released from parole and 20 left the jurisdiction of the court, leaving 81 persons now under the direction of the probation officer. Of the 128 placed on parole last year 121 were men and seven were women. Two of the number were colored. The total amount of money collected and disbursed for probationers was $1,606.25.

The field covered by the probation officer and the spirit in which the work is handled is summarized in the conclusion of the report, as follows:

"To the question what has been accomplished, the answer is difficult of expression in words. The probation officer possesses no hypnotic power and is not a reformer in the strict sense of the word, but he has tried to show all the probationers that he possesses in good measure the milk of human kindness, the spirit of forbearance and strict integrity, all of which have been uniformly manifested in the making of preliminary and other investigations and in personal interviews with the probationers.

"Probation is a mode of punishment, or a manner of disposing of persons convicted of offenses, and in this sense it is as necessary as the jail or prison. The spirit of altruism pervades the present day; it is in the air, in the conversations and conduct of the people. The object of punishment is to protect society and to reform the criminal, and the present day idea is that these things can best be accomplished during the year and as the work progresses a still greater amount of good can be accomplished in the future."

Mayor Prince was highly gratified with the accomplishments shown by the reports of the welfare department and declared that a vast amount of good is being done by the welfare department under the administration of Manager Hicks.

Y. M. C. A. STARTS ITS SHOP TALKS

Conducted By A. L. Turner; Practical Subjects Are Discussed.

The shop talks given to workmen at the various industrial centers of Duluth under the supervision of A. L. Turner, the educational secretary, have been started this week, and are meeting with great success. Attendance at the meetings is good and marked interest is being shown by the men.

The various shops of the city have been formed into a circuit, and a talk is given at each of them every week. The talks are of a practical nature, and are planned to fit the needs of the particular body of men to which they are given.

The nature of the topics discussed are well illustrated by the following: "The Best Use of Time," showing how the average man may acquire a good education by taking advantage of his spare time; "Practical Eugenics," treating vital subjects concerning the health conditions for workingmen; "Blind Voting By Honest Men," and others. The lives of great men are discussed and the discussions are designed to bring out the qualities that have made men great.

MORE REFUGEES FROM MEXICO COME ACROSS BORDER INTO TEXAS

Scenes of Distress Mark Trail of Fleeing People.

Gen. Manzanilla Is Declared in Need of Medical Aid.

Presidio, Tex., Jan. 9.—A fresh influx of refugees from Ojinaga today bore witness to the belief on the Mexican side of the line that Gen. Villa is about to land the combined forces of the Constitutionalists against the town. Preparations were made by Red Cross and army authorities to care for more wounded.

The scene in the border district is a strange one to dwellers on this side of the river. The seventy-seven-mile trail from Presidio to Marfa, Tex., the nearest railroad station, rises from the Rio Grande valley 2,000 feet to a cold, wind-swept plateau. On this bleak road trudge Mexican women and children, their arms full of such possessions as they can carry, and their bright hued garments flapping in the wind.

Scenes on the Trail.

Here and there on the trail are seen a handful of ragged Mexican soldiers without their guns, or a wounded Federal officer tramping through the sand; a runaway burro nibbling at the mesquite; a lumbering United States army wagon, or an automobile bearing the family of a wealthy refugee.

The Mexicans sleep on the ground, and at night a line of little campfires, winding through the mountain and over the plateau, traces the route of the 2,000 or more refugees in their flight to safety.

Manzanilla Is Sick.

San Antonio, Tex., Jan. 9.—Gen. Jose Manzanilla, who left the Federal army at Ojinaga, Mex., and crossed to Presidio, Tex., Wednesday, did not desert his command, but is seriously ill and came to the United States to seek medical attention. This was the report Maj. McNamee, commanding the United States border patrol, made to Gen. Tasker H. Bliss at department headquarters here. Gen. Bliss has refused Gen. Manzanilla's request to be allowed to come with his son to San Antonio for treatment, unless he resigns from the Mexican army. It was said Gen. Manzanilla will appeal to the state department.

RALPH LOPEZ SEEN IN LOS ANGELES, CAL.

Mexican Who Was in Utah Mine Sought By Sheriff.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 9.—Ralph Lopez, the Mexican outlaw, who killed six men and escaped from several sheriffs' posses in the Utah-Apex mine at Bingham, Utah, was in Los Angeles yesterday and was reported today to be in Compton, ten miles south of here, according to information received at the sheriffs' office. A search was without success.

PRESIDENT OF ROAD INJURED IN WRECK

John B. Munson's Car Turns Over—Three People Killed.

Macon, Ga., Jan. 9.—John B. Munson, president of the Georgia Southern & Florida railroad, had a narrow escape from death early today in a wreck near Cordele, Ga., in which three persons were killed and twenty-seven were injured.

Mr. Munson's car turned over, throwing the president out of his bed and badly bruising him. Details of the wreck are meager on account of broken wires. The names of the dead and injured have not yet been ascertained at the office of the railroad here.

BUILD RAILROAD TO CARRY FARM OUTPUT

Texas Farmers Say It Is Cheaper Than Highway.

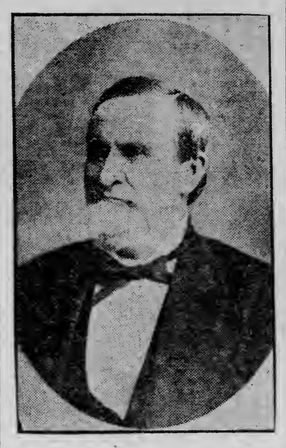

Greenville, Tex., Jan. 9.—Farmers of this section announced today that they would build a railroad eight miles long to bring their milk and other perishables to market here, because the railroad would cost less than a good highway. The right of way lies entirely through property of farmers interested in the project, which will be donated.

The projectors estimated the cost of the railroad at $2,000 per mile.

OLDEST CARRIER OF U. S. MAIL RETIRES.

Binghamton, N. Y., Jan. 9.—George F. Crandall, the oldest mail carrier in the United States, retired today at the age of 74. He has carried mail continuously since 1856. His trips as driver of a stage wagon reached an aggregate of 350,000 miles, and his income from the postoffice department during the entire period totaled $35,000.

DEATH CLAIMS FAMOUS HERO OF TWO WARS

GEN. SIMON BOLIVAR BUCKNER.

LAST LIEUTENANT GENERAL OF CONFEDERACY IS DEAD

Simon Bolivar Buckner Succumbs to Infirmities of Age.

Rose to Promotion for Heroic Deeds in Two Wars.

Munfordville, Ky., Jan. 9.—The body of Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, who died at his home, "Glen Lily," near here, last night, will be conveyed by special train tomorrow to Frankfort for burial. The widow, relatives and about twenty close friends of the Buckner family will accompany the body of the last lieutenant general of the Confederate army to the state capital. Complete details of the funeral arrangements have not yet been announced, but it is expected that burial will take place Sunday or Monday.

Gen. Buckner's death was due to infirmities of age. Mrs. Buckner and the general's only surviving child, Lieut. Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr., U. S. A., who is stationed at Fort Thomas, were at his bedside when the end came.

West Point Graduate.

Gen. Buckner was in his ninety-first year. He was a graduate of West Point; had been a member of the United States army for ten years; was a veteran of the Mexican war; for four years was governor of Kentucky, and in 1896 was a candidate for vice president of the United States on the Gold Democrat ticket, headed by Palmer.

Gen. Buckner's name is linked with deeds of valor throughout his service in the Mexican and Civil wars. During the Mexican war he was brevetted for bravery at the battles of Contreras,

SAVE $1,067,790 ON NAVY AMMUNITION

Secretary Daniels Tells of Bids Under Real Competition.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Secretary Daniels announces that bids just submitted for the manufacture of projectiles for the navy show a decrease of $889,825 as compared with prices paid last year. If the department takes advantage of the right to increase the orders by 20 per cent, Secretary Daniels said, a saving of $1,067,790 for the government will be the result of the restoration of open and real competition between the bidders. The competing firms include the Hadfield Steel Foundries company, Ltd., of England, and the Krupps of Germany.

The greatest cut in the price of any one item was made by the Bethlehem Steel company, which last year was awarded contracts for the four-inch shells at $9.50 and this year offers to supply the same shells for $5.46 each.

Underbid the Foreigners.

The Bethlehem, Crucible and Midvale companies underbid all others, including the foreign firms. The 14-inch shells were quoted by the Crucible company this year at $315 each. Last year's price was $490. The Midvale company was low bidder on the 12-inch shells, offering them for $165 each against $274.75 last year. The E. W. Bliss company was low on the bids for the five-inch shells, bidding $8.56 as compared with $13.20 a year ago. The Bethlehem company bid $5.46 on the four-inch shells as against $5.50 last year.

Secretary Daniels was highly pleased with the reductions. "The figures speak for themselves," he said. "The department is gratified at this vindication of its contention that real competition would show great savings. I am delighted also that the American bidders are able to hold their own so well against foreigners. I have always believed that the American manufacturer would be found able to care for himself against the markets of the world."

GET LETTERS FROM WILSON

Children of Mississippi Towns Pleased at His Attention.

One Youngster Gives Candy and Flowers to President.

Pass Christian, Miss., Jan. 9.—Though deeply absorbed for the most part in affairs of state, President Wilson has availed himself of leisure moments during his vacation here to answer scores of oddly written letters from children in this vicinity. It is one of the many things which the president would like to do at Washington, for he enjoys reading the letters of children, but finds it impossible at the White House because of pressure of important business.

None of the letters is made public. But as the receipt of a letter from the president of the United States is not an everyday occurrence in the hamlets and towns along the gulf coast, information about them has leaked out in various ways.

Gave President Candy.

Master Cecil Brown of Mississippi City has two letters from the president, more than any of the other youngsters. Master Brown a few days ago stood in the road waving an American flag and halted the big automobile.

"I want to give you some candy," he told the president, "and I want you to eat it because I made it myself."

The president took the box of homemade candy with him, while Master

SAINT'S FINGER BONE STOLEN FROM CHURCH

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 9.—The parish of St. Louis' French Roman Catholic church was greatly stirred today when it became known that the reliquary of the church had been broken open and a small gold casket, containing a piece of fingerbone venerated as a relic of St. Anne, had been stolen.

The relic, regarded as a rare treasure, had been in the church for thirteen years and was believed to have specific powers of healing. It was secured in Rome by a former pastor of the church. The casket was sealed by Pope XIII.

NO TROUBLE TO FIND VICE IN SUPERIOR

Pastor Makes Startling Statements at State Commission Hearing.

Mere Boys Suffering From Venereal Diseases Organize a Club.

Two Laws to Be Recommended Already Decided Upon.

Law violations are common and vice is rampant in Superior and the police wink at them, according to testimony given before the members of the Wisconsin legislative vice commission, which began its vice probe in the city hall at Superior this morning. Rev. Harry W. Knowles, pastor of the First Presbyterian church; Ellef Rue, a reporter, and W. W. Strickland, who has been active in making secret investigations during the past three months, gave testimony which was in many cases startling and revolting.

The six members of the commission began the hearing at 10 o'clock. The commission comprises Senator Howard Esvale of Sparta, Senator Victor Lindley of Superior, Senator Robert W. Monk of Neilsville and Representatives George W. Bingham of Friendship, James Dolan of Plattville and Carl Minkley of Milwaukee.

Rev. Mr. Knowles was the first to take the stand. He testified to the "redlight" district being run open in direct violation of the law and said that no attempt had been made by Mayor Konkel to close it. He said that the tolerated district was a failure, in that it created a market for the "white slave" traffic and that this traffic was now flourishing in the city.

U. S. SECOND IN THE LIST AS A SPENDER

Thereby Keeps in Third Place Among World Navies.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Just $797,948,900 was expended last year in construction by the seven naval powers of the world, the United States standing second in the list with appropriations of $140,890,643. Great Britain spent $235,713,484, while Germany was not far behind the United States, with an expenditure of $111,270,025. Japan took last place, having spent but $46,051,511.

These facts appear in the navy year book for 1913, issued as a public document by the senate naval committee. Included in the volume is a large amount of other information regarding the relative strength of the navies of the world, furnished by the naval intelligence office.

Great Britain held her place as the first naval power with 2,951,291 tonnage, allowing for the completion of the vessels now built or being built. Germany ranks second with a tonnage of 1,228,208; the United States is third with 921,844 tons; France fourth with 876,155, and Japan fifth with 702,099.

MUST CARRY PURE WATER

Disease Due to Polluted Drinking Water on Lake Vessels

United States Health Service to Recommend Distilling Apparatus.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Apparatus to distill all water used for drinking purposes on the vessels of the Great Lakes will have to be installed before the opening of navigation next spring. That is the decision which soon will be announced officially as the result of an investigation conducted by Passed Assistant Surgeon Hugh DeValin of the United States public health service. Dr. DeValin has been investigating the prevalence of typhoid fever and gastro-interitis among the passengers on Great Lakes vessels. He is convinced that practically all the cases are traceable to polluted water drunk by them while aboard ship.

Dr. DeValin is in Washington now, preparing his formal report. He expects to have it completed shortly, so that the recommendations and regulations may be issued in time for the vessel owners to ocmply with their terms before the opening of navigation. The public health service may not make the installation of distilling apparatus on all vessels compulsory, but it will demand a guaranteed pure water supply. It is the belief of the public health officials that this can be secured only by distilling the drinking supply. Filtration has not proven generally satisfactory, and the use of chemicals does not insure purity.

ATTACKS GERMANY'S TAXATION SYSTEM

Prussian Says Empire Is Invading Rights of States.

Berlin, Jan. 9.—A complex constitutional question concerning the right of the German empire to tap the sources of revenue of the individual federated states has been raised by Count Yorck von Wartenburg, on behalf of the conservatives in the Prussian house of lords, where it is to be debated tomorrow.

The interpellation to be brought forward demands that the Prussian government take steps "to check the undermining by the empire of Prussia's position through the shifting of the constitutional guarantees to the disadvantage of the individual states."

The arguments advanced by the conservatives are that the field of taxation of several of the states has been invaded by the provisions of some of the recent imperial armament and financial legislation and particularly that the rights of Prussia have been overridden by the imperial authorities.

FERRIS SAYS HE GOT WHAT HE SOUGHT IN THE COPPER COUNTRY

Governor Returns to His Home With Data on Conditions.

Outsiders Are to Blame for Trouble in That Region.

Moyer's Plans Uncertain—Austrian Finds Possible Peonage Cases.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Ferris wound up his personal work in the copper strike district today and left for his home in Big Rapids at noon.

"I got what I came for," he said, as he stepped aboard the train. "This strike cannot be settled in a week or a fortnight. I think that if it were left to the miners and employes themselves it would be settled very quickly. It is the advice of the outsider—and this is a somewhat venturesome thing to say—that is likely to do more than anything else to prolong this strike."

The governor said he thought the present an importune time for executive action, calling attention to the fact that the judicial machinery of the state is in full swing. He said he was unwilling as governor to do or say anything that might be construed by an interest as an attempt to influence the course of justice.

Saw All Comers.

Delegations of workmen representing union and non-union elements came to the Douglas house in a steady stream, but Governor Ferris saw them all and cleared up his own calendar of appointments as well.

Two additional eviction cases were related to the governor, and it became evident that this phase of the situation is likely to assume major

Caledonia, Minn., Jan. 9.—Worn out by her preparations and her eagerness for her 100th birthday celebration, which was to have been held within a few days, Mrs. Anna Bauman, oldest resident of this county, died here today. Mrs. Bauman would have been 100 years old on Feb. 2. All of her ten children died before reaching the age of 35.

DEFIED REVENUE MEN FOR TWENTY YEARS

Arkansan Found Asleep and 260 Gallons of Moonshine Seized.

Waldron, Ark., Jan. 9.—John Dale, who for twenty years has defied revenue officers in the western counties of Arkansas, was found asleep in the woods near here today and arrested by a United States marshal's posse, on charges of operating an illicit still. Dale lay asleep on his rifle at the foot of a tree. Awakened to find six guns pointed at him he showed fight, but was soon overpowered.

Dale's crude still and 260 gallons of liquor were confiscated and the operator put in jail. His whisky-making device was of the portable kind generally known as a "wild cat still." As early as 1894 attempts were made to corner Dale, and scores of government officers, after trailing him for months in isolated regions of Scott and Polk counties, had abandoned the chase.

Figures on Wisconsin's Compensation Law Are Announced.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 9.—In the two years since the workmen's compensation law went into effect, employers of the state have paid as indemnity to injured workmen and their dependents the sum of $396,354.73.

This announcement was made today by the state industrial commission, which has just completed the compilation of the statistics. The amount does not include the amount paid under the medical relief provision of the law, which it is estimated would equal 50 per cent of the amount paid as indemnity.

There have been settled up to Jan. 1, 1914, a total of 6,894 claims. The average amount paid as indemnity in each case is $67.72. Practically all of these claims have been settled directly between the employer and the claimant, without any intervention on the part of the industrial commission. There have been a total of 156 awards by the commission since the law went into effect. In a number of these cases the award was made up on facts stipulated, between the parties.

Under Old System.

"All of the investigations conducted by various committees into the subject of workmen's compensation showed that only about one man out of seven ever received any indemnity prior to the passage of compensation laws," said Charles H. Crownhart of Superior, chairman of the industrial commission, today. "In Wisconsin prior to the enactment of the law less than $200,000 was annually paid workmen through court decisions, at great expense to those injured and to the counties."

FOUR MEN HURT IN MINE EXPLOSION.

Moundsville, W. Va., Jan. 9.—An explosion occurred in the First street mine of the Mound Coal company here this morning. Four men, badly burned, were taken to the Glendale hospital, near by. An immense crowd at once surrounded the mouth of the mine, which is in the village.

A rescue party entered the shaft and discovered that the explosion had been caused when a naked light had come in contact with a pocket of gas in an entry where only a few men were employed. The remainder of the 100 miners at work were reported unhurt. Physicians said the four injured would recover.

During their stay at the hotel, the two were known as Mr. and Mrs. Foster and were entertained in society circles of this city.

Traveling Man Kicks on Paying 4¼ Cents Too Much.

Washington, Jan. 9.—The powers of the interstate commerce commission were invoked today by L. M. Ewing, a traveling salesman of Knoxville, Tenn., to put a stop to an alleged practice of railway agents which he charged wrongfully deprived him of 4¼ cents. In his complaint, filed with the commission, Ewing asserts that the excess due on his sample trunks from one point on the Louisville & Nashville railroad to another, was $1.50½, but that the baggage agent, following a regular custom of making 5 cents the collectable unit, knocked off the fraction and collected $1.55.

No agreement was reached as to the method of distribution, other than that the Canadian trustees should pass upon claims arising from deaths on Canadian vessels and that the American trustees should do the same in regard to the American claimants. The entire board of eight, however, will pass on the final awards.

It was stated that the money probably would be distributed about the middle of March.

ONLY REFUGE FOR WOMEN

Defense of Municipal Lodging House Is Contained in Report.

Mayor Threatened to Close It, Believing Expense Unwarranted.

That Duluth has no institution outside of the hotels at which women with small children can be accommodated, is the statement made in the annual report of the municipal lodging house for women, submitted to Mayor W. I. Prince this morning.

Several days ago Mayor Prince announced that he is seriously considering closing the lodging house which has been maintained by the city at Seventh avenue west and Second street, as his investigation had about convinced him that the benefits derived do not warrant the expenditure of approximately $2,200 a year. No specific reference to this statement is contained in the report but it seems apparent that part of it is intended as an argument for the continuance of the institution.

Stating that in its maintenance the city has discharged a great civic duty the report continues:

"It may be true that in some cases applicants for admission to the lodging house could be accommodated at other institutions in the city but the evident purpose of this establishment was to provide a house of shelter for women at all times in the day and night who become stranded or suddenly destitute. For instance, a woman is found by a policeman in one of the depots without friends or money, a stranger in a strange land. The lodging house is open as a house of refuge and the policeman can send her there. If a man is found under such conditions, it would be no shock to the moral sensibilities of the people to know that he has been locked up in the city jail, but to lock up a woman in the jail under such conditions and circumstances would be a severe shock to the high moral sensibilities of the people.

No Place But Hotels.

"Outside of the local hotels there is no place where women with small children can be accommodated, except at the municipal lodging house. The Y. W. C. A. does not take women with children and no other institution in the city does. One of the strongest argument in favor of the maintenance of the municipal lodging house is that frequently women with young children are found in destitute condition with no one to care for or look after them.

"Another feature of the municipal lodging house is that it is a clearing house for women, a shelter house where they can be taken care of temporarily until properly disposed of by being sent to other institutions or sent on their way to their destination. Whether the work accomplished by this lodging house could be done at less expense through a bureau of public welfare is a debatable question."

From Nov. 12, 1912, to Jan. 1, 1914, the lodging house has accommodated 345 persons, of whom 56 were children under 5 years of age. The number of meals given was 6,369 and the number of lodgings was 2265, according to the report of the matron, Mrs. Anna Cruikshank. The cases came from the Associated Charities, the Travelers' Aid, the police department, the Salvation Army, the Bethel home, the Deaconess' home, the Vigilant society, the Y. W. C. A., the immigration office, the Humane society, the juvenile court and the city welfare department, while some were voluntary.

It is estimated that the average cost of maintaining the institution is $190 per month, or $2,280 a year.

LYCEUM—"The Bird of Paradise."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—"Good Morning, Judge.'

"THE BIRD OF PARADISE."

Striking Production of Intensely Interesting Drama at the Lyceum.

"Or to bust all links of habit—there to wander far away,
"On from island until island at the gateways of the day.

"Larger constellations burning, mellow moons and happy skies,
"Breaths of tropic shade and palms in cluster, knots of Paradise.

"Droops the heavy blossomed bower, hangs the heavy fruited tree—
"Summer isles of Eden lying, in dark purple spheres of sea.

"There me things would be enjoyment, more than in this march of mind,
"In the steamship, in the railway, in the thoughts that shake mankind.

"I, to her with narrow foreheads, vacant of our glorious gains,
"Like a beast with lower pleasures, like a beast, with lower pains.

"Not in vain the distance beckons. Forward, forward let us range,
"Let the great world spin forever, down the ringing grooves of change.

"Thro' the shadow of the globe we sweep into the younger day;
"Better fifty years of Europe than a cycle of Cathay."

Richard Walton Tully and Oliver Morosco, that new comet that has flashed into the threatrical sky from the West, have provided a tremendously interesting drama in "The Bird of Paradise." It might almost be a dramatization of the above lines from Tennyson's "Locksley Hall!"

It was presented at the Lyceum last evening before a fair sized audience, but it is the kind of a production that creates discussion and comment, and it will undoubtedly be greeted by much better filled houses tonight and tomorrow.

You must score one for Mr. Tully for the setting he has chosen for his drama. Hawaii is a land that has been overlooked by the dramatist, but judging from "The Bird of Paradise," it must be a surprisingly fertile field, with its mingling of ancient superstitions and modern religions, its pleasure-loving, simple, sensuous people, its lotus-eaters and its sunshine.

You may score two for the theme of Mr. Tully's play. It is a big one—the conflict between intelligence, ambition and man's better self, and the mere satisfaction of the senses.

You may score three for Mr. Tully in the logical, interesting and gripping way in which he has worked out his theme, contrasting the rise of the one man from the humble beach-comber with the fall of the brilliant young physician fresh from the colleges of America.

Mr. Morosco is entitled to credit for the superb production he has given this absorbing story. It is faithful in detail, and yet not so elaborate that its realism detracts from the enjoyment of the play itself. The Hula dancers and the wonderful Hawaiian quintet with their haunting melodies, are but part of the background and do not obtrude. The final scene, showing the eruption of Mounte Pele, is a striking piece of stagecraft.

You may also score another mark for Mr. Morosco for the company he has provided—thoroughly adequate, well balanced and without a weak spot to mar the effect of the picture.

All in all it is a dramatic treat such as is witnessed but two or three times in a season.

Heading the company is Miss Lenore Ulrich, a young woman said to be not yet out of her 'teens. She is a comparative newcomer to the stage, having been discovered by Mr. Morosco in an Eastern stock company. Judging from her work in "The Bird of Paradise," she should be heard from. Without knowing Hawaii and its people, it is difficult to judge whether or not her accent is correct and her grasp of the Hawaiian character is true, but taking the word of travelers for the characteristics of the people of that land of sunshine, she has presented a most faithful picture of the superstitious, simple-minded, pleasure-loving native. Her Louana is a very vital and real creature, not a mere puppet on the stage.

William Desmond does a splendid piece of work in the thankless part of Paul Wilson, the young doctor who goes to Hawaii with such high ambitions and succumbs to the attractions of the land of tomorrow.

David Landan is equally effective in the role of "Ten-Thousand-Dollar" Dean, who tears himself loose from the siren land.

The company is too large to permit of individual mention of all the members, but among those who deserve more than passing notice are: Robert Morris, for an excellent portrayal of the American business man; J. W. McConnell and Miss Josephine Morse, as the two missionaries; Miss Isabel Randolph, for an intelligent presentation of the young college graduate, Diana Larned; Miss Sarah Howe, as the aged Hawaiian woman, and Robert Harrison, as the aged priest.

The production as a whole is interesting, gripping and spectacular. It will be repeated tonight and tomorrow afternoon and night.

Amusement Notes.

Duluth will have its first opportunity of hearing James Thornton, the monologist, next week.

'Jim" Thornton has been for years one of the "characters" of the vaudeville field, and has been looked upon as one of the four or five leading monologists. He has never been heard in Duluth, but he will be on next week's Orpheum bill. Thornton has always had a fondness for practical jokes and countless stories are related by other performers of his eccentric stunts.

The headline act next week will be a musical burlesque of a unique type. It is called "The Lawn Party" and is presented by William J. Dooley and a company of ten juveniles. The children appear as their favorite actors or actresses and their imitations of stage celebrities are said to be most entertaining and amusing.

The other acts on next week's bill will be as follows: The Langdons in a musical and dancing novelty; Gillette's Monkeys in "Fun in a Bowling Alley;" Carlysle and Romer in a musical act; Brown and Newman in singing, dancing and comedy, and O. W. Courney, a comedy juggler.

This week's bill has proven a popular comedy offering, the honors going to Mullen and Coogan, Miss Rosalind Coghlan and Pealson and Goldie with their parodies and whistling stunts. Three more performances will be given tonight and tomorrow afternoon and night.

The Empress offering for the last half of the week is "Good Morning Judge," a head farce with musical numbers freely interspersed between the situations. The story deals with a wealthy brewer who is elected mayor of his village and is compelled to serve as judge.

A hard-working chorus presents many popular musical numbers and the piece is full of broad, but clean comedy. The three audiences which witnessed the performances yesterday seemed to thoroughly enjoy the tabloid.

John V. Moore, as Adolph Snitzman, a rich brewer; Margie Smith as Millicent Waite, the rich widow, and Elaine Arndt as Myrtle Snitzman are the principal singers and some of the musical numbers which they sang with the chorus were exceptionally tuneful and catchy.

Four vaudeville acts will comprise the bill at the Empress for four days, starting with the matinee Sunday. The headline act will be the farce-comedy, "The Schoolmaster," by Hendrix and Belle Isle. H. T. MacConnell, "President of the Thirteen Club," with a new fund of jokes and sayings; Tom Sidello and company in a novelty black art act of many surprises, and Miss Nada Brchich, a girl with a pleasing voice, will complete the bill.

At Hamburg today a city policeman killed three daughters and then himself after a family quarrel.

CITY SIXTY YEARS OLD; STATUE OF DU LHUT IS SUGGESTED

T. W. Hugo Urges Public Affairs Committee to Back Plan to Honor Memory of Explorer.

Duluth will be sixty years old this year.

That was the announcement made at the reunion of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club last night by T. W. Hugo.

The treaty by which this land was acquired from the Indians was signed in 1854, and therefore Duluth will have a chance to celebrate its first decade on the second lap toward the century mark.

In speaking of it at the banquet last evening, Mr. Hugo said:

"I know of no better way that Duluth could celebrate its sixtieth year than by placing in front of the courthouse, in the square as the center of the civic group, a heroic statue of Daniel Greysolon Sieur Du Lhut who discovered this country and explored it and after whom this city is named.

"I hope one of these days to show that the historians are wrong in their stories of Du Lhut. I have documents and evidence to show that they are all wrong. Even Parkman is wrong. Instead of Du Lhut having died and been buried in the wilderness, I have it on good authority that he died in Montreal, and I have the number of the house, who was present and records to show that he was buried in Montreal.

"Du Lhut was not a lumberjack, as some would have us believe. He was a gentleman of elegant habits and good character, and he was, in many respects, far in advance of his time. Du Lhut really put this country on the map; and I consider that his memory should be honored equally with that of La Salle, Hennepin and the rest about whom so much is written.

"Duluth would be doing a fitting and proper thing to celebrate her sixtieth birthday by erecting such a statute as that of which I have spoken."

BAINBRIDGE COLBY IS CUMMINS' CRITIC.

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 9.—Making an attack on Senator A. B. Cummins, his associates and leaders of the Progressive Republican party, Bainbridge Colby of New York addressed the conference of Progressive leaders here yesterday. Mr. Colby spoke in the most caustic terms of the attitude of Senator Cummins, Senator Borah and Former Governor Hadley toward the Progressive party.

"Intellectually they see the vigor of the Progressive party principles," he said. "But as men inoculated with the virus of office holding and by ambitions that can be gratified only by election to office, the eventual triumph of a party is not enough. They want its immediate success, expressed in terms of their personal promotion."

The conference will frame a state platform and perfect a complete state organization.

WEATHER MAN TO THE RESCUE

With colder weather prevailing for today, and a promise of still colder weather for tonight, it would seem as though nature has come to the rescue of the sportsmen.

Tomorrow will take place a hockey game between Duluth and the famous Victorias, and hockey enthusiasts have been fearing that the ice-making weather would be too long delayed to make conditions proper for a fast game. And on Monday will begin the great bonspiel of the year. Curlers have been trembling in their shoes, or, rather rubbers, for fear that conditions would not be right. But now they breathe easier.

PUTTING "NEWS" INTO ADVERTISING

The newspaper gives a certain amount of "news" value to advertising whether the advertising has any news in it or not And this is one of the first essentials of an advertisement if it is to attract attention. If an advertisement is merely a space-filler no one is benefited but the publisher It is up to the advertiser to divert attention away from the other editorial and news matter in the newspaper. To do this calls for a rare combination of sales ability and literary talent.

Anyone can buy space in a newspaper if he has the money—but no live merchant or manufacturer will want to continue very long merely as a "space-buyer." The newspapers are filled with space-buyers — prosperous merchants and manufacturers whose margin of profit and volume of sales are large enough each year to permit of this expenditure which is added to the cost of doing business. The way to galvanize advertising into life is to put news into it—to invest it with human interest—to make a strong appeal to human needs and desires. The advertising must respond in some particular to the human hunger for news—and the word "news" is merely another word for information.

Now, as I have said before, even the dryest display advertisement will take on a certain amount of news value if it is run in a newspaper. It is in the atmosphere of news. It is on a live wire. It is carried along in a vehicle of commercial progress. Every community has a few commercial dead weights who are carried along on the crest of local enterprise. The city moves forward in spite of them—unconsciously they share in the general prosperity.

And so with the advertiser who is in the newspaper. The paper is filled with news—even though the merchant's advertisements are chopped out by the elevator boy with the hatchet, the newspaper by reason of its vital news interest will infuse some life into it. The one thing needed to put news interest and selling power into many a merchant's advertising is a man with the news instinct plus salesmanship. The merchant spends twenty-five thousand dollars a year in advertising. He had better spend five thousand of it on a man who knows how to get something for the twenty-five thousand dollars besides "space."

Now, if the newspaper will impart "news" value to a dead advertisement, what will it do to an advertisement that is already alive with news interest?

If you want to see what can be accomplished by an appeal to universal news instinct, suppose you pick out a "baby" from among your merchandise —something that ordinarily sells for $10—print a picture of this article in the center of a five hundred line space, group around it some short, snappy, newsy sentences which describe it which embody all the selling points behind it and offer it for $7.98 until fifty of them are sold.

This little experiment will wake up the deadest merchant to the news value of advertising. Long after the fiftieth article is sold hundreds of people will ask for it—thereby illustrating one of the fundamental weaknesses of human nature—the desire to possess something that has been sold to someone else. You can show him the way to put news into his advertising from day to day—how to vitalize it with human interest and information. This will build up a clientele that will look for his daily message with as much interest as the "old fan" looks for the score of the last game between the Giants and the Athletics.

MORE WORKERS JOIN HOSIERY MILL STRIKE

Philadelphia, Jan. 9.—A strike which started in the Taubel hosiery mill here several days ago today spread to several other concerns and about 1,200 workers, all women and girls, are now on strike, according to union leaders. Women and girls struck in the Taubel mill because their wages were reduced. All they ask, the union leaders said, is that the old rate of wages be restored.

Several hundred of the strikers today marched to other hosiery mills and succeeded in inducing about 500 women to quit in sympathy with the Taubel strikers. Men textile workers at a meeting pledged themselves to see that no women of their families return to work until the differences that caused the strike are adjusted.

TWO-YEAR-OLD FALLS INTO BOILING WATER

Dies Within Few Minutes of Accident—Family Sees Affair.

Tomah, Wis., Jan. 9.—William, 2-year-old son of John Traman, residing in the town of Clifton, near here, was killed today when he toddled against a pan of boiling water his mother had left on the floor and fell into it. He was rescued almost instantly, but lived only a few minutes. The accident occurred in the presence of the entire family.

TALKS FARMING, NOT POLITICS

P. H. McGarry in Duluth Wearing His Boosting Clothes.

P. H. McGarry of Walker, Minn., member of the state legislature, was in the city yesterday on business. He would not talk politics, would not even admit that he may be a candidate for state senator to succeed Dan M. Gunn of Grand Rapids, who, rumor has it, does not want to run again.

But Mr. McGarry would talk farms and Northern Minnesota. He is one of the most enthusiastic boosters of the north end of the state that has come to Duluth in many, many months. He sees the north end farmers making money so fast that they will be bothered about using it up in improvements. He declares that right now those who have farms up in the north country are making more money than ever before and that they are developing their farms, putting up better buildings and generally getting ready for a greater year during 1914 than they have ever had.

He believes in advertising liberally in Southern Minnesota so that farmers and investors down there will be led to investigate the good things that await them in the north.

BUFFALO MAY NOT BECOME EXTINCT.

New York, Jan. 9.—The buffalo in the United States are increasing in numbers, according to a report submitted at the seventh annual meeting of the American Bison society here. Prof. Franklin W. Hooper, president of the society, declared that with the continued activity of the organization and a renewed interest among the people of the United States and Canada in the buffalo, the animal's future is assured. Statistics presented showed that there were 3,453 buffalo in the United States in 1913, an increase of 19 per cent over 1912. There were 549 buffalo calves born last year.

STRIKE DISRUPTS TRAIN SERVICE.

Cape Town, Union of South Africa, Jan. 9.—Railroad service in the Transvaal and the Orange Free State provinces was badly disorganized today by the strike of railway employes. Traffic was suspended as far south as Klerksdorp, about 120 miles out of Johannesburg.

Police were on guard at all the stations, and detachments of troops have been ordered to the affected area as a precautionary measure. It is feared by the authorities that the men may be aroused to acts of violence by the revolutionary speeches of their leaders.

To Become National Bank.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Stockholders of the Hoople State bank will make application for a national bank charter, under the Federal reserve system. The bank owners declared themselves so well pleased with the new currency legislation as to make the step advisable.

TAXING OF TERMINALS

Duluth Assessor Would Follow the Example Set By Superior.

May Advocate Law Authorizing Tax on Railroad Dock Property.

Could Minnesota tax dock terminals or railroads it would add several millions to the assessed valuation of Duluth and bring a big increase in city revenues, according to City Assessor J. Allyn Scott.

The circuit court at Superior, corresponding to the Minnesota district court, yesterday handed down a decision upholding the constitutionality of the Wisconsin terminal tax law. The law was passed at the last session of the Wisconsin legislature and was brought into the courts through an action started by the Soo road to recover terminal taxes paid under that statute last year. The case will probably be appealed to the supreme court for a final decision.

City Assessor Scott states that Minnesota has no law authorizing the taxing of railroad dock terminals. In the past the holding has been that under the gross earnings tax law the railroads could not be taxed for such property, the theory being that it would be double taxation. The circuit court at Superior has acted on the theory that docks are not an integral part of a railroad and are more essential to marine than railroad operation. In other words the opinion is that for purpose of taxation the railroad ceases at the dock and that the dock property can be taxed.

Assessor Scott stated that he would take the question up with the city legal department at once, as the issue is of great financial importance to Duluth. He said that if it were probable that such a law would prove constitutional he would strongly favor the passage of a bill similar to that passed in Wisconsin, at the next session of the Minnesota legislature.

BODY WILL LIE IN STATE

Funeral of Murdered Patrolman Will Be Held in Canada.

At the request of the Moose lodge, of which he was a member, the body of Patrolman Neil J. Mooney, who died at the Graham hospital yesterday morning from a bullet wound inflicted at Gary Tuesday evening by Jovan Zorola, will lie in state all day tomorrow at the lodge rooms, 224 West First street.

A detail of police officers will be on guard all day, while a large squad of patrolmen and firemen will accompany the body to the Soo station at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, when it will be sent to Summerside, Prince Edward's Island, Can., where his parents now reside.

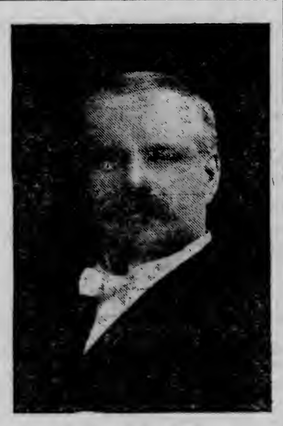

Arrangements for the sending of the body to Canada were made this morning by the dead policeman's sister, Mrs. Jane Hubbard, of Callahan, Minn., who arrived here yesterday afternoon in answer to a telegram sent by Chief Troyer, and Miss Blanche Mittlestadt, the young woman who was engaged to marry the patrolman next June. Details were completed by Capt. Fiskett shortly before noon.

The body, which is now at the Flitatraunt undertaking rooms, is being prepared for the funeral and is to be removed from there to the Moose lodge rooms tomorrow morning. Mrs. Hubbard will accompany the body to Summerside, where the funeral will be held next Tuesday or Wednesday.

ARREST AMATEUR SLEUTH.

"Badge" No Protection When He Impersonates an Officer.

When Frank La Mere asked for the arrest of a "criminal" whom he claimed to have "tracked" for some time, and instead of his request being granted, he was himself taken to the police station to answer to charges of impersonating an officer, his ambition to become a great sleuth slowly ebbed away. La Mere told Chief McKinnon that he had his badge and authority from a "detective agency" for a consideration of $3 and that he had been instructed to start the hunt for his "criminal" in Superior. La Mere promised to return to his home at Ontonagon at once if he were allowed to go.

Pogue Case Argued.

Remidji, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attorney Thayer C. Bailey, accompanied by former assistant attorney, A. L. Janes, were in Park Rapids this week where they made motions before Judge B. F. Wright in the Pogue damage suit against the Great Northern railway, in which Mr. Pogue was awarded damages, that the judgment be set aside, despite the verdict and if denied that a new trial be granted. Judge Wright took the motions under advisement.

ASK FOR NEW SCHEDULES

State Commission Hears Complaints of Residents of River Suburbs.

Want Night Train and Extra Conductor on Present Trains.

Arguments favoring a revision of train schedules over the Northern Pacific to accommodate New Duluth, Fond du Lac and the other river suburbs, were made by residents of those suburbs today before the Minnesota state railway and warehouse commission at the Spalding hotel.

Revision of the morning and evening train schedule was especially desired and an after-theater train was considered important but not so important as the changing of schedules for the former trains. Arguments by the railway company's representatives were made this afternoon.

About fifty of the most prominent residents of the western suburbs of the city were at the hearing, which was held in response to a petition. Ira B. Mills, chairman of the state commission, who presided at the hearing, gave the floor to all who wished to talk, and there was a steady flow of arguments during the entire morning session. Train schedules and service on the morning train came in for severe criticism. Particular emphasis was laid on the fact that the petitioners desired no changes of schedules that would be detrimental to workers at the steel plant.

Not Enough Conductors.

Practically all the speakers asked to have the schedules changed for the morning and evening trains. The morning train now is inefficiently equipped with conductors, it was asserted, so that the time taken up in collecting fares causes a delay of from a half hour to three-quarters of an hour. The train leaves Duluth at 6:20 and is scheduled to return at 8:30. Business men say 8:30 is too late an hour for beginning a day's work. The evening train, which formerly left Duluth for the suburbs at 5:20 was changed some time ago to leave at 5 p. m. This train, they say, is too early for the best accommodation of business men or other persons who may be in Duluth to attend the theater or shop. It is not proposed to change this train schedule, but to put on a new train to leave Duluth at 6 or 6:15 p. m.

At present there is no late train leaving Duluth so that those who miss the 5 o'clock train and those who wish to attend the theater in the evening must ride home in a taxi or automobile or stay in the city over night.

Mr. Mills questioned very closely as to the number of inhabitants and the amount of business done in the suburbs. The petitioners concluded that there were about 3,000 people who would be benefited by the proposed changes.

Among those who favored the revision of schedules were Judge Cant, Judge Cutting, M. E. Bocklinger, furniture manufacturer; Attorney John H. Brigham, George H. Lounsberry, contractor; S. George Stevens and many others.

PLAN WORK FOR UNEMPLOYED MEN

Charitable Workers Confer With Mayor and City Commissioner.

Edward Silberstein, president of the Associated Charities, and Miss Edna Meeker, superintendent of that society, conferred with Mayor W. I. Prince and Commissioner Murchison this morning, with a view to providing work for the city's unemployed.

Although the snowfall greatly relieved conditions and enabled hundreds of men to get jobs, the representatives of the Associated Charities stated that many idle men are still in the city. They asserted that the condition is more serious than is generally believed and declared that the city should take steps to assist the unfortunates.

Mayor Prince and Commissioner Murchison assured Mr. Silberstein and Miss Meeker that they will give the matter their immediate attention. They will investigate conditions through the city welfare department and if it is learned that the need exists, the rock crusher will be opened or the unemployed will be given city work, such as the widening of Jenswold street or the digging of trenches for sewer or water mains.

Flavor First

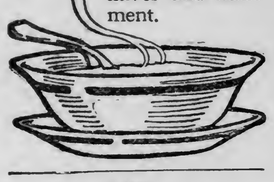

The right food that is "tasty" will digest easily and nourish quickly. Many people don't eat food that is good for them—because it lacks flavor.

The slogan of the H-O mills is "Flavor First." We realize the fact that flavor in food is a highly important factor—not only in its palatability, but, what is much more important, its digestibility.

It has been repeatedly demonstrated and it is well understood that palatability of a food is a great aid to its digestion.

The superiority in flavor of H-O over other oat products cannot be shown by chemical analysis—one must eat it.

"A MINING CAMP NEAR DULUTH"

That Is Way Superior Is Described in Los Angeles Paper.

The Herald is in receipt of a letter from Raymond Lowry of Santa Monica, Cal., in which the following clipping from the Los Angeles Tribune is enclosed:

"$100,000 Fire At Superior.

"Duluth, Minn., Jan. 3.—Eight buildings, including the town hall, were destroyed in a fire today at Superior, a mining camp near here. The fire started in a restaurant. The damage was $100,000."

Mr. Lowry desires to know if the article referred to "our old friend swamptown, across the bay." It might be stated for the benefit of those who might have been misled by the dispatch that a mistake has evidently been made. Superior was not burned off the map and her town hall is still intact.

No such dispatch was sent out by the Duluth Associated Press correspondents and where the Los Angeles paper got it is a mystery.

BOY STARTS FIRES FOR EXCITEMENT.

Philadelphia, Jan. 9.—Charged with attempting to set a large department store on fire "just for the excitement," James R. Weldon, a 14-year-old errand boy, was arrested here. Blazes were discovered in waste paper in the building Tuesday and Wednesday. The police say the boy confessed starting both fires.

BIG NIGHT IN ELKDOM

Annual Roundup of "133" Is Occasion for Much Hilarity.

Professional Entertainers and Banquet Are Features of Evening.

Last night was a night of nights in the history of Duluth Elkdom. 'Twas such a night as will long be remembered and long will it fondly linger in the memories of those who were present.

The occasion was the annual Elks' roundup and the place was the club home on West First street. Approximately 700 members of the antlered tribe gathered in the spacious rooms.

'Twas such a night as is possible only when genuine goodfellowship reigns supreme, and in the Elks' temple last night goodfellowship was everywhere.

Gray-haired, retired veterans, staid business men, dignified professional men and men from all walks of life forgot that there is such a thing as business and worries and cares and troubles and became boys once more. With magic touch the hand of the clock of years was turned back and youth sat on the throne.

Mirth and laughter and cheers and shouts and volleys of applause shook the building until the early morning hours as one hit followed another in quick succession. Every minute was a lively and entertaining minute, or a wonderfully impressive and inspiring minute, as some "stunt" tickled the fancy, or an eloquent address upon the broad and noble purposes of the order drew close attention.

Toast to Absent.

At the hour of 11, one of deep significance for all Elks, a solemn silence settled over the gathering. As the eleven strokes sounded through the darkened auditorium, Capt. W. H. Smallwood pronounced the toast to absent brothers. The moment was the most impressive and significant of the night, bringing home to every Elk the sacred duty he owes to his brotherhood and the brotherhood of man, coming as it did while the festivities were at their height.

The heavy part of the entertainment was borne by Benjamin Geroux's Hawaiian troupe from the "Bird of Paradise" company and Mullen and Coogan, who are appearing at the Orpheum this week. The former held the audience spellbound by the beauty of their singing and playing, while the latter convulsed the crowd with their comic songs and funny stories. The Hawaiians rendered several of their native songs and a repertoire of popular American airs. They seemed to be tireless and number followed number in response to the insistent and vociferous demands of their raptured listeners. The dusky-faced performers were imbued with the spirit of the night and won a warm place in the hearts of the members of 133. Mr. Geroux, manager of the "Bird of Paradise" company, through whose generosity the appearance of the singers was possible, is a brother Elk from the Chicago lodge. He is some entertainer himself and reeled off a string of stories and experiences which were a feature in themselves.

Following the big banquet which was served at 7:30 o'clock, a number of excellent addresses were given. John Dwan of Two Harbors spoke on "Elkdom as a Distinctly American Organization." J. T. Armstead's subject was "Brotherly Love." Other speakers were John E. Samuelson, John Norton and Martin Rosendahl. Among the visitors were large delegations from Two Harbors, Proctor, Cloquet and other neighboring towns.

The night's program was under the direction of Exalted Ruler E. J. Filiatrault, who was ably assisted by other officers of the lodge. The entertainment was given by the officers of the lodge for its members and visiting brothers.

FINAL ARGUMENTS IN CONTEMPT CASE.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Final arguments were made yesterday before the supreme court in the contempt cases against Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, labor leaders convicted in the district supreme court of having violated its boycott injunction in favor of the Bucks Stove & Range company.

Alton B. Parker, in the closing address for the defendants, urged the court to consider particularly the attitude of the district supreme court as indicated by its action in renewing the contempt proceedings the very day after the supreme court set aside the first sentences, and also the sworn statements of the accused that they meant to reflect in no way upon the dignity of the court.

Jackson Ralston also spoke for the defense, and J. J. Darlington and Daniel Davenport of the lower court's committee, asked that the sentences be upheld.

VIOLET GOOLD DEAD.

Woman in Famous Murder Case Dies in Prison.

Montpelier, France, Jan. 9.—Mrs. Violet Goold, who, with her husband, Vere St. Leger Goold, was serving a term of life imprisonment for the murder of Emma Levin in the summer of 1907, the crime being known as "the Monte Carlo trunk mystery," died in prison yesterday.

The trial of the Goolds in December, 1907, attracted great attention because of the enormity of the crime, the manner in which the murder was committed, and the dramatic arrest of the principals, who were taken by the police while seeking to escape with a trunk containing portions of the body of their victim. The murdered woman had been lured by the Goolds to their villa, and robbed. Her dismembered body was packed in a trunk, which was shipped to Marseilles. The trunk later was found among the baggage of the Goolds.

Mrs. Goold was originally sentenced to be guillotined and her husband to life imprisonment. The woman's sentence was commuted to penal servitude for life, owing to the outcry against an execution taking place in the principality of Monaco.

Duncan Succeeds Lynch.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 9.—James M. Lynch, state labor commissioner of New York, formally retired as president of the International Typographical union yesterday, and was succeeded by James M. Duncan of New York city, who has been first vice president. The transfer of the office was completed at union headquarters here. Mr. Lynch has been head of the Typographical union since 1900.

Cash for Princeton.

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 9.—Gifts in cash to Princeton university amounting to $81,016 were announced at the winter meeting of the board of trustees. The appointment of Jacob Gould Schurman, president of Cornell university, to the Stafford Little lectureship for 1914 was confirmed by the trustees.

TO PROTECT TRADEMARK

New York Firm Brings Suit Against Duluth Universal Company.

Claims Exclusive Rights to Patent Name and Seeks Damages.

Claiming that the Duluth-Superior Milling company of this city is wrongfully using its trademark and patent name, "Freeman's Superlative," Henry Koper & Co. of New York brought suit in equity before Federal Judge Page Morris yesterday. John M. Colt of Washington represented the plaintiff corporation.

Mr. Colt claimed that Henry Koper & Co., the property of which is owned principally by Peter F. Carroll and Edwin R. Freeman, purchased the A. A. Freeman Milling company of La Crosse, Wis., more than thirty years ago and that since then it has used the trademark, "Freeman's Superlative" on all the flour manufactured. This trademark is now well-known throughout the East, the plaintiffs declare, and the use of the name on other flour is greatly injuring the distribution of the flour by the New York company.

The complaint filed by Mr. Colt not only asks the court to enjoin the Duluth-Superior Milling company from using the trademark, but also asks damages to the extent of $3,000. It asks the court to make the local milling company defendant in a suit for damages, which the company claims it has lost since the trademark has been used by the Duluth-Superior Milling company.

Judge Morris has taken the case under advisement and will announce his decision within a few weeks.

SERMON THEMES FROM LITERATURE

Dr. William Forney Hovis will begin a course of special sermons, illustrated from the field of literature, at Endion Methodist Episcopal church, Nineteenth avenue east and First street, Sunday morning, Jan. 11, at 10:30 o'clock. The subjects announced are as follows:

Jan. 11—"The Influence of an Ideal," illustrated by Hawthorne's "The Great Stone Face."

Jan. 18—"A Double Life," illustrated by Robert Louis Stevenson's "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

Jan. 25—"The Redemption of a Soul," illustrated by Browning's "Saul."

Feb. 1—"The True Gentleman," illustrated by Robert Burns' "For a' That and a' That."

DR. WILLIAM FORNEY HOVIS.

The services each Sunday morning will open at 10:20 with a ten-minute organ recital by Miss Carlotta Simonds. The preaching service will begin promptly at 10:30.

TISCHER WILL SEEK RE-ELECTION

John Tischer, county commissioner from the Second district, yesterday announced his intention of being a candidate for re-election.

Commissioner Tischer has served four years on the board. When his brother, George Tischer, former county commissioner, died, he was appointed to fill his unexpired term. At the following election he was chosen to succeed himself and has served three years on his own term.

Mr. Tischer said in announcing his candidacy that he would stand on his record of road building in seeking re-election. While he has been a member of the board, new roads have been opened up in his district which have been responsible for doubling the amount of traffic in farm produce into the city.

The Second commissioner's district extends from Third avenue east in the city east to Knife river and north for forty miles. So far as is known now, Commissioner Tischer will have no opposition.

NEW GAG RULE FOR ARMY IS FRAMED.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Officers of the United States army in the future will not be permitted to discuss publicly "army matters of a debatable nature."

New regulations to cover this point are to follow an exchange of memoranda between Secretary Garrison and Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, chief of staff, in regard to a published article telling of "free press matter" furnished to newspapers by Arthur W. Dunn, a writer in the employ of the Infantry association. Some of the matter referred to is said to have dealt directly with the Mexican situation, though much of it was made up of interviews with officers on the movement for a larger army and certain reforms in organization—the objects of the Infantry association.

GIVES DINNER TO SEVENTEEN WIDOWS

Their Ages Reach Total of 1,033 Years—Annual Feast

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 9.—Without doubt the most remarkable dinner ever given in North Carolina was that at a little town of Andrews, high up in the North Carolina mountain region, between the Blue Ridge and the Great Smoky ranges. J. McWhitaker was the host, and his guests were seventeen widows, whose ages and a number of whose descendants tell two stories at once, one of the longevity of North Carolinans, the other of the fact that race suicide has no footing in this commonwealth.

The combined ages of the seventeen widows are 1,033 years, the average being 61. The number of children of these women is 152, grand-children 289, great-grandchildren 60, great-great-grandchildren 9. The average ages of the grandchildren is 17 years, and of the great-grandchildren, 9. The dinner was a bountiful one and the mountains lent it their best, including wild turkeys, pheasant, venison and the choicest products of the farm and the garden.

Mr. McWhitaker is wealthy and big-hearted, and so great was his pleasure at the result of his novel dinner that he is going to make it an annual feature.

There are big families in North Carolina, and one has 32 children, all living; three have 30, seven have 24, and a number of 20 is by no means uncommon. In one family there are three sets of triplets and four sets of twins. As Governor Craig put it, "North Carolina is at the head of the procession in this line."

ESTATE FOR CHILDREN.

Orphans of Sarah Brunner Will Get Property Worth $7,000.

Thomas, John and Margaret Brunner, ranging in age from 4 years to 8 days, were left orphans by the death of their mother, Sarah Brunner, on New Year's day last, following the birth of her youngest child. Their father died last September.

In probate court yesterday, Frances Watt, who has been appointed special guardian of the children, petitioned for letters of administration on the mother's estate, which will revert to the children. It consists of personal property valued at $6,000 and real property estimated to be worth $1,000.

EVERETT FOWLER INDICTED AGAIN.

New York, Jan. 9.—Everett P. Fowler of Kingston, N. Y., alluded to by John A. Hennessy, a state investigator during the Sulzer administration, as a Tammany "bag man," was made the defendant yesterday in a grand jury indictment. This supersedes the indictment filed against him last November, charging him with extorting a $250 Democratic campaign contribution from Seneca P. Hull, a Republican who has a state highway construction contract in Cortland county. Fowler was formerly a member of the state Democratic committee.

The original indictment was weak technically, it was said in explanation of District Attorney Charles S. Whitman's action in seeking the new bill against Fowler. The superseding indictment was based on testimony given before the jury by Hull, Roderick Foster of the Fourth National bank of New York and J. Waldo Smith, an engineer connected with the board of water supply.

ELEVEN CHRISTMAS TREES START FIRES.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 9.—Eleven fires in Illinois were caused by Christmas tree lights, nine of them in Chicago, according to the state fire marshal's report for December. Damage to buildings and contents from 229 fires in Chicago caused a loss of $121,755; damage to buildings and contents in 477 other fires caused a loss of $929,212. Ninety-five fires were caused by defective flues.

BIG FRAUDS ON MANUFACTURERS.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 9.—On a charge of having used the mails to defraud wholesale merchandise dealers and manufacturers out of many thousands of dollars, Charles L. Greenfield, Samuel Brown and Myer Rotman, residents of this city, were held in heavy bail for a further hearing, Jan. 19. James T. Cortelyou, chief postal inspector for the Philadelphia district, testified that many complaints had been received against the men.

According to the postal inspectors, the accused men established the Great Western Jobbing House in St. Louis, and also started a store in East St Louis, and then had goods to the value of many thousands of dollars shipped to them from wholesalers and manufacturers in different parts of the country. The goods were then secretly shipped away, according to the postal authorities, and the men failed to pay for the goods, with the result that they were forced into bankruptcy.

TELLS HOW UNCLE SAM WAS CHEATED

Witness in Fuel Company Case Gives Story of Frauds.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 9.—How the employes of the Western Fuel company are alleged to have conspired to cheat the government out of payment of customs duties on imported coal, and how the alleged system of short weighting steamers was practiced by the company's weighers, with and without the implied consent of employes of the steamship companies, was unfolded by David G. Powers, a former employe of the Western Fuel company. Powers is one of the government's chief witnesses, and by him the prosecution expects to trace the alleged conspiracy step by step.

Several weeks ago, at the beginning of the trial of the eight officers and employes of the Western Fuel company, Powers was arrested on a charge of seduction. The prosecution at that time contended that Powers' arrest was made for the purpose of embarrassing the government's case.

Boasted of Fraud.

Powers testified that E. H. Mayer, a weigher for the Western Fuel company and a defendant in the trial, had openly boasted to him of how he was cheating the British steamers by short weighting them in coal deliveries. Mayer's method, according to Powers' testimony, was to manipulate the scales. He kept his foot against the scale rod, said Powers.

Powers testified how steamers were short weighted in the discharge of coal from barges. He said the customs house weigher would take the weight of four or five buckets of coal each day. When the time came for weighing the buckets would be filled heaping full. After the weights were taken, buckets were about half filled.

In the redirect examination of W. H. Tidwell, special agent of the treasury department, it developed that the name of the commandant at Mare Island navy yard appeared as a beneficiary to the extent of $100 in the Western Fuel company's "donation" account. Counsel for the defense explained through letters and vouchers that the commandant, then Capt. Henry T. Mayo, now rear admiral, had been sent a check for $100 by the fuel company as payment on a contract with the government, which had to do with hauling coal to Mare Island.

It was explained that Tidwell found the item in the fuel company's books and believed it was a part of the "donation" accountt.

Indians Lose First Round.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Members of the Pottawattamie Indian tribe lost the first battle for the possession of Chicago's lake front when Judge Carpenter yesterday denied them an injunction sought to restrain the city from improving Grant park. The Indians have pending a suit for possession of the park.

LEA PREDICTS AN EARLY END OF WAR.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 9.—Senator Lea in an address at the Jackson day dinner of the Tennessee society last night predicted that this or the next generation would see international disputes settled by an international court of arbitration with power to enforce its decrees.

"Battleships will be built," he said, "and navies maintained, but they will be police to keep the peace between nations. Soldiers will be enlisted and armies mobilized, but they will be the marshals of the international court to enforce its orders."

WOULD RESTRAIN UNION PACIFIC.

New York, Jan. 9.—Action to restrain the directors of the Union Pacific Railroad company from distributing its holdings of Baltimore & Ohio stock, par value $82,000,000, to the road's common stockholders, was begun in the supreme court here by a group of preferred stockholders headed by James T. McCaddon. Summons and complaint in the case were served upon Otto H. Kohn of the Union Pacific's executive committee.

STATE SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

St. Louis County.

In reapplication of Independent School District of Virginia for the condemnation of lands of Independent School District of Virginia, respondent vs. State of Minnesota, appellant—

1. State lands are not subject to appropriation in condemnation proceedings except when the right to so acquire them is expressly or by necessary implication granted by the legislature.

2. Chapter 53, General Laws 1872, (section 2606 G. S. 1894), construed and held to grant, by necessary implication, the right so granted was carried forward in the statutory revision of 1905 and thereby in effect extended to all corporations entitled to exercise the right of eminent domain, including school districts.

3. Under chapter 258, Laws 1913, a duly organized school district of the state may thus acquire an interest in and to a tract of state school land for the educational purposes, namely, experimentation and instruction in agriculture, provided for by that statute.

4. Rights acquired in such condemnation proceedings are equivalent to and answer every purpose of a public sale, and the statutes, which by implication grant the right, are not in violation of article 8, section 2, of the Constitution.

Order affirmed. BROWN, C. J.

Ramsey County.

1. Chapter 156, Laws of 1911, establishing a department of weights and measures, does not violate the constitutional provision that, "No law shall embrace more than one subject, which shall be expressed in its title."

2. This statute is a police regulation and changes the prior law so that intent to defraud or commit wrong is not an element of the offense of selling or exposing for sale less than the quantity represented and the exclusion of evidence tending to show absence of such intent was not error.

Judgments affirmed. TAYLOR, C.

Cook County.

1. A general allegation of permanent injury resulting from the assault and battery alleged to have been committed upon plaintiff by defendant, held sufficient to admit evidence of the nature and character of the injury so claimed to be permanent.

2. The proper practice in such a case, where the general allegation is deemed insufficient is to move the court for more specific allegations.

3. The defense to the action was, both by the answer and the evidence on the trial, a denial of the allegations of the complaint and of the evidence of plaintiff; no justification was pleaded or attempted to be made on the trial. It is held, that the court did not err in refusing to instruct the jury upon the subject of justification as requested by defendants.

4. There was no abuse of discretion in denying a new trial on the ground of misconduct of the jury.

5. When and under what circumstances, if at all, the owner, using no more force than is necessary, may forcibly repossess himself of personal property which has been wrongfully and unlawfully taken from him by a thief or other wrongdoer, quaere? The question is not presented by the facts of this case.

Order affirmed. BROWN, C. J.

Carver County.

J. G. Cherry company, a corporation, appellant, vs. J. E. Larson, respondent—

Where a motion for a new trial is based upon several grounds, an assignment of error that the court erred in denying the motion, without specifying the ground upon which it is claimed the motion should have been granted, is insufficient.

In this action it did not conclusively appear from the evidence that defendant had lost his right to rescind a contract of purchase for breach of warranty.

Order affirmed. BUNN, J.

Hennepin County.

John A. Swadner, respondent vs. J. Francis Schefcik, appellant—

In this, an action for malpractice, it is held.

1. There was evidence sufficient to take the case to the jury, tending to show that certain operations performed by defendant ought not to have been performed at the time they were and under the conditions that then existed.

2. One who is not a medical expert may testify that he had a cold, and such testimony is a sufficient basis for expert opinion evidence as to the propriety of an operation under such conditions.

Order affirmed. DUNN, J.

Grant County.

T. Jones, et al, respondents, vs. Robert Burgess, et al, appellants—

In this action to recover damages for fraudulent representations claimed to have been made by defendants' agents in the sale of a stallion to plaintiffs, it is held:

1. The evidence sustains the verdict on the point that such fraudulent representations were made.

2. The evidence sustains the verdict on the point that defendants sold the stallion to plaintiffs and that the persons who made the fraudulent representations were defendants' agents in making the sale.

3. It was not error to permit one of said agents to testify that he was working for defendants, over the objection that the answer was a conclusion.

4. Plaintiffs were entitled to interest on the amount paid for the horse as an element of damages, or a legal incident to the demand of damages in the complaint. In such case interest may be awarded though not asked for in the complaint.

Affirmed. BUNN, J.

Traverse County.

Hoffman Motor Truck company, appellant, vs. John Erickson et al., respondents—

Plaintiff held entitled to such relief, legal or equitable, as the facts proved required, regardless of the fact that such might be broader than the prayer.

Corporation held to have right to test by action the validity of a certain stock issue.

Where defendants, the sole owners and officers of a newly formed corporation, issued part of its stock to themselves as fully paid, in exchange for property excessively valued, and thereafter like stock was sold by the corporation to other persons at par and for face value received, the corporation held, on the facts of the case, entitled to neither to recover damages from defendants nor to have their shares cancelled in excess of the value of the property given therefor.

Order affirmed. PHILIP E. BROWN, J.

Beltrami County.

Emma J. P. Campbell, appellant, vs. Martin Aarstad et al., respondents—

Where, in a civil action for assault and battery, no question arises as to which party was the aggressor and the issue is defense of self or property, plaintiff's reputation for turbulence or violence, uncommunicated to defendant, is inadmissible.

The trial court did not abuse its discretion in allowing plaintiff to be interrogated on cross-examination as to a prior independent assault committed by her upon a third person, such being within the permissible field of examination as to collateral matters to shake credibility; but it was improper to allow defendant subsequently to introduce testimony contradicting the answers so elicited.

Order reversed. PHILIP E. BROWN, J.

Chief Justice Brown took no part.

Marshall County.

Nicholas B. Ludowese, respondent, vs. L. H. Amidon, et al, appellants—

The books of a bank and statements of its condition made by or under the direction of its president and general manager are competent evidence tending to prove the value of the shares of stock, and furnish a basis for expert testimony in an action against the president for the rescission of an exchange of land for such stock procured by misrepresentations of the condition of the bank, and of the actual value and book value of its shares of stock.

An action to rescind will lie where defendant by misrepresentations of material facts relied on by plaintiff, accomplished the deal, without proof that plaintiff was damaged.

Representations that the bank was not indebted related to a material fact. And representations as to actual value of its shares of stock made by its president and general manager were not mere trade talk which an intended purchaser had no right to rely on, since he could not well acquire, even by an examination of the books, the same knowledge as the president possessed of such value.

Where a fact is proven by uncontroverted testimony the reception of some testimony in the nature of legal conclusions to prove the same fact is not reversible error.

Fraudulent misrepresentations being proven in an action to rescind, the defendant, who claims title from the one guilty of the fraud, has the burden of showing himself a bona fide purchaser without notice.

The court found, and the proof supported the finding, that plaintiff was in possession by tenant when the defendant, Rebecca, received the conveyance from the defendant guilty of the misrepresentations. She made no inquiries of the tenant or of plaintiff, the landlord, as to their rights. She was ignorant of the misrepresentations having been made. Under the evidence she was not entitled to a finding that she was a good faith purchaser without notice.

A tenant's possession is notice of his landlord's rights in the premises, and one who claims as a good faith purchaser under that situation must be charged with such information as an inquiry of the landlord would have elicited.

Order affirmed. HOLT, J.

Ramsay County.

Under Chapter 200, Laws 1905, a tax title based on taxes for 1906 to 1909, inclusive, is equal in right of priority with title based on a St. Paul city assessment lien accruing in 1906. The holders of such titles are tenants in common. Such tax title is superior to a separate city assessment lien according to different times during years from 1896 to 1901, and is inferior to its assessment liens accruing in 1912, following Gould vs. City of St. Paul, 120 Minn. 172, and in re Application of Midway Realty Co., filed herewith.

Judgment reversed. HALLAM, J.

Ramsay County.

In the matter of the application of The Midway Realty Co. to register the title to lots two (2) and three (3), block two (2) of Joseph R. Weide's Second addition to the City of St. Paul, applicant and respondent vs. City of St. Paul, et al, defendants, the City of St. Paul, appellant:

1. Applicant holds governor's deed, issued April 27, 1912, pursuant to a forfeited tax sale held Nov. 13, 1911, for general taxes for the years 1896 to 1910. The city of St. Paul holds certificates issued on sale for local improvement assessments, warrants for collection of which were issued in 1900, 1901, 1907 and 1908. The time for redemption from these sales has now expired.

Following Gould vs. City of St. Paul, 120 Minn., 172, it is held:

2. Under Chapter 200, Laws 1905, general tax liens and city assessment liens are of equal rank. The general rules as to tax liens of equal rank apply. Each lien is superior to all that precede it in time. A later tax or assessment lien will take priority over all earlier liens whether for taxes or assessments.

3. Priority as between such liens is determined as of the date of accrual of the original lien, not as of the date of sale.

4. All city assessments accruing any year are equal in right of priority with the lien of taxes for that year.

5. Where land is sold at a forfeited tax sale for taxes for a number of years for an entire amount, the lien of the holder of the certificate issued on such a sale is equal in right with an assessment lien accruing in any one of those years.

6. Where title is obtained under such liens equal in right of priority by sale and expiration of the period of redemption, the holders thereof become by operation of law tenants in common of the property.

7. A constitutional law passed by the legislature is not against public policy. It is public policy.

Judgment reversed. HALLAM, J.

Ramsey County.

Midway Realty company et al., respondents, vs. City of St. Paul, appellant—

A tax title based on a single forfeited sale for taxes for the years 1891, 1892 and 1902 to 1909 inclusive, is equal in right of priority with a lien based upon a St. Paul city assessment accruing in 1909, following Gould vs. City of St. Paul, 120 Minn., 172, and in re Application of Midway Realty company, filed herewith.

An owner of property cannot cut out a city assessment on his property by buying up a subsequent tax title. The evidence in this case is insufficient to sustain a finding that the intervening defendant holds an independent lien superior to the rights of the defendant city.

Judgment reversed. HALLAM, J.

Ramsey County.

Ben Schultz, appellant, vs. City of St. Paul, respondent—

1. In a personal injury suit it is held that the evidence made is a question for the jury whether the defendant city, which was engaged in raising a steel bridge by the use of hydraulic jacks, was negligent in furnishing such jacks for such use.

2. If the negligence of the defendant in furnishing the jacks combined with the negligence of a fellow-servant in adjusting them so as to make a case of concurring negligence causing the injury, the plaintiff could recover, notwithstanding the negligence of his fellow-servant.

3. The question of the assumption of the risk was not one of law.

4. Under R. L. 1905, section 768, and the charter of the city of St. Paul, section 690, prior to the enactment of laws 1913, chapter 391, general statutes 1913, sections 1786-1789, effective July 1, 1913, the limitation of one year after injury in which to bring suit did not apply when the claim was based upon a negligent failure of the city to observe a duty imposed upon it by law as an employer.

Order reversed. DIBELL, C.

Ramsey County.

Fayette Marsh, trustee, respondent, vs. Wilson Brothers, appellant—

1. A creditor by the garnishment of a debt gets nothing more than an inchoate lien; and this inchoate lien can be perfected only by proceeding to judgment against the garnishee in the manner provided by statute.

2. An inchoate lien by garnishment cannot be tacked to the lien of an execution on the judgment against the defendant and levied upon the indebtedness owing by the garnishee so as to make up the period of four months specified by Section 60a, b, and Section 67c, f, of the bankrupt act.

3. The defendant brought suit against one Grossman on April 27, 1912, and garnisheed one Galbraith. Nothing further was done with the garnishment. On June 15, 1912, it took judgment against Grossman and levied upon the debt due him by the garnishee. Grossman filed his petition in bankruptcy on Sept. 14, 1912. It is held that the four months specified by the bankrupt act commenced to run in June, not in April, and that the trustee in bankruptcy could recover as a preference the money collected by the defendant on its execution. Order affirmed. DIBELL C.

DULUTHIAN GOES TO ARGENTINA

Will Have Charge of Seventh Day Adventist Work There.

Rev. B. C. Haak, pastor of the Seventh Day Adventist church, Tenth avenue east and Sixth street, has been chosen president of the conference of the Argentine Republic and will leave Duluth with his family next week. Rev. Mr. Haak will spend a short time visiting friends in the Northwest and will then go to Buenos Ayres where his future headquarters are situated.

Mr. Haak came to Duluth last July and has been pastor of the Adventist church here since that time. The church is now making arrangements for a successor, but has not reached a conclusion so far.

"The Adventist church is making a world-wide missionary campaign," said Mr. Haak today. "Although the movement has been under way but fifty years great progress has been made in nearly all countries in the world.

"The denomination now has twenty-nine publishing houses producing $2,000,000 worth of literature annually in seventy-five languages. There are forty denominational sanitariums and twenty-nine private institutions. There are ninety schools, including colleges and academies and intermediates, with 8,200 students, and primaries containing 15,600 students.

"The denomination has 9,000 workers, preaching or teaching in ninety-one languages. One-twelfth of the members are workers. During the last year $25,718.56 was raised in tithes and offerings. There were 150 missionaries sent out during the year."

FRESH EGGS ARE CHEAPER

Duluth Dealers Offer Good Choice in Fruits and Vegetables

A further easing off in prices of fresh eggs to 32@33 cents a dozen was the feature of the produce market this week. As a result of the prevailing warm weather for the season, receipts of eggs from points in the district are now more than sufficient to take care of current consumption. This condition exists all through the country, bringing substantial price reductions in all the leading markets. The coming of a cold snap, which may be expected any day, would lead, dealers say, to a strengthening up in the market and higher prices all round. Supplies of eggs are reported to be light in New York state and liberal shipments from here down that way are reported by the Bridgeman-Russell company. Though still quoted today at 30@31 cents a dozen, stocks of June storage eggs are advised to be practically cleaned up.

Butter Market Easier.

Butter quotations are unchanged at 35@36 cents a pound for fresh; 29@30 cents for storage, and 24@25 cents for dairy. The market is firm in fresh, but weak on storage stock. That situation is explained in the fact, that according to the figures of the associated warehouses, there were 35,000,000 pounds of butter in store on Jan. 1, as compared with 25,000,000 pounds a year ago. With the current butter production gradually increasing, holders are now becoming anxious to market their warehouse supplies.

Poultry Prices Unchanged.

Poultry figures are practically unchanged today from a week ago. Receipts of live birds and fresh dressed poultry are light all through the list, and are insufficient to take care of the demand in hens and chickens, so that frozen stock is being drawn upon to a certain extent. The call for turkeys, geese and ducks is said to be small.

Sales of meats in Duluth and district are advised to have improved of late, owing to the better demand from the logging camps. The market is strong in beef, pork and veal, with the two latter quoted ½c pound higher. Lamb and mutton are just steady.

Oranges and Grapefruit Plenty.

Oranges, grapefruit and apples are the features in fruits. Florida oranges are now off the list, and with supplies now beginning to come from Southern California, quotations are stiffening up, attributable to the crop being lighter than had been estimated. Grapefruit is offering freely and in exceptionally good choice, with prices in it firm.

Western box apples are available in several varieties and quotations are gradually advancing. New York state barrel fruit is being rapidly cleaned up, and is not expected to last beyond a few weeks more. On account of the mild weather, apples are not showing the same keeping qualities as in other years, and they are consequently being pressed for sale by the trade.

A good call is being met with in cranberries and the market is slightly higher in them. Supplies at shipping points were light, and they have passed into jobbers' hands.

Higher Tendency in Potatoes.

Potatoes are now beginning to show a higher tendency consequent upon stocks in growers' hands, outside of pit supplies, having been marketed. Minnesota tubers are being quoted today at 77 cents per bushel for extra fancy or 72 cents for standard stock. Sharp weather would, it is thought, lead to a marked enhancement in quotations.

The market in cabbage is strong, being now up to $45 a ton of $3.25 in 150-pound case lots.

The choice in California and Florida vegetables is varied, with quotations on about the same basis as a week ago. Cuban tomatoes are now offering at $4.75 for a six-basket crate.

Woman's Realm

Eugene Brieux, the French dramatist, was discussed at the regular meeting of the Modern Drama class of the Twentieth Century club held this morning at the guild hall of Trinity pro-cathedral, the meetings being devoted to the study of French drama this month.

Mrs. C. E. Wallace read an interesting paper on Brieux, his life and the quality of his works and his play, "Damaged Goods," was read by members of the class following her talk.

"Brieux is a student of sociology first, last and always," said Mrs. Wallace. "He takes his material for his plays largely from what has been termed, 'slices of life.' He gives us a history and a criticism of contemporary morals in dialogue form. His plays might be called treatises on those problems of which we in our code of conventionality have hardly dared to speak. Brieux is dramatic not because he is impassioned with a vision of life; he is dramatic because he is consumed with the ardent desire to compel society to live in harmony with the discoveries of science and the teachings of philosophy. The stage for Brieux is a platform on which to discuss the solution of the problems which life today is continually setting us to solve.

"'Damaged Goods' has been called a 'Thesis Drama'. It is an argument, dogmatic, insistent, unescapable, culminative between science and common sense on the one hand and love on the other. Brieux is convinced that happiness will come to us if we live reasonably and guide our lives by the teachings of science. If our institutions were saner, if our laws were wiser, if our bodies were healthier, Brieux says in effect, our lives would be happier."

Mrs. Wallace sketched briefly a number of the other plays written by this playwright.

GROWTH OF MUSIC.

Mrs. E. L. Schmied Completes Interesting Lacture Course.

"We should steep ourselves in music, until we as a race are filled in every fiber with the appreciation of love of good music and then from such a ground the germ of genius can spring," said Mrs. E. L. Schmied this morning in the fifth and last lecture in a course on "The Growth of Music in America," given before an appreciative audience at her home, 2218 East First street.

Mrs. Schmied outlined the growth of music in America from the early Pilgrim and Puritan days with their two or three tunes used for hymns, through the development of the choir and the establishment of the organ in church music and through the nineteenth century up to the present time. She reviewed the works of American and other writers on the subject of American music, speaking of Bill Billings, the first American composer, the development of choral clubs and orchestras and the gradual growth in appreciation felt throughout the country.

"Some of our orchestra and choral clubs of the present day," she said, "will be firm substantial corner stones upon which the music of the future can be built and is being built today." Mrs. Schmied spoke of MacDowell as the greatest of the American composers up to this time, and in speaking of Americans as a whole, she said, "National music is not woven of the negro music or Indian tunes which have been successfully used by different writers of music. It is something broader and something which will have to stand the test of time before its worth can be accurately judged.

"Genius and true worth is a quiet irresistible tendency which forces its way through the weeds of commonplace things into the sunlight of appreciation and we should give every effort serious consideration and encouragement."

Miss Rosalie Thornton of Boston, who is Mrs. Schmied's house guest this week, played four piano solos with the artistic understanding which has given her work an appreciative acceptance on two former occasions in Duluth, and Mrs. Schmied was presented with a handsome marble bowl as an expression of appreciation from the members of the class who have heard her lectures.

HIGH COST OF LIVING HITS QUEEN'S POOR RELATIONS

PRINCESS ALEXANDER OF TECK.

Prince and Princess Alexander of Teck are the greatest burden on the pocketbook of Queen Mary of England of all her poor relations. She allows them $5,000 per annum but this does not enable them to meet their obligations and now the prince wants permission to act as agent for some of the firms which have offered him positions. Up to the present the queen has resolutely refused to allow him to do so and her majesty's word is law among her own family. Besides the allowance made by the queen the Tecks have private incomes amounting to about $3,000.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

There is Nothing Quite so Satisfying as Congenial Married Life.

After all has been said and done we have only to believe the evidence of our eyes and the words of those who have lived and learned to know that there is nothing in this world quite as satisfying as congenial married life—nothing that makes up for it in happiness.

A man died in California the other day leaving his grandniece a great fortune with the proviso that she should marry a desirable young man within a year. He wanted her to be happy, he said, and it is evident that he believed marriage with the right sort of a young man the surest way of attaining that end.

It turns out that he insisted upon marriage as the most likely road to happiness for his niece, in spite of the fact that his own matrimonial venture had been a disastrous one. Yet, at the end, when he was about to lay down his burdens, as he looked backward over the trail of the years, it appeared to him that marriage was a most desirable thing for men and women, and that, in spite of its hardships, differences and sacrifices, the greater measure of happiness is enjoyed by married folk.

Probably he was right in his surmise. Many people have voiced the same belief after living their lives through. It is too bad that most of them did not work harder at making happy marriage a reality and not a deathbed theory or admission.

The rich man's niece and the "desirable" young man may or may not find happiness in matrimony. It rests with them and there are no hard and fast rules which can be laid down to follow. However, qualities held "desirable" in husband, and wife, too, are safeguards to that end.

The point that is important in this case is not the happiness of these particular young people, though I wish it for them; but the final judgment of a man who has had an unhappy married experience, that married life offers the best chances for human well-being, is. It is a point worth dwelling upon, in these days when our ideals and ideas about marriage are changing and we are inclined to think that other things more than compensate for love and home and children.

If inclined to doubt the greater possibilities of happiness in marriage, ask the opinion of some one, married or single, who has lived his or her life, pretty close to the snuffing-out point. I think the consensus of opinion will be that marriage is the better way.

INITIAL BATH TOWELS.

Indianapolis News: Heavy bath towels are made quite attractive by the addition of an initial and a crocheted edging.

Embroider a 3¼-inch initial in the center of one end and then crochet the lace edging in this manner.

Use a medium-size crochet needle and, making the stitches close together, crochet a row of single stitches across the end. This acts as a foundation for the design which is to follow. Select a design somewhat similar to those used by our grandmothers to edge the pillow cases. Next, make an attractive cover for the hot-water bag from bath toweling. Crochet a simple shell scallop around the edge and sew snap fasteners to the top, where the bag is slipped into position. Embroider a three-inch initial in the center of the cover.

WATCH DULUTH!

The ten years of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club, the completion of which was observed last night, has been ten years of progress, of achievement, of turning possibilities into realities, of overcoming handicaps, of foundation-building.

Duluth entered the new year with the fruits of these labors ripe for plucking.

Duluth is a city with unrivalled natural advantages, with enormous possibilities of growth and development just being realized, with the largest and surest prospects of any city anywhere, and with the liveliest and most vigorous community spirit and the liveliest and most vigorous Commercial club in the country.

WATCH DULUTH!

German business men are cutting out the "dear sir," and "yours truly" from their correspondence. In the latter case it's easy to understand, seeing that the customary form is "Hochachtungsvoll." Still, leaving it out is better than boiling it down to "Ho-voll," to match the American "Yrs tly."

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS STARTS A LIBEL SUIT.

The Associated Press has begun a libel suit against two of the publishers of The Masses, a radical journal published in New York, which charged that organization with tainting the news at its source—a charge no less tremendous, and a crime no less heinous, than treason.

We are glad this charge has been thus made and thus met, because it offers those who made it a chance to justify it if they can, and the Associated Press a chance to settle it for all time to come by a fair and open trial.

Two charges are heard from time to time against the Associated Press—that it is a "trust," and that it colors the news in the interests of "Big Business."

If the Associated Press is a trust, then every co-operative organization in the world is a trust, whether it deals in seeds or hogs or grain or groceries; for the Associated Press is distinctly a co-operative organization for the gathering and distribution of the news of the world—precisely that and nothing more or less than that. If all co-operative enterprises are trusts, then, and only then, is the Associated Press a trust.

The charge of coloring the news, which is being squarely met in this libel suit, is one often heard. Those who make it have little knowledge of this institution, the most efficient of its kind in the world. It is owned by all the newspapers that compose its membership. There is no stock, no profits, no dividends. It is controlled by a board of directors elected by this membership. On this board are men representing large newspapers and small ones, newspapers published in big cities and newspapers published in small cities, conservative newspapers and progressive—even radical—newspapers, Democratic newspapers, Republican newspapers, Bull Moose newspapers.

A scheme to operate the Associated Press in the interests of the Republican party or the Democratic party would stand about as much chance as a scheme to operate it in the interests of the Socialist party.

A scheme to operate the Associated Press in the interest of any political or economic propaganda, whether animated by the doctrine of laissez faire or the principle of let-'er-go-Gallagher, whether its motto was "God bless the trusts" or "Down with everything," would last about a minute.

Whatever the proposal, if it involved any departure from pure, unadulterated fact or from the line of strict neutrality, there would be somebody on that board of directors or among its nine hundred newspaper members who would let a yowl out of him that could be heard from Aberdeen to Abyssinia.

The charge of coloring the news is amusing enough to those who can sit on a fence and interestedly watch heated partisans beating it around in furied circles.

Many and many's the time, in a hot campaign contest, when no sooner had the Republican heated partisans charged that the A. P. was giving the Democrats the best of it, than the Democratic heated partisans charged that the A. P. was giving the Republicans the best of it.

The trouble is, you see, that to the superheated partisan the cold, middle-of-the-road facts, unless twisted all out of shape to suit his side, are crushing evidences of a conspiracy to help the other side.

And that's what the A. P. deals in—cold, middle-of-the-road facts—in that and in nothing else.

It is not only a co-operative association in every sense of the word, but it is the greatest, the most efficient, and publicly the most valuable co-operative association in the world.

Official reports say there is no gold in the canal zone streams, which statement necessitates a revision of one theory of where France sunk all that money.

DELIVERIES AND THE H. C. OF L.

If you buy a coat or a suit at a local store and have it delivered, it costs the store from seven to ten cents to deliver it.

If you buy a spool of thread or a yeastcake and have it delivered, it costs exactly as much.

The substitution of the telephone for the market basket has had a big share in promoting the high cost of living—and it is a factor that no trust-busting or tariff-reduction will affect in the slightest degree.

A New York merchant, in an interview in a New York newspaper, suggests that complaints of the high cost of living may soon force retail dealers to charge a small fee for delivering purchases.

And this move, if it is made, will not be in the interests of the dealer solely. It will be as much in the interests of the buying public.

Whether the cost is seven cents a parcel or ten cents a parcel—in some New York stores it is said to be as high as twenty cents—the consumer pays it. He doesn't pay it all when he buys—or she buys—a spool of thread and has it delivered; but he pays some of it, even then. It is a charge on the cost of doing business, and like light and rent and taxes and wages and trading stamps, the consumer pays it.

And so universal is the demand for deliveries that even those who carry home their own parcels pay for their delivery just the same.

Why could not the plan suggested by the New York merchant be carried out to the profit of most consumers, as well as to the benefit of the merchants?

It could be done in either of two ways. A flat charge for delivery, say of ten cents, could be imposed; or a cash discount could be given to purchasers who take their goods home with them.

The latter, perhaps, would be more certainly profitable to consumers, though the former would be better if it was certain that consumers would get the benefit of the saving.

But when every store is compelled to maintain an expensive delivery system, and when half a dozen different delivery wagons may be delivering each its spool of thread or yeastcake in the same block at the same time, it is manifest that a heavy burden is needlessly added to the cost of living, most of which might easily be avoided.

The plan is the more attractive because it gives those too poor to pay delivery charges a chance to escape them—and they have no such chance now, because so many demand deliveries that everybody must stand his share of the cost of deliveries.

Then those who can afford to pay for deliveries would pay for them, and those who cannot afford it could get the benefit of a saving by carrying their purchases home with them.

There is something here for both merchants and buyers—especially merchants who sympathize with the victims of the high cost of living and buyers who are willing to profit by an abatement of the abuse of the delivery system—to think about.

'Long about this time o' year the humbler citizens can easily be converted to the single tax theory.

THE LESSON OF PATROLMAN MOONEY'S DEATH.

What business has anybody with a revolver?

This question, which has been asked before, thrusts itself in again upon the heels of the tragic death of a splendid and valued member of the police force at the hands of a pair of disturbers whom he had placed under arrest.

There is no business except that of murder which warrants the ownership of such a weapon. Even when burglars enter, the average household is better off without a revolver than with one, for besides the fact that the awkward amateurish display of a weapon is likely to tempt the marauder to shoot first, the bungler with a gun is more likely to shoot himself or a member of his household than he is to shoot a burglar.

The carrying of a gun should be presumptive evidence of an intent to commit murder with it. There is a law against carrying concealed weapons, and its utmost penalty should be imposed on anybody caught violating that law.

And, if need be, laws still more severe, even laws prohibiting the sale of revolvers except under rigid regulations, should be adopted.

Panama is being treated to an increase in movey theaters. No doubt much interest could be aroused by pictures showing the operation of the Duluth aerial bridge, just for an exchange.

NEGLECT OF THE PRIMARIES.

The primary election system has come to stay. The old boss-governed convention has gone for good.

But like the commission plan, the popular primary is no automatic panacea for political ailments. The virtue of both depends wholly on the use the people make of them.

And so important does the primary election become in the new order of things political, that he who neglects his duty of citizenship at the primary is as poor a citizen as he who fails to vote at the election.

Talking to the Lotos club of New York recently Howard Elliott, chief executive of the New Haven and former president of the Northern Pacific, told of a discussion of this important subject in which he had participated, and in which a lawyer declared that the only remedy was the adoption of an amendment to the Federal Constitution limiting the right to vote at general elections to those who participate in the primaries.

Whether this would solve the problem is a question, but at any rate it is worth discussing. Certainly the good citizen, who values the privilege of the ballot enough to use it, will vote as surely in the primaries as he does at the general election. And the citizen so indifferent to his public duty as to neglect the primary can have little sympathy if his neglect forfeits his right to vote at the general election.

But the trouble may be that the citizen who is so indifferent might not care very much if he loses his vote, and would simply acquiesce in the law and cease voting altogether.

Something ought to be done to make voters participate in the primaries. Maybe this plan is the solution; maybe not. Other plans are talked of, including more direct penalties for failure to vote, such as a fine; or a sort of a bribe, in the shape of exemption from a poll tax.

Somehow, however, we find ourselves lacking faith in the ballot of a man who is forced or bribed to vote.

Neglect in voting, carelessness in voting, underestimating the importance of the primaries—all these are real and grave dangers, and well worth discussing by Mr. Elliott and every other public-spirited man—or woman.

Another winter pastime for the boat-rocker is that of using kerosene to start the kitchen fire.

SETTLING DOWN AND SAVING MONEY.

The advertisement of a local bank contains these words:

> Are you one of the many who intend to settle down in a year or so and save money? Consider how much you will be ahead in a year if you begin now to make pay-day savings deposits.

About those folks who "intend to settle down in a year or so and save money"—they never do, mostly.

That time when they are going to get squared around and lay aside a bit for a rainy day and get a bank deposit is like tomorrow—IT NEVER COMES.

The time to begin saving is NOW. The present moment is the only moment in all time and eternity over which you are master. The past is gone, never to return. The future is on the knees of the gods. But the present is yours, and NOW is always the time for action.

The action that you are going to take "some time"—tomorrow or next day, next year or year after—that's dream stuff, and not worth much. A billion cubic miles of it isn't worth as much as a tiny pinch of action RIGHT NOW.

Saving is a hard job, you think. It IS a hard job—but the hardest part of it is beginning it.

And that, if you can change your sphere of action from that vague and misty "some time" where you have been doing all your saving to the actual, tangible, visible, graspable NOW, is easy enough.

You can open a bank account at any savings bank with a dollar.

Then you have started—and that's the main thing.

If your saving time remains where it is now—"in a year or two"—you never will save, never will have a bank account.

When Opportunity lays its golden offering at your feet, you will not be able to take it up, for it requires money, and you have no money laid by.

When Fate strikes its blow of accident or sickness or non-employment—when the "rainy day" sets in—you will have no financial umbrella to protect you.

When old age brings its winters and its snows, when the blood grows chill and the step feeble, what then, with no savings out of your productive years to help you down the slope into the Valley of the Shadow?

If you needed a dollar for pleasure or amusement, you'd find it.

Find it now, take it to a savings bank, open an account, and then fine yourself so much every pay day and add it to your balance.

Whn you walk instead of taking a street car, put that nickel in the bank.

A nickel isn't much, you say; and it isn't. But the street railway company has built up a property worth millions just with nickels—and a nickel at a time.

When you forego an expense that you had intended to incur—and could incur—count it a saving and add that, too, to your balance.

You who are going to "settle down in a year or two and save money," settle down NOW, and save money NOW, or you never will.

Get a start—that's the hardest part but easy if you will—and then watch it grow. AND DO IT NOW.

A Fond du Lac, Wisconsin, volley ball expert has been granted a marriage license under the new eugenic law. Now, who will dare to belittle the game?

Putting Her Together.

Kansas City Journal: "John, where is my coronet braid?"

"I'll get it."

"My switch?"

"Here it is."

"Now my puffs."

"Right here. Really, my dear, you are more exciting than a picture puzzle."

I'm going all along.

Each in His Own Tongue

A fire mist and a planet,
A crystal and a cell,
A jellyfish and a saurian,
And a cave where the cavemen dwell;
Then a sense of law and beauty,
A face turned from the clod—
Some call it Evolution
And others call it God.

A haze in the far horizon,
The infinite, tender sky,
The ripe, rich tint of the cornfields,
And the wild geese sailing high—
And all over upland and lowland
The sign of the goldenrod—
Some of us call it Autumn
And others call it God.

Like tides on a crescent sea beach
When the moon is new and thin,
Into our hearts high yearnings
Come welling and singing in—
Come from the mystic ocean,
Whose rim no foot had trod—
Some of us call it Longing
And others call it God.

A picket frozen on duty,
A mother starved for her brood,
Socrates drinking the hemlock,
And Jesus on the rood;
And millions who, humble and nameless,
The straight hard pathway trod—
Some call it Consecration
And others call it God.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is doubtful if any member of congress except Representative Samuel E. Winslow of Worcester, Mass., started out in life as a small boy with the definite ambition of becoming a bartender.

He would have made a delightful bartender, sober, industrious, courteous and attractive, and with a genial personality that would have drawn trade right from the start. But before he had time to look into the thing seriously and equip himself for tending bar as a lifework, Winslow's ambitions shifted and he was inclined to be a hackdriver when he grew up. The bartender's job had appealed to him as a mere youngster because of the neatness of apparel that the position carried with it. Winslow didn't know what a drink salesman's duties were, but he thought it would be a great life to wear such spotless white coats as he saw on the men, who, with bright, happy faces stood on the sidewalk in front of saloons. As he grew older, however, he began to realize that in choosing one's permanent calling, mere dress is not the only thing to be considered. So he turned to hackdriving as a work that would put him more on his mettle.

Years afterward when Winslow came home from Harvard on a vacation and told his father he desired to be a lawyer, his father said:

"I can remember when you wanted to be a bartender, and then a hackdriver. Now you would be a lawyer. It seems to me you keep losing ground all the time."

It was his father's ambition that Winslow should succeed him in the manufacturing business. And he did. Everybody has seen the name Winslow in advertisements for skates. This man that we've just been talking about, who was going to be a bartender, is the Winslow. Hence, anyone may understand what a temptation it is here to remark merrily that Winslow realized his ambition to dispense skates, after all.

Although he had been a bit of a college hero, with a place on the football team, the baseball nine, and what not, Winslow quickly laid aside his rah rah jewelry and started in to learn his father's business. He would still have preferred to be a lawyer and do spellbinding for a living, but consented to be a captain of industry just for the sake of being agreeable. He started in at the bottom and devoted several weeks to mastering the operation of a wheelbarrow loaded with slag.

In politics, too, Winslow started in right at the bottom. His first political task was driving an old sorrel horse and surrey when he was 10 years old, to convey able-bodied voters to the polls. When he grew up he was rewarded for this devotion to his party's cause by being made tally clerk in the voting booth in his precinct. Since then he has held various other positions of honor and trust within the Republican party, but until his election to congress he never had a public job that carried a salary with it.

No matter what honors may come to Winslow, however, he is destined to go through life with one great ambition ungratified. And that is because he has never been able to learn to milk a cow. For some years he has toyed with gentleman farming on the side, and, following his usual custom when taking up any given line of endeavor, he began with rudimentary or basic processes of farming. He learned to throw hay down from the mow, to plow, to keep his hands out of the corn shredder, and even to carry husks to the high-born swine. Then he undertook to milk cows, but it was no go. Winslow has cute little chubby hands, and they are not properly designed for milking. Every cow he tries to learn on gets all out of patience with him and goes dry. And so Winslow is not happy. His one great unfilled ambition preys on his mind, he says. He would sooner be a great milker, as he looks at it now, than a great statesman.

Besides various other qualifications for a place as an all-around feller, in the hearts of his countrymen, Winslow has a sense of humor and a predisposition toward philanthropy. He is a large person, weighing around 275 pounds, with a prosperous-looking girth, and a ruddy countenance adorned by short whiskers, that have little horns at each corner and give his face a jovial, chef-like appearance. Taking Samuel E. Winslow on the whole, we should say that, although he is a product of Harvard, he comes about as close to being a person of parts as any new member that has entered the congressional latitude in this long time. He acts like a full-fledged human being and seems to speak the human being language, besides having all the passwords and tepee signs.

Winslow, by the way, has the distinction of being the man who gave William R. Hearst his first newspaper job. In his college days he was business manager of one of the Harvard publications, and he appointed Hearst to be assistant business manager. Hearst's job was to go out after advertisements, and he got more contracts than the magazine had ever had before. Afterward it was discovered that he obtained many of these by agreeing to take them out in trade. He turned in cash for the ads to the magazine and traded them out on his own account, thereby making his job as advertising solicitor an expensive honor.

But Winslow was proud of him. Years afterward when Hearst had established his string of big newspapers, Winslow met him and said:

Didn't I tell you you had the stuff in you? Just keep right on getting the advertisements and you'll have a roll-top desk of your own some day."

Things Worth While.

These are the things worth while;
The rainbow after rain;
The peace that follows pain;
The dew-tipped garden rose;
The flower that by the wayside grows
To claim an urchin's smile.

The little sacrifices made
By patient mother-love;
The touch of little children's hands;
And sweet affection's subtle bands.

The bright sunshine above;
The song the robin sings;
The chord of music that awakes,
Yearning for nobler things.
These, and a trusting woman's love,—
In life are most worth while.

—Verne Dewitt Rowell in Nautilus.

This Has Rounded the Cape.

Cape Argus: "Do you play golf?" he asked the little lady, as they started off on their Muizenberg run for a gambol with the merry surf boards.

"I could try, of course," she replied, "but I haven't had much experience. I don't think I should even know how to hold my caddy."

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

A Very Useful Present.

Browns Valley Tribune: Governor Eberhart was presented with a traveling bag for a Christmas present. Nothing sarcastic about that, oh no!

"Present Incumbrance" Isn't So Bad!

Holt Northern Light: William E. Lee, the Long Prairie statesman, threatens to file as a candidate for governor within a short time. Why not round up the entire bunch who ran last time, and so make a sure thing for the present incumbrance?

Well, What Did You Expect?

Mapleton Enterprise: What was denied to the people of Minnesota by Governor Eberhart, is not only to be given to the people of this state, but to the nation, through the efforts of President Wilson and Attorney General McReynolds. We refer to the great anti-trust battle, fought and won by the administration at Washington against the telephone trust. It is a victory worth mentioning and one that means a great deal to the people throughout the nation. The American Telegraph & Telephone company rather than face government ownership have voluntarily agreed not to extend their monopoly but have made the further concession that it will extend the use of its toll lines to all local companies. This is the concession asked for by the people at the last session of the legislature and was denied to them through the veto power of Governor Eberhart. Although a Republican, we take off our hat to President Wilson. He is doing something for the people.

Truly, the Only One.

Luverne Journal: There is just one reason—and only one—why Adolph O. Eberhart has any call on the governorship; that is that it is the right of every American citizen to hold office. There are at least a thousand and one reasons why she should not be elected to the office.

Wilson Holds Their Faith.

Perham Enterprise: The Wilson administration is entering upon some constructive work in connection with the trust busting program, as it has come to be known. Big business interests have come to sense the desire of the president to be real help to them in obeying, not dodging the law. It had been nearly a year now since the president has assumed office and he has gone far in that time. Without noise or bluster or bulloing he has held his friends in line and his foes at bay; he has won confidence of business men as well as reformers and he promises to go down in history as the biggest man who has occupied the chair since Abraham Lincoln. Men may not love him as they did the gentle McKinley, the sturdy Cleveland, the dashing and impetuous Roosevelt but they are coming to have an unbounded faith in the soundness of his mind, the clarity of his vision and the probity of intellect. Mistakes he has and must make but they have not been vital, and let him who does not make mistakes in the small affairs of his own life be first to raise his voice in criticism of this man, who is doing his work in the maelstrom of conflicting human passions, ambitions and greed that constitute the capital city.

Question! Question!

Fairmont Sentinel: Henry Rines has the field for state auditor all to himself. The Fairmont Daily Sentinel moves to make the election of Mr. Rines unanimous. The Princeton Union seconds the motion. Are you ready for the question?

A Gigantic Job.

St. Cloud Times: Commissioner of Indian Affairs Sells declares that in bringing about reforms for the protection of the Indians from swindlers it is his intention to send some of the conspicuous violators of the law to the penitentiary. This is devoutly to be wished. One of the blackest, most damnable spots in the nation's history is the record of its treatment of the Indians. If the president can change all this and inaugurate the needed reforms it will be another great accomplishment, marking his administration as one of the greatest in our history.

The Well Kept Body for the Fair Field

Kansas City Star: There is no better theory against intemperance these days than there used to be. There is no one advising against the immoralities of drink today better than John B. Gough of two generations ago advised.

Yet vastly more young fellows are letting whisky alone than used to let it alone.

Because the young men of this day have learned that sobriety is the best policy.

And that cutting out of whisky and beer is only an example. The young men realize that the race is to the swift and the battle is to the strong.

These practical young men are your true reformers.

The athlete cannot win a race or a fight, or break a record, unless his body is in prime condition.

The business man cannot be alert and forceful, as he must be alert and forceful, if he neglects his body.

The artisan cannot make his job worth while and be sure of his job unless he, too, keeps the machine of his body in good repair.

The activities of this time are such that the young chap must be at his best. He must be on tiptoes—energetic, eager for the fight or the frolic.

The well kept body means the clear brain, the good understanding, the moral courage to face facts and to depend only on one's own powers without special favors in a fair field of endeavor.

The day of the fair field (of equal opportunity) is here or coming fast. Practical necessity, along with the older moralities, is preparing the young men to enter it.

Mr. Wilson as a Stylist.

Life: President Wilson must write his messages with a pen and ink. Such expressions as "by a little every day his power and prestige are crumbling," do not ordinarily find their way into printed discourse by the route of the stenographer and typewriter.

He was never a space-filler on a newspaper. Perhaps it is partly to that that he owes his escape from the habit of using worn-out phrases. He puts his words together as though it was the first time they had been combined. That makes his messages a treat to read.

Fools.

The world of fools has just a store
That he who does not wish to see an ass
Must bide at home and bolt his door
And break his looking-glass.

The Next Step or Two

Life: Now that we have taken two important steps, the income tax and tariff revision, pertaining to the raising of taxes, perhaps the next step is to fix up the currency so as to provide a convenient medium with which to pay the said and other taxes. But after that, the next step might well be to look a little into what we are to do with these taxes after they are collected. Indeed there is no absolutely convincing proof that we haven't already put the cart before the horse.

One of the parting remarks of Senator Aldrich was that he could save $300,000,000 a year in running our government. Let us not upbraid him for not doing it while he had control. Let us rather wheedle him into specifying, for surely those now in control at Washington seem ready to listen. A million a day (exclusive of Sundays, for no one wants to save anything on Sundays) is not to be sneezed at even by a nation as opulent as ours. Maybe we can find a way to get rid altogether of some of our tax-gatherers. The mere fact that somebody has compared the inevitability of taxes with that of death is no reason why we shouldn't at least look into the matter.

At Daybreak.

In the blue sky one little star
And in my soul a hope so young,
And white and starlike trembling still,
By God upon my life-string hung.

In the high tree a cheerful bird,
And in mine ear a burst of song,
To bring me joy and soft-eyed peace,
And make my pulse beat more strong.

On the far hills a crimson shines,
And in my heart a dawn of light—
Today Love's roses will be red,
Today my hours will be bright.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

A WORTHY CAUSE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I would like to call the attention of your readers to the splendid work that is being done by the Duluth Gospel mission, 102 Lake avenue south. This article is being written without the knowledge or consent of Rev. Mr. Plumb, who has charge of the mission, but the work he is doing is entitled to more support from the public and I believe they would help him if they understood more about it. For about one and a half months he has been feeding every day, free of charge, from 40 to 125 men, who are out of employment and without funds, and anyone can go there at 11 a. m. any day and see for themselves. He needs right now about $200 to pay up his indebtedness, they need lump soft coal for their stoves, and anyone with old clothes to give away please drop them a card or 'phone Rev. Mr. Plumb. He will be glad to send for them.

The commission firms on Michigan street, the brokers and packing houses and milk depot have been very kind in donating vegetables and foodstuffs, and others have given money. I ask the support of more of our good people for this splendid work. Please respond at once, as they need the help. Yours sincerely,

A CITIZEN.

SHOWED UP GROCERS IN VERY GOOD LIGHT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have no desire to take a rap at the Housewives' league. I think the league is doing good work. At least it is founded on a good idea, but I do feel that our local merchants came out of last week's sale of eggs with rather flying colors. I do not know exactly how much a dozen the league saved consumers on eggs, but it varied between 5 and 12 cents. When you consider the fact that the league did business with no expenses, having rent free, clerk hire free, and delivery free with no overhead expenses whatever, I think it showed up our retail grocers in a rather good light. That is not a big margin to cover all overhead expenses and profit. If the grocers are not averaging better profits than that on all goods handled, consumers have no cause for complaint against them. The sale was a good thing, even if it only showed us these facts, and the league is a splendid thing to have handy for use in cases of emergency, when there is a corner in some product and prices soar beyond reason, but as long as my grocer serves me as he does, and receives only a fair profit on goods handled, I feel he is entitled to my business, and he will have it.

MINNESOTA'S WORK LAUDED

School Health Is Discussed at Race Betterment Meeting.

Booker Washington and Sir Horace Plunkett on Program.

Battle Creek, Mich., Jan. 9.—The mental, physical and moral advancement of mankind was discussed from almost every angle by men and women famed in their respective fields of endeavor at today's session of the National Race Betterment conference.

On the program for the forenoon session were Booker T. Washington, who discussed "The Negro Race;" Dr. J. N. Hurty of the Indiana state board of health, who spoke on "The Cost of Living as a Factor in Race Degeneracy;" Dr. Carolyn Geisel of Shorter college, whose subject was "Race Betterment in Women's Colleges," and Dr. H. W. Austin of the United States public health service, who told "What the United States public health service is doing for race betterment."

Sir Horace Plunkett's paper on "Function of Individual, City, State and Nation in Bringing About Race Betterment," and one prepared by Dr. Ernest Hoag of Leland Stanford university on "School Hygiene," were the other features of the day's first session.

Child Hygienist.

"The child hygienist occupies a new field and his work makes necessary the recognition of a new profession," said Dr. Hoag's paper. "The division of school hygiene should include in its functions not only the health supervision of school children and maintenance of healthful school environment, but also supervision of the teaching of hygiene, of the health of teachers, of physical education and of a public lecture department for parents, where topics on the home and school hygiene of the child may be presented. It also should include the maintenance of a central laboratory for the study of exceptional children, especially those who are retarded and mentally subnormal."

Perhaps the most important development in school hygiene, said Dr. Hoag's paper, is that which relates to the "exceptional child."

"The proper study of such children requires some special training in psychological procedures," according to the paper, "which cannot at present be required of every school official. Every large, well-organized school health department, however, will include this division and provide a well-trained person to carry on the work, as now is done in Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Grand Rapids and a few other cities.

Children Below Normal.

"Not less than 1 per cent, and probably nearly 3 per cent, of the children in the average school are below normal in intelligence to a degree which unfits them to profit by ordinary school methods. It is of the greatest importance clearly to distinguish between the merely dull and the defective child; between the morally delinquent and the mentally defective; between the misfit, or specialized defective and the intellectually subnormal; yet this is rarely done in our schools today.

"The new conception of child hygiene involves the adaptation of the school to the child instead of vain attempts to force the child to fit the school."

Standards of school health should be furnished by the state, Dr. Hoag declared. Minnesota, and to a smaller extent, Virginia, he said, are the only states now attempting to furnish such standards, though Michigan has undertaken a limited amount of work along similar lines.

WEALTHY POULTRY FARMER ARRESTED

of the largest poultry farms in the world, located at Brown's Mills, N. J. On Dec. 15 he disappeared from his home, and at the same time his stenographer, who was arrested in Mobile with Foster, also disappeared.

The girl, Delilah F. Bradley, 17 years old, is a daughter of Henry C. Bradley, a railroad baggageman. She was only a year out of school, was an active member of the Pemberton Methodist church and a teacher in its Sunday school.

Foster, who is 40, is the son of T. J. Foster, head of a correspondence school at Scranton, Pa. The deserted wife and 16-year-old daughter of Foster are now at the home of the latter's father in Scranton.

The father of Miss Bradley is heartbroken over his daughter's escapade, but says he will receive her with open arms if she returns home. He has not brought proceedings against Foster, but this was explained by the statement that the Federal authorities have preferred to handle the case under the "white slave" act.

Mother "Will Forget."

The mother of the Bradley girl said today that her daughter could come home and live as she did before she went away.

"We will forget her absence and help her to forget it," the mother said. "She is an innocent, trusting little girl. Her life has been spent among persons upon whom she relied for protection."

recently serve to show the need of a radical change in the drinking supply of ships on the Great Lakes," said Dr. DeLavin. "Three hundred Rhode Island people who traveled from Buffalo to Put-in-Bay, aboard the steamer Rochester, suffered disastrous results. More than 75 per cent of the party became ill and there were forty cases of typhoid fever. We proved beyond doubt that the trouble was due to the drinking water. Other Rhode Island people who made the same trip on another vessel had no trouble.

"The last trip made by the steamship Huron this year resulted in over half of the 300 passengers being taken ill. The vessel picked up water in Lake Erie and the St. Clair river. The passengers came from Cleveland, Toledo, Detroit and Georgian bay ports.

Was It the Water?

"The Gopher, the naval vessel loaned to the Minnesota naval reserves, made a trip from Duluth to Chicago, being gone about two weeks, and over half of the men were taken ill.

"It seems certain that a great deal of sickness is due to the water furnished to passengers on the lake vessels. Water is often pumped into the tanks of the ships while the vessels are in harbor, perhaps near the outlet of the sewer system of a great city. Then the lanes of travel in the great lakes are polluted by the ships themselves. There is no zone where the ships can be assured of a pure supply, and for that reason it seems that all drinking water will have to be treated. It is possible that apparatus will be required to treat the sewage of vessels, so that they will not dump their raw sewage into the lakes."

Brown, attired in a Boy Scout uniform, saluted proudly as the automobile proceeded. When Mr. Wilson got through with his important letters he wrote to the boy, thanking him for the gift.

When the president rode to golf yesterday Master Brown was again signaling in the road with his flag, but this time he was in civilian clothes. He had a box of flowers for the president and a little note. When the president got home he read the note.

"Write Regularly."

"I liked your letter so much," the boy had written, "that I brought you the flowers. I hope you will write me another letter, too, and when you get back to Washington I want you to write regularly to me."

The president wrote Master Brown that he appreciated the flowers very much and was deeply grateful.

The president's interest in children, however, has been manifested in other ways than by correspondence. Hundreds of little boys and girls cheering or waving flags have lined the road on which he motors to and from the golf links each day. The president's chauffeur slows down as he approaches the little groups. The president often has stopped to talk with the children.

Teachers Hurry Recess.

School teachers have learned the exact hour when the White House motor is due to pass and have hurried recess so that almost all the children along the road have seen the president of the United States.

President Wilson stood on the veranda of his cottage at sunset last night and, acting on the request of a little, brown-haired school girl, released a white dove whose broken wing she had nursed back to strength. The bird fluttered for a moment and then paused on a heavy-limbed oak, as if preparing for a long flight, and soon was lost in the evening shadows.

The incident was a sequel to the president's motor ride through Guilford. School children lined both sides of the main street singing "America." A child of 12 handed President Wilson a box and a letter which she asked him not to open until he reached home. When the president arrived he read the following:

"Dear Mr. President: You will find in this box a real live dove. It flew in the door and broke its wing several months ago. We have cared for it and now that it is well my mamma says we must give it its freedom. If you will do me the honor to open its prison and let it fly away to find companions of its kind, I shall be very grateful. Lovingly, "W. G."

The president asked Representative Harrison, who was riding with him, to find out the girl's name, as he wanted to write that he had complied with her wish. After diligent inquiry the congressman learned the donor of the dove was Miss Willa Green.

Churubusco and Millito Del Rey. He was graduated from West Point in 1844, and remained in the United States army until 1855, when he resigned. He entered the Confederate army as a brigadier general, and successively was advanced to the ranks of major general and lieutenant general.

He served as governor of Kentucky from 1887 to 1891, and as a member of the Kentucky constitutional convention in 1891. After being a candidate for vice president in 1896 he retired to his home near this town.

During his term as governor he advanced $50,000 to the state, charging no interest for the use of the money.

Born and Died in Same House.

Gen. Buckner died in the same house in which he was born, April 1, 1823. The old log structure had been remodeled from time to time and is one of the famous residences in Kentucky.

Gen. Buckner's father, Col. A. H. Buckner, also was a soldier, serving in the War of 1812. He descended from the Buckners of England, who settled in Virginia in 1635.

Gen. Buckner's first wife died in 1872, and in June, 1885, he married Miss Delia Claiborne of Richmond, Va.

Gen. Buckner was a close personal friend of Gen. U. S. Grant and was one of the pallbearers at the latter's funeral, being named by the ex-president before death.

Friendship With Grant.

Early in the Civil war, Buckner was ordered to Fort Donelson by his superior officers, Generals Pillow and Floyd, who subsequently forced him to the alternative of abandoning his men or surrendering the fort and garrison. He first commanded a brigade and distinguished himself in the battle of Feb. 13-15, 1862. On the last day a gallant sortie was made. The Federals were driven back and a way of escape opened for the Confederates, but General Pillow ordered them back. General Buckner protested against the order, but was overruled.

That afternoon General Grant so arranged his forces that escape was cut off. A conference was held in the evening and Generals Floyd and Pillow escaped during the night. General Buckner refused to abandon his men, the command was turned over to him and he remained in the fort until the final surrender.

An interesting incident was connected with the surrender. General Grant, who had been with Buckner at West Point and was for many years his close friend, privately placed his purse at his old friend's disposal when he was taken a prisoner of war to Fort Warren, Boston harbor. Many years afterwards, when General Grant had become financially ruined by the failure of Grant & Ward, General Buckner returned the kindness showed him at Fort Donelson. He made a special trip to New York and delicately offered to lend General Grant whatever sum he might require, to be paid back when convenient. It has always been understood that General Grant accepted the offer, but the particulars were never revealed by either of the two men.

of boys, many of whom were not more than 16 years of age, whose sole qualification for membership consisted in having at one time been afflicted with a venereal disease contracted in the district. This club of boys, he said, encouraged the savings of pennies by prospective members so that they might secure enough money to be able to go below the "dead line" and contract the disease, as it was considered rather a proof of "smartness" to be a member.

Mr. Rue, who conducted many investigations for the local law enforcement committee, testified that the police were winking at vice in the city; that seldom, unless the cases were forced to their attention, were arrests made in the "district." The police, he said, were being backed up in their neglect of duty by the officials "higher up."

Testimony of a similar nature was given by Mr. Strickland. He said that investigators had found saloons operating in open violation of the law and that it had been necessary for the committee to compel the police to take action before prosecutions were made.

The legislative committee will remain in session this afternoon and it is probable that another hearing may be held tomorrow. Several men who have taken a prominent part in the campaign to suppress vice in the city will appear on the stand this afternoon.

Will Recommend Laws.

La Crosse, Wis., Jan. 9.—At least two important recommendations for legislation will follow the state vice inquiry here the last two days, according to a member of the legislative committee which concluded its hearings at La Crosse last night and adjourned to meet at Superior today. There will be compulsory appointment of women policemen in every city of the first, second and third class, and the creation of a state public morals commission.

Some Wisconsin cities now have women policemen, but most of them have not, and the committee is disposed to recommend that such appointments be made compulsory, members said. Nearly all reform witnesses were asked whether they favored the creation of a state commission to supervise the morals of the public, and a number expressed themselves favorably. The commission favored is to be one which will operate in much the same way that state factory inspection is carried on. Inspectors, under the plan proposed, are to be sent out with power to arrest offenders.

Visit Oshkosh Next.

The committee plans to continue its tour of Wisconsin cities, going from Superior to Oshkosh, where a particularly diligent inquiry is promised, and from there to numerous other cities.

It is expected that the committee will be in session most of the winter. Thus far it has held morning, afternoon and evening sessions daily and it is Chairman Teasdale's intention to continue working at that pace.

Sheriff John A. Weber of La Crosse county, admitting he had not raided roadhouses except once, on order of the governor, said that in his opinion disorderly houses were a necessary evil and should not be closed. He admitted that he had refused to seek out evidence against them. The sheriff said he had not interfered with La Crosse saloons which run with front doors open on Sunday.

All the police authorities of the city recommended to the commission that a law be passed barring women from saloons, Chief of Police Webber being especially emphatic in this demand.

Merchant on the Grill.

William Doerflinger, proprietor of the largest store in La Crosse and president of the board of trade, was recalled and cross-examined for alleged activity against reform movements. Mr. Doerflinger vigorously denied all charges. He denied that he had discharged John L. Halvesen, a department manager, for signing a high license petition.

Asked in regard to a letter forbidding employes to give support to reform movements, he said he had objected only to political activity becoming so great as to interfere with the employe's work. He submitted his letter to employes on this subject and it was read into the record.

Charges were presented that the names of John E. McConnell, Republican floor leader in the assembly in 1911, Lieut. Gov. Thomas Morris and State Senator Otto Bosshard had been posted in saloons following their signing of the high license petition in September, 1912, and that as a result of the saloon boycott McConnell had been defeated for re-election and that Bosshard had narrowly escaped.

FERRIS SAYS HE GOT WHAT HE SOUGHT IN THE COPPER COUNTRY

proportions soon. In this connection the governor was informed of the decision of the state supreme court at Lansing, upholding Judge O'Brien's decision as to dilatory pleas.

The men who told their stories were strikers from the Winona mine. Theodore Dessenetee said that his furniture was thrown out yesterday and still was in the snow. His wife and four children ranging in age from 10 to 18 years, he said, were housed with neighbors.

Tale of Hard Luck.

Josip Durcar, whose family consists of four children, the eldest less than 5 years old, said he was not cure his family had been evicted, but that this action had been threatened. He said he got a letter a month ago, but couldn't read, and therefore did not know its contents. He said one of his children was sick and that the doctor at Winona "would not come for nothing."

That brought action from the governor, and turning to Dan Sullivan, president of the union's district council, he told him to see that the strike relief provided a doctor at once. Sullivan explained that Durcar had made no report of the illness to his union.

Sullivan said that he recognized that the union would have to meet the eviction situation soon. He thought that arrangements could be made for sheltering and feeding in halls or commons, but said that thus far the union had been unable to plan definitely for the care of the furniture.

Force at Winona.

All cases so far in which the use of plain force has been alleged have come from the Winona. The mine management explained to the governor yesterday that no eviction as such had taken place; that there had been some dispossessions where families had seemingly left the house, and that the company was holding this furniture in storage and was caring for it.

Moyer's Course Uncertain.

Whether he will remain here personally to direct the strike in the copper mines or go to Washington to petition the constitutional committee of the American Federation of Labor to call a general strike of miners in Michigan, probably will be decided today by Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners.

Moyer and Charles H. Tanner, auditor of the federation, have not been released by the special grand jury before which they testified yesterday.

After their arrival here from Chicago yesterday Moyer and Tanner spent two hours in the grand jury room. Deputies today continued to guard every movement of the strike leaders.

The governor turned his attention to the grand jury investigation today, and held conference with various state and county officials regarding the legal situations arising from the strike.

Faced Grand Jury.

Moyer and Charles Tanner told to the grand jury yesterday their versions of the deportation of Dec. 26. Less than two hours were consumed in the grand jury room, the men then returning to the same hotel in Hancock whence they were taken a fortnight ago. No announcement as to the nature of their testimony was forthcoming from any authoritative source, and they themselves declined to grant interviews.

Claude O. Taylor, president of the Michigan State Federation of Labor, left the strike district last night. He explained that with the return of President Moyer, his mission as an aid to the local Federation officers was ended. He also said he intended to help prepare for the special convention of his organization, which is to be held at Lansing Jan. 24.

President Moyer declined invitations to speak at a mass meeting set for today. He explained his physical condition was such that he felt unable to make an extended speech.

Ferris Met Socialists.

Last night the governor met Victor Berger of Milwaukee, Seymour Stedman of Chicago, and Charles Edward Russell, New York, who are investigating the strike situation as appointees of the national executive committee of the Socialist party. They were to have met the governor several hours earlier, but conflicting engagements of both parties caused a postponement.

Two panaceas for the strike situation were presented to the governor. Mr. Russell said the executive could end the trouble if he would use his influence with the mining companies to force them to recognize the Western Federation of Miners.

"Will you do it?" he asked.

"No, sir, I will not!" was the emphatic reply, and a few minutes later the governor added that he did not know what he would do if the state of Michigan should order him to recognize a church or any other organization.

Berger's Proposal.

Mr. Berger proposed that all mine guards and deputies be withdrawn, that the sound sense of the citizens be trusted to preserve law and order, and that the state in some way protect the men from eviction. He offered no plan for the accomplishment of this latter proposal, and Mr. Stedman suggested the state might establish tent colonies for the housing of the men. He said the companies had no legal right to own and rent houses under their charters, but Grant Fellows, attorney general of the state, disagreed with him.

Mr. Berger returned to Milwaukee shortly after the interview with the governor. The other members of the committee were undecided as to when they would depart.

"Legal subjects" again occupied the attention of the governor in the evening and he remained in seclusion with the attorney general and George Nichols, special prosecutor in charge of grand jury work.

Says Austria Should Act.

The inquiry by Julius J. Patek of Ironwood on behalf of the consul general of Austria-Hungary into allegations that natives of that country had been compelled to work in the mines against their will, was completed last night. Before leaving, Mr. Patek dictated this statement:

"I shall recommend to the Austrian government that it take steps for a writ of habeas corpus in Federal courts, basing this recommendation on evidence which I have collected in about eight cases. If this evidence is true, then the South Kearsarge and Allouez people are guilty of holding men in bondage or peonage."

Mr. Patek said he was acting for the consulate of Austria at St. Paul, in the jurisdiction of which this district lies. He said the complaints had been filed there, in Cleveland and with the Austrian minister at Washington. The habeas corpus proceedings were recommended because he could not find some of the men whose relatives had complained. In one instance, he said, three men had disappeared together, and he gave it as his opinion that they had been shifted against their will from the mines in question to others in the district.

Vice Consul to Investigate.

Washington, Jan. 9.—The Austrian embassy in Washington has asked Edmund Pribramik, Austrian vice consul at St. Paul, to proceed to the Calumet-Houghton mining territory and investigate complaints made by Austrian miners there as to treatment they have received. Charges have been made that peonage exists in some parts of the mining country.

Numerous individual complaints have been received at the embassy here from the Austrians in different mining centers, and particularly in the Michigan copper region. No representations have been made to the state department, however, because of the vague charges. Dr. Dumba, the Austrian ambassador, said today that many Austrians are returning to their own country.

Macdonald Urges Action.

Representative MacDonald of Michigan has returned from the Calumet strike region and announced that he would have another hearing before the house committee on rules in order to press his resolution for a congressional investigation of matters there. Mr. MacDonald was not optimistic over the prospects for an investigation, but described the conditions as warranting immediate action by congress.

NO BOYS BREAK MISSOURI PAROLES

System Is Declared By Officials to Be Good.

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 9.—Out of the sixty-three young men and boys paroled by the state board of pardons and paroles in the eight months since the board's creation, not one has violated his parole, according to a report presented to Governor Major today. Commenting on the showing, the report says:

"This gratifying situation is due in a large measure to the helpful change in public sentiment which inspires the average citizen to assist and encourage those who show a disposition to atone for previous mistakes."

SAYS NAVY NEEDS FLYING MACHINES

Admiral Blue Claims U. S. Should Catch Up With Europe.

Washington, Jan. 9.—"It is time to jump right in and catch up with the European nations in aeronautics," says Rear Admiral Blue, chief of the navigation bureau of the navy, in a recommendation just submitted to the house committee on naval affairs for liberal aviation appropriations.

"We expect to go ahead much faster in the near future," the admiral explained. "The English, French and German nations have a great number of machines, dirigibles and heavier than air. Situated near each other as the European nations are, one would naturally expect them to have many more air craft than we, and consequently more experience in the development of them."

AWARDED $40,000 FOR LOSS OF ARMS.

New York, Jan. 9.—What is said to be the record compensation for injury in this state was given Bruce Shanks, a mechanic, when a supreme court jury yesterday awarded him $40,000 for the loss of his arm while employed in the Kingsland, N. J., shops of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad.

STRIKING OFF THE CHAINS FORGED BY DAN CUPID

District Court Judges Still Busy With Divorce Cases.

One Husband Alleges He Stood Six Years of Abuse.

CHRONOLOGY OF ONE HUSBAND AS HE GIVES IT.

July 3, 1901—His wedding day.
Dec. 31, 1906—Barred from house and forced to spend the night out.
April 9, 1909—Struck across face by angry spouse.
Dec. 16, 1911—Wife falsely accused him of infidelity in presence of others.
Christmas day, 1911—She exhibited bottle of whisky, a present from another man.
June 6, 1911—Discarded her wedding ring.
Aug. 7, 1911—Abused and vilified him on a public street.
Thanksgiving day, 1911—Refused to get dinner for him.
April 20, 1912—Bent and scratched him and thrust him from the house.
April 20, 1912—Deserted him and went to live in flat on St. Croix avenue.

Joseph Gutman, aged 44, withstood for six long years the taunts and abuse of his wife, Agnes A. Gutman, 39 years old, according to the story of their married life which was unfolded this morning in the divorce court before Judge Fesler. The case is being contested.

If the story related in his bill for divorce is true, the matrimonial sea of the Gutmans experienced rough and stormy weather most of the time that they were living together.

Gutman testified this morning that his wife was a woman of an extravagant and expensive disposition and that while they were living together she spent more than he was able to make and kept him constantly in debt.

He also charged that she was guilty of many vicious attacks on his person at various times and at various places. Even in his sleep, he did not escape, he claimed, and recited how his wife had poured cold water over him.

He also claimed that she remarked that she would be willing to go to the penitentiary to see him "laid out" and that on the day of their last trouble, Sept. 29, 1912, he was bodily ousted by her from the place after she had nearly torn his clothes off and had scratched his face.

Gutman also claimed that his wife was in the habit of receiving attentions from other men and that she often attempted to excite his jealousy by exhibiting to him articles such as umbrellas and mesh bags, which she claimed had been given to her by some gentlemen admirers.

The Gutmans are parents of three children, Mary, 11; Joseph, 10, and Ralph, 9, the custody of whom is a subject in dispute. Mrs. Gutman is bitterly contesting the case and in her answer and counter claim for divorce sets up the charge that her husband did the deserting when they separated on April 20, 1912.

Several witnesses were called by Gutman this morning to refute the charge made against him by Mrs. Gutman that he was an habitual drunkard.

Two wives were granted their freedom from husbands who deserted them. Victoria Reynolds, 25, was divorced by Judge Fesler from William Reynolds, 28, who deserted her three years ago this month. They were married in this city in May, 1908, and are parents of two children, Dorothy, 5, and Clarence, 3, who will remain in the custody of their mother. Margaret K. Sundberg, 29, was granted a divorce by Judge Ensign from Berger Sundberg, 37, to whom she was married on Christmas eve, 1901, in Sweden. They lived together until July 27, 1909, when, she claims, he abandoned her.

Matt Baudik, 33, Biwabik, made a better bartender than he did a husband, if the story which his wife, Maria Baudik, 26, told yesterday in the divorce court is true. She declared that her husband, while engaged in the saloon business was an habitual drunkard, and that he mistreated her on many occasions. They were married at Eveleth on July 27, 1904. Judge Fesler, who reviewed the case, granted her a decree of divorce and the custody of their two children, Annie, 6, and Anton, 1. Baudik contested the case.

Lydia Peterson, 27, was granted a divorce in Judge Ensign's court this morning from John Peterson, 30, bartender, on the ground of cruelty. They were married in this city on April 25, 1907. For the past three years he has been an habitual drunkard, and on frequent occasions assaulted or attempted to assault her, she claimed. Mrs. Peterson was granted the custody of their only child, Jeanette, 6.

Jose Villa Brille, cigar maker at 714 East Third street, must pay his wife $600 as her share of his property and $5 a week alimony, according to an order made by Judge Fesler in disposing of a hotly contested divorce action which has been pending for several weeks in district court. The decree was granted to Nellie E. Villa Brille on the grounds of cruelty. She is allowed by the court to resume her maiden name, Nellie La Londe, and to have the custody of their only child, with visitation rights reserved to the father. They were married June 27, 1906.

Judge Fesler yesterday dissolved the matrimonial bond which has held Sarah S. Strudgeon, 54, to William Strudgeon, 57, for the past thirty years, when Mrs. Strudgeon testified that her husband deserted her ten years ago. They were married at Port Austin, Mich., on Nov. 5, 1883 and are parents of four children which the court committed to the custody of the mother. The children are Lou, 21; Earl, 19; Ruth, 16 and Percy, 12.

Matthew Rogers, 35, wrote endearing letters to his wife Bessie, 28, after he had left her and had taken up work in a Nevada mining camp. In every letter he told how sorry he was to dissappoint her on the money question but that he would try to do better the next time. Finally he quit writing. In Judge Ensign's division of the district court yesterday, Mrs. Rogers was given a decree of divorce on the grounds of desertion. They were married in 1902 and are parents of two children, Leona 9, and William 8, the custody of whom was given to the mother.

Hiskias Pirttikoski, 45, told Judge Ensign that his wife, Anna Pirttikoski, 41, had been unfaithful to him and that he believed her to be living with another man at International Falls at the present time. The court granted him a divorce on the grounds of adultery. In his complaint, Pirttikoski named one Eli Lake co-respondent. They were married at Chisholm on Sept. 1, 1907, and lived together for about one year.

Edith May Hubert, 24, alleged that less than five months after she became the bride of James E. Hubert, 31, she was deserted by him. She told her story to Judge Ensign yesterday and the court ordered findings in her favor. The court allowed her to resume her maiden name, that of Edith May Baum.

STOPS BEATING AND SAVES COIN

Patrolman Link Appears on Scene When Man Is Strongarmed.

The timely appearance of Patrolman Link on Sutphin street, between Lake avenue south and South First avenue east, late last evening, saved Gust Williams from being beaten by two footpads and of being robbed of $100, which he had on his person.

The two footpads saw the policeman coming and leaving Williams lying in the snow, darted away. Patrolman Link fired at them and is of the belief that he struck one. A search of the neighborhood failed to locate either of the two men, however.

According to Williams, who rooms at the Saratoga hotel, the two men suddenly jumped from behind a billboard and had already taken out his wallet when the officer appeared. The wallet was thrown away by the footpads in their excitement to get away and it was found lying in the snow just a few feet from where Williams was held up.

THREE HELD FOR HIGHWAY ROBBERY

John Spelski Says He Was "Strongarmed" and Robbed of $25.

After John Spelski identified Joe Maski, 26; Mike Grabich, 24, and Frank Liman, 27, as the three men who "strongarmed" and robbed him of $25 the other night, he swore out a complaint this morning charging them with highway robbery in the first degree.

They were arraigned in police court shortly before noon before Judge Windom. They asked for an examination, and the hearing was set for 10 o'clock next Tuesday morning. It is probable that the grand jury, which is now in session, will investigate their cases before their hearing comes up in police court.

Spelski claims that the trio "strongarmed" him and stole $25. Last evening Patrolmen Olson and Boland arrested the three men as suspects.

GET READY FOR BURNS' BIRTHDAY

Clan Stewart Installs Officers and Arranges for Banquet.

Last evening after installing its officers for the ensuing year Clan Stewart, O. S. C., appointed committees to make arrangements for the celebration of Robert Burns' birthday. The natal day of the great Scottish poet falls on Jan. 25, but as that day this year is Sunday, its celebration will be held on the evening following at the Spalding hotel.

The committee will arrange an appropriate musical program, which will be announced later, but it has been announced that W. D. Gordon of Minneapolis, formerly of Duluth, will deliver the oration of the evening. Aside from the musical program and the speeches, there will be the annual Burns' banquet to be followed by a dance.

Installation was conducted last evening by Simon Clark of Duluth, past royal chief of the United Stes, and the following officers were inducted:

SALVATION ARMY TO HOLD MEETINGS.

Col. S. Marshall and Maj. C. Boyd of Minneapolis, provincial officers for five states for the Salvation Army, will be in the city tomorrow night and Sunday to conduct meetings for the local branch of the army. The meetings will be held at the headquarters, 23 North Fifth avenue west.

The two officers are interesting speakers and will tell of the work being done by the Salvation Army throughout their territory. Maj. Boyd is secretary of the Young People's branch of the army and is called the "sweet singer of the Northland." He will sing several selections during the meetings.

GRAND JURY CONSIDERS RECENT MURDER CASE.

Jovan Zoroia and Sava Rekich, the men charged with the murder of Patrolman Nell Mooney, have not been arraigned before municipal court and probably will not be as the grand jury, now in session, is today considering their case, it is understood.

It is expected that they will be held pending the result of the grand jury's investigation and if indicted will be arraigned in district court.

Asquith's Visit Not Political.

London, Jan. 9.—The visit to be paid to France by Premier Asquith next week will have no connection with international politics, according to a communication issued at the premier's official residence today. The Liberal leader is going to the Riviera to join his wife there.

SCHMIDT'S TRIAL IS DELAYED TO JAN. 19

His Family Will Come From Germany to Help Him.

New York, Jan. 9.—The retrial of Hans Schmidt for the murder of Anna Aumuller was today set for Monday, Jan. 19. The postponement was granted at the request of Schmidt's counsel, that the prisoner's father and sister, who went back to Germany after the first trial, might return as witnesses. It was said that Schmidt's mother would accompany them.

BOAT SWAMPED; FIVE SAILORS ARE LOST

Men From Battleship Wyoming Are Reported Drowned.

Old Point Comfort, Va., Jan. 9.—Five sailors of the crew of the flagship Wyoming of the Atlantic fleet, are reported to have been drowned today when a big freight sailing cutter of the flagship was swamped with sixteen sailors aboard. Eleven men were picked up by a tug which went to their rescue.

The Wyoming is anchored far in the Roads and the rough seas in the roadstead made it almost impossible for small boats to navigate, so reports concerning the accident are meager.

ESTATE DISTRIBUTED.

Heirs of Mrs. Mayhew Get Remainder of Their Shares.

Final distribution of the funds and property in the estate of Hazel Mayhew, who died in this city on July 4, 1904, was made by Judge S. W. Gilpin in probate court today.

Mrs. Mayhew died leaving property consisting of real estate in Lake and Cook counties estimated to be worth about $27,000. She left two-thirds of the estate to Ella Mayhew Townsend and one-twelfth to each of the following: George H. Mayhew, Carrie Mayhew Carhart, Joseph E. Mayhew, Jr., and Edith Mayhew Strom.

Under four former partial distributions the probate court apportioned assets of the estate to the value of $19,800. The remainder of the estate, including personal property worth $896.96 and about $7,000 worth of Lake and Cook county lands, was distributed among the heirs today.

OVER $750,000 DAMAGE IN FIRE.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 9.—Plants of the Interior Distilling company and the United States Industrial Alcohol company were almost destroyed by fire today. The damage was estimated at more than $750,000, fully insured.

URGE BOSTON AS PLACE FOR A BANK

Business Men Meet Reserve Organization Committee.

Boston, Jan. 9.—Boston business men who presented views on the establishment of a regional reserve bank here to the bank organization committee today were told by Secretary McAdoo the committee recognized a friendly contest between sections for the banks, but was obliged to consider the problem an economic one in the broadest sense.

Statistics showing the increase in the last ten years in cotton, woolen and shoe manufacturing in New England were presented by Elwin G. Preston, former secretary of the chamber of commerce, who favored making the six New England states a regional bank district with Boston as the center.

AGREE ON ALBANIA.

Greek Premier Finds the Nations in Accord.

Rome, Jan. 9.—Premier Venizelos of Greece was convinced after his conference today with the Marquis Di San Giuliano, Italian minister of foreign affairs, that a perfect agreement on the question of the southern frontier of Albania existed between Italy and Austria, and was supported unreservedly by Germany. According to this agreement, the frontier lines are to be drawn as arranged by the international conference in London. Some of the details have not yet been finally settled.

As regards the Aegean islands, Italy, Austria and Germany accept substantially the proposal made by Sir Edward Grey. Greece is to have the islands of Chios and Mitylene, while the islands occupied by Italy are to be the subject of direct negotiations between Constantinople and Rome.

It is probable that a postponement of the evacuation of Southern Albania by the Greek troops will be granted for reasons of public security.

TRUE BILL AGAINST MISSING BANKER.

Joliet, Ill., Jan. 9.—J. J. Evarts, missing Plainfield banker, was indicted today on a charge of embezzlement. Evarts' private bank was closed Dec. 18.

THE LEMON HAS MANY USES.

The Gleaner: The lemon is the symbol for disagreeableness, yet it is one of the most useful fruits to a housekeeper. A bit of lemon juice in dressing or any other cookery which is rich and heavy aids in its digestion.

Lemon and salt rubbed on an ink stain will remove it, if put on soon enough. This refers to white materials only, as the acid is apt to remove colors.

Lemon juice mixed with olive oil, in the proportions of a tablespoonful of the former to three tablespoonfuls of the latter, makes an excellent substitute for furniture polish.

TEN YEARS' FIGHT FOR DULUTH'S RIGHTS REVIEWED BY MEN WHO LED BATTLES

Public Affairs Committee Holds Reunion on Tenth Anniversary.

With twelve of the members of the first public affairs committee of the Commercial club present as guests at a dinner last evening, the present public affairs committee celebrated the tenth anniversary of the appointment of the first one; and the general tone of the addresses given was of eulogy of the men who have formed the committee from the first and who have given their time gratis to the work of forwarding the city's interests. The splendid results of the work done during the ten years was clearly shown and due credit was given the members of the present committee for their accomplishments.

Henry Nolte, vice chairman of the committee, presided in the absence in Europe of the chairman, Julius H. Barnes, and proved most ready with apt introductions and observations. The members of the first public affairs committee who were present were:

T. W. Hugo, chairman; W. A. McGonagle, Alex McDougall, A. H. Comstock, Rt. Rev. James McGolrick, Simon Clark, John J. Moe, H. R. Armstrong, Frank Crassweller, L. A. Barnes, P. S. Anneke and J. B. Erd.

As a whole the meeting was one of the most enjoyable that those present have attended. About 200 men sat at the tables. The speeches were snappy and full of information, and were rewarded with liberal applause.

One of the most pleasant features of the evening was the resolution introduced by W. A. McGonagle that a cablegram be sent the absent chairman, Julius H. Barnes, to his London, Eng., address, the resolution being carried unanimously by a standing vote. It read as follows:

"Greetings to you and yours from original and present public affairs committees, now in session. May your well-earned vacation result in renewed health and strength, and may you have a safe return to your friends who appreciate your splendid service for Duluth."

Minutes of First Meeting.

Following the dinner, Vice Chairman Nolte announced that business would be taken up first, as is usual at the monthly meetings of the committee, but it was suggested that instead of the minutes of the last meeting being read, those of the first meeting, ten years ago be read. This was done and the election of officers being involved in the first meeting's work, it was shown that after J. L. Washburn had refused for business reasons, to take the chairmanship, the following officers were elected:

T. W. Hugo—Chairman.
W. A. McGonagle—President of the club.
P. S. Anneke—Treasurer.
Julius H. Barnes—Secretary.

Finance subcommittees — George H. Crosby, chairman; P. S. Anneke, A. L. Ordean, E. C. Little, H. V. Knudson, A. C. Weiss, J. A. Ferguson, J. T. Armstead, John Panton, J. B. Erd.

Industrial subcommittee—A. H. Comstock, chairman; Alex McDougall, J. L. Washburn, A. B. Wolvin, H. R. Armstrong, John Millen, L. A. Barnes, Z. D. Scott and John Miller.

Transportation committee — Ward Ames, Sr., chairman; F. E. House, E. Moe, G. L. Douglass, Jr., L. W. Powell, Herbert Warren and C. W. Ericson.

Municipal subcommittee — Simon Clark, chairman; F. A. Patrick, Rt. Rev. James McGolrick, Judge Page Morris, W. B. Silvey, J. J. LeTourneau, Rev. R. J. Mooney, J. A. Watterworth and Frank Crassweller.

The only communications read last night were from J. A. Ferguson, a member of the first committee, in which he expressed regret at being unable to be present; and one from a farmer who wants to sell two bull calves. The latter communication was read as typical of these received right along by Secretary Eva. It was referred to Vice Chairman Nolte, who is stocking a farm.

Large Hotel Needed.

In his communication of regret, J. A. Ferguson, who is also a former president of the club, suggested that he believes the time to be ripe for the club to discuss the matter of the erection of a large hotel on property away from the center of the city, for the accommodation of people who would like to spend the summer months here, and which could also be used for a family hotel. Mr. Ferguson pointed out that especially in the summer season tourists are put to it for accommodation in case they desire to stay over for a time, for the hotels—that is the first-class hotels of the city, have just about enough accommodation to take care of the ordinary run of trade. The communication was referred to the executive committee.

A. F. Hanchett, chairman of the committee on publicity and statistics, reported that a booklet on "Duluth Outdoors" is being prepared; and so is a pamphlet entitled "Duluth Today." He also spoke of the issue of 25,000 pamphlets "Trade Follows the Freight Rate" and the many replies received from it. Mr. Hanchett acknowledged the excellent work being done on these issues by George D. McCarthy, assistant secretary of the club.

The committee on neighborhood clubs, through its chairman, Bentley P. Neff, reported that the committee has visited various clubs in the neighborhood of Duluth, notably that of Brainerd, and declared that they have received, everywhere, the most cordial attention; and he also added that in each case they have received the most sincere promises of co-operation.

Trade Extension.

When it came to a report of the trade extension committee, Frank X. Gravel, its chairman, made a glowing report. He is one of the most popular members of the club and when he arose to his feet was given a stirring round of applause. When he sat down, after closing his report with "Boostingly yours, Frank X. Gravel," he received an uproar. He reported as follows:

"We held our first meeting April 30, 1913. We also held meetings May 6, 8, 15, 19, 20, 27, 29, July 16, Aug. 12, 22 and 28, Oct. 30 and Nov. 23. The total number of meetings for the year 1913 was fourteen.

"We made a six-day trip through North Dakota, and on a conservative estimate we met 45,000 people during the trip. We made arrangements for a number of us to attend eight county fairs. We also arranged for a special train to attend the St. Louis county fair at Hibbing Aug. 3, making a total of nine county fairs at which some of our Commercial club members were present, as well as members of our committee. Also had nineteen Commercial club members make a special trip to Brainerd, Minn., in response to an invitation from the Brainerd Commercial club.

"We believe we do not exaggerate when we state that our committee made it possible for Duluth citizens to meet at least 60,000 outside people during the year 1913.

"Our committee also gave a booster parade in Duluth in September. We also assisted to entertain the hotel men attending the hotel men's convention, and had 110 boosters in line for our great industrial parade."

Traffic Report.

C. F. Rowe, vice chairman of the traffic commission, said, when called on for a report, that he would generalize and would then ask that G. Roy Hall, the secretary of the commission, would supply the details. Mr. Rowe said in his report:

"Our talk here tonight is along the line of reminiscences, and it may not be amiss for me to tell something about the organization of the present traffic commission of the Commercial club.

"About six years ago we had what was known as the sub-committee on railroads in connection with our old club. This committee was comprised of the traffic men of the four leading wholesale houses, and also a representative from commission road. We used to meet regularly in the old Commercial club on Superior street, and discuss matters of common interest along transportation lines.

"Things moved along very smoothly, and we had little or no trouble with the railroads in perfecting needed freight service and securing rate adjustments required, but there were two or three propositions that we were unable to make any headway on with the railroads. One of them was the extremely low differentials existing in favor of Duluth on lake and rail rates from the East as compared with the Twin Cities, and another was the question of free storage at the head of the Lakes, which was accorded St. Paul and Minneapolis jobbers, but which the Duluth man was unable to avail himself of, owing to certain restrictions governing the close-up in the spring. Whenever we brought these matters up with the railroad company, they all agreed with us that the rates and the storage privileges were wrong, but none of them were willing to take any steps towards correcting the evil, owing to their relations with the Twin Clty shippers and receivers of freight.

Free Storage.

"We took up the question of the free storage furnished by the railroads in the docks of Duluth, with the Interstate Commerce commission, who held a formal hearing, and after a certain amount of testimony had been submitted, the question was decided against us, although the commission left a loop hole in their decision allowing us to bring the matter up again. We were very much dissatisfied with the lake and rail rates to Duluth, and were delighted when in 1909 the Duluth Commercial club, in connection with the leading jobbers decided to raise our first fund of $20,000 for the purpose of strengthening the work and employment of a permanent secretary in charge of traffic matters.

"Even after the organization of the present traffic commission we felt that the lake and rail rate structure was one which should be re-adjusted by the railroads themselves, without the necessity of going before the interstate commerce commission, and with this end in view the now famous Duluth memorial to the Eastern trunk lines was printed and distributed, and members of our commission called on the leading officials of the Eastern trunk lines with a view to securing their assistance in the matter. They were received in a friendly manner, and some of the railroad men even promised that they would regulate this question, but as time passed on and nothing was done, it became evident to us that we must take the question to the interstate commerce commission, and prepare for a hard fight. The results are well known to you all, and it is rather amusing to read the petition of the Eastern trunk lines, asking for a reopening of lake and rail case, in view of the opportunity that we at one time offered them of straightening this matter out among themselves. The prompt denial on the part of the commission to have this case re-opened, shows that they realized that the railroads had sinned away their day of grace, and could not expect that they should be given a second opportunity to adjust these rates without reduction of revenue. We have gotten what we want on the lake and rail rates into Duluth, with a proper differential existing to the Twin Cities, and certain restrictions have been placed upon the free storage enjoyed by our competitors in the railroad docks at Duluth. This latter we are firmly confident will be further tightened by the railroads, making a charge for such storage, which will remove the discrimination against the Duluth merchant, and tend to make the Duluth dock property more valuable.

"There are a great many more subjects which are under way on the part of the commission, such as the proper distributing rates to the Southwest, and further adjustments in rates and improvement of service, but enough has already been accomplished to prove the necessity of our going after these things in a systematic manner.

"The Duluth traffic commission has outgrown its garments of infancy, and now stands before the industrial and railroad world in the full strength of its young manhood. It has gained the respect of friends and foes alike, and if our present chairman, secretary and council remain at the head, there is no question but what we can and will secure a proper adjustment of all our difficulties."

Water Transportation.

In following up Mr. Rowe's report, Mr. Hall declared that while many have thought that the chief reason for a city being at Duluth's location is the mines, he thought such an idea erroneous.

"Were it not the fact that the real reason is cheap water transportation, the location would be at the mines, not here. Cheap water transportation is by all means the most important question to be dealt with by business men.

"History is repeating itself as between Duluth and the Twin Cities, the former case being that of the fight between Chicago and St. Louis. In 1870 the railroads found that the rates because of water transportation to Chicago were very low, and that did not suit them. So they tried to build up St. Louis, where there was no water haul but all rail, which profited them more than did the part hauls to Chicago. Chicago finally awoke up and forced an equitable adjustment of rates, and has come into her own. Here the situation has been almost identical. St. Louis was then greater than Chicago, as the Twin Cities have been greater than Duluth. And for the same reason, for the railroads, realizing that there must be a distributing point in the Northwest, centered on the Twin Cities, for they got the entire haul of freight to the Twin Cities and from the Twin Cities, whereas to Duluth again the cheap water rates figured. Now Duluth has wakened up and has fought for equitable adjustment of rates. She has secured it from the East in the lake-and-rail case with which you are all familiar; but now we must fight for an equitable adjustment of rates from Duluth to Southern Minnesota, Northern Iowa and even into Nebraska, so that we can compete with the Twin City and even the Chicago houses. We have a complaint filed with the interstate commerce commission in this matter and expect before long to hear from it.

Entering Wedge.

"The victory in the lake-and-rail case was the entering wedge which is knocking the props out from under the Twin City preferential. I believe that the railroads, learning as they do that the continuation of this preferential means endless fight and trouble for them, are glad of the change. They are trying to get away from old ideas and are even voluntarily taking progressive steps.

We have won the grain case, the lake and rail case, we are now after readjustment of rates out of Duluth and the southwestern case will take care of other matters.

Railroad Service.

"Another thing which we must have is good railroad service. It is good service now, considering the amount of tonnage that is shipped from here but with other matters and rates settled, the tonnage shipped out should increase, and then must come the insistence for good and quick service, for even though the wholesalers of this city can meet and perhaps even beat the prices of other wholesale centers, their customers will not stand for delays in delivery. Car-lot concessions must be procured from the roads and other concessions that will prevent delay, for this is fully as important as the rate matter.

"I want to congratulate the club on the personnel of its committee. They are all enthusiastic young men, who give this matter deep study and work tirelessly to accomplish what they believe Duluth needs.

"During the present year I predict that you will see material and many changes for the betterment of Duluth. We have laid a good foundation and contrary to old times we have the support of Chicago and the river towns in our efforts for proper adjustment of rates, and we have that support for the reason that we have played fair, which some of our contemporaries have not done. But we have much to do during the current year and hope to accomplish great things."

A Little History.

T. W. Hugo, the first chairman of the public affairs committee, spoke of the reason for the organization of the committee and of the early struggles it had.

"When the Commercial club was first organized," said he, "as long as the novelty existed everything ran along smoothly, but pretty soon we noticed that Tom Jones was away, and then Dick Smith failed to show up, and so it went. There was something lacking. We found that we needed something more than just a place to eat a meal, or play a game of billiards or loaf. We had to have something of interest for the members. So we determined to take up public affairs and out of that idea grew the determination to organize the public affairs committee. We wanted Mr. Washburn to serve as chairman, but his reasons were so conclusive for not serving that we let him have his way and I was chosen. I served as chairman for six years. We had an awful time at first. We knew that we should do something, but did not know what to do. We floundered about, but all the time were learning. Our first attempts were to get industries and conventions here. Slowly it dawned upon us that the great work was to fill up the surrounding country, recognizing that we had no agricultural population. So we got down to earth, literally and figuratively. We had the energy to push but we did not know how or what to push. Fortunately one man did know, and we have to thank my good friend Bishop McGolrick for giving us that knowledge. Later through Capt. McDougall and the late Ward Ames, transportation came up and was dealt with, and later through A. H. Comstock was developed the commercial portion of the work. After the first year, it was found necessary to enlarge the committee, which had been about forty.

"I want to say for the executive committee, which consisted of A. H. Comstock, Alex McDougall, the late Ward Ames, and Simon Clark, that I have never seen a better sample of self-sacrifice than they showed. They attended regularly, leaving their own business, and devoting time and earnest thought and energy to the work of the club. A great deal of the success of today is due to the spirit that showed in that first committee. The task through the six years of my service was hard but pleasing. I would not like to have missed it. It demonstrated what could be accomplished by a long pull, a strong pull, and a pull all together."

Ovation For Mr. McGonagle.

When W. A. McGonagle was introduced as the next speaker, he was given what could be called nothing short of an ovation. Mr. McGonagle was one of the most popular presidents the club has ever had, and his activity in its welfare and that of Duluth has never ceased even though he no longer holds office. Mr. McGonagle felt his reception last night, and acknowledged it in a way that showed his appreciation.

"A year ago," said he, "I was unable to be with you on account of ill health; and I received from you a message so cordial and so sincere while I was in California trying to get well that I want to tell you it did wonders in helping me back to health, and I want to take this occasion to thank you for it."

At this point Mr. McGonagle introduced his resolution to cable Chairman Barnes, now in London, Eng., and in introducing the resolution, he said:

"Our chairman, of whom we are all proud, is absent in Europe on a vacation which I hope will do him good and will bring him back to us in good health and with new ideas for the further good of Duluth. As chairman of the public affairs committee, he has taken hold of matters with a master hand and has accomplished much during his term as chairman. I think it highly proper to send him a cable of esteem and best wishes."

Continuing his speech, Mr. McGonagle said:

One of Great Cities.

"The traffic commission of this club should be appreciated by every member of the club and by every citizen of Duluth. Thanks to the traffic commission Duluth is at last on the traffic map of the United States, and I believe the railroads will also thank the commission for bringing about what they, themselves, did not dare attempt, and for leading them out of the thraldom that has been placed about them. Duluth has come into its own, and here will be, I believe, one of the greatest cities of the continent, and to the traffic commission and to the club will the credit be due. In years to come citizens of Duluth will realize the value of and appreciate the men who blazed the way.

"Industrial development of Duluth is now under way and will come faster from now on. The outside world is beginning to beckon for Duluth manufactured goods, for Duluth goods are like her citizens—substantial and dependable. When the twentieth anniversary of this committee is celebrated there will be something to be proud of, because of the then enormous development. Your efforts will bear fruit much better from now on.

"I have served as an officer of this committee and of this club and now as a member of the ranks my interest never flags. I pledge you my earnest co-operation and effort for the benefit of Duluth and of this club."

Younger Men in Work.

Bishop McGolrick, who was referred to as the leader in agricultural development, said, when he arose to respond, that it pleases him chiefly to see that the younger men have joined in the work, and for that reason he looks to see a continuation in a most energetic way. The bishop created much merriment when he said:

"I think a great deal of this club, for here I have received all but my moral education."

Referring to several of his co-workers in the club's activities of a few years ago, who have since died, Bishop McGolrick said:

"When I think of these men, who took such an interest in the club and in the development of Duluth, and of the work they performed in behalf of both, I think that if they could look down and see what has been accomplished since they left us, they would be exceedingly pleased.

"I owe to Mr. Hugo the fact that I have been connected with the park movement and development. When Mayor Hugo called me up and asked me if I would accept the appointment on the park board I asked him how much there was in it."

Work to Be Done.

The bishop declared that all of the work has not yet been accomplished for there is work in preparation now to develop large playgrounds in the various parts of the city. He spoke of the beauty that nature has furnished Duluth for her parks and of the improvements that man has made. He also spoke of the work farm of which he is a commissioner, and declared that he believes that it will be of inestimable benefit to Duluth and the county. He also spoke of the experiment station and predicted that it will be instrumental in developing the surrounding agricultural country much faster than the work could otherwise be accomplished. He also predicted that with the enormous water power of the St. Louis river, in a few years not a power wheel at the Head of the Lakes will turn except by hydro-electric power. He also predicted that some day not far distant Duluth will have a general superintendent of streets, and that then beauty and efficiency will creep in.

A. H. Comstock was introduced as a man who put his heart and soul into the work while chairman of industrial affairs. Said he:

"In the old days it was not so easy to accomplish things as it is now, but we did our best; and I hope that from now on things will be easier. I have great faith in Duluth. When I look about us, I find cities that grow faster but none that grow with a better foundation. Great things have been accomplished in the past ten years. There have come to us new railroads, the steel plant, new factories, a wonderful water power, and great agricultural development. And our transportation dreams have come true through the work of Mr. Barnes and Mr. Hall and their assistants. I think that Duluth should give honor to the Commercial club and to its committee on public affairs."

Trunk Roads.

G. G. Hartley was unexpectedly present, and Mr. Nolte called upon him without notice. Mr. Hartley soon dropped into an easy verbal stride and told the committee what can be accomplished by the building of trunk roads to the Red River valley. He declared that by building only fourteen miles of a road, which runs through St. Louis, Aitkin and Itasca counties, a trunk road to the northwestern part of the state could be accomplished. He urged other trunk roads west also. He pictured how many people selling farms on the prairies of the Dakotas and Canada, hungry for the good water they used to get in the East, the wooded land and the lakes of the old home, would like to start to drive East instead of spending their profits from sales of land on railroad fare and would doubtless take this route in many instances, and that when they found that in a country such as they were seeking they could get land for on an average of $7.50 an acre, they would most likely stop and settle. These trunk lines, Mr. Hartley observed, would do more to settle up the country than anything else possibly could. He painted a word picture that held the attention of the gathering from start to finish.

Mr. Hartley also complimented the club on the energy with which it makes its mark at country fairs and meetings of the Northwest. He said that he has always found an intelligent representation at these places and that he has found that these representatives have managed to keep peace between warring counties over trunk roads and other matters, at the same time giving Duluth a good name with all interested.

W. C. Sargent of the good roads committee reported that the strip of road to which Mr. Hartley referred, is under consideration and an effort is being made to have it built this spring.

L. A. Barnes, who was a member of the first public affairs committee, spoke for West Duluth. He declared that West Duluthians appreciate what the Commercial club is doing for the city perhaps better than do the residents of the central part of the city. He added that West Duluth appreciates also that its end of the city has been chosen as the industrial end.

"Some years ago," he said, "we were a small community. We dreaded to see the sawmills go for we did not know on what we would exist when this would happen. The old manufacturing plants could not make good and passed out of existence, and I tell you we were glad to see the movement started up here to develop manufacturing and use our end of the city. This has been done through the leadership of the public affairs committee and we thank you."

Capt. Alex McDougall spoke briefly on this part of the country for dairying and predicted that in a few years this country will lead any other part of the United States or Canada, owing to its splendid grasses.

"This," he added, "is the view of a lake-faring man."

COMMONS WILL HEAR ABOUT FRISCO EXPO

British Government to Explain Why Exhibit Was Denied.

London, Jan. 9.—The question of English participation in the Panama-Pacific exhibition at San Francisco is to be raised in the house of commons during the debate on the address in reply to the speeches from the throne with which parliamentary session is started.

Sir Edward Grey, who as head of the foreign office must take the responsibility for the decision of the government not to participate in the exhibition, has so far maintained silence on the subject. The foreign secretary, it is stated, will dispose for once and all of the reports that an entangling arrangement with Germany entered into the matter.

Official Explanation.

The official explanation of the refusal of the government to take part is that it was due to the belief that there would be a great paucity of British exhibitors. The government took into serious consideration the recommendation of an influential committee of prominent British manufacturers that an appropriation should be made, but it is understood the permanent officials of the board of trade represented that "the committee was not representative of the firms which should participate in order to make the exhibit one that would do justice to British industry."

UNEMPLOYED MEN AND POLICE IN FIGHT

San Francisco Street Parades Forbidden as a Result.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 9.—In a street fight between citizens, policemen and a division of the unemployed late yesterday, five persons, including a patrolman, were hurt. W. A. Thorn, one of the leaders of the men without work, and five others of the crowd were arrested and charged with inciting a riot.

As a result of the disturbance an order was issued by Chief of Police D. A. White prohibiting street parades by the unemployed, and denying them the use of public parks for meetings, unless given permission.

Thorn's faction has boycotted the municipal dining room and refused to work for 20 cents an hour, the rate offered by the citizens' relief committee.

At the bureau where the men work there were 7,090 names on the books when the doors closed last night.

Patrolman Says He Saw Two Others Commit Robbery.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 9.—As an aftermath to an epidemic of robberies here, Chief of Police William S. Rowe has started an investigation of charges that two patrolmen played the part of robbers in a holdup at St. Clair avenue yesterday morning.

Four patrolmen were in plain clothes, it is said. The charges against them were preferred by Patrolman William Trunk, who claims to have witnessed the robbery.

LIVE SPORTING GOSSIP

By BRUCE

BY BRUCE.

IN a letter received yesterday from J. H. Herman, one of the best known promoters in the United States and a sporting man with an international reputation, announcement is made of the offering to Frank A. Gotch of the sum of $30,000 for three contests with three of the best of all the foreigners in the world. The men selected to meet Gotch in the three contests are Gustav Fristensky, Alexander Aberg, the huge Finn, and Ivan Mamutoff, the Russian giant who has been the body guard of Czar Nicholas II of Russia, and who is one of the largest men in the world, weighing 312 pounds and possessing the wonderful chest measure of sixty-one inches.

"Gustav Fristensky is one of the greatest foreign wrestlers who has come to the United States since Zbyszko and Yussiff Mahmout came over," writes Herman. "Aberg, the Finn, has won every contest he has wrestled in since coming to this country. No one has appeared as yet who has given the huge Finn any real work. As for Ivan Mamutoff, who really had to secure permission from the czar before leaving for this country, he is going to offer Fred Beell ten dollars for every minute the wonderful little Wisconsin wood chopper remains on the mat with him.

"The offer is bona fide. The money will be posted in any bank in the United States designated by Gotch; it will be even placed in the Humboldt bank Gotch is a director of. There was no wrestler in the country last year with the exception of Zbyszko that was considered able to give the world's champion a real go. Gustav Fristensky is a marvel—one of the greatest in the world. Alexander Aberg is also one of the greatest, and the gigantic Russian is so big and wonderfully strong that there is no wrestler in the world, in the opinion of some of the followers of the game, who can pin him on his back."

Confirming the statement of Herman that a big syndicate of sporting men stand ready and even anxious to offer Gotch $30,000 to wrestle three opponents to be selected for him, comes the message over the news wires that Emil Kiank, former manager of the champion and the present mentor of Fred Beell, is using his utmost influence to get the Humboldt wonder back to the mat.

The Proper Procedure.

THE Globe Athletic club of Chicago has passed a ruling absolutely prohibiting betting upon any of its wrestling matches. Many of the business men of Chicago are members of the club, and co-operating with its officials these men have determined to stamp out all of the objectionable features of the sport and put one of the most ancient sports in the world upon a firm and clean footing.

In Duluth betting has been discouraged and stopped wherever the officials of the club could exercise any authority. No decision boxing contests discourage betting, an evil parasite of all sports. With the betting evil and the tin horn gambler out of sport most of the objectionable features will be eliminated.

Speaking of Australia.

THERE comes the hue and cry that Australia is attempting to corner all of the best boxers of the world. Stadiums and new clubs are springing up in various parts of the land far removed across the sea. Tempting offers are being made, so runs the story, to the best of the glove men in this country and Europe.

One of the advantages the Antipodes enjoy over the United States in the matter of boxing is that twenty-round bouts are allowed over there. Twenty rounds is more like a real battle; there is seldom a knockout in the shorter route of ten rounds. But in the matter of offering purses to the boxers of the world, there is no reason, judging from the size of some of the purses offered over there, to believe that Australia is going to get most of the best workmen of the boxing world.

Guess He Hasn't Heard.

YESTERDAY'S mail brought a letter from no less a personage than James E. Sullivan, the white czar of amateur athletics and one of the big men of the world, when it comes to the simon pures.

Mr. Sullivan says: "I beg to acknowledge the receipt of the notification that the Greater Duluth Athletic club, a member of the Central Association of the Amateur Athletic union of the United States, has applied for permission to hold an amateur boxing tournament on Jan. 7, and I congratulate the officials of the club on their desire to help amateurs in that section of the country, and I do hope that the tournament will be a pronounced success and will also be the means of holding similar tournaments."

Guess James E. hasn't heard that amateur boxing is too uncouth a sport for this part of the country.

Good for Little Walter.

WALTER MILLER beat Young Jordon at Fort William the night before last. When he gets them at his weight, 154 pounds, the little Pole is one tough kid to beat. The Jordon Walter met was not Chris Jordon of Cleveland. All along Walter has maintained that he could beat all of them of his own weight, and let's believe he is right.

Ketonen, the Finn, is the weight of Miller. He will go down the scale pound for pound with the St. Paul boy. No more fair or just proposition could be made. The meeting between these two would make a grand contest, and if Walter is looking for one really great wrestler of his own poundage, where there will be no advantage to either contestant, let him sign to meet the Waino Ketonen chap.

As one of the host of friends of the little Pole we hope that Walter will come forth and show that he has nothing to fear in doing mat battle with a persistent challenger who openly charges evasion upon the part of Miller.

Frankie Is to "Tower."

FRANKIE BRYANT tells us that he is willing to accept the challenge of Fred Martin. The local star declares that he is ready to meet Martin in a series of three five-mile races and would prefer to have the contests skated at the Riverview rink of Milwaukee.

Bryant is going to Minneapolis for several races and then is booked for a trip through the Eastern states. One of his big races will be at Detroit, Mich., where our Frank will meet Frank Bacon at the huge Palace rink. Frankie has also engagements at Buffalo, Cleveland and several of the other large and luscious cities of the Eastern portion.

GRATIFIED OVER THEIR TREATMENT

Baseball Fraternity Committee Found Only One Conferee Offensive.

New York, Jan. 9.—The committee which represented the Baseball Players' fraternity before the national commission in Cincinnati this week has issued a statement expressing satisfaction at the granting of so large a proportion of their demands, and pleasure at the attitude of baseball's highest tribunal toward the players. Regret was implied that the fraternity did not meet with more success for the minor league members before the representatives of the lower class organizations. The statement reads:

"We believe that in the Cincinnati conference of Jan. 6, the ball players won a victory which a year ago could not have been dreamed of.

"Twelve of our requests were granted, though modified, and two withdrawn. Eight or ten of them were opposed vigorously, but with the utmost frankness, and good feeling.

"We met far more opposition from the minor league representatives than from the national commission, and were therefore unable to do as much for our minor league members as we had hoped. But even as it is they will be materially helped.

"These representatives we felt, were sincere in their belief that an undue hardship would be placed upon them unless some requests were modified, and as we had no disposition to bring this about, we waived the points.

"The treatment accorded us, except in the offensive attitude of one of the conferees, was all that we could have asked. We were met in a fair, cordial and dignified manner which, in view of the strained relations, previously existing, was gratifying in the extreme."

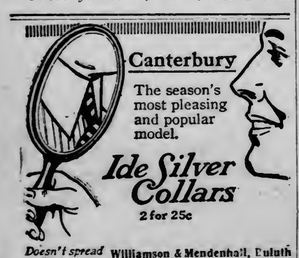

TOO LATE FOR SEASON.

Validity of Players' Contracts Before Supreme Court in Different Form.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Baseball players and managers must wait a year or more before getting light from the supreme court on the much-disputed question in major league circles as to the enforcibility by injunction of players' contracts. The point has been raised that contracts with players are not enforcible by injunction because they contain a clause giving the managers the right to terminate the contract without giving a similar right to the players.

A case involving similar questions has been brought to the court by an oil company but the tribunal has just refused a request for an early hearing of the controversy. This means that the case will not come up for argument until next winter, too late to affect baseball contracts for the coming season.

How far the decision will be applicable to baseball will be somewhat problematical until the decision is announced. The suit was brought particularly to determine the right of oil companies to terminate certain contracts, but it is maintained by attorneys for the baseball interests that it involves the exact point raised in the baseball controversary.

ENTRIES ARE POURING IN

The Head of the Lakes Bowling Tournament Promises to Eclipse All Previous Meets.

That the Head of the Lakes Bowling association tournament is going to prove the most successful tourney ever held in the history of the association is a foregone conclusion from the fact that the entries are pouring in in numbers that assure a larger list of teams and individual bowlers than have competed in any of the past meets.

The tournament will be held at the Grand alleys from Jan. 31 until Feb. 8. The entries will close on Jan. 20, but there are a greater number of entries in now than were received before the close of the books last year.

Hibbing will send two teams, Ironwood three, Gilbert one, Superior four, Minneapolis one, St. Paul five and at least nine teams will be entered from Duluth.

Merchants of Duluth are exhibiting an active interest in the tournament. W. Jenson, secretary of the association, states that before the close of the entry books there will be clubs entered from practically every town within a radius of 150 miles of Duluth.

"This is going to prove the best tournament ever held in the state outside of the Twin Cities," said Secretary Jenson. "All of the clubs of Duluth and Superior are co-operating to make the tourney not only the best ever held here, but one that will compare favorably with the best that have been held in the larger cities of the country."

IMMENSE NEW YACHT.

A. S. Cochran Will Construct Racing Pleasure Craft of Great Dimensions.

New York, Jan. 9.—A schooner-yacht, the largest fore and aft vessel of its kind ever built, is being planned by Alexander S. Cochran, who also is having constructed a boat for the defense of the America's cup. Announcement regarding the yacht was made by William Gardner, her designer.

The vessel will cost $350,000 and will be constructed for racing as well as pleasure purposes. There will be three masts with top masts so lofty that the boat could not pass under the Brooklyn bridge. The general dimensions will be 250 feet over all, 150 feet on the water line, 34 feet beam and 18 feet draught. Bronze will be the planking. The boat will be built in a private yard at Neponset, Mass.

GIBBONS ASKS A POUND OF FLESH

Chicago, Jan. 9.—One pound is the only thing that keeps Mike Gibbons and Packey McFarland apart. Despite the statements that McFarland will not enter the welterweight division, the fact that McFarland and Gibbons might meet before Billy Gibson's New York club became known yesterday when Emil Thiry got in touch with the garden matchmaker and narrowed the disputes over weight, purse, etc., down to that pound.

When the subject of matching Mike and Pack first came up, McFarland came to bat with a big objection, saying that he would retire rather than enter the 145-pound division. Since thinking over the matter Packey is convinced that he could get more coin for this contest than for any other 30-minute engagement. He made known this change of heart to Thiry, who immediately got busy, and after several days' dickering, the match looks like a certainty.

The first time Thiry talked with Gibson he demanded that Mike come in at 142 pounds. Mike refused to do this and let the subject drop, saying that 145 was the best he would do. Rather than have the contest fall through McFarland decided on a compromise yesterday, agreeing to make the weight 144 pounds. As yet the St. Paul boxer has not agreed, although he wired Thiry yesterday that he would stop off here on his way to New York in a few days and talk this matter over. He is almost sure to accept. If he does the match will be staged the first week in February.

There will be two basket ball games at the Y. M. C. A. this evening, the Big Duluth and the Lake Hardware teams opposing one another, and the Kelley Hardware and the Glass Block teams meeting.

ST. PAUL AND WINNIPEG WILL SEND MANY RINKS

Largest Delegation in History of Curling Association Will Represent St. Paul; All Active Curlers of Duluth Are Asked to Enter Play.

"Yesterday's meeting of the anti-weather committee has apparently had its effect," said Secretary Fred Hargreaves of the Northwestern Curling association today. "The change in the weather promises to make ideal curling for the bonspiel week and will disperse all thoughts that a possible postponement of the 'spiel would have to be made." For the first time since the first meeting of the members of the anti-weather committee, some two weeks ago, smiles wreathed the countenances of those who have laboriously wrought out schemes to bring about the proper kind of weather for the holding the big 'spiel that starts early Monday morning.

"It looks like the biggest 'spiel in the history of the association," said Secretary Hargreaves. "We received word from St. Paul yesterday that it is probable that the Saintly City will send up eight rinks. McDermott, Dunbar, Cameron, Griggs and most of the curlers who have been coming here for years have promised to be on hand. If the St. Paul clubs carry out their promise, the Apostle city will send the strongest delegation that has attended one of the Northwestern 'spiels in years.

"Word was received from Winnipeg yesterday that most likely six rinks will be sent from the Peg. Carson, Low, Creelman, Rochon, Williams and others are coming.

"Reedal of Phillips will be here and practically all of the range clubs will be represented. Most of the official entries will not be received until Sunday, when the majority of the curlers will arrive. We have been assured, however, that there will be a very large number of rinks here."

Local Curlers Wanted.

John Oldham, chairman of the curling committee of the club, announced today that every curler in the club was earnestly requested to enter the 'spiel as an active participant, and further, that it would greatly facilitate the work of the curling committee if all of the curlers would register their names on the bulletin board at the club.

"This year the curling club desires to enter the largest number of rinks on record in the 'spiel," said Chairman Oldham. "This will be possible only through the co-operation of the individual members of the club. It is quite impossible for the members of the curling committee to see every member of the club, but through The Herald every active curler is requested to aid us in getting out a very large number of rinks. There are a number of good skips who are short of members for their rinks, and by registering their names members of the club may be put in touch with these skips."

While there will be no forced draw for this evening, there will be a number of practice games. The ice is in the best condition of the season and it is expected that there will be a large number of curlers out.

LARGER MAT MEN NEEDED TO MEET FOREIGN STARS

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Unless America produces some wrestlers of the powerful mold shown by the good foreign stars who come over here, this country is not going to long maintain its mat supremacy. This, at least, is the opinion of Gus Schoenlein of Baltimore, long known to the game as Americus and one of the very best of the mat experts of this country.

"If Frank Gotch is really to remain retired, who is left to defend the title against the tough ones that are coming over every year?" is what Americus wants to know. "We produce them good enough in a wrestling way, but they are not big enough to successfully combat with giants like Fristensky and Zybszko. And, besides this, Europe not only grows them big and strong, but year after year the catch-as-catch-can knowledge of the foreigners is increasing until before long they will know as much about the game as we do. Then it will be almost impossible to get away with them."

Lacks in Weight.

Americus is to meet Fristensky at the Coliseum Monday night in a finish contest, and while he isn't at all alarmed at the terrifying stories that are being told of the Bohemian's strength and power, he wishes he had about twenty pounds more of solid meat on his stocky frame, so that he might be nearer the 226 pounds that Fristensky will hurl at him when they get into action Monday night.

The Baltimore man is figuring on tricking the foreign giant into some kind of a hold that will result in a fall, but he knows that even this will be a difficult matter, even with his intimate knowledge of the wrestling game. "They know more every year and I can see that this fellow is about the nearest to being a finished wrestler of any that have come over so far," Americus said last night. "It was easy to trick Mahmout when he first came over, and Gotch tricked Zbyszko easily when they met. But nobody in this country could trick either of them into anything like a fall at this stage of the game. And, as I say, we've got to grow them bigger if we are to compete with them successfully. The average foreigner who is sent here is pretty much of a front as far as wrestling knowledge is concerned, but every now and then a real wrestler comes over, and then the Americans have their own troubles with him.

Will Give Best He Has.

"They say Fristensky is a great man, and I guess he is. I'll give him the best I've got in the shop and then if I fail the bigger men will have to give him a whirl."

The Bohemians continue to make a tremendous fuss over their new star, and the chances are that the big Wabash avenue building will be packed Monday night. Certainly he is the best looking big fellow sent over in a long time. He is working at a Madison street gymnasium and appears to be in the finest of form. Likewise, Americus is doing great things in his work and will be in the best shape he has shown in months when time is called.

MANUFACTURED PACKEY'S RECORD

Astonishing Assertion Is Brought Out in Trial of Jess Willard

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 9.—Almost all of the so-called knockouts are on paper; prize fighting or boxing is not a brutal sport, Charles Eyton, referee of the Jess Willard-Bull Young match in which the latter met his death, testified yesterday in the trial of Willard and nine others on a charge of prize fighting in violation of the laws of California.

He said boxers did not always try to knock out their opponents, and said Packy McFarland was an example of a man who seldom won by the knockout route.

In order to prosecution read a list of men whom McFarland was reputed to have knocked out, defending counsel conferred with Harry Gilmore, once manager for McFarland, and then announced Gilmore had just told him he had invented most of McFarland's record of knockouts to make it look formidable and to make the boxer a drawing card.

In order to make the prize fight accusation issue clear before the jury, Joseph Ford, deputy district attorney, dismissed the charge against Thomas J. McCarrey, a boxing promoter, and indicated that the same action would be taken with reference to the other defendants, excepting Willard.

Texas Leaguer Signs.

New York, Jan. 9.—Charles Rose, the Texas league pitcher acquired last fall by the New York American league club, has signed a contract with that club for 1914. R. J. Kelly, a local semi-professional infielder, who was signed by the New York Americans a few months ago, was sold to the Lowell club of the New England league.

WINNIPEG HAS STARS

Victoria Team Made Up of Fine Lot of Hockey Players.

It is expected that the members of the Winnipeg Victorias will reach here early tomorrow morning and will take a workout on the curling club rink during the day, or perhaps a workout in the morning and another in the afternoon.

According to the reports received from Winnipeg the members of the team are in the best of condition. It is expected that the original team will be here, and this assures a real contest tomorrow evening.

The heavy advance sale of tickets assures the presence of the largest crowd that has ever witnessed a hockey game in this section of the country.

Officials of the club have been negotiating for the Winnipeg game for a year and the interest in the contest is even surpassing the fondest expectations.

Robert Wilson is the goal of the team. He is 21 years of age and weighs 150 pounds. Wilson has played intermediate hockey for three years.

R. Baker will be at point. He is 19 years of age and weighs 160 pounds. Baker was a substitute on the 1913 team and is considered one of the stars of the present aggregation.

At cover point there will be Bobby Fowler, brother of the famous "Corky" Fowler, and one of the stars of the team. Fowler is 20 years of age, weighs 160 pounds and was a member of the team of last year.

The forwards are the famous "Ham" Baker, who is 21 years of age and weighs 155 pounds, and Francis Caldwell, 22 years of age and weighs 125 pounds.

Baker was a member of the famous Allen cup team champions and was also a member of the all-star team that went East to meet the pick of the Toronto teams.

Caldwell is the veteran member of the team. For five years he has been on the senior hockey team and was also on the great 1912 Allen cup team and a member of the all-star team that invaded Eastern Canada.

Alex Romeril, 22, 160 pounds, was a member of the last year's Toronto team, and is considered one of the best men on the Victorias.

Jack Hughes, 22, 145 pounds, is at rover and he is some rover. He was on the 1913 team.

M. Balmfield will be the referee for the Winnipeg team.

CRACK WRESTLERS WHO ARE LINED UP FOR MOOSE SHOW

In the wrestling contest that will be held Saturday evening in Moose hall, the proceeds of which will be used in a charitable cause, Martin Johnson, the popular wrestling fireman of this city will hook up in a finish contest with Chris Pearson, a wrestler who has a host of friends here.

Elmer Saunders of Ashland and Fred Hass of St. Paul will meet in the semi-final of the show and Pete Petkoff and Walter Nasgoda, the linker boy, will meet in the curtain raiser.

All of the matches are good ones and the show should prove a dandy. Johnson and Pearson are believed to be evenly matched. Martin is training for the fray, and Chris is plugging away at his farm on Lester river.

There is a great deal of rivalry between Petkoff and Nasgoda and this bout promises to be filled with thrills.

Those fond of clean and scientific wrestling should see a fine show.

LARGE RECEIPTS FOR FOOTBALL

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 9.—Minnesota university's football receipts for 1913 amounted to $35,978.12, according to a statement issued today by Manager Alan McBean. In 1912 the aggregate was $32,800.80, just $3,177.28 below last year's total.

The Chicago game naturally tops the list with $16,182, more than double what was received at Chicago in 1912, when the Gophers' share amounted to $7,193.45.

The rear guard in 1913 is brought up by the North Dakota game, which yielded only $879.

COLE SIGNS UP; TWO REFUSE TO

Walter Johnson and Smoky Joe Turn Down Tinker's Offer.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Walter Johnson, the famous Washington pitcher, has refused an offer of a salary of $30,000 for three years and a bonus of $10,000, made by Joe Tinker, manager of the Chicago Federal league team, Tinker has announced. Johnson said he "was sorry, but had already signed with Washington and would not jump his contract."

A similar offer was made Joe Wood, the Boston American pitcher, but he also declined because he had already signed up with his team. "King" Cole, who gained fame as a member of the Cubs' pitching staff in 1910, and who was drafted by the New York Americans from Columbus last fall, was signed by Manager Tinker.

Teaching Him Football.

Philadelphia, Jan. 9.—Winter football practice on Franklin field is not customary, and Philadelphians were surprised yesterday when they saw members of the University of Pennsylvania varsity team, attired in their regulation togs, out on the gridiron. The footballists were not, however, formulating strategic plays for next season. They were merely engaged in teaching the fine points of the game to Michael Dorzian, the Greek athlete, who is the champion strong man of the university.

BIG SMOKE STICKS TO FIGHT FIGURE

Will Fight Smith in Mexico If Guaranteed Thirty Thousand.

Paris, Jan. 9.—Jack Johnson, the negro heavyweight pugilist, whose arm is still in splints, said yesterday afternoon that he had not received any cable offer of money for a fight with "Gunboat" Smith on the Mexican side of the border of Lower California.

"I am ready to fight if the offer meets my terms—$30,000," he said. "The fight must be subsequent to that which has been definitely fixed to take place in Paris during the first week of June against Frank Moran, the Pittsburg heavyweight. For this engagement William Astor Chanler is guaranteeing me $35,000. I expect toward the end of the same month to meet Sam Langford, provided the $30,000 I demand be forthcoming."

Johnson said that his broken arm is progressing finely. The splints are to be removed on Saturday.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 9.—There will be no further negotiations for a fight at Tia Juana, Lower California, between Jack Johnson and Gunboat Smith, foremost of the whtie hopes, until the outcome of Johnson's other two prospective fights is known. The plan was that Johnson and Smith should fight across the Mexican border from San Diego on July 4.

THREE RECORDS BROKEN

Swimmers at Chicago Beat Former Short Distance Marks.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Three world's records, the 120-yards, 200 yards and 220-yards, were broken last night in the first swim for the Central Amateur Athletic union championships, first honors going to the Illinois Athletic club. H. J. Hebner and Perry McGillivray were the record breakers. Hebner won the 220 yards race in 2 minutes, 21 seconds; E. W. McGillivray, I. A. C., was second, and Ross Strayder, Northwestern university, third. The record was held by C. M. Daniels of New York, 2:25 2-5. Hebner also lowered the 200-yard record in this race, making the distance in 2:07 2-5 against C. Healy's former time of 2:11 1-5.

Perry McGillivray won the 100-yard race in 56 seconds; W. R. Vosburgh, I. A. C., second; F. Harless, Chicago, A. A., third. McGillivray swam an extra length of the tank going 120 yards in 1:08 2-5, lowering Daniels' record of 1:10. Perry McGillivray also won the 880 yard swim in 12:32; Vosburgh second, and J. R. Woods, Northwestern, third.

SALESMEN ARE GUESTS OF HOUSE

Spend Several Days Mapping Out Year's Selling Campaign.

The traveling salesmen of Schulze Bros. company, who have been in the house since the end of last week in attendance at their annual conferences, have left for their various territories. While in the city, a definite program was planned and carried out. The men met for luncheon and dinner each day, along with the heads of their departments as the guests of the house.

At these informal affairs, various questions were taken up and threshed out to the mutual advantage of the house and salesmen.

On one of these evenings an interesting chalk talk was given by E. A. Schulze on costs, percentage of profits, etc.

Last evening they were the guests at a dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Schulze at their home. The guests were received by Mrs. Schulze and Mrs. Evereth Konantz, and they found their places at the table through the agency of suede leather book marks with their initials embossed on them.

One of the interesting features of the evening was the presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Schulze of a mission oak buffet. F. L. Kermott of Grand Forks made the presentation in words suitable to the occasion, and Mr. Schulze responded.

WOULD MODIFY NAVY DISCIPLINARY RULES

Rear Admiral Blue Says Prisoners Are Too Expensive.

Washington, Jan. 9.—A plea for the weeding out of undesirable men in the navy by "increasing the recruiting stations at the expense of the prisons," has been submitted to the house committee on naval affairs by Rear Admiral Victor Blue, chief of the bureau of navigation.

Admiral Blue said there is only a small percentage of navy offenders whose conduct involves prison sentences, and if they could be summarily discharged by the commanding officer the navy would be better off and the government could save a large amount of money in prison expenses.

"If one-fourth of the money now spent in prisons were added to the recruiting," he said, "the navy would be well supplied with excellent men, permitting the discharge of the undesirable and dissatisfied. This would make desertions unnecessary. A recruit costs the government $20 to enlist and $60 for an outfit, while the average cost of a prisoner is from $450 to $500. Besides, the service of a prison term is a dead loss. I think the punishments are too severe in a great many cases, and this subject will receive in the very near future the serious consideration of the navy."

FORM AMERICAN PIG IRON ASSOCIATION

Blast Furnace Operators Organize at New York Meeting.

New York, Jan. 9.—Blast furnace operators representing practically the entire merchant pig iron industry of the United States, met here yesterday and organized the American Pig Iron association. The membership, it was announced, comprises owners of plants with a property investment of $200,000,000 and an aggregate annual capacity of 13,639,000 tons of pig iron.

The discussion of manufacturing problems, the standardization of pig iron grades, the securing of equitable freight rates, the cultivation of closer relations wiht customers, the establishment of a uniform contract between producer and consumer, the reduction of costs and the improvement of quality, are among the purposes of the organization set forth in the by-laws. Joseph G. Butler, jr., Youngstown, Ohio, was elected president.

DROP 20,000 LOANS.

New Plan to Secure Loan Shark's Freedom Is Offered.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 9.—A new proposition for the pardon of Daniel H. Tolman, the money lender, who is serving a six months' term for usury, is under consideration by Governor Glynn. It amplifies the previous offer of Tolman and his assignees, inasmuch as it proposes to surrender unconditionally approximately $500,000 in notes, embracing principal and interest in return for the remission of the remainder of the sentence. The notes are those of nearly 20,000 borrowers from Tolman in this state. Tolman's term has a little more than two months to run. It is said the new proposal, if accepted, will remove the possibility of any future attempt to realize on the notes.

Governor Glynn, it is understood, has been disposed to favor clemency for Tolman, but has not acted because he feared some way might be found to push the claims.

The persons who submitted the proposition to the governor said the judge before whom Tolman was convicted was in favor of a pardon, and also that District Attorney Whitman would not oppose clemency.

MRS. CULLOP ELECTED.

Women's Democratic League Closes Its Session.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Mrs. William A. Cullop, wife of Representative Cullop of Indiana, was elected president of the Women's National Democratic league at its final session. Resolutions were confined to subjects considered in the Democratic party platform, the leaders holding their constitution restricted the organization to these subjects. They barred the consideration of suffrage in any of its phases.

A mild revolt against the rule of Mrs. Cullop as acting president and presiding officer, disturbed yesterday's proceedings. Mrs. Charles Morton of Washington questioned some rulings of the chair and delayed the election by demanding enforcement of a constitutional provision excluding all but members and delegates from the room during elections. The delegates were overwhelmingly in favor of the acting president, however, and the ticket went through as expected.

FEW PROVE UNWORTHY

Seven Out of Eight Paroled Men "Make Good."

Probation Officer Submits His Report for the Year.

One out of every eight prisoners placed on parole in district court during the past year proved himself unworthy of the trust reposed in him by the court. On the other hand in about 88 per cent of the cases, the parole system was effective. The percentage of failures for 1913 was less than for the previous year, according to the annual report of F. E. Resche, probation officer for St. Louis county.

Out of the sixty parole cases handled through the probation office during the year four defaulted or left the court's jurisdiction and three otherwise broke their parole and were brought before the court to have their paroles revoked and sentences executed. In 1912, out of the fifty-one

In his report, Probation Officer Resche states that on May 1 last, a separate probation officer was appointed for the range branch of the juvenile court. "All cases coming before that court," says the report, "are looked after by him, and this accounts for the smaller number of cases being handled by this office."

STEEL CORPORATION'S EARNINGS INCREASE

Net earnings of the United States Steel corporation for the year ended Dec. 31, last, are estimated at $140,500,000, as compared with $108,174,673 in the preceding year. This would leave a surplus of approximately $58,500,000 available for dividends on the common stock or 11.3 per cent and would be sufficient to leave a surplus of $33,500,000 after providing for dividends on their present basis.

In the last three years, the corporation reported an aggregate surplus of approximately $42,000,000, but during that period more than twice that sum was spent for new construction. In 1910, $53,101,000 was expended for extensions and improvements; in 1911, $49,430,000, and in 1912, $13,780,000. It is not expected that any extended program of new construction will be inaugurated by the corporation during the present year, but it is intimated that work now on hand, including the building of the Duluth plant, will be pushed along. There were under construction on Jan. 1 steel mills which will have an annual capacity of approximately 1,500,000 tons.

The following table gives the annual net earnings and surplus after all charges, including dividends, of the Steel corporation from its organization in 1901 to 1912, inclusive, together with estimates for the year 1913:

	Total Earnings.	Surp. After Dividends.

Near Death In Alps.

Geneva, Switzerland, Jan. 9.—Five English Alpinists, including a girl and a boy, were found yesterday almost frozen in a snow hut near the summit of the Dole, one of the highest peaks of the Swiss Jura. They had attempted to climb the mountain on skis and were overtaken by a blizzard. The condition of the tourists was serious, but they were transported on sledges to a hospital and probably will recover.

EMPLOYMENT AGENCY LICENSE REVOKED.

Washington, Jan. 9.—The state board of labor commissioners has revoked the employment agency licenses of Louis Citro and Harry Weiss. Citro is said to have conducted one of the largest labor agencies in the world, handling as many as 10,000 men a year, chiefly for railroad work. Testimony in the Weiss case revealed what is said to be a system of sending men from one agency to another, a $1 fee being imposed at each place. Weiss was charged with failing to keep proper records.

CLARK ENCOURAGES ARTISTS SOME MORE.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Announcement is made by the Corcoran Gallery of Art that Former Senator William A. Clark of Montana has donated $5,000 for the William A. Clark prize awards at the biennial exhibition of contemporary American oil paintings. This with other gifts, will make a total of $21,000 which Clark has given in prize awards to American artists in recognition of distinguished achievements.

Give Your Blood A GOOD Searching Bath

An astonishing record of serious blood poisoning is daily brought to our attention. And most if not all these conditions could be averted were the blood primed, toned and purified in advance by that wonderful remedy known everywhere as S. S. S. Few people realize how quickly the system becomes infected with the acids and ferments from undigested food, constipation and inactive kidneys.

The symptoms of fever, thirst, excitability, dry skin followed by rash, and many indications are often wrongly diagnosed as Ptomaine poisoning. Many people who act hastily from violent temper are simply suffering from the effects of poisoned blood, produced by faulty elimination. But by far the greatest peril is the daily danger from bruises, contusions, the scratch of a rusty nail, and vocational poisoning.

The medicinal properties of S. S. S. are relatively just as essential to well balanced health as are the nutritive properties of the meats, grains, fats and sugars of our daily food. And if you will bear this fact in mind and get your blood under the dominating influence of S. S. S. you will not only drive out those impurities that cause Rheumatism, Catarrh, Eczema, Pimples, Boils and thin anemic blood, but you will feel anew the thrill of health than can come only from a purified blood stream.

Do not accept anything else in place of S. S. S.; pay no attention to the "Just as Good" claims of those who would sacrifice your health to make an extra profit. S. S. S. contains no minerals, no crude drugs, nothing but the most beneficial materials. So be sure and get S. S. S. and avoid disappointment. TAKE SECOND HONEYMOON TO CELEBRATE SILVER WEDDING

L. A. SIMONSON.

MRS. L. A. SIMONSON.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Simonson, 2102 West Superior street, who celebrated their silver wedding anniversary on Dec. 26, and who have been spending two weeks on a silver wedding trip with relatives in Michigan returned yesterday. During their trip they visited in the Twin Cities, Chicago, Grand Rapids, Mich., Casnovia, Mich., Belding, Mich., and Gary, Ind.

While at Belding Mr. and Mrs. Simonson went through the large silk mills of that city. They also were given permission to go through the large steel plant at Gary.

"The Duluth public has no idea of the size of the plant we are going to have in operation in this city within a short time," said Mr. Simonson this morning. "In the Gary steel mills employment is now being given to 6,800 men and last fall 2,000 men were laid off. When in full operation nearly 10,000 men are at work.

"Gary is a most wonderful city. There is not a frame building anywhere. Every building is of concrete or brick. After viewing Gary in the way we did it only gives me more encouragement for the brilliant future that Duluth has. If that plant which employs close to 10,000 men alone supports a monster city, just think what our plant will mean to this city when it is in operation. Our citizens have no idea what the steel plant will mean in the progress of Duluth."

WILL HELP SOCIAL CENTER WORKERS

Adams Alumni Will Follow Example of Other West End Schools.

The Adams School Alumni association will hold a meeting this evening in the Adams school, Seventeenth avenue west and Superior street, and probably decide to take an active part in social center work in this end of the city. The success of social centers at Bryant and Irving schools has led the association members to believe that similar organizations would be of benefit to this locality.

Members of the organization will also plan to give a play within the next month in the school building. Permission to use the school has been secured and Mrs. Hoover, principal of the building will be in attendance to chaperone the meetings.

It is proposed this evening to outline a plan of activities for the year. Included in these activities will be the production of short playlets, musical programs and the alumni banquet.

JOINT INSTALLATION.

Woodmen and Royal Neighbors Unite in Giving Program.

The joint installation of Greysolon camp No. 627, Royal Neighbors, and Duluth camp No. 2341, Modern Woodmen, will take place this evening at the Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street. Mrs. Carrie Dibbell, deputy for the order in Northeastern Minnesota, will be installing officer for the ladies' lodge while Charles E. Dice, former consul of the camp, will install for the latter camp.

Following the ceremony a program of several numbers has been arranged by the committee. This will include orchestra selections, an address by William L. Bernard; vocal solo by Miss Larson; address by Mrs. Dibbell; reading by Miss Mary Hart, and selection by Frank Kirk. Music for dancing will be furnished by La Brosse's orchestra.

The committee in charge of the program consists of W. L. Bernard, J. W. Preston, George M. Peterson, L. A. Larson and W. H. Leonard.

THIEVES SMASH WINDOW

Go Through Plate Glass for Ham and Four Cents.

Burglars broke the plate glass window of the butcher shop of Johnson & Co., 20 North Twenty-first avenue west, last night and stole a boiled ham and 4 cents that were in the till. A heavy piece of slab wood had been thrown through the window smashing it into hundreds of pieces.

The damage done by the thieves amounted to a great deal more than the things stolen. The replacing of the window will cost about $35 while the ham taken was valued at only about $2.

The police are of the opinion that the burglary took place shortly before midnight when the police were at the other end of the beat.

West End Briefs.

Miss Lillian Wick will be hostess at the annual meeting of the Small Girls' Society of the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, to be held in the church parlors tomorrow afternoon.

J. A. Belmont, 1 Exeter street, has left for a short business trip to the western part of the state.

The Young People's Society of the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church will hold its annual meeting this evening in the church parlors.

Harold A. Hoyness of Kansas City is spending a few days visiting relatives in this end of the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Gregory T. Wilmot of Minneapolis, who have been spending two weeks visiting relatives in the West end left last evening for their home.

William L. Anderson of West Third street returned yesterday from a week's visit with friends in the Twin Cities.

Prayer meeting will be held this evening at 7:15 at the Central Baptist church, corner of Twentieth avenue west and First street. The subject will be "The Father's Gift Through the Son."

PURE SEED SHOW.

Much Interest Is Shown in Forthcoming Fargo Affair.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Seed men, seed growers and practical farmers are taking a great deal of interest in the pure seed show to be held here Jan. 19 to 23 during the Tri-State convention. Hundreds of samples are being sent in for judging. As the germination qualities are most important features all entries must be in by Jan. 13 in order to give those in charge of the exhibit time to make the germination tests at the agricultural college laboratories. Many farmers are sending samples of the seed they have retained for their own use and making entries to see how their grain compares with that of the seed houses. If they find their seed is not up to standard they will then be able to secure new supplies.

SEND MARINES FROM ISTHMUS TO MEXICO.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Four hundred marines now in the Panama canal zone, were ordered yesterday to join the American warships off the East coast of Mexico. This virtually will double the marine guard aboard the vessels, their force now numbering less than 450 officers and men.

In making public this order, Secretary Daniels explained the transfer was to be made for the benefit of the health of the men who have been on the isthmus for many months, and whose duties ended when the war department recently sent regular troops to permanently garrison the canal zone. He said the action did not result from any conference between himself and Secretary Garrison, nor from any suggestion or hint from President Wilson, and that it could not be connected in any way with the recent visit of John Lind to Gulfport.

HANNA WILL SPEAK AT GRAND FORKS.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor L. B. Hanna has accepted the invitation of the North Dakota Corn and Clover convention officials to open that gathering here Feb. 2. "Farmers and the State Government" is Governor Hanna's subject.

Governor Hanna is firm in his belief that conventions of this nature are a great force in establishing a new era in farming in the state.

DANCER PLEADS FOR GUILTY CHAUFFEUR.

Paris, Jan. 9.—Morverand, the driver of the automobile which last April plunged from the roadway into the Seine, carrying with it two children of Isadora Duncan, an American dancer, and their governess, all of whom were drowned, was sentenced yesterday to six months' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $40. Miss Duncan interceded in behalf of Morverand, not wishing the prosecution to continue. The sentence was suspended.

FARMERS' COMMITTEE GOING TO WASHINGTON

To Air Grievances Against Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 9.—A committee of six grain growers of the Northwest is going to Washington soon to present several grievances against the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce, having been appointed at a meeting of farmers from several of the Northwestern states, held here. The committee follows:

William Schultz, Valley City, N. D.; J. E. Kelly, Flandreau, S. D.; S. H. Greeley, Chicago; A. M. Larson, Madison, Minn.; B. F. Lowrie, Stanford, Mont.; J. M. Anderson, Superior, Wis.

Resolutions were adopted protesting against commission firms operating on the floor of the chamber buying or handling grain in competition with that consigned to them. The resolutions also opposed dealing in grain options.

These are some of the matters the committee proposes to take up with the Federal authorities.

PLAN CONCRETE ROAD.

To Build Seventy-Five Mile Drive From Fond du Lac to Green Bay.

Appleton, Wis., Jan. 9.—A project for a seventy-mile concrete roadway from Fond du Lac to Green Bay was launched here yesterday with the organization of the Fox River Valley Highway association. John Conway of Appleton was elected president.

An effort will be made to enlist a membership of 50,000 persons who will raise funds in order to take advantage of the state law providing financial aid for road building.

The road is expected to cost more than $1,000,000 and will connect Foad du Lac, Oshkosh, Neenah, Menasha, Appleton, Kaukauna, De Pere, Green Bay and intermediate villages. More than fifty cities and villages were represented at today's meeting.

PROPERTY STILL IDLE.

Certain Saloon Buildings in East Grand Forks Not Yet Used.

East Grand Forks, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Saloon property valued at nearly $100,000 will remain idle here for another two years as a result of the refusal of the council to grant licenses to applicants. This property was made vacant in a fight started two years ago, when the council declared its objection to the operation of saloons in places located next to the DeMers avenue bridge.

As a result of this refusal interesting and bitter civic political battles are anticipated within the coming few months.

BEMIDJI MAY HEAR LINDBERGH.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—As a result of the reapportionment by the legislature last winter, Beltrami county is now in the Sixth congressional district, represented by Congressman Lindbergh of Little Falls. It has been suggested that the Bemidji Commercial club invite Mr. Lindbergh to attend a dinner being planned in his honor. Congressman Lindbergh has not visited the city since Beltrami became a part of his district.

PAST YEAR IN THE CHURCH

Is Counted as Very Notable Period in Religious History.

Marked By United Effort and Adoption of New Methods.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 9.—For several reasons, the year 1913 has been notable in religious history. The epochal events range all the way from the smashing of the ecclesiastical machine in the general assembly of the Northern Presbyterian church and the radical reorganization of the Congregational denomination to several extraordinary missionary occasions, of which the chief is the actual union of all the home and foreign mission boards of North America for an every-member canvass next March.

Aside from an array of definite actions of this sort, the year just closed has been remarkable as a period of readjustment, of a feeling around on the part of the churches for a more efficient service and for a new front toward the new times. The idea of social service has made steady progress. The spirit of co-operation on the part of all religious and charitable agencies has grown apace. Even the colleges and the country churches have been getting together for a common ministry to the people.

Two Opposing Currents.

In discussing present tendencies in religious life and work with leaders and specialists in many parts of the land I have found them in agreement upon the rather startling proposition that two strong and distinct currents flow through the life of today. One of these is the markedly religious spirit in the whole body of the people. Politics, social service and literature all show a notable seriousness and even a real spirituality. The best selling novel of the year has been "The Inside of the Cup," which is really an essay on contemporary Christianity. Of the output of general religious volumes there has been a surprising array. Beyond question, the mood of today is fundamentally religious.

In contradistinction, there is apparent an equally clear popular current away from the church. Church attendance is on the decline. This is a nation-wide phenomenon. It affects rural churches and those in the great cities. It is not uncommon for edifices capable of seating 1,000 or 1,500 persons to have less than 100 worshipers at a regular Sunday service. This is alarming to real leaders, who perceive that the welfare of every individual church is bound up with the welfare of all. Some lesser men, individualists, are resorting to sensational methods to get audiences for themselves, after drawing their crowds from other churches and heedless of the general decline in church attendance, so long as they can report large congregations.

Go-to-Church Movement.

During the last few months there has sprung into wide favor the idea of a go-to-church Sunday. This is really an adjunct of the church advertising plan which aims to keep people going to church every Sunday. The avidity with which this method has been seized shows that pastors realize that church attendance is basic to the life of the organization. If you cannot get people to church, you simply cannot do anything else with them. Church attendance underlies all benevolent projects.

The last year has also made a permanent piece for itself in religious history by the widespread introduction of the new ideas of publicity, especially in the form of paid display advertising by the united churches of a community. This goes hard with many congregations. They have been so long used to sitting as beggars at the back gate of the newspapers that the idea of walking upright and self-respectingly into the front office, like any other big business concern, is strange to them. All unconsciously, many churches have demanded the special consideration that is given to weaklings. They are slow to realize that in this new era they have got to get out and make good in the world of affairs. Henceforth the churches will increasingly have to justify their immense expenditure for plant and preacher by making an adequate return upon their investment. The cost expert is abroad in the land and his searching invesigations are showing that the most expensive thing about a church is an empty pew. The signs are that the new publicity, with its go-to-church objective, will receive even more attention in 1914 than the every-member canvass.

Notable Conventions.

Several notable conventions marked the year 1913. All were conspicuous for their new breadth of view and quickened interest in social problems. A consciousness that this a new day seems to have prevaded all of them.

But it was left for the historic denomination of Pilgrim Fathers, the Congregational, to make the most drastic action. It practically reorganized itself. It parted company forever with the old conception of individual congregational independence, and tightened up its loose denominational ties. For the first time in its history, it adopted a creed. The benevolent boards were put under denominational control. A general secretary was elected whose functions are practically those of a bishop.

The Northern Presbyterians made their part of the historic three-assembly, Pan-Presbyterian meeting in Atlanta famous by wrecking the venerable ecclesiastical machine, discrediting the ecclesiastical politicians and manifesting a spirit of democracy and insurgency that will be felt for long years to come.

The triennial general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church was marked by a refusal to consider a change of name for the church; by a vigorous interest in missions; and by increasing democracy in methods of representation and legislation.

Three great meetings of laymen, the Southern Presbyterians at Memphis, the Southern Methodists at Junaluska, N. C., and the Northern Methodists at Indianapolis, were features of the year that profoundly affected the life of the respective denominations. These meetings were for inspiration, rather than for legislation.

Of world-wide importance also was the triennial world's Sunday school convention at Zurich, Switzerland, with its decision to hold the next meeting in Tokio. These great conventions put the world idea into this most comprehensive of Protestant interchurch organizations.

Livingstone Centennial.

After counting up the many millions of pieces of special literature, from big picture books to picture post cards, sold and distributed upon the occasion of the 100th anniversary of the birth of David Livingstone last March, the missionary leaders ventured the assertion that no centennial of any human being's birth was ever so widely observed as this. The secular press, from daily newspapers to quarterly reviews, vied with the religious publications in doing honor to Livingstone.

Two other notable missionary centennials were kept during 1913, that of Henry Martyn, the brilliant young missionary to India and Persia, and the recognition of 100 years of missions in India. This occasion is being kept in both America and India. The Congregationalists and the Baptists both sent deputations abroad, the latter especially to commemorate Judson's work in Burma.

Most notable of all the missionary developments of the year (not forgetting the momentous events in China) was the organization of the united missionary campaign. This finally brought together all the different home and foreign missionary boards of the United States and Canada. There had long been rivalry between the home and foreign ends of the work, as well as between the different denominations. Now all have united for a concerted campaign of education, culminating in an every member canvass, in every Protestant church in the land, in behalf of benevolences, during the month of March, 1914.

So the new year opens with a spirit of self-examination, a spirit of social responsibility, a spirit of unity and a new sense of alertness on the part of the churches. There is abroad a widespread expectancy; 1914 should be a greater year than its potent predecessor.

SCHOOL CLAIM IS UPHELD

Virginia District Sustained in Condemnation Suit for Land Title.

Supreme Court Makes Ruling Against State's Attorney General.

State lands are subject to appropriation in condemnation proceedings only when the right to acquire them is expressly granted by an act of the legislature, according to a decision handed down today by the supreme court in a St. Louis county case.

The case involved the appeal of the State of Minnesota from the ruling of Judge Dancer in district court that the Independent school district of Virginia was entitled to proceed against the state in condemnation proceedings to acquire title to a certain tract of state school land intended to be used for eduactional and experimental purposes.

The school district claimed that under chapter 258, Laws of 1913, a school district might acquire land by condemnation proceedings for this purpose, regardless of whether the state happened to be the owner of the land in question or not. The attorney general on the other hand took the position that the state was sovereign and land could not be taken without its consent through condemnation proceedings. The supreme court sustained the position of the school district.

The supreme court held in this connection that rights acquired under such condemnation proceedings are equivalent to and answer every purpose of a public sale and that the statutes, which by implication grant the right, are not in violation of any constitutional provision.

Charge Against Chisholm Man Who Is Bound Over.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joe Roseman, aged 5, was brought into municipal court yesterday to testify as to who furnished him with liquor that completely paralyzed him Wednesday at the home of Toney Yadish of the Monroe location. It was necessary for Humane Officer W. B. Brown to call a physician to care for the boy. Yadish was bound over to the grand jury, his bonds placed at $100, which his friends furnished.

The blow cut Newbauer's head open and he swore out a warrant charging Foggetti with second degree assault.

THREATENED LIFE OF HIS EMPLOYER

Charge Against Louis Picciano of Buhl Who Is Bound Over.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Masters held court until after midnight in the case against Louis Picciano of Buhl, alleged to have threatened the life of his employer, John Butler of Buhl, and hold the accused to the grand jury. It was established that the accused made a threat as though to pull a gun after striking his employer with a rock.

The case came here on a change of venue having been heard by Justice Jones of Buhl, who held the evidence was weak. It was then set before Justice Batret and transferred here on an affidavit of prejudice.

GREAT SCOTT SUES.

Brings Action Against Former Treasurer of the Town.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The town of Great Scott, as predicted in The Herald, a few weeks ago, has brought suit in district court here against Joseph H. Grant, its former treasurer, and the Fidelity & Guaranty company, which furnished his bond, to recover $2,086.48 for an alleged shortage.

Grant who lives at Buhl, says the alleged shortage is an error in bookkeeping and he can so establish at the trial which will be at the term of district court in Hibbing.

The complaint alleges that Grant served as treasurer of the town for one year, dating from March 8, 1910, and during that time received $27,-996.10 belonging to the town and paid out in town orders the sum of $23,-957.43. At the termination of his term of office, according to the complaint, he delivered to his successor the sum of $2,952.25. The shortage was discovered on March 4, 1913, by S. S. Williamson, who made an audit of the books of the town. The matter was reported to the town authorities, who made a demand upon Grant to pay over the amount and it is alleged that up to the present time he has failed and refused to do so. Demand was also made upon the Fidelity & Guaranty company, which was Grant's surety in the sum of $12,000, to make good the amount and it also refused payment.

M'GILVERY NOW CLUB PRESIDENT

Chosen to Head Eveleth Commercial Organization at Fine Meet.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Besides the election of officers several live civic topics were acted on last night at the most spirited and best attended meeting the Eveleth Commercial club has had for several months. A committee composed of A. E. Pfremmer, E. H. Hatch, Solomon Sax, A. G. Kingston and F. A. Malloy was appointed to arrange for a banquet and booster meeting to be held next month on the evening of Lincoln's birthday anniversary.

At this banquet, which will be held in the Auditorium, the ladies will be invited. This is a new feature of commercial club banquets in Eveleth and is taken as an expression in a mild way favoring the nation-wide movement for equal suffrage.

The secretary, also, was directed to write the management of the Mesaba Electric line about the insanitary condition of the company's passenger cars and request a remedy. J. J. Gleason, recently elected mayor of the city, retired from the presidency of the club at this meeting, and in leaving his seat made a very pleasing farewell talk, most important of which was his assurance in behalf of the council that the latter body would welcome at any time the advice of the commercial club and hoped to see the two bodies work together harmoniously.

RAILROAD WILL COACH EMPLOYES

Annual Conference Between Iron Range and Men Soon.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Arrangements are being made for the annual conference between the officials of the Iron Range railroad and its employes and unless some change is made the meetings will be held Jan. 28 and 29.

The company has recently purchased a first-class up-to-date moving picture machine, and a effort is being made to secure some "safety first" moving picture films and stereopticon views but such films are very hard to get.

A. D. Holliday, assistant superintendent of the Iron Range, and H. W. Mixsell, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., recently returned from Chicago where they investigated "safety first" on other roads and where they endeavored to get some views.

Rock Island Man Expected.

Some such views and films will be shown at the meetings which will be held this month. L. F. Shedd, general safety inspector of the Rock Island road, will be present at the meetings with some safety first views.

The annual meetings between the officers and the employes of the Iron Range are increasing in popularity each year.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get this famous old recipe which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair. A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and abundant. Agent, Wirth's drug store, 13 West Superior street.

FRICTION DENIED.

Lloyd-George and Churchill Are Declared Not at Outs.

London, Jan. 9.—The rumors of friction between David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer, and Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, on the armaments question, based on the chancellor's pronouncement in the Daily Chronicle, Jan. 1, in which he expressed his belief that the present is the most favorable moment in twenty years for a policy of retrenchment, have been set at rest to some extent by the utterances of the Right Hon. Stanley Owen Buckmaster at Keighley last night.

The solicitor-general asserted that there was no division, not even a rift, in the general ranks. The government's policy to preserve the naval superiority of Great Britain had not changed, but at the same time it was intended to make it plan that neither for aggrandizement nor aggression would Great Britain add a single unit to her naval strength.

The Chronicle understands that Premier Asquith will visit Paris next week, and suggests that this visit is connected with the international situation, probably the problems arising out of the Balkan war.

HATES TO LET LOOSE.

Montana Republican Federal Official Refuses Orders to Resign.

Helena, Mont., Jan. 9.—Replying to a telegraphed request from Attorney General McReynolds for his resignation, A. W. Heidel, assistant district attorney here, issued a formal statement declaring that he would not resign because his attempted removal is purely for the purpose of providing an opportunity to pay political debts and to strengthen and build up a political machine. Heidel is a Republican and was appointed to the position of assistant United States attorney since Mr. McReynolds became attorney general. Recently the new United States attorney for Montana, B. K. Wheeler of Butte, asked Mr. Heidel for his resignation as Mr. Wheeler proposed to appoint a Mr. Murphy of Helena, but this was declined, Heidel writing a sarcastic reply to the effect he was appointed by McReynolds and that "Democratic dollars looks as good to me as Republican and there is prospect of hard winter yet."

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

SALOONS ARE TO BE ISSUE

Question of Their Future Existence Feature of Bemidji Campaign.

Beltrami County Seat Is to Decide Question on Feb. 17.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the regular annual city election to be held Feb. 17, Bemidji, for the first time in its history, will vote on the question of wiping out the saloons.

Under the provisions of a bill enacted by the legislature a year ago, cities of the fourth class—and Bemidji is in this class—may, upon petition of 10 per cent of the voters, cast at the preceding election, put up the saloon issue as one to be voted on at the regular election.

Petitions already circulated here have been signed by more than the required percentage so that whether or not saloons will be permitted to continue to obtain licenses here will be one of the questions to be decided at the coming election.

Shortly after the new council was seated last spring, the saloon license was raised from $500 to $1,000 and saloon keepers were notified that the number of saloons would be reduced whenever, in the judgment of the council, a license should be refused until the number of saloons here would be sixteen.

Five Less Saloons.

Since that time five saloons have been put out of business leaving twenty-nine, thirteen over the sixteen mark. The saloon issue is expected to furnish one of the hottest issues of the city campaign now opening.

Next in interest is the apparent determination of the voters to slaughter any candidate who wears the brand of Socialism. At the present time five Socialists hold public office in Bemidji: Earl Geil as county treasurer, C. L. Moon, register of deeds; E. W. Hannah, alderman from the Third ward; A. B. Crowell, elected municipal judge a year ago for a term of four years, and W. N. Weber, clerk of the municipal court.

REMINGTON CASE AGAIN TO FRONT

Claim Made North Dakota Murderer Was Released Too Soon.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The pardon of Joseph E. Remington from the North Dakota penitentiary nearly two years ago when he was serving a life sentence for killing Elevator Agent Fleet of Arthur, this (Cass) county, which created much comment and feeling is again in the limelight and there is a possibility of the case being injected into the coming gubernatorial campaign, as the claim is made that the then penitentiary warden, Hellstrom, now a reputed candidate for governor on the Democratic ticket, set the prisoner free without legal authority. Remington is holding a clerical position in Minneapolis under an assumed name, it is said.

Friends of Fleet, the victim, are planning to cause the re-arrest of Remington that he may serve the balance of his sentence. Remington began to serve his life sentence Dec. 22, 1891. On Dec. 2, 1911, the state board of pardons commuted Remington's sentence to thirty years. The state law provides for good time deductions from the sentences of prisoners who are on their good behavior. It specifically and for obvious reasons exempts lifers from this class of beneficiaries.

World Expire in 1921.

Under the terms of commutation Remington's sentence would have expired Dec. 22, 1921. He was given his liberty by Warden Hellstrom Dec. 22, 1912, or nine years earlier than the expiration of his commuted term.

Under no theory could any good time allowance have been computed prior to Dec. 2, the date of the commutation. Under good behavior Remington might have earned between three and four years good time during the last decade of his term. The earliest possible moment of his liberation with perfect behavior would have been between 1918 and 1919.

It is claimed Warden Hellstrom permitted him his freedom nine years before the expiration of his full term and six or seven before Remington could have earned his good time deductions.

Friends of Flett, the murdered man, are enraged over the discovery of the warden's action. They were greatly indignant at the commutation but their feelings now are intensified.

Wife's Broken Heart Over Husband's Drinking

If you were to stay in the office of the Neal Institute a single day and answer the 'phone calls and attend the door every time the door-bell rang, and met the wives and mothers and sisters and other loved ones who go there in the interest of their drinking ones, and heard their pitiful stories of drink, and the want and privation, sorrow and suffering and anguish that liquor had brought them, heard the piteous sobs of the broken-hearted wife as she tells of her little ones at home in want, and her husband downtown drinking, you would say "surely the Neal Institute, next to the Church, was the greatest institution in the land." There, in just three days, all craving, desire and appetite for liquor is taken away, and the drinker restored to his wife and little ones a sober man, who then hates and despises all liquor. Our new booklet, "The Modern Method of Treatment for Alcohol and Drug Addiction," giving full information, mailed on request and in a plain sealed envelope. CLERGYMEN, LAWYERS, ACTORS--- ALL SPEAKERS SHOULD USE HYOMEI

It Quickly Relieves Hoarseness Or Stuffed-up Head, Strengthens the Voice, Soothes and Heals the Inflamed Membrane of the Nose and Throat.

Hyomei is the discovery of R. T. Booth, once an international lecturer in the cause of temperance. After years of speaking in England and America he developed a serious lung and catarrhal trouble. On the advice of physicians he went to Inland Australia where night and day he could breathe the antiseptic balsams given off by the forests, especially the eucalyptus trees. Mr. Booth completely regained his health, and always attributed his recovery to nature's healing balsams and antiseptics which he had breathed. He then conceived the idea of making a combination of certain antiseptic oils that could be breathed through an inhaler, and as near as possible create the same health-giving air that had restored his health.

Hyomei is the result of his study, and for twenty-five years sufferers from catarrh, bronchitis, laryngitis, husky voice, and frequent head colds, have been getting effective, safe and quick relief from this direct-to-the-spot remedy. No stomach dosing—you simply breathe an antiseptic and germicidal air—nothing easier or more pleasant. Hyomei being medicated air immediately reaches the raw and inflamed membrane, quickly relieves the congestion, and soothes and health the sore and diseased tissues. The first breath of Hyomei will convince you of its virtue—it will touch the spot.

Do not suffer needlessly with hoarseness, weak voice, that choked-up feeling, or dangerous catarrh. Begin the Hyomei treatment now. Ask your druggist for the complete outfit, $1.00 size. Boyce drug store sells it on money back if not satisfied plan—you to be the judge.

WILL PAVE WITH BRICK

Commissioner Decides to Improve Part of West Superior Street.

Job to Be Done By Day Labor; Assessment in Advance.

Commissioner Roderick Murchison, head of the works division, in conference with other members of the city council, decided this morning to improve West Superior street between Fifteenth and Twenty-fifth avenues with a brick pavement on a concrete base.

The figures of the engineer showed that the difference in the cost of a complete new pavement and of brick laid on the present macadam as a base was too slight to warrant the latter job.

Cost of Work.

The estimates for a brick paving on a concrete base fixed $137.50 as the cost of each 25-foot lot, while the cost for brick laid on the tar macadam would be $100 per 25-foot lot, or only $20 less. The unanimous feeling was that where so little money could be saved the experiment would not be justified. J. J. Moe attended the meeting and stated that he is confident the property owners will not object to the assessments which Commissioner Murchison said would be levied.

At the next council meeting a resolution will be passed directing the improvement of that portion of the street. This will be done under that provision of the charter which enables the council to order improvements without a petition.

Job By Day Work.

Two distinctly new departures will characterize this improvement if it goes through according to schedule. The job will be done by day labor under the direction of the division of public works and the complete assessment will be definitely levied in advance. The latter means that the works division will do the work for $137.50 per 25-foot lot, complete, and will make no additional charge should the cost run above that figure. As far as can be ascertained the property owners will indorse the program of the commission. They, as well as the entire city, recognize the need of a new pavement on that part of Superior street, which is now in disgraceful condition. The arrangement of Commissioner Murchison is so much in the favor of the property owners that it is anticipated that they will be more than willing to do all in their power to put it through.

The total cost of the jub as figured by the engineer will be $65,643, of which the city's share will be $21,643 and that of the property owners, $44,000.

WILL FINISH THE LOBBY INQUIRIES.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Plans for closing up the senate lobby investigation will be made by the lobby committee next week, Chairman Overman announced today. The committee expects to conclude the investigation by hearing representatives of the American Federation of Labor who desire to explain their legislative activities.

NANSEN LAWYER FOR EARLE'S COMPANION.

Christiania, Norway, Jan. 9.—Alexander Nansen, a brother of Dr. Friedtjof Nansen, the Norwegian explorer, has been retained to defend Miss Charlottee Herman, the companion of Ferdinand Pinney Earle, the American painter. Earle is in jail here charged with abducting Harold Earle, his son by his first wife. Miss Herman's case is to be treated separately from that of Earle.

WEST DULUTH CURLERS

One of the most enthusiastic curlers at the Western Curling rink is Walter M. Evered, skip of the Evered rink. For the past six years Mr. Evered has been "walking away" with at least one trophy each year.

While the rink has in past years shown its superiority over some of the other rinks at the club, it received a sad blow at the hands of one of the "amateurs" early this week. The Judson aggregation had "easy sailing" in taking the two games necessary to qualify in the Manley-McLennan event.

Evered has a strong line-up of men playing on his rink. With Clark as lead and Mattix as second and D. C. Wakeman, a former skip as third, he expects to win at least two if not more trophies this season.

The weather last night was more suited to the use of umbrellas than brooms, and many who had planned on going to Superior were sadly disappointed. This evening the delegation which will accompany the Wade, Judson, Zauft and Wieland rinks will be considerably larger.

Drawing were made last night for the play in the Union Match trophy. Each of the trophies will be played for in bonspiel style owing to the shortness of the season. The following is the draw:

Preliminary.	First Round.
Olson Quinn	Sullivan
Ellis Wieland	Brown
Zauft Evered	Simpson
Wade Mallory	Judson

WILL BE GIVEN A HEARING MONDAY.

Tony Mikrut, who fired three bullets at a Raleigh street saloon keeper, Tuesday forenoon, will be given a hearing at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon. The hearing will be conducted before Judge Lanners of the West Duluth court. Assistant County Attorney, M. M. Forbes will appear on behalf of the state. Mikrut is charged with assault in the first degree.

WERE CELEBRATING TOO STRENUOUSLY.

A belated New Year's celebration last night cost four New Duluth men $10 apiece this morning when arraigned in police court. The men were driving a rig recklessly through the New Duluth streets and singing and shouting at the top of their voices. Each put up $10 for bail to appear in police court this morning.

Dave Nurm forfeited the bail by his non-appearance. The others, Tony Jaconivich, Emil Kunds and Sam Belich were fined $8 and costs each amounting to the $10. Sergeant McDermott caused the arrest of the four men.

COMMITTEE MEETING WAS POSTPONED.

The meeting of the general committee of the West Duluth Commercial club scheduled for last evening was postponed until 7 o'clock this evening on account of several other activities which members of the committee had to attend to. It is proposed this evening to name the members of many of the sub-committees for the club.

The plans for the "ladies" night to be held a week from tonight will be announced this evening by the committee. A program of several numbers is being arranged. The members of the committee are Louis Oreck, H. W. Lanners, C. G. Futter, P. H. Martin and Dr. W. E. Boerner.

COMFORT STATION AND EMPLOYMENT OFFICE.

The comfort station recently arranged by the city in the old building formerly used as a branch of the water and light department will be opened the first part of next week to the public. In addition to being used for a public comfort station a free employment office for women will be opened and will, it is hoped, help to solve the domestic servant problem for this end of the city.

The comfort station will be open at all hours of the day and night. The place adjoins the West Duluth market site.

Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Sinnott, 209 North Fifty-sixth avenue west, this morning announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Margaret Irene Sinnott to Chris Daugaard of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Walke, 411 South Sixty-second avenue west, entertained last evening in honor of Mrs. N. Gund and daughter, who are visiting in the city. Games and music furnished the entertainment. The guests were: Messrs. and Mesdames Jacobas, Grave, Dene, Groves and Goven; Misses Gund, Dene, Jacbas, John Dene, Jr., and A. Jacbas.

Mrs. Hamilton Dies.

Mrs. Julia Etta Hamilton, 56 years old, died at 1 o'clock this morning at her home, 4513 Oneota street, following an illness of two days from a stroke of paralysis. She leaves two sons and a daughter. The sons are Albert, of West Duluth, and Thomas, and Mrs. George Brown of Princeton, Wis. The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Richter's undertaking rooms, with interment in Oneota cemetery. She moved to this city two months ago.

Mrs. J. N. Kennedy of Cheboygan, Mich., is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Lyons, 5613 Main street. She was called to this city on account of the illness of her brother, Ely Bressett, who is at St. Luke's hospital.

TRANSVAAL CITIZENS ARE CALLED TO ARMS

Serious Disorders in Railroad Strike Are Feared.

Cape Town, Union of South Africa, Jan. 9.—The entire active citizen defense force of the Transvaal was called out by proclamation issued today after an urgent meeting of the cabinet to consider the railroad strike situation. This action was taken on the ground that serious disorders were anticipated.

The burghers of several districts of the Orange Free State also were called to arms.

Gen. Jan Christian Smutz, minister of defense of the Union of South Africa, and Henry Burton, minister of railways, departed hurriedly for Johannesburg after the council had ended.

Dynamite on Track.

Johannesburg, Union of South Africa, Jan. 9.—An attempt to blow up a train was made here today by strike sympathizers. The explosive, consisting of four sticks of dynamite with a detonator attached, was discovered by a foreman inspecting the line between Wipoortje and Luipaardevleit.

A crowded passenger train was almost due when the dynamite was found. The dynamite had been fixed to the track so that its explosion was inevitable if struck by a train.

CROWN PRINCE CALLS IT "DEVILISH HARD"

Writes in "Emotional Language" of Leaving His Regiment.

Berlin, Jan. 9.—A characteristic communication was sent by the German crown prince to the Death's Head Hussars, which he commanded at Danzig, on the occasion of his transfer to Berlin to serve on the general staff. According to today's Taegliche Rundschau, always well informed in military affairs, "he expressed regret at his departure in deeply emotional language. The newspaper quotes him as follows:

"It is devilish hard and breaks my heart that I cannot ride at your head through life. * * * The two happiest years of my life were spent in your ranks. Today I bury my youth. * * * If ever the king calls and the bugle sounds the charge, then think of him whose fondest wish it was to live this moment of a soldier's highest happiness in your company."

Explains His Transfer.

The same newspaper publishes an explanation of the crown prince's recall to Berlin from Danzig, which disposes of the rumors that it was connected with his telegrams to Col. Von Reuter commending the conduct of the miltary in Zabern. The transfer of the crown prince was due, it says, to his unsatisfactory relations with his immediate superiors, Gen. August von Mackensen and Maj.-Gen. Count Eberhard von Schmettow, whom the emperor had selected as the crown prince's military advisers, but to whom he refused to listen.

HAS MEMORY FOR FACES

Bertillon Expert Recognizes Fake Mute as Man With Local Record.

Saw Him Last Seven Years Ago—Prisoner Is Jailed.

After measuring over 2,000 criminals in the past seven years and seeing nearly 30,000 prisoners during that time, Gus Lahti, who is in charge of the Bertillon department at police headquarters, this morning looked at Harry Yate and remembered him as being the man arrested here on June 19, 1907, for stealing $4.

Mr. Lahti inspects all the prisoners arrested before they are taken to police court in the morning for the purpose of learning if they have ever been arrested here before, or, if possible, if they may be wanted in other cities. It was while looking the prisoners over this morning that Mr. Lahti recognized Yate.

Mr. Lahti went upstairs to the Bertillon room and in a few minutes located a photograph of Yate and a complete record of him. He was taken into custody here in 1907 for stealing $4 from a man named Griff and was given three months in the county jail at the time. He had never been heard of since.

Yate, whose real name is Mike Burns and who has also used the name of James O'Connor, is 35 years old and was arrested last evening for begging on the street. He pretended to be deaf and dumb and was using a paper asking for assistance. On this paper he told of his afflictions and said that he wanted to save enough money to go into some legitimate business. He had already collected about $9 when arrested by Patrolman Link.

The photograph of Yate was shown to Judge Cutting by Mr. Lahti and on the strength of the prisoner's former record, together with his fake game played yesterday, he was given a straight sentence of three months in the county jail. He pleaded guilty when arraigned in court.

MAY HARNESS GREAT FALLS

Senator Norris of Nebraska to Present Plea to Congress.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Harnessing the waters of Great Falls on the Potomac for the purpose of developing power for the use of the national capital is a plan Senator Norris of Nebraska intends to bring before congress after the holiday adjournment. The Nebraska senator will introduce a bill for this purpose and carrying an appropriation of $15,000,000, with which to put it into effect.

Senator Norris has given this subject a great deal of study, and is convinced it not only is feasible, but that it would be a great thing for the city. Of course, he anticipates opposition of the most determined character.

It is suggested by the senator that if congress gives as much attention to the power question in connection with Great Falls as it did when the Hetch Hetchy bill for San Francisco was passed the advisability of utilizing the power of Great Falls will be demonstrated. The temper of the house, however, manifested in paring down appropriations for the District, the need for which is apparent to everybody, does not presage very speedy action on a plan to expend $15,000,000 for the District, no matter how meritorious it may be.

Discussing his proposed plan, Senator Norris said:

"The government owes it to itself, as well as to Washington, to go ahead with this work. A large sum will have to be spent developing further the water supply of the city. Why should we not add sufficient to this to bring the power opportunities to utilization?

"Congress passes a Hetch Hetchy measure for San Francisco, and gives the closest attention to the questions of power as well as water supply. Congress can understand in the case of San Francisco that power is a very important by-product of the development of an adequate water supply for a great city.

"What excuse is there for us to overlook an exactly similar, but less expensive, situation right here at the door of Washington? It is a reflection on the administrative intelligence and capacity of the national government, with its vast concerns in Washington, if we do not give the country an example of efficient use of water power and at the same time save to the community the money that would be represented by the substitution of water for steam power in operating the enterprises of this city."

CLEANLINESS FIRST RULE

Initiation at the Work Farm Includes a Real Bath.

Hair Cut and Clean Clothes for the New Arrivals.

That's the utliniatum of Fred Ward, superintendent of the new city and county work farm, in the language of a "patient"—not of the superintendent.

Cleanliness is to be one of the first rules of the institution.

Yesterday afternoon another batch of men who had indulged too freely in squirrel booze, was hauled out to the farm in a big sleigh secured from the Totman stables. One after another they passed under the critical eye of the superintendent. And one after anothet they were given their "initiation."

Men Cleaned Up.

Hundreds and thousands have laughed at the alleged harmless "stunts" that have been pulled off at lodge initiations. They thought they were seeing the real thing, but the genuine simon pure article is worked at the work farm, the benefits of which are the privileges of working from one to three months for nothing and being put in shape to take a new lease on life.

Midst kicks and squeals and grunts they were made to strip themselves of the garments which hid their bodies from the eyes of the world.

Clipped and Bathed.

The men who are to take treatment at the farm were then treated to a hair cut, the operating being performed by one of the guards equipped with a pair of clippers. He didn't leave the tops of their pates looking quite like a billiard ball, but he took away liberal slices along the edges. From the "barber shop" they were escorted in turn to the bath tub, and if they didn't want to get in they got in anyhow. And if they didn't wash themselves they got a scrubbing in spite of themselves. The spectacle would have been a profitable field for a talking moving picture outfit. (No charge is made for the "munch.")

Superintendent Ward declares that the institution is now clean and that he proposes to keep it clean, and the boarders along with it. The bedding and clothing are all new and the bunks are of the sanitary, iron variety. When the men are put to work they will be provided with suitable clothing and when they are discharged their old garments will be returned to them. They can keep them if they will work after the expiration of their sentences long enough to pay for them.

COMMISSIONERS END QUIZZING OF THAW

Findings Will Be Filed With Court in Few Days.

Concord, N. H., Jan. 9.—Hearings before the commission appointed by United States court to determine whether the release of Harry K. Thaw on bail would endanger public safety were concluded today and three members of the commission went to Boston to consult their colleague, Dr. Morton Prince, who has been confined to his home by illness.

It is expected that the findings of the commission will be filed with Federal Judge Aldrich within a few days.

William Travers Jerome sent word from New York to the commission that he would not appear before them, as they requested. Mr. Jerome is acting as a special deputy attorney general of New York in an effort to extradite Thaw on a charge of conspiracy in connection with his escape from the Matteawan asylum for the insane.

FIRE IN DICKINSON HALL AT PRINCETON.

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 9.—A slight fire in Dickinson hall, the oldest of Princeton's recitation auditoriums, while 300 students were within, caused much excitement at noon today. A student detected smoke while professors were conducting classes in economics. The fire was discovered in the flooring on the second landing of the building. A fire extinguisher quickly put out the blaze.

A carelessly thrown cigarette is supposed to have started the fire.

WHAT DID HE MEAN TO SAY?

Current Opinion: A certain Dr. Spooner of Oxford has become famous for his blundersome way of mixing up words. Here are some of his weird expressions. Can you untangle them?

Turning to a young lady sitting next to him at a dinner table, Dr. Spooner asked:

"Will you pass the pig's fleas?"

A little later, pointing to some cranberry jelly, he asked the same young lady to pass "that stink puff."

Being late for dinner one evening, he excused himself, saying he had been "hatching a pasty snipe."

To a railroad porter who asked about his baggage, the doctor said he had "two rags and a bug."

Entering the kitchen when fish were on the fire, he sniffed and exclaimed, "What a hell of smerrings!"

But the worst case of all occurred when he was in the pulpit. He announced as his text: "Many are called but chew are fosen. Be ye therefore of the fosen chew."

HOMES ALREADY FOUND FOR TWO OF THE FOUR CHILDREN WHOM MOTHER COULD NOT SUPPORT

Comfortable homes have been found for two of the four children turned over to the county poor commission yesterday by Mrs. Mary Dudley, who declared that poverty forced her to give all but one of her children away.

Mrs. Dudley and five children were sent back from Canada as deports. At Maple Creek, Sask., Mrs. Dudley had been abandoned by her husband and forced to apply to the authorities for charity. She was deported as soon as it was learned that she was an alien and likely to become a public charge. The Dudleys formerly lived at Aurora.

The county home for children conducted by Mrs. Margaret Pinkle at 16 West Fifth street received the children yesterday. They were given a bath and clean clothes and today two of them were taken away by parties who had read an account of the family's plight in last evening's edition of The Herald.

"PREVENTION" IS CRY.

The Only Solution of Social Problems.

From Vogue: "Prevention" is the slogan of the present day philanthropist, criminologist and prison reformer, and of every group of people who are trying to stem the tide of disease or crime. When working among discouraging social conditions the realization that the problems presented are not permanent ones, but problems which the practice of preventive measures will eventually solve, is an inspiration in itself.

The Chelsea day nursery gives a good example of the working of modern preventive measures. Its mission is to save the children of tuberculous parents, and it cares exclusively for the children of this class who live in the district under the jurisdiction of the department of health clinics.

Immaculate Cleanliness.

Only children with tuberculous parents are admitted to the Chelsea day nursery, as, since this nursery was established, all other day nurseries refuse to receive children who live in homes with tuberculous patients. The advantages offered at this nursery are so great that mothers resort to all manner of dissimulation in order to obtain entrance for their little ones. Immaculate cleanliness is maintained in all parts of the house, which is an ordinary city dwelling modified to meet the needs of caring for thirty or more children each day. There are fifty children registered at the nursery, but they are rarely all present at the same time. The limit of registration is prescribed by the board of health on account of the limited size of the house in which the nursery is located.

Suitable diet, suitable exercise, and fresh air are the agencies relied upon to save the children from falling victims to the parental affliction. The generally healthful appearance of the children who, when they come to the nursery, were in an anemic, spiritless condition, bears testimony to the practicality of the enterprise. As is usually the case with tenement children, the Chelsea nursery children have harmful dietary tastes—an abiding fondness for coffee and a virile dislike for cereals and milk. Such children are gently but firmly persuaded into a liking for nourishing and wholesome food. The heaviest meal of the day is at noon, when substantial foods, such as meat and vegetables, are served. After the noonday dinner all the children take a nap for an hour.

They Live on Roof.

An attempt was made to furnish the nursery children with shoes and clothes to wear at home, but the parents of the children took unfair advantage of this generosity, and so the distribution of such articles has been greatly curtailed. As the children live on the roof even during very cold weather, they must have warm outer clothing to supplement the clothes provided by their parents, and shoes and garments, especially leggings and sweaters, are always acceptable.

VERY SUPERIOR CLAY.

Pathfinder: The late Eugene Field while on one of his lecturing tours entered Philadelphia. There was some delay at the bridge over the Schuylkill river, and the humorist's attention was attracted by the turbid, coffee-colored stream flowing underneath. He asked the colored porter: "Don't you people get your drinking water from this stream?"

"Yassir! Ain't no yuther place to git it from, 'cept th' Delaweah. Yassir!"

"I should think," said the humorist, "that you would be afraid to drink such water; especially as the seepage from that cemetery I see on the hill must drain directly into the river and pollute it."

"I reckon yo' all doan' know Philadelphy ve'y well, sah, aw you'd know dat's Lau'el Hill cemetery!" said the son of Ham.

"Well, what of that?" asked Field.

"Dat wattah doan' hu't us Philadelphians none, sah," replied the native son. "W'y mos, all of de folkses bu'ied theah aw f'om ouah ve'y best families!"

HERETICS.

Dr. Frank Crane in Woman's World: We are all inclined to favor the heretic these days. But after all the heretic is a wicked person. I do not say he should be roasted nor hamstrung, but something ought to be done to him. The sheep ought to be separated from the goats.

But—

But, I want to define what a heretic is. Here is the line of demarcation:

Do you believe that the visible or the invisible is the reality? Do you stand on the side of spirit or on the side of mind?

Which do you believe in, brain or mind?

Which do you think is your Me, your body or your soul?

Do you believe that conscience is a product of matter, or a spiritual entity?

Do you believe love to be but a refinement of fleshly desire, or that it is something that will live on when the body is decayed?

Do you believe that patriotism, honor, humaneness, truth, self-sacrifice, courage and goodness belong to the same category as chills and fever?

Do you believe a woman is a beautiful animal or "a spirit, yet a woman too?"

Do you believe the universe is a huge automatic steam engine, or that it is the expression of a personal purpose?

These questions indicate the eternal line that separates the sheep from the goats, the real orthodox from the real heretic.

AN EXCELLENT FIRE.

London Answers: Mrs. Brown at last had found a cook—a really first rate cook, but one who, unfortunately, knew nothing about the manipulation of a gas stove.

Mrs. Brown, therefore, sent her husband to the kitchen to explain matters. This he proceeded to do very thoroughly, lighting each of the many burners in order that the cook really might see how the range was operated. While he was still explaining, a message called him from the kitchen.

"Oh, well," he remarked as he turned away, "you'll soon learn how it works, won't you, Martha?"

Several days elapsed before master and cook met again. Then one morning Mr. Brown happened to meet Martha in the hall.

"Well," he asked, "and how's the range doing?"

To his and Mrs. Brown's utter consternation, this was the reply:

"Deed, sir, that's the best stove I ever did see. The fire you kindled for me four days ago is still a-burning, and it ain't even lowered once."

SCULPTURE.

Dr. Frank Crane in Woman's World: Sculpture is a lost art.

I have been through innumerable galleries, and have seen the statues also that modern people have set up in parks and graveyards, at courthouse doors and in city squares. Some of them are good handicraft. None are sculpture in the true sense of the word, as the Greeks understood it.

The reason for it is simple.

It is that modern ideas are saturated with what is called Christianity; not real Christianity, but that long darkness of medievalism, where asceticism and an unnatural and immoral suppression of all natural instincts was fancied to be wholesome.

In other words we have lost the sense of the beauty and glory of the nude human body. We approach it with a feeling of shame.

"Belief in the body," as Swineburn tells us, "is the secret of sculpture. It is a purely pagan art."

This latter sentence I deny, for the unclean fears and timid morbidities of religion are not religion's essence. There is no reason why Christian's culture should not clarify and widen to include sculpture.

When we shall have progressed enough to cling only to the deep moralities of life and nature, and shall be clean-minded enough to see the spirit-beauty of bodies.

CHANGED HIS ORDER.

Popular Science: In a little restaurant where the waiter insists upon slamming down your plate or saucer, a man had ordered a sandwich and a cup of coffee. Then he decided to add something else to his order.

"Gimme a plate o' that country sausage, too," he told the waiter.

Just then the accident happened.

Somebody stepped on the tail of a small anaemic-looking dog that had followed another customer into the restaurant. The dog gave three staccato yelps.

"Just countermand that order for sausage," growled the man, with a wry face. "I didn't know you had to go and make it."

The outplut of lead, zinc, copper, silver and iron ore of Missouri in 1912 was worth $34,958,241.

SEVEN-YEAR-OLD DUKE IN NEW YORK

DUKE OF CHAULNES.

The young duke de Chaulnes, the 7-year-old son of the duchess de Chaulnes, arrived in New York on the George Washington. The young duke's father, it will be recalled, died before his son's birth. The duchess de Chaulnes is a daughter of Theodore Shonts of New York.

MEXICAN PAPERS DEPLORE "WAR" IN THE UNITED STATES

Lurid Stories of Uprisings in Colorado Are Printed in Huerta's Capital.

Mexican Herald: Under the caption of "To the formidable cry of long live liberty! a revolution has broken out in the United States; reports received at the last moment coming from Laredo, say that in the state of Colorado, two battalions of negroes have risen in arms and asserted their claims for citizenship; it is assured that within a short time unless they are heard, more than 100,000 men who have suffered humiliation at the hands of the whites will repudiate President Woodrow Wilson," El Heraldo Nacional, in an extra edition said:

"For two or three days back, sensational reports have circulated in the north of the republic and particularly in towns which are near the line, regarding the uprising of two battalions of negroes of the American army, in the state of Colorado.

Report Spreads.

"In the foreign circles of this capital and particularly among persons who have business with commercial houses in the south of the United States, the report also has spread of the uprising of the two battalions of negroes, proclaiming the revolution of the colored people against the American government.

"Some of the Yankee gentlemen, however, have given no importance to the affair because they consider the negroes inferior to the whites and doubt that they will be able to prosper in the rebellion which they are starting.

"We held such sensational news in quarantine until, from Laredo, Tex., we received the confirmation of the cry of liberty which has been started by the negro soldiers, who carry a banner which reads 'Death to Wilson and long live Taft.'

Denver Is Sacked.

"The first town to be attacked was Denver, Colo., where the negroes sacked the banks and the principal commercial houses and set fire to many private residences.

"Abandoning this important town, they destroyed the lines of communication, both railway and telegraph.

"The government of the United States has hushed up all that it knows about this armed movement, giving as an explanation that it is merely a question of a strike, but already it is understanding the importance of the uprising, since, very soon, it will see itself opposed by more than 100,000 negroes who are working for the abolition of slavery and of the lack of consideration with which they are looked upon by the Yankees throughout the confederation.

Censorship Is On.

"We expect tonight or tomorrow more details regarding this, although the government of Washington has ordered a censorship in all its forms on the telegrams which leave the United States."

The Herald has received no news regarding the reported revolution in Colorado and takes the above story verbatim from its better informed colleague, El Heraldo Nacional, as it appears that it was not so fortunate in avoiding the censorship at Washington which is referred to in the last paragraph of the story.

KICKS THAT PUT JOHN BARLEYCORN TO FLIGHT

Stories of Men Who Were Drunkards at 40 and Then Reformed and Became Useful Citizens.

In the January American Magazine Peter Clark MacFarlane tells stories of several drunkards who have recovered themselves. One story is that of Henry Allison, a successful business man, who went down grade via the drink route, and at 40 was helpless and out of a job. To his own way of thinking he was not an alcoholic. He thought of consulting an alienist, but his wife suggested that he consult Dr. Samuel Worcester, rector of Emmanuel church in Boston. Excerpts from the stories follow:

Allison readily consented to go and see Doctor Worcester, who threw a brick by asking bluntly in a by no means conciliatory tone:

"Well, what's the matter with you?"

The question came crashing into Allison's mind like a sash weight through a window.

"I'm a drunkard," replied Henry, just as bluntly; "that's what's the matter with me."

What that subliminal self had said surprised Henry Allison beyond measure. Although he knew it was the truth the minute he heard it, it was something he had never confessed hitherto, even to himself. While Henry was still dazed by this sudden discovery, the imperturbable giant on the other side of the table threw another brick, at the same time driving two steel blue eyes into Allison's soul until he felt himself squirming like an eel upon a pitchfork.

"How long do you want to be a drunkard?" was the question Doctor Worcester now asked.

Henry leaped to his feet, his whole body shaking. Want to be a drunkard? He did not want to be drunkard at all.

Doctor Worcester listened in a bored sort of way till Henry had emptied himself.

"Now," said the doctor of moral medicine, "come here and sit down."

Doctor Worcester's manner had changed completely. He was now all sympathy and understanding.

"Place yourself in a perfectly comfortable position in this easy chair," he said. "I am going to give you a treatment. I am going to relax you perfectly. Please close your eyes."

Dr. Worcester, then speaking in a quiet, easy tone of voice, proceeded to reduce his patient to a state of extreme suggestibility. Henry, soon no more than half conscious of his body, felt as if his members were gently drifting away from him on some mysterious current.

Presently he could hear Dr. Worcester talking softly. Like that first question, the doctor's communications seemed to filter through into the basement of his mind. Henry felt himself taking hold on some very wonderful thoughts.

"You are a new man now," Dr. Worcester was suggesting. "You will have a new control over your body. You no longer are a drunkard. You do not want to drink. You never will drink again. You have emptied out your appetite. You will put something better, nobler in the place of them. * * *

Allison, in his poised, detached state of mind, found himself accepting these statements as absolute truth.

"You may open your eyes," said Dr. Worcester.

Henry did so, but after the first shock of opening them sat staring speechless into the outer world of reality. He did not wish to move. He was thinking, connecting the new set of ideas with the practical problems of the life he had to live. He made himself a whole new theory of life in those silent motionless moments.

The minute Henry got his theory on its legs, he stood up.

"Dr. Worcester," he said, "I came into this room a drunkard. I am going out a sober man. I know that I will never drink again. My life is on a new plane."

There were other visits to Dr. Worcester, and other happenings at the first visit not set down here—including a prayer which Henry says was the first real prayer of his life; but he had got his kick. Now his host at dinner parties may put an olive in one glass and a cherry in the other and cocktail liquor in both, and he will look on either indifferently. He says it would be impossible for him to do anything else, that he has developed a new thing in his system—a "spiritual muscle."

Besides which, he is again in business, is making money, and keeping it, or having the fun of spending it himself and upon his own.

A Kick Reformed a Man.

A man wearing an undershirt that had never seen a washtub, and a seatless pair of overalls, skulked into a saloon in a mining town in Arizona and begged for a drink of whisky, early one morning some twenty years ago. The bartender was a yellow-faced halfbreed, and as such far below the social status of any white man. Social status was something this white man still retained—and carefully observed. He took bleary satisfaction in the fact that he was white and that the name of his grandfather was to be found upon the pages of any American history. Even when he begged the halfbreed for a drink he made it clear that the acceptance of it conferred a favor.

An hour later this same man was lying face down in the sand under a tree on the outskirts of the town. Going methodically from one saloon to another he had begged enough whisky to get himself helplessly drunk. The halfbreed bartender, on the way home, saw the helpless condition of the drunken white man who was socially his superior. He walked over to the prostrate figure and began to kick it. The drunkard, rousing slowly with the vague impression that a herd of mules had stampeded over his body, lifted himself on his hands and stared about uncertainly. He recognized the retreating figure of the bartender, a horrible appreciation of what had happened took possession of his mind. He staggered to his feet with a bellow of rage.

"Did you kick me, barkeep?" he screamed.

"Si senor," admitted the halfbreed, over his shoulder.

Lost for a moment in horror-stricken contemplation of the indignity put upon him, the drunkard tried to stand vigorously erect, but, failing, cast himself upon the ground and rolled about moaning and beating the earth in a frenzy of rage and mortification.

From that hour the sot, who for ten years had been a hopeless drunkard, never again touched liquor. When I saw him last, a dozen years ago, he was district attorney of one of the most populous counties in Arizona.

It was the kick that did it! As a general proposition it is always a "kick" that does it.

The man who comes back from the liquor habit without drugs inwardly gets a moral kick of some sort that rearticulates the bones of his spine. Men get this emotional shock in variously interesting ways.

A Club for Drunkards.

Jacoby has never been a drinker himself; but the peculiar helplessness of the drunkard has always appealed to him. He spends most of his spare moments, and some that are not to spare, trying to reach and help unfortunates of this class. He has been remarkably successful. His method is—friendliness!

Men who are all but hopeless, perhaps utterly so, hear about this young Jew. They go up in the elevators to his suite in a large building; they clutter up his waiting rooms with their presence, but always they get a chance to meet Mr. Jacoby. If there is any response in the man he usually brings it out. His patience and perspicacity seldom fail. He has three specifics—hope, work and friendship.

Out of his activities has grown a club. It is popularly called "The Drunkards' club," but the members naturally prefer to call it the Jacoby club. The Emmanuel church, which shelters and inspires so many good works in Boston, has given this club a home which is open every evening in the week. In it are reading tables, comfortable chairs, books, magazines and musical instruments. In winter there is a cheery open fire. In summer there are cooling fans and clinking pitchers of ice water.

There are two conditions for membership in the Jacoby club. First, the man shall actually want to be helped; and, second, he must be willing to help somebody else. The moment a man joins the club he is assigned to the personal oversight of some other member of the club, who thus becomes his stepbrother. In the same way someone else is put under the new member's care. From that moment he has one truly sympathetic friend to hold hands with him through all his struggles, while at the same time his own soul is automatically strengthened because his weakness must be made strength for the friending of another.

The club has its regular meeting on Saturday night. The roll is called, and for every man not answering, inquiry is immediately made of the stepbrother. The club members keep such watchful tab on one another that at the close of the meeting everybody knows the progress of the battle each is making against the mortal enemy of all.

FROZEN MUSIC.

Dr. Crane in Woman's World: The ancients had a fable that the city of Thebes was built by Orpheus playing upon his lute.

"Orpheus with his lute made trees
And the mountain tops that freeze
Bow their heads when he did sing."

Take the house in which you are. How did it spring into existence? I will tell you.

Once an invisible spirit, a man, had an invisible thought, just a thought, an airy nothing, such stuff as dreams are made of. But the thought made the man-body sit down and draw his plans upon paper, which we might call his musical score. The thought kept singing. In response to its notes, trees fell in the forest under swinging axes, they were sawed, planed and shaped, and arrayed themselves in doors, window-frames and floors; rocks come crawling from the quarries and brick from the kiln; iron was shaken from the bowels of the earth; mortar and glass and paint came also, keeping time to the silent harmony; until at last they found each his place, and the result was—a house.

Schelling called architecture "frozen music."

According to a census taken of Harbin in March last, the population of the city was 68,000—48,153 males and 19,847 females.

CONVICT'S PATENT WILL BE TESTED

Steel Rail Invented By North Dakotan to Be Tried.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The American Steel Safety Rail company has withdrawn its organization stock from the market, having perfected the organization and raised all the money needed for the preliminary work.

The Soo road will give the rail a trial early in the spring and if it is found practical, the rail will be adopted by some of the big roads.

Prevents Broken Rail Wreck.

One of the great advantages claimed by the promoters of the new rail is that with its use it is impossible for a train to be derailed by a broken rail. As this is the cause of most fatal wrecks, their invention is regarded as valuable.

The rail is the invention of a convict named Olson in the state penitentiary at Bismarck for life on a conviction of murder.

FOREST LANDS TO EARN MONEY

Timber on the Pennsylvania Reserves Is to Be Marketed.

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 9.—The state department of forestry has received reports indicating that cash returns to the state from forest lands owned by the commonwealth will soon be no mean item in the state's annual receipts.

During the year now closing this state got $15,000 for timber taken from the forest lands. During the years since the state first began to buy such lands a total of $78,000 has been turned into the state treasury from this source.

The prediction is likewise made that 1914 will be a record year for receipts of this character, as contracts for timber cutting are unexpired and will extend into the new year, while ten or twelve new operations will start under contract in January.

All funds that the department of forestry derives from the sale of timber are turned directly into the state treasury and 30 per cent of this revene becomes a part of the state school fund. Whenever possible, timber is cut only by contract let by the department, but at times lumbermen refuse to bid because of physical difficulties in timbering. Then the department uses its own sawmills.

The time has passed when only dead timber or dying timber is taken out, for many acres of state forest land now have trees that are mature and ready for market.

"The policy of the department of forestry is and always has been to make the forests of value to the people in every possible way," said Robert S. Conklin, state commissioner of forestery, "A very large part of this value is in the production of timber. The old terms, forest preserves and forest reserves, have misled many persons into thinking that the state purchased waste forest land and then locked it up simply for the growing trees. It is true that growing trees and forests are of value, but there is no more reason for keeping defective and mature trees in a forest than there is for keeping suckers and ripe corn in a corn field. The wheels of progress would be stopped if forest preservation meant the shutting up of the timber that is so sorely needed by industries.

"The two principal reasons for the state's ownership of forests are: First, that waste land might be protected, timber grown on it and made available for use to insure the continuance of industries depending upon wood as their raw product; second, that the well-cared-for forests might protect the headwaters of streams and help in regulating their purity and flow. It has been proved beyond question that the later effect is satisfactorily accomplished in forests from which defective and mature trees are removed, and in which young, thrifty trees are planted in their place.

"These two ideas, side by side, have been recognized by those who proposed the purchase of land by the state for state forests, by all the governors who have supported the movement, by all the legislatures that have passed bills providing for the purchase and maintenance of state forests, and must necessarily be carried out in the management of the forests by the department of forestry. The department will, therefore, in the near future, be in a position to receive proposals for marketing large quantities of almost all kinds of native timber. Such timber removal will not be of the old destructive kind, but so managed that a young forest will remain to ripen into future crops."

MANY CONVICTED FOR LAW-BREAKING.

Minot, N. D., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Only four men arrested in 1913 in the First district for violations of the game laws, were successful in securing freedom, seventy being convicted, according to Game Warden E. B. McCutcheon's report.

As a result of the convictions, the sum of $1,092 was collected in the form of fines, being turned into the various counties in which the violations occurred.

To Cut Off Mayor's Pay.

Jamestown, N. D., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jamestown's mayors will hereafter be without salary for their services, except $2 for each meeting of the city council, over which body they preside. Alderman Ringuette has served notice on the council of his intention to introduce an ordinance abandoning the present salary of $60 monthly.

MARKET HAS QUIET DAY

Wheat Trading Is Featureless and Prices Are About Unchanged.

Flaxseed Has Slight Reaction With Light Buying By Crushers.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 9.—The market was slightly easier at the close. May wheat closed unchanged, and July ¼c up. May durum closed unchanged.

Oats closed ½c up at 35⅛@35¾c. Rye closed unchanged at 50@53c for the best grades, and barley unchanged at from 45c to 67c.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 87⅜@87½c bid and calls at 87⅝@87¾c.

At Winnipeg, January oats closed at 32½c and May at 36⅝c.

Trading in wheat was featureless today, and it came within a narrow range. There were practically no new developments in the market situation. Receipts were light, and there appeared to be no inclination on the part of operators to increase their commitments. Liverpool was firm on unfavorable crop reports from Argentina, and a scarcity of first hand offerings. At Buenos Ayres, wheat closed ½c lower to ¼c higher, with shorts covering on the unsettled weather and the small port arrivals.

It was commented upon that operations in the leading American markets are being held back to a considerable extent at present pending action by the Canadian government on the proposal to place wheat and flour on the free list. Parliament over there will meet next Wednesday.

Inspections of wheat at Duluth today came to 37 cars against 181 last year, and there were only 106 cars of all grains on the tracks for the day. At Winnipeg, arrivals were 158 cars compared with 405 a year ago. Stocks of wheat at this point have increased only 406,000 bu in the last five days, bringing the aggregate up to 12,348,000 bu.

Business today was largely monopolized by the May option. It opened at 88c and fluctuated between that and 88⅛c during the first three hours' operations. July opened ¼c up at 83⅜c and held at around that figure. May durum was steady. It opened unchanged at 87⅞c and gained ½c.

Flaxseed Is Easier.

Flaxseed reacted moderately as a result of the small interest shown in the market by crushers and lower cables. Receipts were in light proportions, inspections here coming to only nine cars. Winnipeg marketings were also below par.

Trades were comparatively few in number during the day, after some activity around the opening, and on the net result, declines of ¾c were recorded.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.64¾, sold off to $1.53⅞ and closed at $1.54. January flax was closed up nominally at $1.50.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed at $1.35⅛ and July at $1.37.

MARKET GOSSIP.

A steady flow of grain continues to Duluth from points in the Canadian West easy of access to the Great Northern railroad. Some wheat is also coming in over the Canadian Northern.

The Minneapolis cash market held strong, with demand for top grades very good. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at 1¼c over to 1c under May, and velvet chaff at 1@1½c discount. Flour sales were moderate. Millers are making low prices on flour to attract business but flour buyers have very fresh views on the market. Cash No. 1 northern sold at from 85⅝ to 88⅝c and No. 2 northern at from 83⅝c to 86⅝c.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Wheat—Easier American cables and forecasts of large world's shipments caused some realizing at the opening and values were ⅛ to ¼d lower. Following this there was covering by shorts and speculative support on an improved demand for Manitobas and Plate cargoes, unfavorable Argentine news and firm Australian offers. The loss was regained and at 1:30 p. m. the market was steady and unchanged.

"Corn opened ¼d lower and later declined ¼d. Argentine shipments were heavy. Crop prospects there are fine and spot here was weak. At 1:30 p. m prices were ¼ to ⅝d lower."

The Chicago Inter-Ocean says: "It was the gossip among corn traders last night that values will have to drop below an importing basis and stay there before there is any permanent good on the buying side. Others said values must go to an export basis instead. Opinions on wheat were mixed."

An Argentine cable received by Baker's Chicago correspondent read: "Last week wheat shipments were 300,000 bu. The corn crop is from two to three weeks late due to frost. The wheat surplus has been reduced to 76,500,000 bu on account of heavy storms."

Parker Paine received the following wire from Chicago today: "The corn market has had a big decline and during the last seven days the largest rally on any close has been ¼c. I see no change in the situation but in the natural order of things some little rally is due. I do not believe it will be of big dimensions and do not think it will hold, as advantage will be taken of same by tired holders to increase their liquidation."

As far north as Michigan there is less snow than is usual at this season. The plant is reported in practically perfect condition on a large acreage. CHICAGO MARKET.

All Cereals Are Weakened By Drastic Selling of Corn.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Drastic selling out of corn had a weakening effect today on all cereals. Shipments of corn from Argentina reached a heavy total and there was a continuance of mild weather in this country, lessening the demand for feed. Predictions of cold coming soon were ignored. The opening for corn ranged from ¼c off and was followed by a material decline.

Prices rallied later when corn swung more in favor of the bulls. The close was steady at a shade lower above last night.

Wheat speculators tried to follow the corn market selling when it was weak, and buying when there were signs of a turn. Disappearance of snow protection in the winter belt was offset in a forecast of larger world shipments. Prices started unchanged to ⅛c higher and hardened a little more, but then underwent a set.

Afterward Buenos Ayres reports that the corn crop was late owing to frost gave the market an upturn. The close was nervous at an advance of ⅜c to ½c net.

Buying on the part of cash houses made oats relatively steady. Selling pressure was only moderate.

Provisions went up grade with hogs. First sales were 5c to 7½c higher and there was a decided further advance.

SPECULATION RATHER SLOW

Stock Prices Move in Halting Fashion Within Narrow Range.

Realizing and Short Selling Near Close, Which Is Easy.

New York, Jan. 9.—Speculation was on a reduced scale today and stock prices moved in a halting fashion, within a narrow range. Although the list soon recovered from the early depression the lack of recuperative power shown by a few shares prevented the general market from making much progress upward.

Filing of a suit to prevent payment of the Union Pacific extra dividend tended to check speculation based upon distribution of assets of Union Pacific and other companies. Professionals who experimented on the short side encountered buying orders at a range slightly below yesterday's close, and covered. At noon the list showed a preponderance of small gains.

Bonds were irregular.

With the exception of Southern Pacific and Steel, the active stocks were lower at the opening of the market today. Trading was not heavy, but the demand was limited and sellers were unable to dispose of their stocks without making concessions. Canadian Pacific, the heaviest stock, dropped 1½. Chino declined 1. Recessions elsewhere were fractional.

Scale buying orders were met after prices had gone off somewhat further and the active shares made full recoveries. Southern Pacific and Baltimore & Ohio displayed conspicuous firmness.

Specialties were prominent in the general buying movement which set in after midday. The demand for Southern Railroad stocks and for the fertilizers was based on the favorable cotton gin figures. Tobacco issues soared from 1 to 8 points.

The upward movement paused when the bear faction raided New York Central and forced it under its previous low point to 89½. Its weakness had only a slight effect on the rest of the market.

The market closed easy. Stocks in which a protecting short interest existed held up well in the final hour, but the list otherwise sold off slightly. Publication of what purported to be an outline of the anti-trust bills to be put before congress induced some realizing and short selling.

Cotton.

New York, Jan. 9.—A sharp advance in the cotton market followed the publication of the census ginning report, which confirmed sold up to 12.40 or $1.75 per bale above the closing price of yesterday and approximately half a cent above the recent lower level. The official report, indicating 13,323,000 bales ginned to Jan. 1, showed a big decline falling off in ginning operations as compared with the first half of December. This led to a considerable revision of crop estimates, which had recently been increased to more than 14,500,000 bales by some authorities.

T. MULVANEY IS DEAD

"And I Couldn't Revive Him," Says Kipling, "It Wouldn't Do"---Irvin Cobb Visits the English Writer and Finds Him Tangible.

Theodore D. Rouseau in New York Post: "Mulvaney," said Rudyard Kipling to Irvin Cobb, "is dead—I think."

Mr. Cobb, who returned a short time ago from Europe, told of his visit to the English writer. They were walking in the garden of Kipling's country home, and the conversation—"good talk," Dr. Johnson would have called it—had turned from war to Mr. Dooley, from Arnold Bennett to mocking birds, and had reached a point where the question that had been burning upon the guest's lips could no longer be withheld.

And this is the way the ingenious Cobb led up to Mulvaney.

"Mr. Kipling, there are many of the great characters in fiction so rounded out and complete—like Huckleberry Finn, for instance, or Henry Esmond—that no one thinks of meeting them again. But there is one that I believe we all would like to hear from, and I want to ask you—where is Mulvaney?"

Not a Flippant Reply.

There was no hint of flippancy in Kipling's reply. When he said "Mulvaney is dead—I think," he looked away from his guest, over the yews and the sanded walks of his garden and into the glowing sunset, and there was a little silence after he spoke.

"Yes," he said, "to the best of my knowledge—the best of my memory, I might say—Mulvaney is dead. The last mental picture I had of him was on the edge of a cut in India, where he was directing a gang of coolies building a railroad extension. There is no doubt that he was a bit seedy and down-at-heel. So I am sure that if he has not already passed away, he soon will, and Dinah Shadd will bury him.

"No, he cannot come back," he went on, after a few seconds' pause. "It won't do, you know. A character is born in your thought, and grows and is developed, and takes on virtues and vices, and becomes old, and then—well, just fades away, I take it.

"And that is the way with Mulvaney. I couldn't revive him—I could only galvanize him. He would be a stuffed figure with straw for bowels, and glass balls for eyes, and the people could see the strings I pulled him with No, he is gone."

Mr. and Mrs. Cobb were spending a day with the Kiplings at Bateman's Burwash—if you wish to appear thoroughly sophisticatedly English, you must pronounce it "Burrish"—the writer's retreat near Etchingham in Sussex, the heart of the historic Downs country, just around the corner, so to speak, from where the Battle of Hastings was fought and near to the scene of some of Simon de Montfort's most lively activities.

The Blue Grass Combed and Washed.

"We went down by train to Robertsbridge on a perfect day in late October," said Mr. Cobb. "It was all new to me, that glorious country, and it seemed a pronouncentration of all the stage effects I had seen in plays of English country life. The trees looked as if they had just received their finishing touches from Maxfield Parrish, and the grass—well, I'm a good Kentuckian, you know, and all that, but that English grass looked the way I think the blue grass would look if they took the blue grass in every night and washed it and combed and brushed it and put it back in the morning.

"At Robertsbridge—by the way, that village is just what you'd expect it to be, typical, absolutely typical, with a sign of the Blue Boar or something or other and tenantry and the rest of it—I had another shock of delight. I saw Giles. I had always yearned for a sight of him, and there he was. He wore a smock and gaiters and a fringe of whiskers under his chin and he carried a staff. I almost slapped him on the back and called him gaffer. He was an old friend of mine, though he'll never know it.

"I arrived at Bateman's Burwash a little ahead of time, and both Mr. and Mrs. Kipling were out, but had left word that they would soon return, so we took a stroll in the garden.

"We had not gone far from the house when we heard a shout and saw a man jump over a hedge and run towards us. You can imagine how surprised I was to recognize Rudyard Kipling and still more surprised at his very cordial greeting. You see, I had heard, as I presume many other Americans have heard, that he was a crab—and especially to Americans. But I imagine they are the kind of traveling Americans who recognize him in a railway train and rush up to him and say: 'Oh, it's Mr. Kipling, isn't it? I've found your stuff and I like it and I'm so glad to meet you!'

What He Is Like.

"What's he like? Well, to me he appeared, at first flush, a combination of Theodore Roosevelt, William Travers Jerome and Bob Davis. He has a big jaw and he wears shiny glasses and shows his teeth like T. R., and he's a short man and blocky, with a big, strong hand. He has that quick felinity of movement that is the most notable outward characteristic of Jerome, and a rapid thrust and parry in conversation and a very definite, impressive way of forming and stating a conviction.

"It didn't take me two minutes in that walk through the garden, up to the house, to find out that in spite of his great work and his experience, he feels a tremendous enthusiasm about everything that is worth while. He's not a bit blase, he isn't Englishy English—that is, not in an unpleasant sense—but is a cosmopolitan in the real meaning of the word. And the little details of life in general and in Nature attract him surprisingly.

Mr. Cobb sat long alone with Kipling in the garden, and the English writer talked frankly of his tastes and his dislikes.

He knows next to nothing of the new generation of young writers in this country. But the mention of Mr. Dooley brought a quick exclamation of praise.

"Ah, Dunne," he said. "There you have a great man—one of the greatest of the writers of English of this country! It is an extraordinary combination. There is an Irishman writing as an Irishman, yet if I were asked to pick four samples of literary achievement that most fitly typified the impulse and the humor of your American life, three of my selections would be from Mr. Dooley."

The talk turned to war.

Went to See a Real War.

"War, nowadays," said Kipling, "is a mathematical problem, with some of the aspects of a surgical operation by the highest paid specialists. There is no more romance or glamour in the conduct of a war. When our South African war began I said: 'I will go out there and see a war, it will be a big experience—'"

"But," interrupted Mr. Cobb, surely you had seen war in India—your stories—"

"No," said Kipling, "I have seen very, very little fighting in India. I wrote mostly of what I had been told. But I did see war in South Africa. I said to myself before I went out, 'I'll see the dash and get the rattling inspiration of it. I'll see charges, and thin red lines, and hear hoarse commands and stand silent and thrilled in that dread hush before the battle.'

"But what a disillusion! The hush before the battle was like the quietness of surgeons and nurses before they go into the operating room. Nobody galloped up on a lathered horse, and fell unconscious after handing the general the long-waited dispatch. The general himself bestrode no charger, but sat in a comfortable campchair beside a neatly spread tea table. You heard a few tick-ticks and somebody handed him a slip—the substitute for the dispatch—and he read it and drank tea and said, 'Um-m-m, good. Workin' out just as I thought. Wire Binks to bring up that battery,' etc., etc.

"You don't know in advance just what is going to happen, you don't know how it happened, you just look at the dreadful dead men and the shrieking, wounded men and they seem to you like innocent bystanders who have got in the way of some great civil engineering scheme and been torn and blown up."

Almost Saw Battle.

Then Kipling told of the nearest he came to seeing a "pitched" battle. It was on a day when English and Boers were behind rocks, and with a stretch of veldt between, waiting for orders to go into action. During the wait there strayed out a flock of foolish South African sheep. Nibbling along, they slowly came into view of the opposing armies. Then, suddenly, just to try the range, an English soldier potted a sheep. It rolled over, kicked a bit, and lay still.

Then came another shot and another sheep rolled over, and another and another, but the fast diminishing herd showed never a sign of stampede or fear—just went stupidly sniffing and nibbling along on the stretch of brown veldt that swelled up to meet a sky, just as dun and potent with tragedy as the earth, and that seemed to slide down in an effort to blur and smudge the horizon line.

"And finally," said Kipling, "there were no more sheep alive—our Tommies and the Boers had potted them all. But I shall never forget that grim sweep of veldt, dotted with the little white spots that had been foolish sheep, and with men waiting behind the rocks to kill each other. Perhaps some day I shall put it in a story."

One day while a division was waiting orders to go into action a Tommy asked Kipling if he could spare a little brandy for a comrade with a stomach ache. Kipling found the man gripping his middle and rocking with pain—just groaning and grunting and saying no words. He drank a little of the spirits and continued his mumbled groans.

"I watched him a few minutes," said Kipling, "and it irritated me—the man wasn't afraid, you could see that. At length I said, 'My goodness, man, why don't you break loose and curse a bit? It would relieve you.' He stopped his groaning a second and cast a lackluster gaze over the brown-and-gray landscape with its lines of pigmy men here and there, and its rocks and the dead horses and the booming of guns far away, and I suppose it seemed to him that there was no use in his swearing over his little bellyache when the whole raw and naked world in front of him was in a retching cramp, for he just said, 'Ow, wot's the bloomin' use,' and went on with his groaning and rocking.

A Great Story Not Yet Written.

Then Kipling learned that Mr. Cobb was a Kentuckian and there came another exclamation of enthusiasm at the mention of the war between the states.

"It was a war," he said. "That struggle was the great epic of the Anglo-Saxon breed—more, it was the greatest epic in the history of mankind. And it hasn't been written—no, nobody has written it yet. It is not yet far enough in the past, you can't get the perspective. But it will be written, and when it is written as it should be, a master work will be born.

"And how many uncles of yours were killed?" he suddenly asked, and Mr. Cobb, having come from a family that furnished numerous soldiers to the Orphan Brigade of Kentucky was able to tell of a considerable depletion of the Cobbs.

"And how many did you have?" asked Kipling of Mrs. Cobb, and she, being of Georgia, was no whit behind her husband in a record of mortality.

"There, do you hear that, Sir Edward?" cried Kipling to his uncle, Sir Edward Paynter, of the Royal academy who was engaged in transferring his impression of the Norman part of Bateman's Burwash to canvas. "They're all like that—the Southern people! What a war! It was brother at brother's throat. There was never anything like it in all the world. And it has not been written."

GREAT ROAD IS PLANNED IN OHIO

Will Be the Longest Brick Pavement in the World.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 9.—"The finest highway in the world" is what State Highway Commissioner James R. Marker of Ohio plans to make of the old National pike from Bridgeport, just across the Ohio river from Wheeling, W. Va., to Columbus, a distance of about 125 miles. The completion of the project will mean an expenditure of more than $2,000,000, but Commissioner Marker hopes to see the road in use next Thanksgiving day.

If present plans are carried out, the road will be the longest brick pavement in the world. It will be sixteen feet wide and will not have a grade heavier than 7 per cent throughout its entire length. On each side of the paving will be a road nine feet wide of earth macadamized to take care of all travel the street of brick cannot care for. The paving will extend half across the state, passing through the counties of Belmont, Guernsey, Muskingum, Licking and Franklin. From Zanesville to Columbus the Federal government will furnish part of the funds as an experiment, but in the other counties the state, county, township and abutting property owner pay the cost of the improvement.

Once completed, the road will prove to be the most traveled of any for tourists crossing the state, as it will furnish an excellent connection to the paved roads of Northern West Virginia over the few miles to the newly improved roads of Western Pennsylvania leading to Pittsburg and Cumberland.

The road that is being rehabilitated was built by the United States government about 1831 and follows the old Zane trail leading from Wheeling to Zanesville. Henry Clay was the man who worked hardest to have the road built. At that time and until the construction of the railroads the road was the principal artery of commerce between the East and the West. Supplies hauled in huge Conestoga wagons were carried to the frontiersmen, while going East at all seasons of the year were long trains of wagons hauling all kinds of farm products. Flocks of turkeys, geese and sheep, as well as herds of cattle and swine, were constantly pushing eastward to the markets. This made the road resemble the suburbs of a large city of today, for at frequent intervals there were taverns and roadhouses where the caravans stopped for food and rest.

Mail and express were carried as well as passengers, and the arrival of the stage was more important to the towns along the pike than any other event. The pike was then the center of activity for as many as fifty miles north and south on each side of it, many of the towns through which it ran being at that time important commercial centers.

Although constructed eighty years ago, the road is still in a good state of preservation, considering the fact that it has had little or no attention since it was turned over to the state and then to the counties it traverses. The stone bridges which are frequent through the hills of Belmont county, but which are found all along the road, are in wonderfully excellent state of preservation and show no evidence of their long years of usefulness.

INVENTION BY ARMY OFFICER

Telegraph and Telephone Messages Over the Same Wire.

Washington, Jan. 9.—A new telephone or telegraph invention by a United States army officer, Maj. George Squier, military attache at the American embassy in London, is soon to be exhibited here, and if half of its predicted marvels are true it will mark a great advance in the science of sending messages over wires. Its principal purpose is to make it possible to send both telephone and telegraph messages over the same wire at the same time by an attuning system that prevents confusion.

The new instrument was recently exhibited in London at the annual exhibition of the Physical Society of London at the Imperial College of Science and Technology. There it was called wired-wireless, and to the London public it was announced that at a secret test in Washington some months ago the experimenter was able to listen through a telephone receiver at his left ear to a political speech which was being delivered eight miles away, while in the receiver at his right a popular song, then sung at a popular music hall several miles distant, came in over the same wire. Several telegraph messages were sent in each direction over the same wire at the same time.

There are 4,386,000 mules and 20,567,000 horses in the United States.

NATIVE UPRISING MAY MULTIPLY HORRORS IN SOUTH AFRICA STRIKE

Citizen Defense Reserves Called to Colors With Army.

All Forces Are Mobilized to Crush Threatened Outbreak.

Race Riot in Diamond Mine Ends in Seven Deaths.

Cape Town, Union of South Africa, Jan. 10.—Drastic measures have been taken by the government of the Union of South Africa to prevent serious trouble arising out of the strike of railway men in the Transvaal and Orange State provinces. The entire defense forces of South Africa, including the regulars and the citizens' reserve, are being mobilized for the protection of property which the government believes to be threatened.

The strikers have tied up railroad traffic in the Transvaal and the Orange State, but have not yet succeeded in interfering with transportation at Cape Colony and Natal.

Fear Native Uprising.

The authorities, in mobilizing the forces, are looking toward a much greater danger than that of the strike. They fear a possible uprising of the thousands of native laborers in the mines, some of whom have already shown signs of unruliness.

The natives are likely to become still more intractable when they learn that provisions may be short owing to the impeded communications.

In Natal all the infantry, cavalry and artillery comprised in the forces of the Union of South Africa were mobilized this morning. The forces availble at Bloemfontein, capital of the Orange State, have been sent off to Jagersfontein, whose diamond mines rank in value next to those of Kimberley. The native laborers there had

EGGS MARKED FRESH COST COMPANY $500

New York Dealers Are Fined for Mislabeling Storage Product.

New York, Jan. 10.—A fine of $500 was imposed on the James Van Dyk company, egg dealers, on their plea of guilty to selling cold storage eggs as fresh. It is the first conviction of its kind in this state. The action was brought by the state department of health, which has been fighting against the practice of misrepresenting cold storage products.

GERMAN VILLAGE IS ENGULFED BY TIDE

Roofs of Three Houses All That Is Visible—People's Fate Unknown.

Koeslin, Germany, Jan. 10.—A high tide submerged the village of Damkerort, on the borders of Buckow lake, adjoining the Baltic sea, last night, and the fate of its 100 inhabitants in unknown.

A heavy gale is blowing in shore and the waters have reached such an extraordinary height that only three roofs of houses in the village were visible this morning.

Troops have been sent from here to assist in the work of rescue.

CATSKILL AQUEDUCT'S BIG TUBE IS OPENED

Has Cost $160,000,000 and Two Hundred Human Lives.

New York, Jan. 10.—After nine years of labor, the last barrier was broken today in the Catskill aqueduct tube, the longest water tunnel in the world. It extends 111 miles, from the Ashokan dam at Esopus, N. Y., to Brooklyn, and when in operation two years hence will supply New York with 500,000,000 gallons of water daily.

By many engineers the undertaking has been classed second only to the Panama canal. It cost in dollars more than $160,000,000, in human lives nearly 200.

A dull roar signalizing a dynamite blast 400 feet under ground in Harlem marked the breaking through of the tunnel this morning. There were no special ceremonies.

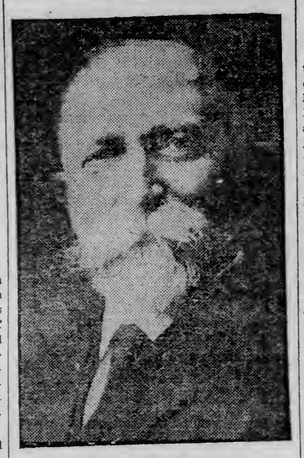

The tube for the most part is 500 feet beneath the ground, and in spots dips to more than 700. It varies in diameter from eleven to seventeen feet.

WANTS TO REGISTER HUMAN THOROUGHBREDS

DR. J. H. KELLOGG,
Who Addresed the Battle Creek Conference on Race Betterment.

WOULD TREAT MEN LIKE DOGS

Dr. J. H. Kellogg Advocates Registration of Thoroughbred Human Beings.

Battle Creek, Mich., Jan. 10.—A eugenics registry office for the purpose of developing a race of human thoroughbreds was one of the suggestions of Dr. J. H. Kellogg of Battle Creek, speaking today at the National Conference for Race Betterment.

"It only takes four generations to make a thoroughbred when the principles of eugenics have a fair chance to operate," said Dr. Kellogg. "We have registers for horses, cattle, sheep, pigs and even cats and dogs. If a lady wishes to establish the standing of her pet poodle she can do so by appealing to an official record, and the puny canine may lift its head above its fellows as a born aristocrat. But nowhere on earth, as far as I know, is there to be found a registry for human thoroughbreds.

Hopes For Registry.

"The hope is entertained by the members of this conference that one of the results of the meeting may be the establishment of a registry. Indeed, it seems that the time has fully come when a eugenics registry office should be established in which may

WANTS EXECUTION OF SPENCER STAYED

Attorney Would Have Trial Reviewed By Higher Court.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—Counsel for Harry Spencer, convicted murderer of Mrs. Mildred Allison Rexroat, made an appeal today to stay the execution ordered for next Friday.

The supreme court of Illinois was petitioned by the attorney to grant a writ of supersedeas to stay the death sentence until the trial had been reviewed by the higher tribunal. Should the writ be denied, the clemency of the governor would be the only avenue left to Spencer for escape from the gallows.

WIRELESS REPORTS STEAMER SINKING

Another Message Says Leak in Oil Cargo Is Only Trouble.

New Bedford, Mass., Jan. 10.—A wireless message reporting the steamer Comet sinking off Nantucket south shoals was received today by the revenue cutter Acushnet, which left immediately to render assistance.

Leak in Cargo.

New York, Jan. 10.—The Standard Oil company received a wireless today from the captain of the steamer Comet saying that a small leak had been discovered after the vessel left Boston. To prevent an explosion, the fires were drawn. Pending stoppage of the leak, the tug Standard left Vineyard Haven to stand by the Comet, and orders were issued for the tug Security to leave Portland this afternoon. The message added that the vessel was in no immediate danger.

FREEDOM FOR ALL OFFICERS

German Military Courts Disregard Testimony of Civilians.

Nobody to Be Punished for Incidents at Zabern, Alsace.

Strassburg, Jan. 10.—Courts-martial today acquitted all the German army officers charged with breaches of the law in connection with the recent violent incidents between the military and civilians of Zabern. The military judges, in all cases, accepted the word of the officers against the sworn testimony of the civilian witnesses.

Col. von Reuter, commander of the Ninety-ninth infantry, was charged with wrongful imprisonment, but the court found his acts justifiable.

Lieut. Schad accused of striking a prisoner was released by the same court on the ground that the charge had not been proved.

Lieut. Baron von Forstner won his appeal before a second court-martial against the sentence of forty-three days imprisonment imposed on him on Dec. 19 for sabering a lame shoemaker.

Under Decree of 1820.

The justification of Col. von Reuter's acts was based by the court on a decree issued by the king of Prussia in 1820, which gave the right to the military to intervene without waiting for a request from the civil authorities in case the latter were powerless to suppress disorders. This decree was inserted in the most recently issued army service instructions, and is valid at the present date in Alsace, although subsequent laws do not authorize military action

YOUTH ADMITS HE SET EIGHT FIRES

Says He Committed Arson While He Was Drunk.

Bethel, Conn., Jan. 10—Charles Ochs, a young hatter, was arrested today, charged with causing eight fires here within a month which did $50,000 damage. According to the police, Ochs confessed that he set all the fires while intoxicated. Two factories were among the buildings burned. At one of the factories the blaze spread to Ochs' house, burning it to the ground.

IS FINED $500 FOR 10-CENT OVERCHARGE

American Express Company Pays—Adams Fined for Rebate.

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 10.—An alleged overcharge of 10 cents on a package of freight cost the American Express company $500 in Federal court here yesterday. The Adams Express company paid a similar fine for alleged rebating.

There were ten counts in each of the indictments. Both companies entered pleas of nolle-contendere on the first count and not guilty to the remaining nine. The latter were discontinued after the fines were imposed.

WHERE STATE IS DEFECTIVE

Minnesota Has No Reports That Show Its Business Condition.

Figures Scattered Through Departments Should Be Brought Together.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Corporations nowadays do queer things.

Everything the Steel corporation ever did, for example, is told on a single sheet of paper in such simple terms that any intelligent man can find out from it how much money is supposed to be invested and how much was earned last year, and how much of that went for labor and how much for improvements, and how much went to the stockholders and how many men were employed, and a lot of things like that.

You can't find a statement like that issued by the state of Minnesota, not on one sheet of paper nor on many. There is not a man in the state capitol who can tell how many men are employed by the state nor what their wages are, nor how much property the state owns nor anywhere near what it is worth. There is a statement showing how much the state took in, but nothing to show how much of it went for current operation and how much for permanent improvements.

Two Inventories Made.

It has begun to appear to some of the state officers that statements of that sort are useful. The board of control has for some time, probably as much as eight years, kept an inventory of the property under its care, embracing sixteen institutions. The university has an inventory showing for the first time all the property under its control, including the permanent university funds. The public examiner had one of his inquisitive streaks and brought together the items that are scattered through the books in various places. Once Mr. Fritz starts that, every man who succeeds him will keep it up and that is the way the state gradually accumulates information.

ANNA GOULD LOSES CASE AGAINST BONI

Appeal From Annulment of Former Marriage Is Denied.

Rome, Jan. 10.—The signature tribunal, the high court of the Roman curia, today rejected the appeal of the Duchess de Talleyand (formerly Anna Gould of New York) from the verdict of the Rota tribunal annulling her marriage to her first husband, Count Boni de Castellane.

Anna Gould was married to Count Boni de Castellane in 1895 and obtained a divorce from him in 1908, through the civil courts of Paris. She married the present Duke de Talleyrand in London in 1908.

In 1910, Count Boni applied to the Vatican to have his marriage to Anna Gould annulled. On Dec. 26, 1911, the application was rejected by the Congregation of the Council.

In March, 1913, the Rota tribunal in Rome reheard the case with fresh evidence and reversed the former decree, thereby granting the annulment to Count Boni.

The Duchess de Tallyrand appealed to the Apostolic Segnatura tribunal, which today rejected her appeal. The annulment of her church marriage to Count Boni therefore stands for the present.

STEEL MILLS START FULL TIME MONDAY

Operating Officials Say Business Depression Is Passing.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 10.—Orders were posted today in a number of independent steel concerns placing the plants in full operation next Monday, due, it was said, to the appearance the last few days of specifications calling for approximately 100,000 tons of finished steel for immediate delivery. Operating officials expressed the opinion that the depression which for four months has affected the industry was passing.

The orders affect some 5,000 men who have been idle or working one-fourth time.

MEET TO DISCUSS REPORT ON THAW.

Boston, Jan. 10.—The commission appointed by Judge Aldrich of the Federal court to determine the advisability of admitting Harry K. Thaw to bail, conferred here today to consider its report. General F. S. Streeter, head of the commission, said the inquiry would be finished tonight. The report will be filed at Concord, N. I., early next week.

WILSON ENDS COAST VISIT

Big Farewell Reception Will Be Feature of the Day.

President Appreciates Business Men's Attitude Toward New Laws.

Pass Christian, Miss., Jan. 10.—President Wilson has played his last game of golf on the Mississippi coast. Tomorrow he will leave for Washington.

A crowd collected at the links today to see the president when he finished his game, and along the route as he came and went men, women and children stood in the roadway waving flags and cheering.

The president late today will say farewell to the people of this section, and thank them for the seclusion they have permitted him. A big reception had been planned by Representative Harrison, and many persons from Southern Mississippi started early today for Pass Christian to greet the chief executive. While declining all invitations for entertainments and receptions hitherto, the president consented to attend one big reception on the day before his departure.

Likes Business Actions.

Gulfport, Miss., Jan. 10.—President Wilson expressed his gratification that business interests of the country are adjusting themselves to changes brought about by recent legislation, and to the spirit of the times generally, in an informal speech yesterday to a committee from the Mississippi legislature, the president said this phase of public affairs was uppermost in his mind.

The committee came to invite Mr. Wilson to address the legislature of the state, but the president told them he was too deeply absorbed in his anti-trust message to leave earlier than his scheduled time, or to tarry en route to Washington. Laudatory resolutions passed by the legislature were read to the president by the committee.

President Wilson alluded to the tariff and currency reforms as having been accomplished by congress' "simply sawing wood" and going ahead with an outlined program. The thing that pleased him most, he said, was the way the business interests of the country seemed to be acting.

The president said he expected to read his anti-trust message just as soon as possible after his return to Washington.

PARDONED CONVICT REFUSES TO LEAVE

Has Spent Fifteen Years in Maryland Penitentiary.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 10.—Pardoned by Governor Goldsborough, Dec. 21 last, after serving fifteen years, Matthew Jones, a prisoner in the Maryland penitentiary, refuses to leave. Although he is given absolute freedom about the institution and permitted to go out when he chooses, he always comes back.

He has visited practically every moving picture show in the neighborhood of the penitentiary. With his own money—about $70—turned over to him when his pardon was granted, he is free to do what he chooses. But the outside world seems uninviting. He does not know what to do or where to go. "I'll be back," he always informs the authorities when he goes out for his daily visits to the movies. He still serves as a trusty.

Jones was convicted of murder in the second degree.

SOME SMALL COMPANIES DO NOT PAY

Some Classes of Men Paid Only $2 Per Shift for Work.

Union May Impeach Legality of Grand Jury's Work.

Washington, Jan. 10.—Profits of the Calumet-Hecla company, which employs more than 50 per cent of the miners in the Michigan copper district, were characterized as "extremely large" in a report on the copper strike submitted today to Secretary Wilson by Walter B. Palmer, an investigator of the department of labor.

The report declares that strikebreakers were imported into the copper region by misrepresentation; that some were taken to the mines at the point of pistols; that strikers were wounded by firearms in the hands of armed guards, but that no evidence was found of officers being injured by the strikers.

Palmer reported that the general average of day wages paid by all the companies throughout the year was $2.59. Some of the smaller companies, he declared, were operating at a loss. Prior to the present strike he found the general workday was of ten to eleven hours and some of the miners were paid as low as $2.50 a shift. Some other classes of labor were paid as low as $2.00.

Summary of Investigation.

A summary of the investigation, made public today at the department of labor, details the work of Palmer and also that of John B. Densmore, solicitor for the department, and Special Agent John A. Moffitt, who were later sent as mediators. Their investigation covered twenty-six phases of the strike situation, beginning with the cause, wages, hours of labor and including the Western Federation of Miners, violence, the militia and armed guards, injunctions against picketing.

SEEK TO AVOID THE STATE COURT SUITS

Missouri Railroads Ask Federal Judges to Retain Jurisdiction.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 10.—Attorneys representing railroads in Missouri affected by a decision of the United States supreme court last summer upholding the state 2-cent passenger fare and maximum freight rate laws, appeared before Judge Smith McPherson in the Federal district court here today to argue in support of a motion that the court retain jurisdiction of the rate cases until refund claims against the railways are settled. John T. Barker, attorney general of Missouri, appeared for the state to contend that the court should enter the supreme court mandate dismissing the cases without prejudice.

Sue in State Courts.

The attorney general contended that travelers and shippers who, it is estimated, paid the railroad more than $10,000,000 in excess charges while the rate cases were in litigation, should be able to take action in state courts to reimburse themselves. In the name of these travelers and shippers, Mr. Barker has filed suits in various parts of the state against the railroads concerned.

On Dec. 20 last Judge McPherson made his written order dismissing the cases, but suspended it at the request of the railway attorneys for a further hearing today.

SAYS THE KAISER IS PREPARING FOR WAR

Crown Prince So Explains His Change of Regiment.

Berlin, Jan. 10.—Not only are all the rumored reasons for the recall of the German crown prince from Danzig to Berlin denied by his imperial highness in the course of an interview published in the Zeitung Am Mittag today, but the crown prince makes the startling statement that Emperor William recalled him "because his majesty believed no more time should be lost in preparing his eldest son for the higher command which he would have to assume in case of war."

The transfer of the crown prince to the general staff was to have taken place last autumn, but he requested a year's extension of his stay at Danzig. The crown prince said to the interviewer:

"This extension was at first granted, but was withdrawn in December. I was detailed to the general staff because his majesty considered that I should immediately study how to conduct large bodies of troops. I should naturally, in a certain contingency, command more than a regiment."

The newspaper says the crown prince will probably visit Africa in the course of this year.

ROMAN MEAL PLANT GOING

Demand Has Now Reached Into Thousands of Cases Daily.

New Company Has Selling Force Operating Throughout Territory.

With the plant that turns out Roman Meal at 318-320 West Michigan street, going full blast, and Sales Manager Charles N. Lockwood getting his selling forces out on the road, it may well be said that Duluth is now actually the headquarters of this cereal.

The plant is lodged in a large four story building on the lower side of West Michigan street and occupies all of the floors. In fact it is doubtful if the building will prove large enough although every improvement possible was made on it before the Roman Meal company occupied it. When it is considered that the demand even now, for Roman Meal, has reached 3,000 cases a day, it will readily be seen that before long the capacity of the plant is going to be taxed. However Mr. Lockwood and General Superintendent Gordon Patterson figure that when that condition will have been reached, office space can be obtained elsewhere and the room occupied by the offices used for expansion.

The building is splendidly fitted out for the manufacture and handling of the meal. It is spotless in appearance, and the packing and manufacturing rooms are enamelled. Every piece of furniture equipment has been given the same treatment. The most perfect sanitary equipment devised has been installed, and, in short, a visit to the plant is most reassuring.

Heretofore Roman Meal has been manufactured in Tacoma, Wash. It is the invention—if the term may be used—of Dr. Robert G. Jackson of Tacoma. The doctor specializes in diseases of the digestive organs and in his practice in prescribing diet observed that the usual foods used in such cases hardly filled the bill. This led to his investigating, and the investigating led to the finding of Roman Meal.

However it should be understood that Roman meal is not a medicine and is not for invalids alone. It can be eaten—and is—at each meal just the same as bread, and is a fine tasting bread, too. Those who are fond of graham bread or what is called brown bread will be much attracted by it. It can be made into pancakes, cookies, fruit rocks, nut loaves, custard, steam pudding, gems, muffins, waffles, mush, etc. The meal is composed of wheat, rye and flax. The wheat and rye are ground "with their jackets on" but the flax is so treated that it takes on a delicious, nutty flavor with no trace of the flax odor. This prepared flax, by the way, is called "flaxose." It is claimed that the coarse grains stimulate digestion and the flaxose furnishes its oil to give added nutrition.

In the meantime the demand, as has been said before, is growing rapidly. The meal has been on the market fourteen months, and has been handled here for seven months by the Stone-Ordean-Wells company. Recently the Roman Meal company had to expand so Duluth was looked to. In organizing the company here a record was made. In one day the company was formed and the stock subscribed. That is how Roman Meal came to Duluth, for the men who investigated it felt that it would furnish the market with a long-felt want, and one that would be eagerly taken advantage of.

Name Wisconsin Hotel Inspectors.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 10.—Walter G. Mase of Darlington and E. C. Loether, Eau Claire, were appointed state hotel inspectors yesterday by the state board of health, which made the selections from the list of 100 civil service candidates. They ranked first and second respectively.

STOPPED HIS DRINKING

This Wife and Mother Saved Her Husband Over Ten Years Ago

SHE WILL GLADLY TELL YOU HOW

FREE

Write to Her Today. Send No Money. She Has Nothing To Sell

For over 20 years Jas. Anderson of Hillburn, N. Y., was a confirmed drunkard. His case was about as bad as it could be, but a little over ten years ago his devoted wife, after years of trying, finally succeeded in stopping his drinking entirely.

Write to this woman if you have a relative or friend who drinks

Not only did she save Mr. Anderson but she stopped the drinking of her brother and several of her neighbors as well. All this she accomplished with a simple home remedy which any one can get and use. And she now desires to tell every man and woman who has a relative or friend who drinks, just what it is.

It can be given secretly if desired and every reader of this notice who is interested in curing a dear one of drinking should write to Mrs. Anderson at once. Her reply will come by return mail in a sealed envelope. She does this gladly, in hopes that others will be benefited as she was. One thing she asks however, and that is that you do not send money for she has nothing to sell. Her complete address is 222 Hill Ave., Hillburn, N. Y.

NOTE—This offer should be accepted at once by all who have dear ones who drink. In fact, every one who has to contend in any way with drunkenness should know about it. Therefore, if you do not write Mrs. Anderson yourself CUT THIS NOTICE OUT and mail it to a friend who could use her advice. And even though you do answer it, MAIL IT TO SOMEONE ELSE who you think would like to know what Mrs. Anderson used. In other words, let this notice reach as many as possible for Mrs. Anderson will reply to every letter, no matter how many she receives.

READ BETTER LITERATURE

Duluthians Are Turning From Fiction and Drama to Philosophy.

Annual Report of Librarian Shows Trend of City's Thought.

The reading public of Duluth has shown a remarkable interest in the modern drama and works on housebuilding and decoration and has turned away from fiction during the last year according to Miss Frances Earhart, public librarian, in her annual report issued today. Books dealing with the latest philosophy also are widely read.

So great has the demand been fot books on the drama and architecture that large additions of the best works of these classes of literature will be purchased for the public library during the coming year. The thought of the reading public is taking a healthful turn, Miss Earhart believes, for the best of books are most popular. There is a lively interest in Ibsen, Maeterlinck, Hauptmann, Bernard Shaw and practically all of the present day and late dramatists.

The Duluth public library has a remarkably fine and large collection of works on the modern drama, but there is such a large demand that many of the books are out of the library practically all the time. The same thing is true of books dealing with architecture and late religious thought.

Saved Money.

Despite the fact that the library has been under heavy expenses for repairs and equipment during the last year, about $3,000 was saved above expenses. Most of this money will be used in buying new books. Miss Earhart is already making out lists of prospective purchases, and the library will soon have large additions of books to meet the most popular demand. Requests for certain books are always carefully considered, and these are added to the library if the requests are deemed wise ones.

The new books for 1914 will include works of the drama, juvenile literature, French and German works, and considerable Scandinavian literature for which there is a heavy demand. Special attention will be paid to those interested in house-building and house decoration, and the best books available on these subjects will be purchased.

There has been great interest displayed in newspapers and magazines. There are 198 periodicals and 45 newspapers on the library shelves and tables, and these are in great demand. The best magazines paying particular attention to educational, sociological and industrial questions are widely read. Newspapers from all parts of the world are read daily.

Extension Work.

The extension work of the library has been carried on successfully despite handicaps. Various schools in the city have been used as depositories for books, and in this way the best literature reaches the family through the children and teachers.

Miss Earhart says that extension work is difficult because of the city being spread over such a large territory. Many cities have provided their libraries with an automobile for transporting literature, but Duluth has been unable to secure a car because of insufficient funds. The making of depositories of the schools has been a good substitute for a car.

The social center work has been used as a stimulus to the reader. At the Irving school where social center work is popular, Miss Earhart arranged to have the books of the branch library available on the same night that the social center meetings were held.

During the last year only 3,059 new books were added to the library and this number was largely offset by the number lost or put out of service by wear and tear. The purchasing was kept down because of heavy expenses entailed in making repairs and buying new equipment at various reading stations. The total expenditures during the year were $23,396.78. About $2,000 remained after all expenses were met. This puts the library in good financial condition with room for increased activities for the coming year.

The library was kept open every day during the year except on Christmas and the Fourth of July.

Total Circulation.

The total circulation for the year was 206,626. This includes books let at the main library and all branches and stations.

The circulation at West Duluth fell off slightly. There was a good increase at the West end despite the fact that the hours were limited. It is planned to increase the number of hours for that branch and improve the service.

The card system was changed during the year. When the old system was in vogue two cards were issued, one being for fiction and the other for non-fiction. Now but one card is given, and this entitles the holder to borrow one book of fiction and any number of books of non-fiction and magazines, not current numbers, desired.

BOYS' DEPARTMENT Y. M. C. A. ACTIVITIES

The Friday night social last evening at the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. was in charge of Louis Wade and John Heimick of the clubs' committee. Two teams were appointed, one in charge of Paul McClenaghan and the other of John Fee. Various stunts were carried on and Fee's team carried off the honors. They were entertained with refreshments in the Dutch kitchen.

The clubs' committee met last evening and made final arrangements for the opening of the clubs. They will conduct camera club, knot club, aero club, brass and leather work club and electrical club. Each club will have a ten-week course and will be free to members.

Final arrangements have been made for the big midwinter dinner for all the members of the club next Friday evening. All the plans for the year will be presented by the various chairmen. The Hustler club will be explained and teams organized. A beautiful loving cup has been presented by a prominent Duluth man to be given to the boy getting the most points in the hustle. All the awards will be exhibited Friday night.

The Knights of Sir Galahad will meet Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. This meeting is open to any boy over 12 years of age. The Sunday club will meet at 4 o'clock and is open to any older boy in the city.

FORECASTS NEW RECORD

But One Day More of Above Zero Weather Is Needed.

Temperature Lowest of the Winter at 2 Degrees Above Zero.

This winter is expected by the local weather bureau to break the forty-three year record for above-zero weather. If the temperature remains above zero for one day more all records in the history of the weather bureau will be broken.

The weather man today nearly "spilled the beans." The temperature was but 4 above zero before 7 o'clock this morning. After a temporary rise, it began to drop again, and went down to 2 above at 9 o'clock. This was the lowest of the present season. Then the mercury rose again, and at noon it registered 11 above.

Forecaster Richardson predicts warmer weather tonight and tomorrow with general cloudiness. He expects the temperature to rise to 15 above tonight.

The meteorological summary showing the weather conditions for Duluth since the establishment of the United States weather bureau at Duluth forty-three years ago, shows some interesting data concerning conditions at the Head of the Lakes.

The lowest mean temperature for January in the history of the weather bureau was in 1912, when the mercury averaged 7 deg. below zero. The highest mean temperature for January was in 1880, when the mercury averaged 21 deg. above zero. Only three times during the forty-three years has the mean temperature for the month been below zero. These years were 1875, 1885 and 1912.

The highest temperature during January in forty-three years was on Jan. 28, 1877, when the mercury was 51 deg. above zero. The lowest temperature was on Jan. 2, 1885, when the mercury was 51 deg. below zero.

January, 1889, which is compared to the present month, had a mean temperature of 20 above zero. February following was an average month, the mean temperature being 13 deg. above zero, which is exactly the mean average for February for forty-three years.

REOPEN OLD CONTROVERSY

Attorney's Fees in White Iron Lake Fire Cases Up Again.

Although all of the old White Iron lake fire cases, in which about forty settlers in the vicinity of White Iron and Birch lakes brought suit against the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company for damages caused by forest fires during the summer of 1910, have either been litigated or settled, attorneys connected with some of the cases are still at war.

In district court today before Judge Bert Fesler, Mrs. I. C. Buell, Duluth's woman attorney, and Joseph W. Reynolds are again engaged in a dispute of long standing over a division of the fees allowed by the court among the attorneys. A few months ago the two years ago J. De La Motte was removed as the attorney in a number of fire cases and Mrs. Fuell substituted in his place by an order of the court. During the month of January, 1912, Joseph W. Reynolds, another Duluth attorney, became interested in about thirty other and similar cases, displacing Mr. De La Motte as attorney.

In April, 1912, all of the cases handled by Attorney Reynolds and three in which Mrs. Buell was attorney were settled by the railroad company for the lump sum of $24,750, which the court apportioned among the settlers pro rata according to their losses.

At this time, Mr. Reynolds collected as his fee the sum of $8,250, or $250 in each case. Mr. De La Motte received 5 per cent of the amount and Mrs. Buell produced a written contract with her clients by virtue of which she was to receive 33 1-3 per cent of their settlement as her fees. Mr. Reynolds contested these fees on the grounds that Mrs. Buell, as he claimed, had been discharged by her clients and he retained in her place. The matter was heard before Judge Cant, who ruled in favor of Mrs. Buell. Mr. Reynolds, however, procured a transcript of the evidence adduced at the hearing, for the purpose of taking an appeal from Judge Cant's decision to the supreme court. He moved for a rehearing and Mrs. Buell agreed to the proposition.

The matter is being reviewed for a second time before Judge Fesler.

Miss E. W. Williams of St. Paul appeared in court as attorney for Mrs. Buell.

SETTLERS WANT DAMAGES FROM DAM BUILDERS.

The Trout Lake Lumber company is defendant in three actions started yesterday in district court in which damages to property by reason of the building of a dam across the Vermilion river in 1912 are sought.

Ole P. Gruben wants $900, Alfred Wadman, $700 and John Aronsen, $400. The logging company built the dam and in doing so, the plaintiffs claim, caused the level of Vermilion Lake to rise and flood abutting agricultural lands. Each owned a farm which was partly submerged by the flood in the spring of 1912.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Principal Young Greets Students---Classes Start Hockey Play---Senior-Junior Debate Will Be Held Tuesday---New System of Conducting Semester Examinations---Inter-Class Basket Ball Tournament Held.

During the assembly period on Monday morning, Principal Leonard Young gave a short address of welcome to returning students and reminded them of new resolutions made at the beginning of the new year. More especially was attention directed to each student taking stock of his or her scholarship with a reminder that now is the time to put extra effort on the work which needs special care. Only four weeks remain of the first semester.

The Bible study classes of high schols boys at the boy's department of the Y. M. C. A. resumed the winter's course of study on Tuesday evening at 6:30.

The high school orchestra resumed its weekly rehearsal on Wednesday afternoon. Director Hilstaud announces the annual high school concert for Feb. 20.

* * *

The seniors lost out on the regular class meeting of the month, which should have been held on Monday. However, a special class meeting was called on Tuesday afternoon by President Oliver Vivian, at which Joe Du Moe was elected to pilot the senior hockey team. Practice will begin as soon as the weather permits. The senior dance committee, Mary McLean and Samuel O'Gorman was instructed to arrange for the senior class closed dance before Lent.

* * *

The sophomore hockey team held the first of a regular series of practices on Wednesday afternoon at Twenty-fourth avenue east and Fourth street. The second-year men expect to make a strong bid for the school championship.

* * *

The Stump Literary society held its first regular meeting of the new year on Wednesday at the close of school. Gustaf Moisan gave an oration on "Webster's Reply to Hoyne." A general discussion on the "Art of Public Speaking" was opened by George Sullivan, in which most of the members of the society participated.

* * *

Special attention of the seniors has been called to the new system of offering fractional credits for work completed along the various lines of school activities. It is very possible that some of the seniors will be able to secure an additional credit upon the introduction of this system, and Principal Young has suggested that the seniors investigate in order to find if any credits be due them.

* * *

Great interest centers around the senior junior debate, which will be given in the assembly hall on Tuesday afternoon at the close of school. The state league question will be debated as follows: "Resolved, That Judges Should Be Made Subject to Recall, Constitutionally Granted." This contest is one of a series that will be held to decide the championship of the school. Both teams are well coached and are anxious to annex the honor of defeating a worthy opponent.

A new system of conducting the semester examinations will be introduced at the end of the first semester. Formal examinations will be given during a period of several days. All examinations in any one subject will be given at one time and at the same hour other subjects also will be given in which there is apt to be no conflicts. The time for each set examination will be one and three-quarter hours, which gives the student sufficient time to write a careful and thoughtful paper and not be rushed for time as was the method under the old system. Another objection to the old system is the fact that during the last days of the second semester the regular class periods cannot well be kept of uniform length and this has greatly interfered with the closing examinations of the year. Under the new system a regular schedule will be prepared and no interference will be permitted.

The students have been given instructions to investigate the new courses of study for the coming semester in order to avoid the usual amount of carelessness and uncertainty which often characterizes the average student when it comes time to indicate the choice of subjects necessary for any one of the courses offered. Principal Young wishes each student of the high school to consult the schedules of study which will be posted in the various session rooms.

The senior hockey team has been called to the first practice of the season on Saturday morning at the Twenty-fourth avenue east and Fourth street rink. Capt. Joe Du Moe expects to be on hand and put his teammates through a strenuous workout.

* * *

T. F. Phillips, head of the science department, has been ill during the opening week of the new year and has been confined to his room. He expects to be at his school duties on Monday. Principal Young took charge of the physics classes during the week.

* * *

The girls' gymnasium classes for Friday afternoon were postponed to Monday afternoon in order to give up the gymnasium for the senior-junior championship basket ball game.

The freshmen hockey candidates met during the lunch period Friday and elected John McCormick captain of the first year team.

The interclass basket ball tournament was brought to a close Friday afternoon in the Washington building gymnasium. Unusual interest has centered around the contests this year, due to the fact that the lower class teams and the upper class teams have never been more evenely matched. Early in the tournament the seniors and juniors demonstrated that they would be in the finals. A great game was played before the holidays and resulted in a senior victory by a score of 27 to 26, and this after extra time had to be played to break the tie of 24 to 24. Last Tuesday the juniors made good their expectations by outplaying their rivals and took a poorly played game by the score of 19 to 17. This evened up the series and Friday's contest was looked forward to by all followers of the game as a real championship contest.

PAT RIVERS IS DIVORCED

Wife Given Freedom From Man Who Killed Thomas Geahagen.

Patrick Rivers, ex-convict, stooped and gray after twelve long years in a felon's cell, has been separated from his wife, Kate Rivers, to whom he was married on May 10, 1895. She was yesterday granted a divorce by Judge Ensign on the grounds that her husband had been convicted of a felony.

Rivers was released last July from Stillwater, where he served twelve years of a twenty-year term for the killing of Thomas Geahagen, in this city on Oct. 13, 1901. The trial of Rivers for the murder of Geahagen, or as he was better known, Hogan, was quite a famous one in this county. He was found guilty of manslaughter in the first degree and sentenced by Judge Ensign to a twenty-years term, the maximum. In the same court and before the same judge yesterday, Mrs. Rivers was granted a divorce.

On account of his good behavior, Rivers had his term cut down to about twelve years, and a few months ago he was told that he might walk from the prison a free man. When he returned to Duluth, he sought out his wife, but she did not care to resume relations with him and refused to have anything to do with him.

Rivers was a stevedore and was well known about the city. He was born on the sea in the Bay of Biscay.

Judge Ensign yesterday afternoon also granted a separation to Viola Koker from Clarence O. Koker. Mrs. Koker claimed that her husband denied the paternity of his child in the presence of others and that although she had pleaded with him to retract the statement he had refused to do so. She worried herself sick over the affair, she said, and finally left him in April 1911. They were married at Bassett, Neb., on May 19, 1903.

Maud Agnes Anderson, 23, in a suit for divorce filed this morning, declares that within six weeks after she had married Sigfrid or better known as Zeak Anderson, 26, at Hibbing on July 2, 1911, he beat, kicked and otherwise maltreated her and then abandoned her. During the month of February, 1912, he induced her to resume relations and then deserted a second time. She asks for a decree and the right to resume her maiden name, that of Maude Mingus.

NOTED MISSIONARY WILL SPEAK HERE

Recently Returned From Albania—Speaks Before Interchurch Council.

The Duluth Interchurch council has planned a rally for Jan. 28, which, because of the importance of the visiting clergyman who will speak, is considered epochal in the work of the council.

The visitor is Rev. Charles T. Erickson. He has recently returned from Albania, where he was engaged in missionary work for many years. Mr. Erickson recently addressed the Congregational National society at Kansas City and thrilled the audience, it is claimed, not only because of the things he related in connection with missionary work but by his eloquence. Albania was the country where Miss Ellen Stone, the missionary, was captured.

On Jan. 23, there will be a dinner given at the First Presbyterian church, and this gathering will be addressed by Mr. Erickson. As quarters are limited it is expected that the dinner list will have to be restricted to about 250. The address will be on missionary work in connection with the laymen's missionary movement.

R. A. HORR'S BROTHER DIES

R. A. Horr, general manager of the Stone-Ordean-Wells company, has just received word that his brother, Frank H. Horr, died yesterday in Pasadena, Cal. Mr. Horr will go to Chicago on Monday, there to meet the body and then go on to Ithaca, Mich., where the funeral will be held on Thursday.

Mr. Horr had a severe attack of grip at his home in Michigan some time ago and went to California to recuperate. The disease settled in his kidneys and death resulted from uraemic poisoning. He is survived by his wife and one daughter. The latter is married and lives in Rochester, N. Y.

Mr. Horr only recently returned from Ohio, where he attended the funeral of his mother.

WOULD ADOPT TWO CHILDREN

Elizabeth M. Doyle, widow of Thomas A. Doyle, residing at Proctor, yesterday petitioned the district court for permission to adopt as her own children, 8-year-old Ruth Peterson and 6-year-old Sigfrid Peterson, daughters of Peter Peterson.

The petition states that the mother of the girls died at Scanlon on Oct. 29, 1912, and that the children are in need of a mother's care. She says that she is willing to take this responsibility and that she will treat them as though they were her own children.

Mrs. Doyle is also rearing and educating a son, aged 9, who was adopted into the family during the year 1907.

TRUST BILLS ARE OUTLINED

Tentative Drafts Are Prepared for Committee to Work On.

Directorates, Price Control and Injunction Suits Covered.

Washington, Jan. 10.—A general outline of the tentative draft of anti-trust legislation prepared by majority members of the house committee on the judiciary for action by the full committee, subject to a conference with President Wilson, became known last night. While members of the committee talked with the president some weeks ago, the proposed bills so far have not the administration stamp, and they will be discussed at a conference between the president and committeemen immediately following the president's return.

The bills, drafted as a result of the conferences between Chairman Clayton, Representative Caline of Virginia, chairman of the trust committee, and Representatives Floyd of Arkansas, McCoy of New Jersey and others, cover these three main points:

First, interlocking directors.
Second, trade relations and prices.
Third, injunction proceedings and damage suits by individuals.

Penalties for Individuals.

In every case President Wilson's idea of providing penalties for individuals as well as for corporations in case of violations, has been followed. It was decided it would be better to draft a number of bills instead of incorporating all the anti-trust propositions in an omnibus measure, supplementary to the Sherman act. An attempt to define combinations and conspiracies in restraint of trade as far as possible has been made in the bills already prepared.

The bill to prohibit interlocking directorates is regarded by the committee members as the most important of the three. It deals not only with banks and trust companies, but applies to every industrial corporation engaged in interstate trade.

Interlocking Directorates.

The tentative draft of this measure provides that:

"After the 23rd day of December, 1914, an officer or director of a Federal reserve bank, a branch bank, national bank or banking association or any state member in a Federal reserve bank shall not be an officer or director of any other bank, banking association or trust company, or of any financial corporation, institution or association engaged in the banking business. Nor shall he engage in the banking business individually or as a member of a firm or association engaged in such business; nor shall he be an officer or director of any other corporation, organization or association, the principal part of whose authorized or actual business is to buy, sell or hold the stock, bonds or securities of corporations, organizations or associations, or to finance the sale of such stocks, bonds, securities or evidences of indebtedness, or to negotiate loans to corporations, organizations or associations, nor to any other corporation, organization or association conducting principally such authorized or actual business.

"A director of Class A of a Federal reserve bank may be an officer or director or both an officer and a director of one member bank."

The other two classes are prohibited in the currency law from holding the other offices.

Industrial Feature.

The effect of the industrial corporation feature of the interlocking directorate bill, the committeemen say, would be of the most sweeping character, cutting out the interlocking arrangements and enabling the directorships and control to pass to a large army of new men, instead of keeping the industrial control of various lines of activity in the hands of a few. Under its terms, no officer or director in any industrial corporation engaged in interstate trade would be permitted to be an officer or director in another industrial interstate corporation in allied business.

Manufacturers of railroad cars, locomotives, railroad rails, and structural steel, or men engaged in mining or selling coal, would be barred from becoming directors or other officers or employes of railroads engaged in interstate commerce. The bill would not become effective until two years after passage in order to allow adjustment of business arrangements. The other measures would take effect immediately upon passage.

Price Regulation.

The bill designed to stop agreements for regulation of prices has drastic provisions. It is designed to effectually stop the fixing by wholesalers of the prices at which the manufactured article shall be sold to the public, and to prevent big business from entering into contracts to control prices of any commodity.

The measure on injunctions and damage suits would give to individuals as well as the government the right to start injunction proceedings for any attempt at injury.

"Why don't more men attend church?" is the question which will be discussed at a meeting to be held at the Young Men's Christian association tomorrow at 5:30 p. m.

A supper will be served for all the men of the city interested and James Farndale and James Nelson will lead the discussion which will be a general one, and the speakers will endeavor to find the answer to the question.

"NATURE'S WAY IS GOD'S WAY"

Electro Medical Method Conquers Chronic Ills and Germ Laden Life.

Electro-Vito theory and method of treatment is not an experiment. It has stood the test of the public at large and has received the highest endorsement of all the many patients who have taken the treatment. It has been tried and not found wanting!

If you have rheumatism, catarrh, bronchitis, asthma, consumption in the first stage, weak lungs, chronic coughs, diseases of the stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels or bladder; female troubles, scrofula, bad blood, paralysis, piles, heart disease, etc., you will find this treatment will bring quick and wonderful results that no imitator or would-be rival could possibly afford.

It is efficient in this wide range of diseases because it imitates Nature with this difference—it concentrates Nature's benefits a hundred fold! It adds to these benefits the result of years of skill and learning! It is the last word in scientific treatment!

Starting with perfect health and living correctly, Nature is supposed to give to you enough of her treasures to enable you to remain healthy throughout a long life. But who does live right? No one! And after a disease has been contracted Nature does not voluntarily increase her blessings. She gives you only as great a portion as she gave you when you were well, and in your weakened condition these portions are no longer sufficient! What is to be done? Electro-Vito treatment has robbed the inexhaustible treasure of Nature and has stored her forces. These forces, multiplied a countless number of times, are then yours for the asking. Once taken from Nature and stored up by science they are yours to command!

The treatment is pleasant in every respect. It exhilarates, it soothes, and at the same time it destroys and annihilates the million upon million of harmful and often deadly germs with which every sufferer's system is clogged. Every drop of blood, every particle of tissue, every vein, nerve and organ is cleansed of the burrowing, crowding destroyers of health and contentment. It will do all of this for you if you need to be restored to your former self.

NEW TREATMENT FOR THE WHITE PLAGUE

Involves Pumping of Air Into Lungs—Doctors Optimistic.

Washington, Jan. 10.—A new method of treating tuberculosis is being investigated by the public health service through experiments at Fort Stanton, N. M., and officials of the service say they are hopeful of important results.

The method is known as artificial or induced pneumo-thorax. Air is pumped into the patient's pleural cavity every day or two to maintain pressure, and the results watched by means of X-rays to ascertain the extent to which the diseased lungs are compressed. The lung, figuratively, is put into an "air splint," and nature given a chance to cure.

The reports so far tell only of the progress of the experiments and officials, while optimistic, said it was too early to prophesy. They are inclined to believe, however, it may prove effective in any stage of the disease.

"TOO LOW TARIFF AND TOO MANY MOTORS"

Therefore Burden Iron Works Will Cut Wages and Output.

Troy, N. Y., Jan. 10.—The employes of the Burden Iron Works here were told yesterday that their wages would be reduced and the working force cut down because of the Underwood tariff bill, which permits foreign horse shoes to enter this country free of duty, and the increased use of the automobile.

The men, who had been idle since before Christmas owing to a shut down, were called together by General Manager Talcot, who outlined the new policy. A few employes agreed to work under the new schedule, but others declined, and a prolonged shutdown is threatened. The mill employes about 1,800 hands.

MILLIONAIRE SHOWS WAY

Young Harvard Graduate Has Model Farm North of Bemidji.

Turned Farmer for Health's Sake---Blazes a New Trail.

I. I. Florsheim, Harvard graduate, son of the millionaire shoe manufacturer, has transformed several hundred acres of cut-over land north of Bemidji into a rich and model farm and is blazing the trail of advanced farm methods for his hardy neighbors.

Gust Erickson, one of Florsheim's neighbors, was in Duluth yesterday at the McKay hotel, and told of the work done by the young Harvard graduate, who came to Northern Minnesota principally for his health and who now has one of the best model farms in this state.

Mr. Florsheim, Harvard '98, trained for the professional and business world, but broke down shortly after leaving his college. He had been brought up in Chicago, where he attended public schools, later a preparatory college and was finally graduated from the law department of Harvard. He tried for months to regain his health at a Wisconsin sanitarium, but was considered too weak to again return to Chicago and enter the business world.

While at the hospital the young millionaire fell in love with his nurse, Miss Clara Priebe, and after a short romance, they were married. They are now living on the farm, which lies on the shores of Clearwater lake, about twenty miles north of Bemidji.

Becomes a Farmer.

After leaving the hospital Mr. Florsheim was told to work in the open and he resolved to become a farmer He took a short course at the Wisconsin agricultural school and then he and his bride came to Northern Minnesota. On the shores of the lake Mr. Florsheim purchased 500 acres of cut-over land. The small house was enlarged to contain fifteen rooms, modern plumbing and other conveniences of the city were installed, and then came an engine which cleared the land of the stumps. The homesteaders watched this young farmer and some laughed at the new methods. But Florsheim replied that it cost but $12 an acre to clear his land, and he went on regardless of the criticism.

Blooded Cattle.

Next came blooded cattle, followed by swine and horses. That was three years ago. The homesteaders laughed again, this time declaring that it was a joke to bring blooded Guernseys into the pine woods. But Mr. Florsheim laughed also and answered these jibes by tearing down the old barn and erecting a modern structure, with cement floors and running water in front of each animal. He then purchased two fast horses and with these Mr. and Mrs. Florsheim make occasional visits to Bemidji for supplies.

The second year the homesteaders dropped in to ask questions and now they are getting their own cattle and their horses for breeding from Mr. Florsheim. Also they are gradually installing modern conveniences for the farm and for the women folks. The homesteader said yesterday that the coming of this Eastern young man revolutionized farm life in that section of the state.

So from a joke this Harvard graduate has become a leader. He recently organized the Neving Dam Co-operative Creamery company. He is clerk of the school board and last fall succeeded in having a new school house erected. The farm has quadrupled in value and now, his health returned, Mr. Florsheim is content with the farm life, and but a few weeks ago purchased several hundred acres adjacent to his land, which he plans to clear next spring.

DICKER WITH SUGAR TRUST FALLS THROUGH

Government May Yet Press Suit for Its Dissolution.

Washington, Jan. 10.—Negotiations between the American Sugar Refining company and the department of justice have come to an abrupt halt, and unless the so-called trust agrees to meet reorganization demands, the suit to dissolve it under the Sherman anti-trust act will be pressed with vigor by Attorney General McReynolds.

For the last week officials have been hopeful recent conferences between Mr. McReynolds and Snowden Marshall at New York would result in a peaceful settlement of the sugar trust suit, which was filed more than three years ago. This hope was shattered when word came from New York that negotiations had failed. Department officials declined to discuss the case, and the exact points which failed of adjustment were not made public.

This is the first failure of negotiations of this sort since the American Telephone & Telegraph company pointed a way by which "big business" might avoid long litigation in the courts.

Another Smallpox Victim.

Washington, Jan. 10.—The fourth death as the result of the epidemic of smallpox on the battleship Ohio was reported to the navy department yesterday, the latest victim being Leroy Grant Stingley, machinist's mate, who died at the detention camp at Guantanamo, Cuba. Stingley was a native of Kansas City.

But nobody ever sat down to make a complete job of it for the whole state and probably no officer ever had funds with which he could do it.

Now there is not the same necessity that the state's accounts should show the same things that a manufacturing concern must show, like the steel corporation for instance. An industrial concern must make money or quit. The state is not there to make money and it can keep on indefinitely even though it is leaking money at every pore.

Story Should Be Told.

But the state is here to perform certain services and it means a great deal more than money that they shall be effectively performed. And it is just as necessary that the story of what the state is doing should be told as it is that the story should be told what a business corporation is doing. In the case of the corporation it can be told by a few columns of figures better than any other way. In the case of the state there are important parts of the story that can be told in the same way. At any rate we can't get the rest of the story until we know the part that is told by figures.

Some of the paragraphs that make up that story are found in one place and some in another. A great deal of the information goes to the auditor's office and can be found six months or a year later in his reports. A good deal of it never gets there. Some of it is found in the reports of the board of control. Some of it is excavated by the public examiner. And some of it could be ascertained only by deep research.

No Other State Better.

It is hoped nobody's feelings will be hurt by this statement. Minnesota has no reports that show its business condition. But no other state nor the United States government either has anything on Minnesota in that respect. Such reports have never been kept by any state. As near as any one came to it was when President Taft's commission spent $300,000 rummaging around to find out how the government did business including among other things a statement of how much went for permanent improvements and how much for current expense. It took something like 40,000 sheets of foolscap to figure that out. And even with an adding machine run by electricity that means a good deal of headache.

That is one of the things we ought to know before we even damn the legislature intelligently. When the legislature raises the subscription list from $5,000,000 to $8,000,000 in one year, it makes a good deal of difference in the amount of indignation due that honorable body whether we are going to get anything for the money or not, and if so how much. If it all goes to pay the wages of typewriter girls to do nothing but sit round and chew gum, it is altogether too much. If it goes mostly for permanent improvements that will not come again in many years it is not too much, though the legislature may have bunched its hits more than is pleasant. On the other hand if it goes for doing work to better the lives and surroundings of the people of Minnesota, involving a larger appropriation to keep up the work that is started, we may as well reconcile ourselves to paying too much with the certain knowledge that it will be still more next time. Because that is the way those things happen.

People Ought to Know.

In the meantime the legislature, including the last one and its distinguished successor yet to be chosen, is in for a great dose of damnation for its extravagance. And if that is to be applied in any but a very loose and inartistic way, the people ought to know what they are getting for their money.

They can't know that without an entirely different set of books from what was ever kept in this state or any other. A set of books to show, not in exactly the same way but to the same purpose what an intelligent corporation's books show—the story of its being and growth and the justification, if it has any, for its continuance.

without a requisition from the civilian authorities.

The decre was issued at the time of the Holy Alliance, which existed from 1815 to 1830, between the European sovereigns, and was intended to perpetuate the reigning dynasties and prevent revolutions.

Illegal, But Justified.

Col. von Reuter's detention of the civilian prisoners over night, although recognized by the court as illegal in itself, was considered justified because the transfer of the prisoners at night might have caused most serious disorders. During the trial it was shown that Col. von Reuter stood ready to order civilians shot down for insulting soldiers by word or act.

The president of the court-martial, in explaining the verdict of acquittal, said it had been established by the evidence that the officers of the Ninety-ninth infantry regiment had been constantly insulted and stoned by civilians in Zabern, and on one occasion shots had been fired. The court, he said, was convinced that the civil authorities of the town had failed to act with the necessary energy in suppressing the outbreaks, and in the opinion of the court, the military officers were undoubtedly justified in arresting the people who had insulted them.

The court ordered that the costs of the suit should be paid by the state.

Owing to the great interest taken in the two courts-martial, the police of Strassburg took the most exensive precautions to prevent disorders. Immense crowds gathered outside the police lines in the vicinity of the court.

EXTREME PROFITS BY CALUMET & HECLA

and ending with the earnings of the company.

Secretary Wilson today declined to say what the next step in the department's participation in the situation would be, although he intimated that the reports of the investigators might become the basis of a proposed congressional investigation.

What Reports Show.

"In connection with the efforts of the department at mediation, the reports of John A. Moffitt and John B. Densmore, who acted as commissioners of conciliation at different times," the report says, "show:

"That suggestions were made that the managers of the companies meet the representatives of the miners with a view to effecting a mutual settlement.

"That the whole question in dispute be submitted to arbitration.

"That the questions be submitted to arbitration and no member of the Western Federation of Miners be selected upon the board.

"That the companies agree to reinstate all of the workmen without discrimination relative to their being members or non-members of a union.

"That the companies post notices that they will re-employ all the strikers without discrimination relative to their being members or non-members of a union.

Companies Rejected Plans.

"Each of these propositions, as made, was accepted by the representatives of the miners as a basis of settlement, but were rejected by the representatives of the companies on the ground that they would not deal with the Western Federation of Miners or have any of its members in their employ. The companies, on Dec. 1, posted notices to the effect that thereafter the minimum wage rate would be $3 and the hours of labor per day 8¾.

"The data contained in this report was collected prior to the shooting at Seeberville, the shooting at Painsdale, the Calumet tragedy at Italian hall on Christmas eve, and the deportation of Charles H. Moyer, and does not include any reports on these points."

Calumet & Hecla.

After reviewing the preliminaries which led to the strike and rehearsing details of the strike now familiar to the public the report says:

"Some of the smaller mining companies have been operating at a loss, but the largest companies in the region, the Calumet & Hecla company, which employs upwards of 50 per cent of the total number of mine workers engaged in that region, has extremely large profits. It was organized with an authorized issue of capital stock of $2,500,000, par value $25, of which $12 per share is paid up, so that the actual cash capital paid in is $1,200,000. The total dividends paid from date of organization in 1871 and including March 30, 1913, were $121,050,000, besides having reinvested about $75,000,000 out of its net earnings.

Welfare Work Done.

"The Calumet & Hecla company has provided a number of welfare agencies for its employes' benefit. The employes of its subsidiary companies have the use of the library and bath houses.

The Calumet & Hecla company has built and now owns ten school buildings, which are used as public schools and for which the Calumet township pays rent.

It has also built an armory, which is used by the local military company, and for which the state pays rent.

It has given the ground for the Y. M. C. A. building in Calumet and for most of the church buildings in the township, and has contributed to their support.

It has built and maintains a hospital at which $1 per month covers medical and surgical attention and all medicine that may be necessary for an entire family.

It has established a voluntary aid fund, and an old-age pension fund for certain employes who have attained an age of 60 years, and who have been in the employ of the company for twenty years or more, and in a number of other ways has promoted the welfare of workers."

May Attack Grand Jury.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 10.—With the departure yesterday of Governor Ferris from the Copper country, chief interest in the strike of the Northern Michigan copper miners today centered in the work of the special Houghton county grand jury which is investigating lawlessness resulting from the strike.

Intimations that the work of the grand jury will be attacked on legal grounds were made at union headquarters today. The strikers insist that the presence in the grand jury room of Grant Fellows, attorney general of Michigan, has voided the body's legality, and that there is no Michigan law which would permit the county to employ George Nichols as special prosecutor under existing conditions.

Moyer Will Stay.

Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, announced his intention of remaining in the district as long as he pleased and of prosecuting the men who forcibly deported him from Hancock on the night after Christmas.

Governor Ferris returned to his home in Big Rapids without making a direct effort to end the strike. He blamed outsiders for the continuance of the struggle and said he got the information he came here for.

More Trouble for Burcar.

The cup of woe of Josip Burcar, a Winona mine striker, has ran over, according to word that reached Federation officials. Yesterday morning Burcar told the governor he had been threatened with forcible eviction because he would not go back to work. He returned to the mine to look after his family, and late yesterday broke his arm when he fell with a bucket of water. His wife took the same bucket and fell with it, breaking her arm and injuring herself internally.

Burcar said yesterday morning that he needed a doctor for a sick child, but when the physician reached the house he found three patients instead of one.

Moyer appeared last night before a mass meeting of strikers and sympathizers, which crowded the largest hall in Hancock beyond its capacity. Except for his five-minute address, the gathering had a Socialist tinge. The other speakers included Seymour Stedman of the investigation committee, J. W. Lord of Peoria, Ill., and several local Socialists.

Moyer Talked to Crowd.

Mr. Moyer explained that under the advice of physicians he could not make an extended address and then said:

"I came back here because I had a right to. Under the laws of Michigan and the Constitution of the United States I am entitled to protection. Those responsible for my leaving Dec. 26 violated the laws of state and nation by taking the law into their own hands, and committed a crime for which they must be punished if there is any law at all in the state of Michigan.

"When the shot was fired into my back, it was into Moyer alone, but that shot reached every miner on the continent. It was shot in the back of the working class, and especially into the back of all organized wage workers."

He said there had been no change in the policy of the Western Federation of Miners, and then referred to a statement made by Governor Ferris earlier in the day that "advice of outsiders would tend more than anything else to prolong the strike." Union leaders today telegraphed to the governor to attend a conference between miners and employers to settle the difficulty and propose any plan he might have to get the men back to work.

Ferris Blames Outsiders.

Mackinaw City, Mich., Jan. 10.—"Do most emphatically favor conference of operators, and miners, and that settlement be made by men and operators without aid of outsiders."

This is the answer Governor Ferris last night sent to President Moyer of the Western Federation of Miners at Houghton, in reply to a telegram requesting the governor to propose action looking to a settlement of the copper miners' strike.

The governor passed through Mackinaw City late last night en route home from the Upper Peninsula.

No Peonage Evidence Reported.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 10.—Edgar Prochnik, Austrian vice consul here, says his personal representative in the Michigan copper strike country, J. J. Patek of Calumet, has found no evidence upon which a charge of holding Austro-Hungarian miners in peonage could be founded. The vice consul based this assertion, he said, upon a message from his representative.

"If we find any of our people are being deprived of their liberty in the strike district," Mr. Prochnik declared, "immediate action will be taken to obtain their freedom."

Until Mr. Patek concludes his investigation and submits his report no further action will be taken by the consulate, according to Mr. Prochnik. This report he expects to receive the first of next week.

Up to a late hour last night the vice consul said he had received no instructions from the Austrian embassy at Washington to proceed to the copper district and conduct a personal investigation.

Four Cases Disposed Of.

L'Anse, Mich., Jan. 10.—Four additional cases growing out of strike disorders in Houghton county were disposed of in circuit court here yesterday, three of the defendants pleading guilty while another was convicted by a jury. The trials were brought here on changes of venue. Thus far twenty-one such cases have been decided, there having been fifteen pleas of guilty, three convictions by juries, two disagreements and one acquittal. About half the cases on the calendar, including the only murder trials on the docket, are yet to be heard. Because yesterday's work unexpectedly ended the week's program, adjournment was taken until Monday, and Prosecuting Attorney Anthony Lucas returned to his home in Calumet.

The ladies of St. John's church, Lakeside, will give a

CHILLY RECEPTION FOR BUTTERFLY.

The butterfly seen by James A. Ferguson at his Glen Ayon home Thursday has disappeared and no trace of the winged beauty has been found.

Thursday Mr. Ferguson says he saw the butterfly fluttering about the trees and bushes on the lawn of his home. But yesterday morning the butterfly could not be seen and it is believed that the sudden cold weather snap killed the little "harbinger of spring."

IS INDICTED FOR MURDER

Grand Jury Deals Promptly With Case of Mooney's Slayer.

Companion Held for Carrying Dangerous Weapons --Seventeen True Bills.

Jovan Zorola, self-confessed slayer of Neil J. Mooney, New Duluth patrolman, was indicted on a charge of murder in the first degree yesterday afternoon by the January grand jury which has been in session since Wednesday. The jury returned a partial report of its work to Judge Cant shortly after 5 o'clock last evening.

Justice will be swift in the Mooney murder case. Zorola will be brought to trial under the indictment as soon as possible. The grand jury convened on Wednesday, the day following the shooting of Mooney, and within thirty-six hours after his death a true bill was found against the man held for the crime.

Savo Rakich, who was with Zorola at the time of the shooting and also resisted arrest when the officer attempted to take both men in custody, was indicted by the grand jury for the crime of carrying a dangerous weapon, an offense punishable by one year in the state penitentiary.

Both Zorola and Rakich will be arraigned before Judge Cant this afternoon under the indictments.

The Mooney murder case in many ways parallels the Chesmore murder case three years ago. Harry Chesmore on Jan. 6, 1911, was shot and killed by Algot Johnson and Charles Melodrowski, boy bandits, who had been arrested by the officer after they had "stuck up" the night clerk at the McKay hotel. Johnson and Melodrowski were captured while the grand jury was in session and were indicted a few hours later. Their trial and conviction followed in short order. Melodrowski died in prison six months later and Johnson was pardoned, but succumbed to tuberculosis a few weeks later.

Seventeen Indictments.

The grand jury last evening returned seventeen indictments and four no true bills. Nine of the true bills are secret, the defendants not being in custody. In addition to the true bills returned in connection with the Mooney case, indictments were returned against the following:

Tony Mikrut for assault in the first degree, Mikrut is accused of having walked into a saloon at 5620 Raleigh street on Jan. 6 last, and after Martin Fajeditch, the proprietor, had refused him a drink to have opened fire upon him with a loaded gun. Fortunately Fajeditch escaped without serious injury, although three shots were fired. It is claimed that Mikrut had been in the saloon earlier in the day and during an altercation with the bartender had thrown a telephone instrument at the latter. Mikrut will be arraigned on his indictment this afternoon.

Frank Jacobs, negro, for assault in the first degree. Jacobs, porter on a Pullman car, was arrested for slashing A. D. Cummings, Pullman conductor, on the evening of Nov. 22 last. Jacobs showed up late for duty and when reprimanded by his superior officer, it is claimed that he pulled a knife on Cummings. The latter bears a bad scar across his face.

Stans Sankoski and James Carey for burglary in the third degree. The two men, it is claimed, broke into Room 52, Adelphi hotel, 2801 West Superior street, on New Year's day last with the intent to steal a watch belonging to David Doyle, who occupied the room and who was the complaining witness in the case.

Anton Gasper for burglary in the third degree. Gasper was arrested on a charge of having on New Year's eve broken into a grocery store conducted by E. A. Ruggles at 916 Forty-seventh avenue east and stolen a quantity of provisions. When Gasper's house was searched several articles were recovered, among them a revolver which had been stolen from Ruggles. A son, Arthur Gasper, who was arrested in connection with the same affair, was exonerated by a no true bill which was returned by the grand jury yesterday.

Andrew Norbut and John Doe, an accomplice whose true name is not known to the authorities, for assault in the second degree. Norbut and his companion who went by the name of "Scotty" are accused in a joint indictment of having assaulted Charles Moran, rooming house proprietor at 512 West Superior street with the intent to rob him. "Scotty" is a fugitive from justice. The assault is alleged to have taken place at the rooming house on Nov. 28 last.

Andrew E. Loben for burglary in the third degree. Loben is accused of having, on Dec. 15 last, broken into the D. G. Cutler warehouse and to have stolen a quantity of sacks, worth about $40. Loben at the time of his arrest was under parole for an offense committed at Two Harbors.

Inspect Public Buildings.

The grand jury today, through various committees, is inspecting the county and city institutions. It is understood that a trip of inspection will be made to the county poor farm and county jail and that the recommendations if any are made, will be contained in the jury's final report which will be submitted early next week.

So far as can be learned from observing witnesses who have been seen entering the grand jury room, the inquisitorial body has not as yet reached the investigation of the News Tribune's charges against the police department. No intimation can be secured as to whether the alleged scandal will be given an airing before the grand jury or not, but County Attorney Greene stated at the public mass meeting that he was willing to submit any evidence brought to him.

be recorded the names of infants who are born under eugenic conditions, and perhaps also the names of persons who in person and pedigree are able to measure up to eugenic standards."

Dr. Kellogg prefaced his plea for a eugenics registry with a resume of the deteriorating influences now actively at work—such as increasing insanity, increasing crime, high infant mortality and decreased life expectancy. He emphasized the importance of pure blood rather than blue blood. Some of his recommendations for race betterment are: Greater activity of health officials, health education in the public schools, biologic surveys of every community, periodical medical examination, health certificates before marriage, sterilization of defectives, and "most important of all, the establishment of eugenics registers."

Blames Women's Colleges.

Bachelors often remain bachelors because women are spendthrifts, and many women are spendthrifts because women's colleges fail almost completely in training their students for the problems of life, declared Dr. Carolyn Geisel of Shorter college, Rome, Ga., in an address before the conference.

"Women's schools are inefficient because they fail to prepare women either for livelihood or motherhood," she continued. "Graduates come out of women's schools physical wrecks, with a valueless flood of useless information and a penchant for fashions which leaves them as nearly nude as the law will allow."

Rev. Caroline Bartlett Crane of Kalamazoo delivered an address on the value of "community hygiene."

already adopted a threatening attitude this morning.

Some further arrests of labor leaders were made this morning, among them President Connerty and Secretary Dawson of the railway men's executive and Norbut and Messrs. Buckley and Riley, members of the executive committee.

Call Citizens to Colors.

Pretoria, Union of South Africa, Jan. 10.—A further proclamation calling 60,000 men of the Citizens' Defense force to the colors was issued here today. This step was taken by the authorities in view of the possibility of widespread disturbances following the expected orders for a general strike by the labor federations.

Race Riot in Diamond Mine.

Jagersfontein, Union of South Africa, Jan. 10.—Seven native laborers in the diamond mines were killed and thirty-six wounded in the course of an outbreak today. A few whites also received injuries.

The trouble had no connection whatever with the strike of railway men. It arose in a dispute about the death of a Basuto, which was said to have resulted from the kick of a white overseer.

The whites were driven by the natives into a tunnel of a mine where they defended themselves. In the meantime the natives destroyed the huts in their compound.

A body of 500 armed whites then came on the scene and dispersed the natives after a sharp fight.

The town is now under control of detachments of armed farmers from the surrounding country, who are supported by a small force of regular troops.

Milwaukee Ice Houses Burn.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 10.—Fire in the ice houses of the Random Lakes Ice company here last night caused a loss of $40,000. The fire, the cause of which is unknown, spread rapidly and the firemen directed their efforts toward saving surrounding buildings. Six houses were consumed by the blaze, none of which contained ice, as the ice cutting season has not opened yet.

FERRIS IS CRITICIZED

Strike Leaders in Copper Country Displeased By Telegram.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 10.—The exchange of telegrams between Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, and Governor Ferris of Michigan was not entirely satisfactory from the Federation viewpoint. The men who have been directing the strike of copper miners today were inclined to criticize the governor on the ground he had made a proposition and then "had winked the other eye at it." The governor suggested a conference of employers and miners, but with "outsiders" left out.

There were evidences, too, that all was not harmonious in union circles, and the presence of the investigating committee of the national Socialist party was thought to have been the cause of some warm discussions among leaders.

From the start of the strike there has been frequent reference in resolutions and statements to the tenets of that party, and it has become evident that some outside unions have presented this fact as tending to introduce political discussion in what they thought should have been a purely trades union movement.

Worry Over A. F. of L.

Accordingly the men in active charge of the strike are looking forward with some anxiety to the coming meeting of the executive committee of the American Federation of Labor in Washington. None of them were willing, however, to discuss this phase of the situation for publication.

Socialism has been an issue in the community generally for some years. Admittedly strong at the beginning of the strike, especially in Hancock, it has been said that the adherents of the party have found recruits daily among the strikers. This condition was one of the chief grounds on which the copper mine operators have refused to treat with the Western Federation of Miners.

LEGAL FIGHT FOR DOCK SITE

Submerged Lots Not Described in Mortgage Which Was Foreclosed.

Property Left By J. B. Culver Cause of Battle in Courts.

When the heirs of the late Col. Joshua B. Culver, Duluth pioneer, lost the Culver warehouse and dock property in this city to the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance company on a $40,000 mortgage, were certain submerged lots outside of the description mentioned in the mortgage intended to have been covered by it?

This is a question on which a bitterly contested law suit which is being reviewed by Judge Cant in district court is hinging. On this and on the question of riparian rights the court will decide whether a portion of what is now known as the Culver dock belongs to the life insurance company or whether the dock overlaps property belonging to the Culvers or their successors.

Col. J. B. Culver, a well known Duluth pioneer, died in 1883. He left the Culver dock property, which he had acquired under a patent from the government in 1856, to his sons, Charles Culver and Frank E. (Ned) Culver. The former now resides at Seattle and the latter is a resident of the city. In 1892, the Culver boys made an application to the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance company for a loan of $40,000 which was negotiated, the Culvers giving a mortgage which covered the warehouse property.

At that time the Culvers owned not only a small tract east of the east line of Minnesota avenue, then submerged, but also several lots west of the west line of the avenue. The outside lots were in shallow water but were within the established government dock line. When the warehouse was built several years ago it was constructed so that it abutted directly on the east line of Minnesota avenue. The dock proper extended out from the warehouse and was built in the street itself. When the mortgage was foreclosed by the insurance company in 1898 and the Culvers passed out of control of the property, the insurance company not only took possession of the warehouse but also of the dock which covered the entire street.

Property Sold.

The insurance company about four years ago entered into a contract for the sale of the property to A. M. Marshall of this city who is named as a defendant in the action brought by the Duquesne Land company, a holding company, which holds quit claim deeds from the Culvers for the outside lots. The Scandia Fish company, the Twin Ports Fish company and other tenants of the property are also named as defendants with Mr. Marshall and the insurance company. They have no other interest in the litigation.

If the suit to quiet title brought by the Duquesne Land company is won by the plaintiff it will mean that that portion of the dock occupying the western half of Minnesota avenue will pass from the possession of the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance company to the Duquesne Land company, which is believed to be a holding company for the Culvers and that ingress and egress to the property by water will be subject to say-so of the land company and not the present owners of the dock.

The dock proper occupies Minnesota avenue and under a well established principle of law when a street is vacated or obtained through adverse possession that abutting property owners on either side automatically secure possession to the center of the street. The city is laying no claim to the avenue at this point as it has been used for its present purpose for twenty-eight years and any claim would be outlawed. The insurance company, it is claimed by the plaintiff, is only entitled to one-half of the street and consequently the dock which rests on the other portion is actually owned by the Duquesne Land company, owners of the outside lots.

Several old residents of the city have been called as witnesses in the case, among them Charles Culver, Frank E. Culver, Michael Chalk, W. C. Sargent, D. G. Cash, J. E. Cooley, C. A. Bronson, F. I. Salter, H. C. Fulton, E. R. Brown and Charles Winters. Hugh J. McClearn and Alford & Hunt are appearing as attorneys for the Duquesne Land company; Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell are in court for A. M. Marshall, defendant, and Fryberger, Fulton & Spear are representing the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance company.

NEWS OF FAMILY AFTER SIX YEARS

C. H. Schofield Learns That Lost Relatives Are in Toronto.

Charles H. Schofield of 429 Third avenue west, formerly cook at the Kitchi Gammi club, heard from his mother and sisters this morning for the first time in the past six years.

The other day Mr. Schofield learned that his mother, three sisters and a brother, for whom he had been searching for six years, were living in Toronto, Ont. He immediately communicated with the chief of police in the Canadian city and an investigation by the authorities there found the missing family. This morning Schofield received a telegram from his oldest sister.

FUNERAL OF PATROLMAN

Services for Officer Mooney Held at Moose Lodge Rooms.

Escort of Forty Patrolmen and Twenty Firemen Provided.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon a public funeral service for Patrolman Mooney, who died Thursday morning of a bullet wound inflicted by Jovan Zoroia at Gary Tuesday evening, was held at the Moose lodge rooms, 224 West First street.

Rev. J. A McGaughey of the Second Presbyterian church officiated at the service after which the body was carried to the Soo station, under the escort of forty patrolmen and twenty firemen. Lieut. Wilcox of the West Duluth station was in command of the detail of policemen and firemen.

The body of the officer lay in state in the lodge rooms all morning under the guard of Patrolmen Westerlund and Woods. Several hundred citizens in all walks of life viewed the body during the day and before the funeral service. The dead patrolman was a member of the Moose lodge and it was at the request of that fraternity that the body was allowed to lie in state today.

At 5:15 o'clock the body will be taken to Summerside, Prince Edward's Island, Can., where the parents of Patrolman Mooney now reside and where he lived when a boy. It will be accompanied by Mrs. Jane Bowman of Callehan, Minn., a sister of Patrolman Mooney, and Miss Blanche Mittlestadt, to whom the officer was engaged to be married next June. Mrs. Reuben Bowman of Mizpah, Minn., another sister, arrived this morning to attend the funeral service.

The body is expected to arrive at Summerside next Tuesday morning and the funeral will be held there Wednesday afternoon.

LOCAL MEN INVENT MOTORCYCLE BOB

Works Successfully and Creates Considerable Local Interest.

Guy Earle and Tony Nolte, two enthusiastic motorcyclists, have invented a motorcycle-bob, which they have operated successfully and which is creating much interest among local motorists.

The two young men have taken the front wheel, handle bars and seat off a motorcycle and placed the frame, with the motor and the rear wheel in the center of a large bob. The wheel runs the bob, which is steered by Earle, who sits in the front seat, while Nolte sits right behind the rear wheel.

The motorcycle-bob was operated on First street this noon and drew a large crowd of office men and women on their way to lunch.

MANY CATTLE STILL RAISED

Output Almost Equal to Old Ranch Days, Says Omaha Agent.

Jerome Hewitt, commercial agent of the Omaha at the Chicago stockyards, was in the city today. Mr. Hewitt declared that while it is a fact that the number of cattle in the United States is decreasing annually in proportion to the increasing population of the country, many of the closed range countries are sending in almost as much live stock as in the days when cattle roamed wild over the unfenced granges.

"All of the sections of the Western country that have been fenced in, are cattle raising districts," said Mr. Hewitt, "and eventually cattle will be sent from them to the various markets of the country in steady consignments, if not in such large consignments as in the days when one large shipper would send in hundreds of carloads. You see, there are more shippers at the present time, though the huge consignments are missing.

"There are millions of American dollars invested in the cattle industry of South America. The removal of the tariff means that there will be many cattle from that country shipped into the United States. How the shipment of South American beef to the United States will effect the price of meat in this country, is hard to say."

OBITUARY

Gladys Drew, the actress wife of Sidney Drew, the actor, died in New York, Jan. 9, aged 40 years. Mrs. Drew was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. McKee Rankin.

Mrs. Martha McGowan, a pioneer resident of Hebron township, Nicollet county is dead of old age. She was born in Scotland eighty-seven years ago, and came to America when a girl of 20. She lived in Massachusetts at first but in 1860 came to Minnesota with her first husband, Fred Clausen, locating at Birch Coulee.

It was at this place, during the Indian uprising of 1862, that Mr. Clausen was killed by the Indians, and Mrs. Clausen and her two small children were captured by Little Crow's band of Sioux, who kept her in captivity until soldiers rescued the white prisoners.

Soon after this Mrs. Clausen was married to Duncan McGowan, who died several years ago. Two daughters survive her.

Earl Cawdor is dead at the age of 43 years, after a long illness at the Kingston on Thames nursing home. The name dates back to the Thane of Cawdor of Shakespeare's "Macbeth." He only succeeded to the title on the death of his father in 1911. He is now succeeded by his son, Viscount Emlyn, a boy of 13 years.

WILL ARGUE THE TRACTION CASE.

Sullivan of this city, is conducting the city's fight, will probably make the principal argument on his side of the case. Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell, Thomas S. Wood and Henry F. Greene will appear for the Duluth Street Railway company.

SEEKING NEW TRIAL FOR WALTER KNIGHT.

Walter Knight, convicted recently by a district court jury on a charge of criminally abusing a 13-year-old girl, an offence punishable by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for from seven to thirty years, is fighting for a new trial.

In district court before Judge Dancer this afternoon arguments for a new trial will be presented by Andrew Nelson, attorney for Knight. Mason M. Forbes, assistant county attorney, will appear to oppose the motion.

The motion will be based on the ground that the court erred in admitting records of the juvenile court showing that young Knight had been convicted of various offenses, to go in as evidence in the case. The attorney for the defense takes the position that the juvenile court handles cases in which mere children are involved and that evidence of convictions in the juvenile court was not admissible and was prejudicial to the interests of the defendant.

REVISION NOT WARRANTED

Superintendent Says New Train to Suburbs Would Not Pay.

Would Cost Railroad $1,800 Monthly—Decision Is Withheld.

Arguing that conditions would not warrant the revision of train schedules, petitioned for by residents of New Duluth, Fond du Lac and vicinity, Supt. A. V. Brown of the Northern Pacific railway answered the complaints made by the residents of the river suburbs before the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission at the Spalding hotel yesterday. Suburb and residents aired their grievances during the forenoon and Mr. Brown closed the hearing with his answer.

An earlier morning train service from the suburbs to Duluth, a later train in the evening from Duluth to the suburbs, and an after-theater train from Duluth westward were petitioned for. This revision would necessitate the running of two new trains, because the schedule of the train now running from Duluth westbound at 5 p. m., cannot be changed materially because of the large number of men at the steel plant who depend upon that train to return to Duluth.

Mr. Brown said the schedules had been arranged to suit the majority. To add an extra train leaving Duluth at 6 or 6:15 p. m., he said would cost the company about $1,800 a month. He said the traffic would not warrant the cost.

"Many plans have been advanced," said Mr. Brown, "to remedy the various evils, but none of them have been practical. We now have a conductor and a collector on the morning train, but the large number of passengers and the short distance to travel make it necessary to go slowly. We are trying to please everyone, but the steel plant workers are in the majority, and we have arranged the schedule to accommodate them.

"The street railway and also the transfer railway are planning to extend their lines to Fond du Lac, and in a few years our property will be useless."

Ira B. Mills, chairman of the commission, said that he would place the facts before the other members of the commission and that a decision would be given soon.

TANGO TALK FILLS PARIS

Cardinal Amette Brands Dance and Some Dress Styles Wicked.

Dancers Must Do Penance, He Says—Richepin Defends Steps.

Paris, Jan. 10.—Cardinal Leon Adolphe Amette, archbishop of Paris, in an admonition which will be published in the churches here, forbids the dancing of the tango as a sin which must be confessed and requires penance. The archbishop says:

"We condemn the dance imported from abroad known under the name of the tango, which, by its nature, is indecent and offensive to morals, and Christians may not in conscience take part therein.

"It will, therefore, be the duty of confessors to take notice of this in the administration of the sacrament of penance."

Abbe Gougel of the archbishop's household said that his eminence had for some time been distressed by the persistence of the vogue of the tango, and had hoped that it would be transitory, but he felt it his duty now to intervene formally.

Admonition on Dress.

Cardinal Amette published today an official admonition on the daring and eccentricities of modern dress.

"We remind the women," the cardinal says, "that they should observe always the rules of Christian modesty, which too often are violated. We ask Christian women to unite in abolishing certain styles of dress which are contrary to decency."

CARDINAL AMETTE.

Jean Richepin, a member of the French academy, and his wife, who are joint authors of a new comedy entitled "The Tango," at the opening performance of which President Poincare was present, averred that the tango as danced in the salons of Paris was charming, adding that they had searched vainly for suggestions of immorality. M. Richepin said:

"I respect Cardinal Amette's decision, but must, nevertheless, reserve the right to refer equally to the authoritative utterance of Saint John Chrysostom, who in his time did not condemn, but on the contrary approved, dances just as suggestive as the tango."

Descent of the Tango.

M. Richepin recently read in the French academy an essay tracing the descent of the tango from the religious dances of Egypt and of Greece.

Andre de Fouquires, who a year ago delivered a series of lectures in the United States, said that Cardinal Amette's prohibition of the tango would produce profound emotion and dismay in Parisian social circles.

PEOPLE BUY SAND AT POULTRY PRICES

Federal Government Decides to Investigate Widespread Frauds.

Washington, Jan. 10.—Convinced that the public has been the "innocent purchaser" of great quantities of rock and sand in the guise of poultry, the department of agriculture has ordered an investigation of shipping conditions. It is charged poultry is "fattened" with adulterated food mixtures containing minerals. The people of New York alone, the department estimates, buy every week from 150,000 to 300,000 pounds of sand and rock substances, paying prevailing poultry prices.

Officials of the department determined upon the investigation as the result of complaints made by the officers of the markets of the New York Live Poultry Dealers' Protective association, who bought a barrel of chickens of the "sand-fed variety" as an exhibit. Some of the chickens' crops were puffed out to the size of the average orange, and weighed a half pound each, though not more than three ounces could be charged to the natural weight of the crop.

It is the belief of the department that the practice exists among the principal markets of the country.

POWERS TELLS MORE ABOUT COAL FRAUDS

Breaks Down When Asked About Arrest for Opium Smuggling.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 10.—David G. Powers, star witness for the government in the trial of the Western Fuel company, eight of whose officers and employes are charged with conspiracy to defraud the government of custom duties on imported coal and "drawbacks," broke down during his cross-examination when he admitted he served a six months' term for attempting to smuggle opium ashore from a coal barge.

Powers testified that following his arrest his father and E. G. Smith lost their contract with the Pacific Mail company for "trimming" coal.

An easy method by which the Western Fuel company is alleged to have shortweighted various steamers was to furnish the vessels' representatives with the fuel company's own calculation of coal tonnage delivered. Powers said that many times the captains would send some "poor unfortunate" sailor who could not write his own name" to check the weights. The weights, he said, were supplied by the company's weigher.

Powers testified that engineers of ships who were "good fellows" and did not investigate too closely the quantity of coal they received were paid. Japanese engineers were given money, according to Mr. Powers, while white engineers were paid in coal.

Making a Second Telephone Call

After a telephone connection, when a second number is wanted immediately, subscribers often move the receiver hook up and down too rapidly, hoping to more quickly get the operator's attention.

That is the wrong way.

The Right Way

The signal lamp before the operator does not work properly when the hook is moved rapidly.

You can get the operator's attention the more quickly by moving the hook up and down slowly, and then stopping to give her an opportunity to answer you.

GIVES SON UP AS ARMY DESERTER.

Leavenworth, Kan., Jan. 10.—"This is my son and I am here to turn him over to the military authorities as a deserter," said E. D. Denison of Lenexa, Kan., as he entered post headquarters at Fort Leavenworth last night. Beside him stood a slim young giant, nervously crushing his soft hat.

"No man can ever point to me and say I raised a boy who proved a traitor. He's just got to square himself."

The youth left his company at Galveston last September. He will be tried by courtmartial.

JOIN WITH NO OTHER PARTY

Iowa Bull Moosers Decide Against Amalgamation of Interests.

Want No Law Passed Until Public Has Discussed It.

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 10.—The state conference of the Progressive party which closed here last night after a two-day session, declared itself opposed to amalgamation with any other party, and made plans for putting a candidate in the field for every office in Iowa to be filled next November. About 200 party leaders from almost every county in the state were present. The leaders expect to have about $10,000 contributed by party adherents, with which to make their campaign. State headquarters will be established, probably in Des Moines, and State Organizer B. O. Aylesworth will be retained. A bulletin will be published and a vigorous campaign of publicity pursued.

The conference adopted unanimously the report of the resolutions committee containing a statement of party principles. This report constitutes the party platform, which is expected to be adopted formally at the state convention next July.

Principles Adopted.

Following are the principles adopted:

Presidential preference primaries.

Opposition to "invisible government" through subsidized press and lobbies.

Laws to be passed only after public discussion.

Control and regulation of industrial combinations by government board.

Correction of court abuses; inferior Federal judges to be elected by popular ballot.

Legal regulation of labor conditions; abolishment of child labor; granting of woman suffrage.

Rural credits.

Use of state receipts from hunters' licenses to replenish game stock; automobile licenses revenue to make permanent highways.

Creation of Progressive clubs.

Initiative, referendum and recall.

On the report of the budget committee the conference adopted the plan of asking each county to pledge its support in an amount equal to 10 cents for every vote cast for Judge Stevens for governor in 1912. The total on this basis will be slightly more than $7,000.

SIX MUTINEERS' CASES ARE DROPPED

Captain of Vessel Admits Cutting Down of Food Supply.

Wilmington, Del., Jan. 10.—The case against six of the thirteen alleged mutineers of the American bark, Manga Reva, was abandoned by the government in the United States district court here yesterday. The cases of the other seven alleged leaders in the mutiny are expected to reach the jury today.

It was testified by the mutineers that they were not given sufficient food and water; that the officers were intoxicated, and that a mate had beaten one of their number. Capt. Townsend of the Manga Reva denied this testimony. He admitted on cross-examination, however, that he had not given the cook the full quota of provisions required under the articles of shipping.

The crew of the Manga Reva rebelled at sea on Nov. 10. Wireless calls for aid, which were sent out by the vessel's captain, were responded to by the United States revenue cutter Onondaga, whose commander placed the crew under arrest and brought them here for trial.

YEAR SENTENCE FOR PANAMA PROMOTER

Dr. John Grant Lyman Gets Brief Stay to File Exceptions.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 10.—Dr. John Grant Lyman, promoter of the defunct Panama Development company, convicted of having used the mails to defraud, was sentenced yesterday to one year and three months in the prison at Florence, Ariz. Judge Wellborn of the United States district court overruled a motion for a new trial, but after sentencing Lyman, granted a delay of execution of fifteen days, pending the filing of a bill of exceptions.

Postal inspectors raided the offices of the Panama Development company in 1911 and secured evidence of fraudulent transactions. Lyman promoted Panama lands to which he had no title, and in some cases which did not even exist, it was testified at the trial.

Lyman was arrested in Oakland, escaped from a guard at a hospital where he was confined temporarily for treatment to an injured foot, and was recaptured in Oregon on an automobile dash for the Canadian border. He served eighteen months in the Federal prison at McNeil island for his escape from Federal officers. He finished his term in April, 1912, and was brought to Los Angeles for trial. He has been in jail here since.

DORR LOSES APPEAL ON MURDER VERDICT

Massachusetts Supreme Court Overrules Bill of Exceptions.

Boston, Jan. 10.—Exceptions of William A. Dorr of Stockton, Cal., to the verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree, returned against him a year ago for the killing of George E. Marsh, a soap manufacturer of Lynn, in April, 1912, were overruled by the supreme court.

Counsel for Dorr placed emphasis on the contention that "Marsh was killed in Suffolk county instead of Essex county, where the trial was held." The court held that the jury properly decided this point as a question of fact.

At his trial Dorr admitted the shooting, claiming self defense. He said he took Marsh on an automobile ride and shot him after a quarrel over the management of a trust fund which was held by Marsh for Miss Orpha Marsh of Stockton, Dorr's aunt.

Washington, Jan. 10.—Negotiations between the United States and Colombia for the settlement of the latter's alleged claims arising out of the independence of Panama are now proceeding upon the basis of direct proposals made by Colombia for a settlement upon an indemnity basis. SAVE YOUR HAIR! IF FALLING OUT OR DANDRUFF---25 CENT DANDERINE.

Ladies! Men! Here's the Quickest, Surest Dandruff Cure Known.

Thin, brittle colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—anytime—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

TAFT VS. ELIOT.

They Clash Over Teaching of English in Philippines.

Boston, Jan. 10.—A difference of opinion as to the merits of the policy of compulsory teaching of English among the Filipinos developed last night between Former President Taft and Dr. Charles W. Eliot of Harvard. They were speakers at a banquet given by the Harvard club to W. Cameron Forbes, who, until recently, was governor general of the Philippines.

After Dr. Eliot had said he was doubtful of the value of the plan, Prof. Taft said he was responsible for the policy in the Philippines for thirteen years as governor general, secretary of war and as president of the United States. Compulsory teaching of English was necessary, he said, because twelve or thirteen different dialects were spoken, none of any great value.

"The natives are eager to learn English, and today English is spoken more than Spanish the language which it has supplanted," he said.

STEERING THE SIGHT-SEEING CAR ALONG THE SPORTING HIGHWAYS

The Northwestern Curling Bonspiel Promises to Be Bigger and Better Than Ever---Notre Dame Is After a Game With Yale---The Hockey Game Should Prove Treat---Beell and Americus.

BY BRUCE.

IT'S going to be a great week for the Scotch (people and otherwise). We refer directly and particularly to the twenty-first annual bonspiel of the Northwestern Curling association, which will be opened with festive cheer bright and early on Monday morning. More power to it. The stage has been set and all is ready for the best, the biggest and by all odds the greatest spiel in the history of the association, and some of the old followers of the sport will cheerfully admit that there have been some spiels in the past. Some spiels is right.

Cracking the whip over the home horse, it might be stated that there will be something like thirty rinks representing the Duluth Curling club. Along this general line of conversation, allow us to state that the more of the local curlers that enter the spiel, just so much better will the spiel prove to be. Those are also the sentiments of John Oldham, because he asked us to say it.

Winnipeg promises to send the largest delegation in years. St. Paul is coming strong. Minneapolis will be represented by at least four of the strongest rinks of the club. All of the rauge towns are going to send down their best curlers, and from the towns of Wisconsin, including Superior, there will be an unusually strong representation.

As an annual affair the Northwestern curling bonspiel is the largest sporting event of the season. True, curling has never been a very great sport for the masses, for as a rule the general public doesn't know what it is all about. Up in Canada the galleries of the clubs are crowded while a game is progressing. With the facilities to accommodate the public that are offered by the new curling house, it is believed that the general public of Duluth will take a great deal of interest in the progress of the spiel and that a large attendance will be on hand during the week.

Hand It to Notre Dame.

PARTIALLY completed Notre Dame's schedule is one that will put to shame three of the large universities of the West. Reference is made to Minnesota, Wisconsin and Chicago. Minnesota plays South Dakota, Iowa, Ames, Nebraska, Wisconsin and Chicago, according to the prospectus released for the edification of the public. Some schedule! —Not!

However, nothing very much had better be said along those lines—some of the zealous ones will impute the motive of this article to the pernicious influence of the Northern Minnesota Alumni association, and some of the fluffy duff youths will go out and act real devilish and burn the N. M. A. A. in effigy.

Oh yes—it was the schedule of Notre Dame. Some of the playing dates of the South Bend school have been released for publication, so to speak.

West Point will be played at West Point. Syracuse will be played at Syracuse, and the Carlisle Indians will be played at Chicago. Negotiations are on at the present time for a contest with Yale.

Gentlemen—just a minute, please. The most diabolical trust in amateur athletics today is the moribound Western Conference. Some of the critics of the game have been pleased to state that Western football is progressing. Two teams brought most of the football glory to the standards of the West. These teams are Michigan and Notre Dame. The conference teams have not been permitted to expand—and they have not been permitted to match their strength with the teams of the East.

Pernicious, against the very ethics of fair sportsmanship, absurd and upholding the breed of the molly coddle, the shame of the Conference is flaunted in the faces of those who have labored diligently for fair sport in the thorny days of the past.

Some Bench Show, Yes.

ADVANCE notices and program of the Fifth annual show of the North Dakota Kennel association were received by this column today. The show will be held at Fargo on Jan. 21, 22 and 23. Some Man Is Old Jack.

JACK JOHNSON recently boxed an exhibition in a Bulgarian city and some of the posters announcing the appearance of the champion declared that he was the man responsible for the Civil war in the United States. The posters added that "The terrible boxer will actually appear in the flesh and bone."

As a press agent the ability of the ebony boxer must have been grossly underrated.

Match Is Far Away.

HERE it is hovering around the middle of January and the contest between Beell and Americus is no nearer consummation than it was a year ago, when efforts were made to bring these two wonderful wrestlers together. In Beell and Americus the class of the American mat would meet and strive nobly for supremacy. With Gotch out of it for the time being at least, there are no two more scientific and finished grapplers in the whole world that the superb little wood chopper of Wisconsin and the finished speed marvel of Baltimore.

Lest You Should Forget.

ONE of the great things to remember for the entertainment of this evening, is the contest between the Victorias and Duluth Curling club hockey teams. If you love to be thrilled without in the least being shocked as some of us understand the word—hie yourself out to the game. She promises to be some game.

Good Work at the "Y."

THE handball tournament of the Y. M. C. A. is nearly completed. This has proven the greatest of any of the tournaments of the best and has in addition brought out the best article of the game and some new players of promise.

Physical Instructor Olson deserves credit along with members of the handball committee for the success of the series of games.

With the construction of the new courts an increased interest has been exhibited in the court game. Along with the increased interest has also come the improvement in the players. Duluth can boast of a large number of crack players.

This column again refers to the idea of arranging a number of games between the best players of the Y. M. C. A. and the other clubs of the city. Such a tourney would prove interesting to the public and would also serve to bring to the front the best players of the city.

GUSTAV FRISTENSKY AND IVAN MAMUTOFF COMING

Wonderful Bohemian and the Gigantic Russian Cossack Will Appear Here on the Biggest Wrestling Card of the Season.

Duluth lovers of wrestling are going to see the biggest combat yet staged here during all the years of big grappling contests, when on Jan. 21, Gustav Fristensky, pronounced by close students of the game as the greatest grappler who has come over here since the days of Yussiff Mahmout, and Ivan Mamutoff, the giant Russian member of the czar's imperial body guard, will appear on the all-star card.

Fristensky will meet Paul Martinson, considered as one of the greatest of the American heavyweights, and Ivan Mamutoff will meet in a finish contest George Costello, who tips the beam at 246 pounds.

Europe has sent a lot of mat lemons to this country. Some of the wrestlers sent over here have proved easy meat for the best of the American wrestlers. In the case of Fristensky it has been quite different. The wonderful Bohemian has defeated with ease every opponent he has met since coming to the United States. On next Monday evening at Chicago Fristensky will meet Americus in a finish contest. The match will be held in the huge Coliseum and will be one of the most important contests wrestled in this country since the bout between Gotch and Zbyszko.

The Huge Russian.

Ivan Mamutoff is the largest man the oil world has sent to these shores since the advent of the original Youssif and Hall Adall, the latter appearing in Duluth some years ago.

Mamutoff tips the beam at 312 pounds and he has the abnormal chest development of 61 inches. The Russian is the largest wrestler of real fame in the world, and the story of Ivan being a member of the czar's imperial guard is true.

Fristensky and Mamutoff are two of the men that are named in the offer of $30,000 to Frank A. Gotch. A syndicate of sporting men has offered the champion of the world $30,000 to meet three men, Fristensky, Mamutoff and Alexander Aberg. In the great Bohemian and the huge Russian the mat followers of Duluth will see the two most famous wrestlers that Europe has sent over here during the past five years.

Both of the big contests of the all-star will be to a finish. Paul Martinson weighs 216 pounds and has a victory over the huge Italian champion, Raicevitch, and ranks today as one of the greatest of the American heavyweights.

From the standpoint of the fame of the contestants and the magnitude of the contest, the card of this month's show eclipse all former offerings of the Greater Duluth Athletic club.

New Commodore Elected.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 10.—Al Gowon last night was elected commodore of the Cleveland Yacht club to succeed George H. Worthington, commodore of the club since its organization in 1913, and one of the best known Great Lakes yachtsmen. Mr. Worthington asked to be relieved of the office.

BASKET BALL SCHEDULE

Gophers Open Conference Season With Northwestern Game.

Nebraska Wants Two Football Games With Gophers or None.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The conference basket ball schedule follows:

Jan. 10—Northwestern at Minneapolis.
Jan. 17—Wisconsin at Madison.
Jan. 19—Iowa at Iowa City.
Jan. 23—Illinois at Urbana.
Jan. 24—Northwestern at Evanston.
Feb. 6—Nebraska at Minneapolis.
Feb. 7—Nebraska at Minneapolis.
Feb. 14—Purdue at Minneapolis.
Feb. 21—Illinois at Minneapolis.
Feb. 23—Indiana at Minneapolis.
Feb. 28—Wisconsin at Minneapolis.
March 6—Purdue at Lafayette.
March 7—Indiana at Bloomington.

The above schedule will hold for the rest of the basket ball season. Minnesota has finished her preliminary games and will enter upon the conference games with tonight's engagement with Northwestern.

The Gopher quintet, in view of its preliminary work, looms up a strong contender for conference honors. So far this season five games, which have been in the order of practice games, have been played. All five have been won by the Gophers, with wide margins. "Doc" Cooke's proteges humbled the heavy farm school men twice and succeeded in defeating Macalester, St. Olaf and Carleton in one game each. With their practice games safely tucked away, the varsity is turning toward the conference schedule. Dr. Cooke reports that a wealth of material is at his disposal and that it is with difficulty that the final selection of men is made. He has been working three sets of excellent forwards and four sets of equally good guards. These men are: McKeon, McGeary, Hall, Sawyer, Glittinal, Oman, Lewis, Lynn, Smith, Biermun, Hasby, Diedrick and Jesness. The Gopher coach predicts a hard game, saying that his quintet will have to play the very best ball it knows in order to cope with Northwestern.

It is possible that the university band will be on hand to furnish music. The question of dancing following the games is not yet definitely settled.

* * *

Unless Dr. Williams, coach of the Minnesota football team, will agree to a two-year alternating contract with the University of Nebraska, Coach "Jumbo" Stiehm will recommend to the Nebraska athletic board that no contract for a game in the 1914 season be made. This was the announcement of Stiehm Wednesday morning. He says Dr. Williams offered Nebraska a game on his schedule, but that he objected to contracting for more than one game with the Cornhuskers. He stated, according to Stiehm, that Nebraska had developed to a point where it was no longer a practice contest to meet the Cornhuskers and for this reason wanted but a one-year contract. This is the basis of Stiehm's objection. The Minnesota game is important to the Cornhuskers, who are desirous of retaining the Gophers on their schedule, but desire to meet them in Lincoln on alternating years. No game will be the coach's recommendation unless two contracts are agreed to.

GIBBONS TO MEET PACKEY McFARLAND.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—Packey McFarland of Chicago was matched today to box Mike Gibbons, the St. Paul welterweight in New York in February. The men will weigh in at 145 pounds at 4 o'clock.

Eddy Reddy, Gibbons' manager left yesterday for New York to determine upon the exact date.

The agreement as to weight, 145, at 4 o'clock, marks McFarland's acknowledged entrance into the welterweight division.

RAID ON THE BIG LEAGUES

Federals Making Attractive Offers to Men in Both Majors.

Four Stars Jump to Outlaws—Others Are Tempted.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—Jean Packard, pitcher for the Cincinnati National league club; Ad Brennan and William Killifer, pitcher and catcher for the Philadelphia Nationals, and Leonard (King) Cole, pitcher for the New York Americans, have signed three-year contracts with the Chicago Federal league club. Their salaries have been guaranteed.

The amount of salaries the men will receive was not made public, but, according to Charles Weegman, president of the local club, who made the announcements, surety bonds have been deposited guaranteeing the players their full pay regardless of the fate of the league. All four also received advance payments on the contracts.

Tinker is said to have declared that Packard, who was with him last year in Cincinnati, is the most promising young left-handed pitcher in organized baseball.

Reports were persistent that Vic Saier, first baseman with the Chicago Nationals, had signed a contract with the St. Louis Federals.

Philadelphia, Jan. 10.—President Baker of the Philadelphia National league club has returned to New York where word was received of the signing of Brennan and Killifer by the Federals. William J. Shettsline, business manager, said he would not believe the report until positive proof had been given him. He said:

"It looks as if they are trying to break up the Philadelphia team. I did not think Killifer would leave us, and for Brennan, I thought that was out of the question. If there was ever any player well treated by any club, it is Brennan. He has been given everything he has asked for and he could not have been dissatisfied. The Phillies, however, will be right there when the season starts, raid or no raid."

New York, Jan. 10.—Jake Daubert, first baseman of the Brooklyn National League club, has been offered a berth with the Pittsburg club of the Federal league, according to a statement credited to him. Daubert is reported to have been offered what he terms "a small fortune," to sign a three-year contract, by President Barbour of the Pittsburg club of the Federal league.

The offer, which it is understood, calls for a payment of $30,000 for his services, is said to have been made while Daubert was in Cincinnati as a member of the Baseball Players' fraternity at the conference between that organization and the National commission. Since his return to Brooklyn he has received a renewal of the offer in a more definite form.

The Superba's star first baseman is understood to be in receipt of a salary from the Brooklyn club estimated at about $5,000 a year. It is believed that the Federal league offer calls for a sum of about $30,000, a large portion to be paid outright at the time of signing and the balance placed to Daubert's credit in a bank or trust company.

Daubert states that he has not, as yet, decided to accept the Federal league offer, but intimates in an interview that he is giving the proposition serious consideration.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 10.—Dick Hoblitzell, first baseman of the Cincinnati National league club, has received an offer from President Barbour of the Pittsburg Federals to manage that team during the next season. Hoblitzell announced that he would not close any deal with the Federals until he had received more details, but would not say that he is not considering the subject.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 10.—"I will announce the name of the manager of the Pittsburg club tomorrow."

This was the answer given last night to John B. Barbour, president of the Pittsburg club of the Federal league, to the dispatches from New York and Cincinnati that Jacob Daubert and Richard Hoblitzell had each been offered the managership of the club.

Springfield, Mass., Jan. 10.—Walter Maranville, shortstop of the Boston Nationals and one of the most sensational of last season's recruits in that league, said last night that he had received two offers to join the Federal league clubs, each at larger salary than he expected to receive from Boston this season. The offers were made by Managers Tinker of Chicago, and Knabe of Baltimore, he said. Maranville declared that he would not desert Boston.

Philadelphia, Jan. 10.—John B. Lobert, the third baseman of the Philadelphia Nationals, who a Chicago dispatch hints might have signed with the Federal league, is in Australia with the world-touring baseball teams.

ONLY ONE CHANGE.

Princeton Football Schedule Now Includes Williams College.

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 10.—Only one change has been made in the Princeton football schedule for 1914. The new game will be with Williams college.

The list of teams whom the Tigers will meet has not been made public, but it was said officially that it will be practically the same as last year, with the Harvard and Yale games at the end of the schedule.

GET PITCHER WITH VERY GOOD RECORD.

New York, Jan. 10.—Guy Cooper, a right-handed pitcher from the Petersburg, Va., Virginia league club, has been signed by the New York American league club. Cooper was secured by draft. Last season he pitched in twenty-four games, winning 16 and losing 5. He hit .360.

WINNIPEG TEAM HERE

Famous Victorias Reach Duluth, Confident of Victory.

Huge Crowd Will Witness Struggle Between Crack Sevens.

The famous Winnipeg Victoria Hockey team reached Duluth early today and put up at the Spalding hotel. With the Canadian team came twenty-five confident rooters from the Peg, willing to place some of the coin of the Canadian realm on the chances of the Allen cup winners in the contest of this evening.

From the close followers of the game comes the statement that the seven that will line up against the Duluth seven is the best that Western Canada has developed in a numbers of years and will prove to be the strongest all-round combination that has ever appeared here, with all due deference to the strong and finished Houghton team.

Hockey fans are looking keenly forward to the best game that has been played here since hockey was placed upon its present basis.

Possessing remarkable skating ability and combination play of a high order, in addition to being up on all of the finer points of the game, the Victorias are expected to give a thrilling and spectacular exhibition from the bell.

Have Even Chance.

Against the invaders will be sent the greatest team that has ever represented Duluth. Fans are divided in their opinion regarding the outcome of the game. Members of the Duluth Curling club seven are confident of victory. Loyal followers of the team are hopeful of winning and are sure that the locals have at least an even chance for victory.

One of the greatest and most representative crowds of sport lovers that has ever witnessed a game here will be present. Practically all of the reserve seats have been eagerly gobbled up and it looks like standing room by the time the officials send the two teams off on the grim struggle for hockey honors.

Class Meets Class.

Fans here have really no adequate idea of just how good the Duluth team is. Virginia and Fort Frances proved the veriest tyros in the hands of the locals. With Winnipeg it will be vastly different. Duluth is going to face a real team; an aggregation of players alert and alive, knowing every angle of the game and versed in the skill that comes with years of experience in the fastest company. The contest of this evening will thoroughly test the mettle of the curling club seven.

Following is the lin-up of the two teams:

Duluth—		—Winnipeg
Louden	g	Wilson
Linder	p	Baker
Pryor	cp	Fowler
Barkell	r	Hughes
Grenner	lw	H. Baker
Bogan	rw	Romeril
Kahler	c	Caldwell

COMMERCIAL LEAGUE OPENS

Lakes Defeat Big Duluths and Glass Blocks Beat Kelleys.

Last evening marked the opening of the Commercial League basket ball schedule at the Y. M. C. A. The Lake Hardware team defeated the Big Duluth team by the score of 33 to 22, and the Glass Block team defeated the Kelley Hardware boys by the score of 9 to 7.

Both of the contests were marked by some clever playing and if the opening games of the league are a criterion of the basket ball that is to be played by all of the teams, followers of the contests are to see some classy exhibitions.

Olson of the Kelleys and Moore of the Glass Block team proved two of the stars of the evening.

Atwood, Denver Country club; secretary, John Reid, Jr., St. Andrews Country club; treasurer, Percy R. Pyne II, Garden City Golf club; executive committee—Charles L. Allen, Chicago Golf club; Harry L. IT WAS BOXING, NOT FIGHTING

Willard Says He Never Struck Young as Hard as He Could.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 10.—Jess Willard testified yesterday in the superior court that he did not strike John (Bull) Young with his full strength at any time during the match at Vernon arena which was followed by Young's death the next morning. This was in the trial of Willard for alleged violation of the state law prohibiting prize fighting. When the case started there were eleven other defendants, but they were automatically dismissed as they became witnesses and testified.

"Prize fights are the most brutal exhibitions in the world, declared Charles Eyton, referee of the Willard-Young contest, but added that the affairs in Vernon arena were not prize fights but boxing exhibitions. Willard's testimoney was similar.

The heavyweight stated that Eyton and Tom Jones, his manager, gave him instructions before the fight regarding the law, and, as a result he, Willard, believed that it was lawful to do anything the Marquis of Queensbury rules permitted.

H. M. Walker, a sporting writer, declared that it was about the poorest exhibition of boxing he had ever seen "excepting the pork and bean events," referring to the preliminaries.

HANDBALL GAMES REACH SEMI-FINALS.

In the A class handball games of yesterday, Bill Wentlandt, the star of the association, defeated Johnson, 21 to 6 and 21 to 13. Dreves defeated Olson by the scores of 21 to 20, 17-21 and 21-16, this being the longest contest that has been played in the association tournament.

The result of the games yesterday brings the contest down to the semi-finals. Wentlandt will meet the winner of the game between Dreves and Sturm.

It looks like Eddie Barry in class B. The little boxer has played an excellent article of ball and looks like the winner.

Entries for the doubles will be received at any time.

Respond to Call.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 10.—Sixty-nine varsity men and forty-eight freshmen responded to the call for track and field candidates at the University of Pennsylvania yesterday. All the members of last year's championship team who are still in college were out. The outdoor track schedule is the same as last year's.

Jenkins Is Entered.

New York, Jan. 10.—Tom Jenkins, former champion American wrestler, will try to "come back" in the international tournament to be held in Madison Square Garden next week. He is now wrestling instructor at West Point military academy.

CHICAGO TO SEND RINK

Windy City Promises to Curl in the Big Bonspiel.

In the roundup of entries received by Secretary Fred Hargreaves of the Northwestern Curling association, the most important news is that it is possible that Chicago will send a rink to the big spiel of the coming week.

News to this effect was received yesterday. Not for years has the Windy City participated in the Northwestern, so that the entry of a rink from that city would indicate the immense amount of interest that is being taken in the spiel.

From the entries received up to the present time the officials of the association are sure that St. Paul will send up six rinks; Minneapolis, 4; Superior, 8; West Duluth, 8; Phillips, Wis., 4; Winnipeg, possibly 6; and also possibly four rinks from Fort William and Port Arthur.

In addition to the above list, all of the range towns will be represented at the spiel.

Secretary Hargreaves stated today that there would be more rinks than the officials of the association had been led to expect. The complete list of entries will not be known until some time tomorrow when the members of the outside rinks will begin to arrive.

SENIORS WIN CLASS TITLE

After the two very close contests between the junior and senior basket ball teams of the high school, of which each class team captured a game, the seniors sprung a surprise yesterday by coming back and winning the third and deciding contest by the score of 24 to 11.

The form shown by the seniors was so surprising that the members of the junior team failed to recover from the effects of the first five minutes of play. The fourth-year men got the jump and maintained it throughout. The game was a romp, so to speak, and the followers of the juniors, who were confident that their team would prove the winner, have no explanation to offer.

The lineup and summary:

Seniors—		—Juniors.
Craig	f	Scrivens
Gonska, captain	f	captain, Solheim
Collatz	c	Moore
Lawrenz	g	Neff
Stevens	g	Taylor, Nelson

Field baskets: Seniors—Craig, 5; Collatz, 3; Gonska, 3; Lawrenz. Juniors—Scrivens, 3; Moore. Free throws—Collatz, 10; Moore, 2; Solheim. Officials—Referee, Batchelor; timekeeper, Young.

KEROSENE IN STOVE; THREE PEOPLE DEAD.

Chariton, Iowa, Jan. 10.—Mrs. Fred Wolf and two of her three children were burned beyond possibility of recovery in a fire that destroyed their residence here yesterday. Mrs. Wolf was trying to start a fire with kerosene. She poured a quantity of the oil from a well-filled five-gallon can, when the can exploded, scattering oil over her and three children, the oldest of whom was 4 years old.

THE OPEN GAME IN FOOTBALL

Only Question of Time When It Will Be as Prevalent in the East as It Is Now in the West--Low and Accurate Forward Passing.

By FIELDING YOST in Collier's.

In coaching, when I work back of a football eleven I like to see it move along, hurry up, get on the jump, and settle down to business.

So without wasting any preliminary time I would like to make one statement early that is beyond any challenging—the open game or Western game in football—that is, the forward passing and running as well as the kicking game—has come to stay, and the team which fails to take advantage of its many possibilities, as so many have in the East, will soon be left far in the rut, forgotten among those who keep marching forward and who keep up to date.

It is neither my business nor my intention to suggest to any Eastern football man how he should build up his system or run his team. But while I was in the East this fall watching Harvard play Yale and the Army meet the Navy, I heard on so many sides and from so many standard sources that the open, or what has been called the Western, system of attack would be utterly useless against a standard Eastern defense that I feel the other side of the matter should be heard just a trifle more at length.

And to any man who is unprejudiced I can prove my contention that we not only have a good game left, but a game in which it is possible to score one or more touchdowns against a very strong defense; also my contention that it is only a question of time before the so-called open game will be as prevalent in the East as it now is in the West. I do not attempt to say which team, East or West, is strongest, but I do believe that any team would be a better team if it were developed to play what has become to be known as the open game along with its rushing game.

In the old game a team had to gain five yards in three downs—one and two-thirds yards to the down; and in the old game to make this distance you could push, pull, or hike the runner along. Even then it was a battle.

In the new game a team has to make ten yards in four downs—or two and one-half yards to the down; and while the distance to be gained is twice as much almost, it must be made without pulling, pushing, or hiking the runner, and with seven men on the line.

The Forward Pass.

Having to gain twice as much ground almost to the rush, without being able to help the runner, what has been added to make up for this big loss? Just one thing—the forward pass. And if the forward pass is impossible or useless, the new game is impossible or useless, except as an exhibition of field-goal kicking by one man. This is a contention that has been often made in the East, but a contention that nevertheless is absurd, as first Notre Dame and then the Army showed the East this last fall.

Yale hasn't scored a touchdown on Harvard in six years, nor on Princeton in three years. Harvard has failed to score a touchdown on Yale in five of her last six Yale games. The one touchdown that Princeton has scored on Yale in the last four years came from the recovery of a fumble by Sammy White in 1911. This fall in the Harvard-Princeton, Yale-Princeton, Harvard-Yale contests no touchdowns were scored but nine field goals were kicked—six of the nine by Charley Brickley of the Harvard team.

"In the face of these statistics," said an Eastern expert to me after the Harvard-Yale game, "don't you think it has been shown that the touchdown is obsolete, that it can't be scored except by a fluke?"

I don't think so by any means. I saw the Yale-Harvard game, and that was enough to show me that nothing had been proved against the open game or the Western style, for this system had never drawn a chance. Harvard made little attempt to score a touchdown, being content to rely upon the unerring Brickley and to shoot punts over Wilson's head or out of his reach. Yale had little to score a touchdown with except an occasional strong running game that was not varied enough to be a puzzle and was accompanied by no up-to-date forward pass that might be of any avail whatever.

The First Shock.

Out West we have been working on the open game and using the forward pass for some time. We were handicapped in team building at first, as I said above, by numberless restrictions, but after we had become accustomed to these we soon saw that nothing was to be gained by sticking to the old rushing, piling-up order.

It soon became evident to me that the forward pass, as used by so many leading teams, was of no use when thrown high like a punt. I soon saw that to be effective it had to be handled like a baseball, thrown sharply on a line to the runner moving at good speed, who had to handle it as a second baseman might handle a throw from Schang or Archer.

A forward pass that is thrown high in the air is absolutely worthless. When you feel that you could run down from the top of the stands and block one, it is fairly certain that a man already on the field could block one easier. I'll admit this forward pass is useless against any sort of defense, and yet this is the type of pass that has been judged so largely in the East.

Now the Army eleven has always been known for its wonderful defensive work—for its sharp, sure tackling and its general alertness on guard. Yale for years had found it almost impossible to penetrate this Army wall. Strong Navy elevens have failed to score a touchdown against it for years. And Army experts have told me often that a forward pass would be a joke if attempted against their team. This belief lasted until this last fall when Notre Dame came along from the West with a real collection of forward passes—not the punt imitations that a child could stop. And one gray afternoon on the Hudson, Dorais and Eichenlaub and Rockne of Notre Dame shot so many forward passes against the Army's standard defense that the scorer became dizzy marking up touchdowns.

The Second Shock.

I rather think the East got its second awakening as to the value of the open game in the Army-Navy contest. The Navy came to New York a top-heavy favorite. It had a veteran eleven back—a big, fast, powerful team with a world of punch. Every one expected it to win again and to win easily. But by now the Army had found out the value of the forward pass worked the right way. And it had upon its eleven three Western boys, Pritchard, Markoe, and Merrilat from Morningside college in Iowa. The Navy soon got the jump and it looked as if a walkover would result. And then, all of a sudden, to the immense surprise of the Navy and to the thrill of 45,000 in the stands, Pritchard began shooting those fast, low, accurate passes from thirty to thirty-five yards away to Merrilat and Markoe.

Merrilat missed the first for a touchdown but handled the others, and the navy's powerful defense was soon absolutely bewildered and crushed as West Point ran up three touchdowns. Merrilat's 65-yard run didn't come direct from a forward pass, but it was the result of other passes as the navy defense had been driven back and was up in the air, and so was easily caught off guard.

Here we have a play that scored in two games more touchdowns than Yale, Harvard and Princeton have scored against each other in five or six years. And no man can tell me that Yale, Harvard and Princeton are much stronger defensively than the army or the navy, because they are not.

Now, in addition to making the pass low and accurately, this last season some Western teams used at least ten different formations for making the pass. We would mix up a running play, a kick formation, a shift, and various other systems that worked as a puzzle to the opposing defense. To show the possibilities of the pass, one team that came to play us had a man who gave an exhibition of passing before the contest, throwing the football almost sixty yards on a line.

I grant the contention of the East that any sort of forward pass may be broken up and stopped. But only at the expense of breaking up the defense against the running game. There never was a defense that could stop both the forward passing and the running game at the same time. Give me twelve men on defense against the other team's eleven on attack and I can accomplish this. But not with eleven against eleven.

The Value of Open Play.

And therein lies the value of the forward pass. It can be used, not only as an offensive play, but as a threat. One time you can make a forward pass threat and take up the running game; the next time you can start a running threat and shoot a forward pass. If the defense crowds in and spills the running game, the pass is valuable in driving this defense back. If it falls back, there are wide openings for the running game; if the defense doesn't fall back, the pass is easy to make. For East or West or North or South, no man and no set of men can be in two different places at the same time; no defense can be back and scattered to break up a well-executed pass and up near the line to break up a running game at one and the same moment.

We'll now take up another matter under much discussion, that of the two defenses, East and West. I was told on all sides that the Eastern system of defense was far better than that of the West. Suppose we take up the case of Michigan alone.

Michigan this last season played Cornell. Cornell scored on Harvard and scored 21 points on Pennsylvania. Michigan beat her 17 to 0, and Cornell only made about four first downs.

Michigan played Pennsylvania, a team that tied the Indians and scored heavily on Dartmouth. Pennsylvania not only didn't score on Michigan but only made two first downs in the entire game.

Where is the Western defense weaker?

Camp's Opinions.

And to show that my belief is not that of a prejudiced Westerner, I submit in addition the opinion of Walter Camp, one of the keenest and closest students of football the game has ever known or ever will know.

In his All-American round-up for Collier's, Mr. Camp, who has followed Eastern systems closely, had this to say in regard to the forward pass: "The forward pass was used rather more freely, but with the exception of a few weak teams, the weakness of the play lay in its execution, for there are almost infinite possibilities for it."

Mr. Camp goes on to say that if some one should bring that New Zealand backfield East and link it to an All-American line, they would probably be "able to score so rapidly as to open the eyes of American players to the passing game."

If a New Zealand backfield could accomplish this, is it the fault of the pass as a play or is it the fault of the player that an American backfield can't?

If one backfield could work it often and another can't work it at all, just how is the play itself at fault? One might just as well say that batting was of no value to baseball just because a certain team or a certain set of teams were weak hitters.

In the way of another argument, I would like to have the public say which is the more interesting—to see two elevens piling up around the center of the field and kicking on every other play until one finally drops back for its star kicker to shoot a field goal—or to see a brilliant exhibition of passing and running until the ball is finally swept over for a touchdown? Ask those who saw the Yale-Princeton game and the Army-Navy game for an answer.

Here to Stay.

No, the open running game mixed up with the forward pass has come to stay and to cover the country, and it is only a question of time before the East will find out that the West has not been running wild but has simply started in making the best out of an advanced game that has come to stay—out of a game that has lost much from the old game and has added only the forward pass to make up for all these losses.

Having this new game, we have not perfected it yet, but when we do I believe we will have one of the most interesting games ever known, a game that calls for combined power, speed and skill above any other. And when they go to this game to get the most out of it, which they will, you will again see Yale, Princeton, Harvard and others in the East scoring touchdowns and in greater numbers than they have ever scored before.

STAGELAND

Lyceum

Henry M. Blossom, Jr.'s, great play of racing life, "Checkers," which has enjoyed one of the longest runs in the history of theatricals of the present age, has been adapted for motion pictures and produced by the All Star Feature corporation, the same company which recently presented Augustus Thomas' "Arizona" in a film version.

Thomas W. Ross, the creator of the lovable character of "Checkers," has been induced to drop his theatrical work for the time necessary to the taking of the pictures, and at a great expense his services were secured to appear in his old favorite role. Supporting Mr. Ross are a number of people whose names are familiar to the theater-going public of the country, and in a great many instances the original Checkers cast appear. The motion picture presentation is in five parts and filled with the atmosphere of the race tracks. The producing company has all of the race track scenes taken at the race courses at Havre de Grace and Laurel, Md., and the grand stands with its thousands of beautiful women and enthusiastic men form a wonderful setting for the cast of 150 people who play in this wonderful motion picture presentation.

"Checkers" will be shown at the Lyceum for four days, beginning with the matinee performance tomorrow.

It was three years ago that Gaby Deslys first flashed herself before the American public. This was shortly after it was reported that she had been the chief cause of the dethroning of King Manuel. She made her appearance at the New York Winter Garden and, instantly won the hearts of all who came to see her. Distant cities were anxious for a glimpse of Gaby and her American managers offered her a considerable increase in salary to make a brief tour, but she declined. Last year, however, she did consent to play Boston, Philadelphia, Buffalo, Baltimore and Washington, and this season her managers will arrange a tour which will take her as far as San Francisco.

Her play this year will be called "The Little Parisienne," and is described as a modern musical farce. There is plenty of music and a sufficient amount of dancing, most of which will be done by Gaby and Harry Pilcer and some of the fifty Gaby girls, who will accompany her on her tour. The entire company will travel in a special train, the chief and most important equipment of which will be a regal Pullman car for the sole use of Gaby, her maids, her chef, and her stalwart detective, who is ever on hand to guard her priceless collection of jewels. This tour will last for over three months, after which Gaby will return to New York to be seen in a new Winter Garden production. This will keep her in America for almost the entire season, which is a little longer than she has stayed before, because, very wisely, Gaby declares that any public tires of a favorite if she "stays too long."

There is little doubt that William Hodge could have continued in "The Man From Home" for many more years to come, but that he foresaw that he would meet the same conditions that kept Frank Mayo in "Davy Crockett," and James O'Neill in "Monte Christo," unless he speedily varied his stage work. Consequently he made an arrangement with Lee Shubert whereby, toward the middle of last season, he began a tour in "The Road to Happiness," a new comedy by Lawrence Whitman, and in this play he has found the natural, homely qualities in story and character drawing that makes it a fit successor to "The Man From Home." When Mr. Hodge comes to the Lyceum theater next month in this play he will be supported by the same company which was selected for him last year.

The scene of the new play is a small village in Northern New York and the story concerns itself wholly with the doings of a group of village characters. Jim Whitman, the character played by Mr. Hodge, is a young country boy, rather uncouth in dress and bearing, poor in even the modest measure of village prosperity, but imbued with the spirit of cheerfulness and optimism and possessed of an abundance of good common sense. In addition to a keen wit he has a quaint turn of philosophical observation and the shrewd insight into human actions [illegible] that in the end make him the dominant figure in the affairs of the town. His love affair with the daughter of the village magnate travels a tortuous course to a happy ending and it is in the telling of this story that tense dramatic situations [illegible] touching bits of heart interest are commingled with an abundance of humor.

All America owes much to Col. George W. Goethals, "the man who made the dirt fly" at Panama. Some few Americans, as individuals, are especially indebted to him, and among them is Lyman H. Howe. For it is because of the co-operation and exceptional facilities afforded by Col. Goethals that it is possible to present the remarkable reproduction showing the construction of the Panama canal which will be shown at the Lyceum in February. Col. Goethals was the mighty potentate to whom all matters at issue were referred whether it was granting the use of a special car at times to photograph the scenes of the teeming life and energy on the isthmus or the selection of a new $600,000 steam crane. If the photographer wanted to locate his camera on a particularly precarious position or required anything out of the ordinary, the invariable advice he got from the man he approached was "See the colonel," or "Ask the colonel." He was the court of last resort. He held his court usually every Sunday forenoon. It was for this reason that an isthmian poetaster put it:

"See Col. Goethals, tell Col. Goethals,
It's the only right and proper thing to do,
Just write a letter, or even better,
Arrange a little Sunday interview."

So the photographer called often at court for favors and Col. Goethals, the supreme arbiter of the destinies of all men and things on the canal zone, was exceptionally kind in granting them, because he felt that the American public should know of the scope and magnitude of their $400,000,000 job and how it was done, and he realized that the only manner in which this could be impressed on the public, vividly and adequately, would be by means of the scenes Mr. Howe will present here. Interest in these scenes is intensified not only by their timeliness, but even more so by their remarkable character. They are notable for their absolutely perfect photographic quality and in this respect alone they are easily superior to any other motion pictures of the canal photographed semi-occasionally by others. Then, again, they are of utmost importance to everyone because they depict what marks a new era in world commerce. They portray the process, progress and completion of man's crowning achievement in remodeling the world. While Mr. Howe's program includes many other big features, this one is everywhere recognized as the most vitally absorbing subject he has ever presented.

Orpheum

Duluth Orpheum patrons will next week see something new in the amusement line.

"The Lawn Party" is the name of a miniature musical burlesque which will headline the new bill opening with the Sunday matinee, and the advance notices of the act promise something different from anything yet seen in the Duluth theater.

The company presenting the act is headed by William J. Dooley, and is comprised of ten clever children who have shown their ability as singers, mimics and comedians. A young miss who has social aspirations decides to give a lawn party and the guests are invited to attend as their favorite players. They are to dress as their favorite actor or actress would do in his or her most famous role. Robert Mantel comes as "Richard the Third," David Warfield appears as the "Music Master." The others in the list include Eva Tanguay, Miss Fay Templeton, Irene Franklin, Bessie McCoy, Enrico Caruso, Lillian Russell and, of course, George M. Cohan. The children's impersonations of these stage celebrities are said to be most entertaining. "The Lawn Party" is said to be replete with action, comedy and music, and it has been hailed around the circuit as the best big musical act of the season.

For three seasons the management of the Duluth Orpheum theater has been hoping to secure James Thornton, the monologist. He toured the Orpheum circuit the year before the Duluth theater was opened, and started on another tour after the theater was running, but owing to illness cancelled his tour and did not reach Duluth. He is booked for next week. Thornton is said to have a crisp drollness that places him among the four or five leading monologists of the day. Mr. Thornton is also a writer of popular songs, his best known composition probably being "When You Were Sweet Sixteen." He is one of the few monologists who are continually changing their act, and it is said of him that he rarely gives his monologue twice in the same way, being guided largely by his own humor and the humor of the audience. Thornton is looked upon as a good deal of a "character" in the amusement field and he is expected to provide a generous measure of comedy next week.

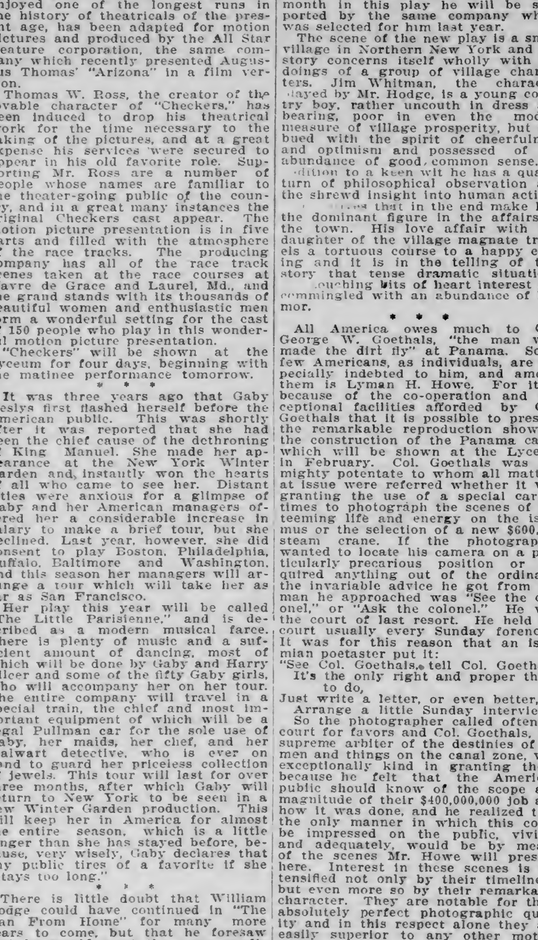

"A Night on the Boulevards" is the name of the vaudeville act which will be presented next week by the Langdons, Rose, Harry and Tully. From the dashing entry in an automobile until the last bit of comedy dance or song these three entertainers are said to offer a delightful vaudeville interlude. The dancing and songs and jokes take place on a boulevard which is quite possible in vaudeville, and the little travesty is said to have provided vaudeville patrons with many hours of keen enjoyment.

Next week Edward Gillette will be seen with his act, "Fun in a Bowling Alley." The act is presented by a company of monkeys, the stellar members of the troupe being Adam and Eve. These two are said to be the only monkey bowlers on earth. The little troupe is said to go through with the act with all the relish and joy that characterizes actors who have found a particularly enjoyable role. These little animals have more than the usual fascination for the majority of human beings and the group which Edward Gillette has assembled is said to excell in the cleverness and quickness that characterize monkeys.

Carlyo and Romer, who will appear on the week's bill, will add much pleasure to a well rounded evening's entertainment and a song and dance team composed of Charles Brown and May Newman have succeeded with what has been called a bombardment of songs, stories and dances.

A comedy juggler whose dexterity and skill are sure to give delight is O. W. Courtney, who will also be seen next week at the Duluth theater.

The exclusive motion picture to be shown next week will be "The Snakeville New Doctor," and with the Orpheum concert orchestra will complete the week's attractions.

SCENE FROM "CHECKERS,"
Which Will Be Shown in Motion Pictures at the Lyceum for Four Days, Beginning Tomorrow.

At the Empress

What promises to be an excellent program of vaudeville will be the attraction at the Empress theater for four days starting with the matinee performance Sunday, Jan. 11. On the headline position will be seen the seven people act, The Hendrix and Belle Isle company in "The Schoolmaster," a farce comedy with song and laughter. Boisterous comedy of the clean and wholesome kind predominates in this sketch and it is said to be a scream from start to finish. The various characters such as the Tough Boy and Girl, the Country Boy and Girl, the Sissy Boy and the Nice Girl are ably portrayed by the members of the miniature company. The jokes and witty sayings are said to be new and original, causing many hearty laughs. The songs are catchy and of the popular variety. This act should please.

A close rival for honors in position and comedy will be H. T. MacConnell, "President of the Thirteen Club." His act is a novelty comedy act of many surprises and plenty of laughs. It is a somewhat different style of monologue act. Mr. MacConnell's talk is all original and of the entertaining kind.

The third act will be presented by Tom Sidello and company, offering a unique comedy act in black art. Bells are rung, chairs dance in the air, a skeleton of life size appears and does a dance, and other mysterious things take place in full view of the audience upon the brilliantly lighted stage. All are done apparently without the use of human hands. The impersonation of a mechanical doll by the young woman of the act is very cleverly done.

As for the fourth act a young Duluth girl, Miss Nada Brchich, will fill the position. Miss Brchich is a pretty young woman, who has made Duluth her home and has been studying music for some time. She possesses a remarkably sweet soprano voice and is expected to delight Duluth theatergoers with her many song numbers. The usual liberal display of photoplays will complete the bill.

The management of "The Deep Purple," coming to the Empress for three days, starting Thursday, Jan. 15, has no scruples about advertising that successful play as a melodrama. With many, melodrama is a term of reproach, but there have been so many good melodramas of recent years that such should not be the case. The Saturday Evening Post, in speaking of "The Deep Purple," remarked: "It is easy to prove such a play a melodrama, but the term is not just in the sense in which it is usually employed. The writing—it is by Paul Armstrong and Wilson Mizner—is uncommonly racy and apt. Of necessity the language is that of the underworld; but it is so breezy, so spirited, so full of the tang of life, that it amply qualifies under any rational definition of dramatic literature."

Rex

Sunday, for one day only, the Rex will show a two part feature "Love or a Throne." This picture was made in Germany by the Imp company. Miss Leah Baird will be seen in the leading role.

"A Dream" is a one reel picture by the Smalley's who show the Janitor Spitty Claire, in one of many laughable situations.

Commencing Monday for three days only Daniel Frohman will present Cecelia Loftus in "A Lady of Quality," a five-part subject in which Miss Loftus has a role of which she makes a great deal. It is her first appearance before the camera, but she gives a performance which has little evidence that such is the fact. The picture will make excellent entertainment. There are artistic interiors of much beauty and the furnishings of an early period, are elaborate. The costumes are varied and expensive. There are a few outdoor scenes and they will charm by the pictorial value. The various features combined with good acting are bound to interest and charm any motion picture audience.

Miss Loftus is seen to good advantage in picture work owing to the fact that she photographs splendidly. It will be surprising if she did not make up her mind when she first saw this production on the screen, that she would appear again before the camera. She is interesting and charming in her initial scene and does much to make a great success of this picture.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Daniel Frohman will again present Jack Barrymore as "An American Citizen." This is the comedy made famous by Nat Goodwin in this country and abroad, and Jack Barrymore in this comedy presents an exciting and transcontinental romance, in which the numerous comic complications center about a young American, who in the midst of all his defeats and victories never forgets his patriotism, though for a time due to his chivalrous impulses, he is forced to forego his American citizenship, which he eventually regains together with love and fortune. Mr. Barrymore is at his best in this picture, which is in four parts and was written for him and the Famous Players by Madeline Lucette Ryley. "An American Citizen" was not only true to his flag but also to himself and the public.

Miss Nina Hendricks of Denver, a lady of many years' experience with large ladies' orchestras in the country, will take charge of the Rex music next week and is expected to improve the music each week at the Rex. Mr. Hancock will have charge of the organ during the week, and special organ selections appropriate to the pictures, will be played. This should be a feature week at the Rex, and to avoid the crowd in the evening, Manager Furniss urges as many as possible to attend the matinees each afternoon.

AUTO RACING NOT ON DECLINE

More Prizes and Events Offered for Coming Year Than Ever.

While Easterners are bewailing the "decadence of auto racing," and attempting to make it appear as if the decline were general, Westerners, and particularly those on the Pacific coast, are calmly proceeding with preparations for a most successful season. Statistics prove, they say, that wherever the public was given a chance in 1913, it backed the sport to the limit. More money and more events, therefore, are to be offered next year than ever.

Promoters at Fault.

The trouble with the East is not the sport itself, it is contended, but the promoters. They lack dash, nerve and enterprise displayed by their Western confreres, it is alleged. Witness the example of the Motor Dealers' Contest association of New York, for instance, which, after "discussing tentatively" time and again ways and means for staging the Vanderbilt and Grand Prize on the Long Island parkway, an event which would undoubtedly attract the greatest crowd in motor history, not even excepting the Indianapolis 500-mile race wound up by holding a measly little 500-mile reliability run for touring cars of all classes and descriptions in the dead of winter. Such is life in big cities.

An odd coincidence is pointed out by Westerners in this connection through citing that where racing is strongest, the A. A. A., or governing body, is weakest, and vice versa. On the West coast, where action is freest and most untrammeled, a majority of events being held under the auspices of the W. A. A., racing is at its pinnacle, while in the Middle West, where semi-independence is asserted, things are likewise in excellent shape, as attested by Elgin and Indianapolis.

Little Time for Contests.

The fact that the A. A. A. spends so much of its time on good roads work and so little on contests is deeply deplored. It is stated that the only interest evidenced by the governing body is that manifested in the box office, on the day of a contest. As particularly eloquent proof of this is cited the experience of Ralph de Palma, who today, two years after the accident, is forced to bring suit against the Milwaukee Dealers' Contest association for prize money that cost him a couple of months in the hospital and nearly saw his finish. The A. A. A., though exacting sanction money from the promoters, and a registry fee from the drivers, has never lifted a hand to help him. A view of such conditions, it is held to be small wonder that affairs in the East are not prospering as they should.

HIGH CLASS CARS FOR AUTO SHOW

Minneapolis Will See More and Better Cars Than Usual.

More good cars with good points than have ever been seen together at any automobile show in Minneapolis will be viewed at the Armory and in the annex to the Armory at the automobile show of the Minneapolis Automobile Trade association, which opens Jan. 31 and closes Feb. 7. The show is but three weeks away and the dealers are already talking of little else. Many of the dealers do not know just what their new cars are to be like. Those are the dealers who have not found time to go to the factories at Detroit and elsewhere to study the new models. Many dealers do know but these are keeping much information to themselves.

Anxious For Opening.

The dealers themselves are as anxious for the great opening day as are the motorists who are anxious to see for themselves the highest degree of the car builders' art. For the automobiles for 1914 are of the best in design and finish that could be devised and it is really a fact that further improvement will hardly be possible. To the refinements of construction talked about in former years and continued to an even greater degree this year in the new models has been added a beauty of design that is pleasing to the eye and entirely practical. From sharp edges of olden construction to beautiful stream line effects has been a long jump but one man who was at the London and the Paris shows where the latest in Europe was to be seen said that Europe had absolutely nothing on America in car building or body design.

At New York Show.

At New York's great show which opened Jan. 3, the people came in greater numbers night after night and purchasers found so much to admire in the many good cars with good points about them that it took time to decide upon the car for 1914. Good cars with good points, splendidly constructed cars of beautiful lines, cars that combine every good point anticipated and many of them, have shown more successful from a business standpoint in the season of 1913 and 1914 than during any previous season.

Many predicted that the shows would be just the same as those of previous years but New York which sets so much of the fashion disproved this for the people are reported to have thronged the aisles night after night in wide eyed amazement at the handiwork the car builders revealed by the passing of another milestone in the history of the motor car. Finality of construction seems to have been reached finally and beauty of appearance has certainly been attained in a most surprising and pleasing manner. The makers worked in the past to make the cars perfect in operation and in 1913 started to build cars for 1914 that would come in all good points with beauty of construction and did so.

MIDDLE CLASS BUYERS INCREASE

Cars Are No Longer Confined to Rich, Says Mr. Willys.

John N. Willys again signified, the other day, his faith in the future of the automobile industry, and this let in a rather interesting side light.

"Not long ago," said Mr. Willys, "I expressed my belief that the end of the present period of readjustment would mark 'the survival of the fittest.'

"And by 'the survival of the fittest' I do not mean just the survival of the strongest manufacturers. I mean the survival of those makers whose car are fittest to answer the demand of the great masses of possible buyers, and of the dealers who stick tight to those makers and their product.

"The time is long past when the motor car is considered a mere luxury, to be enjoyed by the few and only possible to the few. Today it is counted a necessity or convenience as well as a means of recreation by the many for with the word 'automobile' merely excited a not-to-be gratified desire ten years ago. In other words, the day is gone when only the rich can motor. The man of moderate means is now just as certain a buyer, and it is to him and his class that we may look for the largest expansion in the automobile business.

Middle Class Buyers.

"True, the sale of high priced cars will go on, but it will not increase in volume. Our very wealthy class is a limited class, and will buy in about the same quantity a few years hence as now. But the well-to-do class is constantly increasing. Each year sees more and more people who are able and anxious who buy the best of the low-priced cars. The makers of automobiles who give the most car value at a small cost need fear nothing. The manufacturers of high priced cars must either decrease in number or else each curtail his output.

"The C. T. Silver Motor company, distributers, have built up a magnificent business through the sale of Overland cars. A few days ago this company took over the New York representation for one of the highest priced cars built in America, whose makers had decided that the splendid factory branch they have maintained in New York city is decidedly unprofitable. Not enough of these high priced cars could be disposed of to support a branch, and under the new arrangement it remains for the lower priced car to bring home the bacon for both. No doubt the new plan will be successful.

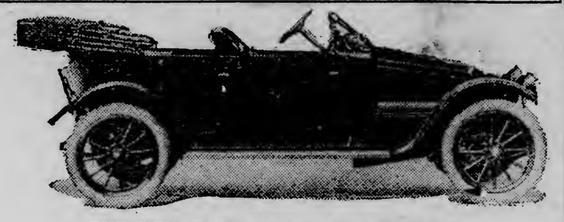

Medium Priced Car Popular.

"There are a good many dealers right now who are meditatively wetting a finger and holding it up to see which way the wind blows, and I believe that most of them have found out. At least our own affairs lead me to think so. The great awakening has come. It has developed that the manufacturer 'makes' the dealer after all. He furnishes the right car, the reputation and the advertising that create the demand. The wide-awake dealer takes advantage of these three elements in his business of distributing and selling the car. The dealer who ties up right and makes the most of his opportunity will win. The one who ties up wrong will lose, whether he makes the most of conditions or not.

"Often, for instance, the dealer finds that he can sell more cars than the manufacturer can supply. He puts this down to his own superior selling ability, when it is really due to the superiority of the car he is selling and the nature of the demand for that car that has been built up through constantly and effectively advertising it to the public. I do not mean by any means to belittle the work of the dealer. He is a necessary and welcome factor, and the actual selling of automobiles is itself nothing short of a fine art. But I believe, as I said before, that dealers are now making it their business to join forces with the manufacturers who are furnishing the right product at the right price.

"And this fact tells the whole story to those who read between the lines."

PEACHA TAKES LOCAL AGENCY FOR THE FRANKLIN CAR

THE NEW FIVE-PASSENGER FRANKLIN.

Joseph T. Peacha, Jr., manager of the Interstate Auto company, announces that he has obtained the local agency for the Franklin car and that the demonstrator arrived this morning from Syracuse, N. Y., the Franklin Automobile company's factory.

The car is one of the first models of the new Franklin Six-Thirty series, which include the one chassis, on which the six different types may be placed. These are the five-passenger touring car, a photograph of which is shown above, two-passenger roadster, sedan, coupe, limousine and Berlin.

The touring car demonstrator, of which is now being shown by Mr. Peacha, has the Entz electric lighting and starting system, with a left-hand drive and center control. The car has a wheel base of 120 inches and weighs 2,700 pounds. An electric horn is also included in the equipment.

Of the other types in the Six-Thirty series, the most popular this winter is the Berlin, a very great improvement over the limousine. It seats three on the main rear seat, with large folding seats with arms, besides the driver's seat. The car is completely closed on all sides. The coupe and roadster are smaller cars, but are built on the same chassis as the others.

In addition to the Franklin, Mr. Peacha is also agent for the Overland and Kissel Kar.

NEW MAGAZINE FOR AUTO MEN

Monthly Publication Makes Its First Bow to the Public.

Bemidji is the home of the new auto magazine, The Inland Motorist, which is the official organ of the Minnesota Retail Automobile Dealers' association. It is a monthly magazine and made its first appearance last week.

C. W. Jewett of Bemidji, president of the Minnesota Retail Automobile Dealers' association, is publisher of the magazine. The first number is a most creditable one and in it the editor introduces the magazine as follows:

"This magazine is the official organ of the Minnesota Retail Dealers' association. It is the voice of the retail automobile dealer. It is intended for him to use as he chooses, but always keeping in mind the upbuilding of the automobile business in every branch from the manufacturer down to the consumer.

"Its motto is 'Standardization of the automobile business; making it a business, not a game.'

"Springing from nothing more than enthusiasm its motto has gained the respect and support of practically every distributor and manufacturer in the Northwest. Its purpose is to help, not to hinder. It believes that co-operation is necessary for the success of the automobile business.

"The fact that it is indorsed by the Minnesota Retail Automobile Dealers' association gives to it a prestige that should win for it a place in the front ranks of the magazine world. It has a purpose and will always have a purpose. Its field of operation is chiefly among the retail automobile dealers, car owners and prospective owners. It believes that this field is big and strong enough to warrant an organ especially adapted for its use.

"Now, let us go into this automobile business to win. We have the greatest team in the world. Let us strengthen it when and wherever we can. All we want is teamwork. Perfected teamwork. Let us put grit and determination and tiger-like tenacity of purpose into every play.

"Its supremacy in the automobile game we are playing to hold, and it's a game worth while."

WILL ATTEND MEETING OF TRUCK DEALERS.

Fred G. Kleyn of the Kleyn Automobile company will leave next Friday for Detroit, Mich., where he will attend the annual convention of the Federal truck dealers from all parts of the country. The meeting has been called by the Federal Motor Truck company and will last for three days. Mr. Kleyn will be gone about a week.

HEADS ENGINEERS.

Cadillac Manager Elected President of Automobile Society.

At the annual meeting of the Society of Automobile Engineers held in New York, Jan. 6, Henry M. Leland, advisory manager of the Cadillac Motor Car company, was elected president.

Mr. Leland was born in Danville, Vt., Feb. 16, 1843. His early life was spent on a farm. Afterwards he completed an apprenticeship with the Knowles Crompton Loom Works at Worcester, Mass., when 19 years of age. During the Civil war he was engaged in making tools for the manufacture of rifles in the United States armory at Springfield, Mass. Later he was engaged in similar capacities in several New England plants.

In 1902 Mr. Leland organized the Cadillac Automobile company and in 1905 the Leland & Faulchoner Manufacturing company and the Cadillac Automobile company consolidated their interests, under the name of the Cadillac Motor Car company, Mr. Leland becoming general manager.

Mr. Leland has been since its organization an active member of the National Association of Manufacturers, the National Founders association, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the Society of Automobile Engineers. He has for years been active in religious, benevolent, business and civic affairs, and was the first president of the Detroit Citizens league, organized for the betterment of matters pertaining to municipal government. In view of his pioneership in the motor car industry and his sterling character, it is but fitting that Mr. Leland be accorded the honor of the presidency of the Society of Automobile Engineers.

PREFER KISSEL KARS.

Doctors and Realty Men Good Judges, Says Agent.

"Our factory records show that more than 350 Kissel Kars are being driven by physicians and real estate dealers," says J. T. Peacha Jr., of the Interstate Auto company. "I group these two classes because they are about equally qualified to judge an automobile, while no other one class is so well qualified.

"The physician requires in his car the utmost dependability, as well as comfort and style. The car that serves him well is the best recommended car in the world, for the physician's approving word goes a long way. We can trace many inquiries and sales of Kissel Kars to the good word of some M. D. who drives one.

"The real estate dealer probably demands a greater mileage from his car than the doctor, while he is just as particular as to its comforts and reliability. The time saved to him through the use of a car is an invaluable asset, but he has a deeper reason than that for the positive affection with which he regards it. Any real estate man will freely acknowledge that the automobile has increased suburban land values to the extent of many millions of dollars.

"What the automobile has done to increase the efficiency of the physician is, of course, not so easily traceable in dollars and cents, but is equally obvious. Many a life has been saved through the speedy response of the doctor's car when, in the old horse and buggy days, it would have been impossible to reach the sufferer in time. Many doctors cover 100 to 150 miles a day on their round of calls where, with a horse, twenty miles would be about the best average possible."

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE AUTOMOBILE WORLD

"Few people realize the wonderful field that exists for the motor truck," says John N. Willys, president of the Willys-Overland company, Toledo, Ohio, and maker of the Willys-Utility three-quarter ton commercial vehicle. "The average man has no idea of how much horses-and-wagon hauling is done in this country. An estimate, based on recently collected government statistics, shows that merchandise transported by horse and wagon, motor truck, engines and other trackless vehicles, is sixteen times as great as that transported by railroads in a single year.

"Therefore, when one stops to think that it costs approximately $2,000,000,000 to operate 250,000 miles of railroads in our country for a year, we get some conception of the opportunity for saving money by substituting power vehicles for horse-drawn trucks. It has been shown any number of times, in scores of lines of business that even an average truck will do twice as much work as a horse and wagon can accomplish, and for less money. If ratio holds true in all the work of our commercial world we have a golden opportunity to put the motor truck to work in earnest."

At the present stage in the development of the motor car more or less attention is being paid to refinements that make the drivn gof a car simpler and safer. The 1914 Cadillac has several improvements that illustrate this point. One is its automatic spark advance. Without this device the driver must manipulate his spark lever according to his own best judgment of the engine's requirements. It is not alone a question of speed. Sometimes heavy going puts a drag on the engine that necessitates manipulation of the spark lever. With the novice this is frequently nothing more than good guessing. The Cadillac's automotic spark advance takes this task of guessing from the driver and makes the action positive, automatic, according to the engine's needs.

"The heat treatment of steels used in transmissions, rear axles, etc., is vitally important," says J. T. Peacha of the Interstate Auto company, Franklin dealer here. "It is quite frequently believed that steel is heat treated simply to increase its strength, both its elastic limit and its tensile strength. Its strength is increased, but that is not all.

"For instance, a rear axle drive shaft is heate treated and the result is perhaps a doubling of its elastic limit, but in addition to this the shaft is changed in hardness and toughness. In this particular case, the hardness of the annealed steel is practically 160 on the standard hardness test, whereas the finished article will be about 420 in the same test. This is a little over two and one-half times as hard.

"The same holds true on every part of the car which has to stand a strain of wear. In other words, heat treatment gives a longer life to the working parts of a motor car and is a guarantee of less cost of maintenance and longer life to the car."

"The motor car dealer has just begun really to appreciate the motor show," said Harry R. Radford, vice president and general manager of the Carter car company, Pontiac, Mich., the other day, when he was discussing the coming show season with several newspaper men.

"For a long time," continued Mr. Radford, "the dealer thought of the show as more of a novelty than anything else. He went to it, to get inside the bright lights and to have a rest from his work of selling cars. It was a sort of a grand reunion of the interests of the different makes and some gay old times might have been witnessed if one had followed the different bunches through their courses of wine dinners and banquets. But now the agent comes to the show for study and real information as to how he can sell more cars at home. He wants to know all about the features of the different cars."

"If he has not yet secured the agency for any car, he is comparing them to find one that will be best adapted to his people, and you will see him spending many hours over this and that chassis, determining in his own mind whether it will make good in his territory."

Ten years ago a 10-horse power Cadillac, then a new stunning representative of the latest in automobile development, won the Royal Automobile Club of Great Britain 1,000-mile reliability run. The car emerged from the trial with a reliable record, making 2,979 marks out of a possible 3,000.

Recently over the roads of Southern England, under the auspices of the R. A. C., the same little Cadillac two-seated machine has been making a remarkable showing by participating in the anniversary run of this famous trial and coming through with flying colors.

What makes this performance even more remarkable is the fact that this little old car has been on the road continually since the trial of 1903, traveling many thousands of miles.

The first American automobile to be created wholly by a European engineer, thereby introducing into this country's motor industry original advancements that hitherto have first come from Europe, is the new Lewis Six.

Rene M. Petard, formerly with such cars as the Fiat, Daracqu, Italia and Unic, is the designer brought to America with this object in view. The concern announcing the car is the L-P-C Motor company, Racine, Wis. Besides M. Petard, the other principals are William Mitchell Lewis, president, and J. M. Cram, secretary and general sales manager. Both have been associated with the automobile industry since its inception.

Expectations of a change in policy by the Peerless Motor Car company as a result of the entrance into the business of men who have been extremely successful in another field have been realized by the adoption of syndicate selling for New York and Chicago.

In order to reduce the overhead expense incidents to using a large building exclusively for the sale of one car an arrangement has been made whereby the McDuffee Automobile company in Chicago and the C. T. Silver Motor company in New York take over the entire business and equipment of the Peerless Motor Car company's branches in those cities.

Over twenty-seven miles on a gallon of gasoline is an average made by two Franklin cars on recent trips. Mr. George F. Etzel of Brooklyn, N. Y., in a Franklin Little Six touring car, drove 110 miles, using four gallons of gasoline. His car had a full passenger load on this trip. George W. Field of Jackson, Mich., drove 192 miles on seven gallons of gasoline in his Franklin runabout. This gives an average of 27.4 miles per gallon of gasoline. George M. Norman of Wilmington, Del., recently made a 160-mile trip in his Franklin on 7½ gallons of gasoline, giving an average of 21.9 miles per gallon. In going 2,575 miles Mr. Norman's car averaged 16.2 miles per gallon of gasoline.

Not only much glory but a valuable trophy was lost to H. H. Kerr of Calgary, Alta., through a peculiar accident which occurred while he was trying to break the record between Calgary and Medicine Hat. Mr. Kerr, driving a Kissel Kar "6-48," had covered 110 miles of the distance, at which point he was better than a half hour ahead of the record, when one of his companions was thrown from the speeding car. It was, of course, necessary to stop and then hurry the badly injured man to the nearest physician. This put an end to the run.

MOTORCYCLE NOTES

Over one of the most historic routes of the West, Officer Merritt of the Kansas City, Mo., park department rides his motorcycle each day, guarding the road, which is incorporated in the city's park system, against speed violators. The road is a part of the old Santa Fe trail between Kansas City and Santa Fe and marks the trail over which the great Western rush was made.

The history of the Santa Fe trail carries all the romance and all the hardships of the new world. As early as 1822 goods which was shipped from St. Louis to Kansas City by miners and traders of the South and Southwest, was transported into the West over this trail in great wagons. Often a train of twelve or fifteen of these wagons would be seen making its way over the trail toward New Mexico. Later, in 1849, the first mail and coach service was begun over the Santa Fe trail. The mail was chiefly carried on horseback or in wagons specially constructed for the rough service.

The famous scout and Indian fighter, Kit Carson, made most of his journeys over the Santa Fe trail, and was one of the most familiar riders in that part of the country.

Featured by Lee Huminston's dash of 100 miles in 1:08 4-5 at the Playa del Rey board track near Los Angeles, 1913 will go down as a notable year in motorcycling history.

Not only on the tracks, but in road events, endurance contests through the desert, hill climbs—and in fact, in every conceivable sort of test—the motorcycle proved its mettle. And in no department of the sport were the tests of the year more severe than in long distance touring, which, in 1913, made great advances, due to the present reliability of the two-wheeler.

Huminston's big spurt at Los Angeles lowered the professional records from one to twelve and from twenty-six to 100 miles. He also set a new hour record, going 88 miles and 350 yards in sixty minutes.

Transcontinental touring, seemingly, was the goal and ambition of all motorcyclists during 1913. One of the first transcontinental tours of the year was made by Harry E. Patterson, who rode his single-tracker from Pittsburg to Whittier, Cal., covering 5,000 miles in thirty-five riding days. He made an average of 125 miles a day, his highest day's run being 220 miles.

LAXATIVE FOR OLD PEOPLE---"CASCARETS"

Salts, Calomel, Pills, Act on Bowels Like Pepper Acts in Nostrils.

Get a 10-cent box now.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

CITY TEAM TOO STRONG.

Outclassed the Two Harbors High Team at Basket Ball.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—In a very one-sided game the local city team defeated the local high school basket ball team last night, 35 to 14. The high school boys were outclassed in every way, although they put up a plucky fight throughout the contest. The city team is composed of heavier men having the advantage of more experience.

Although the two regular forwards of the city team were on the sick list, Sullivan and Dwan, the two sub-forwards, played an excellent game and will undoubtedly give the two regulars, Kernan and Freeman, a hard fight to retain their positions when they are able to enter the game again. Captain Woodward played his usual strong game, his fast work on the floor and basket throwing were noticeable features. Filiatrault, Johnson and James at guard played well and broke up plays in good style.

The following was the line-up:

City Team—		High School—
Dwan	f	Cullen, Peglow
Sullivan	f	Johnson
Woodward	c	Halliday, Daniels
Filiatrault	g	McCurdy
Johnson, James	g	Richards

Referee, Conliff.

Arrangements are under way for a game with the Maroon team of Duluth for next Saturday evening in this city.

FOOD THE COW ENJOYS.

How to Mix It and Feed It.

BY JAMES B. MORMON.

A dairy cow giving large quantities of milk consumes much feed. Milk is formed from feeding stuffs digested and assimilated by cows, so it is necessary all substances entering into the composition of milk be supplied to dairy stock in proportion to get good results. For production of milk there are required water, carbohydrates, protein, fat and mineral ash. High quality milk contains about 87 per cent water, 5 per cent sugar, 4 of fat, 2.5 of casein, 0.8 of albumen and 0.7 of ash.

Feeding stuffs contain necessary elements in varying amounts. Water, for instance, is contained in all feeds, but not enough to produce milk, so cows should be given plenty of fresh, pure water. Carbohydrates are of two kinds—those without nitrogen, such as starch, sugar, etc., and fiber or cellulose, which forms the greater part of plant cells, which are converted by cows into fat. Since carbohydrates form the largest part of feeds they are made the basis of calculating rations. Protein is the flesh producing substance, containing nitrogen derived from plants, an important part of milk and nothing can replace it. Fat fed to dairy cows in feeds is stored in the body and changed into milk fat. The ash is what is left of feeding stuffs after being burned and goes to form bone and digestive juices.

What Is a Balanced Ration?

Now a balanced ration is one in which the proportion of protein, carbohydrates and fat is such as to give the best results in the quantity and quality of milk produced, which varies with different cows in different climates. For a cow giving twenty-five pounds of milk a day the German standard fixes a ratio of 1 protein to 4.5 of carbohydrates and fat; the Wisconsin and other standards a ratio of 1 to 6. The latter is regarded as correct.

A cow weighing from 850 to 1,000 pounds receives a daily balanced ration as follows: Roughage, thirty-five pounds of corn silage and twelve pounds of mixed hay. Concentrates, two pounds of gluten meal, two pounds of wheat bran and one pound of cottonseed meal, oilmeal, ground oats and wheat middlings. If the cow gives less than twenty-five pounds of milk daily deduct one pound of concentrates for every three pounds less of milk. On the other hand, for every three pounds of milk above twenty-five pounds a day, give an additional pound of concentrates. Cows fed entirely on hay for roughage should be given about twenty pounds a day and about two pounds of oilmeal instead of one pound.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT INCUBATORS?

Points on Getting Ready for Spring.

BY E. K. FARKINSON.

The first thing you ought to know, at any rate, is that this is the time to start incubators for early high priced broilers, providing you have a dry cellar, where an even temperature is maintained, and plenty of fresh air to be had, as well as a warm, sunny, sheltered spot for the brooders. An incubator is necessary for every practical poultry plant, but it requires an observing eye and sharp attention to make it successful.

Whether a novice or skilled hand at running incubators, it is well before starting to read all directions in the catalogue sent with each machine and moreover to follow these instructions minutely or failure results. Having chosen a good place, set the incubator level; don't guess. Get a spirit level and make sure, for an incubator is built to distribute heat evenly over the egg chamber. But if one corner stands lower than another this is impossible. If the machine is new attach the regulator rod and arm to the thermostat inside and try the arm by turning the nut on the end of the rod up or down until familiar with its movements. Leave the nut unscrewed until there is an eighth of an inch slack. This will be taken up by the thermostat expanding as the incubator becomes warm.

Warming Up the Machine.

Fill the lamp with good oil, trim the wick, place on support, adjusting it so the flame can easily be seen. Light, turn down to a low flame at first, and leave the machine alone for twenty-four hours before trying to adjust the regulator. The thermometer inside should now register 70 or 80 degrees, the exact temperature is not important, loosen the nut on regulator rod three or four turns and wait till the flame comes up to the nut; continue to loosen the nut carefully until the temperature reaches, 102, then stop. Run the machine two or three days at 102 or 102½ deg. before filling with eggs, and when the eggs are put in let the regulator rod alone forty-eight hours. Fill and trim the lamp daily. Keep the burner clean, and run at 102 or 102½ deg. for the first week and 103 for the remainder of the hatch. When the animal heat begins to show, about the tenth day, turn down the regulator but a half turn or so daily to care for the extra heat. In cooling, follow the directions implicitly and when on the eighteenth or nineteenth day the chicks begin to pip, close the door of the incubator and leave it alone until the hatch is over and the chicks all dried off.

PRODUCTIVE AND UNPRODUCTIVE APPLE TREES.

A Question of Profit.

BY GEORGE T. POWELL, Agricultural Experts' Association.

Fruit trees are propagated by two methods—grafting and budding. In grafting, the wood of the preceding year's growth is cut and made into pieces containing three buds. These are inserted into the roots of seedling trees in winter or in the tops of young trees which are cut off in the spring and one or two grafts set in, which will grow and make the future top of the tree.

In budding, the bark of seedling or young trees is opened in July or August, sometimes in September, when buds on the present year's growth are cut off and inserted, bound tightly with raffia, when in a few days the bud unites with the branch in which it is inserted and the following spring grows into a tree of the same variety as that of the bud.

How to Plant.

In future planting of orchards it is important to know the bearing quality of trees and whether they have been propagated from good productive stock, and as apples live for so long a period they should be well cared for. In planting buy two-year-old stock and prune back the stocks one-half, cutting back all roots one-fourth of their length. Little pruning should be done for five years, except to cut branches inclined to grow in wrong directions. Some excellent varieties for summer are Yellow Transparent, Red Astrachan, Red June and Williams Early; and for autumn Duchess, Gravenstein, Wealthy, Twenty Ounce and Fall Pippin. For winter, Baldwin, Rhode Island Greening, Northern Spy, King, McIntosh, Rome Beauty, Stayman's Winesap, Pound Sweet, Bailey Sweet, Wagener, Winter Banana, Jonathan, Delicious, and there are at least fifty other good kinds.

For the market a plant not more than three or four varieties. For family use, plant one tree of about twelve varieties, and graft one-half of each tree with another good kind, which gives twenty-four choice varieties, covering all seasons. Most varieties are planted forty feet apart each way and those of spreading growth, like the King or Greening, fifty feet. Fuller trees that do not grow large, as the Yellow Transparent, Duchess and Wagener, are planted in between at twenty feet one way only. These will begin bearing in five years and, after several crops have been taken off, may be cut out.

COMMERCIAL FERTILIZERS.

Hints on How to Use Them.

BY E. KNEELAND.

There are owners of small country houses as well as farmers who purchase commercial fertilizers on the cost basis rather than the actual plant food value contained in the fertilizer. This foolish mistake, of course, is due to a lack of knowledge of the principles on which fertilizers are mixed. Now, suppose we want to buy fertilizer for early potatoes. The shop clerk says this year he is selling a 4-8-10 brand, highly recommended by the A. B. C. company. Well, what does he mean? He means a mixture containing in every 100 pounds 4 per cent nitrogen, 8 per cent available phosphoric acid and 10 per cent potash, three plant food elemetns vitally necessary to plant development. Remember the order given—nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash—is always the same. Therefore to find the amount of nitrogen in a ton of the mixture multiply the four (which is 4 per cent of 100 pounds, or four pounds) by twenty, there being twenty hundreds in a ton and the same with either of the other two ingredients.

The Analysis Vague.

Thus we know how many pounds of different plant food elements are in a mixture, but we don't know in what form the elements are. If we examine a fertilizer bag we find on it an analysis of the mixture. Take a special corn fertilizer for example—nitrogen, 2.7 per cent; reverted phosphoric acid, 5.08 per cent; insoluble acid 4.9 per cent; potash, 6.7 per cent. From this we can only gather there is 2.7 per cent nitrogen, and by adding together the soluble and reverted phosphoric acid we find the available acid—that is, the phosphoric acid—that can be taken up by the crop in its early development. The insoluble only becomes available after lying for a long time in the soil. Finally the potash is simply stated as being the proportion of 6.7 per cent. This analysis is of little value unless we know in what form the different elements are. As an example, for growing tomatoes the nitrogen should be in two forms, nitrate of soda, quickly soluble and immediately available; also in a form which will become available gradually, such as cottonseed meal. However, it is a simple matter to write to the agricultural experiment station telling the crops to be grown and soil conditions (sandy, loam, gravel or clay), and they will reply giving plant food elements needed and proper proportions. With these facts in hand, tell the local fertilizer dealer your wants, and he will order a brand whose formula corresponds to the one given him.

EVERY FARM SHOULD HAVE AN OFFICE.

Clifford E. Davis in Farm and Fireside: Every farm, however small, should have one corner, or one room, set aside as an office, where plans for crops, business, etc., may be studied out. Such an office can be fitted up cheaply; but the yearly benefits are inestimable. Mine is only 6 by 10, adjoining the kitchen, where I can consult the family or talk to callers at will.

An old squire's desk, with one wide and four narrow drawers and an office chair is the main equipment. At one side are the catalogues of seed, grocery and other firms. A supply of good ink, a gross of assorted pen points, a bottle of mucilage, blotters and writing pad come next, with ruler, eraser, lead pencils and note pad for hasty notes of work, etc. Against the wall hang the daily calendar, telephone book of addresses, almanac, hook for sheets of blank paper, mottoes and pictures of farm animals, fowls and fruit. In the big drawer are the farm ledgers; log of important events, statistics of the farm and data; a stencil outfit to print cards, addresses, notices, etc., and various odds and ends. In the other drawers are blue lined envelopes, bought by the box of 20 very cheaply (33 cents a box), and writing paper in ream lots, etc. Near by are the bulletins on all subjects from agriculture and a case of books on agriculture, science, history, politics, etc. Here on rainy days or at night labor is planned, business outlined or recorded, letters written or answered, diseases of farm stock studied or prescribed for, and all such affairs attended to at once.

Only an hour or less each day will keep the books up to date, show bills paid, etc., but the yearly result is immense.

By planning work far ahead of the day or season, there is no "lost motion," but the work moves along smoothly, each hour seeing its own duties done, and there are few jobs "left over."

Without such an office, the farmer who keeps his receipts in an old cigar box, his accounts in his head and his work unplanned hardly knows "where he is at;" and both work and accounts soon lapse into inextricable confusion that only the sheriff's sale can solve. With a neat farm office, farming rises to the dignity of a profession; and the wife should be the junior partner and helper, and her advice neither despised nor ignored.

ORCHARD AND GARDEN.

BY LE ROY CADY, Assistant Horticulturist University Farm St. Paul.

The Spencer types of sweet peas are among the most attractive.

Sweet peas like a loamy top soil underlaid with a well-drained clay sub-soil.

Local farmers' clubs may be organized to promote horticultural interests as well as for many other purposes.

Pack fruit honestly from top to bottom and put your name or trademark on it, in establishing a permanent market.

Better make the small apples into cider for vinegar or feed them to pigs, rather than try to market them with good fruit.

When planting an orchard, set varieties to insure proper pollination. Every eighth row set to the proper variety will usually be enough to insure pollination.

Some of the fall-bearing strawberries are becoming of value. A few varieties bear well in autumn, especially if the flowers are kept picked in the spring, forcing them to fruit in autumn.

Don't grow more apple trees than can be taken care of well. If the fruit is to be sold, two or three good varieties, well cared for, are more salable than a few trees of many varieties.

BY H. PRESTON HOSKINS, Assistant Veterinarian, University Farm, St. Paul.

Cholera has made its appearance in more than sixty counties in Minnesota.

Almost 900 hogs have been used at the state serum plant, at University Farm, this year, in the production and testing of serum.

Reports recently received concerning results of the vaccination of three lots of hogs early in the summer indicate that 1,148 hogs were treated with station serum, the serum-virus (double) method being used, by veterinarians of the state livestock sanitary board, without a single case of cholera developing.

What appear to be some rather anthentic figures gathered in Yellow Medicine county show that about 70 per cent of the hogs were saved in herds where serum was used, the serum coming from several sources, whereas in herds where no serum was used, or where some other treatment was employed, about 83 per cent of the hogs died.

If the hog raisers of Minnesota could be assured of an adequate supply of serum, there is no reason why this state should not rapidly push forward into the front ranks as a pork-producing state.

More drastic laws should be enacted, and then rigidly enforced, compelling hog owners to properly dispose of the carcasses of hogs dead from cholera, and to strictly observe the quarantine regulations issued by the state livestock sanitary board.

CAREFUL FEEDING PAYS.

BY T. L. HAECKER, Dairy and Animal Husbandman, University Farm, St. Paul.

From a careful investigation we find that our common cows are capable of producing a much larger yield than is secured from the average common cow in the state. During the past decade we have always had at University Farm, in the dairy herd, a number of common cows; that is, cows with no dairy heredity. The average yield from these common cows for twenty-three yearly records is 5,000 pounds of milk, and 222 pounds of butter; which last, valued at 27 cents per pound, is equal in round numbers to $60, for butter alone. The average receipt per common cow in the state is $46.40; which shows that the average cow is yielding $14 less per annum than she might easily yield if given the same care and feed as are given the cows at University Farm.

BEE-KEEPING IN SHORT COURSE.

Bee-keepers will have a rare opportunity this winter to learn about the latest and most modern methods of taking care of the honey crop. Prof. Francis Jaeger, formerly of St. Bonifacius, and one o fthe most successful bee-keepers in the state, but now of the college of agriculture, will give a series of lectures and demonstrations and some practice work in bee-keeping during the Farmers' short course which will be held at university farm, Jan. 19 to Feb. 14. Classes in bee-keeping will be organized during the first ten days and may be continued during the entire course if desired.

CO-OPERATION.

By L. D. H. WELD, Agricultural Economist, University Farm, St. Paul.

That interest in co-operation is growing is shown by the fact that the Minnesota Academy of Social Sciences devoted its annual meeting, held in Minneapolis on Dec. 4 and 5, to this subject. Papers were read by Prof. C. W. Thompson on the "Essentials of Co-operation;" Judge Wilson of Stillwater on the "Legal Aspects of Co-operation;" Prof. L. D. H. Weld on, "Co-operation in Minnesota;" E. A. Webb on "Co-operation Abroad," and by "Jim" Caldwell of Lakefield, the Minnesota member of the American commission, on "Community Co-operation." The principal features of the meeting, however, were papers read by George Woodruff of Joliet, Ill., on, "Land Credit;" George Simon, western agent of the Jewish Agricultural Aid society on, "Personal Credit," and George Keen, secretary of the Co-operative Union of Canada, on "The Co-operative Movement." Mr. Woodruff explained the principle of amortization of long-time mortgage loans whereby the farmer borrows money for periods of twenty or thirty years or longer, and pays a comparatively low rate of interest, part of which is applied to the gradual wiping out of the loan itself. Mr. Woodruff's bank in Joliet, Ill., has begun to do privately what farmers may do co-operatively, and what they have done so successfully in foreign countries.

Mr. Simon explained what has been accomplished in the way of co-operative credit among the Jewish farmers of the United States. Small local credit associations, modeled after the German system, have been in successful operation for several years, and furnish the only instance of co-operative rural credit in the United States.

Mr. Keen's principal interest is in co-operative stores. He contrasted the wonderful success of co-operative retail and wholesale stores in England and Scotland with the backwardness of the United States in this respect. He reviewed the history of the Rochdale system in England from the time that it was formed by twenty-eight poor weavers in 1844 to the present day, when it contains nearly 3,000,000 members and does an annual business of over $600,000,000.

All the papers read at the meeting will be published in the proceedings of the Minnesota Academy of Social Sciences. For information write to J. S. Young, secretary, 1120 Sixth street southeast, Minneapolis.

ALFALFA.

"What makes the landscape look so fair;
What blossoms bright perfume the air,
What plant repays the farmer's toil,
And will enrich the worn-out soil?
Alfalfa!

"What is the crop that always pays,
Which may be cut each forty days,
Resisting drought, the frost, and heat;
Whose roots reach down full twenty feet?
Alfalfa!

"What grows in loam, and clay, and sand;
What lifts the mortgage off the land;
What crop is cut three times a year,
And of never a failure do you hear?
Alfalfa!

"What makes the swine so healthy feel,
And never raise a hungry squeal;
The wholesome food that never fails
To put three curls into their tails?
Alfalfa!

"What makes all other stock look nice,
And brings the highest market price;
What fills the milk pails, feeds the calf,
And makes the old cow almost laugh?
Alfalfa!"

WOMAN CALLS HER CHICKENS WITH BELL.

In the Poultry Raising department of the current issue of Farm and Fireside Pearl Chenoweth tells how she gets her chickens to lay eggs in the winter. She has seventy-five single-comb Brown Leghorns which laid from thirty to forty eggs a day during November. Following is an extract from her article:

"My hens have a warm dinner every day at noon planned as carefully as that for the family. Sometimes it is a kettle of oats boiled in salt water, a crock of milk and a stewed pumpkin. Sometimes it is boiled potatoes, lye hominy and cabbage. Often it is cooked wheat with kafir and oats uncooked.

"When the eggs are gathered, usually at 4 p. m., the hens are fed as much shelled corn as they will eat. I have trained them to come at the ringing of a bell. It is the only way I can get them from the millet stack.

"The last thing before the chickens go to roost—and often half the flock get off the roost—I feed a warm mash, bran or shorts for foundation, mixed with table scraps and beef meal. Of this they are fonder than anything, and thus more food is consumed than if the best were given first. Aside from this advantage, the warm food will keep them warm until well toward morning, and every bird is at work again as soon as it is light enough to see.

"Twice a week we feed meat scraps bought in hundred-pound sacks at the packing house. The chickens at first refused it dry, but by pouring hot water over it and allowing it to stand over night it makes a feast for them.

"Several times each day the watering pans are emptied and rinsed and refilled. Oyster shells, ground bone, sand and ashes are kept before the flock always."

CHEAPER MONEY FOR FARMERS.

It now seems rather certain that we are going to have legislation which is designed to give farmers money at terms just as easy as other business men get their loans. Ever since the return of the American commission, which was abroad last summer to study European systems of agricultural credit, a committee has been at work in Washington preparing a report with recommendations for the needs of American farmers. The department of agriculture, co-operating with rural organization service, Washington, D. C., is also preparing a report based upon an extensive investigation concerning present conditions of agricultural credit in various parts of the country. With all of this information at hand to guide them, the congressional committee which has the question under consideration should be able to work out a plan which will put our farmers on an equal footing with other business interests. That is all any fair-minded man can ask, but we should keep in touch with our congressmen and see to it that the plan finally adopted will fit our needs. If you are not informed on the question, consult your Minnesota Farmers' Institute annual, No. 26, 1913—beginning page 217; also write your congressman for free copies of the following congressional documents:

ALFALFA IN MINNESOTA.

By A. D. WILSON, Extension Superintendent, University Farm, St. Paul.

The year 1913 has been a very satisfactory year in Minnesota. It has demonstrated beyond any question of doubt that Minnesota can compete successfully with any other state in the Union in the production of corn and alfalfa, the two greatest feed crops known to the agriculturist. In nearly every county in Minnesota from two to four excellent crops of alfalfa have been harvested on from one to several fields. Nearly every farmer in the state has seen alfalfa growing this year, and is thoroughly convinced that he can grow it on his own farm. Those who know the alfalfa plant and the state of Minnesota believe there is no question but that alfalfa can be grown successfully on any land in Minnesota that will grow corn. With corn and alfalfa as an established part of the agriculture off the state, there is little question but that the future for agriculture in Minnesota is bright, and offers as good opportunities for successful farming as are offered in any state.

SHORT COURSE IN HOME ECONOMICS.

The women of the farm are this year to be given an opportunity to learn about home making in a four-weeks' short course in Home Economics offered at the College or Agriculture, St. Anthony Park, Minn. Instruction will be given in nutrition, cookery, dressmaking and household sanitation. The course begins Jan. 19 and extends over four weeks.

For particulars address J. M. Drew, Registrar, University Farm, St. Paul.

THRICE HARD IS WAY OF THE FARM WASTER.

William Johnson in Farm and Fireside: The way of the transgressor is hard, but thrice harder is the way of the waster. Adversity reaches with a hundred hands of frost, heat, blight, disease and insect life for the farmer's wage. Waste crosses the palm of every such hand with gold that toil has won but which methods have lost.

And the waster seems not to know the nature of his affliction. Unknowingly he has made gods of mismanagement, prejudice and neglect. To these his strawstacks are burnt offering, and a tithe of all he raises or should raise is given.

He selects his seed corn from the crib and prepares a shallow seed bed consisting of lumps, air space, hardpan and weeds. Or he sows grain on land which is pleading for alfalfa or clover. The season is half wasted because the crop is a half failure.

The waster puts a breedles cow in a sunless barn and gives her a milkless ration, and his soul is much disturbed because there is no profit in the arrangement.

He gathers unto himself a flock of scrub hens and uses them as a medium through which to feed a hundred dollars' worth of grain to mites, lice and weasels.

He keeps his hogs in pens, and the hog cholera waxes vigorous in the mud. He looks upon vaccination as a flimflam, and the land which should be growing alfalfa pasture is pasturing the corn-root louse instead. On the waster's farm grain is not treated for smut, nor is the quality of seed ever questioned by test. Cheap grass seed is sown, and an annual increase of weeds lift up their bright blossoms in a psalm of thanksgiving to waste.

Waste is an unwritten mortgage, but legal form and notary could not make its interest surer. Could we see in actual cash the toll it exacts, our souls would rise in revolt. It takes the grain before it gets to the bin, the milk before it gets to the pail, the hog before it gets to market. Waste works in countless ways its robbery to perform, but it travels one broad road—mismanagement.

And the remedy is watchfulness.

MILITANTS FALL UPON EVIL TIMES

Fighting Forces Sadly Depleted By Illness and Prison Bars.

London, Jan. 10.—Illness and prison bars have deprived the Women's Social and Political union of its ablest leaders, and the organization, once noted for an efficiency approaching almost to military genius, has fallen upon evil times. The attempt to prevent the arrest of Mrs. Emeline Pankhurst, when she landed at Plymouth on her return from America, resulted in a farce which reacted much on the police as on the baffled militants, for the elaborate police precautions were made ridiculous by the ineptitude of "General" Mrs. Flora Drummond's well-advertised bodyguard. The militants declare, in explanation of the fiasco, that Mrs. Drummond is more fit for the hospital than the foray, and that the absence of Annie Kenny, her ablest lieutenant, completed the disorganization.

Whatever the cause may be, even the friends of the militants do not deny that the fighting forces are sadly depleted, and, furthermore, while the backers of the movement still continue to pour money into the treasury, the supply of recruits is becoming thinner daily. No leaders seem to have arisen to take the place of those who are incapacitated, and the full treasury will be so much dross if workers cannot be found to spend it in the peculiar manner the militant affects to irritate Britons into giving her the vote.

NEW WARNINGS IN COAL MINES

Fire-Damp Safety Whistles Tried By Emperor's Orders.

Berlin, Jan. 10.—In accordance with Emperor William's wishes, the minister of commerce has ordered that 100 "fire-damp safety whistles" be tried out in the coal mines of the Ruhr and Saar districts. His decision follows a long discussion and test of the new invention at an assembly of mining experts. The whistles give a peculiar sound when a sufficient amount of carbon monoxide gas mingles with the ordinary atmosphere. In experiments before the assembly a mixture of as little as 1.7 per cent of the poisonous gas was recorded by the whistle, and 10 per cent produced a tone which could be heard across the large assembly halls. Experts who have tested the new contrivance in mines reported that its tone had been heard in straight passages at a distance of 100 yards.

RAPID GROWTH OF LIVERPOOL TRADE

Made Gain on London in Export and Import Trade.

London, Jan. 10.—London has a task cut out for itself to hold its own in the export and import trade. During the year of 1912 Liverpool showed a much more rapid growth in this business than did the metropolis, although London still led by $50,000,000.

The trade through Liverpool amounted to over $1,876,000,000 excluding coastwise goods, showing an increase of $185,000,000, while London during the same time showed an increase of only $75,000,000. London suffered a severe set-back through strikes and lack of port facilities. The port of London authorities are now spending millions in the improvement of the docks in the hope of inducing the steamship companies to send their larger freight steamers here.

MEXICAN COLONY IN PARIS GROWS

Former President Diaz Is Its Most Conspicuous Figure.

Paris, Jan. 10.—The Parisian colony of Mexican statesmen, past and present, is fast increasing. Headed by former President Porfirio Diaz, as the most conspicuous figure, it now includes Adolfo de la Lama, Mexican minister of finance, who is visiting Paris and London to negotiate a loan for the Huerta government; Joseph Limantour, former Mexican minister of finance; Emanuel Garza Adalpe, ex-minister of foreign affairs, of public instruction and of the interior; William de Landa, former governor of the Federal district of Mexico, and Miguel Diaz Lombardo, who was Mexican minister to France under the late President Francesco Madero, and who now is president of a committee representing the Constitutionalists in Mexico.

Gen. and Senora Diaz are living quietly in a family hotel in the Avenue des Champs Elysees. The general's room faces the Arc de Triomphe, commemorating Napoleon's success. Here, where there is a fine view of the surroundings, the retired president spends much of his time. Ministers who served under his government visit him now and then, but Gen. Diaz is somewhat deaf and this has increased his desire for retirement. Senora Diaz is her husband's constant companion, acting as interpreter for visitors. Senora Diaz has a good command of English, of which the general uses none. Porfirio Diaz, Jr., also lives near her father and makes frequent calls.

The impression among persons who know Gen. Diaz and who have been associated with him is that he is not the rich man he is supposed to be. He lives modestly, although paying $20 a day for his apartment, and while considered to be in comfortable circumstances, his wealth is said not to be large. During his active life he paid but little attention to matters of finance, it is said. The general seldom goes to the theaters, but takes frequent automobile rides about Paris. His step is sprightly and he appears to be in good health.

TANGO IS FAVORITE.

Two Hundred Steps Taught By Parisian Dancing Masters.

Paris, Jan. 10. — Parisian dancing masters are now teaching 200 steps of the tango, and many of the more difficult steps are being tried at the public resorts.

Afternoon tea dances are numerous, and in the evenings restaurants which allow the tango are crowded with dancers. American dance tunes, some of them of not very recent origin, are played to a considerable extent. One song containing the strains of Dixie is often heard.

Occasionally, the one step, and "fish" walk, and of course the waltz and two-step are danced, but preference is given to the tango.

AUTO IN ICELAND.

First Self-Propelled Vehicle Ever Seen on the Island.

London, Jan. 10.—An American automobile which was recently taken into Iceland marks a new era for that country. Not excepting the railroads, of which there are none yet in Iceland, the American car is the first self-propelled vehicle ever seen on the island.

Iceland is one of the most ancient, highly organized and civilized communities in the world, but on account of the physical aspects of the country the inhabitants expected to see an aeroplane before they ever saw a motor car. The island is only 300 miles long, and has a breadth of 200 miles, but its coast line indentations are such that the coast measures 4,000 miles. The inhabited lowland is limited and does very well with water traffic, while the rough highlands are practically impassable for wheeled vehicles.

Household Expenses

A good way to start off the new year is to open a household checking account with the First National Bank.

That will enable you to "see what you are doing" at all times in the matter of living expenses. It will form a complete record of how and where your money goes and assist in putting your finger on the leaks. It will also encourage the building up of a cash balance. Adopt the plan for 1914.

GETTING EVERYBODY TO CHURCH.

A unique campaign is in progress in Chicago.

The church folks have fixed on a date—February 1—and they want everybody to go to church on that day. A well-organized propaganda has been arranged, involving an elaborate system of advertising, and few indeed will be the citizens of Chicago who between now and the first Sunday in February will escape being importuned to go to church, "if only just this once."

It is a diverting plan, and we shall be interested in watching how it works out.

It ought at least to result in a great increase in church attendance on that day. Probably it will not work out that everybody will attend—maybe the churches couldn't hold them all if everybody did, though they never have been tested on that point, anywhere that we know of.

It's a splendid idea, too. It ought to be taken up everywhere. Surely there are in each community many people who never attend church but who could be induced to go once, if only for the novelty of it.

And one thing sure is that it wouldn't hurt any of them a bit. It might do all of them some good, and it certainly would help some of them.

No person who has fallen out of the habit of church-going, though, need wait to be importuned as a part of such a campaign. He can have a campaign like it all his own, and prevail upon himself to fix a nearby date for going to church, just to see how it seems to experience once more the hush and peace and sweetening influence of a church service.

It makes little difference what church it is—there is no service so meager that it wholly lacks these elements.

Whether it be Catholic or Protestant, or this sect of Protestantism or that, depends upon youthful alliances, whim or convenience; but at any rate it would be a good idea to get out of your rut and go to church, if only once.

And if that experience interests you in resuming the lost habit of church-going, that's all to the good.

A Michigan blacksmith has devised a means to make tough meat tender. There's a man who is bound to forge ahead.

DUAL PERSONALITIES.

The fiction-writers—and some psychological students—make much of the phenomenon called "dual personality"—two distinct characters in the same person.

But there is nothing phenomenal about it. It happens every day and all about us. Indeed, the most amazing thing about humanity is its many-sidedness; and there is no individuality so meager as to constitute merely one fixed and unalterable character.

It is only in cheap novels and cheap melodramas that men and women are either all good or all bad. The villain and the hero, the adventuress and the heroine, immaculately good or perfectly evil invariably, live nowhere outside the pages of the novel or the wings of the stage.

In real life, the villain and the hero, the adventuress and the heroine, may and often do inhabit the same body.

Everybody has had the experience of encountering the ugly side of a man's character, of setting him down as a villain, and then of discovering him engaged in some secret enterprise of pure philanthropy and having a prejudiced conception of his character shattered by the discovery.

Paul Stensland of Chicago furnishes an example. Several years ago Stensland ran away to Morocco with half a million dollars of the deposits of a savings bank of which he was president. Seldom has there been disclosed a deed more heinous. Most of the depositors were poor. Many of them had all their savings, all their hope of comfort for a rainy day, all their chance of independence in old age, tied up in that bank. Ruin and misery spread like a wave in the wake of his atrocious embezzlement.

Stensland, finally, was captured through the enterprise of a Chicago newspaper. He was brought back, sentenced to prison, served his sentence and was released.

Now, according to the newspaper man who brought about Stensland's capture, this villain has turned hero. He has devoted the remainder of his life to paying back the deposits he stole. The bank paid all but fifteen per cent to depositors; Stensland has engaged himself to pay the rest, and has paid quite a bit already.

It is a shock, decidedly, to have this happen. Just when everybody had set this man down as a complete and perfect villain of a type that would fit into a play to make a hit with Jacob Litt or William A. Brady, he turns out to be rather a decent sort after all. So there is need of a revision of judgment in his case—a need that often arises where judgments of personal character are made too quickly and too finally.

A Chicago woman was identified through a memorandum of her ownership of bonds worth a hundred twenty thousand dollars. Moral: carry a memorandum of your ownership of a hundred twenty thousand dollars' worth of property with you wherever you go.

COMMUNITY MUSIC.

The Survey magazine tells interestingly about a "community music" plan which is being pushed in Wisconsin by the state university. A bulletin issued by the university calls attention to activities showing how music is being popularized throughout the United States, and gives suggestive examples.

For instance, there is at Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, a "Pennsylvania Oberammergau," where a local choir gives "what are conceded to be the finest presentations of Bach's work in this country." And there is in the town of Lindborg, Kansas, what is called a "Swedish Bayreuth."

An account is given of an "outdoor sing" at Anoka, Minnesota, the idea of the supervisor of music in the Minneapolis public schools, which he carried out at practically no expense. He mounted a box and led a band, and five thousand people from neighboring villages joined in the familiar old songs which everyone knows and loves.

The university bulletin announces its plan for assisting, through its extension division, any community in Wisconsin to have community music. It will rent music at low cost for choruses, bands and orchestras, and it is now arranging for a course in musical appreciation, consisting of rolls for mechanical piano players and discs for phonographs, together with a series of lectures or studies. This material will be sent out much as traveling libraries are circulated. The department will further help in forming entertainment courses. Teachers of music will be provided for communities, and the plan will involve circuits of several neighboring small communities.

Community music? Why not?

The public recognizes the need of literature, and so supplies libraries—even if Mr. Carnegie did put up a good many of the library buildings.

People need good books, and it is as much the part of statesmanship to make them available as it is to supply pavements and police protection and channels and harbors.

But people need good music, too; and in order that it may be within the reach of all, the comuunities should provide it wherever and whenever they can arrange to do so.

In Duluth the nearest we come to community music is in the free public concerts given by the Scottish Rite Masons, who provide good music and thereby perform a signal public service. Maybe some time a community band or orchestra or chorus—or all three—will be within the city's means; and that will be an admirable thing to have happen.

Admiral Blue says the navy needs some more flying machines. How different from the olden days when it was considered the thing to make the enemy do all the flying!

"COUNTING ONE."

Two congressmen have declined renominations on the ground that all there is for most congressmen to do is to stand up and be counted.

That's silly.

Not all men can be orators. Not all men can be great leaders.

And a mighty fortunate thing that is! What a spectacle the house of representatives would be if all its members were orators, struggling for the floor; or if all its members were great leaders, and there were none to follow!

Says the New York World: "While men of dominating ability are not numerous anywhere, few such fail of recognition in our congress. If they do not gain the distinguished positions on committees, they are not silenced in debate, and even in the minority they may exert an influence that is far-reaching. Great representative bodies must have leaders, but leadership is in vain without followers. Men who do nothing more than vote right on a great issue render a valuable public service. John Hancock headed the list of those who signed the Declaration, and George Washington's name led all the rest at the Constitutional convention. Would the least of their associates, approving the action taken, have willingly failed to enroll themselves in such company?

"The best that most people can do is to count one for liberty and justice."

And that is much, indeed. Fortunate is the man who has the opportunity merely to record his name, at every roll-call, on the side of liberty and justice.

And fortunate indeed is the district that has a man in congress who can be depended upon, whether he ever makes a speech or gets an eight-by-ten postoffice building for a two-by-four community, to vote right and vote always on the side of liberty and justice.

The Wilson administration has saved another million dollars on the expenses of the navy for the coming year. Maybe some time soon the government will get sufficiently wise to save about one hundred and forty million more than this on the navy.

FEMINISM.

What's all this about "feminism?"

There seems to be a debate about whether it is a good thing or not.

That depends a good deal on what it is.

We have had masculinism, meaning male dominance—though we didn't call it that and the fact of dominance may be not entirely undebatable.

Does "feminism" mean changing male dominance to female dominance?

The good Lord forbid!

But if it means striking a human balance—if it is a step toward HUMANISM—than bring it on and speed its coming.

George F. Crandall has retired from the business of carrying the United States mail after traveling three hundred and fifty thousand miles, for which he was paid at the rate of ten cents a mile. The great wonder is that he didn't retire before.

A VALUABLE LESSON TO LEARN.

"There was a time," said a successful man the other day, "when I thought I was a genius. It was a mistake. I am not a genius, and though it was a sad day for me when I had to admit it, I now thank Heaven that it is so. And I consider that discovery the most important event in my life."

And then he went on to tell why.

So long as he thought himself a genius, you see, he depended on his genius to get results.

And that's how he came to make his discovery. There weren't any results!

"At first," he said, "I thought this was because my genius wasn't recognized. And I thought myself a very much abused youth—only I didn't call myself a youth, then. But little by little the lesson came home, and one day I faced it squarely and told myself, once for all, that there could no longer be any doubt about it—I was no genius.

"And that made it unanimous, for so far as I know nobody but myself ever had any such idea—except my mother, God bless her."

And then he went to work. He realized that since his genius wasn't going to produce success by some mysterious alchemy, if he wanted success he would have to work for it.

And he did work for it, and got it—so the world says; and in saying it the world—his world—sometimes calls him a "genius."

"Nothing to it," he says; "absolutely nothing to it. Unless—and I am not so sure that this isn't the real truth—genius is nothing but hard work."

Probably the hope that there lurks within him a spark of genius that will fire beacons of glory to light his career has been nourished by nearly every youth. The day of disillusion, when he faces the truth that genius and he are strangers, is a sad one.

But if he have good sense, as this man had, he will recognize, then or later, that this is a turning point in his life and that this newly discovered knowledge is a great asset.

For whatever genius may do, the rest must work—and in work lies salvation and satisfaction and success.

It will be strange if some of the first-born of the present year marriages in Wisconsin are not named Eugene or Eugenia.

THE SIMPLE LIFE OF THE RICH.

Isaac Marcosson has a piece in the Saturday Evening Post about how the masters of finance live, and it is noteworthy that with the single exception of the late J. Pierpont Morgan great success in money-making has been accompanied by great simplicity in living.

And this has not been due to parsimony, but to common sense—to the discovery that there is more than one kind of intemperance, that it is possible to "dig your grave with your teeth," that efficiency is no more possible with a gorged stomach than it is with a cargo of whisky aboard.

It is a valuable lesson to those fond of the pleasures of the table, this impressive showing that crackers and milk are more frequently found before the wizards of finance than terrapin and champagne, and that clearness of thought, concentration of mind and fixedness of purpose, and the success that goes with these qualities, are closely related to a system of living of which the keynote is plain food and little of it.

THE DOMESTIC GIRL.

The Seattle Post-Intelligencer brings an interesting story.

Recently a Yakima girl took prizes for making the best bread, the best cake, the best shirt waist and the best plain dress.

No, we shall not give her name and address. Her mail is large enough already. That's the point of the story.

For no sooner did the news of this girl's triumphs in fields little contested by womankind these days get into circulation than she began to get floods and avalanches and torrents of offers of marriage.

They came in person, by telephone and by mail.

And of course she is paying no attention to them—at least not to the long-distance ones, for if she has an inclination to make some man happy with her accomplishments, probably she will have no difficulty in finding him in her immediate circle of acquaintances.

Do you know, there was a time when most girls and women were like the Yakima ones? Perhaps they were not all prize-winners, exactly, but they all took pride if not prizes in good bread and cake and cleverness with the needle.

What the incident chiefly serves to do is to point out that times have changed. Such a girl is now a rarity, though perhaps by no means so scarce a one as current discussion might lead a stranger to believe.

The change is not altogether lost ground. Woman with her horizon limited by her kitchen and her sewing room was not woman as she ought to be, any more than woman is as she ought to be when home is a place to go when there is no other place, and when housekeeping, cooking and sewing are the things she abhors most and practices least.

But is there any need that the enlargement of woman's horizon should mean her permanent divorce from the duties that used to be considered womanly and becoming? That there is no such need is made evident enough by the fact that the modern woman who is the truest success in life often is as competent in her household as she is in her club or in public life. Such women, with the broadening of woman's field, have not deserted the old sphere; they have merely expanded into the new sphere.

Women who have fled the old fields and moved out into new ones may be—we say it with the utmost deference and fear and trembling—just as narrow as those who know no wider field than their grandmothers knew. Maybe narrower, it occurs to us to add as our courage grows.

But if any woman thinks that there are no possibilities remaining in the old fields, she is mistaken. To excel as a housewife isn't to ignore the wider field. To know how to cook and bake and sew is valuable, even to those who are able to employ others to do their cooking and baking and sewing. The starting point of life still must be the home, and the true unit of society still must be the family.

There is nothing to prevent that Yakima girl, if she pleases, from being as active and useful a factor in the world as any girl who couldn't bake a loaf of bread if she had to, and who shudders at the suggestion that she ought to learn. Indeed, there is a good deal in that girl's training to make her much more useful than the other kind of girl, and nothing in it that will hamper her in any field of life.

According to all accounts, there is little difference in the physical outward appearance of a hook worm and a victim of the hook worm.

In the Age of the People.

Detroit Journal: We have read with what labor and anxiety Bellis the Jew was delivered in Kiev from the superstitious accusation of "ritual murder."

We welcomed this deliverance as a sign of the betterment of the age. New proof of how the world moves is given us in a London court. Grand Duke Boris of Russia, a cousin of the czar, sued for libel when an article in Munsey's Magazine charged him with misconduct in the Manchurian army.

In this age of the people even princes must take care of their public reputation. The grand duke sought and received amends from a 15-cent magazine for commoners, published by a commoner, published in a republic.

What court was this? The court of the Lord Chief Justice of England. And who is the Lord Chief Justice of England? Sir Rufus Isaacs the Jew.

What age but the age of the people could have brought all these extremes together? A Russian royal prince must have his honor vindicated against a republican magazine. He receives it from a lofty jurist of London of kindred blood to the humble prisoner of Kiev.

First Ade on the Subject of George

John Ade, George's father, in the banquet number of the Chicago Hoosier.

My first acquaintance with George Ade commenced at a very early period in his history, and the memory of that event is still impressing itself strongly upon my memory.

I came home one day in the early part of the year 1866 expecting as usual to find my midday meal on the table awaiting my arrival, but, to my surprise, on looking at the table in the dining room, no arrangement seemed to have been made for my reception.

Picking up the daily paper, I tried to divert my mind from these strange conditions, but at this time I have no recollection of the contents of that Chicago paper, dated Feb. 9, 1866.

Shortly after one of our neighbor women came into the room where I was sitting and called my attention to something she had lying upon a pillow. She told me it was a boy, and that its name was George. After carefully looking it over I remarked, judging from actions and appearances:

"That boy has not got much experience or knowledge to forget."

However, he remained with us. He put in the first year or year and a half in the honorable agricultural business of milking, thus getting a fair start in the profession proposed for him by his parents, that of a farmer. At the expiration of that time he seemed to lose an interest in agricultural pursuits, and as he advanced in years this disposition seemed to become more and more manifest.

One day when he had failed to fill the wood box, as he had been requested to do by the older boys of the family, and was asked by them what he expected to make of himself with the disposition he was showing to shirk honest labor, his reply was that he could hardly make up his mind as to what he was going to make of himself, but thought it would be either a preacher or a clown in a circus. He could not yet tell which it would be.

One great trouble with him seemed to be his failure to properly distinguish animals upon the farm, especially the difference between a cow and a horse. This was finally disposed of by the boys telling him time and again that cows had horns and horses did not. This seemed to work like a charm until the system of dehorning the cows came into vogue, when his old condition of ignorance took full possession of him.

As a result it was determined to send him to an agricultural college, and Purdue was selected. For some three or four years he was supposed to be fitting himself for the great and honorable position of a scientific farmer, but if he made any marked advancement along that line the records and public reports of that celebrated school have not yet made it public.

About the time or shortly after George finished his studies at Purdue there was quite a stir in the world, especially in Chicago. It was found that many things which had heretofore been considered worthless contained ingredients of much value to the world, and the idea presented itself that possibly the same conditions might hold true with young men as well as with cotton seed and coal oil and the like in discovering things of value in the by-products in these articles, and that persons of no value in an agricultural community might in the varied conditions of a large city be found to have some undiscovered qualities when placed in different surroundings.

Accordingly George, in company with some others in like condition, were shipped to Chicago with instruction to find if possible some use for them, and if so to keep them, otherwise to ship them back at our expense.

George was placed in the office of one of the leading newspapers of the city, and for the first five or six years he put in most of his time on the streets of the town.

Becoming somewhat tired of this he next assisted Noah Webster in making some additions to his unabridged.

Strange as it may seem, shortly after that his early training along agricultural lines began to show symptoms of development in the purchase of real estate and the development of a love for some of the conditions of a farmer's life, such as playing golf, writing out receipts for rent paid by his tenants and earning his bread by the sweat of another man's brow.

One fact is, however, that it was a fortunate move when we made that shipment to Chicago, for instead of being waifs cast about and useless to society they are now useful and valued citizens in the community.

The Will Makes the Way.

It was a noble Roman,
In Rome's imperial day,
Who heard a coward croaker
Before the castle say:
"They're safe in such a fortress—
There is no way to shake it."
"Oh—on!" exclaimed the hero,
"I'll find a way or make it."

Is fame your aspiration?
His path is steep and high!
In vain he seeks her temple,
Content to gaze and sigh;
The shining throne is waiting,
But he alone can take it
Who says, with Roman firmness,
"I'll find a way or make it."

Is learning your ambition?
There is no royal road;
Alike the peer and peasant
Must climb to her abode;
Who feels the thirst of knowledge
In Helicon may slake it,
If he has still the Roman will
To "find a way or make it."

Are riches worth the getting?
They must be bravely sought;
With wishing and with fretting
The boon cannot be bought;
But only he can take it
Who says with Roman courage,
"I'll find a way or make it."
—John G. Saxe.

The Stranger.

Atlanta Georgian: A stranger knocked at a man's door and told him of a fortune to be made.

"Um," said the man. "It appears that considerable effort will be involved."

"Oh, yes," said the stranger; "you will pass many sleepless nights and toilsome days."

"Um," said the man, "and who are you?"

"I am called Opportunity."

"Um," said the man, "you call yourself Opportunity, but you look like Hard Work to me."

And he slammed the door.

An Encounter

From The Paris Mercury.

It is not a practice of the Scrap Bag to preach sermons or moralize at the expense of friends, but the pathos in the life story of this man is compelling in its heartbreak.

His will power is gone, a hopeless struggle is ended, and drearily, day by day, even physical initiative gone, he faces the inevitable—has quit, the story says, and given up in a despair that cannot be shaken and spends his time indoors.

Fifteen years ago he began writing for newspapers, and that which he wrote was characterized by a certain crude force, speaking a high order of intellectual power, untrained but effective, which he had inherited from a good father—a father whom he loved and who loved him in turn.

He was a kind and thoughtful son and back in his nature hidden somewhere, were many beautiful things. He loved good books and sweet sounding verse, and every week, in his paper—a thing unusual in a country newspaper—he reprinted poetry of the kind that appeals to a healthy human emotion, showing his secret loves. Twitted, his pen in those days took on a fine, sharp, wholesome savor.

But on a day the words began to halt and his sentences to twist and stumble. In the fairy chambers of his brain a murderer was stalking, and the children who dwelt there were besubtly poisoned one by one. Ideas escaped him and words eluded, or, when they did come, staggered over one another in pitiable disorder. Sometimes the murderer slept and something of the old sledge-hammer force returned. But the intervals grew less frequent and the struggle of a once virile soul more feeble. The outcome was never in doubt.

The dreams that drink once intensified it finally shriveled to dead ash with never an ember. Death came, removing the aged father, the last crutch of love which he had to lean upon—and now this pitifully heartbreaking thing.

Leaning over a bar in a big hotel in a distant city many years ago the writer looked into the black and mellow eyes of the finest soul and the most commanding political genius Missouri has produced in fifty years and heard this injunction, which now seems to have been prophetic.

"Don't drink. In the chambers of your brain are fancies hauntingly beautiful, filament on filament of delicately spun dreams, frailer than autumn cobwebs. You are cunning with word colors, deft in thought and in imagery. Keep it—keep it all to the day of rendering. Whisky will eat out the fine filament like acid and tumble your fairy-house in ruins. It will blur every beautiful image and rob you of your cunning. Fame, power, position, money, all these are but little, even if dribbled away over a bar; but to lose this most priceless thing God gives a man, the power to dream, the grace to aspire, the impulse for beauty; to plunder brain and heart of their tapestries, and paintings, and bric-a-brac, to leave in his soul only the empty echoings of that which can never return—that's the real tragedy of drink. I speak out of the most painful realization which life has brought me."

The man who uttered this eloquent injunction was himself poet and politician, dreamer and lawyer, bookworm and business man. He is dead.

You young fellow there, with a mind woven of gossamer threads, so fine it is, remember it.

"When a Feller Needs a Friend"

Dr. W. A. Evans in Chicago Tribune: The message of a Good Little Devil is: "All the children in the world have asked me to speak for them tonight and all the grown-up children, too; the men who have failed, who are too weak, too dumb with sorrow to speak for themselves; all the bewildered, the neglected, the terrified, the forgotten—all have asked me to speak for them—do not be unkind.

"You may punish little children with severity and hatred, but never so will you win them to be good. No; the hands that are holding these old world weapons are growing feebler and feebler every day. They are dying—they are dying—they are dead; and love is coming into the hearts of men."

A German philosopher once said that there was one question he would like to ask the Sphinx: "Is the world friendly?"

President Emeritus Eliot of Harvard, in outlining the religion of the future, said the chief motives will be love toward God and brotherliness to man. It will teach a universal good will by which men will do their duty, and at the same time promote their own happiness. It will be a religion of service. It will foster powerfully a virtue which is comparatively new in the world—the love of truth and passion for seeking it, and truth will progressively make men free. Love and hope will be thoroughly grounded and on efficient, serviceable, visible, actual and concrete deeds and conduct. It will strive to prevent as well as relieve.

The heart that goes out to a fellow when "a feller needs a friend" has made a permanent alliance. There is a line below which every "feller" needs a friend. Above that line some do; below it all do. It may be the fault of the "feller" that he is below the line. It may not be.

Wherever the fault may be, there he is. So long as he is there he is helpless himself. A friend may be able to lift him above the line. The friend may have to do all the lifting or most of it.

Even so, when he gets above the line the chance is the "feller" will turn in and lift from that point on. At any rate, he who helped will be helped.

Is this a health story. I should say so.

The Discarded Tree.

Dismantled and rejected,—cast away
Amid discarded things, the Christmas tree,
With none to note its fragrance, or to pay
A tribute to its former symmetry.

A bit of gaudy tinsel to it clings,
Defying all the stress of snow and storm.
A relic of the pretty, vanished things
That lately added beauty to its form.

How like the sorry human castaway,
Who 'mid the dross of crime and viciousness
Retains a shred of good, that makes us stay
The ever ready curse, and bids us bless.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

The Fine Art of Making Lemonade.

A frivolous verse from the funny column hints at an eminently useful philosophy. It is commended to all to whom life brings not just the most desired gifts.

Turn defeat into victory.
Don't let your courage fade,
And if you get a "lemon"
Just make the lemon-aid.

Neither sages nor poets can bestow more valuable advice. To be able to transform yellow and sour facts of experience into wholesome elements of comfort and power is moral victory of high degree.

Life for average people would be a simpler matter if it could be rid of hampering and embarrassing restrictions. With the field apparently clear and a fair goal in sight obstacles spring up overnight to thwart our plans. Good fortune arrives with misfortune tagging at its heels in a way to spoil everything. The fly in the apothecary's ointment makes the whole mass unsavory.

Moreover, we often select the "lemons" ourselves. How our human judgment goes awry! How many a game proves not worth the candle! The object of strenuous pursuit appears as a tawdry thing on possession and a closer view. Many a man has built a house or bought mining stock or secured a coveted job only to find that what glittered like gold was really brass when he got it to the assay office. Instead of gaining wings to fly with he has gathered weights to carry.

Much depends on the cast of mind with which we survey misfortunes. Under no other circumstances are hope and courage and a certain buoyant ingenuity so requisite. Crying gets one nothing but a red nose. But half the battle of life is fought when determination is aroused to make even the sourest "lemon" aid.

The knock that has not a potential boost concealed behind its hard knuckles has hardly yet been invented. You would expect that to be true in a world organized as we believe this one is, not on the principle of hate or of chance, but of love. A high authority has said, "All things work together for good to them that love God." It remains for the average man actually to prove the apostolic word by recognizing the good in whatsoever dismal situation he may confront. Nor is the search such a hopeless one as the pessimists would have us believe. A month in bed with a broken leg may start one on a course of reading that lends a touch of culture to his whole later life. A failure in business may reveal a man's points of strength as well as of weakness and set him on the high road to success.

Old Thomas Fuller, relating his experiences in England's civil war, says quaintly: "I have observed that towns which have been casually burned have been built again more beautiful than before mud walls, afterward made of stone; and roofs, formerly but thatched, afterward advanced to be tiled." And he adds the pious hope concerning his own fiery trial that "my renewed soul, which grows out of the ashes of the olden man, be a more firm fabric and stronger structure."

I sometimes think that never blows so red
The rose, as where some buried Caesar bled.

The Persian poet's surmise had become almost an axiom of experience. The sacrifices, disappointments and hardships of life have yielded the sweetest flowers of song and the richest fruits of achievement—but only in courageous lives. For only brave spirits can meet the challenge of difficulty without flinching.

SCOOP THE CUB REPORTER — Scoop Has Sure Gone to the Dawgs — By "HOP"

TEN MONTHS OF WILSON

By SAVOYARD

Washington. Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Measured by what has been accomplished in the field of practical economic statecraft, the less than ten months it has been in power. I confidently assert, and with all the mental and patriotic intrepidity I can muster I am ready to maintain, that in neither hemisphere has the administration of Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States, been equaled or even rivaled, in that behalf. The night he signed the currency bill Mr. Wilson made an address, and it took only a few minutes and embraced about 1,000 words, that "calmed the waves," and was notice to all honest business and every honest private citizen that the Democratic administration was its and his friend, and in so far as it was given by law for president and cabinet and congress these should have all encouragement to go forth and obey the primal law—in the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread.

I do believe I could write a hundred chapters on the speeches and messages of Woodrow Wilson since he has been president. I never heard him speak, but I was present when he read his "letter of acceptance" at Seagirt, Aug. 7, 1912. He is no declaimer; he cannot scrape the sky; he cannot make a rainbow; he cannot set you afire. But he can do more and better than this, than these, than all—he can set you a-thinking, and that makes the orator.

There is your orator. The next day millions of Americans, heads of families in this country, read the address of Woodrow Wilson when he signed the currency bill, and the dullest of them understood it, accepted it. The children of privilege also read it, and woe to them if they misconstrued it. It just meant this—"Every man shall have an equal chance in the lottery of life, so far as this government is concerned, if my ideas are accepted." Nobody shall "scrouge," as we boys used to say when I went to school in an old field in old Kentucky a long time ago with grand old Alec Ford for teacher. I'm going to tell you about him some day.

And that is the only way to do it. It is possible—very likely—that in the age of Louis XI France could not have managed it that way; England would have been all at sea when Henry II was king if the preachments of Woodrow Wilson had been accepted by the government, but ye have advanced, mankind has become partially civilized, and the time is come when every man, whatever his estate, shall see his dependence on every other man and none shall despite another.

Beautifully is it expressed in the greatest literature of the Bible:

"The envy also of Ephraim shall depart and the adversaries of Judah shall be cut off; Ephraim shall not envy Judah, and Judah shall not vex Ephraim."

If that be not a fair interpretation of the president's address, then I am at a loss to find what he means.

They said he was not fit for politics because he was a school-master; they said he was not fit for office because he was a doctrinaire; they said he was not fit for governor because he was ignorant of what is called "practical" politics; they said he should not be nominated at Baltimore because he had no experience; they said he should not be elected because he would split and wreck the Democratic party; they said that his writings would ruin him, and one scamp, who did not know that he was misquoting Holy Writ, said that he was out of the thing and cited, "O, that mine enemy had written a book!" The fellow had never read Job, or he would have quoted "adversary" instead of "enemy."

They got out a perverted and emasculated edition—a villainous publication—of some of Woodrow Wilson's books. This was done by as precious a scoundrel as ever kissed the lips of Mammon for he has millions. They assumed to be for the most lovable man in political life our politics has produced, even Champ Clark. They went to Baltimore with but one mission and that to beat Woodrow Wilson with any man, sage or simple, plutocrat or hobo, that could be mustered.

It was the greatest political assembly ever gathered and the American public was there—a greater than all of them together. One week after the first convocation Woodrow Wilson was nominated.

Then after Wilson was elected they said it was unspeakable and unthinkable that he should nominate Mr. Bryan for secretary of state. When they found out that he was resolved on that, they said that Bryan would go into the cabinet and wreck the administration ere the advent of dog days.

They said then that they couldn't pass a tariff bill; but we did; then they said we couldn't pass a currency bill, but we have.

They said the tariff bill we passed would wreck the country, but it didn't; afterward they said the currency bill would precipitate a panic; but it hasn't.

"And we saw three unclean spirits like frogs come out of the mouth of the dragon, and out of the mouth of the beast, and out of the mouth of the false prophet."

Now, my boys, you college chaps, who write me so frequently asking about this, that and t'other, I would admonish every one of you to study the books of Woodrow Wilson and copy his character as nearly as you can. Absorb his preachments. If you are fit for the job that will make a statesman of you.

WORKING TO GIVE MINNESOTA A SUITABLE EXHIBIT AT THE NORWEGIAN CENTENNIAL

JOHN J. MOE, Treasurer.

J. A. O. PREUS, General Director.

GOVERNOR A. O. EBERHART.

The movement started by Governor Eberhart and State Insurance Commissioner J. A. O. Preus for participation by Minnesota in the Norwegian Centennial exposition to be held at Christiania next May has assumed proportions far beyond the hopes of its promoters.

The St. Paul Association of Commerce, realizing the importance of the Centennial and what it means to have Minnesota represented, has contributed $350 and may yet double that amount, according to a report from that city. A similar appropriation has been promised by the Minneapolis Civic and Commerce association. Next Monday Mr. Preus will come to Duluth for a similar campaign among local commercial organizations. It is planned to raise $20,000 for the purpose of seeing Minnesota properly represented.

Where North Dakota and other Northwestern states started in with substantial appropriations provided by their respective legislatures, Minnesota Norwegians interested in the exhibition have been compelled to go down in their own pockets to meet the cost. The movement was started several weeks ago and at a meeting called in St. Paul by Governor Eberhart and Mr. Preus, hundreds of Norwegians from all parts of the state were in attendance.

Directing Campaign.

Mr. Preus is the general director of the campaign for contributions and the preparation of the exhibit. Dr. J. S. Johnson of St. Paul is the manager and is assisting Mr. Preus. The other officers chosen at the St. Paul meeting include John J. Moe of this city, who was elected treasurer and who will have charge of the funds. Hon. A. E. Rice of Wilmar is president and Ludwig Arctander of Minneapolis is secretary.

It is expected that by March the exhibit, which is now being prepared, will be en route to Christiania and its size and scope will be equal of any of the Northwestern states participating. Dr. Johnson, who is compiling the history of Minnesota and the part those of Norwegian birth and descent have had in the upbuilding and progress of this state, has his work almost ready for the press. It will contain many illustrations of interest and of a historical nature.

Fully 1,000 photographs and pictures of Minnesota men and prominent scenes in Minnesota will be included in the exhibit. They will be mounted and arranged on mechanically moved screens.

Mr. Moe of this city, who is treasurer of the committee in charge of the contribution campaign, said yesterday that solicitors are working in all sections of the state and that their reports the past few weeks are very satisfactory. Mr. Moe has no doubt but what the desired amount of $20,000 will be raised before March 1.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERIES IN THE ISLAND OF CRETE

Four Thousand Years Ago Parisian Styles Were Worn By Women of Crete--Houses and Palaces Modern in Appearance--Cretans Invented the Written Word.

Washington, Jan. 10.—Four thousand years ago, the women of Crete were wearing Parisian styles, with big hats, high-heeled shoes and tight-laced corsets; the Cretans had built houses and methods of sanitation that far surpassed anything known in modern civilization until the last fifty years, and they had invented the written word, although historians, until recent discoveries, had conferred this distinction upon the Phoenicians, who did not appear in modern history until a thousand years later. The man who has helped to cause a revision of history by his archaelogical discoveries is Rev. James Baikie, who, in a recent communication to Gilbert H. Grosvenor, director of the National Geographic society of Washington, D. C., narrates the wonderful discoveries that have been made in the Island of Crete in the Aegean sea, ceded to Greece by Turkey at the conclusion of the recent Balkan war. The writer even goes so far as to declare it possible that Crete was the actual stage for events that have reached us in the shape of the old Greek legends.

"It has been in Crete that exploration and discovery have led to the most striking illustration of many of the statements in the legends and traditions, have made it practically certain that much of what used to be considered mere romantic fable represents, with, of course, many embellishments of fancy, a good deal of historic fact," writes the Rev. Baikie. He tells of the discovery of the site of the great palace of Minos, at Knossos in the labyrinth of which roamed the blood-thirsty Minotaur.

Script of the Minoans.

"The discovery which will doubtless prove to be of greater importance than any other, was that of large numbers of clay tablets incised with inscriptions in the unknown script of the Minoans. One deposit contained tablets written in hieroglyphic; but the rest were in linear script, a highly developed form, with regular divisions between the words and for elegance scarcely surpassed by any later form of writing. The old Cretan tradition that the Phoenicians did not invent the letters of the alphabet, but only changed those already existing, is amply justified, for this seems to be precisely what they did. Unquestionably it was a great and important service which was thus rendered by them; but, all the same, the beginnings of European writing must be traced to their predecessors, the Minoans, and the clay tablets of Knossos, Phaestos and Hagia Triada are the lineal ancestors of Europe."

Rev. Baikie describes the dress of the women of those times from the miniature frescoes found in the palace, as follows:

What the Ladies Wore.

"Here were groups of ladies wonderfully bedizened with costumes resembling more closely the evening dress of our day than the stately robes of classic Greece, with their severe lines. In their very low-necked dresses, with puffed sleeves, excessively slender waists and flounced skirts, and their hair elaborately dressed and curled, they were as far as possible removed from our ideas of Ariadne and her maids of honor, and might have stepped out of a modern-fashion plate. If the dress of the male populace was simple, that of the female was the reverse. An elaborate and tight fitting bodice, cut excessively lot at the neck, covered, or effected to cover, the upper part of the body, which is so wasp-waisted as to suggest universal tight-lacing. From the broad belt hung down bell-shaped skirts, sometimes flounced throughout their entire length, sometimes richly embroidered. In some cases the skirt, below a small panier or apron, is composed of different colored materials combined in a chequer pattern distantly resembling tartan. One fresco represents a curious and elaborate form of dress, consisting apparently of wide trousers of blue material dotted with red crosses on a light ground and most wodnerfully frilled and vandyked. Diaphanous material was sometimes used for part of the covering of the upper part of the body. Hairdressing was very elaborate, and above the wonderful erection of curls and ringlets which crowned their heads, the Minoan ladies wore hats of quite modern type, and fairly comparable in size even with those of the present day. A seal from Mycenae, representing three ladies adorned with accordion-plaited skirts, shows that heels of a fair height were sometimes worn on the shoes."

Wonderful Drainage Systems.

Houses and palaces quite modern in appearance, with wonderful drainage systems, "which it would be hard to match in Europe until a period as late as the middle of the nineteenth century or our era;" the Minoan kitchen, "almost as well equipped for its special functions as the kitchen of the present day," and the carpenter's tool kit, containing saws, chisels for stone and for wood, awls, nails, files and axes, "which resemble in shape the tools of today so closely that they furnish one of the strongest links between the first great civilization of Europe and our own," are described.

That the Minoan empire was overwhelmed by some horrible catastrophe, from which it never recovered, is shown by the condition of the ruins being uncovered. Everywhere there are traces of fire on the walls and a sudden interruption of quiet and luxurious life, says Rev. Baikie.

The value of the Turkish tobacco exported to the United States increased from $3,902,643 in 1910 and $8,620,324 in 1911 to $10,010,952 in 1912.

DIRTIEST DISEASE IN THE WORLD

The Ravages of Typhoid and How to Check Them.

By ARI MOLL.

(Exclusive Service The Survey Press Bureau.)

"No, sir," the farmer shook his head definitely. "This here law is none of my business. Let the city folks that is afeard of catching fever in milk pull for it.

"I have lived on this here farm for twenty-five years, and we have yet to know what the ague or a headache amounts to. Look at them strapping boys of mine and this rosy-cheeked gal. We have got too much of this sanitation business anyhow, and I ain't going to bother with this milk bill of yours."

The sanitary bill pending before the assembly was defeated by two votes. What did the rich proprietor care for it? As he had said, it was none of his business. He had never had any sickness on his farm.

A few years afterwards he had occasion to change his mind. A dairyman who supplied milk to the neighboring city went on an excursion to another part of the state. Three weeks after his return, he was taken sick with typhoid. His wife ministered to his needs and, forgetting to disinfect her hands, attended to bottling the milk.

Two weeks later the city was in the grip of a typhoid epidemic. To escape infection a Negro left the city and asked for work on the rich farmer's place. Presently he developed typhoid. Then the farmer's daughter and two sons were stricken. All three died. Typhoid from the city had reached the country.

Typhoid from the country reaches cities through families who return after their short vacation, with only pleasant memories of beautiful scenery, balmy air, a good table, and some agreeable acquaintance among the guests. When typhoid—an unnoticed guest—has done its work then they reproach themselves for not finding out whether the water supply of that resort was properly guarded, whether the milk was safe, whether the sources of ice were above suspicion, and whether the history and habits of the help employed were such as to offer protection to the guests.

By filth alone, by the worst and most dangerous kind of filth, can the germs that cause the disease be spread. Typhoid in a state, or a city, or a farm indicates some sanitary defect, and as Prof. Sedgwick, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology has put it, defective sanitation is but another name for defective civilization.

"We are," Dr. Stiles says, "seven times as dirty as the Germans and ten times dirtier than the Swiss."

The typhoid death rate per 100,000 population during recent years has been as follows: Fifteen in Australia, 12 in Cuba, 9 in Belgium, 8 in France, 7 in Ireland, 6 in England and Scotland, 5 in Holland and Prussia, 4 in Germany, Sweden and Switzerland and 3 in Norway and Denmark.

In curious and somewhat shocking contrast, we had in the twenty-one states which form "the registration area" of this country 23.5 deaths per 100,000 in 1910.

Typhoid is usually disseminated by means of impure water, milk or food, and sometimes by flies; but we must not forget that, as Koch said, "there is no other source of infection of typhoid than man." It is fellow-creatures of ours who are responsible for its spread.

Dr. North has told of an Italian laborer who, while working in a camp in New York, caught typhoid. No doctor, no health officer was there to tell his friends what precautions to take. They were near a brook which furnished five villages with water. The neglect of one man brought about an outbreak of typhoid fever which caused not less than forty cases and seven deaths.

On July 29, 1913, a young man, sitting against the water tank on the upper deck of the Mississippi steamer G. W. Hill suddenly heard water running into the tank when the boat was near, if not on, the sewer outlets of the city of Davenport, Iowa. The day was very hot and the passengers helped themselves liberally to this water, although many noticed its turbidity and others found trash and small sticks in it. The result was that 600 of the 1,200 excursionists from Clinton, Iowa, on that day had either diarrhoea or typhoid.

Typhoid is an every-day problem only where it is allowed to become one. In fact, some of our cities have accomplished, if not as much as the best European cities, at least as much as some cities across the ocean. It is a pity that this roll of honor should be so short. Paterson, for instance, could boast in 1910 of 7.1 deaths for every 100,000 inhabitants; Chicago, where 174 people out of every 100,000 were snatched by typhoid in 1891, has been slowly but steadily lowering its mortality until it now approaches European figures; while Bridgeport had in 1910 the distinction of being the solitary American city with more than 100,000 inhabitants having a typhoid rate of less than 5.

But Baltimore, Minneapolis, Kansas City and Omaha had more typhoid in 1910 than in 1900-4. Something is undoubtedly wrong somewhere, when Providence had in 1910 twice as much typhoid as it had in 1907, and Milwaukee has seen its death rate increase from 13.1 in 1904 to 45.7 in 1910. The death rate from typhoid has in a number of states, as Colorado, Indiana, Maine and Maryland, either remained stationary during the last three or four years or else actually gone up, as in Vermont, Michigan and Wisconsin.

We have in this country a national association for the prevention of tuberculosis. A similar association has been organized recently to combat cancer. The time seems ripe for the creation of a league against typhoid fver. Its membership should comprise the entire nation, and its creed announced in a few lines:

Typhoid fever is a disease of dirt.
Unclean habits cause typhoid fever.
Be, therefore, clean; and help others to be clean.

It is the habit of our people to think only in scareheads. Important questions are ignored until they loom big as mountains in the public eye. Not long ago a vague rumor of outrages suffered by a few Americans in Mexico was enough to make people ask for immediate war. A war against an enemy which attacks every year hundreds of thousands of our people and kills thousands of them would be more justified. For every life saved from typhoid, it has been proved that two other lives are saved. A campaign against typhoid is therefore an assault on every ailment that preys on man.

HOW TO PERMANENTLY GET RID OF CORNS

Many readers have written me about a remedy for their corns. I shall repeat here the substance of my advice to a bad and chronic sufferer. Oftentimes the shoes must be changed, and the physician must decide this. The following will help very promptly:

You say you have tried everything. Because you are still in trouble shows that the CORE HAS NOT BEEN REMOVED. UNTIL THIS CORE IS REMOVED YOU WILL CONTINUE TO BE ANNOYED.

Do this: SOAK YOUR FOOT IN PLAIN HOT WATER FOR HALF AN HOUR EVERY NIGHT AT BEDTIME. Then pick away at the corn. It will gradually tear loose, and after six or eight soakings you can get a good hold of the core.

I mean ONE-HALF AN HOUR'S SOAK IN HOT WATER.

Remember this. If in spite of the most patient care you still are unable to get the core, my advice would be to have it eradicated by a simple V-shaped incision done under strict aseptic precautions by your local physician at the hospital.

This may mean considerable bother and some expense, but it is safe. It is sure. It is likewise going to give you future comfort. Cut out the felt shoes and the "walking in your stockings" which you have been doing.

GET THAT CORE ERADICATED.

TWO METHODS OF VARICOCELE.

Hardly a day passes but what my mail contains one or two letters of inquiry asking for information on how to obtain a cure for varicocele. The writer is most always a young man. His letter is about as follows: "I have discovered that I am affected with varicocele. The more I think of it the more it worries me. Some of my friends say it is a strain and that an operation is necessary for a cure. I am positive it is varicocele, and want your advice as to the best way to obtain relief."

Varicocele is very common among young men until they get married. Then it disappears entirely. It is nothing serious and has no importance attached to it, except what you yourself are continually giving it by everlastingly thinking and worrying about it. Varicocele might be likened to a bugaboo, for it actually scares folks into making them believe it is something alarming.

You have two avenues open to you.

One is to deliberately determine that you are going to FORGET IT. This will give you some peace of mind, but will require a little determination on your part; but it is a simple remedy, if you have the nerve to tackle it and stick to your resolution.

The other method is to have yourself operated upon and have the varicose veins excised. To cut them out will remove the slightly dilated mass of veins in the left side of your scrotum, and if this knowledge will give you any greater peace of mind than you can win by the FORGET IT attitude, I would advise you to have them removed by an operation.

Good luck to you.

The last week has been an interesting one for Duluthians, social and club affairs mingling to make the week a full one for those who are still at home. Many travelers have packed up and left for warmer parts and the younger people are resting from the strenuous affairs of the holiday weeks. The King's Daughters' teas every afternoon at Miss Jane Listman's shop have afforded an opportunity for informal entertaining and little groups drop in each afternoon for tea in front of the big grate fire. These teas will be continued until after the first of February.

Monday afternoon the Drama league gave an interesting tea at the home of Mrs. W. N. Ryerson, 2617 East Third street, which was attended by a large number of the members and their friends, Miss Rosalie Thornton of Boston and Miss Schmied giving an artistic program of piano numbers and musical readings.

Tuesday an interesting event of the day was the morning meeting of the study class of the Drama league held at the sun parlor of the Spalding hotel, with Miss Rachel St. Clair reading "Disraeli" and Miss Elizabeth Olcott giving an analysis of the play. The meeting of the Bishop's club was another club event of the day which interested many and Mrs. Arthur Hatch received at a pretty reception at her home from 3 to 5 o'clock for her guest, Miss Phillips of Winnipeg.

Musicale.

One of the most important social events of the week was the musicale at which Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hugh Kelley of 606 East Second street entertained on Wednesday evening at their home. Another event of Wednesday was the drama tea given at the Glass Block tearooms in the afternoon by the Twentieth Century club at which music and talks on stage craft made up an interesting program.

Mrs. James D. Morrison was hostess at a pretty reception on Thursday afternoon for Mrs. W. H. Gurnee, a bride of this winter, introducing her to about 100 guests.

Friday there were several affairs of interest. In the morning Mrs. E. L. Schmied gave the last of her series of lectures on musical subjects at her home, 2218 East First street and the drama class of the Twentieth Century club heard an interesting paper on the French dramatist, Brieux, by Mrs. C. E. Wallace and commenced the reading of "Damaged Goods."

Miss Isabel Jacobi was hostess to about forty little dancers this afternoon at Prof. Leo's dancing academy, a pretty afternoon dancing party, chaperoned by Mrs. Ernest Jacobi, Mrs. A. C. Weiss, Mrs. G. E. Warren and Mrs. J. B. Cotton.

The Bishop's club held its afternoon meeting for this month today at the clubrooms in Cathedral hall and a delightful musical program was given under the arrangement of Mrs. Leo A. Ball. A social hour with tea followed.

DULUTH ACTRESS WARMLY PRAISED FOR WORK IN EMOTIONAL ROLE

MISS LAURA FRANKENFIELD.

MISS LAURA FRANKENFIELD, Duluth's actress, who is starring this season in Margaret De Land's play, "The Awakening of Helena Richie," has been receiving the most favorable notices in Southern cities where she is playing at the present time. A recent expression in regard to her work from the Mason City Times follows:

"Laura Frenkenfield, who had the leading role of Helena, is not a stranger to people in Mason City. A wonderful career is before her and she is now one of the leading younger emotional actresses. Miss Frankenfield's ability to completely hide her own strong personality and simply be the character she represents is a rare gift."

Another critic writes: "We feel that Miss Frankenfield is not long for the Mid-West time, for when her ability is once known she will be called to a higher and broader field, where she will draw bigger pay, but where, as an actress, she will be loved and appreciated less."

Steinway

¶ The possession of the world's best is none too good for anyone who loves music, for whether you play, sing or are content to listen, remember that a piano is purchased for a lifetime's service and employment.

¶ Hence, in the choice of a piano do not consider the claims of any that must acknowledge a "superior."

¶ The Steinway Piano has no equal—it is in a class all its own. With its purchase goes the assurance that you own the world's leading piano.

¶ Two of the world's most renowned pianists make the following statements in regard to the Steinway.

Messrs. Steinway & Sons

Gentlemen: Before leaving your hospitable shore, I must convey to you my heartiest thanks for the beautiful Steinway upright piano that you placed in my private car.

In view of the fact that in my recent concert tournee we covered over 22,000 miles, and that we went through many changes of climate, from the most severe cold to tropical heat, I was surprised beyond words that this little piano did not show the slightest change in action, mechanism and tone under the trying ordeal. The beauty of the tone, the power of its resonance, and the perfection of its mechanism were a source of daily delight to me, as I had the instrument in constant use practising for my concert. Sincerely yours,

I. J. Paderewski

Messrs. Steinway & Sons

Gentlemen: Through my experience as a pianist I am thoroughly familiar with your magnificent Concert Grand Pianos, but had not much occasion to examine your smaller Grands. When at my recent call at Steinway Hall, you asked me to try your Miniature Grand, I was surprised and delighted at the result. The beautiful liquid tones of the treble, the singing and entrancing quality of the middle section, and the fullness, roundness and sonority of the bass were such a revelation to me that I immediately bought a Miniature to give as the most appropriate present to my best friend in New York. I have since had opportunity to play and test this remarkable instrument at my friend's house, and the more I have tried it the better I like it.

I congratulate you most heartily on this latest triumph in the art of piano building, for you have certainly achieved what you have striven for in this little Grand, and that is the reproduction of your Concert Grand "en Miniature." Sincerely yours,

Josef Hofmann

TWO TALENTED LOCAL ARTISTS AT NEXT MATINEE MUSICALE RECITAL

MISS VALBORG GUNDERSON, Violinist.

MISS SENTA ERD, Soprano.

MRS. STEPHEN H. JONES, assisted by Mrs. D. H. Day has arranged a program of unusual attractiveness with which the Matinee Musicale will reopen formalities of the new year, Monday at 3 o'clock. The program, which will be held at the Masonic temple, will be given by two of Duluth's most promising young musicians, Miss Senta Erd and Miss Valborg Gunderson, and after the cessation of club activities for the holiday season it is expected that there will be a large and enthusiastic audience of members and their guests.

Success in Europe.

Miss Erd has brought home some very flattering press notices from Europe, a compliment awarded only to the few who possess that rare combination of talent and application. The following notices also include one from the Minneapolis Tribune, which is a comment on her Duluth appearance this season and also one printed after her appearance with the St. Paul Symphony orchestra.

Rosenheimer Anzeiger: "Miss Erd, the pupil of the famous opera singer, Bianca Bianchi, was engaged to sing at the big orchestral concert of the season. Her brilliant voice instantly won the hearts of her appreciative audience and the big Freischutz aria was a treat from beginning to end. The Orchester Verein presented Miss Erd with a huge laurel wreath in compliment to her successful appearance."

St. Paul Pioneer Press: "Miss Erd's singing is full of dramatic quality—emotional, rich in color and capable of much expression. One cannot help but feel that Miss Erd has a future well equipped by nature."

(Appearance with St. Paul Symphony orchestra.)

Minneapolis Tribune: "Evidently another young musician to be added to the splendid galaxy of Minnesota artists who are achieving fame in the musical world is Senta Erd, operatic soprano. Miss Erd has been abroad for three years studying at Munich with the famous opera singer, Bianca Bianchi. Though very young, Miss Erd has had numerous opportunities abroad and it is very possible that she will return to Europe in the near future. Miss Erd recently made a deep impression with a song recital in Duluth. Besides being a promising singer, she is also like her mother an accomplished pianist and violinist."

St. Paul Composer.

The Irish love song on the program is a composition of Dr. George Arthur Geist, a nephew of Mrs. Erd, and a successful physician of St. Paul to whom music is a pastime and recreation. He is a violinist and pianist of more than ordinary talent. The following is the program in full:

Poems ..... Drdla
"Cradle Song" ..... Schubert-Ehlman
Romance D minor concerto ..... Wieniawski
Miss Valborg Gunderson.
"Die Lorelei' ..... Liszt
"Der Nusbaum" ..... Schumann
"Cacilie" ..... Strauss
Miss Senta Erd.
"Souvenir de Moscow' ..... Wieniawski
Miss Valborg Gunderson.
"Spirit Flower' ..... Tipton
"Irish Love Song" ..... Geist
"Yesterday" ..... Spross
Miss Senta Erd.
Accompanist, Mrs. Fred G. Bradbury.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Train Your Sons in Your Ideals.

Sometimes when I hear women holding forth from the tops of soap boxes, the tonneaux of motor cars and the platforms of women's clubs, and elsewhere, as to what the vote is to accomplish for women in the changing of man's attitude toward them, my heart is a little sickened.

Let me tell you why.

It isn't because I do not believe in the vote or what its attainment means to women, because I do. It is because I hear so much useless, idle theory and see so little active effort toward the end that is to make men a finer creature and raise woman's common weal. For all this talk, I cannot be blinded to the fact that many women are neglecting the golden opportunity to develop the better type of man in their own homes.

It doesn't seem to me that the vote or any amount of force that women can compel by its means can have or should have, half the power of a mother's training to make men good.

Women have always had their sons, and it has ever been in their power to a greater or lesser degree—according to the strength and the ideals of the woman—to instill certain principles of right living. The average woman teaches her son to respect his sister, herself and immediate female relatives, but unconsciously or otherwise she has for the most part failed to impart that reverence and respect for all womankind which is the finest heritage a man can have from his mother and the highest tribute a woman can pay her sex.

We shall talk indefinitely and to little or no purpose about one moral standard for all, either from the top of a soap box or the center of an oriental carpet, if we are permitting the boy at home to grow up after the manner commonly accepted today as the man's standard, in spite of the agitation against these false ideas.

As effectual as the vote will be in bringing about a better condition for women, and I am not sure but a good bit more so, will be the determination on every mother's part to bring her sons up to the same regard for women as a whole as she inspires in him for herself, his sisters and the few who come under his direct protection.

MRS. YOUNG DECLINES.

Chicago Woman Unable to Speak at Civic Banquet.

WORD has been received from Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of schools at Chicago, Ill., in response to an invitation from the Woman's council in Duluth to be one of the speakers at the annual civic banquet of that organization which will be held Monday, Jan. 19, at the Spalding hotel at 6:30 o'clock, that she will be unable to accept. Her letter was as follows:

"It would be a pleasure to me to meet the Woman's council of Duluth and present some views regarding changes which should be made in our public school system. Were I not so pressed for time in my endeavors to make up arrears in correspondence and official duties caused by my absence from the office the larger part of December, I should be happy to accept the invitation, but it is simply impossible for me to undertake any extra work in addition to what I am at present carrying on under somewhat trying conditions.

"Appreciating the courtesy extended through your invitation, I am, very truly yours,

"ELLA FLAGG YOUNG."

Tickets for the banquet will be on sale at Chamberlain & Taylor's, the public library and the Commercial club.

D. A. R. NOTES.

St. Paul Woman May Be Given National Office.

AMONG the popular members of the Daughters of the American Revolution is Mrs. A. A. Pocock of St Paul, whose name is being used by her friends for the office of vice president general of the national society.

Mrs. Pocock is a woman of exceeding tact and judgment, has a winning personality which makes many friends and is considered by those who know her to be a representative Minnesota woman.

She is closely in touch with chapter and state work, having served as state treasurer as well as chairman of the state patriotic committee, while her interest in the Sibley house is well known. This knowledge of the home work is an essential part of the equipment of one who becomes a connecting link between the state and national society.

Mrs. Pocock was appointed a member of the souvenir committee for the late congress, by the President General Mrs. Scott, and is now serving on the national patriotic committee appointed by Mrs. William Cuming Story, the present head of the organization.

Possibly, no American woman is better known than Helen Keller. For years the former, deaf, dumb and blind little lady has been longing for the opportunity of telling her many friends of her "new birth" as she calls it—renaissance—but not until last summer did she essay speaking in public. After a course of music lessons, Miss Keller was emboldened to address a famous society in Boston, and acquitted herself so creditably that she at once said that she must speak to her friends.

EARNS $10 DAILY IN HIGH SCHOOL

Average Student Increases Earning Capacity That Amount, Says Y. M. C. A. Secretary.

The value of proper training for one's life work and the increased earning capacity that training gives is shown by A. L. Turner, educational secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Figures compiled by Mr. Turner proved that the average man receives splendid compensation for the time he puts in at study. He estimates the wage a boy earns in high school at $10 a day.

"Four and one-half years of schooling is very meager training for one to go out into life with and expect to win in the fierce competition for success in the world today. That means leaving school at about the age of 9½ years. And yet that is what 78 out of every 100 men in America are doing.

"Only 17 out of 100 complete the eighth grade in school. Only 2¼ out of 100 complete the high school, which means twelve years of training, and only 1½ out of 100 devote four years more to preparation and complete a college education.

Average Earning Power.

"The average earning power of the man who is graduated from high school is $1,000 per year. In a lifetime of 40 years he will earn $40,000. The average earning power of the man who has left school before completing the eighth grade is $450. In 40 years he will earn $18,000. The difference between the life-time earnings of the two men is $22,000.

"To be graduated from high school requires about 2,160 days. Dividing the difference in earning power by the number of days required to secure the education, will give the real value of one day's schooling. The result is amazing for it shows that every day of schooling is actually worth more than $10 to a man.

"This ought to encourage every boy who can possibly do so to remain in high school and complete the course. It is the biggest investment he can make and it yields dividends all his life long.

Work For Older Men.

"But there is a vast army of men who have passed the age when they feel that they can return to high school; besides, most of them have assumed obligations which absolutely prevent their giving up their positions—they must continue to earn.

"The educational department of the Y. M. C. A. is organized to meet the needs of just this class of men. There are hundreds and probably thousands of such men right here in Duluth who do not know that the doors of opportunity for increasing their earning power by evening study are wide open to them at the corner of Third avenue west and Second street. More than 300 do know of it and are profiting by it. It matters little what one's occupation or inclination may be, his needs are met here. The whole curriculum is covered from the man who must begin by learning to read, write and figure, to the college graduate who desires some additional special training along the line of his specialty. The unskilled laborer needs the elementary grades to enable him to shift his aim toward a trade. The men in the trades need the practical industrial courses to enable them to perfect some particular phase and become skilled artisans. The skilled artisan needs the broad, thorough technical training which prepares him for supervising positions paying the highest salaries outside of the executive field.

MINNESOTA UNIVERSITY

President Vincent Advises Students to Think for Themselves.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of the officers of the Junior Ball association, held at the Delta Kappa Epsilon house on Tuesday night, the price of tickets was fixed at $6. This will include checks for admission, checking of wraps, and supper. According to the figures this will leave the association with a margin of only $7 for unexpected incidental expenses. The total expenses will amount to approximately $743, and as the attendance at the ball will be limited to 125 couples the receipts and expenditures will be about the same. The action of the officers in fixing the price of the tickets at $6 directly disregards the wishes of the junior class as expressed in the election, when it was voted to hold the ball in the university armory, in order that the reduced expenses would enable all juniors to attend. The class has not yet expressed any opinion in regard to the action of its representatives.

Students Should Think.

It would be a good thing, President Vincent advised the students Tuesday, when they assembled for the first time in chapel after the holidays, to form a New Year's resolution to do a little thinking for themselves. This was directly in reply to an editorial in the Minnesota magazine a month or so ago, wherein the faculty was taken to task for not teaching the students how to think instead of how to absorb facts, as well as a reply to James J. Hill's criticism along the same lines. "None of us think enough," Dr. Vincent declared, "or as well as we ought." It is hard to fix the blame for this lack of thinking among the students. The blame may be distributed among the whole university; among the students and among the families of the students. One of the ways to accomplish the needed exercise of the intellectual faculties is to put each other in intellectual predicaments and then to think a way out. "If you are willing to be a social phonograph," concludes Dr. Vincent, "society will furnish the records."

Glee Club's Tour.

From every account obtainable, the tour of the University of Minnesota glee club, which terminated Sunday morning with the club's return to Minneapolis, was not only the most successful ever managed by the glee club but was one of the most enthusiastically received tours ever conducted by any glee club in the country. Covering a period of three weeks, the tour extended as far West as Seattle and Tacoma and as far along the coast as Portland, and embraced sixteen major towns and cities in the West.

While many of the students of the university have been enjoying the vacation, several organizations have been very active. Among these is the Creak Squad, which played a week's engagement last week at the Miles theater in Minneapolis. The squad of seventeen men appeared as the head-liner and were received with much enthusiasm at each performance.

Student Volunteer Convention.

Seventy-four delegates returned from the Student Volunteer convention held at Kansas City last week, thoroughly imbued with the tremendous spirit of the Christian religion. Thursday noon the chapel was turned over to the giving of reports by Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. delegates. Helen Dunn, Maude Briggs, Corb Painter and Harvey Hoshour well told the students of Minnesota of the important and more salient features of the convention. Minnesota was rather put to shame when reports were read telling how the majority of colleges and universities, many smaller than Minnesota, were supporting mission work in foreign fields, while Minesota is doing absolutely nothing in that work.

Mother's Advice To Her Daughter

A Real Live Doll to Fondle is Woman's Greatest Happiness.

She is wisdom itself who knows of or learns of that famous remedy, Mother's Friend. It is an external application for the abdominal muscles and breasts. It has a wonderful influence, allays all fear, banishes all pain, is a grateful encouragement to the expectant mother, and permits her to go through the period happy in mind, destined to anticipate woman's greatest happiness as nature intended she should.

The action of Mother's Friend makes the muscles pliant and responsive to expansion. Thus all strain and tension upon the nerves and ligaments is avoided, and, in place of a period of discomfort and consequent dread it is a season of calm repose and joyful expectation.

There is no nausea, no morning sickness, no nervous twitching, none of that constant strain known to so many women.

This splendid remedy can be had of any druggist at $1.00 a bottle. Write to Bradfield Regulator Co., 232 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their book to expectant mothers.

NORTH DAKOTA PORK CONTEST

First Prize in Pig Raising Captured By Bottineau Boy of 16.

Larimore Girl Gets Second Prize in Novel State-Wide Contest.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Russell, aged 16, won first place in the pork contest conducted by the Better Farming association, a cash prize of $100 and a Yorkshire boar. Anna Barrett of Larimore was second and received a $50 cash prize. Adrian Herrington of Arvilla was third, receiving $30; Norman Hoffman of Ardoch, fourth, winning $25; John Campbell of Lemmon, fifth, securing $15. Five others got $10 prizes, fifteen others got $5 cash prizes and a number of specials were presented.

Charles Russell, who won first place, has finished the eighth grade in the Bottineau schools. He is 16 and a student at the state school of forestry. His father is well known as a live stock enthusiast.

Anna Barrett, who won second place, is the daughter of a well-known Grand Forks county farmer. She took full care of the litter and raised pork at a cost of 1.7 cents per pound.

300 Boys and Girls Compete.

Every boy and girl in the state over 10 years of age and under 18 July 1, 1913, was eligible and there were 306 entrants. Each contestant had to select a sow by March 15, count the cost of her feeding till the pigs were weaned, and after that the cost of the feed for the pigs. The primary objects were to learn the largest amount of pork that could be produced from one litter within the shortest time at the lowest cost.

The results showed that 1,200 pounds was the lowest produced in any litter and the highest was 2,900. The time was eight months. The cost of producing the pork varied all the way from 1.6 cents per pound to 5.7 cents per pound. Each contestant had to weigh every bit of feed, and compute the cost on the average of its price during the past decade.

The idea of the contests originated to produce something to consume the corn which was being rapidly grown as a result of the prizes offered in former years under the auspices of the association. It was also to show how much value in hogs could be raised per acre on an investment of $25 in a sow and the cost of production. Some splendid results have been attained and the contest has aroused more interest in pork production than was dreamed possible.

Cash Prizes $340.

The prizes reached a total of $340 in cash, a Yorkshire boar by H. H. Canfield of Lake Park for the highest prize won by a Yorkshire litter, a pig of the same breed for the second highest prize of that breed, a Berkshire boar by a publishing company of Springfield, Ill. for the first winner in Berkshires, and a number of tool chests by the Kelley Hardware company of Duluth. The St. Paul Stock Yards company donated $100 of the cash prizes, Swift & Co., $100, and firms doing business on the St. Paul stock yards, a total of $140.

Wheat Closes Slightly Higher With Bullish Sentiment Prevailing.

Flaxseed Is Strong on Steady Bidding By Crushers' Interests.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 10.—The wheat market was dull and featureless today, but on the wind-up quotations were fractionally higher. A bullish factor came in the light receipts at all primary markets, and the general impression that the American visible supply will show substantial decreases each week from now on.

Business was confined to the May option, which opened unchanged at 88c and closed at 88⅛c. The July option was closed up nominally unchanged at 89⅝c. May durum closed unchanged at 87⅞c.

Oats were fractionally stronger, closing at 35¼@35⅜c. Rye closed unchanged at 50@53c for the best grades, and barley unchanged at from 45c to 67c.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 87⅜@87½c and calls at 87⅝c.

At Winnipeg, January oats closed at 32⅝c bid, and May at 36¾c bid.

Inspections of wheat at Duluth today came to just 79 cars against 126 last year, and elevator stocks showed an increase of 237,000 bu in the week to 12,179,000 bu. Stocks of all grains in the houses here now aggregate 18,285,000 bu, an increase of 722,000 bu in the week.

The liverpool market closed lower today on expected heavy world's shipments and free selling from Australia.

Chicago was inclined to be heavy in spite of the reported working of from 200,000 to 300,000 bu winter wheat for export, and alleged heavy buying of wheat by the Armour interests.

Crushers Bid for Flax.

Trading in flaxseed was limited, but the market held strong on steady bidding by crushers. They were unable to bring out much seed on the basis of current quotations, with the result that at the close a moderate advance in the day was shown. Winnipeg was also strong, quotations there gaining ⅝c at one stage. An easing off took place near the close both here and up there.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.54 and closed ⅜c up at $1.54⅜. There was no trading in the January option and it closed nominally ⅜c up at $1.50¾.

At Liverpool—Wheat closed ⅛@¼d lower today; corn, ⅜d higher.

The Minneapolis cash market was firm with the demand keen for choice North Dakota wheat and just fair for ordinary wheat. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at from 1¼c over to ⅛c under May, and velvet chaff at ¾c to 1¼c under May. Flour sales were light. Cash and northern wheat sold there at from 86c to 88½c and No. 2 northern at from 83½c to 85½c.

A marked improvement in the milling demand for cash wheat was reported by the Chicago and Southwestern trade yesterday. Kansas City reported 40,000 bu red winter sold to mills at 8c over their May.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The steadier American cables and closing strength in Buenos Ayres yesterday were offset here by predictions of heavy shipments of wheat to Liverpool this week, and larger world's shipments, and as a result the market opened unchanged to ¼d lower and later further declined ¼d with some pressure in March. The decline was checked by the steadiness in corn and continued light Plate offers. At the close the market was dull, ⅛d to ¼d lower than yesterday."

"Corn opened ¼d higher, and later the shorts covered freely which resulted in a further advance of ⅝d. The steadier American cables, fewer new Plate offers, firmer spot and a good Continental demand caused yesterday's sellers to cover. At the close the market was firm with prices ⅝d higher."

Buenos Ayres wheat closed unchanged to ¼d higher from Thursday's close, but ⅜c to ½c up from the opening with shorts covering on firmness of holders and an improved foreign demand. Corn was irregular, ⅜c lower to ½c higher.

Complaints are heard from Russia regarding lack of snow and the severity of the weather. Port arrivals are moderate and shipments likewise. The crop outlook in both France and Germany is favorable with ample snow protection.

A wire received from Brandon, Man., today said: "That free wheat will be in vogue throughout the West before the next crop is garnered is the opinion of R. McKenzie, secretary of the Manitoba Grain Growers' convention, which opened here yesterday. He says he believes public sentiment will be such as to cause the Borden government to yield."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Bullish Sentiment in Corn Pit Checked By Weather Dope.

Chicago, Jan. 10.—Official announcement that it would not be possible for any severe weather to develop within a considerable period went far today toward checking bullish sentiment regarding corn. At the outset, prices had shown strength owing to higher cables and to reports of fewer offerings from Argentina. Shipping demand, however, was slow. The market opened unchanged to ¼c higher and made a further gain, but then dropped back to last night's level.

The market failed to absorb promptly the moderate offerings by floor speculators. Closing prices were steady at a net advance of a shade.

Wheat prices depended largely on the action of corn. Pit traders leaned to the bear side. Opening figures were a shade to ¼c off. After a slight rally the market slipped lower than before.

Covering by shorts served later as a prop to the market. The close was easy, the same as last night to ⅜c up.

Selling on the part of a leading firm weakened oats. Demand was only of a scattered sort.

Provisions rose with hogs, but later showed the effect of grain weakness. First sales ranged from the same as last night to an advance of 10c.

LOSSES ARE RECOVERED

Break in New Haven Is Cause of Opening Depression.

Bull Operators Buy With Increasing Confidence and Raise Prices.

New York, Jan. 10.—New Haven fell 3¼ to 73 at the opening today, as a result of the refusal of the Massachusetts supreme court to authorize the proposed isue of $67,000,000 convertible bonds. Trading in this stock was not heavy, and on the next few transactions the price rose to 74. The movement at the outset was generally downward, with fractional losses among most of the leaders. When New Haven turned upward the rest of the list stiffened.

A check in the liquidating movement in New Haven and reports that arrangements were under way for renewing the New Haven notes due in the spring had a stimulating effect on speculation. New Haven rallied to 75¼. Other shares moved to fractionally above yesterday's last price.

hTe market closed firm. Having overcome the initial depression occasioned by the break in New Haven, bull operators bought with increasing confidence and ultimately succeeded in raising the level of prices well above the opening range.

Tobacco issues were heavy. Texas Company gained 6½. New York Central sagged to 89¼, within a fraction of its low record for twenty years. Bonds were firm.

Trading Is Quiet, But Market Shows Strong Undertone in East.

The market in mining stocks was firm at Boston today on a small volume of trading. Prices were practically unchanged in the leading issues.

Butte & Ballaklava closed unchanged at $3.75; Butte & Superior unchanged at $32.25; Shattuck 38 cents up at $26.38; Greene-Cananea unchanged at $30; East Butte 25 cents off at $11.25, and Amalgamated Copper unchanged at $72.

In the Duluth curb list, Calumet & Sonora sold slightly up at 75 cents and Calumet & Corbin 2 cents up at 16 cents. The stock is reported in good demand in the East.

A wire from Boston to Gay & Sturgis today said: "C. K. Hitchcock, Jr., manager of the Lake Copper company, has resigned, to take effect Feb. 1. Elton W. Walker, superintendent of the Mass Consolidated Mining company, has been appointed his successor. This appointment will in no wise affect Mr. Walker's position as superintendent of the Mass mine."

Referring to the current mining market and business situation, Skilling's Mining & Market Letter says in today's issue: "That the mining share market is getting set for a strong bull movement seems exceedingly probable at this time. The best authorities on business, investment and speculation over the country are optimistic and the improvement in sentiment, which has been marked for the past thirty days, is becoming more widespread, and more pronounced. While the stock markets are not very broad it is noticeable that issues gain easily on any real buying, and that when the market turns dull the position of the stocks remarkably strong."

The Butte & Ballaklava Copper company shipped 2,000 tons of ore to the Washoe smelter during December, chiefly from the 900 and 1,400-foot levels. The ore on the 1,400 level is reported to have widened out from two feet to more than fourteen feet on the breast of the drift, and on the 900 level the lead is now thirteen feet in width, and is said to be improving daily. The superintendent at the mine reports that the large electric hoist is in commission and that the mine is in shape to ship 200 tons of ore to the smelter daily from now on.

BLOW FOR NEW HAVEN

Massachusetts Supreme Court Annuls Bond Issue Permit.

Boston, Jan. 10.—The public service commission's order giving consent to the issue by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad company of $67,700,000 of convertible debenture bonds, was annulled yesterday by the supreme court, which declared the approval of such a convertible issue beyond the authority of the commission. The proposed bonds carried an option of an exchange of stock five years from date.

The opinion of the court, which was unanimous, was written by Chief Justice Rugg. It said in part:

"The approval of the commission of an issue of stock must relate to the present nad not to a remote future. This is required by the legislative interest disclosed by the review of the statutes.

Amount and Price.

"The amount of stock which the commission intelligently can approve to be issued, is inseparable from the price at which it is to be issued. The price at which the public interest may require that it may be issued during a period of ten years, beginning five years hence, is impossible of ascertainment now. But the approval of convertible debentures with the right to take stock at par in payment during that period, involves fixing a price of the stock during the like period. An order entered now that stock be issued at par during that period of time can afford no security that the corporation will get an adequate return for its stock, or that rates and charges fixed upon such a capitalization would be fair, or that the rights of other stockholders will be guarded properly.

"The plaintiffs, as stockholders, plainly have a right to invoke the protection of the court against a proposed issue of convertible debentures and stocks such as here is proposed."

Counsel for Morgan G. Bulkeley, former governor of Connecticut, and others started the proceedings in opposition to the bond issue in which the opinion of the court is given.

Elliott Is Silent.

New York, Jan. 10.—Chairman Howard Elliott of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad would not discuss the bond issue decision handed down in Boston.

Mr. Elliott, before leaving for Washington, reiterated his disinclination to discuss the decision, but added:

"I desire to say, however, that the company has not been unmindful of the fact that the decision of the supreme court might be adverse, and that it has been making preparations for taking care of its finances in such event. Steps will be taken promptly to perfect plans and to carry them into effect.

"As none of the short term notes mature before the middle of May, there is abundant opportunity for the company to make the necessary arrangements."

Dissolution Progressing.

New York, Jan. 10.—Marked progress is being made toward the dismemberment of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad system along the lines directed by the government, according to information from another special meeting of the road's executive committee, at which Chairman Howard Elliott presided. Mr. Elliott declined to say what decision, if any, had been reached.

ANOTHER DECREASE IN UNFILLED ORDERS.

New York, Jan. 10.—The unfilled tonnage of the United States Steel corporation on Dec. 31 totaled 4,282,108 tons, a decrease of 114,239 tons over November. This is the twelfth consecutive decrease of the year.

"PACK OF LIES," SAYS MAYOR KONKEL OF SUPERIOR

Chief Executive and Rev. Harry Milford Nearly Come to Blows.

Both Want to "Fight It Out"—Secret Hearings on Vice.

While the Wisconsin legislative vice commission was holding a secret session within the council chambers of the city hall in Superior this morning an altercation took place in the corridors between Mayor J. S. Konkel and Rev. Harry Milford, a former reform pastor of Superior, when the former branded as a "pack of lies" the statements made by witnesses and "just an attempt to discredit the administration" on the part of the reformers.

The argument between the mayor and minister reached a point where each challenged the other to "fight it out" with fists and created such an uproar in the halls that Senator Teasdale, chairman of the investigating commission ordered the corridors cleared, on account of the interruption it was causing in the secret meeting.

The trouble started when Mayor Konkel accused Rev. Mr. Milford of being the one who furnished the names of the "honor roll" of boys which witnesses had said existed in a certain poolroom in the lower part of the city. This "honor roll" was said to contain the names of boys who had been afflicted with venereal diseases. "It's a pack of lies! They're all lying about it" said the mayor. Bystanders who had gone to the city hall with the object of hearing sensational testimony, prevented the two from coming to blows.

Secret Session.

This morning members of the commission held a secret session for the purpose of interrogating inmates of the segregated district. Questions relating to the length of time which they had been there, how they came to be in the business and of other nature relating to their life and surroundings, were asked.

Last night the commission also held a secret session at which representative young women employed in factories, department stores, telephone offices and other places appeared and were questioned by the members. The substance of the interviews was to the effect that the "redlight" district had a demoralizing effect on the city at large, but that the girls had not been molested, nor had it affected their lives.

During the afternoon session yesterday repeated attacks were made on Mayor Konkel by the witnesses. Father M. W. Rose of St. Albans church said the mayor was not fit morally to look after the city's interests. The witness said the mayor had refused to close the district because it would cause a spread of the inmates all over the city.

Rev. C. J. Armstrong gave similar testimony and said that the police department would be all right and do its duty if allowed to do so by the mayor. He said there were 300 government liquor licenses issued to Superior people but that there were only 164 saloons in the city.

Rev. Patrick Lee of the Sacred Heart cathedral quoted numerous complaints from parents about the demoralizing effect which the district had on the lives of young men and women. He said that half of the saloons in Superior were controlled by the wholesale liquor dealers and breweries. He said half of the saloon keepers in business were unfit for the business and should never have been granted a license.

Among the business men who testified were T. J. Roth of Roth Bros., S. Y. Josephs of the Boston store, W. S. Wingate of Lightbody & Wingate, C. B. Ross of the 5 and 10-cent store, and managers of the two telephone companies.

The secret session will be continued this afternoon and tonight and it is probable that a session will be held on Monday. The commissioners have invited all persons interested in the city and its moral conditions to appear before the commission to testify.

SAYS WASSERMAN TEST COSTS BUT $1

Declaring that the Wasserman test for eugenic marriage applicants can be made at a cost of not to exceed $1 to the doctor making the examination, Dr. J. G. Barnsdale today declared that he would give the Wasserman tests to applicants which he may be called upon to examine, and will charge only the $3 fee. The Superior Medical society at a recent meeting agreed to give an examination for $3, but refused to include the Wasserman test on account of the alleged cost of the material being greater than the fee allowed by law.

Death Rate Low.

According to a report of the board of health today, the death rate in Superior indicates that this city is one of the most healthful, not only in the United States, but in the entire world. The death rate is 11.33 per 1,000 population, while the birth rate is 16.75 per 1,000.

Much Improving Done.

The city of Superior has spent $4,490,755 for improvements since it was incorporated, according to the report issued yesterday afternoon. During the last year there has been over two miles of pavement laid. The report goes into detail, giving the number of miles of paved streets, sidewalks and other matters of interest to the city as a whole.

Plant to Resume Work.

The Western Chair Manufacturing plant at South Superior is to resume operations again on Monday. Announcement to this effect was made yesterday by officers of the concern. The plant has been idle for several weeks.

To Pave Tower Avenue.

The paving of Tower avenue from Sixteenth to Twenty-eighth street was ordered yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the city commissioners. Many property owners were present to request that the work be done. It is proposed to begin the work early in the spring.

"PRESTIGE OF U.S. SUFFERS"

Therefore, Says Navy's Paymaster, Ranks Should Be Revised.

Washington, Jan. 10.—Legislation to provide for admirals and vice-admirals in the navy with permanent commissions, and not merely holding the rank while actually serving on sea duty in command of fleets or squadrons, is urged in memoranda just submitted by Paymaster General Cowie, U. S. N., to the house committee on naval affairs. This recommendation follows Secretary Daniels' declaration in favor of vice-admirals, and the reported probable attitude of the naval committee in favor of temporary commissioning of rear-admirals in these higher ranks.

"This rumored attitude on the part of the naval committee regarding a question of such vital moment," wrote the paymaster general, "is the source of much apprehensive worry to government officials, naval officers and other persons familiar with international affairs, who, in their well-founded knowledge, very keenly appreciate the necessity which demands the creation of permanent higher flag rank in the American navy.

Opposes Proposed Action.

"A law that would grant only temporary commissions as admirals and vice-admirals would, at best, prove hardly more than a half way measure, and would almost entirely fail to bring about those national benefits and advantages of position, the obtaining of which constitutes the motive of the recommendation.

Supreme command, in concerted international activities, depends not only upon relative grade standings, regarded separately, but also upon the seniority of commissions within a grade. The perpetual relegation of American commanders to inferior phases of joint duties under foreign leadership is something that is neither profitable in practice, nor pleasant to think upon.

"An admiral should command a fleet, a vice-admiral should command a squadron, a rear-admiral should command a division."

What Other Nations Do.

The paymaster general added that it was opposed to all common sense, as well as to the niceties of propriety, for a commander-in-chief to bear the same rank and title as the subordinate division and squadron heads under his flag. The United States, he said, is the only naval power on earth that confides the command of a powerful battle fleet to a rear-admiral, and even the Chinese, Portuguese and Danish navies have vice-admirals who take precedence over the commanders-in-chief of the American Atlantic fleet.

MILWAUKEE WANTS NEW RATES ON COAL

Washington, Jan. 10.—Milwaukee, Wis., today petitioned the interstate commerce commission to remove alleged discriminations against it and other Wisconsin cities in anthracite rates. It is contended that the discrimination results from the fact that Chicago and Illinois points enjoy through rail rates on anthracite from the Eastern mines, while Milwaukee points do not.

ALLOW INCREASE IN RATES ON THE B. & M.

Concord, N. H., Jan. 10.—The readjustment of freight rates on the Boston & Maine railroad, permitting an increased revenue, will be allowed by the New Hampshire public service commission, it was announced today.

The commissioners say that unless increases in revenue are permitted bankruptcy would seem inevitable.

CARRANZA IS NEAR FEDERAL OUTPOSTS

Cruse de Piedra, Sonora, Mex., Jan. 10.—Gen. Venustiano Carranza passed the night here within two miles of the Federal outposts of Guaymas. The rebel commander and members of his party slept in an old fort built as protection against the Yaqui Indians, who today are fighting for the Constitutionalist revolution. The Carranza party prepared to proceed southward this afternoon.

Absolute prohibition of liquor drinking is maintained at all camps where Indian troops are stationed. The men are armed mostly with Mauser rifles captured from the Federals.

Since Carranza has arrived at the front a dozen Federal artillerymen have presented themselves here. The deserters told a story today of how on Wednesday a Japanese battleship arrived in Guaymas harbor and landed a Japanese said to have been the imperial minister of foreign relations. He was received by General Ojeda by a salute of twenty-one guns, they said.

SYLVIA PANKHURST OUT OF JAIL AGAIN.

London, Jan. 10.—Miss Sylvia Pankhurst, the militant suffragette, was today released from Holloway jail. She had been a prisoner since Jan. 3 when she was arrested in the east end of London. She was in a state of collapse as the result of a week's "hunger strike."

DOZEN ENTOMBED IN ALABAMA MINE.

Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 10.—An explosion in the seventeenth right entry of the Rock Castle mines of the Davis Creek Coal company has entombed ten to twelve men, including W. W. Quarles, mine foreman. It is believed all are dead. Thirty to forty men working near the spot where the explosion occurred were rescued.

Grand Forks Candidates.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The campaign was formally opened yesterday by the announcement of Arthur Sorlie that he is a candidate for mayor. Opposing him will be James Dinnie, who, though he has made no definite announcement, is expected to do so within a few days. J. F. T. O'Connor may be in the fight.

SAY UNION MEN BOUGHT FORGERIES

Detectives Hired By Copper Companies Cause Arrests in New York.

False Affidavits By So-Called Thugs Shown to Officers.

New York, Jan. 10.—Two arrests were made today on information furnished by detectives employed by copper mine owners to investigate alleged false affidavits obtained here from so-called thugs and strongarm men, who said they were engaged by the mine owners to work at the scene of the mine strike in Michigan.

The men were arrested on a technical charge of running a detective bureau without a license, but the district attorney's office announced that it had evidence to support the more serious charge made by the mine owners' detectives.

The prisoners, William Martin and Charles Smith, both of this city, were arrested at the office of a Broadway attorney whose name appeared as witness on many of the affidavits signed by alleged gunmen. Two of these signers have sworn that their signatures on these affidavits were forged.

Hired by MacNaughton.

John T. Vickery, general manager of the detective agency which laid this evidence before the district attorney, said he had been employed by James MacNaughton, general manager of the Calumet & Hecla Mining company and Theodore Bangler, general manager of the Mohawk Mining company, both of Michigan. He turned over to the prosecutor what purported to be receipts signed by various persons acknowledging the receipt of sums ranging from $1.50 to $3 paid by Martin and Smith for the signing of affidavits.

He charged that the Western Federation of Miners employed Martin and Smith and other agents to buy these affidavits in the slums of New York.

The mine owners' detectives exhibited blank affidavit forms, which, they said, the miners' agents paid men to sign and filled in afterwards. They showed copies of such an affidavit bearing the name of one James Greely, and then produced Greely, who swore in the district attorney's office that he never had made any such charges as the document contained.

Richard Maher told the district attorney that on Dec. 9, when he was supposed to have signed an affidavit in New York, he was in Michigan.

The examination of Martin and Smith was postponed and they were paroled in custody of their counsel.

AFTER TONNAGE TAX ON COPPER.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 10.—If the members of the state Grange can secure the signatures of 45,000 voters to their petition, the next state legislature will be asked to pass a law placing a tax of one-half cent a pound on the output of the copper mines of Michigan. The legislative committee of the grange, in session here, also decided to attempt to secure the passage of a law placing a tonnage tax on iron, based on a rate of two and one half per cent of mined value of a ton of iron ore.

These bills will be drawn up at once and copies will be attached to each petition, as required by law. In the event that the legislature refuses to pass the bills, they will be submitted to a direct vote of the people. During the session of 1911 a tonnage tax bill passed the house, but was killed in the senate.

RECEIVER FOR PIERCE, BUTLER & PIERCE.

Norwich N. Y. Jan. 10.—The Pierce, Butler & Pierce Manufacturing company, a $5,000,000 hardware corporation, one of the oldest in New York state, today went into a Federal receivership on a creditor's petition asking to have the company adjudged bankrupt. Inability to pay its debts was alleged. Assets were placed at $3,291,000 and liabilities at $1,902,000. The business was founded in 1839 by Sylvester E. Pierce, father of William K. Pierce, who recently withdrew as president of the concern.

MME. NORDICA ILL WITH PNEUMONIA

New York, Jan. 10.—Mme. Lillian Nordica is in a critical condition with pneumonia on Thursday Island, Queensland, according to a cable message received today by her husband, George W. Young, a New York banker. The message gave no details.

Mme. Nordica was on the Dutch steamer Tasman, which recently went ashore near Thursday Island in the Gulf of Papua. The vessel was subsequently floated.

After the accident Mme. Nordica cabled reassuring messages to Mr. Young, but later it was reported that she was suffering a nervous breakdown.

SCHOOLS COMBINE.

Harvard and Tech. Engineering Departments Are to Be United.

Boston, Jan. 10.—The engineering departments of Harvard university and Massachusetts Institute of technology are to be combined as the result of an agreement reached last night. Heads of both institutions said the plan for co-operation constituted the most important movement toward the conservation of educational forces that the country has ever known.

By the agreement, the combined departments of mechanical engineering, electrical engineering, civil and sanitary engineering and mining engineering and metallurgy are to be conducted in the new buildings of the institution now in process of erection in Cambridge. Harvard is to discontinue its school of applied science on these departments.

The president of technology is to be the executive head of the co-operative work, and the faculty will consist of the faculty of the institute, enlarged by the addition of Harvard professors of the departments involved. Provision is made that when in the future, the corporation of technology selects a president, the president of Harvard is to sit with the committee on selections.

It was announced that both Harvard and technology are to remain absolutely unaffected in name, organization, title and property. Technology is to furnish the buildings, laboratories and equipment, together with contributions from its special and general funds while Harvard is to give some equipment and the interest on funds that it holds for education and research in these departments

HAY SEED AND ORE BY PARCEL POST.

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 10.—Postoffice inspectors received yesterday telephone calls from worried rural delivery carriers asking aid.

The carriers who ride horseback from Paradise, Or., to Anatone, Wash., eighteen miles, notified the inspectors that a man at Paradise is ready to ship 3,600 pounds of timothy seed by parcel post.

The carrier at Elk City, Idaho, telephoned that mine owners had three carloads of concentrated ore ready for shipment by parcel post to the smelter, a distance of sixty miles over mountain roads.

The inspectors have put in a requisition for teams to help out the Idaho carrier.

TAFT HAS 35 PAIR OF PANTS TO CUT DOWN.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 10.—Loss of weight has compelled Former President William H. Taft to have his garments remodeled on less generous lines. Today he gave an order for changes to be made in thirty-five pairs of trousers. Prof Taft has reduced his weight eighty pounds and his waist line has contracted six inches so that it now measures only forty-eight inches.

The tailor was directed to take a reef in the waist of each pair of trousers, the fullness to be "gathered in" at both sides of the front. The tailor will also alter thirty-five coats and vests to conform to Prof. Taft's new measurements.

Philadelphia, Jan. 10.—The will of the late Dr. S. Weir Mitchell leaves the estate, valued at more than $100,000, to the widow and two sons. Two portraits are left to the College of Physicians of Philadelphia. All of Dr. Mitchell's medical copyrights are left to Dr. John K. Mitchell, one of the sons, while the other literary copyrights are placed in the hands of trustees for the benefit of the family.

Want Assessor Fired.

Washburn, Wis., Jan. 10.—The city council has joined the chorus demanding the removal of Income Tax Assessor William Landraint and at its last meeting adopted resolutions calling on the state tax commission at its meeting here Jan. 17 to oust that official in Bayfield county on the ground he is "arbitrary, arrogant and overbearing."

Confers With Americans.

New York, Jan. 10.—The Earl of Kintore, chairman of the executive committee of the Anglo-American exposition, a proposed feature of the centennial celebration of peace among English speaking nations, came here today on the Baltic to confer with the American committee. CALUMET-CORBIN

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 10, 1914.

As a stockholder of Calumet-Corbin Mining Company you should be especially interested in the news and the suggestions given below.

To prove beyond the shadow of a doubt that Calumet-Corbin was transferred from an inactive mining company to a money-earning issue read the following telegram:

"Denver, Jan. 9th, 1914.

"Shipment nine tons ore from New Era mines gave net smelter returns five hundred eighty-two dollars thirty cents. Shipping 15 tons weekly better than sixty dollars ton, net. Eight teams hauling every day. BERNARD NOON."

This means nearly $1,000.00 per week, net.

The initial payments have been made on the property, the company gets all the earnings for the first six months, and then pays 10 per cent royalty, which is applied on the purchase price. No company ever had a greater opportunity to make good to its stockholders than Calumet-Corbin has today, and the only reason that the stcok is not five times its present price is because the speculaive public never recognizes worth until it has been discounted by the observant buyer.

A. B. Frenzel, who made the original report on the property for the company in a personal letter to me Jan. 5th, says:

"I desire to inform you that I have just returned to Denver and have left the mine house ready for occupancy and provisioned for the entire winter and everything ready for immediate possession. The two lots of five tons each of ore for Mr. Rickard's test probably will reach Denver today. (This is the nine tons mentioned in the telegram above which netted nearly six hundred dollars.) This was shot down and trammed from the mine while I was there. The first lot carries gold and silver, the second gold, silver, lead and copper. Mr. Rickard and the surveyor are both very favorably impressed as I also am with the showing in sight, and we are all confident that you have an opportunity, under competent and trustworthy management, of a commercial success from the very start."

Mr. Frenzel is a mining engineer of world-wide reputation and is a rare mineral specialist and has examined the majority of the Uranium, Vanadium, Tungsten, Molybeonite, Bismuth and Hydro Carbon deposits in the world. He is a practical miner and understands thoroughly the most up-to-date treatement of ores of all kinds.

Forbes Rickard is a graduate of the Royal School of Mines, London. His mine examinations in Aaska, Siberie, Borneo, Australia, South Africa and this country have given him an international reputation for efficiency as an examiner of mines metallurgist and manager. He is one of the best high-grade mining engineers in Colorado, trustworthy and competent. In his report on the Valdez Creek Placer mines George W. Sias of Boston and his associates are expending upward of $2,000,000 on the Valdez property.

So much for the people whom we have with us on this new enterprise. Bernard Noon of Butte is too well known locally to need any further mention; he has the confidence of the best and strongest financial people of Butte and made successes of Tuolumne, Pilot Butte and of the Speculator in the early days before the North Butte took it over.

Now a few words as regards the stock. One of the greatest mistakes the public makes is to ignore an issue which sells for a few cents per share. Largest fortunes in this country have been made on shares bought for a few cents per share and afterwards told for as high as $20 and $25 per share.

Originally Calumet & Arizona cost the promoters 66 cents, but it sold for $225 per share.

Mohawk Mining of Nevada went on at about 10 cents and afterwards sold up to $21.

IF YOU HAVE ORE YOU CAN GET MONEY AND ALL YOU WANT OF IT BUT ALL THE MONEY IN THE WORLD WILL NOT PUT ONE POUND OF ORE IN THE GROUND WHERE NATURE DID NOT SEE FIT TO PUT IT.

The Calumet & Corbin officers two years ago took the positive and decided stand that they never would go ahead with any property for their company unless it stood up under the most rigid and thorough investigation and would lead to a commercial success and not one step has been taken in the dark in this new venture.

We want you to realize the possibility and grasp the opportunity presented by Calumet Corbin today. Water usually seeks and finds its legitimate level and so will Calumet Corbin stock and the level will be very much above the present.

We made it possible for you to realize on your shares, therefore solicit your busines in this issue. We are bidding 15 cents per share for the stock today and if you can not be convinced that your investment is perfecly safe and has every possibility of becoming valuable give us an opportunity of placing your stock among our best clients.

Our candid and unbiased opinion is that Calumet Corbin today has an intrinsic value of 75 cents per share and a speculative possibility of many times this figure.

Investigate all we have told you above and then act according to your findings.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE

New York, Jan. 10.—Dun's Review today says: There is little tangible evidence as yet that the turning point in business has been reached, but general sentiment is more cheerful. Wholesale trade is rather more active, while retail demands have broadened under the stimulus of the usual clearance sales and more seasonable weather in some sections.

Many buyers are beginning to appear in the dry goods market, and although conservatism is the rule in the matter of future purchases, stocks are low and requirements large. Woolen and worsted mills are fairly well engaged on old orders, and wool is moving steadily.

While the demand for iron and steel still is confined mainly to actual needs, some increase in business is apparent, and the situation is more encouraging.

Failures this week were 422 against 363 last year. Failures in Canada numbered 51 against 52 last year.

CROW WING POOR FARM TO BE EXPLORED BY LONGYEAR

Brainerd Council Has Postponed Action Regarding the Holland Property.

Meacham Mine May Be Added to Shipping List This Year.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The county commissioners of Crow Wing county have accepted the bid of the Longyear Exploration company and have awarded them the right to explore the county poor farm property in the south half of the northwest quarter of section 33, township 45, range 30, and to call for a fifty-year lease at 30 cents a ton and a minimum tonnage of 10,000 tons the first year, 20,000 tons the second year, 30,000 tons the third year, and 40,000 tons for each succeeding year. The Longyear people pay down $100 as rent and guarantee to drill nine holes in a year. E. W. Thomas had a bid in too, with virtually the same provisions, except the last mentioned clause. On Jan. 5 the city received bids for the exploration and mining of its property bequeathed to it by the late Judge G. W. Holland. Further correspondence will be held to clear up certain points about one of the bids, one of them being made by a Hibbing man. The city has voted $22,000 bonds to put in a fill to take the place of the Northeast Brainerd bridge and the city may carry on the work. Earth for the fill can be obtained on the eighty-acre tract which Judge Holland gave the city. A steam shovel may be rented from the Northern Pacific railway.

Leased to Jones & Laughlin.

One of the latest reports on the range is to the effect that sections 17 and 18, township 46, range 29, have been leased to the Jones & Laughlin Steel company and that the latter will soon strip the property and make of it another pit mine. It is reported with some degree of authority that stripping may commence this season. The depth to ore is comparatively shallow, being only twenty-five feet. In some places it is only fifteen feet to ore.

Rumors are heard that the Meacham mine, which has never shipped, may be opened up and added to the shipping list. Everywhere optimism and confidence reigns. It is conceded on all sides that the Cuyuna iron range will get down to business this year and ship more ore than ever before in its entire history. The Brainerd-Cuyuna Mining company has conveyed to the Northern Pacific Railway company a strip twenty-five feet in width across the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 36, township 46, range 31. The Brainerd-Cuyuna mine has its shaft down seventy-one feet and is pumping about 350 to 400 gallons a minute. Ledge, it is figured, is at ninety-two feet.

John J. McAuliffe of Duluth has assigned to Robert B. Whiteside of Duluth interests in sections 3 and 7, township 138, range 27. John H. Loper has conveyed to Robert B. Whiteside lands in section 17, township 138, range 25, and sections 9 and 12, township 138, range 27. Fred A. Lyman has conveyed to Beecher M. Hungerford and Milton P. Botsford of Aitkin the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 1, township 136, range 25. Katherine S. McQuillin has sold to Cuyler Adams Jr. the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 35, township 47, range 28, for $2,000. William Rock has sold to Richard McCue an undivided one-sixteenth interest in the northwest quarter of section 25, township 136, range 26. W. J. Sullivan has sold to George P. Coleman an undivided one-sixteenth interest in the northwest quarter of section 25, township 136, range 26. George Urquhart of St. Paul, one of the officers of the Gopher Iron company, was on the range with Director Murray and Herman Zins and H. S. Lovesee of Storm Lake, Iowa, viewing the various holdings of the company.

Night Shift Laid Off.

The night shift has been laid off at the Kennedy mine of the Rogers-Brown Ore company at Cuyuna and most of the men have been re-employed on the day shift, as the company will concentrate its forces on that shift. Not so much attention will be paid to stockpiling as to getting the mine in shape for shipments from the shaft when the season of navigation opens. A large quantity of heavy timbering was taken down by way of the main shaft last week that would have caused more expense had it been taken down through the timber shaft.

Across the bay near the town of Cuyuna, the railroad contractors, McMenemy & Baumgardner, are putting in piling and following it up with tracks, from which is dumped the ground which will eventually form the railway embankment, leading to the timber shaft of the Kennedy mine. The trestle is about half a mile long and is about finished. A steam shovel and a large crew of men are at work.

The Rowe mine at Riverton is continuing to get in shape for big shipments in 1914. The mild weather enables stripping to be carried on.

One of the interesting sights of the range is to watch the surface workings of the Armour No. 2 mine north of Crosby or the Kennedy at Cuyuna. Electric haulage is in use on the surface and underground. A long trestle at the Armour No. 2 mine gives indication of the great tonnage which the mine will handle this season. An electric locomotive pulls the string of ore cars along the trestle, one man being in charge of the ore cars and one at the locomotive, and they do the work quicker and more systematically than a small detachment of trammers and their individual ore cars. The big ore cars were designed and built by the Rogers-Brown Ore company at their range shops and are over twice the capacity of the cars the trammers used to push around.

J. P. Lamb and G. F. Lamb of Nelson County, North Dakota, have been on the range and were guests of their brother, E. A. Lamb of Deerwood. All are interested in the Dakota Iron company, of which John H. Hill is also a stockholder. Prof. Leith of Madison, Wis., was a guest of Carl Zapffe of Brainerd last week.

Drilling Gullberg Farm.

Cole & McDonald of Deerwood are drilling the Gullberg farm north of Crosby, in which Chisholm, Mageffin & Williams are interested. B. Mageffin, Jr., of Deerwood, is in Michigan superintending exploration work for a company. Considerable exploration work is being carried on at and near Deerwood. The Helmer Exploration company has a drill on the Irwick farm in section 16, township 46, range 28. The Hale-Bradley Exploration company also has a drill at work in this same section. John Helmer of Duluth is drilling in section 11, township 47, range 28. The Adams mine at Oreland has a crew at work and is engaged in drifting. The Potts Exploration company of Deerwood has three drills at work, one near Deerwood and two near Rabbit lake. Cuyler Adams of Deerwood has about finished drilling in the west part of section 24, township 47, range 29. The F. A. Edson interests have two drills at Cedar Lake and one on the Schroeder place, in section 29, township 47, range 29.

Joseph Ferrier of Duluth, treasurer of the Minnesota Central Railway company, and John H. Hill, one of the directors, which company has a franchise to build a street railway in Brainerd, were on the range Wednesday. It is the intention of the company to make Brainerd the center of an interurban system.

The Duluth-Moctezuma company has assigned to Charles S. Slack interests in the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 27, township 47, range 29.

The Cuyuna-Duluth mine at Ironton is busily engaged in mining and sinking its shaft, the latter having attained a depth of about 250 feet. The Duluth-Brainerd shaft in section 32, township 47, range 29, is down seventy-five feet and very good progress has been made. Many of the officers of the Cuyuna-Mille Lacs mine were on the range Monday.

Interests Assigned.

Austin L. Belknap has given a mineral deed to Katherine S. Benner, being an undivided one-sixth interest in the minerals in lot 1, or the northwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 12, township 137, range 27.

George H. Crosby has given an easement deed to the Soo Line, being a strip 200 feet wide across the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter and government lots 5 and 6 in section 23, township 47, range 29. Mr. Crosby also quit-claimed to the Crosby Iron company the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 26, township 46, range 30.

James T. Hale has conveyed to Cuyler Adams all interest in a mining lease covering the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 1, township 46, range 29. John P. Hollihan, John J. McAuliffe, William Rock and John Nolan have assigned to the Cuyuna Central Iron company an option covering the northwest quarter of township 47, range 29.

The North Star Iron Mining company has given an option to E. T. Merritt covering the northeast quarter of the northwest quarter, the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter, the north half of the southeast quarter and the south half of the southwest quarter of section 27, township 47, range 29. E. T. Merritt has conveyed in two assignments to the Grover Iron Ore Exploration company of Minneapolis interests in the property just described.

Over fourteen holes have been put down on the Cuyuna Central Iron company's property. Two churn and two diamond drills are at work under the direction of William Rock. Nearby the Star drill of the Plymouth Exploration company is operating and is now down 200 feet.

On the Cuyuna Central.

Last fall William Rock dipneedled the tracts now controlled by the Cuyuna Central Iron company, readings recorded being from 3 to 7 degrees. He spotted the first hole and ore was struck. In Hole No. 13, said John J. McAuliffe, 64 per cent ore was struck and at 300 feet depth the hole was still bottomed in ore. Hole No. 14 is 410 feet deep, the surface being of some depth. Very good ore, it is claimed, was found here. Hole No. 15 was started this week and the churn drill is now down 87 feet. Mr. Rock is assured that at present an ore body 600 feet wide and 900 feet long has been proven up. The company's holdings in direct line and in the ore trend which takes in the Duluth-Moctezuma holdings, the Hunter property, the Flynn lands, the Zeno Iron company, and other properties.

On Jan. 13, directors of the Iron Mountain Mining company will consider whether contract for deep drill will be used in the construction of their mine buildings. The mine is expected to ship from 40,000 to 50,000 tons this season. It is expected that all permanent equipment will be installed by April 1. There are 1,000 tons in the stockpile. Two cars of ore will be loaded by hand in the next ten days and shipped to Pittsburg where tests will be made as to the quality.

The Crow Wing company has a drill in the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 34, township 47, range 29. The Sisters of St. Mary's hospital, Duluth, are believed to have valuable mineral lands in the southwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 34, township 47, range 29. The land has not been explored, but lies in the trend of the ore.

HAS OPTION ON AMOLE CLAIMS

Calumet & Arizona About to Drill Another Property in Arizona.

Bisbee, Ariz., Jan. 10.—The new year opened in auspicious manner in the mining world by the leaking of the news that the Calumet & Arizona Mining company has secured an option upon the Amole group of claims located nine miles west of Tucson, and will immediately begin prospecting them by means of diamond drills.

The contract for the drilling has already been let going to the E. J. Longyear company which will shortly have the equipment on the ground and sink a number of holes in various parts in order to ascertain its mineralization. The work will be under the direction of George Arnold, formerly with the company at Courtland.

The company has had considerable development work done on it in the past but not enough to prove its value as a mining proposition. However the indications were sufficiently good for the Calumet & Arizona management to take an option.

The chief value of the new property and indeed its highest value will be in case of development of low grade but widely disseminated ore deposits, if any.

COCHISE MINE IS UNDER LEASE

New Compressor Installed at Higgins and Operations Resumed.

Bisbee, Ariz., Jan. 10.—The Cochise Mining company property has gone under lease for a period of two years to Thomas Frazer. It is understood that he will start work on the 300-foot level, entering upon some rich stringers of ore which were cut at this depth in the shaft. Some of this ore makes as high as 20 per cent copper and also carries good values in gold and silver. It is probable that the leaser will start with a considerable force of men. He is widely known in mining circles of the Southwest and has a number of successes to his credit in leasing and development. His latest operations in Arizona were during last year in the Patagonia district.

At the Higgins there was resumption of operations the first part of this week with full shifts. For some days they were idle in the mine by reason of work of installation of a new compressor. It will carry six drills, being double the size of that which has been used. The power will be divided between the Higgins and the Wolverine, the latter putting on three machine drills, the management having decided to substitute power for hand work to this extent. With the employment of the machine drills the Wolverine will raise its daily ore output materially.

RECORD ESTABLISHED BY BUTTE COMPANIES IN 1913

Expended $25,214,000 for Wages, New Work and Improvements.

Monthly Payroll Expected to Exceed $2,000,000 This Year.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Figures now available show that the mining companies operating in this district established a record during 1913 as to the amount of money paid out for new work, improvements and wages. The mining companies expended during the past year $25,214,000, and of this amount the Anaconda Copper Mining company alone paid out $20,187,000 for wages in all its mines, smelters, logging camps, coal mines and other departments, the balance of the payroll coming from the North Butte, East Butte, Butte & Superior, Tuolumne, Butte-Duluth, Pilot Butte, Davis Daly, Butte-Alex Scott and the Clark properties, together with small companies. The Butte & Superior had a payroll during the year of $1,180,000, and the North Butte came next with $1,250,000, East Butte being third with $695,000. There is not another mining district in the world in proportion to the number of men employed where the payroll is as large as in Butte. The estimated average number of men employed by the various mining companies is 15,000. This year there is every indication that more men will be employed and that the monthly payroll will considerably exceed an average of over $2,000,000. There are some companies getting ready to start operations, and at least a couple more will start work within the next few months. Of all the mines being operated, only one during the past year seemed unable to make both ends meet and suspended operations. The Butte Central Copper company, after having had a concentrator in operation only a few months, was compelled to close down, as the returns from the ore being treated were not nearly sufficient to meet the operating expenses. There is not the least doubt among mining men that the concentrator is a first-class one in every respect, and had the mine been able to supply commercial ore the investment in the mill would have been a profitable one. It is quite probable that before many months the mill can are over the mill will be opened for the purpose of treating custom ore.

Montana's Coal Output.

Montana has some good coal mines, but it does not produce nearly 1,000,000 tons of the amount consumed. The annual report of the state coal mine inspector shows that there were 3,365,172 tons of coal valued at $5,611,-079.72 produced during the past year. There were fifty-nine mines in operation in 1913 as compared with forty-eight in 1912 and the increase in production as compared with a year ago was 21 per cent, the increase in value was only $11,000, due to the fact that coal was somewhat cheaper than in 1912. In 1880 Montana's coal production was but 224 tons. During the past year there were 3,568 men employed in the coal mines and the average production per day per man was 4.4 tons. The output was divided up as follows: 3,018,490.8 tons were shipped on board cars, 29,505.3 tons were supplied to employees, 98,917 tons sold locally and 218,869 were used at the mines or wasted. Thirty-one per cent of the coal, or 1,057,345 tons were machine-mined and 2,308,-368 tons were shot from the solid and hand-mined. The mine inspector says that many of the properties are equipping their plants with hydro-electric power, for pumping, haulage, undercutting coal, operating shovels and run compressors for other mining machines.

Tuolumne.

The Tuolumne company through lack of earnings was compelled at last year to discontinue the payment of dividends and, while ore shipments have have been made during the entire year, barely sufficient money has been realized to pay the operating expenses and this is especially true of the last month in the year when the returns were not sufficient to pay the operating expenses, according to the information given out. The management is carrying on extensive development work, and shaft sinking is proceeding towards a depth of 280 feet. There is every indication that the mine at that depth will run out of the lean zone and that there will be made a good grade of shipping ore will be opened. Mines in the locality in which is located the Tuolumne at one time were just as unproductive as the Tuolumne has been during the past year but depth brought about a wonderful change in the opening up of some very rich ore bodies, and mining men are firmly of the opinion that the Tuolumne is going to have the same experience. The management is satisfied that such will be the result and for that reason the property is going to be very thoroughly explored at that depth.

To Close Great Falls Concentrator.

The Anaconda Copper Mining company is going to concentrate all its low grade ore at the Washoe works in Anaconda, instead of in Great Falls. This means a large reduction in the matter of transporation, as all the low grade ore sent to Great Falls was hauled by the Great Northern railway and when the change goes into operation the ore will be hauled over the railway line of the company. About Feb. 1 one-half of the Great Falls concentrator will be closed down, and about May 1 the balance of the mill will go down. The changes and improvements made at the Washoe works have not only increased the capacity of the plant but have reduced the cost of operation and this will bring about a large saving. The plant at Great Falls is to be devoted entirely to the smelting business. The Anaconda company is continually considering practicable means for a reduction in the cost of producing the red metal, and notwithstanding the statement of some writers that it is costing the company around 10 to 10½ cents a pound to put the copper on the market, no one who is at all familiar with the operations of the big corporation and the wonderful economical changes made in the past few years believes any such statements. If the real facts could be made available it would be found that the Anaconda company is producing copper around 8 cents a pound, when allowance is made for the gold and silver taken from the ore.

Butte & Zenith City.

The Butte & Zenith City property is owned by the same persons who control the Butte-Ballakava mine. Recently a fine electrical surface equipment was installed at the Butte & Zenith City, which is located five miles west of the city. The shaft is down 500 feet and just as soon as the water is removed a crosscut will be run for the purpose of exploring the ground on the 500-foot level. Supt. Newton says that he will be disappointed if ore in good paying quantities is not found. He says that it may be possible that the shaft will be carried down to a depth of 1,000 feet after some exploration work is done.

Corbin.

The Corbin Copper company is making rather slow progress with the sinking of the shaft on the Gambrinus claim. A depth of scarcely 300 feet is yet reached. Twice since the work of opening the shaft was commenced there have been crosscuts run with the expectation of encountering the Anaconda vein, which, it is contended, runs through the property, but beyond showing some signs of mineralized ground nothing was discovered.

Strike That Did Not Come.

It would seem that the Anaconda Copper Mining company has determined to take a hand hereafter in the demands of labor organizations for an increase in wages. Recently the Workingmen's union announced in an advertisement in the daily papers that after Jan. 1, its members would demand $4 a day. The members were receiving $3.50 a day, and up to three years ago the wages was but $3 a day. The members of the Workingmen's union consist of the street laborers, porters and janitors about mercantile and other establishments and some men employed about the warehouses and other properties of the mining companies. All the corporations, mercantile houses and several of the larger independent mining companies, headed by the Anaconda company, signed an agreement to refuse the increase and the members of the union forthwith realized that it was useless to attempt to put their demand in effect, and so the officers of the union, composed of Socialists, have decided to defer any action as to making a demand for the increase. The miners who work underground are only receiving $3.50 a day at the present time and, when asked to indorse the demand of the Workingmen's union, the Miners union refused to take any part whatever in the demand for the increase. This settled the Workingmen's union strike.

Wages For December.

The checks for the miners which are payable around the middle of the month for December are being made out at the rate of $3.50 a day as copper was below 15 cents a pound during the closing month of the year.

NOW AWAITING ITS MACHINERY

Only Part of Equipment Received By the Butte & London.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 10.—In these days of keen demand for electrical mine equipment it is a very difficult matter to secure prompt delivery from the Eastern manufacturers. The Butte & London company has learned this at considerable expense and inconvenience, for the company is now virtually tied up awaiting the remainder of the equipment ordered. The Nordberg part of the hoisting engine is installed and there is to come a 435-horse power motor, together with the necessary control machinery, before the unwatering of the property can be undertaken.

Orders have been placed for an Ingersoll-Rand air compressor of 2,800 cubic feet capacity and a station pump of a capacity of 600 gallons per minute for use at the Butte & London, and active development of the property is planned as soon as operations are gotten under headway.

The Butte & London shaft, now 1,100 feet deep, will be sunk an additional 500 feet in depth and from the lowest level crosscuts will be driven to the line limits of the Butte & London property, entailing about 2,000 feet of crosscutting.

Crosscuts driven from the 1,100 level by the old Butte & London company cut two well defined veins showing copper values of about 1½ per cent copper with an ounce or two in silver. As the Butte & London shaft passes through about 370 feet of gravel in sinking been reached before bedrock is reached, these ledges are cut at the comparatively shallow depth of 730 feet. The proposed deepening of the shaft will give depth of 1,230 feet on these ledges.

The work at the present time comes to within 175 feet of the surface. It is believed that with three shifts at work the property can be unwatered within ten days or two weeks. Following such repairs as may be found necessary to place the shaft in good workable condition, a large pump will be installed at the 1,100-foot station and active sinking operations begun. The development of the Butte & London has been undertaken by the Rainbow Development company, backed by the Congdons of Duluth in consideration of 51 per cent of the company's stock.

LARGE OUTPUT AT DOUGLAS SMELTERS

Production Last Year Aggregated 200,000,000 Pounds of Copper.

Douglas, Ariz., Jan. 10.—Huge annual production of copper, almost 200,000,000 pounds for the two local smelters, the foremost reason for the exceedingly prosperous year of 1913 in Douglas and Bisbee, is the story related by figures, made public at the Copper Queen and Calumet & Arizona smelters.

At the Copper Queen smelter the annual production was 122,250,000 pounds of fine copper. At the Calumet & Arizona the annual output was 65,200,000 pounds. Comparison with the figures of the previous year shows that the year just past was more than 25 per cent better at both smelters than the previous year.

Copper Queen production was 12,175,000 pounds during the last month of 1913. This is more than a million and half pounds in excess of the November production. The shipments from the mines were steadily increased during the month. It is freely predicted among smelter men that a still larger output will be made in January, the surplus going into the company's copper reserve to be held for a higher market.

The Calumet & Arizona also increased its production by approximately a million and a quarter pounds over November. The December figures are 6,300,000 pounds. The increase is practically all from the company's mines, the Shattuck Arizona company having maintained a steady average of 250 tons daily throughout the month. Whether the Shattuck will increase amount of shipments during January is a mooted question. Announcement has been made that whenever the Calumet & Arizona officials gave the word that they were ready to handle more ore, it would be forthcoming. It is now considered doubtful by the wise ones in mining circles whether there would be any immediate increase. The Shattuck company is most comfortably situated, with better than a million dollars in its treasury reserve fund and a comfortable balance piling up each month, at the present rate of shipment, to meet the current expenses of the mine, dividends, etc. The efforts of the working force at the company's mine in Bisbee are being directed principally toward development, and with amazing good results, if all reports are to be credited.

KEWEENAW LOOKS GOOD

Excellent Grade of the Metal Appears With Every Blast.

Isle Royale Starts Development at Seven Different Places.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Keweenaw Copper company enlarged its shaft at the Phoenix up to Jan. 1 about 120 feet, forty in November and eighty in December. Now that the larger hoist is in operation the work will proceed much faster. The excellent grade of the metal appears in its usual abundance with every blast. The shaft is unwatered about fifty to sixty feet below the bottom of the enlargement work. The Ashbed lode, with a very fair width and a pretty fair mineralization, was passed through near the surface by hole No. 51. This hole is located about one-half mile south of No. 49, which is about the same distance east of the center of Lake Medora. The formations of the latter hole did not correlate with those of the holes west of the lake and it was decided that the hole was too far north, which conclusion No. 51 has just proved to be correct. The formations of the last named hole correlate very closely with those encountered west of the lake and along fairly well with those of No. 50, situated three miles east of No. 49. After passing through the lode the drills entered some fissures and met with considerable mass copper. Both drills will be stopped very shortly and moved west.

Isle Royale.

That the Isle Royale management is steadily adhering to its policy of opening up its ground sufficiently to run the shafts to their full capacity is shown by their commencing development or new work at seven different places during the present period of reduced forces. At the beginning of the strike the work was proceeding at the rate of 2,300 feet a month in comparison with about 1,675 last year. The mineralization of the Isle Royale lode is much more bunchy than that of any copper lode in the district and consequently, to provide and maintain the proper reserves, much more ground must be opened. This greatly increases the expense, and the costs rose from 10.66 cents a pound in 1911 to 11.19 in 1912. In many mines here the good rock is so constant that the drifting not only pays for itself but also returns a good profit. Besides the yield per fathom fell from 16.4 pounds a ton in 1911 to 15.4 in 1912. When the drifting has advanced enough to furnish the usual reserves, then the only cost in the future in this territory will be that of maintaining them. Therefore the costs will diminish rapidly and the yield should increase two if not three pounds a ton, as the bunches are generally very good.

Huron.

The pumping out of the old Huron mine workings was started again two weeks ago at the fourteenth level, where it was in progress when the strike began. It will take quite little time before the water is drained out down to that point as on some levels there is a great extent of openings. As the lowest level of the old Huron mine was the twenty-first, there will be seven more levels to be unwatered.

Centennial.

On the Centennial's lowest levels it is found that the rich ground extending down from the South Kearsarge and the Wolverine widens toward shaft No. 2 and will soon cross it. In this statement allowance is made for the slant of the shaft on the plane of the lode, the shaft having been curved 15 degrees from the twelfth to the fifteenth levels, a distance of 300 feet. The general impression has been that the mineralization was receding from the shaft, and so strong has this been that the rich ground was known by many of the best posted people as "the hundred acres." Now it would appear that a just estimate would be from 180 to 240 acres. Moreover, these figures may prove to be very conservative, as not noe half of the greatest depth on the lodge has yet been covered and if the widening of stoping continue as it started it will include many acres more than are figured in the foregoing estimate. As the thirtieth, thirty-first and thirty-second levels, the latter two being longer than the first, have passed quite well into the ground under the Wolverine, as all the drifts have disclosed the grade good and uniform, and as all this territory is under the North Kearsarge and the Wolverine on the lode, it would seem that the good quality will prevail over this whole northern tract to the North Kearsarge boundary and the northern side. It would seem that it is the purpose of the management to test out the southern and western limits of this area and then ultimately, in order to save the long and costly tramming, to carrying out the plan given out by them about four years ago of extending down No. 1 shaft of the South Kearsarge into the very center of this territory. It is so quiet in the vicinity of the Centennial that almost all of the deputies on guard there were taken off Monday. The same day the night shift was resumed. This week will also see the pumping out of the forty feet of water in No. 2 shaft started, and when this is done, the cutting out of the plat at the thirty-eighth level will be completed. Sinking will immediately follow.

North Kearsarge.

North Kearsarge is working about sixty men underground at No. 3 shaft. As fast as the men return or are shipped in, the work at this shaft will be pushed, No. 4 started up, and the replacing at No. 1 of the wooden square sets apportioning the hanging-wall through old workings for thirty-five feet below the twelfth level by a shaft made of timbers of reinforced concrete will be completed in about three weeks' time. A new shaft-rockhouse was constructed just before the strike, so that the four lowest levels that were allowed to fill up a year or so ago with water, because the old outfit could not handle the work so deep, will be soon unwatered and mined. It is pretty certain that the yield at this mine will be considerably increased as it is known that the ground on the lowest levels of No. 1 is better than that above and that the ground on the lowest levels of No. 4, when sinking is resumed, will soon be only a distance of about 800 to 900 feet from the Allouez boundary along which the last named mine is finding an excellent grade of rock, and which proceeds under the North Kearsarge at an angle of about 40 degrees. It is also thought that No. 3, which was sinking below the thirty-second level at the time of the strike, should soon come into the mineralized territory just described in connection with the other two shafts, Nos. 1 and 4, it being between them.

TO INCREASE PRODUCTION

Breitung's Negaunee Mines Being Prepared for Heavier Output.

Immense Deposits Within the City Limits Not Yet Opened.

The Negaunee mines of the Breitung interests of Marquette are being prepared for heavier consumption. Attention this winter is being directed to development and improvement work rather than to mining. Much new underground work is in progress. In addition to considerable lateral development, two shafts are being sunk. One of these, the Breitung No. 3, will be ready to produce by July 1. The erection of a brick engine house at this shaft is nearly completed. The second new shaft is that at the Lucky Star property. A depth of 800 feet has been attained. As much more sinking is to be done, it is not expected the shaft will be prepared to add to the output of the company for a year at least.

It is significant in this connection that the first find of ore in the Lake Superior iron region was made at Negaunee in 1844. Ore has been coming from the field for more than six decades and yet the mines were never in better physical condition than is the case today. Negaunee will be a producer long after the rising generation has passed. Immense deposits even within the city limits have not yet been opened. The pioneer mine was the Jackson. This property, now in the possession of the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company, is still a producer and is still being explored. Only recently the boring of an exceptionally deep diamond drill hole was completed. This hole was put down to a depth of 3,000 feet. It gave the company a good idea of the strata beneath the zone whence ore is now being mined.

Two Probable Producers.

At the Mackinac and Gardener properties, in the Gwinn district, twenty miles south of Negaunee, the Cleveland Cliffs company is employing 100 men. The operations are confined to development work. Probably both mines will be added to the producing list this year. The Jones & Laughlin company, which is now drifting in the Greenwood district, west of Ishpeming, has ascertained that the mineral formation in that particular part of the Marquette range is at least 600 feet in width. Prospects for the discovery of satisfactory deposits of ore are considered excellent.

Operations in the Crystal Falls district of the Menominee range are proceeding on a basis that, while there is no especial vigor, the labor in the field is fully employed. Work is in progress at the Dunn and Armenia mines of Corrigan, McKinney & Co., the Quinnesec and Ravenna of M. A. Hanna & Co.; the Balkan, of Pickands, Mather & Co., and the Judson, of the Longyear interests. The Hanna properties are being developed. Their ore is of high grade and at times the mines will rank with the best in the Menominee country. The Armenia is nearing its demise, the last of its ore being mined. It is understood, in fact, that the mine will cease to exist within a few months and its fifty dwelling houses will be removed to the Great Western, a Corrigan-McKinney property, which is idle now, but which still has a lengthy life before it.

Dunn's Future Uncertain.

The future of the Dunn is uncertain. Exploration by means of the extension of a drift will be made in the adjoining Michigan Iron & Land company lands, and operations thereafter will depend upon the results thus attained. The Dunn's original ore measures are practically exhausted. Contracts for the proposed stripping of the Balkan tract have not yet been awarded, although bids from various concerns engaged in that class of work were received some weeks ago. The matter of providing a dumping ground for the overburden removed from the ore body is a problem occupying the attention of the officials. The first drift extended from the shaft at the Judson has encountered the ore body. Production will, of course, be of small proportions for months yet, but the initial shipments will be made this year. Much of the machinery at the Balkan and Judson eventually will be operated by electricity. The Peninsula Power company of Iron Mountain is arranging to extend its service to the field and will shortly begin the construction of a sub-station at the new town of Alpha. The electricity is generated at the Twin falls of the Menominee river. Mines in the Iron river district, as well as those at Florence and Commonwealth, on the way to that field, are supplied with the current. In time the service will be extended from Alpha to Crystal Falls.

SINKING SHAFT AT THE RAINBOW

Has Reached Depth of More Than Nine Hundred Feet.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 10.—The Third Sphinx shaft of the Rainbow Development company has reached a depth of more than 900 feet, and it is hoped soon to have it down to a depth of 1,000 feet. The Rainbow company has a group of claims to be developed by this shaft, the property lying about 2,400 feet northwest of the Black Rock property of the Butte & Superior. Crosscut was driven at the 600-foot point to determine the apex of the vein, but no statement is obtainable as to the character of the ledge at that depth. Sinking will continue, it is understood, past the 1,000 point.

THE CHARITABLE WILLIAMS.

Judge: At the funeral services of an elderly darky, of Richmond, Va., the following colloquy was overheard between two aged negroes:

"There ain't no use in talkin'," said Mose Barker; "Dick Williams, he was the most charitablest man dis town ever seed."

"I reckon dat's so," said the darky to whom Mr. Barker imparted this information. And he paused as if waiting for evidence on this point.

"Yessuh," continued Mr. Barker. "Dick Williams, he always owned a plug hat, and durin' my time I ain't never heard that Dick ever refused to lend dat hat to anybody."

REAL ESTATE NEWS

BUILDING PERMITS FOR WEEK SET WINTER RECORD

Twenty-three Contracts Call for Expenditure of $184,650.

Two New Theaters and New Factors Are Under Way.

Building permits of the present week ran up into a record aggregate for this season of the year. There were twenty-three in number, with the cost of improvements placed at $184,650. This is regarded as a good omen by architects and builders pastending an unusually heavy program in new construction during the year.

With the improvement in the money situation as compared with a year ago, the trade is looking forward to a number of propositions being proceeded with that have been held in abeyance for some time back owing to the difficulty in effecting financial arrangements to carry them through at the time they were mooted.

While it is taken as assured that a good showing will be made during the coming season in the way of the erection of business blocks and moderate-priced houses, mainly in the western districts of the city, the building of some more handsome homes in the East end and at Woodland is foreshadowed. It is understood that several plans covering work of that class, are now upon architects' tables.

Three Big Permits.

Three permits in this week's list aggregated $165,000 in amount. One for $65,000 was taken out by the Western Rug company to cover its factory building now under erection at Sixty-third avenue west and Grand avenue, and another for the same amount went to M. S. Cook for his fireproof theater being built on the site of the old St. James hotel on Superior street. Fawcett & Bergstrom, the contractors for the job, now have the stone foundation nearly completed and with favorable weather, a start will be made in a few days in running up the walls.

The next largest permit to go out during the week went to W. M. Abrahamson for the Zelda theater at 309 West Superior street. Fawcett & Bergstrom, who secured the general contract, have already wrecked the old building formerly on the site and have made a beginning on the foundation. The structure will embody some of the latest ideas in moving picture playhouses and will entail an estimated investment of $40,000. The plans were prepared by Wangenstein & Gilluson, architects.

N. Elmquist has begun the erection of two frame houses at the corner of Fifty-ninth avenue west and Grand avenues. They will cost about $3,000 each. The plans were prepared by Holstead & Sullivan.

Vernon J. Price & Co. have plans ready for figures for a handsome two-story store and bank building to be built at Crosby, Minn., for W. S. Pitt. It will involve an outlay of approximately $19,000.

* * *

The general contract for the Carlton county jail and sheriff's residence has been awarded to Jacobson Bros. The plumbing contract went to J. P. Adamson of St. Paul, the heating to O. Bruno of Cloquet, the electric wiring to Wiley & Gorilla of Cloquet, and the cell work to the Diebold Safe & Lock company of St. Paul. The structure will be one of the most modern of its kind in Northern Minnesota, and will entail an outlay of $28,894. The plans were prepared by Vernon J. Price & Co., architects.

The same architects will take figures next Monday on a six-room frame school building at Barrows, Minn. Its cost is estimated at $8,000.

* * *

Figures upon the proposed twelve-room Munger school to be built at Twelfth avenue east and Eighth street will be taken on Jan. 24. The structure is to be of brick and terra cotta and will be of fireproof construction throughout. OUTSIDE INVESTORS HAVE THEIR EYES ON DULUTH

Quiet Season Following Holidays, But Inquiry Continues Brisk.

R. M. Wolvin and Winnipeg Associates Buy London Road Corner.

While the volume of business closed up during the present week was light, just as is expected during the period immediately following the holiday season, improvement in inquiry from outside points was noted by operators.

Prospective investors from Vancouver, Seattle, Chicago, the Twin Cities and Winnipeg, were among the visitors in the city during the last few days. These parties came to size the situation up at first hand, and to look into propositions that had been submitted to them. It is intimated that as a result, at least three large deals covering centrally located business properties are likely to be closed up within a month. One transaction, will, it is said, involve a consideration of over $125,000. In addition two sales, each going over the $100,000 mark are likely to be consummated shortly. Both have been pending for some time.

Roy M. Wolvin Buys Again.

The outstanding feature of the week came in the purmhase by Roy M. Wolvin of Winnipeg from Adam D. Thomson of 100 feet frontage on the London road at the corner of Seventeenth avenue east. The consideration was not given. It is understood that the purchaser, who has Winnipeg associates, proposes to divide the property into thirty-five-foot lots facing on the avenue with a view to the erection of four moderate-priced houses. The sale was put through by A. W. Taussig & Co. This transaction makes the fourth in which Mr. Wolvin has been on the buying end during the last few weeks. In the others, he acquired frontages in Second street west, and the Ely property on Second street east.

E. W. Markell reported substantial inquiry for building lots at Lakeside and in the Greysolon and Motor Line divisions.

The N. J. Upham company sold 1½ lots in the Dickerman addition for improvement within the next few weeks.

* * *

W. M. Prindle & Co. sold two lots in Kenilworth park. The purchasers in each case propose to build in the spring.

* * *

A. W. Kuehnow, manager of the Gary Land company, advised the sale of eight lots in Gary Central division to outside investors. The company is inaugurating an active selling campaign in some of the leading points in the West. Agents have been appointed and considerable literature issued, setting out the manufacturing and investment opportunities offered in Duluth.

* * *

The sale of a Home Acres lot near Duluth Heights to S. Bozice of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., is reported by the Wahl-Messer Realty company. The purchaser has removed here and has started to erect a house.

* * *

The Ebert, Walker & McKnight company commented on a strong inquiry for lands in this district and throughout Northern Minnesota. The office disposed of two tracts in Mille Lacs and Aitkin counties during the week. The latter purchase was by Duluth parties, who propose to prospect for iron ore.

* * *

The Whitney Wall company reported the receipt of earnest money on two sales of residence property. The office is advised to have a number of deals under negotiation.

* * *

Richard Hanson sold to Charles W. Elston a house and lot on Second street near Twenty-seventh street west at a consideration of $7,000.

Trades Assembly Discusses Alaskan Railway and Bigger Navy.

The Federated Trades' assembly approved the building of a government railroad in Alaska and the construction of two battleships each year, at a meeting held last night. Practically every union of the city affiliated with the assembly was represented.

In the resolutions adopted it was asserted that the building of an Alaskan railroad would cause the coal mines to be opened and give employment to a large number of men. The building of two battleships a year was deemed necessary that the country might be properly defended.

Plans for the convention of the state Federation of Labor, which will be held in Duluth the third week in July, were discussed, and committees appointed to raise funds to defray all expenses. The meeting is expected to bring 300 or more of the most prominent labor men in Minnesota to the city.

A series of dances was arranged for and committees named to complete plans.

A committee from the mass meeting held in the Armory Sunday in behalf of the striking copper miners of Michigan attended and agreed to work in conjunction with the assembly in raising funds.

It had been arranged to pass upon two new amendments to the constitution, but action was deferred until next meeting.

Peter Schaffer of the cigarmakers' union was elected president of the assembly for the coming year. Other officers elected are: R. J. Coole, machinists' union, vice-president; J. E. Jenson, painters' union, re-elected corresponding secretary; A. G. Catlin, tyographical union, re-elected treasurer; Nick Olson, carpenters' union, sergeant-at-arms; trustees, all re-elected, Joseph Miller, teamsters' union; A. C. Barr, machinists' union; J. H. Powers, painters' union. Fraternal delegates to the Superior assembly, A. C. Barr and R. F. Brown, cigarmakers' union.

PLANS FOR BIG BANQUET

Commercial Club Will Hold Annual Event Early in April.

Membership Campaign Begun ---Reports of Progress Received.

The West Duluth Commercial club will hold its annual banquet early in April, probably Thursday, April 9, according to a resolution adopted at the meeting of the club last night. The general committee to handle the big affair will be announced within the next two weeks.

A number of important matters were discussed last night by the members. A communication was received from the officials of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad stating that work on the construction of the subway under its tracks at Highland street would begin next week.

A membership campaign to bring the total membership above the 200 mark will be started. It is expected to have this total before the night of the annual banquet.

Arrangements were made to turn the next meeting of the club over to the entertainment committee. The ladies will be invited to enjoy a program of music, card playing and other features.

The committee which was to select the names of members to act on subcommittees of the club failed to meet early in the evening to prepare a report. The committee will meet in the club rooms on Monday night.

WEST DULUTH CURLERS

M. J. FILIATRAULT.

M. J. Filiatrault is one of the keen followers of the curling game. As third man of the Sullivan rink he expects to assist the rink in many of its victories this winter.

Mr. Filiatrault enjoys the reputation of being the "heaviest" member of the club. In spite of his weight he is capable of making many of the smaller fellows hustle to keep up with him. He will probably be one of the rink's representatives at the Northwestern bonspiel to be held at the Duluth Curling rink next week.

By a score of 48 to 34 the four rinks representing the Western Curling rink took the first of a series of games from the Superior Curling club in the Manley-McLennan event last night. The games were played at the Superior rink.

Tonight the same rinks will play at the Western curling rink. The scores last night were as follows:

Western.		Superior.
Wade	16	Stenbury 7
Wieland	5	C. Helmbaugh 10
Zauft	16	Worthman 10
Dr. Judson	11	Foster 7
Totals	48	Totals 34

Up to the seventh head the locals were several points to the bad. A rally followed in which the visitors laid several stones in succession and brought the West Duluth men on top. This evening it is expected that a large delegation will accompany the Superiorites to the local rink to witness the contest.

GROCERS FINED.

Guilty of Interfering With Inspector of Weights and Measures.

C. A. Montgomery, inspector of weights and measures, yesterday afternoon caused the arrest of Thomas Foubister and William Mallough, grocers, on Grand avenue on the charge of interfering with an officer. Foubister pleaded guilty and was fined $20, while Mallough, who pleaded not guilty, was found guilty after a hearing and assessed a fine of a similar amount.

According to the story told by the grocers this morning Montgomery had brought a boy to whom they had sold a basket of potatoes, back into the store for the purpose of weighing the potatoes. Requesting the storekeepers to weigh the potatoes he had been refused and after some words Foubister had pushed the inspector to one side, at the same time spilling the potatoes.

Mr. Mallough said this morning that the inspector had exceeded his authority in some of the demands made on them and that this had been resented by both proprietors.

Railroads

HOLDING DOWN TWO POSITIONS

C. L. Kennedy Is Agent at Both Duluth and St. Paul.

Charles L. Kennedy, for a number of years the commercial agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad in Duluth, is at the present time holding down two jobs. Mr. Kennedy's activities are evenly divided between Duluth and St. Paul.

On the first of the year Mr. Kennedy assumed the duties of his office at St. Paul. On the first of the year he also continued to hold the responsibilities of the office here. He will continue to labor in both of the cities at once, in so far as it is possible to be ubiquitous, until his successor is appointed for Duluth.

While away from Duluth, visiting friends and relatives in the South, Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy visited the house Mrs. Kennedy was born in at Charleston. The house is 125 years old.

OMAHA RECEIPTS MAKE GOOD GAIN

A. W. Trenholm general manager of the Omaha system; E. B. Ober, general freight agent of the same railroad, and J. R. Peachin, general superintendent, were in Duluth late yesterday upon an official trip of inspection of the terminals of the road.

According to the statement of General Manager Trenholm the receipts of the Omaha for December of last year are ahead of those of 1912, and so far the receipts of the present month are ahead of those for a similar period of January of last year. Mr. Trenholm stated that the receipts of the road for the past year would exceed those of the previous year.

All of the officials were optimistic in regard to the business of the present season, declaring that there was a general feeling of confidence in business circles.

TO REGULATE SALE OF ARMS

Shooting of Officer Mooney May Result in New Ordinance.

As a result of the shooting of Patrolman Neil J. Mooney, who died at the Graham hospital Thursday morning, the city commission may pass an ordinance regulating the sale of firearms in the city.

Chief of Police Troyer is very much in favor of an ordinance similar to the one now in force in Chicago, which regulates the sale of guns and revolvers and compels every purchaser to get a permit from one of the officials of the city police department. In this way the police are able to keep tab on all purchasers and oftentimes have even arrested some of these applicants, who were fugitives from justice or were then being watched by the authorities.

The proposed ordinance may be referred to the grand jury now in session and should such an ordinance be recommended by that body, it will undoubtedly be adopted by the city commission.

CITY MAY CHARGE FOR USE OF WALKS

But Space Under Them Belongs to Property Owners.

The city may charge for sidewalk space which is used for the display of goods but it cannot collect any revenue for vault space under them, according to City Attorney Harvey S. Clapp.

He suggests that if a charge is to be made for sidewalk space it be in the form of a license fee. The opinion was rendered in response to a request made by the commissioners at a recent council meeting.

VILLA IS PREPARING TO MARCH SOUTHWARD TO ATTACK CAPITAL

Huerta's Power in North Crushed By Fall of Ojinaga.

Caring for 2,000 Refugees Is Problem for United States.

England Demands Protection for British Railroad in Mexico.

Presidio, Tex., Jan. 12.—Believing that the retreat of the Federal army from Ojinaga, Mex., has completely crushed the Huerta government in the north of Mexico, Gen. Francisco Villa today said he would begin tomorrow to move his army to Chihuahua, preparatory to his campaign southward.

Since all the Federals who were in Ojinaga have fled to the United States, Gen. Villa said he would leave only a few soldiers on the border near here. At Chihuahua he expects to have a force of 10,000 men from which to draw in attacks on Zacatecas, Aguas Calientes and Guadalajara.

"The defeat of the Northern division of the Federal army leaves us concerned only with the South," said Gen. Villa. "The few remaining Federal garrisons on the west and east coasts will be driven out by the rebel forces now surrounding them. Mexico City has always been my destination."

Ojinaga a Wreck.

The little village of Ojinaga is a wreck from its recent bombardment, but Gen. Villa has ordered it put in condition. According to Gen. Ortega, no military executions have occurred. Only 1,000 rebels occupy the houses. Others are scattered over the country on foraging expeditions. About 3,000 have already been sent en route to Chihuahua.

Maj. McNamee having received orders from Brig.-Gen. Bliss at San Antonio to remove to the nearest railroad all the Federal soldiers and civilians now being held in Presidio, the crowd of more than 4,000 refugees and soldiers will probably march soon for Marfa, Tex., sixty-seven miles over a mountain road. All the refugees are

MEN FIGHT TO WORK FOR SHARE IN PROFITS

Ten Thousand in Riot Do Damage to Ford Motor Factory.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 12.—A crowd of men estimated at 10,000, seeking employment today at the plant of the Ford Motor company, started serious rioting when they were told, after they had stood in the freezing cold for several hours, that work could not be given them today. An officer was knocked down, his clothes partially torn off and bricks and other missiles were hurled through the windows and doors of the factory. After a fire hose had been turned on the crowd, the rioters dispersed. Five arrests were made.

The efforts of a policeman to turn the crowd away from the factory doors started the trouble.

"We can't stand here and freeze to death," shouted some of the leaders, and a concerted rush was made toward the building entrance. Several hundred managed to get inside the plant before the trouble makers were under control.

Nine Above Zero.

The thermometer registered 9 deg. above zero and many of the men had been standing in line since long before daylight.

Announcement by the company of a $10,000,000 profit-sharing distribution among its employes in 1914 has brought thousands of employment seekers to the plant during the last week, but the first serious trouble was experienced today. The profit-sharing plan went into effect today.

MAY TAKE RAMPOLLA'S PLACE AT ST. PETER'S

—Copyright by George Grantham Bain.

CARDINAL O'CONNELL.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 12.—It is reported from Rome that the successor of the late Cardinal Rampolla as archpriest of St. Peter's at Rome may be Cardinal O'Connell of Boston. This probably means that Cardinal Merry del Val, who would naturally succeed to the position, has declined it. The pope has been watching the work of the American cardinal, it is said, with warm approval. It is said also that the pope is anxious to obtain for the high post just made vacant a man born in a country not belonging to the two groups of allied countries in Europe, because of certain political complications which have occurred.

KILLED BY GAS HE INHALED IN MINE

Fuel Company President Poisoned Trying to Rescue Miners.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 12.—E. E. Shumway, 51, president and general manager of the Rocky Mountain Fuel company, died last night from the effects of poisonous gases inhaled in rescue work which resulted from the explosion in the Vulcan mine at New Castle, Colo., Dec. 17 last.

The Vulcan mine is a property of the Rocky Mountain Fuel company, and immediately upon news of the explosion, in which twenty-seven lives were lost, Mr. Shumway personally took charge of the rescue work. Upon his return to Denver from the mine two weeks ago he was confined to his bed and the slow poisoning of his system continued in spite of medical aid.

Bryan Is Back.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Secretary Bryan returned today from a ten days' speaking tour through the Middle West.

CONGRESS IS BACK AT WORK

Trusts, Rural Credits and National Defense Themes Are Up.

Labor Troubles and Woman Suffrage Also to Be Considered.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Congress got back to work again today after a holiday play spell. In the house, promptly at noon, Speaker Clark dropped his gavel, and a similar scene was enacted in the senate with Vice President Marshall in the chair. Fresh from a vacation which followed nine months of tariff and currency, members of both houses returned refreshed and ready for work at a new point in the Democratic administration.

For the first time since President Wilson ordered the special session last April, congress was without the overshadowing influence of any single dominant issue, such as tariff or currency reform, to be fought out to the exclusion of other business.

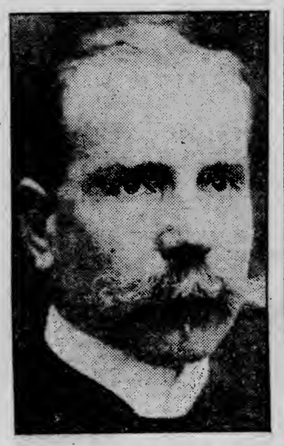

As a result, the work of the next few months in national legislative halls is expected to cover a wide range of subjects. Anti-trust legislation remains as an important factor in President Wilson's legislative program that must be considered by congress, but it will not displace other important legislation, as did the bills for tariff and currency revisions.

ORDERED AVIATOR TO FIGHT; IS CHALLENGED

RENE QUINTON.

Paris, Jan. 12.—Rene Quinton is the head of the Aeronautical society in Paris which sent Vedrines on his trip to Cairo. When Vedrines arrived he got into a fuss with another aviator named Roux, and punched him. Roux sent Vedrines a challenge which was declined. Thereupon Quinton telegraphed Vedrines instructions to accept the challenge. Vedrines' reply was that he did not take instructions in matters of honor, and that his seconds would wait on Quinton when he returned to Paris.

GRAND JURY PROBES NEWSPAPER CHARGES AGAINST THE POLICE

Forty Witnesses Subpoenaed to Tell What They Know About Conditions.

Investigation Results From Recent Public Trial of Paper.

County Attorney Has Been Active Since the Mass Meeting.

Charges of graft and malfeasance of public officials which have been laid at the door of the police department by the News Tribune will undergo a thorough investigation at the hands of the January grand jury which is now in session.

The grand jury reached this matter at 2 o'clock this afternoon. It is understood that about forty witnesses, including newspaper men, police officials and habitues of the underworld have been subpoenaed to appear before the inquisitorial body.

At a public mass meeting at which the News Tribune was put on trial for its attack on the city's department of public safty, Charles S. Mitchell of the morning paper staff declared that the books of one keeper of a house of ill fame show that $40,000 was paid by her in varying sums to members of the police force. It is understood that this charge will be thoroughly investigated and that the grand jury will probe it to the bottom.

According to Warren E. Greene, county attorney, who will assist the grand jury in its investigation, all charges of graft, malfeasance or dereliction of duty will be presented to the grand jury. County Attorney Greene has been quietly working on the matter since the mass meeting which was held on Dec. 17. Mr. Greene stated this morning that for the past week he had the assistance of the morning paper in preparing the evidence to go before the jury.

The Witnesses.

Among the witnesses who will appear before the grand jury will be

MAN AND WIFE ON TRIAL FOR FRAUD

Are Accused of Using Mails in New Mexican Swindle.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 12.—Extensive preparations were made by United States officials for the trial of Don A. Moun Day and his wife, Mrs. L. D. W. Moun Day, that began in the Federal court in Kansas City, Kan., today. The Moun Days are charged with having misused the mails in connection with a land project in New Mexico.

Nearly a hundred witnesses are present for the trial, among whom is T. B. Catron, United States senator from New Mexico, and men interested in lands in that state.

Moun Day and his wife were indicted in Leavenworth last July after a raid had been made on their offices in Topeka.

IDEAL WEATHER AND RECORD ENTRY LIST

The Northwestern Bonspiel Opens Under the Most Favorable Conditions.

Duluth Rinks Fare Well in the Early Morning Games.

With the largest number of rinks in attendance that ever registered for a Northwestern Curling association bonspiel in Duluth, play in the twenty-first annual bonspiel opened early today with some of the crack rinks pitted against each other in the early draws.

While the immortal Bob Dunbar is not on hand as yet, the general class of the bonspiel is declared by the veterans who have curled for years as above that of the average spiel. Winnipeg is on hand with one of the strongest representations that the Peg has ever sent down to Duluth, and with Cameron, McDermott, Stuart, Defiel and Henry Cameron, St. Paul has perhaps the best average delegation of curlers that the Apostle City has sent to any of the spiels of the association for a number of years.

James McCutcheon, a curler who started the ancient Scotch game in 1850 in his native land of Bonny Scotland, is on hand as a representative of the Minneapolis Curling club. Mr. McCutcheon is one of the oldest curlers of the Northwest and today the veteran was busy greeting some of the players who have been making the spiels for years.

Perfect Ice.

With perfect ice and perfect weather conditions for keeping the ice in condition for curling, the bonspiel starts

MRS. ROGER W. STRAUS.
(Gladys Guggenheim.)

LATE CARDINAL'S ROOMS UNSEALED

All Parties Interested in Estate Represented at Inventory.

Rome, Jan. 12.—The seals were removed from the apartment of the late Cardinal Rampolla today in the presence of representatives of all parties interested in his estate. An inventory was taken of everything found in the residence.

In view of the reported disappearance of the last testament of the dead cardinal, the investigating judge has cited several witneses to appear before him tomorrow. Those who will be examined include Baron and Baroness Rampolla-Pezzana; the three attendants of the cardinal; the nun, Sister Lucia, who laid out the body; Father Mancini, the chaplain, and several nuns who arrived at the house soon after the cardinal's death.

RACE BETTERMENT SESSION NEAR END

Birth Rate, Segregation and Mothers' Health Are Discussed.

Battle Creek, Mich., Jan. 12.—The first National Conference on Race Betterment, which has been holding sessions here since last Thursday, entered this morning upon the last day of its meeting. Arrangements were made to hold three sessions so as to complete the program before midnight. Many subjects were up for discussion, and they were the most varied in nature of any day since the conference began. "The Causes of the Declining Birth Rate" and "Segregation" were two of the interesting subjects taken up.

Eugenic selection of health in mothers and provision for the cost of bearing and rearing children should be made if the race is to survive, according to Dr. J. McKeen Cattell of Columbia university.

The restriction of the propagation of feeble-minded is necessary if the production of defective delinquents is to be avoided, declared Hastings H. Hart of New York.

Militia Accused of Drunkenness—Last Troops Go Home.

Moyer, Tanner and Hilton Have Left Copper Country.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Thorough investigation of strike conditions in the copper mines in the Calumet, Hancock and South Range districts of Michigan was proposed in a resolution today by Senator Ashurst of Arizona. It would direct the senate education and labor committee to ascertain:

Relations between employers and employes, so far as they relate to the present troubles.

The justice and reasonableness of a minimum wage and other demands of the strikers.

Original investments and profits of the companies.

Whether employers or employes have declined arbitration.

Whether peonage is maintained or access to postoffices is prevented.

Whether immigration laws have been violated.

Whether persons have been punished in violation of law.

Whether there is a combination in the mining district in restraint of law.

Says Militia Got Drunk.

The report of the investigators of the department of labor contains some statements not included in the summary made public last week at Secretary Wilson's office.

One portion, referring to the conduct of the militiamen, says the soldiers were not kept under proper discipline; that they visited saloons and many of them became intoxicated; and some carried revolvers while they were in an intoxicated condition.

"Considering the number of men involved in the strike," says the report,

DYNAMITE IS USED IN SOUTH AFRICAN STRIKE

Martial Law to Be Ordered in Transvaal and Orange.

Kimberly, Union of South Africa, Jan. 12.—A desperate attempt was made early today to wreck with dynamite the great railroad bridge at Fourteen Streams, about fifty miles north of here, on the border of the Transvaal. The rails were torn up by the explosion and portions of the approach were damaged, but the bridge itself withstood the shock.

Had the attempt succeeded, main line communication would have been cut between Cape Town and the Northern cities, including Johannesburg, Pretoria and Mafeking.

Shoot on Sight.

Pretoria, Jan. 12.—The shooting of dynamiters at sight is to be the feature of the martial law to be proclaimed tomorrow throughout the Transvaal and the Orange Free State as a result of the railroad strike. The proclamation will be of a most drastic character.

The government will attempt to resume the full service of trains on all the railroads tomorrow. In order to safeguard crews and passengers, regulations usually imposed only during a state of siege are to be introduced.

Concord, N. H., Jan. 12.—Believing his early release on bail is practically assured by the Federal court commission's report that he would not be a "menace to public safety," Harry Kendall Thaw today began making plans for visiting friends within the state.

Neither Thaw nor his mother would comment on the finding of the commission, although the countenances of both indicated their jubilation. Thaw said that if the court should admit him to bail, he would not leave the state for the present.

Since his detention here he has made many acquaintances, some of whom have invited him to visit them.

SCORES DEAD OF THE COLD

Central Europe Has Most Severe Winter in Generation.

Avalanches and Floods Cause Peril in Switzerland.

Paris, Jan. 12.—Central Europe is experiencing the most severe winter in a generation. The blizzards of a fortnight ago, after abating somewhat, seem to have returned with renewed vigor.

In Eastern Russia 150 deaths from the cold were officially reported yesterday, and stories of peasants devoured by wolves are numerous.

St. Petersburg is in the grip of a three-foot snowfall, with communications cut off and food supplies low. In parts of Russia the snow is nine feet deep.

In Bavaria and Alsace-Larraine heavy snow storms have blocked railroad traffic and wrecked wires. Along Mercury Drops Below Zero for First Time This Season.

Northwest and Central States Shiver in Sub-Zero Temperatures.

If the mercury had remained above the zero mark for two more hours yesterday, a 43-year record would have been broken.

As it was, the record of 1889 stands: Jan. 11 is the latest date in the history of the weather bureau for the first zero temperature of the winter. It was reached yesterday, but the mercury went below zero two hours earlier than it did in 1889. It passed the zero mark about 4 o'clock yesterday.

The coal man and fur dealer took an easy breath yesterday for the first time this season when winter got on the job in earnest. By 7 o'clock in the evening the mercury was down to 4 below zero.

The temperature kept falling until 8 o'clock this morning when a maximum of 19 below zero was reached, the coldest of the season. The air was dry and still, however, and few Duluthians realized how cold it was until after looking at the thermometer. Then they noticed that their breath formed clouds of vapor and the smoke from the chimneys went straight up.

HEART TROUBLE TAKES WELL KNOWN WOMAN

MISS MARGARET McDONNELL.

Miss Margaret McDonnell died last night of heart trouble at the home of her brother, Patrick McDonnell, 1102 East Third street, after an illness of several months.

Miss McDonnell had been confined to bed with her affliction since about the middle of October, but only during the last five days did the disease become acute, and during that time she has suffered greatly. She was born in Reedsburg, Wis., thirty-five years ago, and her remains will be taken there, probably on Thursday, for interment. The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed, owing to the uncertainty of the time of arrival of a sister from the Pacific coast, who is on her way here now. It is believed that services will be held at the Catholic cathedral on Thursday morning, and the remains taken to Reedsburg that afternoon.

Miss McDonnell has been a resident of Duluth for eighteen years and was very well known. She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Ann McDonnell; a sister, Mrs. M. J. McKenna of Bandon, Or., and four brothers, Judge J. R. McDonnell of Chicago and Patrick, John and Owen McDonnell, all of Duluth. Judge McDonnell will meet the funeral party at Reedsburg.

CHILDREN HIT BY CAR

Only Promptness of Motorman Behning Saves Two Little Girls.

One Caught By Fender, Other Rolls Under, in Coasting Accident.

Lula Dewing, 8 years old, 101 West Fourth street, and her little companion, Marie Thompson, 109 West Third street, owe their lives to the quick action of Motorman Morris Behning yesterday afternoon. The motorman's promptness in stopping his car at First avenue west and Second street prevented the children from being ground under the wheels.

The two little girls were coming down First avenue on a small sled and had reached a distance within a few feet of the crossing on Second street when the motorman, who was driving a westbound East Fourth and Grand avenue car, noticed the sled. The car was traveling at an ordinary speed of about eight miles an hour. Applying the emergency brakes and reversing the controller he was able to stop the car just as it hit the sled.

One of the children was picked up on the fender, while the other dropped under it. Both were unhurt but badly frightened.

This is the closest call that has been experienced by any of the street car men this winter. Several near accidents have occurred in various parts of the city but until yesterday none happened where the car actually touched the children.

The street railway company has been conducting an extensive advertising campaign warning the parents to keep their children from sliding across the street car tracks. This campaign has, according to officers of the company, greatly reduced the practice, but they aver that children often forget the instructions of their parents and the steep hills across the tracks are often used.

"I could feel my hair lifting the cap right off my head when I saw those children," said Motorman Behning this morning. "We were about twenty feet from the crossing when the kids hove in sight. I reversed the power and applied the brakes, but when we struck the sled I felt almost sure the children had gone under. I certainly breathed a hearty sigh of relief when I found that neither had been hurt."

Behning is Motorman No. 600. The accident occurred at 3:28 p. m.

Registers Good Comparative Building Record in Past Year.

Duluth stood well up in the list of cities throughout the country in respect to building operations during 1913, according to statistics prepared by the American Contractor of Chicago.

Taking Minnesota and Wisconsin points, this city showed a gain of 50 per cent with total permits in the twelve months of $4,026,011, as compared with $2,680,543 in 1912. Milwaukee showed 10 per cent loss with a total of $13,647,624; Minneapolis 10 per cent with a tally of $12,857,935, and St. Paul 16 per cent decrease with building operations reported at $9,441,221.

AFFIDAVIT OF PREJUDICE

Judge Hughes Will Not Sit in Eveleth Election Case.

An affidavit of prejudice was filed today against Judge Martin Hughes of Hibbing in the range division of the district court in the Eveleth mayoralty election contest case in which Jacob S. Saari, defeated for re-election, charges John J. Gleason with violation of the corrupt practice act.

It is now likely that one of the Duluth judges of the court will be obliged to go to Virginia to hear the case. The affidavit of prejudice was filed by C. J. Larson and Neil Beaton, attorneys for Saari. It is understood that this is the first affidavit of prejudice that has been filed against Judges Hughes.

DESPITE THE COLD FEW SEEK FREE LODGING

The police were cheered last night by the fact that only twenty-nine men appealed for "free flops" at the station despite the cold weather, which was the most severe of the season. A week ago the daily number of lodgers was about 100.

This leads the police to believe that there are but few unemployed men in Duluth. The cold weather and snow have stimulated activities in the woods and made it possible for all who want work to get it.

The class of men seeking lodging at present is said to be of a poorer type than those of other years. This winter, the police say, most of the men who seek lodging are content if they get a place to "flop" and one meal a day, while during other years most of the men were honestly looking for work.

False Smallpox Rumors.

A rumor to the effect that a pupil in the Emerson school was taken out this morning, having broken out with smallpox, and that another was taken out last Friday, was denied this morning by the principal of the school, who declared that no children had been taken out, but that a number who have been exposed to the disease have been refused admittance.

It is also declared that a boy, broken out with smallpox, went to one of the city skating rinks in the vicinity of the Emerson school on Saturday and tried to get into the dressing room but was compelled by the other boys to stay out. He finally went home.

CANADA MILLERS FIGHT FREE WHEAT

They Believe Canadian Parliament Will Refuse to Act.

While it is generally believed here and in the Canadian Northwest that the Canadian parliament will, at its coming session, remove the duty against American wheat and flour, thus obtaining for its farmers and millers a market in the United States, it goes without saying that such action will not go through without a fight being made against it. The Canadian millers, who are up in arms against such duty removal, have been encouraged greatly by the fact that Premier Borden did not give the Western Grain Growers' association much encouragement, and they believe that he will go on record as opposed to the removal of all duties of food products. This would make the matter an issue for the next general election, unless he is overruled by parliament.

Pressure on the government to remove the duties comes from two sources, the wheat growers of the West who want free access to the Duluth, Minneapolis and Chicago markets and from the "free food" consumers who want to see if free imports will reduce the cost of living.

The millers declare that free trade would result in substantial benefit to neither class. The grain growers, they say, can now export to United States mills under the drawback provision if the product is for export, as it likely would be, and, besides, free trade would permit Canadians to import early United States wheat and thus break the Canadian price.

Ruin for the Canadian milling industry would, they say, be the only substantial result of free wheat. This would result, it is argued, from the fact that United States milling costs are lower than Canadian. The Canadian millers could be undersold so that their margin of profit would be wiped out, though this margin is so small that no appreciable benefit would result to the Canadian consumer.

One Montreal miller declares the proposal has been deliberately designed by the United States millers for the purpose of ruining the Canadian industry.

SAYS PRINCETON IS SHY OF FUNDS.

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 12.—The growth of Princeton university is being impeded by an annual deficit of between $60,000 and $70,000 in the running expenses of the institution, according to a report which will be presented to the trustees by President John Grier Hibben. "This lack of funds," the report says, "is also working harm on the efficiency of the faculty, because some of the more prominent professors are being drawn away from Princeton through larger offers of salary."

HOT TEA BREAKS A COLD—TRY THIS

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

IMBECILE'S JEALOUSY RESULTS IN A DOUBLE MURDER AND SUICIDE

Two Aged Bachelors Are Shot Down By Rejected Suitor.

Murderer Then Aims Gun at Own Head and Fires.

Poupore's Siding Is the Scene of a Triple Tragedy.

Jealous infatuation for a 16-year-old school girl prompted a double murder and a suicide Saturday evening at Poupore's Siding, a station on the Great Northern railway between Carlton and Floodwood.

Harry Reely, 35 years old, shot and killed Alec (Sandy) Rogers, 60, and David Craig, 57, and then turned the shotgun on himself and ended his own life. Reely had been an imbecile for years, but had been considered harmless. All three were unmarried. Rogers and Craig were bachelor farmers and lived together.

Insanely Infatuated.

Reely was insanely infatuated with Nora Hall, aged 16, daughter of Mrs. Tina Hall. The little girl was stopping with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Zerely, who live opposite the home of the murdered men, Rogers and Craig.

Friday afternoon the girl received a note from Reely stating that unless she discontinued visiting the home of the bachelors, Rogers and Craig, across the road, that he would kill them. The girl showed the note to her grandparents and joked about it among her friends.

"That fellow is evidently crazier than I thought he was," she told her friends. She paid no more attention to the threat.

It is reported that Reely, with gun in hand, called for the young woman at the home of her grandparents Saturday evening. When told that she was not at home, he said, "I know where she is," and left the Zerely home. About 1 o'clock Sunday morning shots were heard, but nothing wrong was suspected at the time.

Neighbor Finds Body.

Matt Boland, aged 45, another bachelor, who has a farm in the same neighborhood, and who lives in a shack on the bank of the St. Louis river, found the lifeless body of Reely near his shack early Sunday morning. The top of his head had been blown off. Boland discovered the body when he went to his barn to milk his cows.

Boland immediately notified Mrs. A. Rock, Reely's sister, who conducts a restaurant at Brookston. Mrs. Rock in turn notified Coroner C. F. McComb, who ordered the bodies removed to Cloquet.

The three bodies were brought to Cloquet Sunday evening and are now at the undertaking rooms of M. L. Fansher. Coroner McComb and Harry F. White, assistant county attorney, went to Cloquet yesterday to investigate the affair. Today they will go to Poupore's Siding, and in case an inquest is found necessary, it is probable that the bodies will be brought to Duluth for that purpose.

Boland spread the news of the finding of the body. Among others, he notified Wilford Poupore, merchant, and William Nygaard, sawmill owner. One of the men had heard of the story of the note which had been received by the Hall girl from Reely.

Find Second Body.

The two men immediately went to the home of the bachelors, which is but a short distance from Nygaard's sawmill, and upon entering the house found the body of Sandy Rogers lying at the foot of the stairs in a pool of blood. He had a gun shot wound in his neck.

Without any further investigation, the men ran to the railroad station and told others of the finding of Rogers' body. When Poupore, Nygaard and others returned to the house they also found the body of David Craig lying on a cot in another room. The top of his head had been partly blown off.

The supposition is that Reely came to the house during the night when both men were asleep. As the doors of the house were never locked he walked in through the kitchen and passed into the room in which Craig was sleeping. Rogers had been sleeping upstairs. It is believed that he heard the discharge of the shot and was killed when he came to the foot of the stairway to see what the shooting was about. Both men were probably instantly killed.

Boland Escapes.

It is believed at Poupore's Siding that Boland would have been murdered by Reely had he not been out late Saturday evening. The fact that Boland had often warned Reely to keep away from the Hall girl and the circumstance that Reely's body was found in close proximity to Boland's house gives rise to this theory. Boland had no interest in the girl other than he did not like the way that Reely followed her around. On the night of the murder he was attending a social at the schoolhouse, some distance away from his shack.

Reely had often referred to Miss Hall as his "wife-to-be." The girl, it is said, at no time encouraged his attentions, but, on the contrary, spurned him. Rogers and Craig, who lived across the road from the girl's grandparents, took a fatherly interest in the girl, and frequently joked with her. This had been observed by Reely, who secretly nursed his supposed grievance.

Reely's parents reside near Poupore. Little is known of the past history of either Rogers or Craig, except that both men have resided in the vicinity of Pupore for more than twenty years. Rogers, it is believed, has a brother and a sister, both residing at Aitkin, Minn. The police of that city have been asked to locate them, if possible.

the low-lying Rhine villages watchmen are posted at various points to warn the people whenever the flooded waters reach the danger point.

Danger in Switzerland.

In Switzerland snow has been falling continuously since Friday. The danger from avalanches and floods is regarded as serious. Lake Constance is approaching flood level.

In Belgium the floods are receding, but the snowfall continues and a sudden drop in temperature would mean further flood loss. The damage in the flooded districts is already enormous and will require months to repair. The foundations of hundreds of houses are undermined, roads are washed away, factories are filled with mud and costly machinery ruined. The condition of thousands of homeless peasants has been made precarious by the blizzard.

In Southern England the temperature dropped suddenly this week, close to freezing. Along the coast the weather is foggy and cold.

Freeze Saving Car Fare.

Jauer, Prussian Silesia, Germany, Jan. 12.—A Russian family of seven persons who had been employed in the vicinity of this town were frozen to death in a blizzard today while tramping back to Russia in order to save the railroad fare.

MISSED MAKING WEATHER RECORD BY ONLY TWO HOURS

was besieged with calls regarding the weather this morning, and he had to "spike" the phones in order to carry on his work.

Mr. Richardson noted, however, that there was a drop of 36 degs. in temperature between 7 o'clock yesterday morning and the same hour today. At 8 o'clock the air grew milder. It is expected that the cold wave, which is now traveling eastward, will spend its force soon. Temperatures of from 5 to 10 below are expected for Duluth tonight and above-zero weather tomorrow. The air will remain clear.

In 1889 the mercury went to only 2 below zero and the cold wave passed quickly.

Northwest Gets a Chill.

Washington, Jan. 12.—The first winter weather of the new year and the first real cold snap of the present winter spread generally over the country today.

The cold was centered over extreme Northwestern Minnesota and was advancing eastward. Very low temperatures were reported everywhere east of the Rocky mountains, except in the Northeastern part of the country. A reading of 30 deg. below zero was recorded at White River, Can.

The low temperatures are predicted to continue in the Upper Lake region, the Ohio valley and in the South, where frost tonight will be felt as far south as Miami, Fla. The cold wave is expected to advance eastward rapidly, reaching the Atlantic coast by Tuesday morning. Generally fair weather is predicted, but storm warnings are displayed on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

Cold wave warnings have been issued for Northern Illinois and Indiana, Lower Michigan, Northwestern Ohio, West Virginia, New York, except the extreme west portion, the north and west portions of Pensylvania and Western New England.

Cold and Gale in St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Swept on the wings of a fifty-mile gale, zero weather arrived in St. Paul for the first time this winter. After a steady drop from the 28 deg. mark at noon yesterday, the maximum for the day, the mercury touched the zero mark at 10 p. m., 5 deg. below at midnight, with 10 below zero at 7 a. m. today.

The indications were that the cold wave from the northwest will be short lived. Forecaster Ryker predicted a rising temperature for tomorrow.

Crookston's First Cold.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first real winter weather was experienced Sunday. The thermometer dropped to 2 deg. below zero, which with a stiff north wind made it pretty chilly.

Takes Icy Swim.

Racine, Wis., Jan. 12.—Several hundred people gathered at the lake front yesterday to watch Herman Raethers, porter at a local hotel, take his daily plunge in the waters of Lake Michigan.

It was expected that because of the frigid temperature the plunge would be abandoned, but Raethers, attired in a worn bathing suit, made his usual appearance and wallowed in the waves for ten minutes.

Although some 40 years old, he seems to suffer no ill effects of his icy bath and intends to continue the practice throughout the winter.

Near Zero in Chicago.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—The first real winter weather in Chicago rode in on a high wind over night and today thermometers in the more exposed positions were at zero or only slightly above. There was no snow.

First Below Zero Weather.

La Crosse, Wis., Jan. 12.—The first below zero temperature of the winter was recorded here today, when the thermometer at the government station went to 6 below. This breaks the record in this weather district for forty years, being the latest date on which below zero temperature arrived. Continued cold weather is predicted for tomorrow.

Sixty-Mile Wind and Cold.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 12.—The coldest weather of the winter was borne in upon Clevelanu today on the wings of a gale which blew sixty miles an hour from the northwest. The mercury registered 14 above zero at 8 o'clock and was falling a degree an hour. The wind smashed plate glass windows all over the city and caused numerous accidents. There was a light fall of snow. Colder weather is expected tonight.

Drop of 30 Degrees.

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 12.—A drop of nearly 30 deg. in temperature was recorded throughout Central Iowa today. In Des Moines the thermometer stood at 1.3 above zero at 6 o'clock. Burlington reported 3 above zero and Sioux City the coldest of the winter—2 below.

Cold in Missouri.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 12.—The coldest weather of the winter came to the Lower Missouri valley today when the thermometers here and in St. Joseph, Mo., registered 10 deg. above zero and 3 above at Omaha.

THAW'S HOPES RAISED BY REPORT THAT HE IS "SAFE"

He is planning, he said, to make his first visit at the home of one of his custodians, Sheriff Holman P. Drew, at Berlin. Drew is the official who arrested him near Colebrook after his deportation from Canada.

Thaw's tentative arrangements provide for a trip covering nearly every section of New Hampshire.

After the lawyers have had sufficient time to study the report of the commission, United States Judge Edgar Aldrich will give another hearing on Thaw's petition for admission to bail. The date has not been fixed.

Not Public Menace.

Thaw would not be a public menace if he were released on bail according to the report of the commission appointed by Federal Judge Aldrich to inquire into the state of Thaw's mentality.

The report says the commission finds Thaw is not now afflicted with any of the mental diseases from which he was suffering when he slew Stanford White. While the commissioners say that they have reached "a definite and positive opinion as to the present mental condition of Thaw and his probable state of mind at the time of the homicide," they refrain from expressing this opinion in view of their instructions from the court not to embarrass any subsequent litigation where the broad question of insanity might be involved.

"Upon the question of menace or danger through the granting of bail we may, however, be permitted, and probably are compelled," concludes the report, "to record our finding that whatever may have been the mental condition of Harry Kendall Thaw at the time of the homicide, upon which question we express no opinion, he is not now suffering from any of the forms of mental disease alleged by the prosecution at the time of the trials or subsequently thereto, namely, mania-depressive insanity, paranoia, dementia praecox or delusional insanity.

"In our opinion, it is reasonably probable that Harry Kendall Thaw's liberty under bail would not be dangerous or a menace to the public peace and safety."

Judge Will Consider Report.

The report is now in the hands of the clerk of the court and will be considered by Judge Aldrich in connection with the petition of Thaw for admission to bail under habeas corpus proceedings. In the rescript naming the commission Dec. 17 last, the judge said that after the presentation of the report the interested parties would have an opportunity to be heard further before the question of bail was finally passed upon.

After referring briefly to Thaw's second trial and his commital to Matteawan state hospital as a victim of "mania-depressive insanity," the report says the commission examined all the entries in the official record of the hospital relating to Thaw from Feb. 1, 1908, to the date of his escape from the institution, Aug. 17, 1913. Transcripts of three cross-examinations of Thaw by counsel for the state of New York on habeas corpus proceedings instituted in his behalf were also inspected.

The report then tells of the public hearing held on Jan. 7, at which interested parties were asked to offer evidence of acts committed by Thaw since his commital to Matteawan, tending to show personal violence and evidence to the contrary.

Harry Thaw attended church with his mother yesterday. Later they were informed of the finding of the commission, but although evidently pleased, neither would make any comment, saying that they were acting by advice of counsel.

If He Leaves State.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 12.—Should Harry K. Thaw be admitted to bail and attempt to leave New Hampshire, Attorney General Carmody will try to effect his arrest. The attorney general will have the support of the governor in any step he may decide to take.

"Go Into Business."

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 12.—Roger O'Mara, trustee for the estate of Harry K. Thaw and his confidential adviser, said today that while no definite plans had been formed for Thaw if he is released on bail, he would probably come to Pittsburg and go into business.

"Court action to establish Thaw's sanity in Pennsylvania will be reopened," declared O'Mara. "He has the ability to start and maintain a successful business, and he will do it."

VILLA IS PREPARING MARCH SOUTHWARD TO ATTACK CAPITAL

to be put to work preparing their own camps.

Among the wounded in the Red Cross hospital is William Steinhouse, Fresno, Cal., a 17-year-old American who was wounded in the arm while fighting with Villa's army. His injuries are not serious.

Up to Bliss.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Disposition of the 2,000 defeated Mexican Federal troops and refugees who fled to Presidio, Tex., from Ojinaga, will be entirely in the hands of Brig. Gen. Bliss, commanding the American border forces. The war department so announced today. Gen. Bliss reported he had authorized Maj. MacNamee to move the prisoners to Marfa.

Secretary Garrison said there would be no change in the policy towards escaping Mexicans, despite the fact that the feeding and care of so great a number will be a problem. The prisoners will be detained under guard.

The Red Cross has directed that its agents at Marfa co-operate with the military in establishing the Mexicans in a detention camp there.

MacNamee's Summary.

Gen. Bliss' report contained this summary of the border situation from Maj. MacNamee:

"Still impossible to obtain the number Federals here. Am organizing them to their companies and regiments; will report exact number as soon as known. On account of the great distance from railroad, great difficulty in securing supplies together with the fact they are immediate vicinity of their enemy, I recommend that all prisoners be forwarded to Marfa for movement to such as they be designated. Great number Federals' horses here; am purchasing supplies necessary immediately.

"Gen. Mercado has furnished certificate in case of Gen. Mancilla; have liberated him. Generals Salazar and Orozco with few followers apparently have made escape from Ojinaga early in fight and were not seen by our patrol. Estimated Federals on hand, 2,000."

England Demands Action.

Mexico City, Mex., Jan. 12.—The interruption of traffic between the Mexican capital and Vera Cruz by the cutting of the Mexican railway last night by the rebels and the attack on a freight train, with the consequent isolation of the American charge d'affaires, Nelson O'Shaughnessy, at a wayside station, caused the British minister, Sir Lionel Carden, to make personal representations to President Huerta regarding the better policing of that line, which is British property, and revived speculation in the capital as to how far the British government would go in protecting the property of its nationals.

The attack was the first serious effort the rebels have made to interfere with traffic between the capital and Vera Cruz, but their work was confined to looting and to burning oil cars. The train was stopped by a pile of rock.

Right to Land Troops.

In the concession granted to the English builders of the Mexican railway more than forty years ago, it was provided that they should at any time have the right to police the property with British troops. The incident of Saturday night scarcely had been reported when the British minister called on President Huerta and insisted better protection be afforded immediately.

President Huerta appeared not to be greatly worried by the incident. He attended a bull fight Sunday afternoon, and was given a tremendous ovation when he entered the amphitheater.

The fall of Ojinaga has aroused no public interest in the capital.

The greatest demonstration for many weeks was that of 2,000 Catholics who marched to the cathedral, where prayers were offered for the restoration of peace.

ASHURST ASKS THAT SENATE PROBE DEEP INTO COPPER STRIKE

"the length of time the struggle was continued and the bitterness caused by bringing soldiers and Waddell men to the district, the strike was remarkably peaceful. The only persons killed were two of the strikers, who were wantonly shot down by Waddell men and deputies at Painesville, and a deputy and striker who killed each other near Hortontown.

Sheriff's Men "Brutal."

"The leaders of the Western Federation of Miners, in charge of the strike, repeatedly warned the strikers against carrying firearms and using intoxicants, and very few were arrested for these offenses. Undoubtedly many men that started to go back to work were intimidated and some abused and beaten. On the other hand, the deputy sheriffs and Waddell men acted with great brutality toward the strikers, and in many cases beat men and women with clubs and night sticks.

"One of the most remarkable features of the strike was that in spite of the excitement and passion which prevailed, no property of the mining companies was injured by strikers, and in fact none showed any disposition to injure property."

Senator Townsend of Michigan objected to immediate consideration of Senator Ashurst's resolution on the ground that neither the report of the governor of Michigan on his investigation nor that of the grand jury had been presented. He charged the resolution was inspired by "political exigency."

Senator Ashurst denied it. The resolution will come up again tomorrow.

Senators Lodge and Townsend both objected to that portion which proposed to investigate state courts or the operation of state machinery.

Hilton and Tanner Leave.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Further depletion of the executive forces of the Western Federation of Miners was apparent today in the copper strike district. The latest departure was that of O. N. Hilton, chief of counsel of the Federation, who boarded a train early today, giving Leadville, Colo., as his destination, and the fact that he had some cases coming to trial there as the reason for his going.

It also became known that Charles Tanner, auditor of the Federation, who was deported and returned with Charles H. Moyer, had gone to Ishpeming and Negaunee in the iron district.

It was announced by R. S. MacKenzie, who alone represents the executive council of the Federation here now, that both Tanner and Hilton are to return.

Cold and Stormy.

Below zero temperature, accompanied by snow squalls, caused some increased activity among union committees today. It was stated, however, that except for additional requisitions for coal and firewood there would be no greatly increased demands upon union funds.

A different story came from the office of Miss Clarice Jones, in charge of the Associated Charities in Calumet. Some appeals for aid came as soon as the office opened, and preparations were made to handle a rush of applicants if the storm continued.

Miss Jones acknowledged that one of her difficulties was to persuade strikers to accept relief from any source other than the union. In this connection she recalled her testimony before Governor Ferris that during her Christmas campaign she had found many homes in which the big heating stove common among the miners' households stood dismantled because there was not enough fuel available to keep it and the kitchen ranges in use.

Imported Men Arrive.

Among the mining companies there was an optimistic note, based upon the daily arrivals of "volunteer" workmen and the fact that 400 more picked men are to be imported this week. One mine official estimated that 1,000 men would be added to the payrolls before the end of the week. Others, however, said they would consider themselves lucky if half that number proved themselves acceptable for underground labor.

There was a possibility of further public discussion by the companies of the department of labor reports issued Saturday. It was known that a digest of the document was expected from the operators' Washington attorneys, but whether this would come by mail or wire was not known.

Last of Militia Gone.

The last of the state troops left the strike zone today when fifty-two artillery men boarded a special train for Lansing. Several of the men announced that they intended to return and take service with the mining companies as mounted policemen. Copper country girls have promised to become their brides, it is said.

The troops came into the strike district July 24, the day after the strike started, and the tour of duty until Jan. 12 was said to have been the longest in the annals of the Michigan national guard. Their departure leaves Keweenaw county's law and order in the care of Sheriff John Hepting.

Spied On In Rooms.

Information regarding plans of officials of the Western Federation of Miners, said to have been gathered for mine operators by private detectives with a telephonic device, is being investigated by the special Houghton county grand jury and may play an important part in developments of the copper miners' strike, it was said here today.

Records of conversations between union officials and their attorneys in a Calumet law office and in a Hancock hotel have been turned over to the mine managers, according to the operatives, who hinted that some of the records already had gone before the grand jury.

Leaders Not Excited.

Strike leaders, however, did not become excited when they heard the report that their conversations had been overheard by the detectives. Use of the telephonic device first became known yesterday when detectives said one of the instruments had been in the Calumet law offices of attorneys for the strikers for five weeks last summer, and that recent conversations between Charles H. Moyer, president of the federation, and O. N. Hilton, its chief counsel, had been detected in the Hancock hotel by means of one of the instruments.

The arrest of two men in New York on charges of buying false affidavits relating to the use of "gunmen" by the mine operators already has resulted from the use of the devices, according to the detectives.

Moyer Going to Denver.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, returned to Chicago yesterday almost as unexpectedly as he departed last Wednesday for the Calumet district, where he was attacked and deported about three weeks ago.

Moyer was in conference with Yanco Terzich, member of the executive council of the Federation, and left at 5 o'clock for Denver, where he makes his headquarters. He will familiarize himself with developments in the Colorado strike situation and return to this city later in the week. He will attend the convention of delegates of the United Mine Workers at Indianapolis, which opens Jan. 20.

Mr. Moyer will be present at one of the meetings of the council of the American Federation of Labor which begins at Washington Jan. 19.

On Jan. 29 he will be at Lansing, when the Michigan Federation of Labor will hold a special convention to consider a state-wide strike in sympathy with the striking copper miners in the Northern peninsula.

At the Washington council, Moyer said, he would urge the American Federation of Labor to seek to obtain a congressional investigation of the strike situation, and Federal investigation if possible.

He will visit the Michigan federation, he said, to urge the Michigan miners to go on a state-wide strike, and at Indianapolis he will seek only to unite the interests of the United Mine Workers and the Western Federation of Miners more firmly.

Moyer said he expected to be back here from Denver not later than Friday, and that he probably would go to Washington without returning to the Michigan peninsula.

Join Move for Peace.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 12.—The executive board of the Wisconsin Federation of Labor last night decided at its semi-annual meeting to unite in the movement of the various state federations to send a delegate each to a conference at Houghton, Mich., Jan. 20, to try to end the copper strike.

WILSON ON WAY BACK TO THE WHITE HOUSE

President Looks in Best Health Since His Inauguration.

On Board President Wilson's Special Train, West Point, Ga., Jan. 12.—President Wilson today journeyed homeward, ready to take up governmental problems with renewed vigor. He looked physically refreshed by his vacation of nearly three weeks at Pass Christian, Miss., and appeared in better health than at any time since his inauguration.

The president told members of his party that he might go to the Gulf coast again for a winter vacation. His desire for isolation was courteously observed during his stay there, and he was not annoyed by the horde of callers who daily seek to see him at the White House.

Aside from John Lind, his personal representative in Mexico, the only person who came to Pass Christian to see the president on business was Mrs. Margaret Cardwell of Beaumont, Tex. While she did not get an audience with the president, a note from her reached him.

Mrs. Cardwell's Complaint.

Mrs. Cardwell said she had made the journey from Mexico with financial difficulty, and sought justice in her suit against a railroad of that state from whom she claimed damages for the death of her husband, a conductor. The president sent Dr. Cary T. Grayson, his naval aide, to ask Mrs. Cardwell to prepare a statement of the facts and send them to the White House.

Dr. Grayson today received a telegram from Cooney Hansborough, his fellow townsman at Culpepper, Va., telling him that if the president's train would stop at Culpepper, "the whole town" would be at the station to meet him. Several weeks ago when Dr. Grayson did have an ambition of his youth gratified in having a fast train stop at his town of Culpepper, no one was there to greet the presidential party except Hansborough, an odd character whose ailments Dr. Grayson has attended for many years.

The president's aide regretfully answered his friend that the train would pass through Culpepper at 5 o'clock tomorrow morning and therefore could not stop.

In Judge Fesler's division of the district court this morning, the taking of testimony in the divorce action brought by Joseph Gutman against his wife, Agnes Gutman, on the grounds of cruelty, was concluded. The court took the case under advisement. Mrs. Gutman is seeking a separation also.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Jane Roberts, widow of the first president of the Republic of Liberia, died in London, Jan. 10, at the age of 94. Her husband, J. J. Roberts, was elected president in 1847 and served several terms afterwards. He died in 1874 while in office. Mrs. Roberts died at the residence of the negro mayor of the London borough of Battersea, J. R. Archer.

John J. Harvey, publisher of the Milwaukee Free Press, died in Milwaukee, Jan. 11, of apoplexy.

George W. Peckham, nationally known as an educator, author and entomologist, died at his home in Milwaukee, Jan. 11, after a brief illness, aged 68 years.

David Laird, Indian commissioner of Canada, former minister of the interior, and first governor of Northwest territory, died in Ottawa, Can., aged 91 years.

Mr. Laird was the owner of the Charlottetown Patriot and an active journalist when he entered public life in 1863 as a delegate to Ottawa to conclude negotiations for the entrance of Prince Edward Island into the Dominion of Canada. On the consummation of that event he was chosen minister of the interior. Since 1898 he had devoted his energies largely to the relations between the government and the Indians among whom he established a reputation for integrity, sympathy and fair judgment. Practically all the Indian tribes in the dominion called him "The Big Chief." He was the author of a book on "Our Indian Treaties."

REDMEN WILL HOLD INSTALLATION

Mesaba Tribe Will Join Superior Lodge for Ceremonies.

Mesaba tribe, No. 25, Independent Order of Redmen, will hold its annual installation of officers tomorrow night at the Great Eastern hall, 210 North Central avenue. Preparations for the affair are being made by a committee composed of James E. Foubister, Louis Christianson and Ed. Sugars. Thomas McKeon, chairman of the national judiciary committee for the order, will be installing officer.

The officers to be installed are: Ed. Sugars, sachem; Louis Christianson, senior sagamore; Nels Wilner, keeper of records; J. C. Ramsbottom, keeper of wampum.

Plans are also being made for an initiation of a large class of candidates to take place on Jan. 27. The degree team from Superior, headed by Mayor Konkel, will officiate at these ceremonies. A number of members from other tribes of Duluth, Superior and Proctor are expected to be present on that evening.

WEST DULUTH CURLERS

Ed Gustafson, one of the prominent curlers playing on the Judson rink, takes claim for being largely responsible for the rink's series of victories this winter. He says that his ability as a wielder of the broom brought many of the stones to the exact spot where the skip wanted them laid.

Mr. Gustafson has been curling for the past three years, and, according to his own statement, he is becoming a bigger "bug" on the game each year.

Curling fans were treated to a heartbreaking exhibition Saturday night, when the final contest between Superior and the Western curling rinks were played on the local ice. The victory was far from being a one-sided affair, and up to the last head belonged to either rink. The final score was 50 to 47 in favor of the West Duluth club.

The Superior curlers started out as if they had blood in their eyes and were seeking vengeance for the defeat of the night before. The Heimbaugh rink of the visiting aggregation started things by laying two in the first head and coming right back with five more in the second. In the fifth head this rink had a clear lead of ten points over the Zauft aggregation. While Heimbaugh was doing things to his opponent, Stanbury was treating the Wade rink in a similar way, while Judson and Foster and Wieland and Wortham were playing even.

The change began to come after the sixth head. Zauft laid three twice in succession and then came in strong with a five head, bringing his rink to a tying position. Judson stole a lead on his opponent by laying four stones twice in succession, while Wieland held his man down to a tie. The final came when Wade managed to lay two in the last head, the first that his rink had scored in six heads.

The scores were as follows:

Western—		Superior—
Zauft	14	C. Heimbaugh..	13
Wieland	12	Wortham	12
Wade	7	Stanbury	14
Judson	17	Foster	8
Total	50	Total	47

The victory gives the members of the Western Curling club an opportunity of playing the Duluth Curling club a series of games for the Manley-McLennan trophy. This will be played immediately following the bonspiel.

The ice is said to be in excellent condition. The cold weather of the past two days has given the caretaker an opportunity of making good ice.

It is proposed to have band music for skating every Tuesday and Friday evenings for the remainder of the season. From sixteen to twenty numbers will be played each evening.

CONSIDERING NEW RATES

Commission Asked to Approve Schedule of Water Department.

Paving of West Superior Street Will Be Ordered.

Commissioner Leonidas Merritt, head of the utility division, will ask the council at its regular meeting at the city hall this afternoon to approve the new schedule of water rates put into effect by the water and light department.

The commissioner asked City Attorney Clapp if this action is necessary and received an opinion that the attorney does not know if this is required but recommending that it be done.

The new schedule of payment for water for domestic purposes is 16 cents per hundred cubic feet for the first 10,000 feet; 12 cents for the second 10,000 feet, and 8 cents for all over that amount. For elevators, motors, refrigerators the rate is 15 cents per 100 feet for the first 1,000 feet; 12 cents for the next 1,000 feet and 8 cents for all above that amount. The minimum charge is 50 cents a month. A charge of $1 per month, per inch of pipe diameter, is made for fire service connections.

Finance Commissioner F. J. Voss expects a number of favorable bids on the $400,000 of refunding bonds which will be issued by the city. Dozens of inquiries have been received since the sale was recently advertised.

A resolution will be passed approving the payroll of Patrolman Neil Mooney, the policeman who was murdered last week, authorizing the treasurer to make the payment to Capt. A. G. Fiskett. The money will be for the benefit of the estate.

Upon motion of Commissioner Murchison the paving of West Superior street between Fifteenth and Twenty-fifth avenues will be ordered under that provision of the charter which allows this to be done without a petition being submitted. The thoroughfare will be improved with brick laid on a concrete base. The cost of the job is estimated at $65,643, of which the share of the city and the street railway company will be $21,647 and that of the property owners $44,000. The cost to the latter will be $137.50 per 25-foot lot.

Commissioner W. A. Hicken, head of the safety division, will be unable to attend, being still confined to his home with an acute attack of indigestion. He was reported to be in an improved condition this morning.

SAWMILLS WILL OPEN

Mullery-McDonald Company Will Start Operations Next Week.

Shipping and Sawing Will Call for Large Crew of Men.

With the opening of the Mullery-McDonald sawmills next week labor for about 300 extra men in Duluth will be supplied.

Logging operations will give men plenty of work for the next two months if weather conditions continue favorable, said a prominent lumberman today. The logging season will be at least thirty days short this year, and this will hurry the work for the remainder of the season. This will affect work in small camps mostly, it is said, as the small operator in most cases has not built ice roads but has waited for snow before starting hauling. The big operators started hauling some time ago on ice roads and have their work well in hand. The small operator will necessarily have to put on extra crews to make successful progress.

The opening of the sawmills in addition to those already running will necessitate the shipping of large quantities of logs by rail to the Head of the Lakes. Hauling in the woods will be pushed to meet shipments, and more men will be in demand.

The favorable weather conditions have cleared the city of most of the idle men, and it is expected that for the next two months the Northland will hold a transitory laborer and keep Michigan street and West Superior street free of the idle classes.

INSTRUCTIONS TO MOTHERS

Pamphlets on Care of New Born Babies Prepared.

The health department today received from the printer the revised instructions which are sent to all mothers with small infants, the names being secured from the daily birth reports.

The circular contains twelve pages of information and deals in simple, plain language with feeding and care of infants at all times, but more particularly during the hot months. The introduction makes it clear that it is not intended to supplant, but to supplement the advice of the family physician.

Under separate captions it gives directions for feeding, sleep, fresh air, bathing, clothing, care of nursing mothers, artificial feeding, care of milk, the most probable causes of sickness and crying.

EXCELS IN WIRELESS.

Canada to Have Three New Stations on Lakes.

When three new wireless stations on the Great Lakes reach completion this winter Canada will have the largest single stretch in the world covered by wireless telegraph.

The chain of wireless stations will stretch from Port Arthur to Cape Rice, a distance of 2,000 miles. The three new stations will be at Port Burwell, commanding Lake Erie, at Toronto island and at Kingston. Stations are also strung along the coast of British Columbia, and the Hudson Bay railway, now being pushed to completion, communicates with the outside world by a powerful wireless station at Le Pas, Manitoba, the point where the government railway connects with the Canadian Northern line.

WILL START SOMETHING.

Proposal to Change East Grand Forks Charter to Be Considered.

East Grand Forks, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Recommendations by Mayor O'Leary to abandon the present city charter for the new form provided by the legislature of 1909, will be considered by the city council tonight.

That any step to bring about a change in the charter will result in a bitter fight is certain, as under the present charter, certain conditions relative to saloon patrol limits, etc., are regarded by the saloon element as exceptionally liberal, while the proposed charter has greater limitations.

KILLS HERSELF SHOWING PISTOL.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 12.—Miss Nellie Russell, 18 years old, a student from Elmira, Mo., shot and killed herself Sunday at the home of her brother in Kansas City, Kan. Miss Russell was attempting to demonstrate to a young man friend the harmless qualities of a revolver she thought was not loaded.

HELP DOWN THE QUACKS

Duluth Health Department Makes Appeal to Public-Spirited Citizens.

Charge Charlatanism in Tuberculosis Cures By Unlicensed Practitioners.

That Duluth is afflicted with a number of quacks who "prey on human life for pecuniary profit," particularly through fake cures for tuberculosis, is the charge made in the health department bulletin for December.

The publication declares that the activities of these unlicensed practitioners can only be viewed with alarm and indignation and appeals to the public to aid in their elimination. The bulletin states that numerous cases illustrating local conditions could be cited from its records but gives one which is said to be typical, showing how the quack endangers the general health of the community.

Under the heading, "The Quack and His Relation to Public Health," the bulletin states:

Wrong Viewpoint.

"A great many people have a wrong view-point regarding the man who attempts to practice medicine without the necessary qualifications. Most people who give this matter consideration are apt to take an amused and tolerant attitude regarding him. We would like to call the attention of thinking people to the serious side of this question—a side which has far-reaching effects, not only to the individual immediately concerned but to the community as a whole. We can, from our records at the health department, illustrate our meaning by numerous examples but one will, in a general way, typify the whole. A man recently came to our tuberculosis clinic suffering with an open case of tuberculosis. This man had been under treatment by one of these ignorant exploiters of the distressed, his disease was not diagnosed and he was under no directions as to the caution he should exercise to protect those who came in contact with him. It is not possible to say how many people may be afflicted by this scourge because of the malign influence of this ignorant quack.

"It is a very discouraging feature of tuberculosis work to find case after case with a story similar to the one mentioned. Will the public continue in this apathetic mood? We cannot believe that you are fully alive to the menace under which you live, or you would make your influence felt in demanding that the quack be hobbled. The difficulties of controlling this disease are increased immensurably by the activities of those who prey on human life for pecuniary profit. We are paying out immense sums to control this disease but we allow our work to be nullified in large measure by the unscrupulous methods of the cunning charlatan.

Prevention Work.

"Intelligent methods consist in preventing new cases. This can only be accomplished by early diagnosis and the proper care of the afflicted. You do not need to be told that training and experience are the essential requisites for determining the nature of the illness, the degree of invasion and method of treatment. Self-laudatory advertisement or purchaseable testimonials and mouthy declarations, the stock in trade of the faker, should not be allowed to beguile the unthinking victim into the hands of these men. You cannot, by mere giving, discharge your obligation. You owe it to yourself, you owe it to the community, to see to it that your liberality accomplishes all that you intended it to. Is it not time then that swift punishment be meted out to these 15 normal practitioners, if not for the general consideration of humanity then for the purely selfish reason that your own loved ones are rendered much more liable to infection.

"We have in this city a number of unlicensed practitioners and no one can view their activities without alarm and indignation. If you cannot wholly subscribe to the doctrine, 'You are your brother's keeper,' possibly you can subscribe to it sufficiently to protect your own household."

Railroads

LINE SOON OPEN BETWEEN COASTS

Canadian Northern Nearly Complete From Quebec to Port Mann, B. C.

In the course of an interview just given out at Toronto, Sir William Mackenzie, president of the Canadian Northern railroad, intimated that his system would probably be ready to open for traffic from Quebec to Port Mann, B. C., by July 1 next.

The company, he said, laid 1,250 miles of track during the year 1913 and expended over $50,000,000 during the twelve months, all of which had been financed. Now that the Canadian Northern has been connected up between the East and the West, the next development, he said will be when the Pacific division of 774 miles, now building between Edmonton and Vancouver through the Yellow Head Pass is finished, which should be early next summer.

RIVAL TOWNS TO FIGHT ON RATES.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—When the state railroad commission meets at Grand Forks Wednesday to consider the question of express rates for the state, a lively contest between Grand Forks and Fargo is expected.

Grand Forks favors the adoption of the basis established by the Interstate Commerce commission, while the Fargo Commercial club and its traffic interests will oppose such step on the plea that it will unfairly discriminate against them.

N. P. SEEKING EASIER GRADE.

Dickinson, N. D., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—A Northern Pacific surveying camp has been established ten miles west of Dunn Center, with Norman Woody in charge, and a new line, which it is expected will be followed in the further construction of extensions to the Stanton line, will be laid out.

The party expects to begin operations this week, with Sydney, Mont., as the objective point.

By the route that it is now proposed to take, an easier grade would be obtained than is possible elsewhere.

Saier Stays With Cubs.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—Vic Saier, the first baseman whose defection to the Federal league has been rumored for a week, set doubts at rest today when his contract for three years more with the Chicago Nationals, was received by President Murphy.

FORMER DULUTH GIRL IS BRIDE

Miss Rose Beihoffer Weds in Texas—J. B. Middlecoff Best Man.

Of interest to many Duluthians is the announcement of a wedding which took place on Jan. 3 at Houston, Tex., at which Miss Rose E. Beihoffer, formerly a stenographer in the office of the probate court of this county, and John B. Middlecoff, ex-judge of probate, were members of the bridal party, the former as bride and the latter as groomsman.

The Houston Chronicle under date of Jan. 4 prints the following:

"A very pretty wedding last evening was that of Dr. Claude M. Campbell and Miss Rose E. Beihoffer by Dr. William States Jacobs at his residence, 2101 Main street, at 6 o'clock.

"The groom is a member of the staff of physicians and surgeons of the Minnewaska hospital, Starbuck, Minn., and the bride was formerly clerk of probate court, Duluth, Minn., and recently was employed in the United States railway mail service, postoffice building, this city, under Supt. George Leak.

"The couple were college classmates and the courtship has lasted for more than ten years.

"J. B. Middlecoff, ex-judge of the probate court, Duluth, Minn., was best man and Miss Mary P. Bellinger of this city was bridesmaid. After the ceremony, Mr. Middlecoff, in honor of the bride, gave a dinner at the Rice hotel and at 7:55 p. m. the bride and groom departed on their honeymoon for Chicago and the East via New Orleans. The wedding was rather hurriedly arranged, but several handsome presents were received."

French Abbe's Political Program Gets Them Into Trouble.

Hazebrouce, France, Jan. 12.—Abbe Jules Lemire, the only priest member of the chamber of deputies, has been suspended by the bishop of Lille, and M. Friends of Abbe Lemire have signed a strong protest against episcopal action, and it is understood that the matter will be immediately carried to the highest ecclesiastical authorities.

SLUGGED BUT NOT ROBBED

James Hefferman's Assailant Evidently Frightened Away Too Soon.

While walking toward his home along First street at the intersection of Thirteenth avenue west, Saturday night, James Hefferman, a bricklayer, residing at 3027 West First street, was slugged by a highwayman. The robber got nothing, evidently having been scared away before he was able to search his victim.

Hefferman suffered a heavy blow on the head and was knocked unconscious. On recovering he immediately notified the police of the assault. Nothing had been taken from him, although he had a few silver dollars in his pocket and a silver watch.

A number of hold-ups and robberies have been reported in this end of the city during the past month. Shortly before Christmas a robber snatched a purse from a woman on Third street, near Twenty-first avenue, and later Ole Elgstrom was held up at Twenty-ninth avenue and First street, but was able to fight off his assailants. On Thursday night burglars broke a large plate glass window in the butcher shop of Johnson & Co., 20 North Twenty-first avenue west, getting only a boiled ham and four pennies.

Only a few patrolmen are provided for this section and necessarily the beats are long. A resident of the West end said this morning that the repeated hold-ups and robberies will likely result in the department being asked for more men for this district.

HOW YOU MAY THROW AWAY YOUR GLASSES

The statement is made that thousands wear eyeglasses who do not really need them. If you are one of these unfortunates, then these glasses may be ruining your eyes instead of helping them. Thousands who wear these "windows" may prove for themselves that they can dispense with glasses if they will get the following prescription filled at once: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Optona; fill a two-ounce bottle with water and drop in one Optona tablet. With this harmless liquid solution bathe the eyes two or four times daily and you are likely to be astonished at the results right from the start. Many who have been told that they have astigmatism, eye-strain, cataract, sore eyelids, weak eyes, conjunctivitis and other eye disorders report wonderful benefits from the use of this free prescription. Get this prescription filled and use it; you may so strengthen your eyes that glasses will not be necessary. Thousands who are blind or nearly so, or who wear glasses, would never have required them if they had cared for their eyes in time. Save your eyes before it is too late! Do not become one of these victims of neglect. Eyeglasses are only like crutches and every few years they must be changed to fit the ever-increasing weakened condition, so better see if you can, like many others, get clear, healthy, strong, magnetic eyes through the prescription here given.

SUICIDE OR ACCIDENT?

Former Duluth Girl and Husband Gas Victims in Minneapolis.

Found in Bedroom Clasped in Each Other's Arms.

With their arms wrapped about each other, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Stevens were found dead of gas poisoning in their room at 829 Hennepin avenue, Minneapolis, Saturday night. Mrs. Stevens was the daughter of L. Manilla, proprietor of a grocery store at First avenue west and Fourth street in this city.

Stevens was 20 years old and his wife a year younger. The young people were married but three months ago and their relatives declare that they know of no reason why they should have ended their lives. They say that Stevens and his bride appeared to be happy and contented.

The Minneapolis officials incline to the theory that the husband was responsible for the double tragedy, although they state that the deaths may have been accidental. A gas tube had been severed, having either been deliberately cut or through some object falling upon it. Deputy Coronor Hobbs, who investigated the case, said that he would report that the deaths of the young people were due to accidental poisoning, but added that his examination did not clear away all the circumstances surrounding the mysterious case.

Sounds of Quarrel.

"Rumors have come to me that other persons in the house heard sounds as of a quarrel coming from their room at midnight several nights ago," said Dr. Hobbs, according to a report from Minneapolis. "I also heard rumors that these people heard groans coming from the same room the following morning, but as they come to me third-handed, I cannot put confidence in them. It has also been said that Stevens was extremely jealous of his wife and that she was seldom seen outside her own room, but I cannot say positively as to that, either. As nearly as I can find out the deaths were due to accidental poisoning."

When the bodies were found that of Mrs. Stevens was cold, showing that she had been dead for several hours, while that of her husband was still warm, indicating that he had been dead a shorter time than his bride. His arms were wrapped about his young wife's body. A pulmotor was used without success.

Stevens was employed at the Western Electric company and fellow workers stated that they did not know he was married. They said that he entered the company's employ last July, coming to Minneapolis from Fargo, N. D. He was married Oct. 9 last to Miss Mary Manilla of this city and from that time the two made their home in Minneapolis. The girl's father said that she had never written home of any domestic troubles, but wrote that she was perfectly happy.

Mrs. Manilla, her two daughters, Margaret and Nora, and son, Carl, left for Minneapolis last night to attend the funeral, which was set for 9 o'clock this morning.

CLERGYMAN WANTS "TO PUT THOSE WHO NEED HELP ON THE RIGHT TRACK"

Writes Letter in the Hope of Helping Sufferers From Colds to Cure Them as He Was Cured.

The following letter from a Phillipsport, N. Y., clergyman is of special interest. Rev. John Ernest Parker, "in the hope of putting those who need help, on the right track to get it," as he says, tells his experience: "For several winters I have used Father John's Medicine when suffering from a severe cold, and it has never failed to give the desired results. When living where 'Father John's' is not procurable, I have tried other so-called remedies, but relief did not come and we have sent quite a distance for this 'friend of humanity' which I am glad to testify has never failed when put to the test.

This letter is given without solicitation, but with the hope that it may be the means of putting someone who needs the help I have received on the right track to get it." (Signed) John Ernest Parker, pastor, M. E. church, Phillipsport, N. Y.

You should remember that neglected colds at this season of the year quickly lead to pneumona and that you can fortify the system with Father John's Medicine, and from it gain strength to ward off disease. Free from dangerous stimulants.

Father John's Medicine is for sale in Duluth by William A. Abbett, 205 West Superior street, 101 West Fourth street, 932 East Second street, also Boyce Drug Store, 331 West Superior street; Wirth Drug Store, 13 West Superior street, and practically all other drug stores in the city. "NATURE'S WAY IS GOD'S WAY"

Electro Medical Method Conquers Chronic Ills and Germ Laden Life.

Electro-Vito theory and method of treatment is not an experiment. It has stood the test of the public at large and has received the highest endorsement of all the many patients who have taken the treatment. It has been tried and not found wanting!

If you have rheumatism, catarrh, bronchitis, asthma, consumption in the first stage, weak lungs, chronic coughs, diseases of the stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels or bladder; female troubles, scrofula, bad blood, paralysis, piles, heart disease, etc., you will find this treatment will bring quick and wonderful results that no imitator or would-be rival could possibly afford.

It is efficient in this wide range of diseases because it imitates Nature with this difference—it concentrates Nature's benefits a hundred fold! It adds to these benefits the result of years of skill and learning! It is the last word in scientific treatment!

Starting with perfect health and living correctly, Nature is supposed to give to you enough of her treasures to enable you to remain healthy throughout a long life. But who does live right? No one! And after a disease has been contracted Nature does not voluntarily increase her blessings. She gives you only as great a portion as she gave you when you were well, and in your weakened condition these portions are no longer sufficient! What is to be done? Electro-Vito treatment has robbed the inexhaustible treasure of Nature and has stored her forces. These forces, multiplied a countless number of times, are then yours for the asking. Once taken from Nature and stored up by science they are yours to command!

The treatment is pleasant in every respect. It exhilarates, it soothes, and at the same time it destroys and annihilates the million upon million of harmful and often deadly germs with which every sufferer's system is clogged. Every drop of blood, every particle of tissue, every vein, nerve and organ is cleansed of the burrowing, crowding destroyers of health and contentment. It will do all of this for you if you need to be restored to your former self.

BUILDING IS SCORCHED

Manhattan Block Damaged to Extent of $1,500 By Fire.

Tenants Suffer $3,000 Loss—Difficult for Firemen to Reach Flames.

Fire starting from an unknown origin in the attic of the Manhattan building about 5 oclock Saturday afternoon damaged the structure to the extent of about $1,500, while the loss to the tenants on the sixth floor of the building is estimated to be about $3,000.

The firemen experienced considerable difficulty in laying their hose and fighting the fire upon their arrival on the scene of the blaze, owing to the peculiar construction of the building. The blaze was in the rear and the only way the firemen had to get in with their hose was through the front. This took considerable time, but after the hose was laid, the fighting of the flames lasted but a short time.

The firemen were compelled to raise ladders up to the fifth floor and stretch their hose through the windows. The alarm was turned in by M. Rossi, night janitor, who smelled smoke while making a trip up the elevator. Only a portion of the apparatus arrived at the first alarm, but a 4-11 call was sent in a few minutes later and engines from all the halls were sent to the scene.

Immediately after discovering the fire Rossi and several employes of the building notified all the tenants in the rear of the sixth floor and many valuable papers were removed in time to escape the flames and water. The offices occupied by the following suffered most from smoke and water:

Others who suffered slightly were: Labor World, Philip H. Seymour, attorney; R. W. Nichols, engineer; E. A. Swenson, real estate; Charles H. Teare, attorney; W. B. Lee, insurance; John A. Keyes, attorney, and the Duluth Blue-Printing company.

The Manhattan building is owned by William F. Fitch of Marquette, Mich., former president of the South Shore road. Whitney Wall, agent for Mr. Fitch, said this morning that the damage to the structure would amount to about $1,500, while the loss to the tenants would not exceed $3,000. This estimated loss was also made this morning by C. W. Wilson, assistant fire chief.

The fire started about 5 oclock and a few minutes later street car traffic on Superior street was tied up, so that long strings of cars were compelled to wait for nearly three-quarters of an hour before they were permitted to continue their runs. A crowd of about 2,000 shoppers lined the streets from Fifth avenue west over to Third avenue to watch the blaze.

SIEGEL-COOPER DOUBLES CAPITAL.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—Capital stock of Siegel Cooper & Co. of Chicago was doubled when the directors voted Saturday to issue $1,250,000 preferred stock. Of this, according to a statement by Max Pam, attorney for the company, $1,000,000 will be taken by friends of Henry Siegel and Frank E. Vogel.

"Under the changed conditions," says the statement, "Siegel Cooper & Co. will not have its capital and credit drawn upon by the Eastern houses, and will be independent of them."

The Eastern houses referred to recently went into the hands of receivers.

OLD OFFICERS ARE RENOMINATED

Only One Change Made in Board of Trade Directorate.

The caucus of the Duluth board of trade on Saturday to nominate candidates for office for the ensuing year resulted in renominations all through the list, with the exception that B. Stockman will take the place of H. J. Atwood on the board of directors.

The report of the committee showed that the following were nominated: President, W. J. McCabe; vice president, W. C. Mitchell; directors, D. A. Willard, G. E. Robson and B. Stockman; board of arbitration, G. G. Barnum, W. S. Moore and William Grettum; board of appeals, Thomas Gibson, F. E. Lindahl and H. S. Newell; committee on inspection, J. F. McCarthy, J. T. Pugh, A. M. Prime, C. F. Haley and H. A. Starkey.

The date of the annual meeting of the board has been set for Tuesday, Jan. 20.

THIS WEEK'S WEATHER

Washington, Jan. 12.—Freezing weather reaching down to Southern Florida is predicted by the weather bureau experts for the first few days of this coming week.

"The week will open," said the bulletin, "with cold weather in the Northwest, that will extend through the upper lake region during Monday, and by Tuesday night or Wednesday morning will reach the North Atlantic states, but will probably not extend very far south of the lake region owing to the prevailing high pressure over the Ohio valley and the Gulf states. There will also be heavy frosts and freezing temperatures Monday and Tuesday over the South Atlantic and Gulf states, and by Tuesday morning the frosts will probably extend over the interior of Southern Florida.

"It is not probable high temperatures will be experienced during the week over the South, but over the North, after the passing of the cold wave now over the Canadian Northwest, there will be a recovery to more moderate temperatures that will reach North Atlantic states about Tuesday.

"A disturbance now near Southern Alaska is already causing rains on the Washington coast, and this disturbance will probably move eastward and southeastward over the plateau and Rocky mountain region."

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat Less Meat Also Take Glass of Salts Before Eating Breakfast.

Uric acid in meats excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble. Agent, Wirth's Red Cross Drug Store, 13 West Superior street.

NEW SUFFRAGE LEAGUE FORMED

Will Support Parliamentary Candidates Pledged to Woman's Suffrage.

London, Jan. 12.—The Suffrage Service league has been organized, with many prominent women as members, whose first aims will be the support of parliamentary candidates who are pledged to vote for woman's suffrage.

The members of the society will make as their first aim the support of parliamentary candidates who are pledged to vote for woman's suffrage.

The next step will be to study the civic duties and opportunities that women already possess and to make use of them; and the third duty will be to perform some definite organized service for the benefit of the community.

While not using militant methods the new organization will be military in form. The primary unit will be a band consisting of eleven members, headed by a captain. Ten bands associated together will be placed under a leader, and these leaders will be ex-officio members of the governing council of the society. The captains and their bands undertake to work for the suffrage strenuously and along certain definite lines, political, social and philanthropic.

The league is headed by Lady St. Davids and among the members of the committee are Lady Clare Annesley, Lady Mary Plunkett, Lady Muir Mackenzie, Mrs. Ronald McNeill and Miss Bertha Mason.

PROSPEROUS TOWNS ARISE IN SIBERIA.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 12.—The stream of colonization in Siberia is productive of results in Western American fashion, M. Treguboff, during his recent journey found that 3,500,000 colonists settled there between 1908 and 1912. Freight motor cars now facilitate traffic on stretches up to 100 miles off the trunk line. On what was bare steppe only three years ago when the late M. Stolypin toured Siberia, prosperous towns, such as Slavgorod, have arisen, with electrical stations and power-houses, veterinary and sanitary institutions, and other establishments of a permanent nature.

PARLIAMENT AT PEKIN DISSOLVED.

Pekin, Jan. 12.—The Chinese parliament, which has been practically nonexistent for months, was definitely dissolved by proclamation yesterday, the administrative council having approved the proposal, purporting to emanate from Gen. Li Yuen-Hong, vice president of the republic, and the military and civil governors of all the provinces last December, suggesting the termination of the parliament. The proclamation says the parliament "will be reconvoked in due course of time."

CANADIANS USING NATIONAL ANTHEM

Substituting "O Canada" for "God Save the King." Much to Consternation of J. Sterling Wadsworth and Others.

J. Sterling Wadsworth of Toronto, Ont., who was at the Hotel Holland yesterday, is typically English, and he decries most emphatically what he believes to be the fact—that Canada is drifting away from "the mother country."

"I don't like it," said Mr. Wadsworth. "There is no question but that the sentiment in Canada is becoming ultra-republican. Why they even demand now that they have a national anthem of their own. It is getting so that many of them refuse to sing, 'God Save the King,' and instead in many meetings, 'O Canada' is being substituted. Scores of them will not rise as they formerly did when 'God Save the King' is played, but remain seated. It has even affected the University of Toronto students, and the western part of the Dominion is rife with this feeling. I don't know what the people are coming to; but I fear a split with the mother country and the establishment of a Canadian republic. The situation is most extraordinary."

Concerning the song "O Canada," which many Canadians are seeking to substitute for "God Save the King," it is said that it is a piece that arouses the admiration of music critics. It is the product of a French-Canadian, but lay dormant for many years. Its tone is that of a great psalm capable of expressing deep feeling. Its distinctive national character may possibly account for its long eclipse. Some critics declare that as music it takes rank with the great national anthems of the world.

Seven Guilty of Mutiny.

A recommendation of mercy was included in the verdict. Sentence will be imposed next Tuesday. The men found guilty are John David Reed, R. D. Williams, Alvin Anderson, Joseph Horsfall, Charles Lyons, John Edlin and William Joyce.

During the trial, the government abandoned prosecution against six other members of the crew, who had also been indicted for mutiny.

WANTS MORE POWER OVER THE MILITIA.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Secretary Garrison would not indorse any militia pay bill that does not give the United States greater jurisdiction over the state troops, including the power of sending them on foreign service without calls for volunteers, as was necessary during the Spanish war.

MOTHER! THE CHILD IS COSTIVE, BILIOUS

If Tongue Is Coated, Breath Bad, Stomach Sour, Don't Hesitate.

Give "California Syrup of Figs" at once—a teaspoonful today often saves a sick child tomorrow.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally — look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrup. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs;" then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Don't be fooled!

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Affinities and What They Imperil.

"I cannot understand why the public is so interested in a middle-aged woman who loved an old man," is a remark credited to one who recently set convention by the ears. It might be well to add that she called herself a "heart-wife," differentiating from the common, legal variety.

An explanation of the public's interest in this woman and others of her ilk is not far to seek. The public is interested because of the unusual in her conduct; because she has broken so many of God's commandments and men's laws, and because she is still eager to frame excuses for her own particular case.

And, through the public's interest in her, comes the great harm done the world by all the men and women who defy customs and conventions and attempt to set up standards of their own. Very unwholesome is the example of such people, their stories and their weak pleadings in exoneration. As a challenge to decency their influence is not to be considered lightly. In fact it is tremendous upon folk as weak, as yielding and as willing to find excuses for their sins as a good proportion of humanity will ever be found to be.

It becomes a matter of habit with many of these unconventional individuals—these soul-loves, etc., to think themselves justified in a clandestine love affair because they sacrifice something in return—namely, their own and other people's respect and all the ordinary accompaniments of upright living.

These do not seem so much until they are denied one. Then they assume giant proportions and the one who is responsible for his own loss of these privileges tries to deceive himself or herself into the belief that he or she is entitled to something in compensation —to-wit, another person's wife or husband.

Bah!

If only now and then, one of these soul-mates whose miserable lives are unexpectedly bared to the public would bravely admit the wrong they have done, I, for one, could feel a deal more sympathy for them. As it is, I lose all sight of their sad and sorry plight in my indignation over their easy assumption of other people's belongings.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

Six of the Seven New Acts Are Comedy Turns.

To the old-time theater-goer who remembers the favorites of the last generation, it brings many reminiscences to see James Thornton, better known in the old variety days as "Jim" Thornton, walk out on the stage at the Orpheum theater this week, and he cannot but wonder what has become of many of Jim's contemporaries.

"Jim" is not as young as he was twenty years ago, but he does not seem to have forgotten the trick of "makin' 'em laugh." In the days of Andrew Mack and Jolly Fanny Rice, and some of the other old-timers, Jim Thornton was in his prime, and he was one of the best of them all in his day. He's funny yet, although he lacks some of his former energy, and his monologue is good for many a laugh. When "Jim" was singing the "lower five and the upper ten," he was drawing as big a pay envelope as anybody in the business.

The headline act this week is a novel little burlesque entitled "The Lawn Party," and presented by ten clever juveniles, headed by William J. Dooley. Dooley is a better acrobat than he is a comedian, and does many funny falls in his impersonation of the constable. The ten children imitate their favorite stage celebrities, David Warfield, Robert Mantell, Bessie McCoy, Irene Franklin, Chauncey Olcott, Fay Templeton, Lillian Russell, Eva Tanguay and of course George Cohan are all imitated and the children are decidedly clever in their mimicry. It is a lively, amusing turn.

This week's bill is almost a straight comedy bill, six of the seven acts being classed as comedy turns. There is plenty of horseplay and rough and tumble hilarity, but it is all clean, and the big audience last evening found it very much to their liking.

Gillett's Monkeys had the audience in an uproar. The monks, about twelve in number, are the most energetic of entertainers, and there is no lack of action while they are on the stage. They fight and squeal, and climb the scenery, and chatter, but go through their tricks on the command of their trainer. Two big baboons engage in a bowling contest, but the tricks are but a small part of the fun. The antics of the monkeys are much more amusing than the tricks themselves.

The Langdons created hilarious laughter and applause with their trick automobile. They call their act "A Night on the Boulevard." It consists of comedy stage effects secured from a yellow touring car which is wheled onto the stage. The car contains many surprises, and the Langdons probably scored the comedy hit of the bill.

Charles Brown and May Neuman, with their songs and nonsense, fully held their own in the free-for-all comedy tournament. Miss Neuman's song about the man who to "get out and get under his automobile," and Mr. Brown's strenuous dancing were the best features of the act.

Carlisle and Romer have the only act that cannot be classed as a comedy number, and their quiet little interlude was most welcome. Miss Carlisle has a mezzo suprano voice of excellent quality. They feature some of the old time songs in medley form. The act is an artistic and musicianly offering, different from the usual noisy vaudeville turn, and it scored on its merits.

O. W. Courney, a comedy juggler, has the opening act. He offers many of the old stock in trade tricks of the comedy juggler, but does not do enough of any of them to make them tiresome, and the act is amusing.

Even the motion picture this week is greeted with hearty laughs. It is a comedy film telling of "Snakeville's New Doctor," another in the popular "Snakeville" series. The bill will continue all week with a daily matinee.

AT THE EMPRESS.

Good Vaudeville Bill Provider for First Half of Week.

The new vaudeville bill at the Empress, which made its appearance before three large audiences yesterday, is unusually good both in quality and in its wealth of laugh-producing features. There was a wide variety of offerings and the players gave a highly creditable account of themselves.

"The Schoolmaster," billed as "a smile, a laugh and a scream," proved an excellent vehicle for mirth. Roars of laughter were elicited by the clever lines and stage effects of the comedians. Boisterous comedy of the clean and wholesome kind predominates in this sketch. The various characters, such as the tough boy and girl, the country boy and girl, the sissy boy and the nice girl, are ably portrayed by the members of the miniature company. The jokes are new and the songs are catchy and of the popular variety.

Tom Sidello and company initiated their audiences into some of the mysteries of the "black art." The scene is set in black and white and various inanimate objects mystify the audience with their mysterious movements and antics. Bells are rung, chairs dance in the air, a skeleton of life size appears and does a dance, and other mysterious things take place in full view of the audience upon the brilliantly lighted stage. All are done apparently without the use of human hands. The impersonation of a mechanical doll by the young woman of the act is very cleverly done.

Nada Bracich made a decidedly favorable impression in her impersonation of Melba. She has a pleasing personality and an excellent voice. Miss Bracich has made Duluth her home and many of her friends greeted her on her appearance yesterday.

* * *

"The Deep Purple," the remarkably successful drama of Paul Armstrong, will be the offering at the Empress beginning Thursday afternoon. Paul Armstrong, the author, is widely known as the creator of "Alias Jimmy Valentine," "Salomy Jane" and "The Heir to the Hoorah."

AT THE LYCEUM.

"Checkers" in Motion Pictures—"Quo Vadis" Will Return.

"Checkers," that old-time favorite of the footlights, which has thrilled and pleased hundreds of thousands during its rounds, proved yesterday at the Lyceum that it still has the same gripping power on the theater-goer that has made it famous. It was seen in motion pictures yesterday for the first time. The race track with a combination of events seldom equalled for real thrills, gives the plot of this play a hold that makes it bloom perennially among the most verdant of theatrical productions. The plot is too well known to need comment, but the camera presents the story on a more elaborate scale than was possible on the stage.

Thomas W. Ross, the original "Checkers," is seen in the part that made him famous. It will appear again during the first three days of the present week.

* * *

"Quo Vadis," that marvelous photo drama spectacle that has made the name of the producer, George Kleine, already famous on this continent, and which has thrilled vast audiences week after week in New York, Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia and various other cities, is announced at the Lyceum for a return engagement next Thursday, Friday and Saturday. On its last appearance it made many new converts to the "movies" and will doubtless be even more liberally patronized on its return.

PREPARE VIGOROUS SUFFRAGE CAMPAIGN

Women Will Turn Attention to West When Congress Adjourns.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Plans for a vigorous nation-wide campaign to secure a constitutional amendment giving suffrage to women have been outlined by the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage. The program includes a schedule of "demonstrations" that will, according to the suffrage leaders, "awaken the country as never before to a realization of the issue, and if necessary transfer the majority in congress to a party that will stand for suffrage."

It was decided to transfer the energy of the union to the West at the close of the present session of congress. Nevada, Montana and the Dakotas were named as the states upon which the union will concentrate its efforts to secure the adoption of votes for women.

The first of the "demonstrations" agreed upon will be held in Washington the last day of this month, when 100 working women from various states will await upon President Wilson and urge him to support a suffrage amendment.

GRACE DIES OF WOUND HE LAID TO HIS WIFE

Has Been Partly Paralyzed Since Shooting of Two Years Ago.

Newnan, Ga., Jan. 12.—Eugene Grace died here at 1:45 this morning from the bullet wound he mysteriously received at Atlanta nearly two years ago. He had suffered from partial paralysis since shortly after the shooting and had been in a serious condition for several days.

Grace was wounded at his Atlanta home in March, 1912. Police summoned by telephone found him in a semi-conscious condition. At the hospital he accused his wife, Mrs. Daisy Opie Grace, of the shooting. Mrs. Grace was found at the home of Grace's mother here, and arrested on his accusation. Later in the same year she was tried on a charge of attempted murder, and found not guilty.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—THE CURLERS!

We have with us tonight, ladies and gentlemen of Duluth, the annual bonspiel of the Northwestern Curling association.

We don't know just what you all think of the game of curling. Mostly it is fancied by those who play it more than by those who witness it. We hear of the man who was invited by a friend to see a bonspiel, and who stood around on one foot and then the other all the morning, waiting for them to stop fussing with those brooms and begin playing. He thought it was just a little preliminary warming-up, and he was still waiting when some very exciting events were reaching their climax.

But probably he was stupid, and slow at sports.

One thing we can tell you about the game of curling is that it is a sport without a blemish on it—and there are few sports of which that can be said without qualification.

Another thing we can tell you about it is that it attracts a finer class of men than you can find clustering about any other sport. Now this is not the mere gush of hospitality; it's the literal truth. If you don't believe it, go down to the bonspiel some evening this week and size up the crowd, and see if you ever saw collected a finer example of the bone and brawn and heart of American manhood. Of course we feel a little delicacy in saying this right to their faces, but it is the truth, and we must say the truth regardless of our own feelings and those of others—especially truths so splendid and heartening as this one.

So Duluth is fortunate this night in its privilege of entertaining the curlers of the Northwestern Curling association—be they from Portage, Phillips, the Twin Cities, the iron ranges, Chicago, Montana, or whatever brave community of the American and Canadian Northwest. They are welcome, thrice welcome, as ever and always.

Ladies and gentlemen of Duluth, the curlers!

Up to date the only really successful universal language is the wink to the clerk at the soda fountain.

STATE ECONOMY, IN NEW YORK AND MINNESOTA.

The New York legislature is in session, and as a result of a popular revolt against increased state taxes, every member is pledged to a program of "efficiency and economy."

The New York Sun, discussing this situation, has an editorial which, with a few minor changes, could apply to Minnesota with equal force and, as we shall show, with even greater force:

> If any member of the legislature has failed to pledge himself to a program of economy in state expenditures that individual's neglect has escaped our notice. From the governor we have had explicit and unequivocal declarations that the pruning knife will be used fearlessly. Even the most sophisticated taxpayer feels hope reviving within him and looks forward to a session in which creation of new jobs and increase of old appropriations shall not be the principal work of the lawmakers.
>
> Such promises and protestations are not novel. They ring familiarly in the ears of every citizen. Yet a study of the finances of the state makes evident one thing: the time has come when consideration for the taxpayers, respect for campaign pledges and the tiresome preachments of those who do not fear the name "cheeseparer" are to be enforced by the stern necessities of the treasury and the inescapable demands of sound administration.
> We look for no fine frenzy of economy at Albany in 1914, but we do not see how the legislature can avoid recognizing the dismal conditions that extravagance and waste have imposed upon us.

That's strong. And it's timely. And we shall hope that New York, its legislature meeting a year ahead of Minnesota's, may set an example for the lawmakers of this state.

For if New York is complaining of "extravagance and waste" and of "dismal conditions" produced thereby, what of Minnesota?

From 1910 to 1914, state appropriations in New York have increased forty-six per cent.

BUT IN MINNESOTA THEY HAVE INCREASED SIXTY-SIX PER CENT!

From 1910 to 1914 the per capita state tax in New York has increased from $4.18 to $6.03.

BUT IN MINNESOTA IT HAS INCREASED FROM $6.33 TO $10.49!

The New York legislature has met, pledged to economy and efficiency, and the whole state is pressing for action.

What of Minnesota when its legislature meets in January, 1915?

Now is the chance for the weather man to soop 'em up a few.

UNEASINESS.

One-third of the senators are on the political anxious seat.—Washington dispatch.

One third of the senators are to come up for re-election this year.

Some of these OUGHT to be on the political anxious seat.

If they are not, it is because the people of some states are reliably indolent and neglectful.

The way the other half lives doesn't bother some folks nearly so much as how they are going to live themselves.

THE NEW CURRENCY SYSTEM AND THE STATE BANKS.

National banks must join in the new currency system; state banks by all means should do so.

And inevitably they must, because their patrons will insist upon it.

The bank belonging to the national reserve system will, because of the rediscount privilege such membership entails, be better able to serve its customers than the bank which does not belong, and therefore has no privilege of rediscount.

Therefore banks not members of the system must inevitably lose customers to banks that are members; and that ought to be enough to draw practically every state bank into the new plan.

In one or two states word has gone forth that there is doubt of the legality of state bank membership in the reserve system, owing to banking laws of those states which prohibit ownership of stock in other corporations.

Very likely there are more states where this technicality stands in the way.

Clearly, the thing to do in every state where it is needed is to amend the state banking laws to put beyond doubt the right of state banks to participate in the benefits of the new banking system.

Says the Springfield Republican:

> State banks and trust companies may enter the new Federal reserve banking system, or stay out. With them it is entirely a matter of preference. That the great body of them will join, sooner or later, seems practically assured.
> The public will want them to join, in the first place. The public remembers that the failure of the Knickerbocker Trust company of New York, a state institution, precipitated the panic of 1907. If the new Federal reserve system will prevent or moderate panics, the public will want all banks, whether state or national, to become members of it.
> The customers of state banks and trust companies, in the second place, will want them to join in order that they may be protected against abnormally curtailed credits through the rediscounting facilities offered by the regional banks to member banks. It will be worth while for banks with state charters, competing with national banks, to be able to avail themselves of the rediscounting privilege in periods of "tight money."

Every state bank and trust company should join the new system, and wherever state laws stand in the way, these laws should be suitably amended at the earliest opportunity.

"The tango on the ice" is the latest. Which seems a good place for the tango.

THE INITIATIVE, THE REFERENDUM AND THE RECALL.

"This is the year," says Wheelock's Weekly of Fergus Falls, "when Minnesota will take over the initiative and referendum, if the majority so decides. Let us try to know something about it before the time for voting on the proposition next November. We suggest it as a subject for study, for debates, for courses of reading and for theme-writing."

This is wise and timely.

It is 1914—election year. The primaries are in June, the election is in November. A governor, a legislature, congressmen, and state and county officers are to be nominated and elected. Several very important amendments to the state Constitution are to be voted upon. It is the duty of every citizen who IS a citizen to study all these questions thoroughly, to take part in the discussions about them, and to vote upon them intelligently and for the best interests of the state and of humanity.

Not only the initiative and the referendum are to be voted upon, but the recall.

Between now and November 3 every voter should learn what these things are, and whether or not he wants them in Minnesota.

To that end there cannot be too much discussion, too much study.

Put the initiative, the referendum and the recall on your tablets for study and for a ripened decision upon them.

Whether or not the state should adopt these innovations, and whether or not it shall adopt them, is up to every individual citizen of Minnesota—the responsibility is upon every man's shoulder, no less and no more than upon every other man's.

No, Harold, the movement for race betterment has nothing to do with the British representation in the Olympic games.

THE STATE, STATE LAND AND STATE DEVELOPMENT.

Some of the critics of the acts which resulted in temporarily holding up the patenting of the half million acres of government land not yet conveyed to the state of Minnesota declare that this delay will impede the development and settlement of Northern Minnesota.

But they don't say how it will work that way, and it is significant that none of these critics are in Northern Minnesota, where the land lies and where the need of development and settlement is greatest.

And it is difficult to see just how a temporary withholding of the patents to half a million acres of land is going to delay settlement much when the state already owns five times as much land as that, all of which is unsettled, undeveloped and unreclaimed.

Other critics say that this delay will not help the settlement and development of Northern Minnesota.

That may or may not be true; but these critics might contribute something helpful and enlightening if they would show how, under the present state land policy, it would help settlement and development to have these lands patented to the state.

When these lands are patented, as they undoubtedly will be, the only effect will be to change the figures in the state's land balance: it will own three million idle acres instead of two and a half million idle acres. That's about the only effect to be expected when the patents are issued.

Suppose that Mr. Carnegie of Skibo Castle, Scotland, owned these two and a half or three million idle acres in Northern Minnesota.

Suppose that the Carnegie holdings spread over this partially developed but potentially rich region as the state's holdings overlie it.

Suppose that by a special dispensation the Carnegie lands were exempt from taxation, and paid nothing toward the support of running the state, the county, the township or the school district.

Suppose that Mr. Carnegie refused to do anything to fit his lands for cultivation and habitation.

Suppose his lands were partly covered with swamp, mostly covered with stumps and brush and second-growth timber, and largely inaccessible for lack of roads.

Suppose that settlement of the other acres of Northern Minnesota was hampered if not prevented entirely by the handicap of these idle, fruitless acres that merely blot the landscape and do nothing to increase the state's wealth, to pay state or local taxes, to support churches, to build roads or to do anything else.

Suppose that Mr. Carnegie was holding his lands for purely speculative purposes, waiting for the enterprise of others to increase their value, while they offered the worst possible stumbling block to that enterprise.

Wouldn't every man, woman and child in Minnesota, from Roseau to Rock, from St. Louis to Houston, and from Wilkin to Washington, sit up nights HATING that absentee landlord who had laid the embargo of his greed upon the development of Minnesota?

AND WOULDN'T HE DESERVE THAT HATE?

Worse still, he would deserve SCORN as a POOR BUSINESS MAN, when by investing a reasonable amount in drainage, in land-clearing and in road-building he could put his land in shape for settlement, give the settler a chance to make a living from the start, increase greatly the rapidity of sale and settlement, and not only sell his lands quicker but at prices giving him an actual profit on the lands and also on every step of his reclamation work.

But it isn't Mr. Carnegie, but the state of Minnesota that owns these idle acres that handicap the development of Minnesota.

It isn't Mr. Carnegie, but the state of Minnesota itself that is filling the brutal role of absentee landlord.

It isn't Mr. Carnegie but the state of Minnesota that is neglecting this splendid opportunity for a profitable land business.

We can't hate the state of Minnesota; but we can urge it to adopt a humane and business-like land policy by creating a reclamation revolving fund to reclaim its lands by drainage, land-clearing and road-building, and thus hasten their sale and settlement and increase the profits of its land dealings.

For a Strong Bank

Editorial in Omaha World-Herald.

The World-Herald gives place today to a strongly worded editorial published in The Duluth Herald in advocacy of making the great Central Northwest one Federal reserve district, with the principal bank located in Chicago and branch banks in other important points. The Duluth Herald is a radically Democratic newspaper and was a consistent supporter of the currency bill from the time of its introduction in the house.

There is nothing inherently impossible, or even improbable, in the working out of such a plan as our Duluth contemporary suggests. It seems to us, as it does to The Herald, that the great basin of the Mississippi, with its tributaries, which is to become the seat of American empire, should be knit together by a bond of common interest and be served by a regional bank strong and powerful enough to hold up its head even in the presence of the New York bank. The region could include all that territory which lies between Ohio and Colorado and north of the Mason-Dixon line. Branches of the regional bank at Chicago could be established at points like Detroit, Minneapolis and Omaha. Within this territory such a variety of mighty interests would be included—agricultural, commercial, industrial, shipping and mining—as to insure to each interest all the funds it was entitled to, at the time it needed them, and at the Chicago rate of discount.

There would still remain, in the rest of the country, room for the establishment of the required number of regional banks. The Northwest would be served by banks at Boston and New York; the Central-East by a bank at Baltimore, Philadelphia or Washington; the Southeast by a bank at Atlanta; the South by a bank at New Orleans; the Southwest by a bank at St. Louis, and the Rocky mountain and Pacific coast territory by banks at Denver, San Francisco and Seattle.

What is particularly interesting to note, in connection with The Duluth Herald's plea, is that it shows that in the West, the same as in the East, it is already recognized how important it is to each section of the country, to every state and city, indeed, that it be attached to a strong bank instead of a "puny" bank; that its Federal reserve region be made to include great and varied interests rather than a single interest. It was this same line of reasoning that led a half of the senate committee to favor only four regional banks, or indeed, a single treasury bank, the stock in which should be owned by the people and the management of which should be directly under the control of the government.

The Selfishness of Unmarried Women

In the January Woman's Home Companion appears an article entitled "The Girl Who Does Not Marry," in the course of which the author makes the following comments on the selfishness of unmarried women and tells the following story:

"The temptation to be selfish is, I believe, stronger for the unmarried girl than for the one who is married. There are many such girls. I know one who will never marry and whom the world in general would call a very saintly person. She has devoted her life to her aged parents, and spent herself lavishly for a nephew and niece, but her devotion has had something too personal, almost fanatical in it. By constantly sacrificing herself she succeeded in making her parents a very selfish pair of old people. Not content with that, she dedicated herself quite as extravagantly to the nephew and niece. For them she slaved; and came, in time, to believe that they were wholly dependent on her efforts, whereas there were others closely connected with them who would gladly have rendered them what might have been a more wise service. But 'Aunt May' was by this time wholly possessed by the idea that she was necessary to the children. A more keen observer would have seen that it was, rather, the children who had become necessary to her. By her unthinking admirers it was often said: 'May is so unselfish! She lives for nothing else but those two children.'

"But as time went on the selfishness in the mask of unselfishness began to show its true face. The opportunity came for the boy and girl to have advantages and pleasures apart from 'Aunt May.' A favorite uncle proposed sending the boy for three months to a summer camp entirely away from her, and another aunt wished to give the girl one year in Europe. But 'Aunt May' was by this time so 'devoted' to the children that she could not endure to be separated from them. Others (again the unthinking) said: 'Well, May has certainly earned the right to keep them with her. Hasn't she slaved for them?' But those who had eyes to see saw the sorry spectacle of selfishness so well masked as unselfishness that even the woman herself, a woman with a fine mind she is too, was cheated and deceived by the disguise. The two young people for whom she would give her lifeblood are now the ones who are being sacrificed."

Dutiful Daughters.

If Eve came back to the world today,
After being away this many a year,
She'd probably turn to Adam and say:
"The styles haven't changed very much, my dear." —Life.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Dec. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Here is a little tale that may shed light on the reason why Senator Atlee Pomerene of Ohio is the most solemn appearing senator.

When he was a young chap attending an academy at Hayesville, Ohio, he occupied a boarding house room that was lighted only by a squatty little kerosene lamp.

Atlee was a diligent student, and used to sit by that lamp intent on his books until long past 10 o'clock at night—even though nearly every one else in the little town retired shortly after the 8:25 train went through.

One night, by a bit of awkwardness, Atlee broke the lamp chimney just as he was starting to study his Greek. The lamp smoked so then that it was impossible to see by it, but the earnest young student was ashamed to go and ask the landlady for a new chimney inasmuch as it was the second he had broken within the month. And he had no money with which to go forth to the marts and buy a lamp chimney.

Now if he had been like other students he might have welcomed the catastrophe as a good excuse not to study his Greek that night at all. But being a good, old fashioned, Sanford and Merton type of youth, who desired to improve his mind, Atlee did not look at things in any such shiftless, misguided way. He had for his motto "Strive to Succeed" and he was determined to learn his Greek that night at any cost.

So he sat by the window and studied Greek by moonlight!

You must remember, dear children, that even a full moon on a clear night does not furnish adequate illumination for reading fine print. A full moon may seem bright indeed to one whose only purpose is to go driving in a buggy with a beautiful soulful-eyed young woman, let us say, but learning Greek conjugations by moonlight is something else again.

* * *

Atlee Pomerene sat by the window, however, and pored assiduously over his books. The moonlight cast shadows of a vine on the wall and the low hum of insects was heard outside. A small fuschia plant rested on the window sill. Ah, how romantic it was—NOT!

Atlee learned his Greek, but he nearly ruined his eyesight. It was two or three weeks before he could use his eyes much again, and it served him exactly right, too.

Is it any wonder that an earnest young chap like that grew up to have a solemn cast of countenance as he sits in the United States senate?

William Jennings Bryan, the well known bon vivant and secretary of state, puts in a right busy life here at the nation's capital. When he gets through being secretary of state, at the blow of the whistle in the evening, he takes off his overalls, figuratively speaking, and goes home to become an editor. That is, he dictates editorials for his paper back home, the Commoner. Having disposed of that, he writes or revamps lectures, attends to personal correspondence, and keeps his mind occupied until long after bedtime. When he wakes up the next morning he automatically becomes once more the secretary of state.

The easiest thing William J. Bryan does is to write editorials. He can dictate an editorial just as fast as he can talk. And having dictated it, he has no more worry about the phraseology he has used. He is willing to let it go into print just the way he said it, without further fuss or going over.

And here is a funny thing about Bryan dictating: Whenever he dictates a letter he unconsciously falls into a quiet, cemetery-allotment salesman manner. He tells it to the stenographer in as confidential a tone as if he were talking direct to the man the letter is for.

Representative Dick Austin of Tennessee, famous for his self-confessed desire to see how much public money he can place in circulation, voted the other day for a bill to establish a new diplomatic post in Uruguay.

After the voting, Jim Mann, the Republican leader, came up to Austin and upbraided him.

"Shame on you," said Mann; "you a good Republican voting to create another job for some Democrat."

"Ah yes," replied Austin, "but that was not the question. You are looking at the thing in too superficial a manner. The point was that the bill will mean the expenditure of more money. I have never voted against any money appropriation yet, and I shall not begin now."

Representative S. E. Winslow, a large rotund member from Massachusetts, was chatting in the house one day with Representative Albert Johnson of Washington. Johnson spoke of what a large district he represented.

"Yes," he said, "my district is, I presume, three or four times as large as your whole state of Massachusetts."

Winslow was a bit piqued at the implied slur on the size of Massachusetts.

"Well, that explains it," he remarked quietly.

"Explains what?" asked Johnson.

"How you happened to be here. I suppose the district is so large that few of the voters knew you."

Better Off Than Other Men.

Chicago Record-Herald: Not rejoicing in his affliction—for he is wholly blind—but congratulates himself that he is better off in some ways than the average man, is Dr. Jacob W. Bolotin, attending physician at the tuberculosis hospital at Dunning, Ill.

"Why, on cold winter nights I take a Braille system book to bed with me and read all night long under the covers, and without burning any midnight oil," said he. "If I care about the time I need but to reach over to my table and touch the face of the clock."

Dr. Bolotin is 25 years old. Since he was 14, when he was graduated from the state school for the blind, he has been self-supporting. He earned his way through a four years' course at medical school by selling typewriters "on the road" during the vacations.

One Rule of Nature.

Philadelphia Ledger: Every few years we must slow up a bit—stop producing as much as we can, otherwise all markets would be swamped with unsold products.

Food is the one thing—if we except radium—which never becomes too plentiful. People increase in number a little faster than the supply of things to eat.

Reason: Science has not multiplied the output of the soil in the same feverish way that it has increased manufacturing possibilities. An acre does better than it did on New Year's day, 1800, but not nearly so much better as almost every other thing that you can think of. So our farmers are busy all the time, and yet food is never too plentiful.

That's One Good Way.

Chisholm Miner: The Duluth Herald, the one "live wire" newspaper in the state, keeps everlastingly pounding away on the economy theme. The Miner is of the candid opinion that there should be economy in the state affairs, and the best way to get results is to do away with the herd of duffers who in past years have been connected with the government. If there must be economy there should be new faces in the capitol.

Well, It Has One.

Detroit Record: The city of Duluth secured $182,222 from the liquor business during the year 1913. This represented 182 licenses at $1,000 each and forty transfers. No wonder the Zenith City needs a commissioner of public safety!

In the Copper Country

Chicago News: John Mitchell, the labor leader, says truly that through the trade agreement lies the road to permanent industrial peace. The individual worker, Mr. Mitchell asserts, cannot bargain advantageously with the corporate employer for the sale of his labor. He does not know the market. He has only one man's labor to sell, while the employer engages hundreds or thousands of men and can easily dispense with the services of any of them. Permanent improvement calls for the fixing of wages, hours and working conditions by agreements representing the two sides acting collectively.

In the Copper country of Northern Michigan the mine operators refuse to accept the principle of collective bargaining. The ground offered for the refusal is that the Western Federation of Miners has a reputation for lawlessness and is permeated with the spirit of Socialism. Whether the reasons given are valid or not, it may well be that employers willing to accept the principle of collective bargaining have good cause for refusing to deal with a particular labor organization. For example, that organization might be notoriously addicted to breaking contracts. In such an event the employers should indicate a willingness to apply the principle of collective bargaining through some other labor organization.

This the mine owners of the Michigan copper district have not done. Instead, they desire to continue the system under which powerful mining interests on the one side enter into contracts with individual miners on the other side. The former require applicants for employment to sign an agreement not to join the union.

This practice is less in keeping with the spirit of the time than with certain manifestations of feudalism, paternal, benevolent or otherwise, that are in evidence in some copper towns of the northern peninsula. For instance, the public schools, the churches, the armories and other public institutions, as well as the homes and business houses of most of the citizens, are on company land and are held under short term leases.

Mine managers of Northern Michigan should not carry on an industrial conflict that is injurious to many others as well as to themselves if they can adjust matters by the desirable process of abandoning antiquated ideas that are inconsistent with the enjoyment of modern corporate privileges.

The Drama in New York.

Judge: He pranced up to the window of the box office.

"Gimme ticket to the show."

"Sorry, sir," responded the urbane ticket dispenser. "No tickets being sold for this performance."

"Huh?"

"No tickets sold for this particular performance."

"How's that?"

"This performance is being given for the district attorney. There is, however, a good show across the street."

"Been over there," snapped the man, "and they were playing exclusively to the grand jury. This is a fine town! Where's them wax figure works exhibiting nowadays? Maybe I kin git a view of them without intruding on the coroner."

And he pranced out.

The Land of Heart's Desire.

The blue Aegean girds our chosen home,
With ever-changing sound and light and foam,
Kissing the sifted sands, and caverns hoar;
And all the winds wandering along the shore
Undulate with the undulating tide;
There are thick woods where sylvan forms abide;
And many a fountain, rivulet, and pond,
As clear as elemental diamond,
Or serene morning air; and far beyond,
The mossy tracks made by the goats and deer
(Which the rough shepherd treads but once a year),
Pierce into glades, caverns, and bowers, and halls
Built round with joy, which the waterfalls
Illuminating, with sound that never falls
Accompany the noonday nightingales;
And all the place is peopled with sweet airs;
The light clear element which the isle wears
Is heavy with the scent of lemon-flowers,
Which floats like mist laden with unseen showers
And falls upon the eyelids like faint sleep. —Shelley.

Twenty Years Ago

From the Herald of this date, 1894.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Robbins Howe, who are well known to many Duluth people, owing to their connection with a Kirmess here several years ago, and for other reasons, are getting some more notoriety. "Ned" Howe is under arrest in Chicago for obtaining money under false pretenses, having victimized numerous Harvard graduates there, while his wife is pursuing the same game in Louisville, Cincinnati and other cities. Howe is really a Harvard man, as he claims. He was in the class of 1864, to which Robert T. Lincoln belonged, and he has wealthy relatives in Boston.

At the annual meeting of the American Exchange bank, the following officers were elected: President, H. M. Peyton; vice president, A. R. Macfarlane; cashier, J. C. Hunter; assistant cashier, W. G. Hegardt; directors, H. M. Peyton, Judge J. D. Ensign, J. H. Upham, George Spencer, A. R. Macfarlane, M. J. Forbes, J. C. Hunter.

Joshua B. Culver post, G. A. R., installed the following officers last evening: H. C. Helm, post commander; N. A. Gearhart, senior vice-commander; R. W. Mars, junior vice-commander; O. H. Lucken, quartermaster; C. T. Clements, officer of the day; J. M. Barncard, officer of the guard; S. W. Clark, sergeant-major; G. H. Holden, quartermaster's sergeant. The officers of the Women's Relief Corps were installed as follows: Mrs. Mary Gillon, president; Mrs. Twomey, senior vice-president; Mrs. Margaret Plummer, junior vice-president; Miss Edith Long, secretary; Mrs. Ella Gearhart, treasurer; Mrs. Jamieson, chaplain; Miss Nora Jamieson, conductor; Mrs. Hall, guard; Miss May Twomey, assistant conductor; Miss Mary Holden, assistant general.

George W. Stevens received 21,111 votes in The Herald's mayoralty contest against 17,916 for his nearest competitor, Henry Haskins. Mr. Stevens is at the head of the Cranberry Lumber company and president of the Y. M. C. A. Though the winner in this contest, he declines to become a candidate for mayor.

S. C. Jackson, superintendent of yards for the Cranberry Lumber company, was married on Dec. 28 at Trinidad, Colo., to Miss May Lamb of Saginaw, Mich. Mr. Jackson returned home yesterday, but Mrs. Jackson will remain in Colorado until warmer weather here.

H. A. Ware and family left yesterday for Palatka, Fla., to spend the winter.

The New Duluth National bank has elected the following directors: Charles Hurd, J. W. Norton, E. G. Wallace, J. P. Johnson and G. W. Keyes.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Matter have gone to White Park, Fla., for the winter.

A Progressive's View of Mr. Wilson.

Wichita Beacon: Woodrow Wilson's work in getting through his tariff bill with snap and precision caused most of his enemies to stop calling him a "theoretical statesman."

His equally effective work in putting over the currency bill ought now to cut out the general description that other little gem of characterization which used to be attached to him when they spoke of him as an "academic statesman."

Woodrow Wilson went into office as a theoretical and academic statesman.

After the past year of running his party to suit himself he is entitled to stand forth on his own merit as the Democrat with the big stick.

He is practical clear up to the limit, and then some.

Hotel Bed Had a Feather in It.

Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph: Two motorists, having almost ruined their tempers—and their tires—in a vain attempt to find a hotel with a vacant bed, were at last forced to make the best of a small inn.

Even then they had to share a bed which was—and on this the landlord laid great stress—a feather bed.

They turned in, and one of the pair was soon fast asleep; the other was not. He could not manage to dodge the lumps, and heard hour after hour strike on the church clock, until 3 o'clock in the morning when he also struck.

He did this by violently shaking his snoring friend.

"What's the matter?" growled the other. "It can't be time to get up yet!"

"No, it isn't," retored his friend, continuing to shake him; "but it's my turn to sleep on the feather!"

Another Myth Exploded.

Louisville Courier-Journal: Now that the governor of Pennsylvania has been chosen for a baseball job, it's no use to tell a boy that he will be wasting his time if he devotes himself to politics when he grows up.

JAIL SENTENCES FOR GUN "TOTERS."

To the Editor of The Herald:

In Thursday night's issue of The Herald we find the following headlines: "Jail term in the future—Gun toters will get no leniency in police court."

This threat was called forth by the fact that one of our police officers was murdered while in discharge of his duty by a pair of "gun toters."

We heard the same threat three years ago when Officer Chesmore was shot down. Many of that class of offenders have been arrested since? How many have been given terms in jail?

Just so long as our courts are not more severe with these thugs than with a common drunk, people will be in danger of being shot. This time many of our citizens would like to see a few 90-day jail sentences at hard labor. CITIZEN.

MINERS' STRIKE IN COPPER COUNTRY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Being a subscriber of The Herald, and receiving my copy by mail every day, as regular as the clock ticks, I wish to say, through the columns of the Open Court, something about this strike in the Copper country. I was born and raised in Hancock, Mich., and worked in and around a few of the mines there. The trouble there, to my knowledge and belief, is that the men have been bullied and kept down for the last 50 or 60 years. I know this from my own personal experience. I would not stand for that, so I left there some 10 or 12 years ago, and since that have followed up woodswork, etc. All those agitators, etc., and men that brought on this strike are from other states, because the men following up mining, who were born there, did not have the nerve to strike, and I will bet 5 to 1 that the most of those who are working now are native sons of the Copper country, or old heads. What I mean by old heads are those who have been there a good number of years and are afraid of the bosses. Hoping that the strike will end soon and that I am not taking too much space in your valuable paper, I remain, yours respectfully,

GEORGE WILSON, "Clk."

JUST A REMINDER OF AN OLD TRUTH.

To the Editor of The Herald:

We have many people who are depending upon the industries of this city for their livelihood and boast of the good jobs and the nice homes and the splendid climate that we have, but don't stop to consider that every dollar spent here means that much more employment and that much more money circulated here for the upbuilding of our city, but have the idea that they get their groceries, dry goods and other articles, both useful and ornamental, from the catalogue houses of other cities at less value. I have seen many cases where they have been sorry for their bargain and also money out on their deal. If they patronize the home merchant they see what they get and get it when they want it at the same value and sometimes for less, considering quality and expense and time getting it, and they then will be helping to employ some of the men who are not working, and save having the wages cut of those who are working. After a close study of conditions of things in general and noting the vast number of merchants with stocks of merchandise of the best in the world for people to choose from, from Lester Park to Fond du Lac, I say again, buy in Duluth and don't get out of the habit, for there is nothing saved by it. Thanking you for space in your valuable paper, yours respectfully,

A DULUTH PUSHER.

THE LODGING HOUSE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Just a word with reference to the proposed closing of the municipal lodging house at 701 West Second street.

Within the past year I have had the opportunity from time to time of observing the vast amount of good done by the municipal lodging house. As I am not altogether unfamiliar with social work and social problems in this and other cities, I feel that the citizens of Duluth should take a few moments from their busy lives and give a sober second thought to the subject before allowing their valuable city institution to be closed. I gather from the Duluth papers and other sources of information that, in case the lodging house is closed, the plan is to care for the needy girls and women in either the Bethel Rescue home or the new county industrial school. Both of these are grand institutions, doing a noble work, but here is the point:

In the past year there have been many girls and women temporarily in need of shelter on account of sickness or lack of employment, with consequent lack of funds. These women have been helped over a temporary emergency or a crisis in their lives by the home provided for them at the municipal lodging house. Would it not be the rankest foolishness to send these girls and women to a maternity home or the county reform school, when many of them are no more guilty of immorality or serious wrongdoing than are our own daughters?

If your daughter were alone in a strange city, and through some unexpected misfortune found herself without funds, would you want her to be placed in a reform school or a maternity home, with the consequent stigma following her for the rest of her days? Take the question home to yourself.

I understand that one reason for closing the lodging house is that the city wants to economize. Is it cheaper to care for a woman for a few days during a crisis in her life, or to neglect her then and take care of her afterward for some years in an insane asylum, a prison, or a reformatory?

Let us think it over.

PAYS WARM TRIBUTE TO DULUTH FIRE DEPARTMENT

To the Editor of The Herald:

I wonder if the people of Duluth realize what a high-grade fire department has been developed under Chief Randall and his assistant, Charlie Wilson. This morning I went through the Manhattan building and examined thoroughly the conditions under which the fire of Saturday night had been fought. It was one of the best jobs of fire fighting I have ever seen. It takes men with brains to plan an attack like that, and it takes men of coolness and everlasting nerve to carry such a plan out. I want to take off my hat to the men who gave the orders and to the men who carried them out. A fire on the sixth floor of a big office building is hard enough to fight, but a fire in a three-foot attic, with practically the only means of access through holes cut in the ceilings — through heavy tiling at that — and where the fire has been burning for almost an hour before the department has been notified, is about as difficult a proposition as a fire department is called upon to face.

People take a look at a building after the "smoke eaters" have put a fire out and never realize what that hour's work really meant to the boys with the ladders and hose. Fire fighting today isn't a matter of simply squirting water on a blaze. It's more a matter of brains, plus grit, plus skill and training, multiplied by a love of the work and a high sense of duty. And our fire department seems to have all these things.

I hope our commissioners will find a way to give the department the additional modern apparatus they need so badly. I realize that it can't be done right away, but they have made a beginning, and within a few years we should see our fire fighting equipment brought right up to date. With a modern equipment and our present efficient organization, we should see a very decided drop in insurance rates in this city.

Mr. Whitney Wall, who is the agent in charge of the Manhattan building, and who is remarkably well posted on matters concerning fire risks and fire prevention, told me this morning that he considered the work of the department at this fire as clever and brainy a piece of fire fighting as he had ever seen, and that our people ought to know what a competent bunch of "smoke eaters" we have manning our fire fighting apparatus. I feel very proud of them, and I want the people of Duluth to feel the same.

Some day we are going to have a fire along our dock front, where the fire must be fought from one side alone, and such a fire is going to get the best of the boys. It will be a good thing to remember at such a time, that no fire department on earth can successfully fight a fire under those conditions, and that if the boys get licked it will be due, not to lack of brains, or of skill, or bravery, but to lack of facilities for fighting such a fire. DAVID HENRY DAY.

Duluth, Jan. 12.

AEROPLANE ON EACH BATTLESHIP.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Equipment of every battleship with at least one aeroplane, the use by the navy of dirigible balloons, and the concentration of all naval areonautical training work at Pensacola, Fla., are among the principal recommendations of the board of officers appointed by Secretary Daniels to draw up a comprehensive plan for the organization of a naval aeronautical service.

The board's report was made public with the announcement it had been approved by the secretary. It is proposed now to go slowly and gradually toward the development of the aeronautic service along the lines indicated, as experience dictates and funds become available.

LEE'S APPEAL IS WEEK'S FEATURE

His Expressed Desire to Enter an Elimination Conference With Other Republican Governorship Candidates Is Received Well Throughout the State---Congressman Lindbergh May Head the Bull Moose Ticket---Other Gossip.

The feature of the past week in state politics was the appeal of W. E. Lee of Long Prairie to all anti-Eberhart candidates for governor to get together for an elimination session. This appeal of Mr. Lee's proved the feature for the reason that his filing for governor has been momentarily expected, and his generally understood attitude prior to this was that he would file anyway, and nobody expected so magnanimous a move on his part. He seems to be sincere, too, for he offers several plans and agrees to stand by the result if the others will. The only flaw is that everybody in the state, with the possible exception of Mr. Lee, knows that the elimination plan will come to nothing.

Of course, all of this may be simply the result of shrewdness on the part of the Honorable William, for he certainly is losing no friends by making this appeal. The state press in general makes much favorable comment on his stand, and should he file—as he undoubtedly will, for the others will not agree to an elimination meeting—he may go into the campaign somewhat stronger because of it than he was before.

So far as obtaining such a meeting as he seeks, Mr. Lee has no chance. S. G. Iverson will consent to the elimination of anybody except himself, and James A. Peterson takes precisely the same attitude. The latter's statement, by the way, announcing himself, reads like a funny article. Mr. Peterson says in it that the great principle to be fought for at the polls is the undoing of the present administration rather than victory. How he is going to undo the administration without victory, he does not explain.

Congressman Lindbergh, it is claimed, is still flirting with the governorship. This time it is in the role of a Progressive. It is understood by St. Paul Progressives that he will be a Progressive candidate for governor if his candidacy meets with the approval of the Progressives when they meet in conference at St. Paul Feb. 12.

Mr. Lindbergh's position is rather a peculiar one. Only a short time ago he was sending out letters to influential Republicans in various parts of the state asking their advice as to his filing for the Republican nomination for governor. He claimed that he was urged this year, two years ago and even four years ago; and it was taken for granted by many that he had bolted the Progressives, with whom he had never really affiliated but whom he had managed to convince that at heart he was a Progressive. Now, there seems to be little doubt that he has been convinced that there are already too many candidates for the Republican nomination and that Eberhart will doubtless be the nominee again; that against Eberhart for the Republicans and Dan Lawler for the Democrats, a Progressive candidate will have a good show of election. It is a "cinch" that somebody has stiffened up his backbone if he has really agreed to become the Progressive candidate for governor, for it is generally admitted that otherwise he would still be a candidate for congress from the Sixth district again.

It will be interesting to learn, now, who will be brought out to succeed Mr. Lindbergh in congress. If the newspapers have their way it is likely that Alvah Eastman, publisher of the St. Cloud Journal-Press, will be the man; but it is understood that he will not lack opposition. Wadena has a candidate and there will be others. Mr. Eastman has not yet expressed a desire to enter the lists, but it is believed that his ambition of two years ago has not died down to any great extent.

The general belief in the Twin Cities is that Jacob Preus, the handsome state insurance commissioner, will file for the state auditorship in opposition to Henry Rines of Mora. With the multiplicity of candidates for the governorship the renomination of Eberhart seems to be a foregone conclusion, and the result is that the politicions look for the auditorship to furnish the real fight of the June primaries. Both Preus and Rines are accomplished politicians and both have hosts of friends. The Minneapolis Journal seems to have the situation sized up pretty well in the following:

The line of campaign for Preus and against Rines is already apparent. First, the Rines organization in the house will be blamed for the large appropriations of 1913 and the increased state tax levy. Then Rines will be accused of a political alliance with Samuel G. Iverson, and R. C. Dunn's support will be cited to prove that Rines is to continue the dynasty in the auditor's office. The demand wil go out for a "new deal," and that has proved effective many times when used against a machine. It would seem that Pres has everything to lose and nothing to gain by running for auditor. He is ambitious to be governor but if he is defeated for auditor he will be shelved politically. Preus is not likely to come out for auditor unless he feels reasonably sure he can win.

In a letter to the Luverne Herald, Governor Eberhart declares himself opposed to any conference to recognize the Republican party or eliminate candidates. This news must amaze the whole state.

* * *

Feb. 22 is the probable date for the Democratic get-together dinner to be held in St. Paul. A conference will be held in the forenoon and a dinner will be served in the evening. It is predicted that a candidate will be developed to appose Daniel W. Lawler for the Democratic nomination for the governorship. Which will be attended by interesting circumstances and followed by fully as interesting results—from Mr. Lawler.

* * *

It is expected that a final decision on the nonpartisan primary law should be obtained by the middle of April. The action brought in Hennepin county district court by Stanley B. Houck in behalf of N. F. Olson was set for argument on Jan. 31. This should bring a decision in February and get the case before the supreme court either late in the present term or at the very opening of the April term. Should the highest court say that the law is valid, every filing made for the June primary would be invalid and the money paid in filing fees would be thrown away. The candidates who have filed could file again for the September primary, but they would have to pay a second fee.

* * *

In county politics, prospective candidates are beginning their hand shaking campaign. John Tischer county commissioner from the Second district, which extends from Third avenue east in the city to Knife River and forty miles north, has announced to The Herald that he will be a candidate for re-election next fall. He has served four years on the board, three on his present term and one year on the four-year term of this brother, the late George Tischer, who was killed in an accident four years ago. Road work in his district, as it has been conducted since he come into office, will furnish him with campaign material that will make him hard to beat.

Albert Lea Standard: If Thomas E. Cashman still declines to become a candidate for governor and it is not learned that he has changed his mind, he might listen to the call that is spreading throughout the state and consent to enter the lists for railroad commissioner. There is not a man who is his equal in qualifications and fitness for the office.

Senator Cashman would satisfy many. He would make a very strong candidate, for his distance tariff law has immensely pleased the people of the state. Whether it proves good or not, it shows a disposition on his part to give the small towns a fair deal, and they like that.

* * *

Brown's Valley Tribune: If the governorship race can be confined to Messrs. Eberhart and Iverson it will be close and interesting, with the chances, in our opinion, rather in favor of Iverson.

But it will not be so confined.

Pillager Herald: The latest to announce himself as a candidate for governor of Minnesota is James Peterson of Minneapolis, who ran for United States senator against Knute Nelson a year ago. A funny thing with all these fellows is they announce themselves Republican candidates but their views are far different. What is a Republican, anyway, these days, may we ask? Is a Republican a Republican, a Democrat or a Bull Mooser?

In answer to your question, brother, it may be said that in most cases of this kind, a Republican is an ambitious politician who is anything which he believes will carry him into office.

Roseau Times: The Times will support Samuel G. Iverson for governor but will have no criticism for other gubernatorial candidates. I have known Mr. Iverson for twenty years and know him to be a good man with all the word implies. Through the administrations of Governors Van Sant, Johnson and Eberhart, as a member of the drainage commission, he has been active in aiding the development of the northern part of the state. He recognized years ago that drainage was a business proposition for the state and that development meant increased wealth and prosperity for the whole state. The money expended by the state in the drainage of swamp lands has in many instances returned ten-fold profit, and no man knows better than Sam Iverson what development means to the taxpayers in the long run. Aside from all this, I believe his experience as a state auditor and his intimate knowledge of the state affairs, will enable him, as executive, to perform his duties intelligently and in a business-like manner. We all know that Mr. Iverson, if elected governor, will be on the job all the time. It is an honor he seeks and an honor he will appreciate by giving the state courageous and energetic service.

Oh, piffle, Brother Bell! It is well known that to the carelessness of the state auditor and the governor can be laid the present swamp land mix-up; and that such carelessness is also largely to blame for the slow development of Northern Minnesota.

Red Lake Falls Gazette: Congressman Miller, who has just returned from the Philippines, says that the administration's plans for the government of the islands are all wrong. Thus we have a political issue even if it was necessary to go half way round the world for it.

Perhaps his party needs one pretty badly. It has lost out on the tariff and the currency bill, and it must have something to talk to the people about; so the Philippines will serve about as well as anything else, and do it about as much good.

* * *

Bemidji Pioneer: Rumor has it that Senator Dan Gunn of Grand Rapids will not again seek reelection, the senator having arrived at the conclusion that he has served his district long enough. The only man who has been mentioned as his successor is Representative P. H. McGarry of Walker. "Pat" has served several terms amid the members of the house and not only was he popular, but successful as a lawmaker.

Pat will be a good man succeeding a good man, if the conditions are as announced by the Pioneer.

* * *

Fairmont Sentinel: Senator Haycraft, after it is all over, will know more but he won't be so handsome. Look at the poor chaps who have foolishly gone up against Hammond—look at them and weep.

He may recover, but he will never look the same. Mr. Hammond, it seems, is stronger in his district today than he ever was. His congressional record is an exceptionally good one.

Bagley Herald: Billy Lee has announced that he will probably file within two weeks as a candidate for governor. Billy will be the third to file, and we prophesy that he will be back in the third place when the primary race is over. If Youngdahl files, Billy will be left without a jockey.

You're taking a long chance on that prediction. Mr. Lee issued a statement a few days ago, mentioned in this column, which has perceptibly strengthened him with the state press at least.

TANGO BANNED BY CHIEF OF POLICE

Russian Official Follows Example of the German Emperor.

Vladikivko, Russina Caucasus, Jan. 12.—The chief of police has banned the tango here. Not one among the 60,000 Georgians composing the population of this city had ever seen the tango, and most of them had never even heard of the dance until they read the ukase of the police head. Vladikavka is the headquarters for the Tsegun gypsy dancers, whose wild and beautiful dances, surpassing in grace and abandon the most exotic of tangos, is watched every night until the early hours of the morning by the pleasure loving portion of the city inhabitants and visitors.

The action of the police chief rather mystified the visitors in the city, for apparently the town was dance mad and the authorities instead of discountenancing the Tsegun dances rather encouraged them. Finally the secret of the order leaked out. The police chief is an ardent admirer of Emperor William of Germany, and when the news of the German ban against the much discussed dance was brought in by a chance traveler, he lost no time in emulating his august model.

MOST SILENT MEMBER OF DEPUTIES DEAD.

Paris, Jan. 12.—Jules Sauzide, deputy for Carcassone, who died recently, was noted in Paris as the most silent member of the chamber of deputies. During the sixteen years that he belonged to the assembly he had never ascended to tribune once, and had been known to make only one interruption. One day there were very few members in the chamber, and attention was called to the fact that there was an insufficient number to continue the discussion. M. Sauzede rose, counted those present, and remarked simply, "Thirty-two." It was his only parliamentary speech.

INSPECTOR HAS TWO BLACK EYES

Due to Lead-Loaded Rope Swung By Zelie Emerson.

London, Jan. 12.—Miss Zelie Emerson, the American suffragette, who has been one of the most active spirits in the organization of the "People's Army" in the East end, set her followers a good example before her arrest recently, and as a result of a fight which she put up then, Inspector Potter of the metropolitan police has been wearing two black eyes.

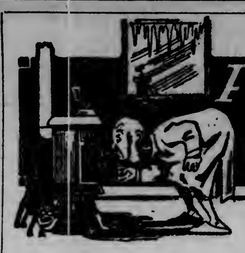

After the arrest of Sylvia Pankhurst, Miss Emerson was left in supreme command of the army, and the first work she undertook was to head a section of the army to visit the homes of the local counsellors, who had refused to allow the East end suffragettes to use the Bow baths for their weekly meetings. In a narrow street before a counsellor's home battle was joined with a special squad of police. The East end hoodlum dearly loves a fight, but he does not fancy facing heavy odds, and the suffragette leader soon found herself with only a remnant of the old guard left about. But undaunted she charged, swinging a rope loaded with lead, and to this formidable weapon Inspector Potter, who met the full shock of the attack at the head of a picked squad of London's best, owes his two black eyes. Before she could do any more damage to the representatives of the "man-made" law, Miss Emerson was gathered in by the constables, who kept their prisoner despite the desperate efforts made to effect her release.

WIRELESS STATION IN GREENLAND PROPOSED

Copenhagen, Jan. 12.—Plans to put Greenland into wireless communication with the rest of the world are being rapidly completed. Engineers who have returned from Greenland report that the Kigsigut islands on the west coast are well adapted for the location of a wireless station from which communication can be established with stations in Denmark and Canada. It is little more than 2,000 miles from Denmark to the islands, while the distance to Canada from the Kigsiguts is about 1,000 miles.

ANTI-WHITE SLAVERY IN DENMARK ACTIVE.

Copenhagen, Jan. 12.—The Society for the Protection Against White Slavery has become energetic here, and is especially active in preventing the luring away of girls to America. In their recent report the directors declare that they have watched closely the Mormon agitation in Denmark, for the society considers the Mormons a great danger. The society states that several hundred girls, especially from Jutland, are taken to America every year.

SAMUEL'S THREE-P

What Is It?

The usual cup of coffee contains about 2½ grains of caffeine, a drug which often produces aches, ails and discomfort; but the habit can be quickly overcome by using well-made Postum.

One of the most pleasing features of this change from coffee to Postum is the total absence of a sense of something missed.

But more important is that "good all over" feeling of returning health; and it's the finest trade possible to quit coffee and get well.

Postum, made of prime wheat and a small per cent of New Orleans molasses, is a pure food-drink. It is wholesome and nourishing; and has a delicious, snappy flavour resembling that of Old Gov't Java, but is entirely free from the coffee drug, caffeine.

Anyone can make a stand for the old fashioned fun that comes with health and the power to "do things." Suppose you try it!

"There's a Reason" for POSTUM

Postum now comes in two forms:

Regular Postum—must be boiled 15 to 20 minutes.

Instant Postum —is a soluble powder. A scant teaspoonful stirred in a cup of hot water dissolves instantly.

The convenience of Instant Postum is apparent. But, when prepared according to directions, both kinds are exactly the same. The cost per cup is about equal. —Grocers everywhere sell both kinds.

under the most favorable auspices. The early games were close and exceedingly well contested, attesting the quality of the rink and also to the ideal conditions for bringing out the best sport.

Officials of the Duluth Curling club have energetically co-operated with the officials of the Northwestern Curling association in looking after every comfort of the visiting curlers. There is a telegraph office in the club for the convenience of the visiting curlers, and in the large banquet hall of theclub a temporary lunch room has been fitted up. Lockers have been supplied to the visiting players, and it is not necessary for a player to leave the rink during the day for any purpose, so fully have the various needs of the curlers been looked after.

Sandy McNabb's famous rink of Grand Rapids, Mich., is on hand, garbed in suits of the immaculate white. This is one of the best known rinks in the entire West, and while it looked as if it was going to be put out of the Duluth Curling club trophy event at a late hour this afternoon, Helmick of Duluth having a good lead, the McNabb rink is expected to be one of the real contenders of the spiel.

Duluth Fares Well.

In the early draw the Duluth rinks fared very well. One of the distinct surprises of the day was the defeat of the crack Lem Defiel rink by Rube Schiller of Duluth.

The event proved an easy win for the Duluth crowd, as the score of 17 to 12 indicates. Schiller and his men played exceptionally well, piling up an early lead that was never seriously threatened.

Fregeau of Duluth defeated Sine of Port Arthur by the narrow margin of one point. The two rinks came in to the eleventh head even up, Duluth scoring one point in the final head and winning by the score of 11 to 10.

Tom McDermott's kid rink put Ron Smith out of the Duluth event, winning by the score of 12 to 8, and Henry Cameron of the Saintly City defeated S. H. Jones' rink by the score of 14 to 11.

Alex MacRae of Duluth gave the great "Bill" Carson of Winnipeg one of the best games of the early draw, the Winnipeg rink winning out by the final score of 15 to 14. Carson laying three in the tenth head after it looked as if the Duluth skip was going to put one of the crack Canadian rinks out of the running of the first event of the spiel.

E. A. Forsyth furnished one of the surprises of the day by winning from Tom Lowe's Winnipeg rink by the score of 15 to 14, this going down as one of the feature games of the early draw.

Three More Draws.

It is probable that three more draws will be completed today. The games are being rushed off and there is indication thus early in the spiel that the big event will be easily completed by Saturday evening.

Following are the scores of the 10 o'clock draw:

Tom McDermott, St. Paul, 12; Ron Smith, Duluth, 8.

W. B. Sine, Port Arthur, 10; F. Fregeau, Duluth, 11.

George McIvar, Port Arthur, 12; H. C. Brown, West Duluth, 5.

E. T. Robinson, Superior, 11; Charles West, Duluth, 10.

Clough Gates, Superior, 20; Tom McGilvray, Duluth, 10.

C. B. Lenont, Virginia, 14; Thomas Quinn, West Duluth, 4.

William Carson, Winnipeg, 15; Alex Macrae, Duluth, 14.

E. A. Forsyth, Duluth, 15; Tom Lowe, Winnipeg, 14.

William Dinham, Duluth, 10; W. L. Dash, West Duluth, 8.

Henry Cameron, St. Paul, 14; S. H. Jones, Duluth, 11.

SHOULD BE VACCINATED

During December Duluth had 203 births and 83 deaths, according to the health department bulletin, edited by Dr. I. J. Murphy, medical inspector and assistant health director.

The bulletin points out that a number of cases of smallpox have recently developed, some of them in the public schools, and strongly urges parents to have their children vaccinated, asserting that it is almost inevitable that unless this precaution is taken the child will have smallpox before finishing the eighth grade.

Several new cases of scarlet fever were reported in various parts of the city, but apparently had no common source.

Considerable space is devoted to home remedies for some of the more common ailments. The department does not wish to encourage what it terms "self-medication," but makes the suggestions as guides for those who cannot afford the services of a physician or who do not wish to consult public health officials. Effective treatments are outlined for scabies, pediculosis and ringworm.

"Since at this time of year people are often crowded together in street cars, schools, churches, theaters and other public places the chances for an accidental infection by these parasites are obvious," says the bulletin. "Any cases reported to the health department will receive due consideration."

MUST CONTINUE THE OLD SYSTEM

Duluth will have to continue the old-fashioned, cumbersome and costly method of paying bills on vouchers whose correctness have been certified before a notary public.

City Attorney Harvey S. Clapp this morning received an opinion from the office of the state's attorney general that this is required by the state law, which cannot be superceded by city ordinances or city charters.

"Under that ruling all that we can do is to continue under the old system," said Finance Commissioner Fred J. Voss this morning, "but we should prepare to take up the matter with our delegation at the next session of the state legislature, with a view to having remedial legislation passed. But in any event that cannot be done for at least another year.

"It is not up-to-date or businesslike to require that bills be sworn to before they can be paid. It reacts too heavily upon the city. It results in loss of time and compels the city to pay more for its purchases, and is cumbersome as well. This ruling will undoubtedly have to be taken into consideration in the installation of the new accounting system but I am confident that this will only be until the condition is called to the attention of the legislature."

PATROLMAN'S SLAYER GIVEN LIFE SENTENCE

Jovan Zorola, who shot Officer Nell J. Mooney last Tuesday evening, pleaded guilty this afternoon before District Judge Cant. He was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Stillwater penitentiary.

Zorola wanted to plead guilty Saturday, but the court refused to accept the plea until the prisoner had consulted an attorney.

His companion, Savo Rekich, pleaded not guilty to the charge of carrying concealed weapons.

This morning six prisoners who were indicted Friday by the grand jury appeared in court and each entered pleas of not guilty. They were Anton Gasper, charged with burglary; Stans Sankowsky and James Carey, jointly indicted for burglary, Frank Jacobs, accused of assault, Andrew Norbut, charged with assault, and Andrew E. Loben, held on a burglary charge.

Will Make No Charge.

Edward Swenson informed Mayor Prince and Commissioner Murchison Saturday that he will make no charge for a sewer easement across his property at Spirit Lake provided the sewer is used only by the Finnish college. The building line commission allowed Mr. Swenson $500 damages for the easement which was considered excessive by the city council. Rather than pay that sum the opinon was expressed that another route a block further west should be used.

Wants Swag Returned.

The case of Joseph Jarvis against John Kerns, proprietor of the Sixth avenue hotel, to recover $185 alleged to have been stolen from him while a guest at the place, will go to a jury in municipal mourt this afternoon. Jarvis alleges that the money was taken from him while he was asleep the night of Nov. 17. Attorney G. A. E. Finlayson is appearing for Jarvis, while Attorney T. J. McKeon is representing Kerns.

May Have Been Drugged.

Fred Johnson, a laborer, about 25 years old, was hauled into police headquarters from the West end in a comatose condition this morning. Dr. I. J. Murphy, police surgeon, examined him and was of the opinion that the man had been drugged. He ordered him removed to the hospital for a further examination and treatment.

Threatened to "Get" Him.

Believing that M. Duncolovitch, proprietor of a West Michigan street saloon, had complained of them to the police, Tony Morris and Joe Tomich threatened to assault him, according to a report in police court this morning. The two men were arrested on charges of vagrancy after Duncolovitch had told the police that he had fears for his personal safety. They pleaded guilty, but their cases are set for 2 o'clock for disposition, the court desiring further information before passing sentence.

Ate While His Wife Went Hungry.

That Rasmus P. Rassmussen, a mill laborer residing in the West end, buys and cooks his own food and leaves his wife to subsist on what may be left after his fill, was the story told by Mrs. Rasmussen to Police Prosecutor W. H. Gurnee. Rasmussen was arraigned in police court this morning on a charge of non-support. He pleaded guilty after a conference with Probation Officer Frank Hicks and was placed on parole for one year under the probation officer's charge.

Drunk and Sorry.

Emily Bemis, 40 years old, waiked into the police station Saturday night and asked to be locked up for being drunk. When arraigned in police court this morning she pleaded guilty and said that she was very sorry. The police stated that she had been an inmate of the industrial home maintained by the county at Sixteenth avenue east and London road. Judge Cutting put her case over until this afternoon for disposition.

DULUTH MOTION PICTURES.

New York Firm Offers to Advertise the City.

A New York motion picture company wrote Mayor Prince today stating that it is willing to take film photographs of Duluth which can be used for advertising purposes.

The price would be $750, with $100 for each follow order, the film to be approximately 1,000 feet long.

The company also says that it would be willing to show the city how the film could be circulated for advertising purposes. Mayor Prince said that he will not recommend the expenditure.

LONG DISTANCE APPLICATION.

Raleigh, N. C., Man Wants Job on Duluth Fire Department.

The long-distance inquiry record for a city job was received this morning by J. H. Truax, secretary to the mayor, from L. F. Hicks of Raleigh, N. C. Hicks said that he is now on the Raleigh fire department in the capacity of a driver of a motor truck. He explained that he had noticed in a fireman's publication that Duluth needs more men for the department, and said that he would be willing to come if conditions were satisfactory.

As the fire department is under civil service, and under the rules the candidates must have lived in the state for a year, the prospects of the North Carolina fireman coming here are remote.

Kills Self at Moose Jaw.

Fessenden, N. D., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Local people have been notified of the suicide at Moose Jaw, Can., of Frank Miller. He was well known here and at Hamburg, this county, where he resided a number of years. The day of his suicide he went to the postoffice and inquired for some mail, apparently being greatly disappointed that he received none.

WOMEN HIT BY AUTOMOBILE

Mrs. Elizabeth McNulty of West Duluth and Miss Katherine Murphy of 1008 East Sixth street were struck by an automobile belonging to Contractors King and Runquist and driven by Fred Abelson, at Sixth avenue west and Superior street about 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Mrs. McNulty was badly bruised about the head and sustained a gash in the back of her head but it is not thought that she was dangerously hurt. Miss Murphy suffered more from fright and nervous shock than from physical injury.

Ed Walsh, 129 First avenue west, who stated that he witnessed the accident, asserted that the automobile was backing up in front of the depot when the two women were struck. Neither of the women seemed to know clearly how the accident had occurred and could not give a clear account of it. Miss Murphy was taken to her home and Mrs. McNulty was taken to St. Mary's hospital in the police ambulance after she had been examined by Dr. S. H. Boyer. The physician stated that he could not tell how badly she was hurt until after a further examination at the hospital.

The women were not together. Mrs. McNulty was leaving the Soo depot and Miss Murphy had just left a street car to enter the station at the time they were struck. They met at the corner just as the automobile hit them. The driver told a depot employe that they dodged in opposite directions and that he could not avoid striking them.

WANTS EXTENSION OF PANAMA LINE

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Jan. 12.—All the members of the Minnesota delegation except Representative Stevens were in Washington today at the opening of the session. Mr. Stevens is expected Wednesday. Representatives Manahan and Hammond returned last night from a trip to Panama. Manahan is urging the extension of the Panama Steamship line to the Pacific coast when the canal is opened. The Panama railroad and steamship line is owned by the government, and Manahan believes that the government-owned line would prevent the exaction of exorbitant rates by the other lines operating between the east and west coasts through the canal.

WANTS DATA ON ALL MINNESOTA LICENSES

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Representative Steenerson today introduced a bill directing the treasury department to advise the department of justice monthly of the licenses issued by the government for the sale of liquor in the Indian country in Minnesota. He also presented a resolution calling on the secretary of the treasury for information as to licenses of this kind heretofore issued, and also the interior department for information relating to the operations of the department in preventing the introduction of liquor among the Minnesota Chippewas. Both measures were introduced owing to the controversy that has arisen in Becker county between the Federal and county authorities over the liquor question.

FIRST JURY CASE ON.

Suit on Fire Insurance Policy Up in District Court.

The first of the jury cases to be tried at the January term of the district court was called this morning in Judge Dancer's room when the lawsuit brought by Otto W. Haglund against the County Fire Insurance company of Philadelphia was brought on for trial.

The case is one in which the plaintiff is seeking to recover $750 damages on a policy covering 30,000 feet of mixed birch and pine timber. The timber was destroyed by fire during the life of the policy. The loss, Haglund claims, was $900. He asserts that he is entitled to the full amount.

Denied New Trial.

Judge Dancer in district court this morning filed an order denying a motion by the plaintiff for a new trial in the personal injury action brought by Mrs. Josephine Rothschild against the Duluth, Rainy Lake & Winnipeg railway, now known as the Duluth Winnipeg & Pacific Railway company.

Mrs. Rothschild sued for damages for injuries alleged to have been received while a passenger on one of the company's trains. She claims that she stumbled over a piece of baggage which had been negligently left in the aisle of a pasenger coach, and was badly injured. The jury, however, returned a verdict in favor of the railway company.

TAXPAYERS HALT DR. HYDE'S TRIAL.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 12.—The fourth trial of Dr. B. Clarke Hyde, charged with the murder of Col. Thomas H. Swope, was postponed again today. The county prosecutor set forth that the case could not go to trial today as set, because of a suit filed in the circuit court last Saturday by two Jackson county taxpayers to enjoin the county court from paying the expense of further prosecution of the physician. Judge Porterfield then set the case for Jan. 19.

The injunction suit has not been set for trial, but county officials said they hoped it could be disposed of this week. Should the injunction be granted, they said, the Hyde case probably would be dismissed.

WANTS PROBE OF STEEL CARRIERS.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Investigation by the interstate commerce commission of whether any railroads have favored the United States Steel corporation with illegal rebates, was proposed today by Senator Lane of Oregon. He asked immediate passage for his resolution, but it was carried over until tomorrow.

Superior

NO RECORD OF THE "FINES"

Resort Keepers Pay Money Monthly to the Municipal Court.

No record is kept of the fines collected every month from the resort keepers in Superior's segregated district, according to information secured by the state vice commission from Judge F. S. Parker of the municipal court, who was the only witness of importance examined at the morning session.

Judge Parker explained that $53 was sent each month by each resort keeper to his court and that the money was turned over by him to the city treasurer. No court procedure was taken in the collection of the fines and consequently there was no record. This has been the method for a number of years, according to the witness, who has been judge of the municipal court and mayor of Superior during the past 17 years.

The resort keepers are supposed to pay the fine in person, but for convenience often send it up by somebody else, said Judge Parker. The police furnish the court with a list of the houses in operation and all the court does is to see that the number of fines paid checks up with the list of the number of houses open.

Clerk Collects Fines.

Admissions that his drug clerk acted as collector of "fines" from the women of the segregated district, that he did about $250 worth of business with the denizens of the houses of ill-fame, and that he allowed girls of "intimate acquaintanceship" to step behind the prescription counter and loiter there, were made by August E. Holmberg, a Tower avenue druggist, while on the witness stand Saturday afternoon. He admitted that about $13,000 in "fines" was collected annually by his clerk from the various houses of ill-fame and that this money was turned over to the judge of the municipal court.

Chairman Teasdale of the vice commission cross-examined Holmberg and showed by his line of questions that the secret sessions held during the morning hours with the keepers of the houses of ill-fame had resulted in the commission securing much evidence against men in various lines of business.

Holmberg admitted he had a boy in his employ who had collected fines from the women and turned them over to the municipal court; that he had occasionally sold liquor to "friends" without the necessary registration, according to law, and that he had some forbidden drugs in stock although he denied ever having sold any of them.

He admitted that the landladies of the district had paid an average of about $53 per month in fines to the collector. Among those who had paid these sums regularly were Phyllis Pendleton, Flo Davenport, Nina Mills, Ollie Shean, Belle Cline and Nettie McKay, the latter a negress.

Again in Session.

The hearing again opened at 10 o'clock this morning. Subpoenas for the managers of several of the branch brewing houses have been issued and it is proposed to ask these men what they know about the supplying of beer and liquor to the segregated district.

Among those who will be asked to take the stand will be the representatives of the Hanim Brewing company, John Gund Brewing company and the Miller Brewing company. Mayor Konkel, Police Chief McKinnon, Detective Galvin and other members of the police force will also appear on the stand during the day.

W. A. Whitney of the United States National bank told the commission Saturday afternoon that he believed that a seaport town required a segregated district. He advised the purchase of a few acres of ground outside of the city limits where these people could locate. He challenged the members of the commission to name any large port city which had successfully abolished prostitution.

Among the men who appeared on the stand were P. H. Hadfield, manager of two moving picture shows in Superior; W. R. Burns, driver for an express company; Pear Benson of the First National bank; W. H. Webb, Frank Hayes of the Superior Iron Works, W. E. Maddox, superintendent of schools; L. A. Erhart manager of the Northern Brewing company. The latter said his company owns no buildings occupied by saloons but is interested financially in the fixtures of about forty or fifty saloons.

Goes to Reformatory.

"Bob" Rogish, who confessed to having passed worthless checks for $70 and $20 was given a reformatory sentence of one year at Green Bay when he appeared before Judge Smith of the superior court. He will be taken there by the sheriff this evening.

Ask Special Election.

The city commission will be asked to hold the special election for the municipal ownership of the Superior Street Railway company on the primary day. The suggestion to hold this election on some day other than the general election day is being made by members of the Commercial club.

Plan Bungalow for Bachelors.

PLANS MADE TO HOUSE OLYMPIAN CONTESTANTS

German Committee Will Build Training Camps---New Rules Drafted.

Berlin, Jan. 12.—The German Olympic committee, in its efforts to solve the problem of quartering the hundreds of athletes who will compete here in 1916, has evolved the plan of offering private training camps to those nations which will bear a proportion of the expense necessary for the building of these quarters.

In order that the teams of the various countries may reside in the desired seclusion, with their own cooks and training tables and with an abandoned field adjacent, the committee has secured a large plot of land in the Grunewald pine forest, almost at the doors of the stadium, and is now approaching the participant nations with an offer to pay a portion of the cost of erecting and furnishing the houses.

It also offers to place at the disposal of such countries as do not care to incur the expense of building a special clubhouse, portable barracks, in which the competitors can be housed during the games. Sweden has already decided to take advantage of the proposal and will erect a characteristic Swedish country house. A representative of the committee, who, for several months has been vainly looking for a good hotel with a field for practice nearby, outside of town and yet easily accessible, and with accommodations for from 100 to 150 athletes, which he was instructed to engage, has interrupted his search, thinking that the committee's plan may offer just the accommodations desired by the American committee.

The committee is rapidly arranging the many details incidental to the games of 1916 and removing various causes of friction among local and international bodies. Disputes between the German Olympic committee and the German turner guild relative to the program have been amicably adjusted and the guild is now an enthusiastic supporter of the games.

The draft of the program for submission to the international committee at Paris for track and field athletics, follows closely that drawn up at the international federation last summer and will be favorably received in the United States. It includes all the standard events practiced there, eliminates the "two-handed" weight events, and adds only one walking event, the hundred kilometer (62½-mile) walk.

The German rules contain a proviso aimed at migrating athletes. Under this an athlete competing at one set of games for a particular country cannot enter later games from another country, although he may have become naturalized in the meantime.

The German committee has also adopted a new amateur definition, much shorter than that drafted by the international federation. It differs from it and the accepted American rule by professionalizing amateurs competing against professionals only if this occurs without the permission of the amateur's club federation. The German rules also professionalize athletes receiving money or other compensation for the use of their names to advertise sporting goods or general wares, such as cigarettes or cigars.

CRACK PLAYERS TO MEET

Three Britishers Coming to Enter Open Championship in Summer.

New York, Jan. 12.—According to private advices from England, a trio of the best of the British professional golfers will compete in the United States open championship at the Midlothian Country club near Chicago, next summer. George Duncan, James Braid and J. G. Taylor are named as the possible invaders, although the personnel still is subject to change.

Taylor and Braid, together with Harry Vardon, have each won the English open championship five times, and it is expected that the open championship to be held at Prestwich will break this triangular tie. Duncan holds the world's record for both 36 and 72 holes, made in the same tournament last year, the championship of Lucerne lakes.

ONLY THREE SIGN.

Philadelphia Nationals Have Poor Start for Season.

Philadelphia, Jan. 12.—Paskert, Alexander and Lobert are the only members of the Philadelphia National league club's team of last season who have signed contracts to play here next year, declared Charles Dooin, the club's manager, here last night.

Dooin will send contracts to the other players during the coming week.

Signs School Boy.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 12.—Another schoolboy baseball player has been signed by the Boston Red Sox for development with Harold Javrin. The new player is Dominick J. Mulrenan, a right-handed pitcher of the Woburn high school. He is 19 years old and weighs 165 pounds.

FRISTENSKY TO MEET AMERICUS

Biggest Wrestling Match of Season Will Be Contested in Chicago.

Chicago, Jan 12.—One of two things will happen in the wrestling arena at the Coliseum tonight and either of them will be of some importance. Gustave Fristensky will flash into the spotlight as a real contender for the world's title or he will be forced into the discard by one of America's best young wrestlers. If Fristensky beats Americus of Baltimore in their finish contest, and the Bohemians are willing to wager most anything and let their bets stand irrespective of any decision regarding them from the club's referee, he will be accepted as one of the best in the business.

If Americus defeats Fristensky, and he believes he has an excellent chance of doing so, little more will be heard of the foreign star, but Americus will be regarded as one of the real "hopes" of the wrestling game for future foreign invasions and will have placed himself in the position of being one of the leaders, if not the real leader, of all the Americans.

WESTERN BONSPIEL STARTS OFF WITH A RUSH

With Sixty-Four Rinks Here the Big Curling Show Promises to Eclipse All Previous Efforts of the Northwestern Bonspiel Association.

The twenty-first annual bonspiel of the Northwestern Curling association has opened with six-cylinder power.

With sixty-four rinks here for the opening draws and the promise that there will be more than seventy before the week is over, the big 'spiel opens with the radiant promise of eclipsing all of the former 'spiels held under the auspices of the association.

No curling bonspiel held in the Northwest has had the complete and perfect accommodations that will be at the command of the visiting curlers. Staged in the finest curling house in the United States, with eighteen sheets of ice to play the eight trophy events of the 'spiel upon, the bonspiel that got under way early today will mark an important epoch in the curling history of Duluth.

Early yesterday the vanguard of the curlers began to arrive. Led by the grizzled Carson of Winnipeg, the Canadian contingent is here with the determination of winning the grand aggregate and the International.

Cameron of St. Paul, a veteran tried and true, who has been coming to the 'spiels of the association for years, is the grand senior of the St. Paul delegation. The Saintly city aggregation is one of the strongest that has ever come from the city of Biblical lore.

From Phillips, Wis., is the ever-present Reedal, and from various towns of the surrounding country and the iron ranges have come rinks that are expected to make a very fine showing in the 'spiel.

The Duluth Event.

First upon the list is the Duluth Curling club event, that early today officially opened the 'spiel. Some of the strongest rinks of the 'spiel will oppose one another in the early draw and from the start off the play will be of the very highest order. Conditions are perfect for the curlers. The weather man, thanks to the caution and care of the members of the anti-weather committee of the curling club, has responded nobly, and the ice is perfect and assures the most ideal conditions.

During the week the draws of the various events will be posted in the Duluth hotels and in the curlers' room of the club. Members of the association playing committee are positive that all of the events of the 'spiel will have been completed by Saturday evening, as the many sheets of ice will permit of the playing of a large number of games at one time.

Following is the draw that officially opened the spiel early today:

IMPORTANT TENNIS GAME

First Time Amateur and Professional Champions Meet.

First Championship Match Played Out of England in Century.

New York, Jan 12.—In the long list of international contests which are being scheduled for the present year none stands out with the peculiar uniqueness which will surround the court tennis contests between Jay Gould of the United States, and G. F. Covey of England. This match, which will be played in Philadelphia late in March, brings together the American amateur champion and the world's professional title holder. That an amateur and professional should meet for a world's championship is unique in sporting competitions, but the fact that Jay Gould is a member of a family famous for its wealth even in a country of immense fortunes deprives this meeting with the English professional of sinister reflection on amateur status.

Although the final details of the match are still to be settled, interest in the contest is rapidly increasing both in this country and England. This is particularly true in English amateur sport circles, where court tennis is in great vogue. Not only is the outcome awaited with great interest because of the remarkable playing ability of both Gould and Covey, but the fact that it is the first time that a championship match has ever been arranged between an amateur and professional and the first time that the championship match has been played outside England lends additional zest to the contest. It is understood that the match will be best out of thirteen sets and the American balls will be used. There is little variation between English and American courts but the balls differ considerably.

Covey, who is professional to Neville Stephen Lytton, the British amateur champion, is 33 years old; the best age, according to experts, for the game.

The American amateur, who is about five years younger than Covey, has for some seasons stood out as the leading exponent of court tennis in this country.

Glancing over the history of the court tennis it develops no championship match has been played out of England for nearly 100 years though there have been several international matches.

Another international competition for 1914 of unusual type is that of the United Bowling clubs of New York, which will send a large team of expert bowlers to the great German championship tournament to be held in Berlin during the week of Aug. 2-8. All details of the trip have been arranged. A large party of pin knights have chartered the steamer Barbarosa, and will embark at this port July 2, arriving in Bremen on July 12.

This will be the fourth trip of the United Bowling clubs of New York to Germany to take part in bowling tournaments. In all of the previous invasions they have come out victorious.

DAUBERT REFUSES FEDERALS' OFFER.

New York, Jan. 12.—Jake Daubert, captain and first baseman of the Brooklyn National league baseball club, has sent word to John B. Barbour, president of the Federal league club of Pittsburg, that he would not accept an offer to manage the Pittsburg Federal league team.

"I will not play outside of organized baseball," said Daubert.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—A. J. Dolan, third baseman of the St. Louis Nationals, has signed to play with the Baltimore Federals, it was announced by Manager Knabe of Baltimore.

A FORMER OFFICER OF THE ASSOCIATION--TOM M'DERMOTT IS A VETERAN CURLER

TOM McDERMOTT.

BOB NOT SATISFIED.

Freckled Fighter Appeals to Court for Permission to Scrap.

New York, Jan. 12.—The state supreme court will decide whether "Bob" Fitzsimmons, former heavyweight champion of the world, is too old to reenter the ring with a view to winning back his title. The state athletic commission was informed that Fitzsommons had applied to the supreme court for an injunction to restrain the commission from enforcing its recent order prohibiting the former glove champion from fighting in this state. Argument on the application will be heard Wednesday.

Warren Gets Honors.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Warren, Pa., carried off the high score honors in Class A of the Interclub gallery championship rifle match this week, making 994 out of a possible 1,000. Kings Mills, Ohio, still leads in Class B.

Wins on Points.

Sydney, N. S. W., Jan. 12.—Tom McCormie of Australia yesterday beat Johnny Summers, the English pugilist, in a twenty-round contest for the British welterweight championship. McCormie won on points.

CRACK VICTORIAS WIN FROM THE CURLING CLUB

Winnipeggers Take Exciting Hockey Game By Score of 8 to 4.

"Ham" Baker Thrills Huge Crowd By His Wonderful Playing.

The Winnipeg Victorias defeated the Duluth hockey team by the score of 8 to 4 Saturday evening in one of the best contests that has ever been witnessed here. A crowd that taxed the seating capacity of the huge rink and was estimated at 3,000, witnessed the game.

Winnipeg won because the members of the team knew more hockey than the members of the Duluth seven. Duluth did not fall down. There were times during the contest that the locals played the visitors off their feet, but in finished execution of the multifarious details that go to make hockey one of the greatest of all winter games, the Canadians clearly excelled, and the score fairly represents the difference between the two teams.

In passing, skating and in general team work the Victorias surpassed the Duluth boys. Winnipeg played the new style of game known as the follow game. Some of the spectators were led to believe at first glance that the team work of the famed Winnipeg bunch was very mediocre. But closer followers of the play possibly noticed the neat and effective manner in which one of the visiting players would skate down behind a forward and neatly receive a pass just before the man ahead was blocked.

Baker Is a Star.

For the visitors "Ham" Baker was the bright and scintillating star. We have seen Winters, Coolte and other stars of the visiting teams, but never in the history of Duluth hockey has there been an exhibition such as this stalwart and speedy forward gave in the game of Saturday evening. Baker shoots like Bob Fitzsimmons used to hit—he shoots 'em from any angle. Moreover, he feints the goal keeper out of position.

A remarkable dodger, one of the best skaters ever seen on the local ice, an adept at keeping the puck, one of the swiftest and most accurate shooters playing the game, and specially clever at drawing the goal tender off guard by a feint, Baker has most everything that goes to make a star.

And they do say that "Guinnea" Bawlf is better than Baker. We will have to be shown.

It was Baker that counted the most in the victory of the visitors. He couldn't be stopped, and his shooting was so remarkable that Loudon seemed unable to prevent the little wonder from piling up scores.

In the first eight minutes of play Romeril, the ex-Toronto star, shot the first goal. In a combination play with Baker the Eastern star shot the puck by Louden, and first blood was scored by the visitors. In just two minutes after the first score Hughes came down the ice, and in a play that illustrated the effectiveness of the so-called follow style of play, received the puck on a clever pass and shot the second goal of the evening.

Kahler was the first of the Duluth players to score, netting one in just eleven minutes of play. The net of Kahler was scored on a combination play in front of the net, Barkell figuring in the play, and en masse 3,000 people arose and gave lusty voiced demonstration of their feelings.

Baker shot his first goal of the contest in precisely twelve minutes after the call of play. This goal gave a clear and lucid explanation of why this lad is called one of the best forwards in Western Canada. Like the wind the stocky kid went down the side of the rink, dodging one defense man, passing the puck cleanly out of the grasp of another and then shooting a beautiful goal.

While the crowd was yet thrilled and wondering at the brilliant exhibition of Baker, he shot another goal, the second following in just one minute.

Duluth Team Rallies.

During the first half of the game the visitors had outplayed the locals. Helmer Grenner took the puck down the ice near the middle of the half and shot a pretty goal from an angle to the side of the net. Again a shout that shook the vaulted roof of the rink greeted the second score.

Caldwell shot the last goal of the first half, the score coming just before the call of time and leaving the count at the call of half 5 to 2. In the first half of the game Duluth had been outplayed, not because the locals had fallen down, but rather because of the fact that the Winnipeg team showed all that has been claimed for it in the most lavish extravagance of praise.

The Second Half.

Joe Linder brought the ever ready and ever sympathetic Duluth partisans to their feet when he went down the ice in a beautiful burst of speed and, unaided, shot the first goal of the second half in one minute of play.

The ever-working Caldwell put a damper on the enthusiasm of the backers of the home team by shooting a goal in a pretty combination in just three minutes.

Along the ice came Baker and following close and slightly to the right was Caldwell. Like a shot Baker made the pass, clean and clever, and without hesitation, like a wonderful machine, Caldwell shot the puck past the vigilant Loudon.

Barkell shot the last Duluth goal in 17 minutes after the call of time for the second half. "Hammy" Baker, the ever-scoring Baker, made another long trip up the ice and shot a goal in 25 minutes, and in just two minutes later Caldwell scored the final goal of the game, just before the call of time.

On the whole the game was clean. There was some roughness—some that looked wholly unnecessary—but hockey is not a mollycoddle game. Grenner received a hard fall, but no one was seriously injured.

Those who had never witnessed a hockey game were thrilled; those who have been thrilled in the past were also thrilled. It was some game, and the general concensus of opinion is that Duluth has really nothing to feel ashamed of in meeting defeat at the hands of a team of the ability of the Winnipeggers.

Officials of the curling club declare that the team that defeated the curling club seven is the team that will represent the Victorias during all of the present season, reports to the contrary notwithstanding.

The lineup and summary:

New Skating Records.

Christiania, Jan. 12.—Oscar Mathiesen yesterday set two new world's skating records. He covered 500 meter in 42 7-10 seconds and 1,500 meters in 2 minutes 19½ seconds. The previous records were 44 1-5 seconds, and 2:20 3-5, respectively.

Will Stick With Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 12.—Shortstop Owen Bush and Pitcher George Dauss of the Detroit American league baseball club have held a conference with President Navin here, after which it was announced that both men had come to an understanding with the management as to salary and soon would sign their 1914 contracts. Bush and Dauss received offers recently from clubs in the Federal league.

PEARSON WINS FROM JOHNSON

Lester River Farmer Downs Wrestling Fireman in Straight Falls.

Some clever wrestling was witnessed at the Moose show of Saturday evening. Three of the best contested and most exciting contests that have ever been staged in the old hall rewarded those who attended the show.

Walter Nasgoda, the baker boy, who has been kept out of the game because of illness for the past six months, made his reappearance and put up a corking contest with Pete Petkoff. The stocky Bulgarian won the first fall in 41.15 and in so doing so used up the baker boy that the latter was too ill to respond to the call of time for the second bout.

In Leonard Saunders of Ashland the fans saw one of the best wrestlers who has appeared in these parts for some time. The big Ashland boy won in two straight falls from Fred Hass of St. Paul, securing the first fall in 11:28 with a double arm lock and the second and deciding fall in 9:08 with a nelson and croutch.

In the main bout of the evening Chris Pearson won from Martin Johnson in straight falls, the farmer of Lester river showing that he is still good and knows all of the finer points of the mat game.

Chris took the first fall in 23:14 with a head and arm lock, and won the second and deciding fall in 9:20 with a further arm and body hold.

The show was clean and interesting and pleased those who attended. The entertainment was put on under the direction of Martin Johnson.

VESSELS MUST CARRY WIRELESS

New Canadian Law Will Affect Navigation on Lakes.

The new Canadian law regulating the use of wireless upon vessels will greatly improve conditions on the Great Lakes. The act, which went into effect Jan. 1, requires that no vessel carrying fifty or more passengers or going 200 miles or more may leave port without wireless apparatus. Winter navigation from Canadian ports will be affected at once, but the influence on Lake navigation will not be felt until the opening of lake ports in the spring. It is understood that most ocean vessels are already equipped with wireless.

NO SUCH THING AS NEUTRAL GROUND

Failure to Act Often Aids Wrong Cause, Says Dr. Gebauer.

That no one can occupy a position of neutrality without influencing one side or the other of a case was the position taken by Rev. Dr. George Gebauer of the first Unitarian church yesterday morning when he preached on the subject, "Impossible Neutrality." A man who believes in orthodoxy, he said, and fails to profess it, is casting his influence against the cause in which he believes. Mr. Gebauer's sermon in part follows:

"Nobody can take a perfectly neutral position in life, no matter how sincere his endeavor may be. Our attitude will either favor one side or the other, one issue or the other.

"If a friend be found in trouble, if he be accused of crime, and we simply take a neutral standpoint, our stand points against him. The world will say; 'ah, even his friends are suspicious, they do not come for his defense; they are afraid to compromise themselves.' On the other hand, if a man's enemies are quiet and neutral in such a case, people begin to say, 'Well, it after all looks that he is innocent, for not one of his enemies has a word to say.'

"How this works in political life we know. The vote that is not cast will count one way or the other. So again it is in international relations. During the Civil war the European nations observed strict neutrality, yet the South knew its friends and so did the North. By the sympathy expressed one way or the other, assistance was given to one side or the other.

Attitude Cowardly.

"Now, as it is in the political world, so it is in the social world. We shall find it impossible to be neutral. It will never do to say: I will not take any sides, when duty demands that I take a side. If we do not take the side we ought to take, that side will claim us which we ought not to take. Yes, more, it often will happen that because we were too cowardly to espouse the cause of right in the beginning, we are led unconsciously by perhaps selfish tendencies into the opposite camp. We learn to hate the thing we ought to have loved.

To act according to our innermost conviction is a divine trust, which is given us to raise onward and upward. Thus alone we side with God and truth, and so only can the world progress. Is it not so in religion? The one thing which here above all retards a healthy progress, is the neutral position of many men, who at best have their religion in their wife's name. It is a pitiful state. The duty of a man is to have convictions of his own in matters of religion, and having found such to take his stand not by the church door but inside. The man who believes in orthodoxy and fails to profess it and the liberal who for one reason or another fails to identify himself with the liberal movement are both faithless to their divine trust. And he who will not side with God and truth, as he understands it, is bound to side against God and truth. There is no neutral ground in religion. 'He who is not with me, is against me.'

No Ground Neutral.

'Life in all its varied phases is a serious matter; it constantly challenges our loyalty. It may be hard at times to know which side to take, but the man who takes life seriously will sooner or later know his place. And if he thus takes his stand, he will find his inner freedom, he will find his highest satisfaction, and he will become a worker and a helper of his fellows."

COL. LOUNSBERRY GOES TO HOSPITAL

Part of Bullet Received in Battle to Be Removed.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Col. Clement A. Lounsberry, the veteran North Dakota editor, on duty in the general land office, went to the Walter Reed General hospital Saturday afternoon for the purpose of having removed a portion of a bullet lodged between the two bones in the lower third of his left leg, received at the battle of Spottsylvania, May 12, 1864. As a portion of the bullet passed out, carrying away the greater part of the smaller bone, it was not discovered until shown by an X-ray examination that a portion of the bullet remained and was the cause of the constant pain he suffered lately, seriously affecting his general health. His leg was broken in 1887 as the result of this wound.

Col. Lounsberry was twice wounded at the battle of First Bull Run, and went to Libby prison, remaining a year; again seriously wounded when Morgan made his raid into Ohio, in 1863, and again at Spottsylvania. The wound received in the Morgan raid broke out after forty-seven years, and now the later wound sends him to the General hospital, after nearly fifty years.

SIDELIGHTS ON MEXICO

Former Duluth Telegraph Operator, Now Stationed at El Paso, Writes of Conditions in That Republic.

Some interesting sidelights on Mexican affairs are given by E. E. Taylor, a telegraph operator, who is now at El Paso, Tex. Mr. Taylor was a telegraph operator in Duluth from 1890 to 1895. In a letter to The Herald Mr. Taylor says:

"Few Americans away from the border really know what all this fuss in Mexico is about. The real spirit is the poor against the rich. The seed which was planted and which resulted in the Madero revolt was this:

"'Some time ago a group of political shysters, plotting a land-grabbing scheme, presented a bill to the Mexican congress providing that every man must show a written title to the property he held. They buncoed Porfirio Diaz into the belief that 'twas only for the purpose of establishing records for the protection of all and also to enable the tax collectors to make their assessments and to supply the government with a correct list of Mexico's land owners. Diaz fell for it, some say through his honesty, others that on account of his old he failed to realize the truth.

Land Grabber Busy.

"'Then the land grabber got busy, indeed. In the state of Morales and Chihuahua did they do their work well and aplenty. Their agents called on the farmers to show their titles and the farmers answered, "We have no written titles, but we owned and worked these lands 300 years ago." There being no occupation or limitation laws in Mexico the poor devils lost their lands. Not long after the Madero revolt came. Zapata in Morales took to the warpath supporting Madero. Madero succeeded but upon being made president began temporizing with the land-grabers and Zapata refused to lay down his arms until Madero kept his promise to restore the lands to their rightful owners. Francisco (Pancho) Villa never lost faith and stuck to Madero.

Madero Honest in Purpose.

"'However Madero was arranging to comply with these demands in good faith when the wealthy, or cientificos, as they are called, ordered his assassination and selected Huerta to do the job.

"'Zapata is still fighting and is holding the Huertistas so close to Mexico City that they are unable to do more than fight on the defense.

"'In the meantime Villa, in the center, Obregon in the west, and Rodrigues in the east are gradually forcing the Huerta army to the south.

"'Fighting in Mexico, however, is more or less a joke. A Mexican army can fight a week and do little damage to life and limb.'

Lies About Maj. McNamee.

"The stories sent out about Maj. McNamee sending Federal soldiers back to Ojinago unarmed and defenseless are unwarranted. The Federals have crossed and recrossed the border in maneuvering during the recent fight and have done so purposely. Those caught were disarmed and returned at a point where there was no danger of capture by the rebels. Maj. McNamee has, in the opinion of all on the border, done the proper thing. He's the proper stuff.

"However, there is no doubt that the Federals forced back lied to their comrades and their stories have had the effect of preventing many desertions to this side thereby forcing them to put up a fight they otherwise would have avoided. Anyone well acquainted with a Mexican wouldn't believe him when he knew he was telling the truth. Yours truly,

"E. E. TAYLOR."

REMEMBERS HOW IT FELT TO BE SHOT

In connection with the shooting of Patrolman Mooney last week, Frank Magie, former deputy sheriff, recalls how it felt when he was shot and nearly fatally wounded by a prisoner in his custody twelve years ago.

Mr. Magie's first thought was that he had been killed.

"In the few seconds before I became unconscious," said Mr. Magie, "I didn't recall all the things I had done during my past life that I might be sorry for. My only thought was that I had been killed and that time for revenge was short. It was a strange feeling and a hard one to describe."

Mr. Magie was shot and seriously wounded while taking Joseph Goldstein, a prisoner, from the courthouse to the county jail. Goldstein had been convicted by a jury a short time before the shooting. He was captured and tried for the attempted murder of the officer and sent to Stillwater, where he is now serving time for the offense.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets. These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth Unlike strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "loggy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. At 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, Ohio. All druggists.

WONDER BOOK OF 1914.

The World Almanac, Newly Completed, Hails the New Year.

That Wonder Book, which is The World Almanac and Encyclopedia, has made its annual appearance. It is complete from the new tariff, the income tax and the currency bill to the final baseball score, and from the parcel post to the state of the woman suffrage movement.

In all the world, we are compelled to say, there is no other Almanac like the World's!

The standing features of the book are fully present, as usual—the election returns, the population tables, the statistics of cities, of crops, of colleges, of industries, of churches, of everything that exists and grows. There are the expected pages of sporting records and the facts of a year in art, literature and the drama. There are lists of trusts and of millionaires and the condensed family trees of distinguished Americans. There are the Constitution, the Declaration of Independence and the platforms of political parties. There are a year's chronology and a year's necrology, besides the time tables of great events in years past. And there are other things which it would take an almanac of ordinary size—the World has its more than a thousand pages—just to mention.

A book so constituted as a veritable volumned storehouse of facts and figures. But this is no case of cold storage. The records and other truths that The World Almanac presents are warm with living and immediate interest, with relevance to the time, place and point directly at hand. So we have the reference book particular and par excellence. Where it is not ready for an instant's consultation there is a void which any reader, student or man of affairs must sometimes feel.

Contemplating the World's encyclopedic issue, one is reminded with amazement of the progress since the days when an almanac served chiefly to tell the calendar rays, the changes of the moon and the state of the tides.

FIRE CLAIMS THREE LIVES

Young Children of Ely Miner Perish Near Moose Lake.

Left Alone, Home Takes Fire and They Are Nearly Cremated.

Moose Lake, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Three young children of Sakri Jokela, a Finnish farmer, living about fifteen miles west of here were burned to death Sunday morning, when fire broke out in their home, where they were left alone. Neighbors, attracted by the fire, hastened inside and pulled the partly burned bodies from a bed, but in each case life was extinct. The house was burned.

One of the children was 4 years old, another 2 years and the third, 7 months.

Father Works at Ely.

Their father is working in the mines at Ely and came to this section only about a year ago and built the home that was destroyed. Mrs. Jokela had been absent from the home less than twenty- minutes when the fire broke out. She claims that there was little fire in the stove when she left and she is at a loss to explain how the house caught fire.

When the neighbors arrived the house was full of smoke, the bed in which the children were left asleep being a mass of flames. They pulled the little ones out and found them badly burned, part of their little limbs being burned to a crisp. It is thought they perhaps had been playing with matches in bed. Coroner Relder of Cloquet hurried to the scene of the tragedy and will hold an inquest.

Sakri Jokela, the father, was notified at Ely and will arrive today.

ELY PAYS TRIBUTE TO LATE T. W. TOAL

Last Rites for Water Superintendent of Vermilion City.

Ely, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Methodist church was crowded yesterday afternoon by friends of the late T. W. Toal, for eleven years superintendent of the city water and light department, who died at Shipman hospital Saturday afternoon.

The services were conducted by the Rev. E. F. Stidd, assisted by Rev. J. C. Mapson. The Ely fire department and the Masonic fraternity attended the funeral in a body. The body was taken on the morning train to New Richmond, Wis., for interment.

Arm Crushed Last Fall.

Mr. Toal had his arm mangled in the fly wheel of the steam roller used by the city and he was for eight weeks in the hospital. After being out of the hospital but a short time he was taken ill with typhoid fever, which in his weakened condition resulted in his death.

He was 44 years of age and leaves a widow and three children, two sisters, a brother and his parents, all except Mrs. Toal and the children being residents of Wisconsin.

IN NEW QUARTERS.

Virginia Bank Now Using Its Fine New Home.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The First National bank opened for business in its new building this morning. The work of moving from the temporary building which has been occupied by the bank during the construction of the new building was commenced after the close of business Saturday and when the doors opened this morning everything was in readiness to care for the wants of the patrons of the institution. Its appointments are modern. Three vaults have been installed, two of which are for safety deposits and money. The lobby is large and the appointments are excellent. The cash department is contained in a large cage and the insurance department occupies another part of the floor. A part of the wall in the bank proper is unfinished, owing to the wrong size of marble having been shipped. This will be remedied in a short time. The building contains three store rooms, one on the Chestnut street side and two on the Wyoming avenue side. One of the latter will be occupied by the Western Union Telegraph company and the others have also been rented. There are fifty office rooms on the four upper floors.

Itasca County Agricultural Association Plans State Fair Exhibit.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 12.—At a meeting of the Itasca County Agricultural association held here Saturday, President D. C. Anderson and Secretary A. M. Sisler were appointed to attend the meeting of the State Association of County Fairs, to be held at St. Paul this week. The officers of the association were also appointed a committee to wait upon the county commissioners with a request for an appropriation of $300 for the purpose of making a display at the next state fair and for another appropriation for new livestock and poultry buildings at the fair grounds.

It was decided that an expert in exhibits should be called to aid in selecting and placing the county's display at the state fair, and that farmers should be urged to plant in the spring and cultivate during the summer with the end in view of showing their products at the big exhibition. To this end the secretary was authorized to procure seeds when in his judgment it would be advisable, and to distribute this among such of the farmers as would attempt to raise prize crops.

Henry Templar of Deer River township, George Herdricks of Balsam township, and Neil McKinley of Grand Rapids township, were appointed to act with the officers of the association in gathering and distributing seeds.

Michael Boylan Announces His Platform to Virginia Audience.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Declaring the greatest need of the city of Virginia is a better understanding between its citizens; that all factions shall be united and work for the growth and upbuilding of the biggest little city in the United States, and that he is for an end of factional strife, Michael Boylan, candidate for mayor, formally opened the city campaign at the Fay opera house Saturday night.

His platform stands for a municipal market, the co-operation of the city in building highways and the improvement of highways for the benefit of those residing in the agricultural section contiguous to the city; a maximum of service at a minimum of cost to all water and light consumers; efficiency in every department of the city's affairs, a fair wage for every city employe and the elimination of politics to the end of efficiency; the extension of the city's municipal heating plant; a square deal for every citizen of Virginia, every taxpayer and business man and the spending of money earned in Virginia at home; an effort to eliminate unlicensed drinking places and their clearing from the mining locations adjacent to the city; the establishment and maintenance of public playgrounds with adequate apparatus in every section of the city not served by the public schools and the establishment of a swimming pool for the use and instruction in swimming of the pupils of the public schools; the installation of a fire station on the North side; enlarging the scope of the health department; the safeguarding of every franchise right of the city in the interest of municipal ownership of public utilities and the building and municipal operation of a gas plant. The building of a new city hall commensurate with the city's needs was also advocated. The other speakers were Attorneys Charles Line and B. J. Montague.

EXPECTED STATE WILL NOT RESIST

Virginia Ruling Will Help Hibbing in Getting State Land.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 12—(Special to The Herald.)—Hibbing will profit by the recent supreme court decision in the Virginia school case with the state involving acquiring state land for school purposes, as it is understood the state abiding by that decision, will not resist the attempt of this village to acquire some state land south of town for water supply purposes.

The application for the appointment of appraisers to value the land was pending before the district court at Duluth when the Virginia case arose and the matter went over until the higher court decided the Virginia case. The Hibbing matter has been set for hearing the last day of January in Duluth when it is expected the court will appoint appraisers and the condemnation can proceed.

much of the work of senate and house during the coming months. They are:

Control of trusts and monopolies, including legislation to prevent cold storage manipulation, unfair price cutting and other abuses directly affecting retail business.

Rural credits and other legislation directly affecting farmers and land owners, such as good road improvement and Federal aid to vocational and agricultural education.

Strengthening of the national defense, through measures such as the "volunteer army bill," already passed by the house; the Hay bill to create a new aviation division in the army; the Padgett bill to put the naval militia on a war footing; the Hobson bill for a counsel of national defense, and the general administration program for a two-battleship addition to the navy.

Passage of the annual appropriation bills, carrying more than $1,000,000,000 for support of the government, and containing many items of general legislation that must be fought over in house and senate.

Copper Country Strike.

Aside from those general subjects, congress will take up early in the session the settlement of labor troubles of far-reaching importance. Members of both houses have announced their plans to call for Federal investigation of the strike in the Calumet copper mining region and the forcible removal from Michigan of Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners. While many house leaders oppose the undertaking of a special investigation, it is expected the senate may be more disposed to authorize an investigation similar to that which it conducted last summer into the coal strike in West Virginia.

Government ownership of railroads, as proposed in the Alaskan railway bills, will be forced upon the attention of members of both bodies as soon as they take up work. In each branch, a bill to authorize the government to build railroads in the Northern territory has received the indorsement of a committee and has been placed before congress as "unfinished business," where it must be taken up without delay. While the principle of government ownership, even as applied to Alaskan roads, has many opponents among the leaders of both houses, some leaders expected that a bill authorizing the proposed development will be passed after a short debate.

Rural Credits.

President Wilson's influence is strongly behind the plan for a system of rural banks and credit associations, and that project is expected to vie with trust questions in the attention that will be given to it by the administration. The report of the rural credit commission which toured Europe last year has been carefully gone over by the president, and when legislation is taken up it probably will be along concerted lines such as characterized action on the general currency bill.

With the prospects of a hard congressional campaign next summer and fall, the Democratic forces are anxious to add the rural credit laws, and several effective trust statutes, to the record of legislation with which they can go before the voters. From the outset of work, leaders in both houses will attempt to guide legislation so that appropriation bills can be completed early in the spring, and other important measures disposed of in time to permit an early adjournment.

Opposition to the so-called "seaman's bill," regulating the labor of sailors, has become so pronounced in the house that a hard fight promises to face that measure before it can be passed. The bill passed the senate last fall, and an effort will be made to bring it up in the house for action at an early date.

Woman's Suffrage.

Woman's suffrage will also give both branches of congress a busy time. Advocates of a constitutional amendment permitting women to vote have massed their forces in Washington, and are preparing for a concerted attack on senate and house, aided by many senators and representatives who favor general suffrage and who will advocate some positive action by congress indorsing it.

The scope of trust legislation probably will not be fully outlined for several weeks. Recent developments in financial and commercial circles have convinced leaders in both houses that effective legislation to correct alleged abuses can be passed without seriously disturbing business conditions. The president and his legal advisers will collaborate with the committees of senate and house on effective bills that will reach some of the more important phases of the trust problem without requiring a revolution of corporation methods.

Congress has taken up the problems of national defense with unusual activity since Dec. 1. The imminence of a crisis in this country's relations with Mexico has made more apparent the weakness of the military system of the country, and important steps have already been made toward strengthening the power of the president and the executive branches of government to cope with sudden emergencies.

Volunteer Army Bill.

The volunteer army bill, which passed the house and is favorably regarded in the senate, would provide effective machinery for the raising of volunteer forces in any emergency. The Hay aviation bill, which has the indorsement of the house military affairs committee and of the war department, would create an aviation branch of the army capable of handling at least twenty-four aeroplanes, and of training efficient forces of air fighters. These and other bills will be given unusual prominence during the balance of this session of congress.

Diplomatic relations with Nicaragua and other Central American countries may give further trouble to the senate. The first Nicaraguan treaty outlined by Secretary Bryan did not meet with the approval of the senate committee on foreign relations, because of its protectorate it would have established over the Southern republic. The project is to be taken up again during the coming months, and it is expected that a general policy toward Central American countries will be outlined by the senate, President Wilson and Secretary Bryan.

MURDERER'S FATHER FEELS DISGRACED

Sam Zoroia, Whose Son Killed Patrolman Mooney, Leaves City; Could Not Bear to Face Shame of Young Man's Trial.

Ashamed because his son killed Patrolman Nell J. Mooney at Gary last Tuesday evening, Sam Zoroia, father of Jovan Zoroia, left his boarding house at New Duluth some time Saturday afternoon for parts unknown. He declared before leaving that his family had been disgraced and that he could not bear to remain in Duluth any longer.

It was not known until Saturday evening that the self-confessed murderer of Mooney had relatives in this country. At an examination conducted by Chief Troyer last Thursday morning, Zoroia declared that he had no living relatives in this country and that his parents and five brothers and one sister were living at Vriesko, Slavonia.

The discovery was made by Chief Troyer, who was conducting an investigation at New Duluth Saturday evening for the purpose of obtaining any witnesses or friends of Zoroia. When the chief called at Radi Zabradts' boarding house, where Zoroia formerly roomed, he learned that a friend of the self-confessed murderer and the latter's father had left the city that afternoon, without announcing their distinction.

Zabradts told the chief that Zoroia's father had declared he was ashamed to stay in Duluth any longer. The father told the rooming house proprietor, the latter said, that he was leaving this city because the family name had been disgraced.

Zoroia, who has been indicted by the grand jury on a charge of murder in the first degree, will enter his plea in district court some time today.

PERMANENCE AND BRIGHTS DISEASE

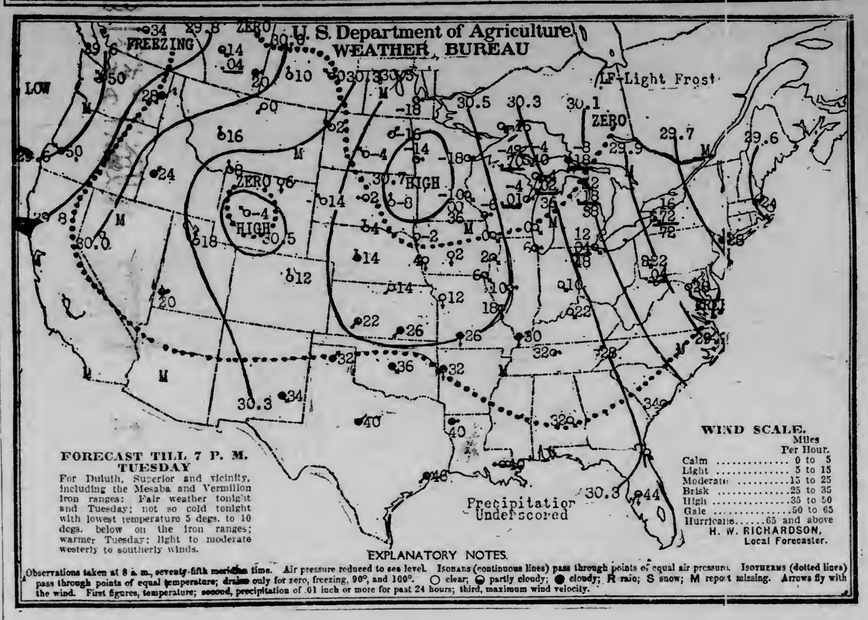

We have been asked if the recoveries in Bright's Disease made by Fulton's Renal Compound are permanent. Many cases have established permanence.

For instance in the case of R. M. Wood, editor of the Wine and Spirit Review of San Francisco, Cal.: It was twelve years ago that "the most noted analysist in San Francisco" established the genuineness of the case. The editor's physician told him that medicine would not avail him and advised him to go to Santa Barbara. He dropped from 225 to less than 190 pounds in a short while. On his return he was put on Fulton's Renal Compound and not only made a recovery but the reality and permanence of it may be judged from the fact that he is well at this writing, January, 1913.

If you have Bright's Disease do you not owe it to yourself and family to try Fulton's Renal Compound before giving up. Druggists supplied by Leithhead Drug Co.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

WARMER

It hit Duluth this time. There was no side-stepping, for the wallop by Jack Frost came suddenly and without warning. DRIVEN OUT BY EARLY MORNING FIRE

Smelling smoke when he awoke early Saturday morning crying for a drink, Raymond McLane, the 2-year-old adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kane, 423 North Sixteenth avenue east, aroused the other members of the family, who were compelled to leave the structure in their nightclothes.

Mrs. Kane notified fire headquarters and the department had little trouble in extinguishing the flames, which started in the basement from some unknown origin and slightly damaged the kitchen floor. Mrs. Kane and the members of the family, who had been at the home of one of the neighbors, were able to return when the firemen left.

Those who were in the house at the time of the fire were Mrs. Kane, Misses Sadie, Alice and Helen Kane, Miss B. Haggard and Raymond McLane. Mr. Kane, who is a traveling representative for a local lumber house, is out of the city at the present time. The estimated damage to the structure is about $200.

MEN BLAMED FOR NOT ATTENDING CHURCHES

The Strangers' club decided at its meeting at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon that men, and not the churches, are at fault for the non-attendance of men at church services. The subject was discussed by about twenty men. J. E. Hauter, religious secretary of the Y. M. C. A., led the meeting.

In the evening Mr. Hauter and six other members of the club went to West Duluth and conducted the services at the Westminster Presbyterian church.

NO CHANGE IN WATER RATES

Commissioner Merritt Says No Exceptions Will Be Made.

Responding to petitions and letters asking for more favorable water rates than the schedule announced in effect Jan. 1, Commissioner Leonidas Merritt, head of the utility division, has issued a statement saying that no exceptions can be made. He asserted that the new rates should be given a fair trial, extending over a period of at least one year. At the end of that time changes may be considered and will be acted upon in the light of experience.

The commissioner also reiterated his belief that the charges for fire services are just and will not be discontinued, as requested by several large business houses in the city.

SOCIALISTS PLAN WINTER ACTIVITIES

G.R. Kirkpatrick Will Speak; Arrange for Study Class and Dance.

George R. Kirkpatrick, author and one of the leading Socialists in America, will speak in Duluth at a date to be decided upon later. Mr. Kirkpatrick has written a number of Socialist books that have had a wide circulation and is considered one of the best platform orators in the movement.

Among the other activities of the Socialists in Duluth is the formation of a class to study Socialism. Plans will be formulated at a meeting to be held at the headquarters, 310 West First street, tomorrow night. Non-party members will be invited to attend this class and it is expected that Prof. John D. Ohsal, teacher of English at the Finnish college, will be secured to lead the class.

The second annual international dance held jointly by the English, Finnish, Scandinavian, Jewish and Polish locals of the party in Duluth, will take place next Thursday evening at Coffin's dancing academy.

HERDER'S TRAGIC END.

Tender of Flocks Found Dying on Prairie Near Marmath, N. D.

Marmarth, N. D., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Found in a dying condition alone on the prairie, William Flood, sheepherder on the Barber ranch eight miles from here, passed away a short time after he was discovered by D. Slinker and F. L. Ash. They were riding across the range when, noticing the straggled condition of the herd, they began a search for the herder whom they found unconscious but able to point repeatedly to his heart. Chronic affection of the heart was responsible for his death. For a number of years the man had resided around Baker, Mont., but nothing is known of his relatives.

FINDS DESTITUTION.

Minister Claims There Is Starvation on Standing Rock Reservation.

Shields, N. D., Jan. 12.—Denying that there is destitution on the Standing Rock Indian reservation Agent Kneale offered a $10 reward for each case brought to his attention. Rev. Mr. Reede, the Episcopal minister among the Indians, has located two cases in which there are claims of the rewards. The missionary has called the attention of Indian Commissioner Sells of Washington to the cases. It is asserted if the government could pay the $40 per capita interest money due the Indians now it would greatly relieve the unfortunate cases of destitution on the reservation.

U. S. DRAINING CANADA OF HERDS.

That the United States is draining Canada of its beef herds is the cry that is being heard at Ottawa, and demand is being made for some measure that will stop the export. The serious feature of the situation is said to be that the farmers are selling off their cows and calves, so that it will take years to replenish the herds.

Agricultural experts are advocating that the government should send buyers to the cattle markets to save the young and the females from the butcher.

The active movement of live cattle and dressed meats to the United States from Canada, resulting in the export of about 120,000 head of cattle and 12,000,000 pounds of dressed meat in the months of October and November, almost ceased during December, for the reason that Canadian prices advanced to meet the American demand.

HOW TO KEEP WELL IN WINTER

Don not let your blood get thin this winter. For people who have a tendency toward anaemia, or bloodlessness, winter is a trying season. Lack of exercise and fresh air, the more restricted diet, many things combine to lower the tone of the body and deplete the blood.

As soon as you notice the tired feeling, lack of appetite and shortness of breath that are warning symptoms of thin blood take a short treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Do not wait until the color has entirely left your cheeks, until your lips are white, your eyes dull and your ears like mother of pearl. It is so much easier to correct thinning of the blood in the earlier stages than later.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood and strengthen the nerves. In this way the general health is improved, the appetite increases, the digestion is strengthened and new ambition and energy developed. Work becomes easier because it does not cause exhaustion.

Keep your system at its highest efficiency with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the great blood builder and nerve tonic. Your own druggist can supply you. A booklet, "Building Up the Blood," will be mailed free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. It is well worth studying by all who do not enjoy complete health.

MANY ATTEND FREE CONCERT

Donna Riblette Flaaten Wins Hearty Applause as Soloist.

Dr. Webster Discusses the Work of City Health Department.

Despite disagreeably cold weather about 500 people attended the second of the series of free Sunday concerts at the Masonic temple yesterday afternoon.

That these concerts please the public and are successful in furthering the taste for good music is evident not only from the large numbers that attend, but also from the increasing enthusiasm of the applause accorded the various selections. While all the organ numbers were enjoyed, the greatest applause was elicited by the rendering of Haydn's "Gypsy Rondo" and Mascheron's "Woodland Serenade." The concluding number, "Fachetanz, No. 1," by Meyerbeer, was also very fine.

The vocalist, Donna Riblette Flaaten, was never in better voice. Her versatility was remarkable, as shown by her rendering of folk songs, ballads and Verdi's aria, "Fors e Lui." It is seldom that an artist who can give such a fine rendering of an operatic aria shows herself equally at home in "Comin' Through the Rye" and "Drink to Me Only." Each number gained a well deserved encore, to which Mrs. Flaaten responded. Her accompaniments were artistically played by Miss Violet Flaaten, who is rapidly coming to the front both as soloist and accompanist.

The speaker was Dr. H. E. Webster, city health officer, who gave an interesting talk on some of the activities and problems of his department. He mentioned with praise the infant welfare work carried on by the Scottish Rite, characterizing it as another gem in the crown of Masonry. After a brief allusion to eugenics and the laws pertaining thereto as one of the most important of modern developments, the doctor elaborated on the anti-tuberculosis work now being done all over the country, but more especially in St. Louis county and the city of Duluth. Much interesting advice and information were given as to symptoms, treatment, cure and care of the disease, and special stress was laid on the absolute necessity of early and expert diagnosis. He also outlined the work of the two special nurses employed by his department, and stated that expert medical assistance was always awaiting those who could not afford to pay for the services of a physician. That these informal talks are acceptable is shown by the attention and interest with which they are received.

The soloist at next Sunday's concert will be Miss Carlotta Stockdill, contralto.

MAKES BEST HERRING CATCH OF SEASON

What is said to be the largest herring catch of the season was brought to the city last night by the L. Goldish.

The cargo contained forty tons of fresh, frozen herring. The Goldish went nearly to Two Harbors on its last trip without encountering ice. Several more trips along the north shore of the lake are contemplated this winter.

GRAND JURY QUITE BUSY

Polk County Inquisitors Have Found Thirty-Five True Bills.

In Final Report Recommend That Prisoners Be Given Work.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The January grand jury, after being in session six days, returned thirty-five indictments, about half of which were for minor offenses, with grand larceny the offense in half the cases.

In its final report the jury strongly urged that prisoners be put to work whenever practicable, and especially recommended the feasibility of employing all prisoners during the summer season on road work on the main highways leading out of the city, as well as on street work. Special attention was also called to the desirability of a more strict enforcement of the laws prohibiting the sale of liquor to minors and to habitual drunkards.

A number of the accused were arraigned at once and four entered guilty pleas and were sentenced as follows: Gilbert Dalen, for passing two forged checks at East Grand Forks, indeterminate sentence at Stillwater; George Hanson and Martin Keplinger, grand larceny in the second degree, entered farm home of H. W. Cartwright near Fosston and stole various articles, former sent to reform school and latter to state penitentiary on indeterminate sentence; John Briney, grand larceny, second degree, held up drunk in Crookston, robbing him of $20, state penitentiary for indeterminate term; Gordon McKenzie, clerk at the Palace hotel, indicted for grand larceny in the first degree for absconding with $80 of hotel money, was arraigned but asked for time to plead.

Petit Jury at Work.

The petit jury assembled this morning and the first case called was that of McGrain, Smith and Wellman, charged with stripping George Norgren naked last November, and turning him loose after beating him terribly. Norgren finally reached the city with his bare feet terribly cut by the frozen ground and in a state of collapse, and was confined in a hospital for several weeks hovering between life and death. McGrain and Smith have records, having finished terms in the county jail here from East Grand Forks on the very day they assaulted Norgren, and stiff sentences are expected.

Defy Blood Disorder BY Giving the Blood an Effective Bath

The word Medicine is one of the most abused in our language. There are certain medicinal properties just as necessary to health as the food we eat. Take, for example, the well-known medicine, S. S. S. This famous blood purifier contains medicinal components just as vital and essential to healthy blood as the elements of wheat, roast beef, the fats and the sugars that make up our daily ration.

As a matter of fact, there is one ingredient in S. S. S. which serves the active purpose of stimulating each cellular part of the body to the healthy and judicious selection of its own essential nutriment. That is why it regenerates the blood supply; why it has such a tremendous influence in overcoming Rheumatism, Catarrh of the Stomach and Intestines, skin eruptions and all blood troubles.

And in regenerating the tissues S. S. S. has a rapid and positive antidotal effect upon all those irritating influences that cause sore throat, weak eyes, loss of weight, thin, pale cheeks and that weariness of muscle and nerve that leads so many people into the dangerous path of stimulants and narcotics.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. at any drug store, and in a few days you will feel bright and energetic. S. S. S. is prepared only in the laboratory of The Swift Specific Co., 303 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., who maintain a very efficient advisory department where all who have any blood disorder of a stubborn nature may consult freely.

S. S. S. is sold everywhere by drug stores, department and general stores.

Don't permit anyone to sell you a substitute. Insist upon S. S. S.

DON'T COAST ACROSS A STREET CAR LINE EITHER ON SLEDS OR SKIS!

A STREET CAR CAN'T DODGE

We want to impress this fact upon the children of Duluth, and upon their mothers and fathers as well, at this season of the year.

With the first snowfall, coasting weather is here again, with all its pleasures, and also with its many dangers. Every year brings its toll of accidents, and sometimes fatalities, due to coasting. We want to eliminate that list this year, if it can be done, and it can be if children and their parents will give us their co-operation.

Coasting across street car tracks is inviting a fatal accident. A street car CAN'T DODGE, and when a loaded bobsled comes skimming down an avenue a motorman has little or no warning no matter how careful he may be. The sled is under the fender almost before he can think what to do. Often after a snowfall the rails are slippery, adding to the difficulties of the motorman and making it impossible to stop the car within several times its length.

There is only one rule to follow:

There are countless hills in Duluth suitable for coasting, where the street cars do not run, and where the sport may be enjoyed in safety. We ask the parents of Duluth to see that their children use these hills and only these. It may save you the horror of having a mangled little body brought home to you some afternoon or evening. It may save you from having a child who will be a helpless cripple all his life. You owe it to your child to protect him from this danger. We owe it to the people of Duluth to issue this reminder, and to instruct our motormen to exercise every possible precaution. We have done this, but there is only one sure way to prevent accident, and that is to observe this rule, which is also a police regulation:

Don't Coast Across a Street Car Line Either on Sleds or Skis.

MARKET HAS AN UPTURN

Wheat Joins on Highest Liverpool Cables and Light Receipts.

Flaxseed Sells Off After Showing Strength Early in Session.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 12.—The market closed steady. May wheat closed ½c up and July ½c up. May durum closed ¾c up.

Oats closed ¼c up at 35⅜@35⅝c. Rye closed unchanged at 50@53c for the best grades and barley unchanged at from 45c to 67c.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 87¾@87⅞c bid and calls at 88¼@88¼c.

At Winnipeg, January oats closed at 33½c and May at 36⅝c.

A combination of bullish factors brought a higher range in wheat today. Liverpool cables were substantially up on on advices from Australia that late threshing results are disappointing and that as a consequence the estimate of the exportable surplus has been reduced by 15,200,000 bu. There were advices of the working of some export business in wheat at the seaboard; primary receipts were light, and the market in coarse grains showed upturns.

Inspections at Duluth today were just 46 cars against 160 cars last year, and at Winnipeg they fell off to 119 cars against 406 a year ago. There were only 115 cars all grains on the track here today. Receipts of all grain here last week were 996,000 bu, and shipments were 169,000 bu, including that taken out by millers, so that elevator stocks gained 827,000 bu during the period.

News from Buenos Ayres today was on the bullish order, the crop being reported irregular both as regards quality and quantity. Advices regarding the outlook of the American winter wheat crop was regarded as disquieting in some quarters by reason of the fact that the plant is without any snow covering in large sections of the country.

May wheat opened unchanged at 88⅜c and gained ⅝c up to the final hour on steady buying. May durum opened unchanged at 87⅜c and gained ½c.

Flax Off at Close.

While trading in flaxseed was quiet, the market was strong during the greater part of the session, with steady demand from crushers and light offerings. Weakness appeared about the close and final prices are slightly off from Saturday.

The quotation in the seed was slightly up at Buenos Ayres and advices came from there to the effect that there was liberal buying on the market in all positions on American account. Antwerp cables for the day were lower.

Operations in the seed locally were confined to the May option and the trades came within a cent spread, the option selling up ⅝c over Saturday's figure and then receding. On the final result a loss of ⅛c was recorded.

The May seed opened unchanged at $1.54¾ and closed at $1.54⅛. The January option was closed at $1.50¼ nominal.

At Winnipeg, January flax closed at $1.28¾ bid and May at $1.35¼ bid.

Baker's Minneapolis correspondent wired: "The Argentine crop is now about to move to market. Prices have maintained around this level for several weeks, awaiting the result of the Argentine movement. Advices from Antwerp and Liverpool indicate that foreigners will be free buyers and that there is not much probability of any great recession in price. These advices also state that as far as can be determined now, the quality is very poor, and that foreigners will continue to take North American wheat for mixing purposes. There is no great pressure on the American markets, and anything of a bullish character will be followed by an advance in price."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Wheat—Steadier American cables on Saturday and the firmness in Buenos Ayres caused shorts to cover at the opening here, and values were ⅛@¼d higher. Following the opening there was further evidence of speculative support and prices gained an additional ¼@¾d with support in March. The continued firmness of Plata offers, dearer Australian offers and unfavorable crop returns from Argentina, together with a better inquiry for nearby parcels, helped the advance. The firmness in corn and a tendency to hold by all growers is causing buyers to advance bids. At 1:30 p. m. the undertone was firm, ⅝@⅞d higher.

"Corn opened ⅜d higher and later further gained ¼@½d, with shorts in February covering freely. Private reports received here from Argentina state that the weather is cold and the crop promise is less favorable. This caused an active spot demand with Plate grades higher. At 1:30 p. m. the market was very firm, ⅝@⅞d higher."

Broomhall's Argentine agent cabled: "Our offers of new wheat are light with arrivels at ports small. It is the opinion that offers will shortly commence on a more liberal scale and the impression is gaining that it is good policy to market early, as competition will commence with Russia if too long deferred, and the Argentine corn crop promises large. The marketing will be heavy during the early summer."

Duluth grain men are inclined to be bearish regarding the price situation in oats. It is pointed out that Canadian oats within a considerable area of Buffalo and other lake ports, where large supplies of that country's production are stored, are selling for less than shipments from the West could be profitably made. Several carloads of oats from the Canadian Northwest arrived here last week and a number of cars were received at Chicago, showing that competition from up there is active.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Rise on Cold Weather and Higher Cables.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—Cold weather and higher cables gave the wheat market today a lift. The fact that snow covering is meager led to some fear of crop damage by freezing. Talk of export sales tended also to make prices firm. The market opened ⅜ to ⅝c up and continued to hold the advance.

Falling off in estimates of the export surplus in Australia brought about later an additional upturn. The close was steady, ½c to ½@⅝c net higher.

Better prospects of demand from feeders put the bulls into control of corn. Besides, offerings from the country were reduced almost to nothing. Opening figures were ½ to ⅝@½c higher. Some reaction, however, ensued.

Predictions that receipts would increase if the cold continued acted as a check on the bulls. The close was easy, the same as Saturday night to ½c up.

Free selling by a leading house kept oats from making much of an advance. Nevertheless, the market showed some sympathy with the strength of other grain.

Provisions went up grade, influenced by the corn bulge. First sales ranged from the same as Saturday night to 10c higher and there was a further advance with a big trade in ribs.

REACTION NEAR CLOSE

Stocks Open Higher But Advances Are Partly Lost.

Better Monetary Conditions and Steel Trade Is Improved.

New York, Jan. 12.—Speculative sentiment favored the constructive side of the stock market today. The chief inspiration for the upward movement lay in definite reports of better conditions in the steel trade and better monetary conditions.

Washington reports that investigation of the Vanderbilt lines would be asked in congress caused a renewed decline in New York Central which dipped to 88¾, the lowest for nearly a score of years. Bonds were firm.

Trading began today with a general rise in prices. The leading shares were all in active demand. Announcement of an agreement between the attorney general and the New Haven management caused an advance of 1⅜ in the stock. Texas Company continued its rapid rise, going up four points. Steel, Utah Copper, Third Avenue and Great Northern Ore gained 1.

A bulge in Texas Company, which rose 7 points to 149, was a feature of the early hour. Elsewhere the movement was also decisively upward with 1 point gains numerous.

Revival of activity in many long dormant stocks led to a shifting of speculative interest from the recognized leaders. Gains were material in many cases, the buoyancy of the old shares arousing pool operations in other specialties.

The tendency of the market to advance created enough new buying from outside sources to offset professional realizing in the popular shares. Dealings were large in many issues that commonly do not figure in the speculation.

The market closed easy. Reactionary symptoms because pronounced in the last hour when the distribution of large selling orders in Union Pacific and Reading forced them under Saturday's final figures. Much of the advance in other well-known stocks was lost, but the minor issues held up well.

HEAVY TRADING IN BUTTE & SUPERIOR

Butte & Superior was the feature in trading in mining stocks at Boston today. Strong investment demand appeared in the stock, and it absorbed a large proportion of the day's business. After opening 50 cents up at $32.75 it advanced to $33 and closed 25 cents down from that at $32.75. Butte & Ballaklava closed unchanged at $3.75; Alaska Gold 25 cents up at $11.75; East Butte 50 cents up at $11.75; North Butte unchanged at $27.25; Shattuck a shade up at $26.50; and Amalgamated Copper 25 cents up at $72.25.

The day's market was strong in the Duluth curb list, though business was in light volume. Calumet & Sonora sold at 75 cents and Calumet & Corbin at 15 cents with a good call from Boston reported in that issue.

Gay & Sturgis received the following wire from New York on the general market situation today: "Sentiment this morning is more bullish than it has been at any time so far, and there seems to be a little more buying of stocks on the part of the public. The short interest continues to decrease.

"The renewal rate for call money is exactly what it was last week. Time money is more freely offered than it was last week. The supply seems to be greater but the rates have not changed.

"There has been considerable selling of New York Central, which was started on account of the proposed investigation by congress. Personally, I think that the New York Central dividend is in danger of being reduced and I believe New York Central will sell at 80 before it sells at par."

Jerome Says That Would Be Only Result of His Freedom.

New York, Jan. 12.—William Travers Jerome, special attorney for New York state in its efforts to bring Harry Thaw back to Matteawan, said today that the action of the New Hampshire commission in finding Thaw sane would not affect the main issue.

"Except that it may afford Thaw the opportunity of reaching some foreign country from which he cannot be extradited, or of killing some man," said Jerome, "the report of the commission is of no consequence.

"The only question involved in the proceedings before Judge Aldrich is whether the governor of New Hampshire acted legally when he granted the extradition. Whatever way this question is decided, it will go to the United States supreme court. I am sure we would appeal if reversed, and certainly the other side would continue the fight."

If the supreme court upholds Governor Felker in extraditing Thaw, Jerome continued, Thaw will be brought back to New York and "tried on the conspiracy charges preferred against him following his escape from Matteawan, and ultimately will be lodged back in the asylum whence he fled."

OVERMAN ASKS FOR LAW AS TO LOBBYING

Defining what is lobbying, it specifies that no attempt shall be made to influence legislation except by appearance before committees of congress or in written arguments submitted by congressmen. Fines ranging from $100 to $5,000 for failure to register lobbyists, as the bill proposes, with the use of improper or corrupt methods, are provided.

HUERTA GOVERNMENT WILL DEFAULT ON THE HALF YEAR'S INTEREST

Decision Is Reached at Meeting of His Cabinet.

Villa Orders His Men to Prepare for March South.

Torreon Is Expected to Be Next Point Attacked.

Mexico City, Jan. 13.—The Mexican government will default in the payment of the semi-annual interest on the bonds of the internal and external debts due this month, according to a decision reached at the cabinet council which lasted until midnight.

Villa Orders Movement.

Chihuahua, Mex., Jan. 13.—Gen. Francisco Villa, now marching overland to Chihuahua from the scene of the rebel victory at Ojinaga, today sent word here to have the bulk of the rebel army ready for a campaign southward. With him Gen. Villa is bringing numerous field guns and rifles which the Federal army abandoned and about 5,000 of his own soldiers.

The rebel garrison here and the soldiers coming with Villa will make Chihuahua the military basis for the revolutionary movement southward. It is understood that as soon as troop trains can be made ready and the rebel army has enjoyed a week or so of rest, the bulk of the forces will move toward Torreon as the first stage of a projected march toward Mexico City. Behind, as he advances, Gen. Villa will leave a territory practically swept clean of Huerta soldiers.

Torreon Next Point.

The small Federal garrison near Torreon is expected by Villa to offer but a feeble resistance. The rebels are about the city in great numbers.

WANTS $100,000 DUE THOMAS JEFFERSON

Stranger Tells Topeka Police He Comes From Heaven.

Topeka, Kan., Jan. 13.—Declaring he was an emissary sent from heaven to collect $100,000 due Thomas Jefferson, a stranger giving the name of Nicholson is held here for investigation. He entered the office of Sheriff Kene to collect $200 declared to be due him in a local court. He also insisted he had $2,000 buried under the street car tracks in Louisville, Ky.

In a grip were white robes and gloves which the stranger said he wore when he descended from heaven. Papers found cause the officers to believe he is from Mount Vernon, Ind. The probate court ordered him placed in jail.

EXPECTING TO SELL SHOES AT $10 A PAIR

Retail Dealers Say "Pure Shoe" Laws Are Responsible.

New York, Jan. 13.—In the opinion of speakers at the annual convention of the National Shoe Retailers' association, which closes with a banquet tonight, the retail price of shoes may soon reach $10 per pair.

"Pure shoe laws" already adopted in twenty-five states, and several measures of the same nature now pending in congress were given as the chief causes for increasing the price of footwear. Both speakers and a majority of the 200 delegates present denounced the legislation which would cause all shoes not made entirely of leather to be stamped "adulterated" or "substitute leather."

The shoe retailers were told that if all shoes were made of all leather 2,000,000 more hides per annum would be required in this country alone, and with hides practically under control of the larger packing houses, it cannot be foreseen to what heights shoe prices might soar.

WIFE'S NEEDS DRIVE MAN TO $9,000 THEFT

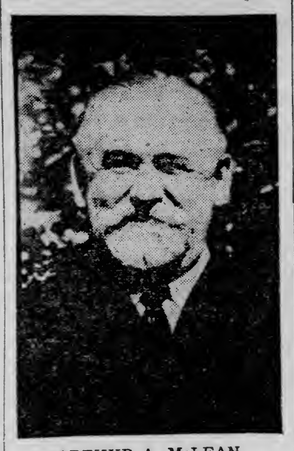

Express Clerk Takes Money and Is Caught During Flight.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 13.—Clayton M. Saxtey, accused of robbing the Wells-Fargo Express office at Fort Smith of a package containing more than $9,000 in gold, was arrested here last night with $5,714 of the money in his possession. He was taken at Union station while preparing to board a train for Chicago.

At the police station he admitted the theft. Saxtey is 22 years old and was employed as a clerk in the office of the express company. The clew to his flight from Fort Smith came from a newly purchased motorcycle which he abandoned on the Arkansas river bank near Van Buren, Ark., to take a train for St. Louis.

Saxtey told the police he first put the money in the company's safe, but when he returned home for dinner and realized the many needs of his 18-year-old wife and their child, he returned to the office and took the money.

ADMITS GETTING FUNDS FROM CORPORATIONS

ARTHUR A. McLEAN.

New York, Jan. 13.—Arthur A. McLean, treasurer of the Democratic state committee, pleaded guilty today to accepting campaign contributions from a corporation. Supreme Court Justice Vernon M. Davis suspended sentence.

McLean was one of those indicted as a result of the inquiry into the alleged extorting by political campaign agents of contributions from contractors on state roads.

McLean, a wealthy Newburgh, N. Y., business man, has been treasurer of the Democratic state committee for the last ten years. He was indicted on evidence that he accepted campaign contributions of $400 and $1,000 from two corporations.

WILSON BACK; HEALTH FINE

President Finds Winter at Capital on His Return.

Will Spend Wednesday Talking Over Trust Bills.

Washington, Jan. 13.—President Wilson and his family arrived here at 7:30 o'clock today from Pass Christian, Miss., and motored to the White House for breakfast.

It was 18 deg. above zero when the president stepped from his private car and walked briskly through the station to his automobile. The party shivered with cold at the extreme change from the warm climate of the Gulf coast.

The trip was uneventful. The president greeted crowds everywhere, but made no speeches.

The president was a picture of health as he got back to his desk. Dr. Cary T. Grayson, U. S. N., pronounced him much better physically than he has been for many months, and in fit condition for the strenuous work ahead. There was little doubt among the members of the president's party that the chief executive would go to some point on the Gulf coast every winter hereafter. He is delighted with the opportunities for golf, the balmy air and even temperatures and the seclusion which he enjoyed.

Will Meet Cabinet.

Except for the cabinet meeting, few callers were expected at the White House today, and official Washington will get its first glimpse of the president at the diplomatic reception tonight, the first of the mid-winter social functions.

The president has set aside tomorrow for conferences on the trust question, arranging to meet Chairman Clayton and perhaps the entire Democratic membership of the house judiciary committee.

Mayor John Purroy Mitchel of New York was the guest of the president at luncheon. The purpose of his visit was not disclosed.

CUT IN PRICES OF WOOL GOODS, DUE TO TARIFF, ANNOUNCED

New York, Jan. 13.—Material reductions in the wholesale price of staple serges, unfinished worsteds, clays, cheviots and other woolen goods for the fall of 1914 were announced in the trade today. The cut is understood to be a direct result of the new tariff schedules and anticipated competition from abroad.

Prices on serges, clays, unfinished worsteds and French backs are 20 to 37 cents below last fall. Clays show reductions of 20 to 27 cents. Unfinished worsteds are 22½ to 27½ cents lower. The heaviest reduction, nearly 23 per cent, is on Washington serge.

Whether the ultimate consumer will reap any benefit from the reductions is a matter of conjecture. The general opinion seemed to be that the reduced cost will be lost in the course of handling.

MANY BOATS IN DISTRESS UPON COAST

Royal Mail Steamer Ashore and Wireless Has Stopped.

Storm in Bay of Fundy Has Prevented Rescue Work.

Other Vessels Are in Trouble Off New England.

WIRELESS HAS FAILED.

Halifax, N. S., Jan. 13.—Wireless communication from the steamer Cobequid has ceased and she cannot be seen from the lighthouse at Briar Island, near where she was reported ashore. When last reported her forward hold was full of water. She is said to have carried 150 passengers.

St. John, N. B., Jan. 13.—The Royal Mail steamship Cobequid, bound from the West Indies to Halifax, with passengers and cargo, went aground today off Briar Island, at the mouth of the Bay of Fundy. Wireless dispatches reported her position dangerous. Several vessels immediately hurried to her assistance.

The marine department sent the government steamer Lansdowne and two tugs to Briar Island, and wireless advices said that the steamships Kronprinzessin Cecilie and Lady Laurier were heading in the same direction.

The Cobequid is a packet steamer of 2,974 tons. She left Grenada in the West Indies for Halifax Dec. 30, stopping at several ports on the way. It

ANTI-OPIUM BILLS SENT TO PRESIDENT

House Agrees to Amendments Made By the Senate.

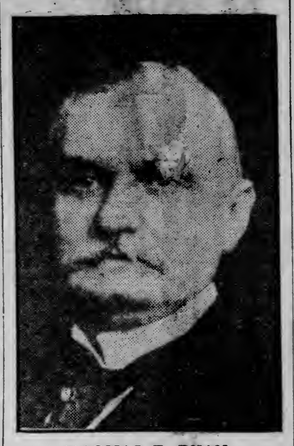

Washington, Jan. 13.—Two bills imposing stringent restrictions upon the manufacture, sale or importation of opium have been sent to the White House for the president's signature. The house accepted amendments made by the senate before the holiday recess.

One measure imposes a tax of $200 a pound on the manufacture of smoking opium, limits its manufacture to citizens of the United States, and penalizes violations of the revenue regulations by fines of $10,000 or imprisonment for five years or both. The other bill prohibits the importation of opium or its derivatives except for medical purposes, and provides fines or imprisonment for violations of its provisions.

These measures were introduced by Governor General Harrison of the Philippines when he was a member of the house from New York.

MORE COPPER MINERS TURN IN FEDERATION CARDS AND ASK WORK

ONLY TRUST HE KNOWS IS "TRUST THE PRESIDENT"

THOMAS F. RYAN.

New York, Jan. 13.—Thomas F. Ryan visited the financial district in a snow storm yesterday to announce that the National Bank of Commerce, of which he is a stockholder, will join the Federal reserve organization. It was his first appearance there in several months.

"I hope all the other national banks will do the same," he added. "The whole country is proud of President Wilson for the masterly way in which he handled the most difficult situation, and got results. I consider it the greatest achievement of any president since Lincoln. It would be unfair to him and unpatriotic generally to withhold the most hearty support of the great measure he has evolved and made a fact.

"The only trust I know is trust the president. I am willing and glad to do that, and so ought everybody to be, after what he has done. He is a great man and a great president, and the greatest thing about him is that he plays no favorites."

Mr. Ryan is 83 years old and rarely talks for publication.

IGNORE SAFE; LOOT CREAMERY STORAGE

Wisconsin Thieves Take Butter and Buttermilk With Them.

Viroqua, Wis., Jan. 13.—Too familiar, evidently, with the high cost of living to be looking for mere cash with greater valuables in sight, burglars who entered the creamery here last night ignored the safe and cash register and directed their onslaught on the cold storage rooms. Butter, and even buttermilk, in large quantities were carried away. Epicures with leanings toward tee-totalism are under suspicion.

Wolverine and Ahmeek Mine Managers Report Men Returning.

Winter Weather Makes Task of Union More Difficult.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Further additions to non-union ranks were reported at the northern end of the copper strike district today. The management of the Wolverine mine said half a hundred Hungarians and Italians had turned in their membership cards from the Western Federation of Miners and had gone to work, and officials of the Ahmeek mine said that a number of Cornishmen, miners of years of experience, had applied for work in that working. The first claims of desertions from the union came from these companies yesterday.

Two Union Meetings.

One of two union meetings on today's program was held at Ahmeek. It was the intention of the Federation leaders to persuade the men there to stand firm, as the border line between Houghton and Keweenaw counties has been the best defended stronghold of the union forces.

The break in the ranks has been inconsequential thus far, but the union leaders are anxious that it go no further.

Another meeting was at Calumet. It was reported that some of the Northern mines were receiving more men from Calumet and Laurium, and this

WOMAN 88 YEARS OLD AND DYING IS ROBBED

Thieves Drag Her From Bed and Beat Her 60-Year-Old Son.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 13.—After dragging a dying woman, 88 years old, from her bed and tying her to a chair, and beating into insensibility her 60-year-old son who went to her aid, two masked men last night ransacked the home of Charles Kimmel at Middle River, near here, in search of a quantity of gold reputed to be hidden in the house.

Kimmel and his mother were found an hour afterward by a physician who had been summoned to the house to attend the aged woman.

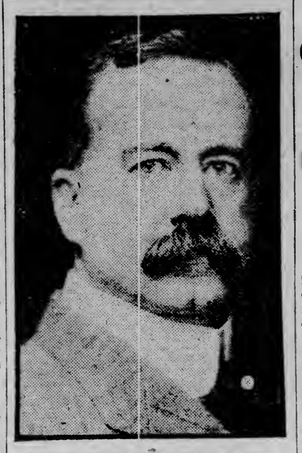

The robbers, who have not been captured, secured only a small amount of money.

STEEL CORPORATION PUTS MEN TO WORK.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—Three thousand men who have been out of employment since Dec. 15 returned to work at the South Chicago plant of the United States Steel corporation today.

APPOINTMENT TO BE FOUGHT IN SENATE

JOHN SKELTON WILLIAMS, Chosen By President Wilson for Comptroller of the Currency.

WILLIAMS FOR COMPTROLLER

His Nomination Is Sent to the Senate By Wilson.

Confirmation Will Mean He Is Member of Reserve Board.

Washington, Jan. 13.—President Wilson today nominated John Skelton Williams of Virginia, assistant secretary of the treasury, for comptroller of the currency and ex-officio member of the Federal reserve board which will administer the affairs of the new currency system.

Mr. Williams is now assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of the fiscal bureau, and Secretary McAdoo's first assistant in matters of government finance. The office of comptroller of the currency has been vacant several months.

From time to time various reports have been afloat in congressional circles of opposition being brought to bear in the senate against the nomination of Mr. Williams. It was said that the so-called great financial interests were opposing him.

Announcement of Mr. Williams' selection followed a conference between President Wilson and Secretary McAdoo. It is understood that during the president's absence Mr. McAdoo has been sounding senators about the nomination, and believes it will be confirmed. So far as known the president has made no other selections for the Federal reserve board.

Secretary Houston said today he did not plan to resign from the cabinet to become a member of the board.

SNEEZING POWDER AD "IS MISLEADING."

Council Bluffs, Iowa, Jan. 13.—Harry B. Wooding, who conducted a mail order house here, was taken to Red Oak to appear before a United States commissioner on a charge of using the mails to defraud. Wooding advertises a sneezing powder and it is charged that his advertising is misleading.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS

For lack of a quorum the judiciary committee postponed consideration of the Lee and Glass senatorial cases.

Federal appropriation of $25,000,000 for good roads proposed by Representative Moon of Tennessee.

Commerce committee arranged for a hearing on railroad safety appliances Thursday.

Representative Kelly, Progressive, Pennsylvania, introduced a bill to prohibit employers' influencing their employes at election.

Further committee action on the La Follette seamen's bill deferred until late this month.

Representative Moon brought in a special rule to prevent reform clauses in the postal appropriation bill being ruled out on point of order.

Thousands Probably Have Perished in Japanese Disaster.

Catastrophe Greatest in History of That Country.

Dust From Mountain Falls in City Ninety Miles Away.

Tokio, Jan. 13.—A tidal wave added its terrors to the earthquake and volcanic eruptions which struck Kagoshima, in Southern Japan, yesterday, according to official advices today.

It is believed here that the Kagoshima disaster will prove to be one of the most serious in the history of Japan. The loss of life and property increases with fuller news from the scene.

The tragedy has deeply moved people and the government and every resource of succor and aid will be called to meet the crisis. The army, the navy, the state owned railway system and the steamship companies will unite in relief expeditions, backed by citizen movements everywhere. Warships are already groping their way through the ash clouds that hang pall-like over Kagoshima gulf and during the day it is expected their wireless instruments will begin recording the accurate details of the disaster, despite the discouragement of their first efforts.

Thousands May be Dead.

LEEDS PEOPLE WIN MUNICIPAL STRIKE

City Employes Return to Work Under Council's Terms.

Leeds, Eng., Jan. 13.—The citizens of Leeds, who have been acting as amateur lamplighters, gas and electric workers, street car drivers and street sweepers since Dec. 23, today won their fight against the striking municipal workers. The strikers agreed to accept unreservedly the terms offered by the municipal council.

The men had demanded increased wages, but when prominent professional and business men, including doctors, lawyers and clergymen, took up the various municipal duties in relays and expressed their determination to continue the work, the men gave in and said they would return to work at their former wages if the council would reinstate all the strikers. This the council refused to do and the men finally yielded.

The council agreed to give work immediately to about half of the strikers and to take the rest of them back when opportunity offered.

The settlement of the strike will, it is believed, affect many cities where discontented municipal workers were awaiting the result in Leeds. The Leeds chamber of commerce today made an appeal to the government to avoid repetitions of such "a reflection on our civilization by devising means of settlement of a less barbarous nature than strikes."

COLD KEEPS GRIP IN EAST

Some Places Report Mercury 28 Degrees Below Zero.

Big Moose, N. Y., Has Temperature of 31 Degrees Under Zero.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Continued cold that drove the mercury to zero in many spots and as far as 28 degs. or below in some, still gripped the entire North and Central portions of the country today and caused much suffering. Following in the wake of Monday's St. Lawrence storm which passed out to whip the Newfoundland coast, a blanket of still frost settled down for another day.

But to the westward of the wintry region is another "area" as the weather sharps say, pressing for room to move and as it slides eastward, it is expected to displace the colder air tomorrow and bring relief.

Warmer in West.

Rising temperatures all through the West were marking the movement of the new weather today and temperatures there were again above the seasonable average. As the warmer air moves toward the Atlantic, the weather men say it will be accompanied by blue skies. So, the winter's first real old-fashioned weather promises to be short lived.

Bitter in New York.

Amsterdam, N. Y., Jan. 13.—With the mercury down to 22 below zero in this city and 6 degrees lower in suburban towns on the hills, the Mohawk valley is in the grip of the most severe weather of two seasons. Railroad traffic is completely disrupted.

GRAND JURY ENDING TASK

No Witnesses Called in the Copper Country Inquiry.

Cruse Fires Investigator Who Said Ferris Was Biased.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Indications were plentiful today that the grand jury that has been investigating lawlessness growing out of the copper miners' strike has about completed the investigation stage of its program. The body went into session in a court room closely guarded by deputy sheriffs, after dismissing its official stenographer for the day. So far as could be ascertained no witnesses were called before the inquisitors, and when word of that fact went around there was an anxious expectancy in many circles.

Sheriff James Cruse announced that he had discharged from the service of the county E. J. McDowell, who came here from Grand Rapids to act as an investigator for the grand jury. The sheriff was authority for the statement that McDowell had told members of the Western Federation of Miners that Governor Ferris had come under the domination of the mining companies, and that therefore the strikers could hope for no substantial justice from state authorities.

Report Date Unknown.

No definite word as to when the grand jury might report to the circuit court was available. Judge P. H. O'Brien, who charged the jury, still was in L'Anse, holding trials of strike cases removed to Baraga county on changes of venue. He had before him today one of the more important cases, that of Mike Cymotti, who is charged with assault with intent to commit murder.

Thus far twenty-four cases have been completed at L'Anse, all but two resulting in conviction. The court has been disposing of several every session, but the Gymotti trial probably will consume part of tomorrow's session.

The county supervisors took action toward reducing the cost of the strike to the county by ordering Sheriff Cruse to withdraw county deputies from the properties of the mining companies. This will reduce the sheriff's paid force from 182 to 60 men, and correspondingly increase the number of deputies paid by the companies.

Cost County $182,000.

The supervisors learned that the county's strike bills for December were $31,803, which brought the total for the first five months of the industrial warfare up to about $182,000.

It was brought out that the Calumet & Hecla company, which has been guarded by 400 deputies, has paid the salaries of every one of these men. It was stated further that this concern was the only company of those which attempted to operate previous to December which had caused no expense to the county so far as guards were concerned.

This was brought out to answer charges that the company, which is the heaviest taxpayer in the county, had received more than full value for every cent it had paid into the public treasury.

There was an echo of the Moyer deportation in the meeting when Richard Rourke, the Hancock member of the board, asked that the sheriff be instructed to countermand his order that a siren on the local electric plant be blown ten times when he wished his deputies to mobilize. Mr. Rourke said that when the whistle was blown the night of Dec. 26, the audience in at least one moving picture theater became alarmed; that the nerves of women throughout the Copper country were "frazzled," and that the general effect of such an alarm was harmful. The board, however, sat silent and no one seconded Rourke's motion.

Ashurst Demands Probe.

Washington, Jan. 12.—"The copper strike region of Michigan is a part of the United States where constitutional government no longer exists," declared Senator Ashurst today, speaking on his resolution for congressional investigation.

Senator Townsend submitted a telegram from the Copper Country Commercial club, declaring 10,000 miners were at work and contented, while 3,000 were on strike and supporting the claims of the Western Federation of Miners. The telegram said an eight-hour day, higher wages and arbitration courts already had been installed and that the strikers were now demanding only recognition of the federation. A Federal investigation would be illtimed, the telegram added.

Mr. Ashurst consented to have his resolution go to the labor committee tomorrow.

AWARDS ARE CONFIRMED

Court Finds Prices Paid for Park Property Are Reasonable.

The awards made by the park commission and the city of Duluth in the condemnation of a large number of lots in Hunter's and Markell's addition for the purpose of creating an addition to Fairmont park were upheld by Judge Dancer of the district court in a decision rendered this morning. Judge Dancer in his opinion states that the awards are sufficient for the property and that the contention of the property owners that the property is valuable as dock property is largely speculation.

Judge Dancer stated that the property would not in the immediate future be used for such a purpose and that at present there appeared no likelihood of there being any such demand. Among the principal owners of land in that vicinity are Albert S. Cruse and George W. Norton.

The park commission awarded a sum of about $50,000 for the lots needed for the addition. The prices range from $8.32 to over $1,065 per lot. The property comprises more than 100 lots lying along the banks of Kingsbury creek from the lower end of Fairmont park to the bay front.

Unless there is an appeal from the decision of the court the city will at once start action to acquire the property. Plans for laying out the ground along the water front are said to have been already made. They include a public dock, parking and the installing of a public bathing place for men and women. The awards for the property were made by the park commission on July 3, last year.

GRAND JURY PROBING POLICE DEPARTMENT

Many Witnesses Being Examined, Among Them Former Resort Keepers.

Looking Into Matter of Elgin Hotel Raid—Other Affairs.

Nothing will be overlooked by the grand jury, which has launched into a thorough investigation of the Duluth police department, the efficiency and integrity of which has been repeatedly reflected upon by attacks made by the morning paper.

Every charge of misconduct, malfeasance, dereliction of duty, inefficiency and dishonesty which can be dug up will be aired before the inquisitorial body now in session. No lines are being drawn, no restrictions are being placed, and no favors are being shown, according to Warren E. Greene, county attorney, who is assisting the grand jury in its probe.

Judging from the large number of witnesses who have been summoned to appear before the grand jury, and the slow progress made by the inquisitorial body since yesterday afternoon when the investigation started, the probe will not be completed this week. Each charge will be taken up in turn and every witness available who can be reached by a subpoena, will be required to tell what he or she knows about the facts. Most of the witnesses, however, have already been subpoenaed.

First Case Up.

It is believed that the first matter to be called to the attention of the grand jury was what is known as the Webber affair. This is the case in which the morning paper alleged "police brutality." On Nov. 14 last when one Pat Murphy was brought into police headquarters on a charge of trespass, he was slapped in the face by Sergeant Webber. The incident was observed by Jackson L. Darrymore, a News Tribune reporter. The next day, an account of the "brutal methods" employed by the local police appeared in the morning paper.

Witnesses called before the grand jury yesterday who are believed to have testified in reference to the Webber affair were Frank Schulte, detective; A. A. Wanwick, patrolman; John B. Connor, patrolman; C. H. Troyer, chief of police, and Darrymore, the newspaper reporter.

Julia Wallace, who formerly conducted a resort on St. Croix avenue in the days when Duluth was a wide-open city, was called before the grand jury this morning. It is understood that she testified to her relations with the police department while she was engaged in immoral traffic in this city. Her testimony occupied the attention of the grand jury for the greater part of the morning session.

That Elgin Raid.

Shortly before noon, Dan Riordan, manager of the Elgin hotel, Madam Gain's former First street rooming house, was called into the grand jury room. It is believed that he will be asked to testify with regard to the Elgin hotel raid made by the police at 2 o'clock on the morning of Nov. 21, when two young clerks and their brides of less than a week were hauled out of their rooms and taken to police headquarters, after they had refused to exhibit their marriage licenses until they reached the station. One of the young men connected with the affair was among those waiting in the witness room. It is also understood that Patrolmen Ricketts, H. Toewe, D. Olson and R. W. Johnson, who made the raid, have been subpoenaed and may be called as witnesses in sifting the affair to the bottom.

Other matters which it is believed will be taken up by the grand jury will be the "blunder" attributed to the police in arresting one Julius Janzig, a tailor, residing at 416 East Tenth street, on the same night of the Webber affair. Janzig was picked up on a charge of disorderly conduct by Patrolman William Reidle and brought into headquarters. Sergeant John Roberg, who was on the desk that evening, recognized Janzig and told the policeman that although Janzig might have been "feeling good" and slightly boisterous he should have overlooked it and he was making no one any trouble. Roberg has known Janzig for years but he was a stranger to the patrolman. Janzig was not booked up but was escorted home later in the evening by a policeman. Both Janzig and Sergeant Roberg were among the witnesses in waiting around the grand jury room this morning.

"Dynamiter's Arrest.

Henry Brouillette, a former member of the police force, who arrested Otto H. Haehnke, a Duluth citizen, accused by May Carter, police matron at the Soo depot of being a "dynamite" suspect on Oct. 9 last, was also among the witnesses who were waiting to testify this morning. It is claimed in this case that although a serious mistake had been made by the matron in suspecting Haehnke of the crime, he was detained at police headquarters for more than one hour.

It was learned today that subpoenas had been issued calling upon W. A. Hilken, commissioner of public safety, William L. Prince, mayor, C. S. Palmer, city clerk, and other city officials to appear before the grand jury this week to testify with regard to certain matters which are being probed. It is expected that the alleged infraction of the state law on the part of the city officials in permitting a saloon to run without a license on Garfield avenue will be probed. This is the case involving a transfer of licenses in which Commissioner Hicken admits a technical violation, but claims it has been the established custom in the administration of city affairs.

Other witnesses who are known to have been served with subpoenas in connection with various matters now under investigation, are: Fred McCaskill, bartender at the Lenox hotel, Gus Egdahl, saloon keeper, Maud Grant, former resort keeper, G. H. Squire, News Tribune reporter, John Connolly, secretary of the police department, and Dr. C. E. French.

Anton Gasper, who yesterday pleaded not guilty to an indictment charging burglary in the third degree, today notified the county attorney's office that he desired to change his plea. He may be arraigned before Judge Cant this afternoon and given that opportunity. Gasper was arrested on a charge of having on New Year's day broken into a grocery store conducted by A. E. Ruggles at 916 Forty-seventh avenue east, and to have stolen a quantity of provisions.

Yesterday afternoon, Tony Migrut, indicted for first degree assault, entered a plea of not guilty. He has retained John H. Norton for his attorney.

MILITARY SECRETS SOLD TO SWEDES

Scheme of Organized and Wholesale Espionage Is Unearthed.

Stockholm, Jan. 13.—The arrest of a former constable in the Swedish navy, named Toerngren, and a youth, Holsteinson, on the charge of selling Swedish military secrets to Russia, has enabled the authorities to unearth a scheme of organized and wholesale espionage, the headquarters of which were in Copenhagen. A number of Russian officers, including former military attaches, and other Russian subjects, are involved, and many of them have already left the country, either at the suggestion of the authorities or for fear of being arrested. The two Swedes mentioned and a Danish officer of reserve, Friedrikson, who was arrested at Boden, a Swedish fortification on the Russian frontier, were not so fortunate. Through them, however, the authorities hope to find exactly how much has been disclosed to the Russian officers, for whom they are believed to have acted.

WASTED EFFORTS.

Indianapolis News: During his student days at the lycee of Bar-ie-Duc, M. Poincare, president of France, helped to compose a universal language. His collaborators were his brother, Lucien, and another school fellow, Pol Brouchot. The work was apportioned between the three, the future president being responsible for the substantives, his brother for the adverbs and adjectives and M. Brouchot for the verbs and other parts of speech. The precocious philologists managed to persuade a local printer to publish the "Ixessoire" lexicon, which resulted from their labors. The edition was limited and the copy preserved by the president in his library is the only one which has survived.

CITY BONDS ARE PLACED

Refunding Issue of $400,000 Sold to Local Agents.

The city council this morning accepted N. J. Upham & Co.'s bid of par and accrued interest for $400,000 of refunding bonds.

The bonds are issued to meet the bleck of $500,000 bonds which mature May 1, next. The city will retire $100,000 of the bonds from the sinking fund and issue refunding bonds for the remainder, or $400,000. The old bonds were issued in 1899. The new issue will run thirty years and pay 4½ per cent interest. They will be dated Jan. 1, 1914, but the city will not begin to pay interest until May 1, the date of delivery. The bid is similar to others, being subject to a satisfactory contract, which is on file in the city hall.

The bids were opened at the meeting of the council yesterday afternoon. Considerable time was spent in considering them and when it became apparent that no conclusion could be reached the meeting adjourned until 9:30 o'clock this morning, when the Upham proposition was approved.

At the same meeting the ordinances making an additional appropriation of $500 for the repairs to the New Duluth fire hall and appropriating $645 for magazines for the public library were passed. The appointment of J. W. Schneider as smoke inspector, in addition to his position as electrical inspector, was confirmed, without any increase of salary.

Mayor Prince submitted his name to the meeting of the city council this morning and it was confirmed. The resolution carried the provision that no extra salary is attached with the appointment.

Inspector Schneider is now engaged in studying the material relative to smoke prevention which has been gathered by the city and the Commercial club committee, which recently made a thorough investigation of local conditions. Later he will be sent to Chicago to study the methods followed in that city, which is said to have the best smoke prevention regulations in the country.

His duties as electrical inspector are heaviest during the summer and the mayor is confident that he will be able to handle the smoke problem during the winter, when it is worst, without loss of efficiency.

STATES' TAXATION LAWS DISCUSSED

Davies Reports to President, Praising Wisconsin and Rhode Island.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Tax legislation throughout the United States during 1912 is reviewed in a final report on taxation of corporations, presented to President Wilson today by Commissioner Davies of the bureau of corporations. One of the striking features of legislation reviewed is New York's secured debts law of 1911. The Wisconsin income tax law of 1911 is considered the most important tax legislation in the Eastern Central and Western Central states.

"Other noteworthy features are the decided trend toward greater centralization of the administration of tax laws and the classification of property for taxation purposes," says the report. "Wisconsin is a leading example of the one and Rhode Island of the other. Wisconsin, by its income tax law, centralized its administration of assessments and successfully reaches intangible property without employing the classification method. Rhode Island has adopted the classification method, under which selected classes are separated from the general property of the state, and each related class is taxed at a rate which differs from the general property tax rate.

"Legislation with respect to the estates of non-resident decedents is also noteworthy. By reason of the lack of uniformity of state laws, such estates are sometimes subject to taxation three ond four times. Massachusetts, however, has recognized the principle of taxing such property but once, by taxing the real estate only. Personality is not taxed, since such property usually passes in accordance with the law of the jurisdiction where the decedent is domiciled.

"New York, in addition to taxing real estate, taxes chattels located in New York, and Wisconsin has passed inheritance tax legislation looking toward a complete physical-situs basis for taxation."

WILL RUN A NEW TRAIN

Change of Time Between Duluth and Fond du Lac.

Compromise Expected to Satisfy Both Workmen and Residents.

A compromise railroad service has been arranged between Duluth and the suburbs by the Northern Pacific which will, it is believed, please both the residents of Fond du Lac and the employes of the steel plant. The present train leaving Duluth at 5 o'clock in the evening will be changed so as to leave the Union depot at 5:30, and Fond du Lac at 6:15 on the return trip, and a special train will, beginning this evening, leave New Duluth at 6:05 and arrive in West Duluth at 6:35.

The special train will be run only between New Duluth and West Duluth. It will leave the clubhouse at 6:10, the steel plant model city at 6:15 and arrive at West Duluth junction, Sixty-third avenue at 6:30 and West Duluth station at 6:35.

The regular train which will run about a half hour later will, it is expected, take care of any overflow traffic which is likely to accrue. Supt. Brown said this morning that as yet no provisions were being made for operating a late evening train to the suburbs.

WEST DULUTH CURLERS

Melvin Olson, according to the other members of the Western Curling club, makes more good shots with less results than any other member, and has more "near" victories than any other rink.

Last year Olson won two trophies and nearly took three, being in the finals of the third. This year, he says, he intends taking the third.

While curling is Olson's winter sport, he is just as active a motor fan in the summer time. His friends say that he would follow the latter sport during the wipter if there was no ice to hinder.

The members of his rink are Callahan, lead; Lund, second, and Dr. Keyes, third.

the attention of the West Duluth curlers. Although none of the rinks representing the Western Curling club have made a "howling success" with the first events, it is almost certain that the greater number of the six rinks will be represented in the consolation. Many of the curlers entered at the bonspiel from West Duluth have already set their eyes on this prize, saying it is "just as good, anyway."

This evening will see the grand opening of the club's skating rink. Music has been arranged for the evening and it is expected that a large crowd will attend. Sixteen numbers will be played by the band. The music will begin at 8 o'clock.

Important to All Women Readers of This Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer a great deal with pain in the back, bearing-down feelings, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be despondent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

A good kidney medicine, possessing real healing and curative value, should be a blessing to thousands of nervous, over-worked women.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy will do for them. Every reader of this paper, who has not already tried it, by enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., may receive sample size bottle by Parcels Post. DECREASE IN GOLD PRODUCTION

By JOHN L. MORRISON.

What is the world going to do for a greater supply of gold? More important yet, what is the United States going to do?

In 1913, the world's production fell off $11,000,000. During the same period, there was a decrease of $5,000,000 in the United States from the production in 1912.

Worst of all, our population is increasing and the circulation per capita is at least slightly decreasing. In 1896, the circulation per capita was $21.44 and the increase was steady until it reached an apex of $34.72 in 1908 In 1912, the circulation per capita was $34.36. I lack the figures for 1913.

That commodity prices have continued to increase while the per capita circulation remains stationary, is explained by one authority as being due to the fact that the stimulus given to production and to the extension of industrial equipment during the period of rapid monetary expansion tended for a time to continue from its own momentum, but, at last, is being checked because the expansion of credit has reached the limit of gold reserves, therefore cannot go further without a repetotion of the monetary stringency which was felt so acutely a short time ago all over the world.

This stringency caused the English money holders to cut off Canada's credit heavily and sharply. Any intelligent American knows how it affected the United States. The new currency bill undoubtedly was hastened, if not rendered highly imperative, by these conditions.

Decreased gold supply, combined with heavy floatations of all kinds of securities, naturally compelled a heavy and wide liquiodtion and the disheartening declines during the past year or more. The need and demand for money and credit has been great, bit the ability of the money-holders to respond has been very limited, when safety and conservatism have been considered

India, too, has been a disturbing and harmful factor in the world's gold circulation. India's fiscal year runs from April 1 to April 1. For the year ending April 1, 1913, India's gold imports were about $1,000,000. At that date, India's gold imports had doubled in two years over the previous two years. Taking the four years ending April 1, 1913, India absorbed and practically withdrew from circulation nearly $400,000,000 of gold in excess of her exports. Not only was that quantity of gold absolutely withdrawn from the world's circluation, buried or used up in the arts, but the loaning power of that gold, if in circulation through regular channels of commerce, would have been $1,250,000,000.

A drain like that is as serious as taking a gallon of blood from a human body and expecting a strong, well man afterwards. That absorption by India, in quantity and for time stated, was equivalent to the loss of the entire gold production of the entire world for two and a half years.

Less than a year ago George E. Roberts, director of the United States mint, predicted that there would be no material increase in gold production for the next ten years, at least. The Rand production in South Africa stands at its apex, if not already past it. Canada shows an increase but that is only a drop in the world's bucket. Mexico has nothing bright or positive to offer that will help the situation. Alaska saw a decrease in 1913, as did the United States, proper. Siberia has possibilities but conditions are against easy mining, even if governmental policies were more liberal. The mining magnates of the world seem to be turning to South America but, for some years to come their activity there can not much exceed prospecting and exploring. Auriferous regions in South America are remote and highly inaccessible. Labor is extremely incompetent and supplies are almost prohibitive in cost when they reach the ultimate consumer.

A new Cripple Creek, a new Goldfield, a new Klondike may be found but it will take a considerable number of them to give the greedy world the gold that it requires to hold real prosperity tightly. Relief must come chiefly from discovery of new camps and new mines, together with revival of districts now inactive.

Approximately, the United States produces one-fifth of the world's gold supply but her proportion of business expansion and accompanying credit is much greater. It seems up to the United States, therefore, to dig gold more heavily and to develop the latent gold resources, which many claim are ample to supply the need if properly and promptly handled.

To an unprejudiced mind, therefore, it would seem to be a patriotic duty to develop gold mines, produce bullion and themselves on their patriotism and flarterices of commerce. Gold mining most certainly is a necessity and illy deserves the sneers, abuse and neglect from poorly posted people, who pride themselves on tehir patriotism and financial power. Since the leading civilized nations of the world have put themselves on the single gold standard basis, seeking, developing and producing gold is imperative for the best interests of commerce and civilization.

As a writer has said, "the fame of the west is based on her high grade ores. Her great wealth is in her low grade ores, where a difference of fifty cents per ton in cost of operation marks the difference between success and failure."

Until new Cripple Creeks, Goldfields and Klondikes are discovered, low grade mines, heavily operated, must be called on to help wipe out the present deficiency of gold production. Many Duluthians may not know it, but Juneau, Alaska, is one of the most likely places for such a result. Juneau, in fact, is rapidly becoming one of the most famous gold mining centers in all the world.

Thanks to glowing prospectuses of glib "wildcatters," most Duluthians know something of the famous Alaska Treadwell and even the Mexican Alaska gold mines, on Douglas island, near Juneau, Alaska, where substantial profits have been earned for many years from ores carrying about $2 a ton in gold. At the Treadwell group the new central shaft is equipped for hoisting 5,000 tons a day to a depth of 3,000 feet. But main land operations promise to surpass the Douglas island operations.

In Silver Bow basin, immediatedly back of Juneau, is a great gold-bearing lode that has been worked on a small scale for a number of years. In 1912, D. C. Jackling and the late A. F. Holden became interested in the Alaska Perseverence mine at the south end of the lode and the Alaska Gold Mines company was organized to finance operations on a large scale. Some of Duluth's keenest investors have substantial profits to their credit because they got in early and stayed by that promotion. Through a subsidiary company, the Alaska Gastineau, a 6,000-ton mill now is being built and the mine rapidly being prepared to supply it ore. It is probable that extensions already have been forecasted.

Then, more northerly on the lode, the old Ebner property, mined in a small way for years, has had its titles cleared up and put under option to the United States Smelting, Refining & Mining company. The ground will be opened up by a long deep-level tunnel and if results are favorable another mammoth milling plant installed.

The Alaska Junea gold mine, controlled by F. E. Bradley and associates, lies on the central portion of this great lode, between the Ebner mine on the north and the Alaska Perseverence on the south. Already a crosscut tunnel, started 420 feet above sea level, has been driven 6,538 feet, at which point an 800-foot upraise is being made to the floor of Silver Bow basin, which basin is 1,200 feet above sea level.

This mammoth lode has a right angle width of 500 feet, with an average assay value of $2 a ton. Taking results at adjoining mines over a long period of years, it is expected that this average will continue for a considerable distance, longitudionally and vertically.

It is expected that an average recovery of $1.45 a ton from the entire vein will be made at a cost of 80 cents per ton from a daily output of 6,000 tons. When the proposed production of 12,000 tons a day is effected costs will be lowered still more.

Thirty stamps at first will work in a comparatively high grade streak in the big lode, thereby helping to pay for further development and perfecting treatment methods. Ten additional stamps will make test crushings as to accuracy of samplings and assays during development work.

To deliver 6,000 tons a day to the stamps, trolley haulage will be used. To handle 12,000 tons a day, a crosscut has been started 400 feet below the present crosscut which will open up the ore body 9,500 feet from the millsite on Gastineau channel. Mining will be a combination of Douglas Island methods and the caving system. The milling eventually will be done by four units of 150 stamps each, or 3,000 tons a day per unit.

The principal value in this ore is in free gold. The concentrates average about 2 per cent, with about $50 a ton in gold, but carrying small values in silver, lead and copper. They are not, therefore, so easily treated as the Douglas Island concentrates.

At Juneau, within the next four years, according to present plans, a total daily production and treatment of 20,000 tons of ore may be expected, to say nothing of the already heavy production on Douglas Island, across Gastineau channel. This will furnish labor for something more than 30,000 men and require a generation of 40,000-horse power. Then there will be a grand market for heavy and high-grade machinery and supplies, to say nothing of feeding the large, flourishing city that Juneau promises to become.

With the prospective increase in mining and milling operations during the next four years, and basing net profits at $1 a ton, the Juneau district will produce something like $10,000,000 per annum from ores that are too lean to treat in any other camp of magnitude in all the world.

A young business man or a young mining man might do much worse today than to locate in Juneau, Alaska.

CANINE POPULATION OF BERLIN DECLINES.

Berlin, Jan. 13.—The canine population of Berlin is decreasing steadily. From 39,936 in 1909, the number of dogs in the city had dropped to 34,143 last year, according to tax statistics just issued, and an even greater decrease is estimated for this year. The increasingly high cost of living, which makes the saving of a tax of $7.50 yearly a big item to poor families, is undoubtedly one explanation for the decrease. A further factor this year is the dog quarantine law, which has kept the animals muzzled and on leading strings for several months.

There are 6,740 tax-free dogs in the city. Eighty of these are owned by the emperor and the ambassadors and ministers of foreign nations. There are 1,174 draught dogs exempt from tax. The city's income from the dog tax is more than $250,000 annually.

SCHOOL GIRL REFUSES $2,000 A WEEK SALARY

LILLIAN VERA BENNETT.

Miss Lillian Vera Bennett is the Milwaukee school girl who created such a furore when appearing before Musical Director Doeppler and several other prominent musicians to have her voice tested for a capella choir; she astonished her listeners by disclosing a range topped with high G, sounding the tone clearly and distinctly. The news of her accomplishment spread rapidly and Miss Bennett and her father have been deluged with congratulatory letters. She also received an offer from New York to sing in vaudeville at $300 a week and later, according to her father, an offer from a New York operatic agent of $2,000 a week. The offers were refused. Miss Bennett is to be given the best possible musical education in this country and abroad and it is predicted that she will become a great star some day.

RULER SELECTED BY CARMEN SYLVA

Responsible for Her Nephew Being Chosen King of Albania.

Berlin, Jan. 13.—"Carmen Sylva," the poetess-queen of Roumania, in an article, half allegorical and half earnest, betrays the diplomatic secret that through her husband, King Charles she was responsible for the elevation of her nephew, Prince William of Wied, to be ruler of the new state of Albania.

In the article, shortly to appear in an Austrian magazine, Queen Elizabeth says:

"Fairyland called for a king," but the world gave no answer until "the king on the mighty Danube stood forth, calm and serious, and spoke with the same clear voice which had dictated peace to the turbulent Balkans. 'On the Rhine,' he said, 'deep in a forest stands a tree from which I once plucked my wife. It has many strong branches. I will send you one of these to be your leader.'

"The young man upon whom the king had cast his eye had been, from his earliest childhood, a zealous lover of books. He was never seen without a book in his hand. For all that he was of great strength. At the high school in Jena, where he was educated, he was the champion gymnast, and it is told of him that, while a young officer, he often lifted a comrade upon one hand and then laid him aside. His work was serious and efficient. After he had passed his examinations he was detailed to the war academy, where only 150 out of 600 applicants were accepted. Later on he worked in the general staff. Tall and slender and a magnificent horseman, he was called in Roumania, 'Lohengrin,' wherever he appeared in his white uniform with the eagle-crowned helmet of silver. His young wife has presented him with two children—a daughter, Maria Eleonore, and only recently a son, Karol Viktor. The Princess Sophie is highly gifted. She plays the harp, mandolin and guitar, singing to her own accompaniments. She paints and writes poems, and she has collected around her in Potsdam a charming circle of artists. She grew up in the country in Roumania and can ride any horse."

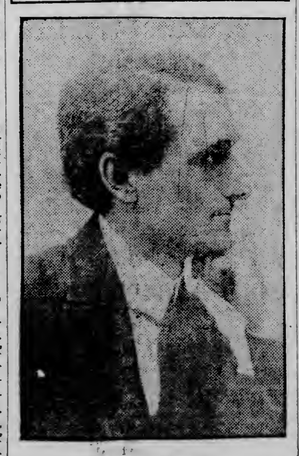

LEADERS ARE NOT ON GOOD TERMS

One Reason Why Negotiations Regarding Ulster Are Delayed.

London, Jan. 13.—One of the reasons for the delay in opening the negotiations between the Liberal and Unionist leaders on the subject of Ulster's opposition to home rule has been the lack of personal relations between the prime minister and Bonar Law, the leader of the opposition. In England, until recent years, the relations between the heads of the two great parties were such that negotiations of the kind could very easily be opened at some social function, thus depriving them of that formality which so often prevents such interchanges from being successful.

Mr. Asquith and Arthur Balfour, the late Unionist leader, were, although differed on almost every conceivable political question, personally on the most cordial and intimate terms, and in their informal conversations were able to settle many matters which otherwise might have caused no end of friction. Not so Bonar Law and the prime minister. Law was an untried man when he was selected leader of the Opposition, because the Unionists, who wanted Austen Chamberlain as leader, and the old-line Conservatives, who wanted Walter Long, could not come to an agreement. He is an entirely different type than the leaders England has been used to. Trained in a severe Scottish business atmosphere, he has none of the finesse and diplomacy that comes naturally to the English parliamentarian, who from childhood has been educated to take his place among the legislators of his country. Mr. Law has a more direct way with him than the average house of commons man, and probably without intending to offend, very often says things that are not easily forgotten by those at whom they are aimed. For example, Mr. Balfour would never have made the mistake as Mr. Law did of accusing Mr. Asquith in the house of commons of personally having no principles and making a calculating misstatement. Mr. Asquith at the time resented this very bitterly, and it still rankles in the breasts of his followers. On the platform, too, he has a directness that, while it arouses an audience, does not appear well in print, especially coming from the leader of a party which prides itself on its gentlemanly instincts. Therefore the negotiations in regard to the Ulster question must be started by the lieutenants of the two leaders, and as far as the Unionists are concerned, might be carried to a finality by the juniors in the party. On the Liberal side, however, the final word must come from Mr. Asquith himself.

NEW COMPOSER MAY RIVAL VERDI

MONTEMEZZI.

A new composer has appeared on the operatic horizon. His name is Montemezzi and his first work was produced at the Metropolitan opera house in New York a few nights ago. It is called "L'Amore dei Tre Re' or "The Love of Three Kings.' The critics of New York go so far as to predict that in Montemezzi Italy may have another Verdi. The composer is hardly 30 years old.

BAKER RESIGNS FROM CHASE BANK.

New York, Jan. 13.—George F. Baker, chairman of the board of the First National Bank of New York, today resigned from the board of directors of the Chase National Bank of New York. Mr. Baker is a director of more important corporations than any other man in the country, and his resignation from the Chase bank was construed in Wall Street as being in line with his decision, recently announced, to reduce the number of these directorships as rapidly as possible.

Passing Them On.

London Penny Pictorial: Past stall after stall went the rich merchant, followed by a footman in smart livery. It was the annual village bazar.

"Ah, Mr. Fitzbrendon," said a really sweet and charming lady at one of the stalls, "and what are you going to buy? Dear old auntie and I are running this table and we have homemade cakes, aprons, penwipers and—"

"Yes," said F., "and I'll buy just one of each. But do you sell kisses at your stall?"

"Oh, certainly!" came the ready reply. "One guinea each!"

"Right!" replied the autocrat. "Then I'll take a couple—and good measure, please!"

"Aunt," remarked the fair and dainty damsel, "forward, please! Two kisses for this gentleman!"

For a moment the man of means was nonplussed, but only for a moment. Then he turned to his servitor.

"James," he said coolly, "just take this purchase, please!"

NON-FEAZE-ABLE.

Atlantic: I am ceasing to criticize—I use the word in its present degenerate sense of fault-finding—because my complaints have not been productive of one iota of good. Moreover, they have always beeen ungraciously received either by the person whose good I sought or by the person upon whose sympathy I was depending.

Those whose good I sought have not listened to me.

"Minnie," said I to my maid, whose stupid looks had become a trial to be endured no longer in silence, "do you know that you go about with your mouth open?"

"Yes'm," answered Minnie, stolidly, "I opened it."

I have been rudely treated when my motive was purely unselfish.

"Madam," said I to a stranger in a city store, "your belt is unfastened."

"That," answered the lady, "is the way I wish it to be!"

JUST RUN FOR OFFICE.

Cincinnati Enquirer: "It would be a great thing if a man could see himself as others see him," observed the old fogy.

"Why, that's easy," replied the grouch. "Just let him run for office."

"THE SPEAKER."

Indianapolis News: It was his power of protesting that in the first place gave the speaker of the British house of commons his name. For the early members were not great at oratory and soon realized the desirablity of choosing a spokesman with a ready tongue and the courage to argue with the king. Hence came the title of "speaker," which was first given to Sir Thomas Hungerford in 1376.

PEEVED AT TEDDY; HELPED DEMOCRATS

New York Republican Tells of Giving to Campaign Fund.

New York, Jan. 13.—John W. Flynn of Waterford, N. Y., a state road contractor, testified at District Attorney Whitman's John Doe inquiry yesterday that he contributed $250 to the Democratic state campaign fund in 1911 because, although a Republican, he was dissatisfied with the way Theodore Roosevelt "ran things" at the Republican state convention of the previous year. Flynn said that later he made another contribution to the Democratic campaign fund of $150.

He gave the money, he said, to John E. Consalus of Troy, who has figured in previous testimony as a collector of Democratic campaign contributions.

Flynn said he gave his first contribution voluntarily because he had returned from the Republican convention dissatisfied "because Theodore Roosevelt called James S. Sherman a lot of names." He gave the money, he said, to Consalus because "it was in the air that Consalus was collecting." The second contribution he made at Consalus' request, he testified.

"I was afraid I might be bothered if I didn't make the contribution," he said.

The first contribution, it was brought out, was not reported by the Democratic state committee.

INJECT SERUM INTO BRAIN FOR PARESIS.

Philadelphia, Jan. 13.—In an effort to cure a case of paresis, serum was applied directly to a diseased brain here yesterday, and surgeons declare that the operation, the first of its kind in this country, will be successful. The operation has been performed three times in France and in two of the cases there satisfactory results have been reported.

The operation yesterday was on a man 51 years old. Two small holes were bored in his skull, one on each side of the brain. A serum obtained by inoculating a rabbit with arsenic compound was then injected into each side of the brain.

FEAR HAY BILL WILL KILL NATIONAL GUARD

Adjutants General Say It Would Discourage Militiamen.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Fear that the Hay bill, which has passed the house and is now pending in the senate, will ultimately cause dissolution of the National Guard of the country if it becomes a law in its present form, is expressed by a number of state officers at the annual meeting of the Association of the Adjutants General of the National Guard. Several of the speakers declared that a provision of the Hay bill preventing officers and men from serving on an equal footing with the regular army in time of war will discourage enlistment and kill the ambition of the militia branch of the national defense.

WOULD STRENGTHEN THE SHERMAN LAW.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Representative Webb of North Carolina has introduced his bill to strengthen the Sherman law by declaring illegal every contract, combination or conspiracy in restraint of "any part" of trade, and designed to reach so-called gentlemen's agreements or understadnings. His bill would put the burden of proof of reasonableness upon the defendants. As a ranking member of the judiciary committee he purposes to fight for action along the lines of his bill.

Representative McCoy of New Jersey, another Democratic member of the judiciary committee, introduced his bill to prohibit interlocking directorates among banks and trust companies. Both measures were referred to the judiciary committee.

HE FLIRTED WITH DEATH

Office Boy Tries to Board Moving Elevator—Painfully Injured.

Narrow Escape From Fall of Eight Stories in Shaft.

Attempting to board a moving elevator in the Fidelity building yesterday afternoon, James Ryan, 16-year-old office boy of the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific railroad, narrowly escaped a horrible death.

Missing his footing he fell forward so that the upper part of his body was across the elevator platform. For a minute he hung suspended over the elevator pit, eight floors above the basement, held only by the wedging of his shoulders between the floor of the lift and the top of the gate on the seventh story.

His screams and the cries of those in the cage attracted the quick attention of office tenants. While they grasped the boy about the legs and body and those in the car seized his arms, the elevator was slowly lowered until he was extricated from his perilous position.

Dr. F. F. Clark, who has offices in the building, was hurriedly summoned and had the boy removed to St. Mary's hospital. An examination showed that although the upper part of the boy's body was severely bruised he had suffered no broken bones or internal injuries. His effort to jump the elevator after it was under way resulted in a half-breadth escape, little less than a miracle, saving him from being mashed to pieces at the bottom of the shaft.

The boy makes his home with his mother, Mrs. Mary Ryan, at 524 East Cascade street.

Athletic contests between men employed on the street car lines in Duluth to be held Thursday night at the employes' clubrooms at the street railway company's carhouse are holding the attention of the employes this week and are the chief topic of conversation among the men. Two wrestling matches, lifting and other contests will feature the affair.

The principal match of the evening will be a wrestling match between Andrew Olson, the conductor who claims the middleweight championship of the street car employes, and E. B. Holum, a motorman. A preliminary contest in the lightweight class has been arranged between August Kresal and Mike Schafer.

SWEDISH LEAGUE REPORTS ON FESTIVAL.

The Swedish-American National league made a net profit of $39.31 from its midsummer festival last year and has a balance of $181.03 on hand, according to the annual report of the secretary, C. E. Johnson, submitted at a meeting of the directors of the league held last night. Plans were made for holding the annual election of officers early in February, at which time the organization will plan for the celebration to be held next June.

LIVE TEN DAYS ON STEAM DRIP AND RICE

Chinese Hide in Ship in Hot, Unventilated Compartment.

New York, Jan. 13.—After a search lasting fifteen hours, H. R. Sisson, inspector in charge of the Chinese bureau of the immigration service, brought to light six Chinese stowaways who had spent ten days in the boiler valve room of the freight steamer Massapequa.

They had subsisted during the trip from Puerto Mexico, on a few handfuls of rice and the dripping of condensed steam. Two of the Chinese were so weak that medical attention had to be given them, while confinement in the room, which has an atmosphere of never less than 125 deg. Fahrenheit and no ventilation, had brought all of the stowaways to the verge of physical collapse. None of the Chinamen had partaken of food during the three days the steamer had been tied up there.

The Massapequa arrived here from Puerto Mexico last Saturday and the captain attested in his papers he had no Chinese aboard. In spite of this, Inspector Sisson searched every nook of the large steamer and his efforts were awarded by the finding of the stowaways. The crew of the vessel denied knowledge of the fact that the men were on board.

The Chinese will be taken back to Puerto Mexico.

AGED HUNGARIAN PATRIOT MARRIES.

Budapest, Hungary, Jan. 13.—Francis Kossuth, the Hungarian patriot, was married on his sickbed yesterday to the Countess Benyorsky, widow of Alexander Benyorsky, who was a close friend of Kossuth. Kossuth is 65 years old.

Benyorsky, during a long and painful illness was nursed by M. Kossuth and the countess. Shortly after Benyorsky's death, M. Kossuth became dangerously ill. He was attended by the Countess Benyorsky, and their engagement followed. The marriage was to have taken place next March, but Kossuth suffered a relapse and it was suddenly decided that the wedding should take place at once.

SUES COLLECTOR FOR INSULTING WIFE.

Napoleon, N. D., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The charge that an agent of the Acme Harvester company mistreated his wife, is the basis on which George Scharf, a farmer near here, brings action for $10,000 damages. The suit was filed in the district court in this city.

The plaintiff alleges that the collector, seeking to make a collection, ill treated Mrs. Scharf in attempting to enforce his demands for money.

TWO STEEL MILLS REDUCING WAGES.

Philadelphia, Jan. 13.—The wages of more than 1,600 employes of the Alanwood Iron & Steel company and J. Wood & Bros. in the sheet and plate mills of the two concerns, will be reduced 10 per cent beginning Jan. 26. Notices to this effect were posted in the mills at Coshocton. According to officers of the two companies, the reduction has been necessary by "the long continued and severe liquidation in the steel trade."

A Message To Thin, Weak, Scrawny Folks

An Easy Way to Gain 10 to 30 lbs. of Solid, Healthy, Permanent Flesh.

Thin, nervous, undeveloped men and women everywhere are heard to say, "I can't understand why I do not get fat. I eat plenty of good, nourishing food." The reason is just this: You cannot get fat, no matter how much you eat, unless your digestive organs assimilate the fat-making elements of your food instead of passing them out through the body as waste.

What is needed is a means of gently urging the assimulative functions of the stomach and intestines to absorb the oils and fats and hand them over to the blood, where they may reach the starved, shrunken, run-down tissues and build them up. The thin person's body is like a dry sponge—eager and hungry for the fatty materials of which it is being deprived by the failure of the alimentary canal to take them from the food. The best way to overcome this sinful waste of flesh building elements and to stop the leakage of fats is to use Sargol, the recently discovered regenerative force that is recommended so highly by physicians here and abroad. Take a little Sargol tablet with every meal and notice how quickly your cheeks fill out and rolls of firm, healthy flesh are deposited over your body, covering each bony angle and projecting point. Boyce's Drug store and other good druggists have Sargol, or can get it from their wholesaler, and will refund your money if you are not satisfied with the gain in weight it produces as stated on the guarantee in each package. It is inexpensive, easy to take and highly efficient.

Caution—While Sargol has produced remarkable results in overcoming nervous dyspepsia and general stomach troubles, it should not be taken unless you are willing to gain ten pounds or more, for it is a wonderful flesh-builder.

OPPOSE MOVING LIBERTY BELL.

Philadelphia, Jan. 13.—A committee representing the Philadelphia chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, called upon Mayor Blankenburg and presented a petition against the removal of the historic Liberty Bell from Independence Hall for exhibition purposes. The petition was signed by thousands of persons. Mrs. Thomas Potter, Jr., regent of the chapter, headed the committee, and spoke not only for the Daughters, but also for associated patriotic societies. Mayor Blankenburg told the committee the subject is one for city councils to act on, and that he would keep an open mind.

SUES DIRECTORS FOR COMPANY ACTS.

Philadelphia, Jan. 13.—That directors are liable for losses caused by their negligence is the contention of William F. Allen, receiver of the Seaboard-Portland Cement company, who has begun suits in the district court for $2,000,000 each against Edwin Thomas of Catasqua and George W. Roydhouse of this city, both formerly directors of the cement concern. The receiver seeks by the suits to establish the liability for $2,000,000 against one or the other or both the defendants.

In the statement filed, Allen alleges that while the defendants were directors of the company they permitted the illegal investment of funds by the officers, and also allowed them to make large loans without security.

EASING UP IN FINANCE

Borrowers Find Bankers More Willing to Lend Money.

More Than $7,000,000 Invested in Commercial Paper in Ten Days.

A marked easing up in the financial situation is commented upon at the leading centers, such being inspired mainly through the more hopeful views being entertained by bankers regarding the business outlook and their consequently greater readiness to entertain applications from borrowers.

Take Commercial Paper.

As evidence of that condition, it is reported that banks in Chicago have been heavy buyers of commercial paper during the past week. New York banks also are said to have invested more than $7,000,000 in such paper in the last ten days. The volume of these discounts within the past few days is said to have been the heaviest that has been shown in months and the movement is gathering force.

This is taken to suggest that officers of New York banks carrying large out-of-town account sare not worrying at all about the future. On the contrary, bankers are sufficiently assured of easier money conditions even during the period when withdrawals will have to be made for the Federal reserve banks, to lead them to bid actively for large blocks of short term notes.

Undercurrent Rising.

"There is a growing belief," says the Wall Street Journal, "that the undercurrent in general trade has begun to rise. Business men as a rule are more hopeful. It cannot be said that there is any pronounced optimism. What improvement is seen is due largely to the steps being taken for currency reform, and to the more conciliatory attitude on the part of the administration toward big business.

"It is not expected that the volume of trade will bulk much larger until the big problems of the day are solved to the satisfaction of the country.

"The railroads cannot expend any large amount of money unless they are granted increased freight rates. But credit is bound to be freer once the new currency system is in operation.

"Altogether more confidence is appearing and that after all is the essential ingredient that has long been lacking.

"More encouraging reports are being received from the iron and steel trade. Attention is directed to this industry very intently because it is recognized as the barometer of general business."

BEATS CHILDREN; CHOKES TEACHER.

Parsons, Kan., Jan. 13.—Several pupils were severely beaten and a woman teacher was choked yesterday by the principal of a ward school here, Frank Llewellyn, who apparently is suffering from temporary insanity. The entire school fled in a panic and two policemen had to be called to subdue the man, who was placed under guard in his room. The principal had of late brooded much over a suit for damages which had been filed against him. He was charged with striking a school boy and his defense was that he had done so to stop a fight with another boy.

Minot Man Takes Life.

Minot, N. D., Jan. 12.—After a search of two days the body of W. W. Duncan, dismissed Jan. 1 as manager of a furniture store, was found in a house at Riverside park Saturday by a searching party. The coroner pronounced it suicide.

SHAW DENIES MINE REPORT

Copper Magnate Says Inquirers' Statement Is False and Biased.

Gen. Abbey Defends Militia Against Charges of Misconduct.

Boston, Jan. 13.—President Quincy A. Shaw of the Calumet & Hecla Mining company, in a statement issued last night, takes issue with the report of the government commission, made public last Saturday, on the strike in Michigan in which the Calumet and other mining companies are involved. He impugns the motives of the investigators in making public the report at this time, and intimates that it was colored in favor of the strikers.

Mr. Shaw's statement follows:

"After Secretary Wilson's speech in Seattle it was to be expected that his subordinates would make a report which would be highly colored in favor of the strikers. The publication of the report is also well timed to assist the strike leaders in arousing false sympathy through misrepresentations. So far as it contains information given by the companies, the report could have been published months ago, if there was any genuine desire to have the public know the conditions under which the men worked.

"Many Misstatements."

"Extracts from the report which appear in the papers, if accurately quoted, contain many misstatements.

"Since Dec. 1 an eight-hour day has been in effect under ground and in all places where work is continuously conducted for twenty-four hours. All other employes have a nine hour day. The companies in which I am interested did not post a notice that the hours of labor were eight and three-quarters.

"Directly after mentioning the Calumet & Hecla Mining company's name, it is said that 'two men made affidavit that at the point of a gun they were compelled to go from Superior to Calumet and then to work at some other camp.' These affidavits are false if they relate to any action on the part of either the Superior or the Calumet companies. We have evidence of false affidavits secured by the Federation.

As To Men Killed.

"The report states 'a number of strikers have been killed and others injured in the use of arms in the possession of Waddell men.' This convicts the Waddell men before their trial. The record of those killed to date is as follows:

"Two strikers who are said to have resisted deputies, one striker who was connected with the fatal murder of Deputy Pollock. On the other hand three non-union men were shot to death while lying in bed, and hundreds of men whose only offense was a desire to go to work have been attacked and so cruelly beaten that they required medical attention at our hospitals.

"The Quincy Mining company is accused of 'evidently intending to deceive Germans who could not read English' because they complied with the laws of New York and printed the word 'strike' in the English language. Not only did the company comply with the law, but Mr. Bruns model has told me on two occasions that he went with interpreters and personally interviewed the men who were engaged to work, so that there could be no misunderstanding of the situation.

Number of Employes.

"The report states that 'the Calumet & Hecla Mining company employes upwards of 50 per cent of the total number of mine workers engaged in this region.' This is untrue. The Calumet & Hecla Mining company, just previous to the strike, employed considerably less than one-third of the mine employes.

"The report states that 'the profits have been extremely large,' namely: $121,000,000 in dividends.' It probably would be equally interesting had the report stated that in addition to the dividends the company has paid for labor, supplies, lands and taxes, roughly an additional $220,000,000.

"The report is grossly unfair when it states that so-called 'strikebreakers' have been or are being imported. There was a serious shortage of labor in all the mines for a year previous to the strike, and to make up this shortage and to take the places of the men who have left we have given employment for hundreds of men who will receive wages and work under conditions as good as, if not better than in any mining district in this country.

Want Permanent Employes.

"We hope that the men now coming into the district come there to stay permanently, and if they prove themselves efficient workmen and law abiding citizens I can give them assurance of their jobs during life of the mines, with plenty of chance for advancement.

"Our general manager began working for the company in the '70s when he was less than 20 years old. Just previous to the strike the company had in its employ 1,600 men who had worked for the company between fifteen and forty years, and it had also in its employ 400 men who were the sons of these 1,600 men. These are the kind of men the company wants, and it cannot afford to, and will not employ men who wish also to work for Mayer and the Western Federation of Miners."

Abbey Defends Militia.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 13.—Brig. Gen. P. L. Abbey, head of the state militia, who is here attending a meeting of Michigan National Guard officers, took exception to some of the department of labor's report concerning the conduct of state troops in the copper mine strike zone.

"During the time the entire state militia was in the strike district, only four men were disciplined for drunkenness," he said. "I do not believe it would be possible to get such a large body of men together with better results.

"When we first arrived only one man from a company was allowed to leave camp at one time. This order was later changed so two men from a company could leave at the same time.

"No guardsmen were ever arrested by the civil authorities. The soldiers were permitted to carry revolvers when we first reached Calumet, but after we had been there a few days were ordered to leave their guns in camp when away on leave."

TO RAISE FUNDS FOR COPPER MINERS

Labor Unions of Duluth Set Two Committees at Work.

The committee appointed at the mass meeting, held recently in behalf of the striking copper miners in Michigan, to raise funds for the strikers, and the committee appointed by the trades assembly, for the same purpose, have joined forces and will conduct a vigorous campaign for funds to aid the strikers. The women and children particularly are in need of relief since the closing in of the cold snap.

The establishment of a central relief station for receiving donations of clothing and staple articles of food is planned. The committee in charge of this part of the work consists of W. E. McEwen, Nick Olson and P. G. Phillips.

Temporarily, donations of clothing will be received at 4 West First street, 310½ West First, and at the store room of the Zenith Co-operative association in West Duluth.

Small subscription lists have been prepared and are now in circulation. These will be used for individual subscriptions only.

Letters asking for assistance for the strikers' wives and children will be sent to all of the fraternal and church organizations and other societies.

A committee composed of J. A. Johnson, S. S. McDonald, J. E. Jensen and Mrs. S. Hendrickson is at work organizing a tag-day which is slated to be held on Saturday, Jan. 24.

The committee appointed by the trades assembly is made up by A. G. Catlin, R. J. Coole, J. E. Jensen, Nick Olson, S. S. McDonald and A. A. Barr.

Rev. Hunt, O. M. Robertson, P. G. Phillips, W. E. McEwen, Mrs. S. Hendrickson, Elmer Oss, W. E. Towne and J. A. Johnson form the committee appointed at the mass meeting.

The joint committee will meet next Sunday at 310½ West First street.

FOURTH SMUGGLER GUILTY OF MURDER.

San Antonio, Tex., Jan. 13.—Leonardo L. Vasquez, member of a band of fourteen alleged ammunition smugglers, charged with the murder of Deputy Sheriff Candelario Ortiz in a fight at Crizzo Springs, Tex., in September, was convicted yesterday of complicity in the murder, and sentenced to fifteen years in the penitentiary. Three other members of the band have been convicted and sentenced to prison terms.

The company has been capitalized at $5,000 with shares at $5 each. The incorporators are: A. P. Quasl, Severin Johnson, J. WOMAN REFUSES OPERATION

Tells How She Was Saved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Logansport, Ind. — "My baby was over a year old and I bloated till I was a burden to myself. I suffered from female trouble so I could not stand on my feet and I felt like millions of needles were pricking me all over. At last my doctor told me that all that would save me was an operation, but this I refused. I told my husband to get me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I would try it before I would submit to any operation. He did so and I improved right along. I am now doing all my work and feeling fine.

"I hope other suffering women will try your Compound. I will recommend it to all I know." — Mrs. DANIEL D. B. DAVIS, 110 Franklin St., Logansport, Ind.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, is it not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering in a like manner?

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

PAINFUL ERUPTION ON ARM AND HANDS

Could Not Stand Any Clothing on Arm. Itching Intense. Scratching Made Spots Larger. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

Box 85, Fulton, Ill.—"My trouble began with just a little red spot on my arm and they gradually increased until they had formed a ring about three inches in diameter. Then they spread to different parts of my arm and hands. I could not stand any clothing whatever on the arm, it seemed to irritate it so. The itching was so intense that I scratched and made the spots larger and more sore. I could not stand to put my hands in water very much. It gradually grew worse. It was very painful and the itching was terrible. It also disfigured the arm for the time being.

"Then I began using different remedies without getting any relief. Seeing the advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment in the paper I thought I would try them. After using Cuticura Soap and Ointment for two weeks I noticed a slight improvement. I used one box of Cuticura Ointment and three cakes of Cuticura Soap and in three months I was completely cured." (Signed) Mrs. M. Hansen, Sept. 19, 1913.

Not only are Cuticura Soap and Ointment most valuable in the treatment of eczemas and other distressing eruptions of skin and scalp, but they are also most effective in the treatment of pimples, blackheads, red, rough skins, itching, scaly scalps, dandruff, dry, thin and falling hair, chapped hands and shapeless nails. Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold by druggists and dealers throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

DEFER ACTION ON NEW RATE

Council Wants Time for Consideration of City Water Prices.

Two Bids Are Received on $400,000 Refunding Bond Issue.

The city council yesterday afternoon refused to approve the schedule of new water rates as submitted by Commissioner Leonidas Merritt, head of the division of public utilities.

"I am not prepared to vote on that resolution at this time," said Mayor Prince, when the resolution was read by City Clerk Charles S. Palmer. "I do not know enough about the new schedule to pass upon it at this meeting. The question is one of great importance to the entire city, affecting some 16,000 or 17,000 consumers, and should be given careful consideration."

"I believe we should lay it over at least a week to give the public an opportunity to be heard," said Finance Commissioner Voss.

"The public should certainly be given an opportunity to express its views," seconded the mayor.

Postpone Action.

Commissioner Murchison was the only other member of the council present at that time and he concurred in the motion to postpone action one week. Commissioner Merritt arrived later and Commissioner Hicken was unable to attend, being still confined to his bed with a severe attack of indigestion. City Attorney Clapp said that he did not know that the council's approval was necessary, but he recommended such action.

The action is significant in that it helps to establish a precedent against what has threatened to become a fixed procedure, that of allowing the meetings of the council to become ratifications of the recommendations of the individual members of the council. The tendency has been towards government by five independent units, which is said by those who framed the charter not to be the intention of that document, as the city does not get the benefit of the combined judgment of five men, which is better than that of one. This is illustrated in the salary increases voted a week ago, amounting to $5,000 to $6,000. Each of the council members sent in his recommendations. Each knew what increases in his own divisions were but was unaware of the significance or merit of those in the other divisions. But without any conference, comparison or discussion the resolution went through unanimously when it was offered.

Two Bids on Bonds.

Two bids were received on the issue of $400,000 of refunding bonds. The N. J. Upham company and the Minnesota Loan & Trust company bid par and accrued interest, but both bids were subject to satisfactory contracts. No action was taken and the council decided to convene again at 9:30 o'clock this morning to give the matter further consideration.

A resolution abandoning the condemnation proceedings for sewer easements over the property of E. Swenson at Spirit Lake and of the Northern Pacific at Thirty-seventh avenue west, was passed. Both have agreed to dedicate the necessary easements to the city. For the former the building line commission allowed damages of $500 and for the latter, $300.

Following the statement of Commissioner Murchison that the plat submitted by Ole S. Ingebo does not comply with the city's requirements the council decided to inspect the property in person. The ground is adjacent to the third division of Duluth Heights.

The resolution of Mayor Prince allowing the Zenith Box & Lumber company to construct a spur railroad track over Traverse street at Forty-fifth avenue west passed.

Order Brick Paving.

The improvement of West Superior street between Fifteenth and Twenty-fifth avenues was ordered. The highway will be paved with brick on a concrete base and the estimated cost is $65,343. The share of the city and the street railway company is $21,343 and that of the property owners, $44,000, or $137.50 per 25-foot lot. A petition protesting against the improvement may be filed, as there is some opposition among the property owners.

The city attorney rendered the opinion that the city has not the right to charge for vault space under sidewalks but that it can charge for the use of the surface of highways, whether this be for displaying goods or for areaways. He recommended that the charges be in the nature of a license fee.

An ordinance appropriating $2,500 from the works fund for the purchase of a motor truck was given its first reading. The machine will be used by the sewer maintenance department.

The ordinance appropriating an additional $500 for the repairs of the New Duluth fire hall and $645 for magazines for the public library, were advanced to their second reading.

The ordinance regulating the practice of medicine in the city was laid on the table indefinitely, pending the recovery of Safety Commissioner Hicken, who has had charge of the measure.

License Applied For.

Lawrence Peterson made application for a saloon license at 623 West Superior street, being a transfer from W. F. McDonald at 111 East Superior street. Peterson was interested in the saloon conducted by R. Peterson & Co. at 621 West Superior street, the license of which was recently revoked. Commissioner Hicken reported that the place was furnishing liquor to a lodging house which was being run as a "blind pig."

Another appropriation for a convention trip for a city employe was allowed via the requisition route, instead of by resolution. The requisition was for $50 in favor of F. E. Hough, city electrician, who will attend the convention of Northwestern Electrical inspectors at Cincinnati Jan. 27, 28 and 29.

SAYS OWNERS JUST HELPED THEMSELVES

Receiver for Siegel Bank Testifies Before New York Senators.

New York, Jan. 13.—Henry Melville, received for the Henry Siegel & Co. bank, told the committee on banks of the state senate yesterday that "whenever any of the proprietors felt the need of any loose change to the amount of a few thousand dollars he went to the bank and took what he wanted without giving any note or security of any kind."

Mr. Siegel himself, the receiver said, borrowed $754,191 without security except a written agreement pledging 34,000 shares of the common stock of the Siegel Stores corporation against these loans.

The hearing was held by the senate committee to get testimony for use in revising the state banking laws in relation to the privileges of private banks. The whole day's session was spent investigating the affairs of the bankrupt Siegel enterprises.

"Legal, But Unfortunate."

Mr. Melville said that the transactions he described were legal under the present laws, but admitted conditions were "unfortunate."

The Siegel bank, according to the receiver's testimony, had deposits of $2,650,333 distributed among 15,000 customers of the Fourteenth Street store in this city. Mr. Melville said that this money was lent also to the two Siegel stores in New York and the one in Boston. The actual assets of the bank, he said, were $14,000 in cash, $25,000 in banks and a cash bond of $100,000.

Mr. Melville said that since he had been appointed receiver he had made several attempts to communicate with Henry Siegel and F. E. Vogel, copartners in the banking company, but without success.

The committee will continue the hearings.

GOVERNOR WEST GIVES MEN WORK.

Salem, Or., Jan. 13.—By order of Governor Oswald West, forty men of a body of 100 men who walked from Portland to Salem, were given employment at state institutions at $1.50 a day. The governor said the city and county authorities would have to take care of the other men as long as they remained in Salem. The men arrived here at night, slept in the basement of a church, and in the morning were provided with breakfast at the governor's expense.

Watch Carefully the Child's Diet

Start Them Off Right With a Good Laxative and Then Watch Their Food.

Mothers are often unconsciously very careless about the diet of their children, forcing all to eat the same foods. The fact is that all foods do not agree alike with different persons. Hence, avoid what seems to constipate the child or to give it indigestion, and urge it to take more of what is quickly digested.

If the child shows a tendency to constipation it should immediately be given a mild laxative to help the bowels. By this is not meant a physic or purgative, for these should never be given to children, nor anything like salts, pills, etc. What the child requires is simply a small dose of the gentlest of medicines, such as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which, in the opinion of thousands of watchful mothers, is the ideal remedy for any child showing a tendency to constipation. So many things can happen to a constipated child that care is necessary. Colds, piles, headaches, sleeplessness, and many other annoyances that children should not have can usually be traced to constipation.

Many of America's foremost families are never without Syrup Pepsin, because one can never tell when some member of the family may need it, and all can use it. Thousands endorse it, among them Mrs. M. E. Patten, Valley Junction, Iowa, who is never without it in the house. Mrs. Patten says that Syrup Pepsin has done wonders for her boy Ralph, who was constipated from birth but is now doing fine. Naturally she is enthusiastic about it and wants other mothers to use it. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold by druggists at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, the latter size being bought by those who already know its value, and it contains proportionately more.

RALPH M. PATTEN.

Everyone likes Syrup Pepsin as it is very pleasant to the taste. It is also mild and non-griping and free from injurious ingredients.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

GRAFT IN SCHOOL SITES REPORTED.

New York, Jan. 13.—A committee to investigate charges of graft in the purchase of school sites was appointed at a special meeting yesterday of the board of education. It is composed of five members of the board and five citizens. This committee will seek the foundation of charges that certain real estate agents obtained advance information of the locations to be selected as the sites for schools, and sold the land for prices far in advance of its real value.

Bulgaria Not Seeking War.

Sofia, Jan. 13.—At the reopening of the Sobranje yesterday the premier, M. He added diplomatic relations between Bulgaria and her neighbors, with the exception of Greece, had been resumed.

Woman's Realm

A branch of the Duluth public library will be established at the new Cobb school at Woodland for the convenience of the residents of that community as well as the school children. A good selection of books of fiction, science and history and travel will be placed at that branch for circulation and the room will be open on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 3 to 5 o'clock. The library will be placed in the domestic science room of the school—a large, light room which is not used for domestic science classes this year—and Miss Susan House, principal of the Cobb school will arrange reading tables with magazines and current literature where all interested may go for two hours, on library days, to read.

The books for the children's department have not been received from the publishers as yet but will be placed in the branch library for circulation as soon as they arrive. Books for adults, however, have been selected and will be ready next Thursday afternoon for the first library day, from 3 to 5 o'clock.

In arranging the reading room, Miss House has asked residents of Woodland to give their magazines after they have read them, for use on the reading tables.

Mrs. F. L. Barrows received a letter from Mrs. Atwood telling of the fire and she said her daughter, Miss Marjorie Atwood, was quite the hero of the occasion as she made a trip back into the smoke-filled house after the Federation papers and jewelry, saving both from the flames.

MATINEE MUSICALE MEMBERS HEAR DELIGHTFUL RECITAL

Miss Senta Erd, soprano, and Miss Valborg Gunderson, violinist, gave a program before the Matinee Musicale yesterday afternoon at the regular meeting of that club at the auditorium of the Masonic Temple, which has been unsurpassed by anything given this year.

Miss Erd since her return from abroad where she studied music for three years, has been heard but once in public here and the members of the club were delighted at the opportunity afforded them to hear an artist of her ability on their regular programs. Mrs. Stephen H. Jones, assisted by Mrs. D. H. Day, arranged the afternoon's program, and it fully justified the reputation Mrs. Jones has gained as a manager of musical affairs.

The wonderful dramatic quality of Miss Erd's singing added to her charm of personality and a voice which is of exquisite timber and quality, well placed and well used by the singer, made her numbers too few for her hearers and they demanded an encore to both of her groups, to which she graciously responded. There is a quality in her voice which satisfies not only the intellect of the trained musician, but appeals to the hearts of her hearers.

Her numbers yesterday included, "Die Lorell" by Liszt; "Der Nusbaum," by Schumann; "Cecille," by Strauss, making the first group and "Spirit Flower," by Tipton; "Irish Love Song," by Geist, and "Yesterday" by Spross. The "Irish Love Song" was written by a cousin of Miss Erd, and is a brilliant piece of work. She gave it with special charm and fire.

Mrs. Fred G. Bradbury whose accompaniments are always most satisfying, played yesterday for both performers and her work had the same artistic worth which has won for her the reputation of being one of the best accompanists of the state.

Miss Gunderson, whose work is always a delight to the Matinee Musicale members, showed growth and added strength since her last appearance, in several numbers played yesterday. Her first group included "Poems" by Drdla; "Cradle Song," by Schubert-Ehlman; "Romance D Minor concerto," by Wieniawski and were all treated with an understanding and adequate technique most pleasing, and her last number, "Souvenir de Moscow," by Wieniawski, was thoroughly satisfying. Miss Gunderson has had all of her training in Duluth under Fred G. Bradbury, who has brought out her artistic ability remarkably.

The next artists' recital of the year will be given by David and Clara Mannes on Friday evening of next week, Jan. 23.

OBSERVATIONS

Make It Difficult for Folks to Purchase Poison and Guns.

Ever since a man in the South inadvertantly poisoned himself with bichloride of mercury and thereby lost his life, there seems scarcely to have been a week that some one bored with life or sorrowing in it, has not attempted an exit by the self-same means.

All kinds and conditions and ages of people have bought bichloride of mercury within the last few months and have attempted to make an end of themselves. That they have not done so in every case has been due to the efficient remedy applied in time. Others have had to die, though you may be sure they did not want to when the time came. Would-be-suicides usually have a rapid change of heart once the fatal potion is swallowed.

It is an alarming state of affairs. If we can't prevent much of this suicidal mania, it seems as though we should do something to make it more difficult for folk to obtain possession of these deadly powders and tablets, purchased as easily, apparently, as a bag of salt. I'd like to know why people are allowed to purchase deadly poisons so easily and why some means of prohibiting their sale except by a physician's order is not enacted?

As it is today in almost any state in the Union, any irresponsible person can purchase several deadly poisons. For 25 cents, poison enough to kill twenty men will be handed across the counter of any drug store. The most they ask is one's signature in a book, which strikes me as being as effective in insuring the safe use of poison as the same measures would be in regulating the rise and fall of the tide.

Taking it all round—we make it very easy for the melancholy, the irrational, the sick, the despondent and the criminal to pursue their plans of suicide or murder. Harum-scarum folk can buy revolvers any time, each one guaranteed to pick the victim at the first shot. Anyone can buy poison—the most deadly—and palm it off as a headache powder on some unsuspecting victim or spill it into his own throat without being the wiser until it is too late.

People are not only allowed to buy poison too easily but they in turn expose it carelessly. The mistake of taking poison for medicine is made too often. Poison should be labeled and designated beyond the shadow of a doubt and have its own special hiding place if it must be kept. I strongly advise throwing it away, when the occasion for its use has passed. Buy more as required.

One good move in the direction of preventing suicide and murder will be made when we make poisons and guns more difficult of purchase.

Amusements

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Motion pictures.
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

Gaby Deslys, who is coming to the Lyceum next week, declares that the cause of her working so hard is not alone to succeed but to ward off poverty in her old age. "J'ai peur de la misere!" ("I am afraid of poverty"),

"It would be horrible," she says, "to have to act after one is old. I will not. When I have lost my charms and much of my beauty I shall retire from the stage while I am still liked for myself and perfunctorily admired for my past reputation. This is why I am careful of my money although I am not mercenary. When I die I shall sell my jewels and leave my money to found a hospital for the poor children of Marseilles where I was born. I am not reckoning on a wealthy marriage to provide for my last years. I prefer to be independent. Marriage—pouff!"

Another popular theatrical star, and probably one who ranks right up in the front rank among American comedians, has been induced to appear before the motion picture camera, and consequently there is offered to motion picture enthusiasts and to the drama-loving public an opportunity to see the only and inimitable Thomas W. Ross in Henry M. Blossom's great drama of racing life, "Checkers." It has only been after the expenditure of a great amount of money and with an abundance of persuasion that Ross has finally been induced to again play his old part, and the pictures prove that he has lost none of his old time winning personality or ability.

Beautiful though the production was on the stage, it surpasses itself with the motion picture presentation. Appreciation of the wonderful possibilities "Checkers" offered led the makers of this film to send an entire company of more than 100 people to the race tracks at Havre de Grace and Laurel, Md., three to get the necessary local color and atmosphere of the race tracks and betting ring. The result has been little short of marvelous and a thrill a foot is truthfully spoken of this film. "Checkers" is being shown at the Lyceum and will continue today and tomorrow.

William J. Dooley, the happy little Scotch-Irish comedian in "The Lawn Party," at the Orpheum, declares he began his acrobatic tumbling career in his very early youth, when he fell out of bed seven times in one night. Besides, he says falling is a family trait. Mr. Dooley was born in Glasgow, Scotland, of parents who were not theatrical. He was the first to take to the stage when he was about 17, and now all five of the Dooley brothers and sisters are behind the footlights and all are doing falls of some sort or another.

William J.'s falls are the best feature of the Orpheum headline act this week.

Four acts of vaudeville are the attraction at the Empress theater for the first half of this week. Opening the bill are Tom Sidello and company presenting a novelty black art act. Tricks of many sorts are performed in the dark behind the glare of light that are mysterious and amusing. "The Doll" character is well portrayed. Second comes a local favorite, Miss Nada Brchich, who offers some dainty songs in a sweet and compelling voice. Miss Brchich makes a pretty stage appearance. Third spot is occupied by H. T. MacConnell, president of the Thirteen club, giving an act full of novelty and surprises. The turn is brimful of clean comedy and bright sayings. The headline position in the hands of the Hendrix and Belle Isle company in the playlet, "The Schoolmaster," is very deserving of the honors it is carrying away. The dances and songs are cleverly handled by the seven members of the company. Pictures are used to open and close the bill.

"Red Blood" has been the slogan of Paul Armstrong ever since he began to write plays.

In other words, the author of "Alias Jimmy Valentine," "Salomy Jane," "The Heir to the Hoorah," and now of "The Deep Purple," believes that a healthy thrill or two is a good thing for the play-going audience.

But he does not believe in melodrama as it has been served up in the cheaper class of theaters. He does not believe in a thrill produced by artificial means. He insists that the play should be "the real thing," that it should be plausible and logically constructed.

In writing "The Deep Purple," which comes to the Empress theater, Thursday and Friday, Armstrong had the aid of Wilson Mizner. The tenderloin, or "the underworld," is the sphere in which the remarkable set of characters the authors have drawn move through their respective orbits.

MINNESOTA, THE HOME OF OPPORTUNITY.

The state immigration department is circulating crop statistics for 1913, provided by the United States department of agriculture, which make a striking exhibit of Minnesota's preeminence in agricultural production.

Though other states may be plagued by drouth and damaging climatic extremes, Minnesota fares her prosperous way, with moisture ample but never too great, with wholesome winter cold and crop-fostering summer warmth each in its own place and performing its own work, with fertile soil and steady climatic conditions conspiring with human industry and enterprise to produce an annual and certain abundance of wealth from the willing earth.

The statistics quoted by the immigration department show that in a group of states including Iowa, Illinois, the Dakotas, Nebraska, Indiana, Ohio, Wisconsin and Michigan, Minnesota's average yield of corn, forty bushels, was equalled only by Wisconsin and exceeded by none; that its average yield of oats, thirty-eight bushels, was equaled by no other state in the group; that its average yield of rye, nineteen bushels, was equaled by no other state; that its average yield of potatoes, 110 bushels, was reached by no other state; that its average yield of hay, one and a half tons, was exceeded only by Wisconsin with 1.62 tons, and equaled by no other state; and that its yields of wheat, barley and hay compared favorably with the best yields among these states.

What these figures mean may be demonstrated more clearly by a brief calculation.

A farmer in Illinois, tilling an acre worth three hundred dollars, got last year twenty-seven bushels of corn, worth at seventy cents $18.90; or a little over six per cent gross on his investment.

A farmer in Minnesota, tilling a hundred-dollar acre, got forty bushels of corn worth twenty-eight dollars, or twenty-eight per cent on his investment.

In other words, the Minnesota corn-grower made more than four times as much on his investment as the Illinois corn-grower.

Add to these startling figures the fact that in no state in the Union are the opportunities to get good land on reasonable terms so great as they are in Minnesota, and then let the news go forth to those who have followed the glittering bauble of empty promises to distant fields, and who are sadly turning back, richer in experience and poorer in pocket.

Speaking of being behind the times, the supreme court of the United States has just heard of the Titanic disaster.

FOOD IN BULK AND FOOD IN PACKAGES.

Not all the cause of high cost of living is to be laid at the doors of the trusts and the tariff. They have their full share of the blame, and the American people will not be content until the conditions that make it so are changed.

But there are causes for the high cost of living that no trust-busting or tariff revision can reach, but which the consumers can remedy if they will.

One tax on the cost of living is poor roads. Another tax is the superfluity of middlemen. Another is the extravagant system of deliveries which has grown up in the cities. And still another, comes the Indianapolis News to suggest, is the practice of buying staple foods in high-priced packages instead of in bulk, as of yore.

Says the News: "What has become of the cracker barrel? A few years ago it was conspicuous in every grocery. Consumers bought crackers by bulk. It has disappeared. In its place is the neat and ornamental package. We speak of the cracker barrel as typical. The whole manner of purveying food has changed. Little, if any, of it is sold in bulk. Most of it is wrapped in packages. Of course the cost is much greater. Dealers tell us that this one cause adds greatly to the cost of living. But they tell it thus: 'People won't buy bulk goods any more. They will have everything done up in packages; of course, this adds to the cost of the goods.'

"May we not question the whole truth of this? How could the customer demand goods in packages? He knew nothing about them. Once he bought crackers from the cracker barrel at so much a pound. Similarly he bought cereals and almost every article. Now he has no such chance. Bulk has disappeared, package has taken its place, and we are told that the people demanded it. This is a good deal like dangerous rates of railroad trains and ships. The managers introduce the speed in a mad race for custom, and then say that the public demands speed. They learned by the great Titanic disaster that the public makes no such demand. Since then 'safety first' is coming to take the place of 'the public demands speed.' The package in food supply is a lure to purchase—and the consumer pays. Instead of being allowed to buy by the pound from the bulk goods these never leave the factory, but instead are encased in the fancy package which alone is offered to the consumer."

Now while there is no doubt anywhere that package food is more costly, and that its use adds to the high cost of living, the News here raises two issues: First, whether the blame rests upon consumers or dealers; second, whether it is now possible to buy bulk goods.

We believe that the consumer deserves his share of the blame. He chooses package goods because he believes them to be better and cleaner; and in some cases he is right. The dealer sells them not only because perhaps they are more profitable to him, but because there is a manifest demand for them, created by advertising.

And we shall be surprised if it turns out that the News is correct in stating that bulk crackers, cereals, etc., are no longer on the market.

Still, these issues are more or less beside the point, which is that if bulk goods can be had that are as good and sanitary as package goods, there is a real economy and a real attack on the cost of living in their use.

Now that winter has come near breaking one record, let's hope it won't turn around and go after the record of two years ago.

SAN FRANCISCO'S VENTURE.

On December 28 San Francisco's municipal street railway had been in operation a year.

The line began the year 4.04 miles long; and ended it 11.3 miles long.

It began with nine cars, and now has thirty-nine.

It began with a headway between cars of seven and a half minutes, and now the cars run a minute and three-quarters apart.

Its receipts in the first month were $17,463.35, and in the last month nearly fifty thousand dollars.

During the year the city line carried 2,195,785 passengers. Its gross earnings were $438,057.18, and its net earnings—profits—were about two hundred thousand dollars. This item is in round numbers because complete figures on operating expense are not available, but it is said that it is more likely to be two hundred and fifty thousand dollars than the figure named.

The San Francisco Star, from which we get these figures, says: "This, then, is the municipal railway that would 'never pay' and that, according to the enemies of municipal ownership, would always 'be a burden on the taxpayers.' This is the publicly owned utility that would be 'a constant menace to prosperity.'"

Moreover, eight extensions and new lines are projected, six of them due to be completed this year and the other two early next year, when the city will have lines running to the exposition grounds.

Most of them, indeed,—perhaps all,—will be ready before the extension of the Duluth lines to the steel plant is made, though that was needed and was demanded years before San Francisco had any municipal line at all.

How do you like winter, anyway?

A PRETTY LIVELY CORPSE.

The beet sugar industry, you will remember, is dead.

Its friends put that beyond any doubt when the tariff debate was on. Free sugar, they said, would kill at a single blow the entire sugar beet industry of this country; and free sugar was voted in and the new tariff begins its work of destruction in March.

Well, the beet sugar industry is acting very singularly for a corpse.

Its incomprehensible actions are reported in interviews in Michigan papers with Bertram E. Smith, an officer of one of the several large beet sugar factories in that state.

According to Mr. Smith, the refiners this year are offering a flat price for beets, which in the long run will pay the farmers rather less than they have been getting, but which has the merit of insuring the farmer a good income from his beets, even in years when the sugar content is low, as sometimes happens. Under the old plan the farmer had to take a larger chance on the season. Under the new plan the factory does the gambling and the farmer knows precisely what to figure on.

And, according to Mr. Smith, the farmers like this arrangement so well that they are eagerly signing contracts for this season.

Moreover,—again according to Smith,—THE FACTORIES WILL CONTRACT FOR A LARGER ACREAGE THIS YEAR THAN THEY DID LAST.

Moral: When official mourners bury an industry killed by tariff revision, don't let your sympathies get away with you too quickly.

The world is anxiously waiting to hear what Evelyn's press agent will have to say about the possible release of Harry is it not? It is not.

Literature as It Is Printed.

"He pressed an ardent kiss upon her brow"—
(Some story! Yet I can't help wondering how
That vacuum cleaner works. The ad is fine,
It makes me wish I had a vac for mine.
Well, to continue:) "Murmurs, 'Darling, say,
Shall not tomorrow be our wedding day?'"
"Why darn? Our Holeless hosiery
Has put an end to all such misery."
These ads are nuisances. Yet, on the square,
I think I'd better try a Holeless pair.
What happens next? "She answered, 'I love you'—"
"To be continued on page 42."
(Where is page 42? Oh, what a lot
Of stylish men in Wooltall suits. John's got
No winter suit yet. He might look like that
In Wooltall clothes, although he is so fat.
Oh, here's the page;) "Most Democrats declare
That Wilson's policies are just and fair."
(Most Democrats! Why, what have they to do
With Angelina's saying, "I love you?"
How very odd! But wait—Ah, now I see,
This is continued from page 23.
While "Lover's Lane," the story I've begun,
Had its commencement on page 21.
At last I've found it. Yet the print's so small
It's very hard to read the tale at all!
But finish it I must—well, I am vexed!
The maddening thing's "Continued in our next!")

Fawcett—Fifty dollars a week—twenty for alimony and thirty for gratitude.

IO VICTIS

I sing the hymn of the conquered,
Who fell in the battle of life—
The hymn of the wounded, the beaten,
Who died overwhelmed in the strife;
Not the jubilant song of the victors,
For whom the sounding acclaim
Of nations was lifted in chorus,
Whose brows wore the chaplet of fame;
But the hymn of the low and the humble,
The weary, the broken in heart,
Who strove and who failed, acting bravely,
A silent and desperate part;
Whose youth wore no flower on its branches,
Whose hopes burned in ashes away,
From whose hands slipped the prize they had grasped at,
Who stood at the dying of day,
With the wreck of their life all around them,
Unpitied, unheeded, alone,
With death swooping down o'er their failure,
And all but their faith overthrown.

Speak, History: Who are Life's victors?
Unroll their long annals and say,
Are they those whom the world called the victors,
Who won the success of a day?
The Martyrs, or Nero? the Spartans,
Who fell at Thermopylae's tryst,
Or the Persians and Xerxes,
His judges or Socrates? Pilate or Christ?

—William W. Story.

About Husbands, Incomes and Wives

Editorial in Boston Globe.

I have received a communication, in handwriting of the feminine gender, politely requesting an answer to the following debatable question:

"Should husbands be legally required to give a certain part of their incomes to their wives?"

If I should reply in the affirmative, I fear that I would be flooded with perfumed letters requesting me to indorse other proposals of new legislation, such as——

An Act, requiring husbands to stay in every evening and play Authors, except during July and August, the shore and mountain resort season.

An Act, requiring husbands to refrain from puffing a pipe within ten rods of a lace curtain or a velour portiere, unless said pipe has a smoke-consuming attachment.

An Act, requiring husbands to bring up the coal.

An Act, requiring husbands to remember the exact dates of wedding anniversaries and to show a little interest in the same.

An Act, requiring husbands to go to church at times other than on Easter Sundays.

Et cetera!

Some things, madam, must be left for settlement to the private Court of Domestic Relations, which is set up in front of every hearthstone soon after the honeymoon ends, and then sits in continuous session, handing down decisions which are largely compromises.

Without any statutory compulsion, millions of American working men already carry home their pay envelopes on Saturday night and hand them over to their thrifty housekeepers with nothing extracted therefrom but a few carfares and the price of a moving picture show, while thousands of merchants and manufacturers, with bank accounts, furnish their better halves with checks signed in blank.

Alloyed love, which my correspondent evidently has in mind, is fast losing its dross as a result of the changed economic position of her sex in this country.

Few women nowadays marry simply for the sake of support.

When Harriet Martineau visited the United States in 1832 she found but seven occupations open to females. They could be milliners, dressmakers, tailoresses, seamstresses, operatives in a few cotton mills, teachers of low grade and domestic servants.

Turn to the census of 1900 (the 1910 figures will be available before 1920 I hope) and what do you find? There were 5,329,807 women employed in the productive pursuits, as follows: 2,099,165 in domestic service; 980,025 in agriculture, of whom 665,791 were agricultural laborers; 1,316,890 in manufacture; 503,574 in trade and transportation, and 431,153 in the professions.

There were 344,948 dressmakers, 335,711 laundresses, 277,972 textile workers, 149,256 saleswomen, 86,158 stenographers, 34,132 retail dealers, 74,186 bookkeepers and accountants, 85,269 clerks and 22,556 telephone and telegraph operators.

In higher positions were found 253 bankers, 45 brokers, 1,271 officers of banks, 2,883 manufacturers and officials of companies, 153 builders and contractors and 261 wholesale dealers.

Some of the unusual employments of women were: 354 boatmen and sailors, 879 watchmen, policemen and detectives, 85 bootblacks, 1,320 hunters, 2 motormen, 13 street car conductors, 2 roofers, 126 plumbers, 45 plasterers, 167 brick and stone masons, 241 paperhangers, 1,759 painters, 545 carpenters, 41 mechanics, 193 blacksmiths, 571 machinists, 3,370 workers in iron and steel, 113 woodchoppers, 373 sawmill employes, 440 bartenders, 324 undertakers, 177 stationary engineers, 1,947 stock raisers, 409 electricians, 84 civil engineers, 548 chemists, 21 stevedores and 5,582 barbers.

Can you imagine a man, married to a stevedore or a blacksmith, refusing to deal with his wife on the level in financial matters?

Will not the most miserly male person open his purse if he knows that his unsalaried cook is likely to put on her hat and go back, not to mother, but to an $18 or possibly $25-a-week job as a stenographer, and remain there until he decides to divide fairly?

By the way, I find in an old copy of Hill's Manual of Social and Business Forms (which treats every subject under the sun, from the language of flowers to inscriptions for tombstones) this fine paragraph on "The Husband's Duty," which I commend for consideration by any benedict who has never permitted the partner in his matrimonial firm to handle real money:

Having confided to the wife all your business affairs, determine with her what your income will be in the coming year. Afterward ascertain what your household expenses will necessarily be and then set aside a weekly sum, which should regularly and invariably be paid the wife at a stated time. Let this sum be even more than enough, so that the wife can pay all bills and have the satisfaction of accumulating a fund of her own, with which she can exercise a spirit of independence in the bestowal of charity, the purchase of a gift or any article she may desire. You may be sure that the wife will very seldom use the money unwisely if the husband gives her his entire confidence.

Liberty, of course, under such an arrangement is not absolutely complete.

"But if I had wanted to remain perfectly free," wrote Samantha Allen, "I shouldn't have give my heart and hand to Josiah. I didn't do it deliriously; I had my senses. Says I, 'You can't set down and stand up at the same time; each situation has its advantages, but you can't be in both places at once, and this tryin' to is what makes more or less trouble.' Men and women hadn't ought to want to be married and single at the same time; it is unreasonable."

What the Journalists Know.

Ambassador Page at the dinner of the Institute of Journalists in London: I wonder if men of other crafts who use us when they can—and criticize us when they cannot—(laughter)—I wonder if they give us credit for the one thing that we do know. There are many things we may not know, but I think we know men about as well as anybody else. As we watch the unfolding drama of the world day by day, we get rather a shrewd judgment of those who play the game fairly, and I think we seldom miss the right measure of all the humbugs.

Criticism of the Future.

Chicago Record-Herald: "A Strong Man's Faith" was produced at the Adelphi theater last evening. The cast was good but the play was too decent to deserve attention.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Listen now to the tale about the plain American citizen who talked right up to George Bernard Shaw and chased him out on a conversational limb.

The plain American was Samuel P. Orth, professor of political science at Cornell university, and the verbal bout took place in London at the close of a meeting of the Fabians, which is an association of the highbrow Socialists of England.

Orth dropped in for the purpose of getting acquainted with Shaw, out of curiosity, and introduced himself.

Not long before that Shaw had made a caustic attack on American patriotism in one of his articles and Orth in presenting himself jokingly said:

"I'm an American who loves my country."

"Ar-h-h!" growled Shaw savagely and in a loud voice, "What do you mean when you say you love your country! What has your country ever done except worship the golden calf with a nasal twang? Tell me what you have produced? If you produce a man of marked artistic or literary ability he must sink to mediocrity to make a living. If you produce a great sculptor or painter he must go to Europe to live and get the European hall mark on his work before it is marketable at home. You had Whistler, but he had to live in England because no one knew enough to buy his work in America. You only know the value of money as it adds to luxury and not to refinement. Your criterion of worth is bigness instead of quality! Why, your very independence was won by getting another nation to help you fight. Then you go about blatantly boasting about your love of your country and waving the stars and stripes in everybody's face. Why don't you do something first and boast afterward?

* * *

For a moment Orth was almost taken off his feet. What made it all the worse was that some of what Shaw had said was true. And then Shaw's face is enough to scare a stranger half to death. He has long red eyebrows that he puts up in papers at night, a fiery red pointed beard, and a glittering, colorless eye—the sum of which makes him look like the Old Harry himself.

As soon as he had caught his breath, Orth, replied quietly:

"No; America has never produced anything. We have never produced a nation that sells opium to China to despoil a civilization older than our own; we do not sanctimoniously rob India that we may live even more sanctimoniously in the West end of London; neither do we send ships to South Africa carrying equal cargoes of missionaries and rum. We do not close up at half past twelve o'clock and on Sunday in order to provide a cloak of darkness for our vices. We are not a nation that ceases oppression only when compelled to. Remember that you never treated any colony decently until America showed you how. And worst of all, we are not a people that have ever produced a G. Bernard Shaw!"

It was just what Shaw needed, for he likes best those who rebuke and browbeat him.

"Come on," said he to Orth, in a subdued tone, "let's sit down and have a chat."

When Louis Ludlow, a well-known Washington correspondent, was working as a young reporter in Indianapolis some years ago, he was assigned to do the "death watch" on a prominent citizen who was expected to die at almost any hour. The man's obituary had been prepared, and all that was lacking was a brief bulletin of the exact time of death. Arrangements had been made by the attending nurse to place a signal in an upstairs window of the home where it could be seen by the reporters across the street. For three nights, Louis Ludlow and the other reporters stood about waiting vainly for the signal which failed to appear, and it was a desperately tedious tiresome job. On the fourth night, Louis made up his mind to get some inside information about the case. If the man had rallied and was going to live until morning, he did not intend to waste all night looking for the death signal. So he slipped away from the others and went to the house. He insisted on seeing the grief-stricken wife of the dying man. They told him that would be impossible, but Louis explained that it was of the utmost importance, and finally she came in to see him.

"I'm very sorry to trouble you," stammered Louis, "but—er—uh—is there any hope of your husband dying tonight?"

Henry T. Rainey, member of congress from Illinois, lives on a big farm when he's at home, and often has trouble obtaining good help. Some time ago he employed a Swede who seemed to have little or no superstitions against work, but toiled from early morn to set of sun. Moreover, he seemed contented and happy, and Rainey was not a little pleased. But out of a clear sky one day came the man's resignation. He said that he desired to quit at once.

"And what's the matter?" was Rainey's natural inquiry.

"Well," said the man, "When I came here you promised me steady work the year around, but last night I didn't have a thing to do for three hours."

Slaves.

Men, whose boast it is that ye
Come of fathers brave and free,
If there breathe on earth a slave,
Are ye truly free and brave?
If ye do not feel the chain
When it works a brother's pain,
Are ye not base slaves indeed,
Slaves unworthy to be freed?

Is true freedom but to break
Fetters for our own dear sake,
And with leathern hearts forget
That we owe mankind a debt?
No; true freedom is to share
All the chains our brothers wear.
And, with heart and hand, to be
Earnest to make others free.

They are slaves who fear to speak
For the fallen and the weak;
They are slaves who will not choose
Hatred, scoffing, and abuse,
Rather than in silence shrink
From the truth they needs must think;
They are slaves who dare not be
In the right with two or three.

—James Russell Lowell.

Before the Era of High Prices.

Chicago Inter Ocean: We get this—and it makes us sad—from the "Forty Years Ago Today" column of the Kansas City Times: "Prairie chickens have gone up to $2 and quail to 75 cents a dozen, but you can get plenty of buffalo meat at 3 to 5 cents, antelope at 6 and 7 cents, and venison at 6 to 8 cents a pound, as well as wild ducks at $1 to $1.50 a dozen, and wild geese at 50 to 60 cents a dozen."

Northern Minnesota, Land of Opportunity

Chorus of Minnesota Boosters.

Region Is Covered With Such Ideal Places.

Aurora News: A few herds of well bred cattle and a creamery would develop the range farming territory rapidly and bring handsome profits to the promoters of the venture. South of Aurora is the ideal locality.

And in Its Infancy at That.

Aitkin Republican: Duluth has the record producing red poll cow of the nation and the Upper Peninsula of Michigan has the record-breaking Jersey. This north country is nature's own dairy section.

Federation Is the Word.

Bagley Herald: We do not believe a union of the three Minnesota leagues advisable at the present time. A federation of the three leagues, whereby each one could carry on its work independent of the other, and still act in harmony with each other in boosting and building up the great resources of the state, would probably answer the purpose a great deal better than a union.

Could Be Done Easily.

Deer River News: With iron ore enough in its possession to bring the state of Minnesota millions of dollars every year for the next century, all tax for schools should be abolished and the funds from the sale of state lands and timber could be used in the reclamation of the swamp lands. With this as a platform, some of the coming candidates could make the capitol ring's barrel rattle, too.

Koll Defines the Law.

Cass Lake Times: Digging of ditches and building of roads alone under the drainage law, in timber country do not properly drain the lands when the trees, stumps and roots are not removed. Why not include in "drainage" the removal of all obstructions to the proper drainage of the lands and have drainage that really drains? If incidentally the land is so much the better for the settler to begin work on—there is that much gained. Read the following taken from chapter 44, paragraph 2631 of the revised laws of Minnesota: "This chapter shall be liberally construed, so as to promote the public health, the construction and improvement of roads and the drainage and reclamation of wet or overflowed lands." Chapter 44 applies to the county, judicial and state ditches. Is not all we need, possibly, officials who are unafraid, and in sympathy with the real reclamation of lands? If I were on the county board, and had men of like sympathies with me, I should be pleased to try out the proposition of clearing out the debris sufficiently to get the lands really drained, provided a petition were presented in proper form. What's the language used for in the law if it is not intended to give latitude for such contingencies as are found in timbered areas and not in open country?

Boosts the County Agent.

Breckenridge Telegram: The year 1913 has been one of progress for Wilkin county. Farming, the principal industry, has made very satisfactory strides forward. Chief among the things which have made this possible has been the work of the county agent who is daily carrying the seeds of improved methods to progressive country gentlemen who are anxious to put into practice the methods approved by science or those which have resulted so well for their fellow farmer in the next township.

Make Haste Slowly

New York World: How much new legislation can a country digest in a given time?

This is a question that congress must ask itself before it undertakes to supplement the Sherman anti-trust law.

It was only three months ago that President Wilson signed the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill. It was only three weeks ago that he signed the new banking and currency bill. The tariff law is only partly in effect, and all the finance, commerce and industry of the country are struggling with the clauses which provide for the collection of an income tax at the source. The currency and banking law is not yet in effect, and the treasury department is engaged in working out the organization of the most complicated financial measure that congress has ever enacted. Why not wait until these measures are fully in operation before passing further laws that relate to business.

Senator Smith of Georgia, following the recent remarks of Vice President Marshall, expressed the opinion yesterday that there should be no radical anti-trust legislation this winter. "We have passed two great corrective measures," he said, "and I think the impetus of what has been done is going to result in a voluntary readjustment of business methods by business men themselves." Whether he is right or wrong, congress can afford to make haste slowly.

The Sherman anti-trust law is still on the statute books, and it reaches every criminal conspiracy or combination in restraint of trade. After twenty years of agitation for its enforcement, the country has reached a point at which it can actually be enforced both civilly and criminally. The business of the country has accepted the verdict of public opinion and is showing a disposition to comply with the statute. With the tariff and the currency laws fully in operation, it is by no means certain that further anti-trust legislation is necessary. The Sherman law itself is likely to prove wholly adequate if vigorously and impartially enforced.

There is nothing to lose by reasonable delay. There is nothing to gain by undue haste. Let us leave something to evolution and to the honest administration of existing laws. The country needs time to adjust itself to the legislation already enacted by the present congress, and many of the amendments proposed to the Sherman act spell another long period of litigation, with no definite promise of beneficial results.

Let it be remembered that if business depression follows careless trust legislation the discredit will fall in fact upon the tariff and currency laws, to the undoing of most of the good already accomplished.

The Eagle and the Rabbit.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: A Rabbit looked up and saw an Eagle wheeling about in the blue sky. "Oh!" exclaimed the Rabbit, "if only I could once gain the ethereal spaces and soar so near the sun—then I would die happy."

Then the Eagle swooped down and grabbed the Rabbit, bearing him through the pure air of heaven to his aerie. The Rabbit didn't care a bit for the ride.

A Credit to a Lively City.

One of the most interesting special editions that has lately come to hand is the New Year's edition of the Evansville, Ind., Courier. It is interesting as an exhibit of newspaper enterprise, being well printed, well written, well illustrated, well planned and admirably carried out; and it is interesting as an exhibit of the progress and possibilities of Evansville. Judging from the many superb drawings and half-tones of new factories, banks, hotels, churches, clubs, business houses and homes that were erected in 1913, Evansville must have struck its gait. The review of the year provided by this handsome special edition shows clearly that Evansville is rapidly becoming a metropolis of the lower Ohio valley. One of the most interesting features is formed by the pictures of the new government dam and locks now being built below Evansville at a cost of $2,500,000. The edition is not only a fine advertisement for Evansville, but it is a distinct triumph for the Courier, and shows it to be the leader in promoting the best interests of its home city.

The publisher of the Courier, Henry C. Murphy, is well known in Duluth, being the son of the late J. J. Murphy, a wealthy owner of much valuable Duluth real estate.

DRUGGED WIVES TO GIVE THEM BEAUTY

German Pleads Not Guilty When Arraigned for Murder.

Frankfort-on-Main, Jan. 13. — The plea of "not guilty" was entered by Carl Hopf, druggist and fencing master, when brought up for trial charged with killing his two children, his father and his first wife, by administering poison, and with attempting to commit similar crimes on his second and third wives and another person.

The accused admitted that he had given a poisonous drug to his three successive wives, ostensibly as a means of improving their looks. To his third wife he had also given fever germs, but she escaped death owing to the vigilance of her doctor.

The three women had been insured by the prisoner for $5,000, $7,500 and $20,000 respectively and each of them fell seriously ill within a year after her marriage.

Hopf gave explanations for the presence of the poison in the bodies of his victims. His wives, he said, had taken it as an ingredient in a beauty compound, and he had injected the drug into the bodies of his children in order to embalm them.

Among the germs found in possession of the prisoner were those of typhoid, cholera and tuberculosis.

COLD STORAGE BILL IN COLD STORAGE.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Cold storage plant magnates with press agents and lawyers are in Washington clamoring for an opportunity to prove to the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce that refrigerated storage of eatables has nothing to do with the high cost of living. They came to Washington confident they would be heard today, but the committee has put the bill, introduced by Representative Mackellar, on which hearings were to be held, into storage for at least a month.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

POET LAUREATES FOR THE STATES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I was glad to see in a recent editorial that you commended the suggestion that has been made that each state in the Union should appoint a poet laureate. I believe this to be a most excellent idea, because I think it would do much to create an interest in poetry throughout our country; and that it would help to build up a great American literature. Our sordid commercial age needs the purifying influence of poetry. Some may deny that the United States can produce forty-eight poets at one time; but I believe that our country can do that as easily as France, with less than half our population, can produce forty immortals at one time. But of course no one cares to vouch for their immortality.

I believe that the state laureates should be appointed by the president and faculty of each state university. It would not be amiss to grant the poets a small pension. It might be the means of bringing some geniuses out of their garrets, and it might prevent some Chattertons from blowing out their brains.

To The Herald's excellent suggestion for laureates of Minnesota and North Dakota, I should like to add the following: New Jersey, Henry Van Dyke; Indiana, James Whitcomb Riley; California, Edwin Markham. The least of these poets is greater than Alfred Austin. L. D. N.

NO HOPE FOR THE RICH.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Mr. Collins in his lecture, trying to support the right of private property, stated how Jesus told the young rich man to sell his property. This would only prove that Jesus did not believe in destroying property. In modern terms, He did not believe in sabotage or direct action. Mr. Collins did not tell that Jesus also told the young rich man to "Distribute among the poor"—Luke xviii:18-27. This probably meant to give all he had, not keeping back a part of it as Ananias and Sapphira did, who were punished with death because they did not "divide up" all they had. Not a word did Jesus utter, which gives a ray of hope that any rich man can ever get into the kingdom of God, on earth or in heaven. In the parable of dives and Lazarus, the rich man was probably a very good man, as it is stated that he permitted Lazarus to stay by his door. Today Lazarus is not often permitted to beg at the rich man's door. Moses and the prophets absolutely forbade rent, interest and profit and if the rich man and his five brethren had obeyed Moses and the prophets they never would have been rich and probably would not have gone to hell. How the commentators have pulled and twisted that camel to get him through the needle's eye without breaking his neck and how they have hammered on the eye of the needle to get the rich man through. Now they generally agree that the "needle's eye" meant the small gate in the city wall where an unloaded camel could be squeezed through in the night when the big gate was closed. Mr. Collins said: "There is no class struggle." Many of us hope to see the day when that statement will be true. Jesus, the carpenter, was the great leader of the lowly in the class struggle at that time, and the cross was often kept ready in the slaveowners' toolshed. Six thousand of Spartacus' followers died on the cross and it is stated that Jesus had to endure the sight of thousands of Galileans nailed to low crosses by the cruel, vicious Roman master class. We can see the class struggle all through history, even though the pages are often filled with "fictitious biographies of great exploiters" to hide the "materialistic conception" and prevent the student from seeing the "economic determination." The Herod and Caiphas crowd did not love the "outside agitation" any more than the copper kings do, only they were not haunted by congressional investigations. ONE OF THE LOWLY.

THE EARTH AND THE SUN.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Will you please answer this question through the columns of the Open Court: "At what time of the day is the sun nearest to the earth?" Why?" J. A. POWERS.

New Rockford, N. D., Jan. 9.

The distance between the earth and the sun does not vary with the hours of the day. There is a slight variation according to the time of the year, owing to the fact that the earth does not describe a perfect circle around the sun.—The Editor.

"THE WRECK OF THE JULIE PLANT."

To the Editor of The Herald:

Each day on the paper's editorial page appears a poem. Would you kindly have the verses of "The Wreck of the Julie Plant" published. It is very funny and appeared in the Detroit Free Press some seven or eight years ago. Yours respectfully,

GEORGE H. WILLIAMS.

Keewatin, Minn., Jan. 10.

This will be run as soon as the Editor finds time to copy it and space for it on the page.—The Editor.

WELL, WHY?

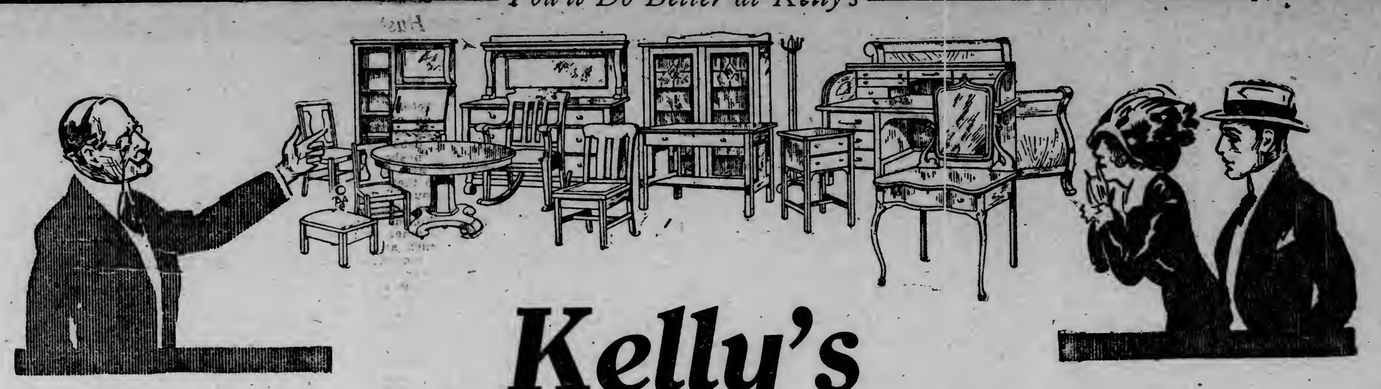

To the Editor of The Herald:

In view of the recent disclosures of lax conditions in Superior, something is puzzling me. The Duluth morning paper, as I understand it, claims to be also a Superior paper, with its affections equally distributed between the two cities; its loyalty toward each burning with equal fire; its deep interest in the welfare of the two cities, equally distributed.

Why, then, oh why, did the News Tribune scratch so hard to find something wrong with police conditions in Duluth, when it was silent on conditions in Superior? There is no question but that an honest effort has been made to enforce the law in Duluth. There is also no question but that no effort has been made to enforce it in Superior. Why then should the morning paper lavish all of its affection on the Duluth police department? Its disinterested (?) desire to improve the local force for its own good seems hard to understand when it showed no such desire regarding the Superior force, which apparently was in so much greater need of the guiding hand of such a kind and fatherly journal of the uplift. Is Superior the poor, neglected, deserted child of the News Tribune's Twins? FAIR PLAY.

The Latin Americas

(By Savoyard.)

Washington, Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—I suppose what is known as the "Monroe Doctrine," that was invented by George Canning, the pupil and a successor of the younger Pitt as prime minister of England, and served at the time to drag out of the fire some very hot and scorching British chestnuts—I suppose that the Monroe Doctrine yet survives. The difficulty about it, nearly a century after its promulgation, is that people disagree as to the correct interpretation of it.

For nearly a century we construed it to mean pelf, that the richest land under the sun is Latin America, and that its only mission on the map is to be exploited through rascally "concessions" granted to European and American capital. That is what is the matter with Mexico this moment, and that made a thousand revolutions in the Latin Americas in the nineteenth century.

Well, Woodrow Wilson is not only a great statesman, but as a political philosopher he ranks with the greatest of the guild since Moses, the prophet of God, handed down the law to the children of Israel. Mr. Wilson has a theory as to Latin America. He announced it at Mobile, in one of the greatest orations that ever fell from the lips of political orator.

And here is what it is—let us try Justice a while and see how that works—that is to say, we have tried Mammon for a hundred years and it has botched the job. As long as Mammon is set to it he will continue to make a mess of it and so let us bring in Justice, in whose presence Avarice cannot exist. That is the Woodrow Wilson interpretation of what the Monroe Doctrine ought to be.

Look you—if our republic should be at war with some foreign power—the Caucasian of Europe or the Mongolian of Asia—and we should get a good licking, a shout of joy would go up from every people between the Rio Grande and Cape Horn. What a commentary is that on our guardianship of our lesser republics in this hemisphere! Woodrow Wilson proposes a change. His idea is that we shall also be a guardian for nurture, an office we have never assumed.

Why not try it? Why not dignify the Latin Americans with our respect—why not strengthen them with our love? He may be a schoolmaster, but Wilson knows his job, and the evangel of political good will is going to supplant the vice of financial exploitation down south if Mr. Wilson has his way, and you bet he will while he is boss.

That Brazil is the country more prodigally endowed by nature than any other I have no doubt. That some day Brazil will be the leading nation of the world may be confidently predicted. Look at the immeasurable family of fishes in her Amazon, more than all the species of the finny tribe in all the other fresh waters of the world besides. In the Amazon valley a naturalist saw some scores of different tribes of the oak tree that were never heard of in any other geographical division of the earth's surface.

Now, Brazil is less explored than any division of Africa or other of South America. There are hundreds of different kinds of delicious fruits in Brazil that have not yet been laid under tribute to supply the luxury of London and Paris, Berlin and New York.

And Peru, a country equally marvelous, though not so great in extent, will some day be a mighty nation and a garden spot of our world. And there are other countries down there that only need development to contribute incalculably to the comfort and the happiness of mankind.

For nearly a century we have been the elder brother of all these peoples and all of them hate us with a cordiality that makes to chuckle the old eternal cloven-hoofed devil himself. Our treatment of those countries recalls the declaration of that old miscreant of Europe centuries ago—Albert of Hapsburg, who possibly was the uncle of the more famous Rudolph of that house, and who inscribed on his banner, "I am the friend of God and the enemy of man."

Now, this old miscreant was assured in his own blood-thirsty selfishness that his preachment was acceptable to the chancellory of heaven. He was a hero, as heroism went in those days. He was a scourge, and possibly the Europe of his day needed him and could not get along very well without him. It is a curious chapter, the history of Europe from the mediaeval period till today. Then there were but two classes, peer and peasant. Now from these two we have the middle class, and they are the salt of the earth.

And so let every American accept the teachings of Woodrow Wilson and resolve to give all Latin America some Justice. Perhaps the guardianship must continue, but let it be beneficent, benevolent, brotherly, Christian, not the infernal and infamous "yaller" stuff which teaches that man's only mission in life is to get rich, honestly if possible, knavishly if it must be.

GLYNN REFUSES TO HELP LOAN SHARK.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 13.—Governor Glynn has refused finally to pardon D. H. Tolman, the convicted New York money lender.

District Attorney Whitman refused to say that he favored an absolute pardon for Tolman, and this was the chief cause for the failure to obtain the prisoner's release. The governor requires the indorsement of the trial judge and the prosecutor in every case where he exercises clemency.

The governor, in a statement, said the amount of indebtedness which would be cancelled by the notes Tolman promised to destroy if released, and the number of people who would be benefited, would be based on guess work. Tolman's offer of a bond as a guarantee of his sincerity was worthless, added the governor.

TURKISH EXHIBIT FOR FRISCO'S FAIR.

Constantinople, Jan. 13.—Calvin B. Brown of Chicago and Col. Walter H. Andrews and Thomas Reese of Washington, D. C., the commissioners appointed by President Wilson to invite the Mediterranean and Balkan states to participate in the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco, who recently succeeded in enlisting Greek support, have now secured Ottoman co-operation for the fair. The commissioners will proceed from Constantinople to Bucharest, Belgrade and Sofia to induce the Roumanian, Servian and Bulgarian governments to send exhibits to San Francisco.

WARM WAVE ON ITS WAY

Weather Man Says Cold Spell Has Drifted Off East.

Curlers Will Have to Hurry or Play on Soft Ice.

It is up to the curlers who are in Duluth for the big bonspiel to get busy for a warm wave is on its way toward Duluth. Temperatures which may reach the thawing point are predicted for tomorrow.

H. W. Richardson of the local weather bureau, said today that the cold wave which struck Duluth Sunday had gone eastward and was now in the St. Lawrence valley and in the New England states. The temperature at Buffalo, New York, was 8 below zero this morning.

In Duluth the temperature was about 2 below zero at 7 o'clock, and has been rising steadily during the day. Much warmer weather is expected tonight and tomorrow. Warmer weather prevails all over the Northwest. No storms or snow flurries are predicted.

ICE IN THE LAKE ARRIVES EARLY

Superior Begins to Freeze at Unusually Early Date.

The first ice of the season on Lake Superior has made its appearance with the coming of the present cold wave. The ice is very early in appearing this year considering the mild weather, as even with zero weather it frequently does not form until February.

There was no ice on the lake up to Sunday night. Fringes of crisp ice began forming about the time the mercury got down to the zero point, and the circle has been extending farther and farther into the lake since that time.

H. W. Richardson, forecaster for the Duluth weather bureau, said today that there was a crust of ice extending for a mile to a mile and a half into the lake, and that fields of ice could be seen floating on the surface of the water for about three weeks.

Fishing crews will probably continue their excursions for some time yet as they make their landings in the harbors along the north shore.

TIDAL WAVE SWEEPS COUNTRY DEVASTATED BY VOLCANIC ACTION

into the thousands. Government authorities declare that any official estimate of the extent of the disaster will be impossible for several days.

The population of the city of Kagoshima, which is almost completely buried in volcanic ashes and stones, was 60,000 at the last census. The population of the adjoining island of Sakura, the center of the disturbance, is given as 15,000. On this island hundreds are reported to have perished beneath the streams of molten lava from the volcano of Sakura-Jima. Many more were undoubtedly drowned while attempting to escape.

Doctors and hospital attendants have been sent to the scene, but it is difficult to reach the spot, as railroad communication is impeded by the heaps of ashes, and the tracks have been dislocated by the earthquakes.

Dust Flies Ninety Miles.

The violence of the eruption of Sakura-Jima is so great that showers of dust are falling here today, although the distance between Nagasaki and the island of Sakura is about ninety miles.

A refugee who arrived here today from Kagoshima gave the following account of the disaster:

"The eruption started suddenly, with columns of thick black smoke and flame from the crator of Sakura-Jima. Hundreds of the inhabitants of the small island in the Gulf of Kagoshima, where Sakura-Jima is situated, rushed to the beach and leaped on board junks and steamers which carried them across three miles of water to Kagoshima, ashes, stones and particles of whitehot lava falling all the while on the decks.

Heat Was Intense.

"At Kagoshima the heat was intense. The constantly increasing hail of glowing cinders made it impossible for the citizens to remain.

"The horror was increased by the shaking caused by incessant shocks of earthquake which rocked the houses all day. More than 350 earthquake shocks were recorded before nightfall.

"The people fled in disordered droves along the highways leading west and north of the city. They had abandoned everything in their flight, and soon they were suffering also from lack of food and drink.

Mountain of Fire.

"When I left Kagoshima the volcano resembled an enormous set piece of fireworks, glowing from the foot of the mountain to the summit. During the night the glowing lava illuminated the entire district. The volcano constantly emitted thunderous explosions."

The burning rock and ashes set fire to several villages. At Moji, on the Kiushiu railway, one hundred persons were killed. Several villages along the foot of the volcano were buried in streams of lava yesterday.

More About Ambrim Disaster.

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 13.—Further details of the devastation and loss of life caused on the island of Ambrim, in the New Hebrides, by volcanic upheavals on Dec. 4 and following days when cable reports told of the death of 500 people, the transformation of the coast and the throwing up of a new island from the neighboring sea, were brought here yesterday by the Canadian-Australian liner Makura.

The entire western part of the island was devastated. On Dec. 6 six new craters were observed in active eruption and on the following day Mt. Minnie collapsed. Inhabitants of the danger zone fled for refuge in boats which they had hardly reached when two new craters burst beneath their late holdings, overwhelming the countryside with lava on its way to the seas. Villages on the southern coast were also abandoned.

No loss of life was reported among the white population and the fleeing people are said to have taken refuge at Port Sandwich.

The steamer France succeeded in saving 500 natives. Most of these were old men, women and children left behind by young, able-bodied men who at the first sign of danger took flight in canoes.

meeting also considered the situation in that section of the troubled zone.

Real Winter on Hand.

Those who dared think yesterday that the delayed winter had not arrived to stay were convinced of their error today. The two days' blizzard ceased during the night, but there was no doubt of the low temperature, and when the sun broke through the clouds it did not carry enough heat to melt even one flake of snow in the entire Upper peninsula.

There were, consequently, an increased number of appeals for relief from union committees and charity. Thus far such cases have been attended to but the chief difficulty of the striking miners has been to supply their families with adequate winter clothing. Men with eight or more children to care for are numerous, and the $9 a week allowed by the Federation cannot supply their every want.

Soldiers All Gone.

For the first time since the beginning of the copper miners' strike last July, state troops did not patrol the strike zone today, the last company of militia having left the district. Several of the guardsmen announced before leaving that they intend to return to take service with the mining companies as mounted policemen.

Because of the cold weather which has prevailed in this district for the last two days, and because of fresh eviction suits and a further break in the ranks of the union men, strike leaders were somewhat disheartened today. Union stores throughout the district were crowded again today and numerous requests were made for increased fuel and food supplies. Calls on charity workers continued to increase.

Burden For the Federation.

Dan Sullivan, president of the district council of the federation, said the closing in of winter was something for which he and his associates were anything but anxious.

"This means that we must keep on getting busy," he said as he watched the clouds of snow driven by a 25-mile gale off Lake Superior. "We have feared all along that many men would feel like quitting the struggle for recognition if we got an old fashioned touch of snow and ice. Thus far the elements have been good to us, but this storm is an added burden on our shoulders."

Eviction suits were heard yesterday that had been filed by the Copper Range Consolidated company against seven families at Tri-Mountain and an equal number at Baltic. These mine locations are south of Houghton. As in all other court cases, the men allowed the plaintiff to take judgment and Herman Wieder, circuit court commissioner, fixed the appeal bonds at twice the yearly rental, the bonds ranging from $96 to $150 each. These fourteen cases cleared the court docket of this class of action.

Deny Break With A. F. of L.

Rumors of a break impending between the Western Federation of Miners and the American Federation of Labor have been given considerable publicity, but were at once denied. James A. Short and James A. Rosch, personal representatives of Samuel Gompers, said that the national labor body would continue its support of the strike, at least until after the coming meeting of the executive council in Washington. The rumors arose from the fact that there had been criticism from union sources of the Socialistic aspects of the strike campaign.

est weather for the year was recorded here this morning, the official thermometer registering 28 deg. below zero. Much lower temperatures were reported in outlying sections. This is the coldest recorded since 1905.

Thirty-One Below.

Thirty-Four Below.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 13.—A breath from the Arctic, which followed the St. Lawrence storm of yesterday, brought to New England today the lowest temperature in three years. St. Albans, Vt., with a reading of 34 below zero, heads the minus list.

The cold wave was harder to withstand than usual owing to the northwest gale which blew at a mile a minute on Cape Cod and nearly forty miles an hour in other parts of New England. The maximum wind velocity was seventy-two miles an hour on Cape Cod.

Detroit Gets Chill.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 13.—Michigan experienced this morning the coldest weather of the year. Locally the thermometer registered 5 degs. above zero when it reached its lowest point.

Columbus Far From Warm.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 13.—Although yesterday's high winds abated early last evening, the thermometer reached its lowest point for two years early today when 7 degs. above zero was registered.

HUERTA GOVERNMENT WILL DEFAULT ON THE HALF YEAR'S INTEREST

and occupy the adjacent towns of Gomez Palacio and Lerdo.

It is understood Gen. Villa may await here the clearing of the Torreon district and himself start southward only when he is ready to attack Zacatecas, that rich mining city on the main line of the National railroad south of Torreon.

The railroad behind the advancing rebel army will be repaired that supplies may be sent from Juarez to the scene of operations.

Carranza in Sonora.

Navajoa, Sonora, Mex., Jan. 13.—Gen. Venustiano Carranza made his first public speech here yesterday when he assured the Mayo Indians of this district that there would be consideration for them in the distribution of lands included in the Constitutionalist program. The lands were taken from the Indians during the Porfirio Diaz regime.

The general's special train probably will make only one more stop on the way south before proceeding to Culiacan. This point will be San Blas, Sinaloa.

Put Refugees in Fort.

Prosidio, Tex., Jan. 13.—Six generals of the Mexican Federal army, 3,000 fugitive soldiers and 1,500 refugees who were driven out of Ojinaga, Mexico, by Gen. Villa's forces, are in readiness for a four-day march afoot over the sixty-seven mile journey to Marfa, Tex. The soldiers will be interned at Fort Bliss indefinitely.

At Marfa, the nearest railroad station, the Federal army which sought asylum in the United States after their defeat by the rebels, will be guarded by the border patrol pending their final disposition by the war department. Among the civilians are 1,207 women, as officially counted by Maj. McNamee. They have also 1,000 Federal army horses and mules.

Maj. McNamee sent cavalrymen along the road to select and provision camps at the points where the procession will stop.

was said that she carried a number of passengers and a crew of twenty.

In Terrific Storm.

Montreal, Jan. 13.—Wireless advices received here said that rescuing steamers were unable to reach the Cobequid at Briar Island on account of the terrific storm which was lashing the Bay of Fundy.

Seventy-five in Crew.

New York, Jan. 13.—At the office of the Royal Mail Steam Packet company here it was said that the Cobequid had a passenger capacity of ninety, including fifty first cabin and forty second cabin. The total number of the crew is about seventy-five.

Schooners In Distress.

Chatham, Mass., Jan. 13.—When dawn broke today after the coldest and most boisterous night in many years, two schooners were anchored under the lee of Cape Cod with distress signals set. A fifty-mile off-shore gale was sweeping the coast and the mercury was below the zero mark.

A longboat was blown from Nantucket Sound into the bay west of Nonomoy Point early today, but could not be reached because of the thin and treacherous ice that formed about the shore. No sign of life was seen on board.

Coal Barge Adrift.

Nantucket, Mass., Jan. 13.—A Lehigh Valley coal barge broke adrift from the tug Irvington and drifted on the dangerous bar off Great Point early today.

The Coskata life saving crew launched their surf boat after repeated efforts and started for the stranded craft, but made very slow progress against the fifty-mile gale at zero temperature.

Calls For Assistance.

Wood's Hole, Mass., Jan. 13.—The rough seas prevented the Martha's Vineyard and Nantucket steamboats making their trips and railroad service was abandoned because steam could not be made. The wind blew at a mile a minute during the early morning.

Many calls for assistance have been received here from vessels in distress and forwarded by wireless to the revenue cutter Acushnet.

The bishop finally disclosed the identity of the royal visitor and the queen entered, bearing her umbrella in triumph.

Detroit, June 21, 1913.—"About a year ago my two-months-old baby was troubled with what they call milk-crusts. The lower part of her body was a mass of sores. "For one month I tried everything, but without relief, until I sent for a sample of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. Upon the first application I noticed a change, and after four days my baby was entirely cured. I cannot praise your remedies too highly, and recommend them to all my friends." I Will Stake This Medicine Against Your Time

A Few Days Will Be Sufficient to Prove Its Value In Your Disease.

A few minutes of your time for a few days and I will demonstrate to you, without expense to yourself, that I have a medicine that drives Uric Acid poison from the system and by so doing conquers kidney trouble, bladder trouble and rheumatism. I don't ask you to take my word for it, but simply want you to let me send you some of this medicine so that you can use it personally.

I am trying to convince sufferers from these diseases that I have something far better than the usual run of remedies, treatments and such things, and the only way I can demonstrate that fact is to go to the expense of compounding the medicine and sending it out free of charge. This I am glad to do for any sufferer who will take the time to write me. Understand, I will not send you a valueless "sample, proof or test treatment," nor will I send you a package of medicine and say that you can use some of it and pay for the rest, but I will send you a supply free of charge and you will not be asked to pay for this gift nor will you be under any obligations.

All I want to know is that you have a disease for which my medicine is intended, as it is not a "cure-all," and I give herewith some of the leading symptoms of kidney, bladder and rheumatic troubles. If you notice one or more of these symptoms you need this medicine, and I will be glad to send you some of it if you will write me the numbers of the symptoms you have, give your age, and your name and address. My address is Dr. T. Frank Lynott, 6300 Deagan building, Chicago, Ill. You promise me nothing; you pay me nothing for it. All I ask, so there shall be no mistake, is that you send me the numbers of your symptoms or a description in your own words and that you take the medicine according to the directions I send you. It is my way of getting publicity for my medicine so that it will become widely known.

You will agree when you have used it that it dissolves and drives out uric acid poison. It tones the kidneys so that they work in harmony with the bladder. It strengthens the bladder so that frequent desire to urinate and other urinary disorders are banished. It stops rheumatic aches and pains. It dissolves uric acid crystals so that back and muscles no longer ache and crooked joints yield to its action. It reconstructs the blood and nerves so that you soon feel healthier and stronger, sleep better and eat better and have energy throughout the day. It does all this and yet contains nothing injurious and is absolutely vouched for according to law.

Sufferers from these dreadful and dangerous diseases can surely afford to spend a few minutes each day for a few days to demonstrate to their own satisfaction if they are curable, especially when you consider no expense is involved, and I willingly give you my time and my medicine. All any fair-minded afflicted person wants to know is if a certain thing will relieve HIM or HER, and here is an opportunity to find out without cost, obligation or important loss of time. THESE FEW DAYS may be the turning point in your life.

All who are interested enough to write me for the free medicine will also receive a copy of my large illustrated medical book which describes these diseases thoroughly. It is the largest book of the kind ever written for free distribution, and a new edition is just being printed. I will also write you a letter of instructions and medical advice that should be of great help to you; but in order to do this I must know that you need my medicine. Write me the numbers of the symptoms that trouble you, and your age, and I will promptly carry out my promises. Show an inclination to get well and write me, and I will gladly send you a supply free.

DR. T. FRANK LYNOTT

NEW MINES TO PRODUCE ORE

Four Companies Order Plants on Cuyuna Range Properties.

Miners Now at Work and Big Spring Output Is Expected.

According to present indications, a number of additional Cuyuna range properties will enter the producing stage during the present year. Permanent plants have been already ordered or their purchase authorized by four companies and they will likely be ready to raise ore when the shipping season opens in the spring.

In the meantime drilling is being prosecuted through the winter months at several points on the range, and it is taken as assured that other locations will be ready for development in the sinking of shafts early in the season.

Will Strip Property.

Arrangements are being made by the Cuyuna Iron & Manganese company to strip its property adjoining the Pennington mine. Two drills have been in operation on the location since last May, and thirty-seven holes have been put down, the deepest one being bottomed in ore at a depth of 460 feet. Assays taken at the various holes have given encouraging results, showing values running up to 67 per cent iron. A strong lense of manganese runs through the property from which assays giving up to 31.70 per cent have been obtained.

At the annual meeting of the Duluth-Brainerd Iron company, held yesterday, the directors were authorized to order a permanent equipment at once. It was reported by the president, E. J. W. Donahue, that the shaft at the mine is now down to a depth of seventy-five feet, the ledge having been struck at fifty-seven feet. It is estimated that it will take another sixty days to sink the shaft to the depth proposed and that after installing the permanent equipment and drifting about seventy feet to the ore body, the mine will be ready to begin ore shipments by June 1.

Railway Being Extended.

By the terms of its contract the branch of the Cuyuna Northern railway, now under construction, should reach the property by June 1.

The election resulted in the re-election of the following board of directors: E. J. W. Donahue, Duluth, Minn., Otto J. Wendlandt, Duluth, Minn.; W. H. Denny, Duluth, Minn.; E. C. Bane, Brainerd, Minn.; Chas. J. Hector, Duluth, Minn.; W. C. Lynch, Duluth, Minn., and E. A. Lamb, Deerwood, Minn.

The Cuyuna-Mille Lacs Iron company is continuing underground development work, and is estimated to now have over 6,000 tons of ore on its stockpile. It is planned to reach an output of 200,000 tons during the present year. The timber shaft at the mine has been completed to the 126-foot level, and an additional pump with a capacity of 2,000 gallons is being installed. It is thought it will be amply able to take care of the water situation.

Winter Season Active.

The Cuyuna-Duluth Iron company is employing a large crew in mining at its 200-foot level, and the sinking of the shaft an additional 100 feet has been completed. It is expected that the station will have been opened on the second level within thirty days, when hoisting from the lower depth will begin. The drift into the new lense, opened a few weeks ago, is now in over eighty feet, and has disclosed ore averaging about 64 per cent. An output of 200,000 tons of ore is expected to be attained during the coming season.

N. D. Postoffice Robbery.

Belfield, N. D., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Gaining entrance through windows to the postoffice, the Bishop-Wiebke Mercantile company's store and the Model Clothing company's store, burglars secured $25 in the postoffice, but no cash in the other two places. The officials suspect three transients.

WALSH MINE IN ORE BODY

North American Expected to Ship During the Coming Season.

Annual Meetings of Three Walsh Companies Are Held.

Annual meetings of the Walsh companies, so-called, operating on the Vermilion iron range, were held today at their offices in the Sellwood building, and announcement was made that the iron ore body has been encountered in the main drift of the North American mine, at Walsh, near Tower Junction, and that stockpiling will begin at once. It was also stated that an important find of ore has been made seven feet below the surface. President T. J. Walsh, in his report, said: "We expect to make a substantial shipment this coming season. Had it not been for the year's delay in sinking the shaft, owing to quicksand, results would have come one year sooner."

With the exception of ten days last summer, when the miners struck for higher wages, work at the North American has continued night and day and Sunday during the past year. The main drift is at the 400-foot level, is more than 1,000 feet in length and wide enough for a double track. During the past two years President Walsh has made several valuable gifts to the company. One of these is the townsite of Walsh, valued at $100,000, the complete electric outfit and $75,000 of royalties due him, which he could have collected. Today he presented the stockholders with an additional $37,500 of royalties, being the amount due him under the 50-year mining lease held from him by the company up to July 1 of this year. A large brick building has been erected at the mine, the upper part of which is used as sleeping quarters for the men and the lower part for a dining room and machine shop. The triple compartment shaft is one of the largest on the range. It is completely equipped, a spur of the Iron Range road runs to the shaft, and nothing now remains to make the North American a shipping mine except to mine and lift the ore.

Consolidated Property.

In his report upon the Consolidated Vermilion & Extension company, whose holdings consist of 400 acres, President Walsh says that each tract has been diamond drilled and a very large and continuous ore formation shown up. In the triple compartment shaft of the Consolidated, which is 440 feet deep, three levels have been opened up above the 340-foot level and the company is about to open up ore in one more level and porsibly two. From 800,000 to 1,000,000 tons of ore per annum can be hoisted from this shaft. About 1,200 feet of drifting has been done and big bodies of high grade ore have been uncovered. Work is being pushed with three eight-hour shifts, working day and night. An average of fifty men is employed at the Consolidated. Stockpiling of ore will be resumed as soon as the ore is reached in a new level being mined, when about fifty feet more of drifting has been done.

At the east end of the Consolidated property a test shaft is down aoout fifty feet and a drift has been run for 100 feet. The test shaft makes a fine showing of ore. As to the plant of the Consolidated, President Walsh says: "It is capable of lifting 1,000,000 tons of ore per annum. This plant has no superior on the range. We have pumps which will handle 2,500 gallons of water per minute, although the mine at this time is making only 200 gallons per minute. Several hundreds of stockholders have visited the mine during the year and all can verify the statements made in this report."

Mr. Walsh confidently expects to have a railroad to the property in time to make shipments the coming season. The Duluth & Iron Range road is within three miles of the property. Mr. Walsh says he was employed at the Soudan mine, then the only one on the range, prior to the building of the Iron Range road at a cost of $1,900,000, and that the Soudan did not then have as much work done or as much ore in sight as there is now at the Consolidated.

Minnesota Company.

In his report to the stockholders of the Minnesota Steel & Iron company, President Walsh says that there are two rich iron-bearing veins on the company's property. A shaft is down ninety feet and has encountered a rich ore-bearing formation. Included is a fire-clay which contains high values in gold and a little silver. Some of this material has run as high as $100 a ton. Many analyses have been made, the average in gold values being $40. Mr. Walsh advises a small plant to extract the gold and to make this plant pay for a larger one. Fire brick made from the material carrying the gold values have been tested in the Zenith furnace up to 2,800 deg. Fahrenheit. The cost of a small gold plant is estimated at $5,000, much of the necessary machinery being already on hand. Many of the stockholders have expressed themselves in favor of installing the plant.

Mr. Walsh has served his companies for four years without pay. None of the officers of any of the Walsh companies draw salary.

The DOCTOR'S HELPS

By DONALD McCASKEY, M. D.
Member of Staff, General Hospital, Lancaster, Pa.; Fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine

THIS CHURCH APPLIES "CLEANLINESS IS NEXT TO GODLINESS"

In the Episcopal parish of St. James' church of Lancaster, Pa., the rector has organized a men's club. It is called the St. James' Church Men's club. And its activities cover more than mere sociability and good-natured pleasantries. The men of the congregation meet every two weeks to sharpen their cudgels of war and go forth into the work of their community with renewed inspiration. Recently they were confronted with an insidious and more complex problem. Among the scholars of the big Sunday school measles and mumps had appeared. Investigation on the part of the rector revealed the fact that children of the school, compelled to dwell in utterly unhygienic conditions at home, were infected and had brought the diseases into the Sunday school, resulting in a mild epidemic.

It was then that the St. James' men's club undertook the tremendous task of investigating the hygienic conditions of the city by a house-to-house personal canvass. Districts or sections were mapped out all over the city of Lancaster. Special investigators were delegated to each, and in order that the investigation might be made upon the most thorough and exhaustive basis, there was placed in each member's hands a schedule of definite facts which were to be ascertained and tabulated. No hearsay evidence was accepted. Each St. James' club investigator must see conditions with his own eyes before tabulating his results.

The exterior of every house, its sewer and vault, the condition of the vault; its cesspool, if any; whether city water or well water, and the position; whether the house was damp or not, likewise the cellar; the condition of the roof, cleanliness of the rooms, number of occupants, number and position of windows, etc. All such data was closely checked up, together with the name of the owner of the property.

In innumerable instances defective sewage was discovered, sickening conditions of vaults, water draining right into the cellars of some houses, unwholesome dampness, dangerous contaminated wells, overcrowded occupancy of rooms, leaking roofs, etc., were personally investigated by the members of the Episcopal church club.

Every observant point was systematically recorded, and at some future time it is the purpose of the rector of this church, Rev. Clifford G. Twombly (in his Yale college days a football team quarterback), will preach to his congregation upon the teaching, "CLEANLINESS IS NEXT TO GODLINESS," and he will have the data to back up his assertions.

More churches ought to do this kind of work, and it is this type of Christian work that can be made invaluble in the effort of health improvement.

ABOUT APHASIA.

"R. M. B." says: "About one year ago I was stricken with aphasia and could not speak or write at all. I have improved since then, but still find it hard to speak or write. My voice is so soft in its tone now that my friends hear me with difficulty. I have lost 15 pounds in weight."

Your case needs the continuous study of your physician. Aphasia means the loss of power to express your thoughts, although you clearly understand what it is you wish to say. The mechanism by which the power to convey your thoughts—that is, to give them vocal or written expression—has been disarranged. Don't feel discouraged because your friends have difficulty in hearing your efforts to speak. You must go ahead courageously and patiently, and re-educate to a considerable extent the delicate mechanism of your speaking and writing apparatus. To a certain degree you must learn all over again to speak just as a child must learn to walk. Don't feel oversensitive about it. Go ahead and keep practicing. You will soon get there all right.

Bill Exempts Assistant Postmasters From the Civil Service.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Exemption of all assistant postmasters from the civil service and an appropriation of $200,000 for experiments in government ownership of railway mail cars were two proposals that attracted much attention when the annual postal appropriation bill was submitted to the house late yesterday.

The bill carries $305,247,757. Last year, before the parcel post system was inaugurated, the total was $283,444,171.

A minority report by Representatives Madden of Illinois and Steenerson of Minnesota, Republicans, attacked the proposal to take 2,400 assistant postmasters out of the civil service as a "vicious" movement for political purposes.

The much talked of plan for government ownership of telegraph and telephone lines was not touched upon in the appropriation bill. If it comes before congress at all this session, it will be in the form of a separate measure.

Breathe Freely! Clears Stuffed-Up, Inflamed Nose and Head and Stops Catarrhal Discharge. Cures Dull Headache.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning! the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

BIG OUTPUT OF MANGANESE

Federal Report Shows Heavy Increase for the Last Year.

Great Number of Uses for the Metal Is Pointed Out.

Operators of properties on the Cuyuna range carrying manganese ore, are much interested in the bulletin just issued by E. C. Harder of the United States geological survey. It points out that the output of manganese alloys, fero-manganese and spiegeleisen from American mines last year was 227,939 long tons against 178,815 tons in the preceding twelve months, showing healthy activity in that branch of the mining industry.

Metal Very Useful.

The bulletin refers to the increasing use of manganese and its importance as an alloy. "Manganese steels are hard but not brittle," it says, "and are malleable though they offer great resistance in cutting tools. These properties make manganese steels highly useful in the cutting of such articles as gears, pinions, sprockets, sprocket chains, railway frogs and switches and the faces and digging parts of pulverizing and crushing machinery used in mining, etc. For the making of some of these articles, manganese is practically the only alloy available.

Manganese Bronze.

"Manganese bronze is used by producing alloyed manganese with aluminum, zinc and copper. Oxides of manganese are used in glass manufactures, in dry batteries as a drier of varnishes and paints, and in the making of disinfectants. As a coloring material, it is used for coloring glass, pottery, tiles, and bricks in calico printing and dyeing and in paint manufacture."

WORKMAN RECEIVES $590 FOR LOSS OF ONE EYE.

John Dahl, laborer, will receive $590 from the Erickson & Long Construction company for the loss of his left eye Dec. 2 in an accident received while working at Camp No. 1 of the company near Eveleth. The settlement, made in accordance with the terms of the workingmen's compensation act, was approved yesterday in district court. Dahl resides in Virginia.

RESERVATION STATUS WILL BE DETERMINED.

Ryder, N. D., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Out of a trivial civil act will grow a suit that will ultimately be the basis for determining the status of the lands in the Fort Berthold reservation as a county.

B. A. Dickinson, defending an action for recovery on a note, made the contention that summons served upon him by a Ward county official, and issued in Ward county, was not effective against him, inasmuch as he is a resident of the reservation district.

SENATE ASKS FOR WIRE SERVICE DATA.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Results of Postmaster General Burleson's special investigation into government ownership of telephone and telegraph lines will be transmitted soon to congress under a resolution drawn by Senator Norris, Republican, and passed by the senate.

WHAT must prove to be a matter of much gratification to the members of the Duluth Curling club, is the statement of practically every visiting curler that the home of the local club is the finest curling club in the United States or Canada—though some of the members of the Canadian contingent hold out for the Granite club house of Winnipeg.

In the days that are passed, the visitors to our midst commended the spirit of the Duluth curlers, lavished sweet scented praise upon the efforts of entertainment, and then qualified the praise, or stuck the fly in the ointment by method of stating that it was a bloomin' shame that we did not have a better place to curl in.

This season—the first that one of the great Northwestern Curling spiels has been held in the new house—the fly is missing and the visitors to our midst are pleased immensely with the place to curl and continue to be overjoyed and at times somewhat awed at the enthusiastic and cordial entertainment of the members of the Duluth club.

This is as it should be. For years the officials of the club have worked for the new club house—and, come to think of it, perhaps some of the share of credit for the magnificent new home, must be attributed to the visitors; you see, they were always telling the home members how dreadfully in need of a new club house Duluth was. Well it is here at last, and in matter of accommodation the present spiel will go down in the history of the spiels held on this side of the international boundary line.

The Lucious Banquet.

VISITING curlers are reminded once more of the banquet of Wednesday evening at the Commercial club. This is one of the great social events of the week; one of the events that has assisted materially in maintaining the espirit de corps of the bonspiel, one might say. The more the decidedly more merrier—therefore come.

Some special features are provided for the entertainment of the visiting curlers this year; therefore make it a special occasion and join in the merriment.

The Big Advantage.

UNDER the crowded conditions of the old rink it was one long sleepless week with the rinks that remained very long in the bonspiel. Some of the curlers used to go on the ice at 1 and 2 o'clock in the morning toward the end of the week. Under the present conditions of play there will be nothing like this.

With so many sheets at the disposal of the club the draws will not be rushed as they were in the days of old, and the indications are that the spiel, with more rinks than were here two years ago, will be finished in moderate manner and easy fashion by the end of the week.

This is one of the hundred and one advantages of the new house. There are others, but we cannot think of them at the present time.

Dave Is Persistent.

EDDIE McGOORTY, the American, has defeated Dave Smith, the Australian middleweight, twice. On the first occasion Dave took the count in less than a minute. In the second battle Dave lasted a minute and 30 seconds.

It is said that Dave is hankering for another meeting. It is barely possible that Dave wants to prove to his friends that he can last out the round.

James Has the Class.

SO say the experts. What? That James Clabby has the class. But are the experts always, or even frequently right? Not always, to be sure; but in the case of Clabby we have the multitudinous voice of the mob, and somehow or other the mob is generally right.

Clabby is one of the greatest of the present crop. That is not saying a great deal, 'tis true; but then to be the champion of most anything, even Proctor, you have to show a little something.

Mike Gibbons is one of the greatest boxers in the ring—and Mike has never been accused of exactly yearning for any of the game of the Clabby person. The same goes for Prince Edward McGoorty—and McGoorty is somewhat heavier than the Hammond lad, who can easily scale around the 150 pound mark.

Packey McFarland feels decidedly uncomfortable when the name of the slender and wonderful middleweight is mentioned—for Clabby generously offered to make a very low poundage for Packey.

They are all of 'em, all of 'em, Bill, more or less perturbed when the subject of a contest with Clabby is mentioned. He has the class, and class is decidedly lacking among the majority of the boxers of today.

Bad for the Beefers.

SANDY McNAUGHTON, a whisky salesman and strong man, was put out of a San Francisco hotel by a wee bell boy. So it would seem that even the white hopes of the gay white way are getting theirs these days.

* * *

Carr and Ketonen.

JOE CARR of Minneapolis has been offered a finish contest here with Waino Ketonen, the wonderful little Finn. The only stipulation is that the Minneapolis wrestler will be obliged to weigh in at the ring at 158 pounds.

Ketonen declares that he is willing to meet any middleweight of the world—he will bar none. The Finn declares that they all look alike to him. He is most anxious to show the vast following of his countrymen just what he can do, and will take on Carr, if the Mill City conqueror of Miller will make the middleweight poundage. That is all Ketonen asks.

They do say he is a real wrestler.

WHIPS BOB M'ALLISTER

Mike Gibbons Defeats California White Hope in Seven Rounds.

Gives Away Pounds, Inches and Reach—Beating Is Decisive.

New York, Jan. 13.—Mike Gibbons of St. Paul knocked out Bob McAllister of San Francisco in the seventh round of their ten-round match here last night. The decisive blow, right hook to the jaw, came at the end of one minute and thirty-eight seconds of fighting in the round.

Gibbons weighed in at 152 pounds and McAllister at 160. The Californian also had the advantage in height and reach.

McAllister outpointed his opponent in the first four rounds, although Gibbons occasionally sent over a hard left hook.

Gibbons repeatedly hooked McAllister on the jaw with lefts in the sixth and McAllister showed signs of tiring. In the final round Gibbons caught the Californian with a right cross to the jaw, staggering his man. He followed up his advantage with a bombardment of lefts and rights and ended the contest with a hard right hook to the point of the jaw.

NORTHERNS DEFEAT THE BAGLEY TEAM.

In a fast and well played hockey game the Northern Hardware team last evening easily defeated the Bagleys by the score of 8 to 3. Despite the cold weather a large crowd witnessed the contest which was played at the French rink in the West end.

Ulberg of the Northerns scored the first net in two minutes. Fitger of the Bagleys came back the next minute and tied the score. Stark of the Bagleys scored in four minutes and Heffering of the Northerns counted at the end of eight minutes. Weler of the Bagleys also scored within a few seconds, this ending the scoring for the first half.

In the second half the playing of De Moe of the Northerns proved the sensation of the contest. This player scored four goals in one, two, three and sixteen minutes.

CHIP WINS FIGHT; GETS GOOD OFFER.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 13.—George Chip decisively defeated Gus Christie last night in ten rounds, having the better of nearly every round. Christie was able to get a shade of one round and an even break in another. Chip was able to land at will nearly all through the battle.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 13.—A telegram offering George Chip, a middleweight, a match at Vernon, Cal., Jan. 31, or March 17, with the winner of next Saturday's Clabby-Petroskey contest, was dispatched to the Eastern fighter in Milwaukee.

End Rumors of Their Going Over to Federal League.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 3.—Second Baseman Groh of the Cincinnati National league has signed a contract to play with Cincinnati for the next three years. Groh exhibited three very liberal offers from different Federal league clubs but after a conference with President Herrmann of the local club, concluded to refuse them all.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 13.—Ezra Midkiff, the only reported "holdout" of the Baltimore International league club, has signed a contract with that club. It was reported that the Kansas City Federal club had made a tempting offer to Midkiff.

New York, Jan. 13.—The New York National league baseball club has received the signed contract of player Elmer Johnson, drafted from the Omaha club. Secretary Foster announced that all the young Giants had now signed contracts for next season.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—Z. Z. (Rip) Hagerman, pitcher, put an end to rumors that he had signed with the Federal baseball league by announcing he has signed his contract with the Portland club of the Pacific Coast league. Hagerman said he knew nothing of reports from Portland that he has been sold to the Cleveland American league club.

JURY CAN'T AGREE.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 13.—The jury in the case of Jess Willard, charged with violating the state law against prize fighting, reported last night that it had been unable to reach an agreement, so Judge Craig ordered the members locked up for the night.

Willard engaged in a contest with John (Bull) Young at Vernon arena, Aug. 22, 1913, and Young died a few hours afterwards. The point in question is whether the contestants intended to engage in prize fighting.

The jurors deliberated from 4:37 o'clock in the afternoon until 10 o'clock last night when they reported that they were hopelessly divided, 10 to 2, though whether in favor of conviction or acquittal, Judge Craig did not ask them to state.

SHUTS DOWN ON BOXING MATCHES.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 13.—Mayor Joseph G. Armstrong, who assumed office a week ago yesterday, issued an order last night that he will permit no boxing matches in this city until further notice. All bouts scheduled have been cancelled. City regulations governing boxing matches will be revived.

Duluth Quint Wins.

The Y. M. S. basket ball team defeated the Y. M. C. A. second team of Superior at the Y. M. S. hall last evening by the score of 30 to 28. The first half ended with the score 18 to 10, in favor of the Superior team. By aggressive work the Duluth boys overcome the lead and pulled the game out of the fire.

FRISTENSKY IS THE WINNER

Americus Beaten By the Foreign Star in Straight Falls.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—Gustav Fristensky, the Bohemian champion, last night made his American debut by winning two straight falls from the great Gus Schoenlin of Baltimore, better known to the wrestling world as Americus. The grappler, ranked as one of the greatest that the Old World has sent to America since the days of Mahmout and Zbyszko, took the first fall with a crotch and nelson and the second and deciding fall with an arm lock and body hold.

In the defeat of Americus the invader won from one of the greatest of the American wrestlers and in so doing stamped himself as one of the real contenders of the wrestling game.

Efforts are being made by a syndicate of sporting men to induce Gotch to meet Fristensky.

SCHILLER'S RINK STARTS OFF WITH A GREAT RUSH

Duluthians Take Three Games and Put McNabb Out of Running.

Early Play Serves to Indicate the Strong Contenders of the Spiel.

With but one day's play marked up in the big bonspiel some of the rinks have already given unmistakable indications of their prowess and have marked themselves as dangerous competitors. Play through the five draws of the first day of the spiel has given the sharps a distinct line on the rinks liable to get into the jewelry.

Rube Schiller's rink has so far surprised the Duluth following by the excellent showing it has made. The first surprise of the day came in the early draw, when Schiller's crowd took the crack Defiel rink down the line to defeat. To show that his rink is strong, Defiel took McLeod of Duluth into camp in convincing style in a later draw.

Capping the performance of the day was the sensational defeat of the crack Sandy McNabb rink of Grand Rapids by Schiller, the Duluth rink winning out by the scant margin of one point by lying a difficult head. Then Schiller took on Dinham and won his third game.

In point of achievement the showing of the Schiller rink stands out as the most notable of the first day of the spiel. In Defiel and McNabb the local skip met two of the cracks of the spiel, two of the rinks that have been sized as two of the strongest, and the result has caused elation among the Duluthians.

Stewart Is Strong.

After Phil Heimick's rink had given the crack McNabb crowd such a scare in the early draw of the Duluth Curling event, it fell down and was soundly beaten at the hands of Billy Stewart's rink of St. Paul in the St. Paul Jobbers' event. Only four heads were played, the visitors at that time having the locals down, 9 to 0.

Carson's Winnipeg rink has won both of its games, supplementing the close win over Alex MacRae in the Duluth event by coming through in the evening draw and defeating Robinson of Superior. The Winnipeggers came down with the reputation of having a strong rink, and upon the showing of the first day the original opinion as to the strength of the rink still holds.

It wouldn't seem quite like one of the real spiels if Reedal of Phillips were not here. In the curling sense Reedal has placed Phillips upon the map. Reedal always brings down a crack rink. In the opening day's play the Wisconsin skip indicated plainly that he will give the leaders a hard battle.

Reedal put Wade out of the Duluth event and then came back in the afternoon and put Gravatt out of the running of the St. Paul Jobbers' event.

Duluth followers of the spiel are pinning a large amount of hope upon the Brewer rink. With two of the crack curlers of the club, Charley Brewer and Elmer Whyte, in this combination, the success of the rink in the Duluth event, in winning two games in that draw, has only served to inspire greater confidence in it.

William Dinham has a strong combination, but was forced to bow in defeat to the Schiller aggregation.

Tom McDermott's kid rink of St.

Paul won two games during the day, but succumbed to defeat at the hands of the Michaud rink, which event proved one of the distinct surprises of the day.

Play Is Progressing.

One of the gratifying features of the opening day of the spiel is the manner in which the draws are progressing. Five draws completed upon the opening day of the spiel augurs well for the completion of play in good season.

Officials of the club are prepared to rush the play at every stage of the spiel, for there are available twenty sheets of ice, but so far it has not proved necessary to use all of the ice.

If the first day of the big spiel can be taken as an indication of what is going to obtain during the remainder of the week, then the present bonspiel will go down into curling history as one of the best conducted in the history of the association.

There has not been a miss or slip at any stage of the proceedings. Everything is running as if by clock work. It would seem that every detail has been anticipated and prepared for. Visiting curlers are lavish in their commendation of the method of running the spiel and the cordial courtesy extended to them.

SWEEPINGS

Recently there was an individual jail delivery in Winnipeg. John Kraftchenko, who was accused of murder, broke jail, and posses are now trying to get him. The secret of his whereabouts is out, however. Yesterday T. J. Lowe of Winnipeg admitted that Kra—see second sentence for name—is a member of his rink.

* * *

Henry Cameron of St. Paul defeated S. H. Jones, president of the Duluth Curling club, in the first round of the Duluth club event yesterday. As soon as the game was over, Mr. Cameron shook hands with Mr. Jones and thanked him for losing the game.

"I consider that the height of nospitality, Steve," said Mr. Cameron; "when you let us win just to make us feel good at the beginning of the 'spell."

Mr. Jones did not perceive that he was being "kidded" at first.

"No, Henry," said he, protestingly; "don't get that idea into your head; we played just as hard as we could."

* * *

"Jimmy" Myron, of course, is on hand and is scattering burry talk and good stories all over the place, like a gatling gun.

LITTLE JOURNEYS TO THE HOMES OF GREAT CURLERS

(Dr. V. G. Williams)

It was with pained surprise that we observed the defeat in the opening event of the bonspiel of the rink skipped by Dr. V. G. Williams of Winnipeg. Dunlop of Duluth did the trick. Later in the day, however, Dr. Williams and his "colts" won handily in the St. Paul Jobbers' event, beating Nichols of Duluth.

We say pained surprise for in one of our "little journeys" we happened upon something of the life history of the solemn doctor. At that time, so attracted were we by the personality of the man that we garnered a picture of him in his babyhood days, which we take pleasure in reproducing herewith at small cost to illustrate our meaning when we speak of the calm complacency with which the doctor receives victory or defeat. It will be noticed in the accompanying picture that his infant features bear that beautiful "who cares" expression so characteristic of him, and which attitude he has borne through life. Of course his face has not retained, as years go on, that cherubic contour; in fact, the battle of life has deepened its lines and rather tended it toward the cadaverous.

It is said of him that shortly after the stage depicted in the accompanying picture, he showed a marked tendency toward hurling games by becoming passionately devoted to marbles, and also that he became very dexterous in long shots, thus unconsciously developing a sight and a sense of distance for the latter period of life when curling became his passion.

This is why—knowing these things so intimately—that we heard with a shock the news of his first defeat. Last year he won the St. Paul Jobbers' event with the same rink that accompanies him this year; and won his first game in that series this year.

ON THE HOG LINE

One with a burr in his tongue came to Steve Jones yesterday afternoon and asked him what right he had to be curling.

"Why?" asked our genial president.

"Have you got any Scotch in you?" inquired this inquisitive Scotch-Canadian.

"Sure I have," "Steve" came right back, "I just had two drinks with Tom McDermott."

Jimmie McCutcheon of Minneapolis, the oldest curler in captivity, claims he is about 70 years old. We learned last night that he is 77 exactly and that he began curling when 14 years old. Figure it out yourself.

* * *

And speaking of Jimmie Mac, some fellow curler said that in his opinion Jimmie put the curl in curling.

* * *

Colie Naughton, who is playing third for Bert Gravatt, was asked if he could make a draw shot.

"You can draw, can't you?" Bertie inquired.

"You bet," right back from Colie. "That's what I do for a living. You see, I am the cartoonist for The Herald, the great family journal."

(The editor of the Companion wants to announce that this is not an advertisement for either Naughton or The Herald.)

* * *

Tom or Tammas Lowe, the crack skip from the Union Terminal club at Winnipeg, said right out loud yesterday afternoon that the club here is the best in the world. And he has been all over seven states, too. He says you just can't beat nineteen rinks going at one time, and that's all there is to it. There.

* * *

And speaking of our Canadian friend, he told us yesterday that he lost to our local wonder, Forsyth, by one point, 15 to 14. "He just won by a peg," added Tammas. Winn-I-peg. See?

* * *

And right here we want to say that we are not going to spring a single joke about women being better curlers, because they have practice all the year around in their dressing rooms, while the men curl only in the winter. Honestogoodness, we won't even mention it all week. S'pus.

* * *

No, curling is not the most strenuous thing Bill Carson of Winnipeg ever did. We heard yesterday that he once dodged tomatoes at a church carnival. And this is the funny thing about it, too. One of the boys at the fair came to Bill and told him that he was dodging apples at one of the sideshows. "That's an awful hard job, you've got," interposed our fair Canadian Bill, "all I've got to do is dodge tomatoes." Of course, we won't vouch for this. We're not supposed to vouch for anything.

* * *

Where is Frank Cassidy, once of the Thistle club's famous Cassidy's Kids?

* * *

And also Ed Rochon of Winnipeg and Bob Dunbar of St. Paul. Not getting too old, are you fellows? We miss you, by hek, we do.

* * *

Robb of Eveleth, who plays third for Pratt, lost to Evered of West Duluth yesterday, and for his excuse said that the rocks of his rink were all so warm that they melted right through the ice and spoiled their playing. How did the hot air get to the stones, anyway, we would childishly inquire.

* * *

We note with pleasure that John and Walter O'Grady of Winnipeg are down with us. But where is their great old dad, Col. O'Grady?

Of course those customs Billie McNabb of Grand Rapids, Mich., and his tribe are wearing are real cute, but they have a perfect right to wear them, because they really can curl. Remember what a hit they were at St. Paul last year. We all thought that the boys were being spoiled by the excessive attention given them by the many many girls of the Saintly City, which by the way is a suburb of Minneapolis, yet, nevertheless, they managed to win a trophy or three out of the big spiel. You bet, they can wear anything they like or don't like. Anyway, watch them, girls, they ARE so handsome.

* * *

Harry Hurdon says he knows all about curling. We asked him what right he had to say that, and he came right back and said he visited Scotland about two years ago. Of course, that's different.

* * *

No Clarice, Billie Dinham is not over 25.

Frank Wade and his Kids played a thirteen head game yesterday afternoon and believe us it was some game. Too bad, Frank, that you had to lose, but keep at it. You may win a game yet. Wait until you meet McGilvray's rink.

* * *

* * *

And believe us, Johnny was some busy boy yesterday morning trying to complete his program of games. Also Jack McGregor, the handsome secretary of the club and without a couple of doubts the busiest man in the building, outside of the Clarion editor.

* * *

Tom McDermott of St. Paul, the best looking middle aged man at the bonspiel, and we don't care if C. A. Duncan and Charley Iltis read this or not, is here with a real young rink. We mean that the boys are all under 20.

LITTLE JOURNEYS TO THE HOMES OF GREAT CURLERS

(Tom Cameron)

In our visitations to the homes of great curlers we endeavor to ascertain the characteristics of those to whom our interest is drawn; hence our question in this case.

"What is the hobby of Tom Cameron?" we asked of a namesake, Henry Cameron, also from St. Paul.

"Curling," quoth H. C.

"Oh, yes; but in summer—what?"

"Talking curling," was the instant reply.

So you see that was about as deep as we could go. As a sort of sideline, he is president of a coal company, but curling and talking it is his main business. And believe us, he is some curler.

Only recently he was "kicking" violently because of the lack of cold weather. Somebody said:

"Oh, all you coal men are kicking. We consumers should worry."

"Coal," snorted Mr. Cameron, "What do I care about coal? I want to see the planed weather get busy making ice. I have to get my rink in shape for the Duluth 'spiel. Coal—fiddlesticks!" Those words, "Coal—fiddlesticks," are the key to the great character of the man.

Aside from curling as a hobby, he has another that is not generally known outside of curling circles. When at a bonspiel he often feels like bursting into song. This is bound to occur if he is in the vicinity of that veteran McCutcheon. Get the two of them together and they will soon begin to sing "We're the Twa Greatest Curler-r-rs in the World," and while they are singing it they really believe it.

Following our adopted policy of reproducing the first pictures of great curlers, we present in connection with this article one of Mr. Cameron as he appeared long since. Please observe the look of astonishment on his face. It was duplicated yesterday when he beat Harry Hurdon by only 8 to 7.

TOM CAMERON,
At the Age of 2 Years.

HARRY LEGG TRIES THE CURLING GAME.

Harry Legg of Minneapolis, champion amateur golf player of the state, is playing lead on Hunter's Minneapolis rink. This is the first year that the crack golf player has ever tried the other Scotch game, and he declares that curling is some game.

"I have only been curling for a few weeks, but I think it is some game," declared Legg yesterday. "If I keep on sweeping I am going to develop some muscles that will make me some driver."

Skating Race Dates.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—Dates for skating championship races were given out last night by A. I. Blanchard, president of the International Skating union of America. A series of races will be held at Detroit, Jan. 29 and 30; Cleveland, Jan. 21 and 22, and at Saranac, N. Y., Jan. 26, 28 and 29. The skater winning the largest number of points in the entire series will be declared amateur champion for 1914. Thirty points will be allowed for first place, 20 for second and 10 for third.

Signs Purchased Player.

New York, Jan. 13.—President Farrell of the New York Americans has received the signed contract of Harry Williams, the first baseman who was purchased from the Galveston, Texas, league club last August. The club has released Pitcher Paddy Martin to the New London club of the Eastern association. Martin was with Jersey City for a time last year.

Nutmeggers Have Sulks.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 13.—The Connecticut Automobile association, at its anual meeting here yesterday, withdrew its membership from the national organization, claiming the state was not given proper representation at the recent annual meeting of the national body, and also that the dues are out of all proportion to the benefits received.

DULUTH CURLERS HOLDING THEIR OWN IN BONSPIEL

Schiller and Brewer-White Combination Are Still Undefeated.

Bill Carson Going Strong—Spiel Will Close Saturday.

Rube Schiller of Duluth and the Brewer-White combination, two of the hopes of the Duluth curlers, remain undefeated to date in the bonspiel. In the events of today Schiller won from Lenont of Virginia and the Brewer-White combination won from the veteran McCutcheon of Minneapolis.

The stalwart Bill Carson has led his rink to consecutive victories, and with Schiller, Brewer-White, and Reedal remains one of the formidable contenders of the spiel.

McNabb's Rink Beaten.

TOM McDERMOTT

one of the strongest contenders in this event.

McNabb came here with the reputation of having a very strong rink and the playing of the Michigan men has fully sustained this reputation. Mr. Duncan and his rink members curled a great game and won the victory strictly on its merits.

Winnipeg Men Win.

The Williams rink of Winnipeg, rated as one of the contenders, got a good start in the St. Paul Jobbers' event today by the defeat of A. K. Smith of Superior. In this same event the veteran Tom Cameron was put out of the running by Reedal.

To the large gallery that watched the contest between Stephenson of Superior and Stewart of St. Paul, the victory of the rink across the bay proves as a mild sort of shock. Stewart has been showing exceptional strength and his sensational and overwhelming defeat of the strong Helmick rink caused the sharps to predict a lot of trouble from the St. Paul crowd. Therefore, the defeat at the hands of Stephenson came without warning from the past performances.

Duluth Rink Starts Well.

Richardson's rink was another of the Duluth rinks to start well in the games of today, defeating the Defiel crowd, and Defiel has been given credit for having one of the strong rinks of the bonspiel.

Of special interest to the curlers of the range is the announcement that the Ordway event will be curled tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. Under the conditions surrounding this event only Minnesota rinks are eligible for competition. According to the reports that have reached the officials of the spiel, there will be a number of rinks down from the ranges to compete in this event.

International Event.

The chief event of the week for many of the outside followers of the bonspiel, is the International. This event will be played at the same time that the Ordway trophy event is being pulled off. As yet the officials have not selected the rinks that will represent the United States in this event.

To date the spiel is nicely ahead of its schedule. If the American rinks win the International it is estimated that there will be 300 games played; in the event of the Canadian rinks winning, the number of games to be played will be cut down to 250.

On Monday the number of games played was run up to eighty-five, and according to the way the schedule is running today, the completion of the final draw will see ninety-five games out of the way.

CARSON OF WINNIPEG.

HALLOCK OF WINNIPEG.

There is no rink on hand like the famous Dunbar rink to tie up the spiel, as was the case three years ago, and there is no doubt but that Saturday will see the spiel down to the finals.

Spiel May Close Saturday.

So far it has been a generous case of give and take among the various rinks. About five rinks stand out upon the basis of their performances to date. Some of the supposedly strong combinations have been beaten by rinks that little has been thought of, and there have been enough surprises to date to keep the close followers of the play up in the air.

This is the kind of play that the officials of any spiel devoutly desire, and it is safe to say that interest in the outcome of the present one is going to be kept on edge right through the week.

SEES INJUSTICE IN PANAMA CANAL ZONE

Hammond May Demand Investigation of Natives' Treatment.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Indignant at the treatment of canal zone natives by the Panama canal commission, W. S. Hammond, just returned from theu isthmus, today indicated that he would ask for a congressional investigation of the acts of the commission's agents.

"The government of the United States, in most matters concerning the canal zone, has been very fair and liberal," said Mr. Hammond today, "but I found several instances where our officials have been harsh and cruel, particularly in connection with the removal of settlers from the zone; and if these cases are the rule instead of isolated instances, the matter should be investigated.

"Until recently there has been a commission composed of two Panamanians and two Americans to award damages for property confiscated in the canal zone in following out our policy of clearing it of settlers except in the larger settlements.

"Thanked the Government."

"But the two American members have not been in Panama for several months, one of them having resigned, and the legal department in the zone has resorted to the scheme of notifying the settlers that they will be given so much money for their land and thatched houses and must remove within a certain period.

"In one instance the settler was allowed $7. He bought a pistol with this, thanked the government for its generosity, and then killed himself. Other cases have been almost as bad, and if I find, after further investigation, that this harsh policy is general, I will ask congress to go into it deeply with a view to righting the wrongs that have been inflicted."

HEARS REPORT ON BOUNDARY WATERS

International Commission Opens Sessions in Washington.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Jan. 13.—The international joint commission, of which James A. Tawney is chairman of the American section, began a session here today at which several matters of interest to the Northwest will be brought up.

The commission today received a report of the progress being made by the engineers representing the United States and Canada in a survey of the Lake of the Woods and its vicinity, in connection with a dispute over the level of that lake. It is probable that the survey will not be completed until the end of next season, when the commission will render a decision. The report of sanitary experts on the pollution of boundary water also will be received. This report shows that there is serious pollution of all boundary waters, from the Lake of the Woods to the St. John's river in Maine.

BIG CATHEDRAL AT MONTREAL ON FIRE.

Montreal, Jan. 13.—Notre Dame cathedral, famous the world over, caught fire this afternoon from a blaze that originated in the business district. For a time it was thought that the fire was under control, but it was revived by a strong wind, and spread from a hardware store where it started to the other structures.

Seven firemen were injured in the hardware fire, which caused a loss of $200,000. A high wind and a temperature of 25 deg. below zero handicapped the firemen.

Superior

SCORES VICE COMMISSION

City Attorney Says His Opinion Has Not Been Asked.

Rev. Milford Asked If He Flirted With Girl in Tenderloin.

Methods of the Wisconsin legislative vice commission were criticized by City Attorney H. V. Gard when he was called to the stand to testify regarding vice in Superior this morning. The city attorney stated that the methods used would never result in any good coming from the investigation, stating that Chairman Teasdale was biased and had admitted as much before he commenced taking the testimony.

Opinion Not Asked.

The city attorney said that his opinion had never been asked regarding whether or not the segregated district could be operated openly and that he was being paid for rendering opinions when asked and not to be giving them off-hand when not asked for. He said the notoriety, which the investigation was giving Superior, was harmful to the city.

Chief of Police McKinnon, Detectives Morris Galvin and Willian Mead, Court Officer Darvin Scoon and City Clerk R. E. McKeague answered questions relative to the collections of fines and their disposal. Each admitted that they knew that such money was being collected, but that they understood that this money was being turned over to the city treasury. They stated that they knew that the district was being run openly, but did not know by what authority the fines were being collected.

Chief McKinnon said that it was his belief that each community could best settle the question of segregation; that the people of the entire city should vote on the question and allow the majority to rule as to the question whether or not such a place should be tolerated.

A slight tilt occurred when Detective Galvin was on the stand. Rev. Harry Milford requested to be allowed to ask the witness some questions relating to the district. Following this the detective requested the commissioners to allow him to question Mr. Milford regarding certain girls in the district.

Minister Questioned.

After Rev. Mr. Milford was sworn, Detective Galvin asked him if he knew a certain girl in one of the houses. The minister said he had met her while on the rounds with another man.

"Did you ever say to her 'I'd like to kiss those saucy lips of yours'?" asked Galvin.

"No, sir," said the pastor very emphatically.

"Well, that is what she told me," said the detective, and the incident closed.

This afternoon will be devoted to hearing testimony from women of Superior. At 4 o'clock Mayor Konkel will be called to the stand and it is expected that considerable testimony of an exciting nature will be brought out.

WOULD BE A VETOING GOVERNOR

Henry E. Roethe of Finnemore, Wis., today announced himself as Republican candidate for governor of Wisconsin. His platform is "economy and lower taxes."

In his platform statement he says that if elected he will veto every bill creating a new commission or new office and believes the state could get along nicely with about half the present number of laws.

HELLSTROM MAKES EMPHATIC DENIAL

Former North Dakota Warden Explains the Remington Case.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank O. Hellstrom, former warden of the state penitentiary, does not believe that his action in liberating Joseph E. Remington from the state penitentiary was irregular. He computed the good time for Remington's entire imprisonment and deducted it from the thirty-years sentence to which life imprisonment had been commuted. It has been contended that Remington was not entitled to any good time until after the date of commutation and on that basis Remington should not have been liberated prior to 1918.

Offers Two Purses.

The former warden in a statement announces that he will give $100 for the recapture of Remington any time the proper lawful papers are issued for his arrest by the authorities of this state and $500 any time the higher court in this state orders Remington back to the penitentiary to serve out the balance of his time as it is claimed should be done.

Mr. Hellstrom contends that when the board of pardons set aside the verdict of the court for life sentence and substituted a thirty-year term that the good time allowance would date back from the original date of sentence and that he violated no law or custom in giving Remington his freedom.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The board of county commissioners set Tuesday, Feb. 24, as the day for a hearing on the Hill City-Grand Rapids highway which it is petitioned to have established. Another petition for a highway was presented for a road running from the intersection of the Bovey-Taconite and Sucker Brook roads and running in a general northerly direction to Release. Hearing on this proposed road will also be held on the 24th.

A highway known as County Road No. 142, beginning at the Aitkin county line and running in a general northeasterly direction to Swan River was authorized and Chairman Nelson and County Auditor Spang were authorized to file an order establishing said road.

COLERAINE JUDGE HAULED ON CARPET

Facing Charge of Trying to Coerce Hibbing Man.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Justice of the Peace William J. Trescott must face charges of trying to coerce A. Rosen of Hibbing into coming before him and pleading guilty to violating the fur-bearing animal law and will have a hearing here before Justice of the Peace Charles Kearney, Jan. 17.

The Coleraine judge admits he acted in good faith when he wrote a letter to Rosen, advising him that Game Warden J. E. Cummings had sworn out a complaint charging him with having in his possession two muskrat skins during the closed season. In the letter Trescott advises Rosen to come to Coleraine and plead guilty in the justice court over which he, Trescott, presides, and further informed the complainant that unless he did so appear and plead, the costs would be considerable heavier because of this neglect or refusal. Trescott stated in the letter, now in possession of County Attorney McOnat, that if Rosen would admit his guilt a fine of $10 for each muskrat skin would be imposed.

Notifies County Attorney.

Instead of doing as directed Rosen came to Grand Rapids and presented charges against the justice, who, pleading that sickness in his family made it desirable for him to be at Coleraine at this time, had his case postponed until Jan. 17.

EVELETH BOYS' CLUB BANQUET

Large Attendance, Principal Speech Being By Duluth Man.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first banquet by the Presbyterian Boys' Study and Recreation club held in the clubrooms of the city auditorium last evening was a pronounced success, the addresses being of a high order and the attendance large. Alderman S. H. Owens spoke on "Our Future Citizens," giving one of the most helpful and practical addresses that the club has had. He prefaced his address by a few earnest words on ambition, urging the boys ever to strive for the best things in life and not let themselves be overcome by obstacles in the way. He then went on to define a good citizen and held up a high ideal of citizenship before them and showed how it was possible to attain unto it. It is just thirty-one years ago last night that Mr. Owens came to this part of Northern Minnesota and he recalled a number of interesting reminiscences of that time. Rev. Philip A. Scharwz then gave a brief outline of plans for the club in the future, mapping out the study course and telling of camping, hikes, picnics, etc., in the way of recreation.

He told of men of great wealth and of wide influence, like Heinz, Huyler, Rosenwald and others, who were at the same time Christian men active in church work and benevolent enterprises, showing that a consistent Christian manhood is not incompatible with business and professional success.

The following menu was served by Mrs. Kingston, assisted by Mrs. R. M. Cornwell and Miss McKenzie: Ham sandwiches, creamed olive sandwiches, chocolate cake, nut cake, Neapolitan ice cream, cocoa.

Cheap and Easily Made, But Ends a Cough Quickly

How to Make the Very Best Cough Remedy at Home. Fully Guaranteed.

This pint of cough syrup is easily made at home and saves you about $2.00 as compared with ordinary cough remedies. It relieves obstinate coughs—even whooping cough—quickly, and is splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, spasmodic croup and hoarseness.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours. Tastes good.

This takes right hold of a cough and gives almost instant relief. It stimulates the appetite, and is slightly laxative—both excellent features.

Pinex, as perhaps you know, is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and the other natural healing pine elements.

No other preparation will do the work of Pinex in this mixture, although strained honey can be used instead of the sugar syrup, if desired.

Thousands of housewives in the United States and Canada now use this Pinex and Sugar Syrup remedy. This plan has often been imitated, but the old successful combination has never been equaled. Its low cost and quick results have made it immensely popular.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

TRAVELING MAN IS FOUND DEAD

Frank McGinnis of St. Paul Expires in Aitkin Hotel.

Aitkin, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The remains of Frank G. McGinnis, traveling salesman for a St. Paul nursery company, who was found dead in his room at the Allen hotel Sunday morning, were shipped to the family home in Cherokee, Iowa, Monday afternoon.

When he failed to respond to two calls at his room Sunday morning the door was opened and he was found lying on the floor dead. There were no indications of a struggle and evidently death came during the night. An autopsy was held Monday and heart failure given as the cause.

RECIPIENT OF HIGH HONOR

Brother of Duluth Man Nominated for Governor of South Dakota.

Judge McCarter Chosen Unanimously By Democrats to Lead Ticket.

Judge James W. McCarter of Bowdle, S. D., who has just been nominated by the Democratic proposal committee as that party's candidate for governor, is a brother of W. C. McCarter, proprietor of the Duluth Business university. Judge McCarter, who stands well with his party in South Dakota, was the unanimous choice of the proposal committee, and judging from the press comments on his nomination, stands well with the people of the state as a whole.

Judge McCarter did not make any campaign. It was purely a case of the nomination seeking the man. He was urged to become a candidate, but refused to ask anybody on the proposal committee to vote for him, nor did he go near Pierre, the state capital, where the committee met. He remained at home in Bowdle and when he was nominated was notified by wire, and wired back his acceptance.

As soon as the lines are laid out after the March primaries, Judge McCarter will begin a vigorous campaign. Strangely enough the campaign will be, like that of Minnesota, on economy and efficiency. Judge McCarter has been attacking the inefficiency and extravagance of the Republican state administration under Governor Frank Byrne, and will make that his platform. As an indication of how he is esteemed at his home, the following is from the Ipswich Tribune, a Republican paper, printed in the same county that contains Judge McCarter's home:

"The Democrats, at Pierre assembled, nominated our friend from Bowdle, J. W. McCarter, for governor, thus doing honor not only to this gentleman but to Edmunds county. Mr. McCarter would make a good governor and the Tribune would join in the hurrah if he should be fortunate enough to land it."

INSPECTING THE NORMAL SCHOOL

Jacob Preus Viewing One of the State's Insurance Risks.

Jacob Preus, state insurance commissioner, is in the city today inspecting the Duluth normal school.

Last August Mr. Preus obtained the establishment of a state fire insurance fund and the state now carries the insurance on its own buildings, thereby saving a large sum each year in fire insurance premiums. Because of this, close inspection of the schools for fire prevention is considered necessary.

Mr. Preus, who has been urged to become a candidate for the Republican nomination for state auditor against Henry Hines of Mora, had nothing to say definitely on the matter today.

"I have not wholly made up my mind," said he to The Herald. "The matter has gone beyond the joke, in which light I at first viewed it; and I cannot yet say just what will happen. I will let the state know before long, however."

BROTHER AND SISTER LIVING IN AITKIN.

Aitkin, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alex Rogers, one of the poure Siding Saturday night, has a brother Samuel Rogers and a sister, Mrs. Thomas Sawyer, living here. Another brother, the late William Rogers, was killde in Duluth two years ago when he fell down an elevator shaft in that city.

State Benefits $733.85.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 13.—The state is $733.85 richer because Gilbert Lyngstad, who died at Moorhead several months ago, left no heirs to claim his property. The law provides in such cases that the estate shall escheat to the commonwealth, and today State Auditor Iverson received a check for the amount stated from O. Paulson, treasurer of Clay county.

Wisconsin Cheese Production.

Sheboygan, Wis., Jan. 13.—Although there was a falling off in the sales of cheese on the Wisconsin call boards of over 6,000,000 pounds from 1910 to 1912, the past year held up to the 1912 sales and over 13,000 pounds better, according to the Sheboygan County Dairy Reporter.

The production of cheese in Wisconsin during 1912 was about 10 per cent more than in 1912. Still it found a ready sale and moved right along in the channels of trade without filling the cold storage houses as full as usual.

WHAT TO DO FOR NEURALGIA

The one great symptom of neuralgia is pain; the one great cause is lack of nutrition for the nerves, in plain language—starved nerves.

There are two things to do for any form of neuralgia. Apply heat to the affected part to soothe the pain, and feed the nerves by taking a tonic containing the elements needed by them. Heat, as afforded by hot flannel, hot water bags, etc., lulls the inflamed nerves into temporary quiet. It does not cure. Not until the nutrition of the nerves is restored will the inflammation subside.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills furnish to the blood the needed elements and the blood conveys them to the nerves. The only way of getting food or medicine to the nerves is through the blood. Remember that.

Neuralgia is a general term. It means inflammation of a nerve. It is given different names according to the nerve affected. Sciatica is neuralgia of the sciatica nerve. Application of heat will soothe the pain in all forms of neuralgia and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will correct the condition that caused it.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., will send you a little book on "Home Treatment of Nervous Disorders" for the asking.

TRIAL POSTPONED.

Jury Excused in Haylund Insurance Lawsuit Because of Lawyer's Error.

Because of a technical defect in the service of legal papers, the trial of the lawsuit brought by Otto W. Haglund against the County Fire Insurance company of Philadelphia which was started yesterday morning will be postponed.

A jury had been drawn in the case and everything was in readiness to proceed with the trial when it was discovered that the complaint which had been served upon the insurance company by the attorney for the company was not identical in all respects with the original complaint in the case. The attorney for the defendant company asked for a postponement. Judge Dancer granted the motion and imposed a penalty of $25 on the plaintiff. The money must be paid to the defendant company before the case can be reinstated on the calendar. The case has been preset for trial at this term of court. The action is one in which Haglund is seeking $750 on an insurance policy covering 30,000 feet of timber destroyed by fire.

Commercial Club at Well Attended Meeting Plans Much Work.

Construction of White Way and New Theater Are Proposed.

Cloquet, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual meeting of the Cloquet Commercial club held last evening was marked by a large attendance. The annual report of the secretary showed the club to be on a good financial basis and that considerable work was done during the past year for the benefit of the city at large. Road building in this vicinity has been a feature of the work and the miles of road built and repaired through the influence of the club are self-evident.

The matter of constructing a White Way was discussed and plans formed. It is probable that within the next year 1,500 feet of the White Way with twenty-four standards will be installed in the West end business section.

The mayor states that a number of requests have come in for the flooding of various lots but he states that this cannot be done because of the city's shortage of funds. He adds that some of these would be in the nature of private rinks, which under any conditions could not be financed at public expense.

Electric Power Is Most Economical

ELECTRICITY is the most efficient form of power. You do not have the enormous expense of shafting and friction loads—in some instances over 60 per cent. And you pay only for the power actually used.

ELECTRIC POWER IS UNFAILING

If you depend on a private power plant, a disabled engine or boiler, a broken shaft or transmission may disable part or all of your plant for days. This cannot happen when you use Central Station power. For the man who uses power intermittently, machine shops, printing shops, etc., Electric Power is a necessity.

NOT MAJORS; ONLY MINORS

International League President So Characterizes Federals.

Federal Officials Report Good Progress—Still Signing Players.

New York, Jan. 13.—Edward Barrow, president of the International league, in a statement concerning the proposed invasion by the Federal league of three International league cities—Toronto, Baltimore and Buffalo—declared the new league's leaders were not fighting fair, and predicted that "their tactics will only bring them to grief."

"In the first place," Mr. Barrows continued, "they are trying to masquerade as a major league when they never can become one. They have about four major league players to a team, but that will not make them a major league. They have a minor league circuit. Toronto, Baltimore and Buffalo turn out good crowds, but they do not turn out major league crowds.

"The players who jumped to the Federals were disloyal to their employers.

"I will say that the International league will fight these fellows to a finish in any of our cities where they intend to place teams."

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 13.—James A. Gilmore, president of the Federal league, who is visiting the cities comprising the eastern district of the league's circuit, was the guest of Buffalo supporters of the league yesterday. A dinner was given in his honor, attended by men of high financial standing in the community.

President Gilmore outlined the work done up to the present time in the formation of the league in the various cities and stated its affairs were in a highly satisfactory state. The situation in Buffalo, he said, was especially encouraging.

"We shall have no trouble in getting all the players we want," said President Gilmore, when questioned as to the report the league was turning to Cuba in its hunt for men. Mr. Gilmore left last night for Pittsburg.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 13.—Charles Weeghman one of the owners of the Chicago Federal league baseball club and William Walker, his partner, were in Indianapolis yesterday consulting with E. E. Gates of counsel for the league. J. Edward Krauss, president of the Indianapolis team, also was present at the conference.

The promoters declared that only routine business was discussed at the meeting and that they were making a trip around the Federal league circuit to inquire into the work being done in the various cities to get ready for the coming season. Mr. Weeghman said he was entirely satisfied with the preparations made here.

Joe Tinker, manager of the Chicago club, who had expected to accompany Mr. Weeghman, was detained in Chicago by the illness of his wife.

New York, Jan. 13.—Notwithstanding Joe Tinker's intention not to play organized baseball this year, as evidenced by his signing a contract to manage the Chicago Federal league team Charles H. Ebbetts of the Brooklyn National league club announced yesterday that he would mail Tinker his Brooklyn club contract this week.

"In my opinion," said Ebbetts, "as far as our taking legal steps to keep Tinker from playing with the Federals is concerned, we would have to wait until he actually begins to play with the Federals before applying for an injunction. Until he does that, we will not know positively that he is not going to come into the Brooklyn fold.

"The National league is naturally going to protect itself against the invasion of the Federals, but what steps are to be taken, I am not prepared to disclose. The most foolish thing the National league could do now, would be to show its hand."

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 13.—Manager Otto Knabe of the local Federal league club, arrived here yesterday and departed within a few hours. While here, he reported to Director Edward Hanlon and President Harry Gilman, the results of the western trip.

When asked whether Knabe had said that Dolan and Walsh had been signed for the Baltimore club, Hanlon said he could not discuss the subject. He added reports from Chicago and Pittsburg to the effect these players had signed, were sent without the consent of the Baltimore club.

Hanlon would not discuss the reports that Foster of the Washington Americans and Beals Becker of the Philadelphia Nationals would sign with the local Federal club, except to say that both were good players and would look well in Baltimore uniforms.

It is planned to erect stands on the Federal grounds that will seat 14,000 persons.

Los Angeles, Jan. 13.—Ted Easterly, catcher of the Chicago White Sox, and Arthur Krueger, outfielder of the Los Angeles Coast league team, have signed contracts with the Kansas City Federal league club.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 13.—Mike Kelley, former manager of the Indianapolis American Association Baseball club will not be connected with any team in the Federal league, according to a statement he made here last night. Kelley has just returned from Chicago where he has been in conference with President Gilmore of the Federals. No agreement was reached, however.

Baseball Writers Change Scoring Rules for Coming Season.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 13.—All the changes proposed by the rules committee of the Baseball Writers' association were adopted by a vote of the members of the organization, except the one known as the "Cincinnati base hit." Opposition to this was particularly strong among the New York and Chicago writers.

WAR'S WASTE SHOWN BY CENSUS FIGURES IN BALKAN DISTRICT.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Jan. 13.—A striking illustration of the terrible waste in war is furnished by the census just taken of the new Bulgarian territories acquired by conquest. The male population of that portion of Macedonia alloted to Bulgaria was reduced during hostilities from 175,000 to 42,500. In Bulgaria Thrace only 225,000 males remain out of a total before the war of 494,000, while in the district of Mustapha Pasha, where fighting waged long and fiercely, only 4,000 males are left out of 33,000.

STOCK AT NOTION STORE FLOODED

Imperfect Water Pipes Cause Damage in Wholesale House.

Leaks in a water pipe above their warehouse caused a flood of water through the ceiling sometime during the night and damaged the stock of Tupper & Spiegel, 327 West Michigan street, to the extent of about $1,200.

When Dave Teplisky, city salesman for Tupper & Spiegel, wholesale dealers in notions, arrived at the store about 8 o'clock this morning he discovered the center of the building flooded with water, while there was a stream coming down from the ceiling on the shelves and tables. A few minutes later both Mr. Tupper and Mr. Spiegel arrived and they immediately notified the salvage corps of the fire department.

MARKET UP AT THE CLOSE

After Slight Early Weakness Wheat Finishes Strong on Good Buying.

Flaxseed Is Steady With Offerings and Demand Both Light.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 13.—Wheat firmed up at the close on good buying. May wheat closed a shade better and the July option unchanged. May durum closed ⅛c up.

Oats closed ⅞c up at 36¼@36¾c. Rye closed at 2½c up at 52½@55½c for the best grades. Barley closed unchanged at from 45c to 67c.

Puts on Minneapolis wheat closed at 88c and calls at 88⅝c.

At Winnipeg, January oats closed at 32⅝c and May at 36¾c.

Trading in the wheat market was dull and a weak tendency was shown up to the closing hour today. Lower Liverpool cables, and an increase of 8,381,000 bu shown in the world's visible supply, were bearish factors. This brought that total up to 212,464,000 bu as compared with 203,465,000 bu last year. The European visible supply gained 6,500,000 bu, and it now stands at 79,552,000 bu, as compared with 76,680,000 bu a year ago. The European crop summary for the week was also bearish in its tenor, telling of favorable progress being made by the growing plant in each of the countries.

Strengthening influences came in more unfavorable crop reports from Argentina and estimates that the exportable surplus from that country will not exceed from 73,000,000 bu to 76,000,000 bu. Late threshing returns are said to indicate a much smaller crop world in Australia, and it is estimated that the exportable surplus of wheat and flour from that quarter will not exceed 50,000,000 bu this year.

Receipts at Duluth continue light, inspections today coming to 78 cars as against 264 last year, while there were only 60 cars all grains on the track for the day. Winnipeg arrivals were 222 cars against 150 last year, and 168 cars were received at Minneapolis compared with 206 a year ago.

May wheat opened unchanged at 88⅝c and weakened ¼c during the first three hours. July wheat declined ⅛c to 89⅜c. May durum opened unchanged at 87¾c and declined ¼c.

Flax Holds Steady.

Trading in flaxseed came within a narrow spread with offerings and bidding both in modest proportions. Crushers picked up what supplies they could without advancing quotations and they showed an inclination to hold off for recessions. Buenos Ayres cables, however, came higher and that, with light supplies reported in farmers' hands in both the American and Canadian Northwest, served to hold the market steady. Quotations opened unchanged, and after easing off fractionally they firmed up, closing unchanged from yesterday.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.54¼ and closed at $1.54¾. The January option was neglected and it was closed up nominally at $1.50¼.

At Winnipeg January flax closed at $1.29¼ bid and May at $1.35⅝.

Aided greatly by the bumper flax crop of 1912, which totaled over 29,000,000 bu in this country alone, the American Linseed company had the best year in its history in 1913. A surplus of $496,181 was shown by the company as compared with a deficit of $478,800 in the preceding year. A feature of the year was the fact that while the company had the largest volume of business of any year since its formation, it was done at the smallest ratio of cost. Officials of the company express themselves as hopeful regarding the outlook for the present year. They think that general conditions have seen the low tide and that after a short period, the trade barometer will begin to rise again.

Baker received the following from his Chicago correspondent: "The news on wheat overnight is bearish. Cables are lower. The European visible increases 6,500,000 bu, and heavy world's shipments again this week are almost a certainty The favorable outlook for the growing crop is causing an easier feeling and spot demand is not so good.

"News from Argentina and Australia is as bullish as could be expected, as they have an exportable surplus now to sell."

Foreign crop summary: United Kingdom—Native wheat supplies moderate. The outlook is favorable.

France—The outlook is favorable except where damaged by vermin. Weather is seasonable.

Germany—The outlook is normal. The weather is cold but there is snow protection.

India—The crop is doing well but holders are firm and stocks moderate. The weather is generally dry.

Russia—The crop continues generally favorable. The weather is more seasonable with plenty of snow

Hungary—Very cold with moderate snow.

Italy—The outlook is generally favorable. The native wheat quality is poor and the buying of foreign wheat has been resumed.

North Africa—Good rains fell and rain is now general.

Broomhall cables from Liverpool: "Wheat—Steady. American cables and strong Buenos Ayres cables were offset by realizing and prices opened ¼d lower. The heavy increase in the European visible, heavy American clearances, rather large Plata offers and less demand for Manitoba parcels with generally favorable European crop advices, caused depression. Reduced estimates from Australia and continued unfavorable crop news from Argentina and firmness in Manitoba spot here, checked the dealers. At 1:30 p. m. prices were ¼ to ⅝d lower.

"Corn—Opened unchanged but later advanced ⅜d with shorts covering on cold weather, increasing feeding, good snot demand and firmer and fewer new Plata offers."

Parker Paine received the following from Chicago correspondent: "Have the following from Sydney, Australia: "We estimate exports from the Commonwealth this year at 50,000,000 bu of wheat and flour. Late threshing returns are indicating a much smaller yield than expected and estimates are reduced. Farmers are holding the crop owing to poorer yields than expected."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Are Depressed By European Reports.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—Generally favorable European crop advices and a heavy increase of the European visible supply had a depressing effect today on wheat prices here. At first however, offerings were light and the market showed some firmness, believed to be a reflection of the demand that has developed for hard winter wheat for export. The opening was ⅛c off to a shade up, with a moderate advance later, but then a decline all around.

Export sales at Kansas City and Omaha as well as here, brought about a subsequent rally. The close was firm, ⅛@¼c to ¼c above last night.

Conditions that prompted shelling gave the bear side an advantage in corn. Pit demand was noticeably meager. The market opened unchanged to ⅛@¼c lower, rallied a little and again fell back, this time below last night.

Weakness became more pronounced in consequence of reports that dealers southwest were heavily stocked. The close, however, was relatively firm at ¼c net decline.

Oats took the same course as other grain. Trade was small.

In provisions active commission buying lifted prices. There was no selling pressure. Fifty-two transactions ranged from 2½ to 7½c higher and a further rise followed.

"PIN MONEY"

was what a husband formerly gave his wife for spending money for herself.

The old English custom termed this "pin money" by a precedent which years had not the temerity to violate.

Now the equivalent of pin money is supplied by the spare room of the house, rented out to a desirable tenant through an inexpensive Herald For Rent Room ad.

If you have a spare room in your house, do not hesitate to rent it by simply phoning a For Rent Room ad to Phone 324, either line, and taking your choice of the applicants who respond.

TWO ARE SAID TO BE INDICTED FOR SENDING MOYER FROM HANCOCK

Rumors of Grand Jury's Work Current in Copper Country.

Some Western Federation Men Also Reported to Be Accused.

A. F. of L. Leaders Talk to Strikers—Tanner Criticizes Ferris.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Interest in the recent deportation from the strike zone of Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, was renewed here today when it was rumored that the special grand jury which has been investigating copper strike lawlessness had returned indictments against two men who are said to have assisted in forcing Moyer to leave Hancock.

The rumors were first heard yesterday, and today had gained general circulation. Reports also were in circulation that other true bills, several against members of the Western Federation, had been returned. However, none of the rumors could be confirmed.

A. F. of L. at Work.

Federation and union officials are urging the strikers of Calumet and Ahmeek to stand firm. James E. Roach and James A. Short of the American Federation of Labor and R. R. Mackenzie and Charles Tanner of the Western Federation of Miners, were the principal speakers at one meeting.

"The time will come when the copper mine owners, like other members of business organizations, will be glad to deal with organized labor," said Mr. Short. "The strikebreakers that the companies have brought in here have not been used to do the hard work required of miners. In fact, many of them are not used to work at all. It

AMERICAN WOMAN DEAD BESIDE JAP

Long Island Family Finds Tragedy When Seeking Cook.

Roslyn, L. I., Jan. 14.—When the Elmer Stevenson family started to learn why no breakfast awaited them this morning, they found Masuski, their Japanese cook, dead in his room with the body of a young American woman lying beside him. Both had been shot and a revolver lay on the floor. There was little to explain whether the two committed suicide or were murdered, or whether one of them shot the other and then killed himself or herself.

Nobody on the Stevenson estate recognized the woman. She came here yesterday afternoon from New York and was last seen going toward Masuski's quarters.

PROSECUTOR OF BEILISS KNIGHTED.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 14.—A great distinction was conferred today on M. Chaplinski, the public procurator of Kiev, who was prominently associated with the prosecution in the trial of Mendel Beiliss for "ritual murder." In the list of honors issued on the occasion of the Russian New Year, M. Chaplinski is created a knight of the Order of St. Stanislas of the First Class and appointed a senator and privy councillor.

MARTIAL LAW RULE SEVERE

Drastic Conditions Forced on Warring South African Factions.

Military Officers Given Absolute Power Following General Strike.

Cape Town, Jan. 14.—The proclamation of martial law throughout the Union of South Africa in response to the declaration of a general strike by the Federation of Trades, is regarded as making the issue a clear one between the state and the syndicalists, who have adopted a system of rapidly organized sympathetic strikes.

The origin of the strike—the railroad men's protest against the policy of retrenchment introduced by their employers—has been lost sight of in the great sympathetic labor war which has brought the trade and commerce of the colony to a standstill.

Drastic Regulations.

The drastic character of the regulations which came into effect with the proclamation of martial law created considerable surprise. From last evening the use of such epithets as "scab" and "blackleg" was prohibited under penalty of severe punishment, while any attempt to intimidate workers was forbidden.

Newspapers are debarred from publishing reports calculated to promote ill-will between the disputants.

The strike region is divided into nine areas, each controlled by an officer vested with as absolute power as in the time of war.

JAPANESE VOLCANO LESS ACTIVE---LOSSES UNKNOWN

Relief Ships Are Forced By Elements to Turn Back.

All Americans in District Safe—Famine in North Japan.

Tokio, Jan. 14.—Official reports this morning from Southern Japan where volcanic eruptions and earthquakes have caused heavy loss of life, panic and great property damages, are that the eruption of the volcano of Sakura-Jima, which has caused the most devastation, is abating.

Just how heavy has been the loss of life cannot yet be estimated. Sakura, where the greatest loss of life undoubtedly occurred, cannot be visited because the eruption of Sakura-Jima continues. So the story, in this respect, must wait. Troops and warships are now in the vicinity and a search of the island will be made at the first opportunity.

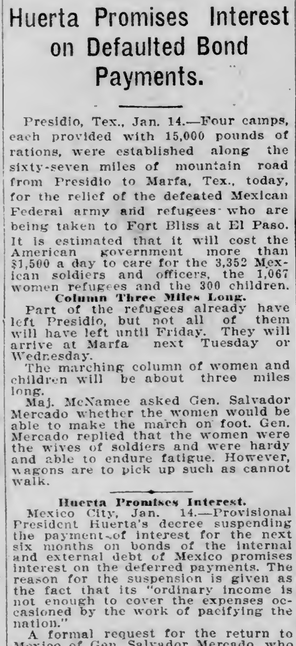

Few Dead In Kagoshima.

Kagoshima, the nearest big city to Sakura, while it suffered great damage from the earthquakes, does not appear to have sustained a severe loss of life. H. Ijuin, former Japanese minister to China, who lives in Kagoshima, sent a dispatch to the foreign office in which he said that ten persons have been killed and thirty injured there. He also stated that great confusion prevailed in the city.

Other telegrams report that the barracks, governor's residence and the temples were among the buildings wrecked in Kagoshima. The soldiers are camped in the squares of the city.

NEGRO WHO MAY BE THE HARVARD CLASS ORATOR

ALEXANDER L. JACKSON.

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 14.—Alexander L. Jackson will be the class orator at Harvard this year, when he will graduate with distinction, unless all signs fail. Jackson is a negro and comes from Englewood, N. J. He was born in 1891, the son of hard-working parents. He has sold newspapers, worked as a chauffeur, tended furnaces, waited on table and acted as a tutor. He worked his way through school and now he has worked his way through Harvard.

COSTS U. S. $1,500 A DAY

Aid to Mexican Refugees Will Amount to Considerable Sum.

Huerta Promises Interest on Defaulted Bond Payments.

Presidio, Tex., Jan. 14.—Four camps, each provided with 15,000 pounds of rations, were established along the sixty-seven miles of mountain road from Presidio to Marfa, Tex., today, for the relief of the defeated Mexican Federal army and refugees who are being taken to Fort Bliss at El Paso. It is estimated that it will cost the American government more than $1,500 a day to care for the 3,352 Mexican soldiers and officers, the 1,067 women refugees and the 300 children.

Column Three Miles Long.

Part of the refugees already have left Presidio, but not all of them will have left until Friday. They will arrive at Marfa next Tuesday or Wednesday.

The marching column of women and children will be about three miles long.

Maj. McNamee asked Gen. Salvador Mercado whether the women would be able to make the march on foot. Gen. Mercado replied that the women were the wives of soldiers and were hardy and able to endure fatigue. However, wagons are to pick up such as cannot walk.

Huerta Promises Interest.

Mexico City, Jan. 14.—Provisional President Huerta's decree suspending the payment of interest for the next six months on bonds of the internal and external debt of Mexico promises interest on the deferred payments. The reason for the suspension is given as the fact that its "ordinary income is not enough to cover the expenses occasioned by the work of pacifying the nation."

A formal request for the return to Mexico of Gen. Salvador Mercado, who commanded the Federal troops at Ojinaga, and his comrades who crossed into American territory, is to be made to the United States government by Gen. Aurelia Blanquet, Mexican minister of war, he announced today.

Cannot Do It.

Washington, Jan. 14.—To grant the request of Gen. Blanquet, Mexican minister of war, for the return to Mexico of Gen. Mercado and the Federal troops who crossed to Texas from Ojinaga, officials pointed out today, would violate the neutrality laws.

WALL FALLS; KILLS FIREMAN IN BOSTON

Boston, Jan. 14.—A fireman was killed today by a falling wall in a fire which destroyed a Roxbury department store, causing a loss of $150,000. With the temperature at 10 below zero, water instantly turned to ice and the firemen had to work in relays, stopping frequently to break the ice which encased their suits and helmets.

This was the most serious of nearly fifty fires which sent the firemen into the biting cold during the night. Many were caused by torches used to thaw water pipes.

WILSON TELLS WHAT TRUST LAWS HE WOULD LIKE TO SEE ENACTED

Meets Congressmen After Discussing Plans With His Cabinet.

Wants Immediate Action; Would Eliminate "Twilight Zone."

Favors Individual Responsibility for Financial "Joy Riding."

Washington, Jan. 14.—President Wilson conferred today with congressional leaders on trust legislation. He talked first with Chairman Newlands and Democrats of the senate interstate commerce committee, and later held a second conference with Chairman Clayton and Democrats of the house judiciary committee.

To the latter committee the president had given a preliminary outline of the ideas before congress recessed three weks ago. Today he discussed specific points in his program with both committees.

So far as possible, it is the intention of the administration to obtain from these committees bills upon which all their members are agreed, and it is the president's hope that he may be consulted and the bills launched with the stamp of administration approval, as was the case with the tariff and currency.

Make Measures Distinct.

An effort will be made to distinguish for the business world those measures which have the backing of the president and those which may represent the individual views of members of congress, though the president's friends in congress hope to reduce the number of personal bills to a minimum.

It was said today that the presi-

KING IS NO BETTER THAN FIELD LABORER

U. S. Court Says Mylius Cannot Be Barred From America.

New York, Jan. 14.—If it would not involve moral turpitude to publish in England a defamatory libel "against a field laborer in Devon or a street sweeper in London," it would not involve moral turpitude to publish the same libel "against the lord chancellor, or even the king," the United States court of appeals held yesterday.

The court expressed this view in deciding that Edward F. Mylius, the Belgian journalist whom the department of commerce ordered deported a year ago, cannot be barred from the United States on the charge of moral turpitude.

Mylius was convicted in the English courts of having criminally libeled King George V., by publishing that the king contracted a morganatic marriage with the daughter of Admiral Seymour in 1890.

GREECE AFRAID OF WAR WITH TURKEY

Wants Great Powers to Help to Avert Such Conflict.

Berne, Switzerland, Jan. 14.—The assistance of the great powers in the prevention of another war between Greece and Turkey is being sought by Premier Eleutheries Venizelos of Greece. The premier declares that his government considers such a calamity most probable since the advent as Turkish minister of war of Enver Bey. Greece fears the results of such a conflict, as Turkey is indisputably stronger on the sea since her purchase of the Brazilian dreadnaught Rio de Janeiro.

In the course of his conferences with European statesmen, Premier Venizelos is also endeavoring to secure a postponement of the evacuation by Greek troops of that portion of Epirus awarded to Albania, a rectification of the Albanian frontier and the permanent acquisition by Greece of most of the Aegean Islands.

NO CITY ON THE LAKES HAS PURE WATER

Report Is Made to Boundary Commission By Dr. McLaughlin.

Sewage Pollution Is Cause of Conditions, He Says.

Over 19,000 Samples Examined By the Bacteriologists.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Pollution of the waters of the Great Lakes and the rivers and streams on the Canadian boundary, along which live more than 6,000,000 people, was revealed today in a report to the international joint commission by Dr. Allan J. McLaughlin of the public health service. The report showed extensive pollution in the waters adjacent to many of the large cities and declared that owing to the present position of intakes, there is not a single city on the lakes which can be said to possess water that is safe without treatment.

The remedy, Dr. McLaughlin said, should be sought by the best sanitarians in the world. The commission under treaty has no power to remedy conditions, but it will suggest the employment of world-known sanitarians and authorities on public health, and after investigation by the experts, will recommend legislation to embody their

NEW YORK IS THE COLDEST IN THE LAST FIFTEEN YEARS

Seven Die of Cold in the Greater City—Other Points Chilled.

New York, Jan. 14.—From 5 below zero at 2 a. m., the lowest temperature recorded here in fifteen years, the mercury climbed slowly upward in New York and vicinity today, reaching 6 above an hour before noon. The backbone of the cold spell appeared to be broken. The death list in the greater city due to the cold was seven.

Cold weather records for the winter were broken at Albany today when 19 below zero was reported.

The temperature near Middletown touched 23 below. St. Albans, Vt., and North Adams, Mass., recorded 24 below. Northville, N. Y., reported 40 below at sunrise.

Railroad traffic was badly congested upstate.

Bitter in Pennsylvania.

Philadelphia, Jan. 14.—Bitterly cold weather for this section of the Middle Atlantic states continued today, but the indications are that it will grow warmer slowly. In Philadelphia the weather bureau thermometer at 7 a. m. registered zero. Mountain sections reported temperatures of 20 below.

Cleveland Near Zero.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 14.—Cleveland faced the coldest weather of the winter today when at 8 o'clock, the temperature was 2 above zero. Outlying districts report 5 deg. below zero.

"Warmer," Says Forecast.

Washington, Jan. 14.—The last of the bitter cold of the present snap is predicted for the East tonight but Thursday the mercury is expected to rise all along the line with fair skies everywhere except in the lake regions, where snows are probable.

Light frosts were felt again last night over Northern and Central Florida. General rains and snows have set in on the Pacific coast, but elsewhere the weather is pleasant and steadily growing warmer.

GRANTS DELAY OF SPENCER HANGING.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—Harry Spencer will not be hanged next Friday for the murder of Mrs. Mildred Allison-Rexroat, as Justice Carter of the supreme court of Illinois today granted a writ of supersedeas in the case. This means that the highest court in the state will review the case to decide whether Spencer is entitled to a new trial. His attorneys will allege that he is insane.

SAYS THE MOROS ARE PACIFIED

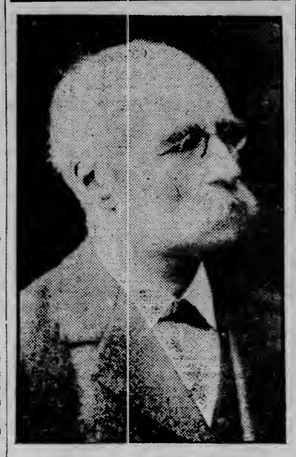

Gen. Pershing Thinks Religion Should Be Left Alone.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 14.—Pacification of the Moro tribes in the Philippines is permanent unless some one attempts to interfere with the Mohammedan religion and the observance of tribal ceremonies, according to Brig. Gen. J. Pershing, former military governor of Mindanao, just returned from Manila. Gen. Pershing was succeeded as governor by Frank W. Carpenter, appointed from civil life.

Dies at Age of 102.

Aurora, Ill., Jan. 14.—Mrs. Sophie England, oldest Kane county, Illinois, resident, died this morning at her home at St. Charles, Ill., aged 102 years. She was born in Sweden and up to within a few days of her last illness was a regular attendant of all Lutheran church religious and social gatherings of her home town.

HENRI LA FONTAINE.

Stockholm, Jan. 14.—Henri La Fontaine is the winner of the Nobel peace prize for 1913. He was formerly president of the permanent International Peace Bureau at Berne, Switzerland. The prize for 1912 was awarded recently to Senator Elihu Root. The value of the prize is about $40,000.

FAINT "S. O. S." IS ONLY SIGNAL S. COBEQUID IS NOT GONE TO PIECES

Searchers Fail to Find Her and Wreckage Washed Ashore.

Some Hope Still Felt for 120 People Aboard Ship.

Terrific Seas Lash New England Coast—Some Craft Missing.

COBEQUID IS SIGHTED.

Yarmouth, N. S., Jan. 14.—The Royal Mail Packet company's steamer Cobequid was sighted aground on Trinity Ledges near here when the fog lifted today. The greater part of the steamer's hull is above water, and it is believed that those on board are safe.

St. John, N. B., Jan. 14.—The faint purr of an "S. O. S." call from the missing Royal Mail steamer Cobequid was picked up at several points in the Bay of Fundy today, and revived hope for the safety of the vessel and the 120 people on board.

The wireless was not sufficiently strong or continuous to give the location of the vessel, but indicated that she had survived a tempestuous night and that there still was a chance for her passengers and crew.

The Canadian Northern liner Royal George caught the cry of distress three times and heard the steamer Lady Laurier replying, asking for the location of the Cobequid, but no response from the Cobequid could be made out. The Lady Laurier ought to be near the wreck today.

It still is believed that the Cobequid struck on one of the Grand Manan ledges, and that Capt. Howson mistook the point for Brier island when he first called for assistance at daylight yesterday.

Wreckage Washed Ashore.

Wreckage began to come ashore on the Yarmouth side of the Bay of Fundy today. It was apparently from a steamer, and made plain, from the weather conditions during the last twenty-four hours that some vessel, perhaps the Cobequid, was on the

INDICT DAHLSTROM UNDER MANN LAW

Federal Grand Jury Accuses Him—He Pleads "Not Guilty."

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 14.—Albert Dahlstrom, a religious cult leader, arrested at Tacoma by Federal officers several weeks ago and alleged to have made more than twenty polygamous marriages all over the country, was indicted by a Federal grand jury here yesterday. He is charged with violating the Mann anti-white slave act by transporting Edna England from Seattle to Fresno, Cal., Sept. 23, 1912.

Dahlstrom filed a plea of not guilty. Bail was fixed at $5,000 and the trial was set for March 10.

DRIVEN INTO COLD BY FIRE

Nearly 1,000 New York People Are Forced From Homes.

Four Outbreaks Occur Almost Together—Catholic School Burns.

New York, Jan. 14.—Four fires in rapid succession in widely separated parts of the city caused intense suffering to nearly a thousand tenants this morning while the temperature hovered around zero. The first blaze, in a Bowery lodging house, drove 130 shivering derelicts from the structure, 400 from a lodging house adjoining, and twenty-eight families from tenements nearby.

Half an hour later 150 men, women and children were forced into the icy streets from the Glendenning, an apartment hotel in Harlem.

Before this blaze was extinguished, fifteen families, were routed from a burning five-story apartment house at Sixty-first street and Columbus avenue.

While that blaze was in progress, fire attacked a Lower East side tenement, driving 300 to the streets. In none of the fires was anyone seriously injured. Firemen suffered keenly from the cold.

Novitiate is Burned.

Catskill, N. Y., Jan. 14.—St. Anthony's Seraphic college and novitiate, on the Hudson, was destroyed today by fire. The priests and students escaped, but few of their effects were saved. A temperature of 20 below zero made the hydrants useless. The loss was $100,000.

Jewelry Firm Burned Out.

Providence, R. I., Jan. 14.—Fire in the Manufacturers' building, a seven-story brick structure on Sabin, Mason and Aborn streets, occupied by thirty jewelry firms, caused a loss of $100,000 today and the enforced idleness of 4,500 operatives.

WEST DULUTH CURLERS

W. B. Getchell, as a curler, is in a class all by himself. "Ben" probably holds a unique record in the Western Curling rink. He claims to be the only member who ever assisted in winning a trophy and its accompanying prizes without having played a single game.

This record was made two years ago. He then played as a member of the Wieland rink. The play was in the Bagley event. The Wieland rink was successful in winning out and Getchell was a member of the rink. Although a member he failed to put in an appearance and substitute players took his position.

The awarding of the trophy at the banquet the spring following some of the members of the club are said to have been mean enough to intimate that it was "Ben's" non-playing more than his playing that resulted in the winning of the trophy.

Last year Mr. Getchell was skip of his own rink but this year he has pleaded guilty to "too much business" to handle the skip's part and is content with playing third for the McDonald rink. Mr. Getchell, by the way, is also the handler of the club's funds, having been elected its treasurer twice in succession.

• • •

A large crowd attended the grand opening of the club's skating rink last night. The ice was in excellent condition and hundreds enjoyed themselves. Music will be furnished every Tuesday and Friday evening, according to arrangements made by the directors.

W. B. GETCHELL.

A few followers of the game hovered about the clubrooms to discuss the play at the big bonspiel and later played a short practice game. As yet no draws have been made in any of the trophy events.

In the war between China and Japan, in 1894, he commanded the combined squadrons of the Japanese fleet which fought the battle of the Yellow sea, afterward destroying the Chinese fleet.

During the Russo-Japanese war he acted as chief of the naval general staff.

"I am always glad to speak a good word for Tuxedo tobacco. Constant use of it only serves to make it better liked. Its fragrant, soothing flavor makes it the choice of many golfers."

ALEX ROSS
National Open Champion 1907, says:
"Tuxedo, cool and mild, is essentially the smoke that satisfies. Many of my fellow golfers agree with me in giving preference to Tuxedo."
Alexander Ross

Tee Up! Smoke Up!

As satisfying as the sounding smack of the perfect drive, is the open-air relish of the perfect smoke—Tuxedo. Both go together, too. When you grab your bag and start for the links, grab up your tin of Tuxedo and take it along.

"Follow through" the snappy afternoon with Tuxedo. Put Tuxedo in your pipe and you will "put" the best. And at "the nineteenth hole" rest up and relax with a good, solid smoke of Tuxedo. That's the advice of good golfers everywhere.

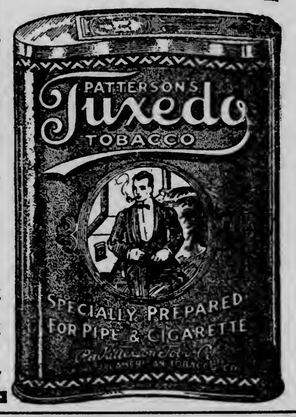

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

It's worth your while to try Tuxedo. Especially if a sensitive tongue prevents pipe smoking.

Tuxedo positively cannot bite—not even if you smoke pipeful after pipeful, as many as you can crowd into a day or a week.

Tuxedo is made of only the finest, choicest, selected leaves of perfectly aged Burley tobacco. It is made by the original "Tuxedo Process" which removes every trace of bite and sting and develops all the wonderful mildness, fragrance and flavor of the Burley Leaf in a way that no other brand of tobacco has ever successfully imitated.

PARTNERSHIP IS NO PROTECTION

Ruling Holds Saloon License Void Upon Death of Licensee.

Saloon keepers cannot preserve their saloon licenses by having them granted to a partnership instead of an individual member of the firm, this being no protection against the state law which provides that a saloon license is automatically annulled upon the death of the licensee.

An opinion to that effect was given to City Clerk Palmer yesterday by W. H. Gurnee, assistant city attorney. He holds that if a partner dies the partnership is dissolved and points out that a transfer of the license must be made by the granting body, which in Duluth is the city council.

Since Commissioner Hicken announced recently that the statute which provides that licenses become void upon the death of the licenses issued to partnerships, believing that this would allow the saloon to continue should one or the other of the partners die. Under Attorney Gurnee's opinion this would not help them any in the event of the death of one or the other.

TAKES OVER $20,000 IN DITCH BONDS

Prindle Company Carries Out Contract With St. Louis County.

William M. Prindle & Co. of this city yesterday took over $20,000 worth of $35,000 block of county ditch bonds, which the firm recently contracted to purchase from the county.

The bonds are authorized to finance a portion of the construction of Judicial Ditch, No. 3, an Aitken and St. Louis county drainage project. Ultimately St. Louis county expects to dispose of $100,000 worth of these bonds. The actual amount yesterday paid over to the county treasurer was $20,067.50. The sum included a premium amounting to $37.50 and $30 for accrued interest.

SUES FOR $30,000.

Joseph Senese, pitman, who had his left arm paralyzed and his skull fractured as a result of a premature explosion of dynamite at the Herman mine near Kinney on Aug. 6, 1911, yesterday started suit against Swallow & Hopkins, owners of the mine, and Thomas Mellin, superintendent. Damages in the sum of $30,000 are asked. The explosion occurred at midnight. Senese was working close by and was struck by flying stones and gravel. He claims that an operation was necessary and a part of his skull had to be removed.

IN HONOR OF COMMITTEE

Kitchi Gammi Members Dine and Thank Building Committee.

Eulogistic Tone to Speeches ---Annual Dues Are Raised.

A dinner given last evening at the Kitchi Gammi club in honor of the building committee proved to be one of the most important and notable gatherings of the club members held in a long time, and marked the opening of the new building at Ninth avenue east and Superior street as a club home more emphatically than even the brilliant affair of New Year's night.

About 100 men were present and the speeches were all eulogistic of the work of the building committee. The dinner was held to express to this committee the thanks of the club for the excellent work done. The committee consists of G. G. Hartley, chairman, E. C. Congdon, president of the club, and F. W. Paine. Much regret was expressed over the fact that Mr. Paine, who is a charter member of the club, was unable to be present at the dinner owing to illness.

Besides the report of the building committee, the only business that came before the meeting was the proposal to raise the annual dues from $50 a year to $80. The by-laws were so amended by act of the members.

La Brosse's orchestra rendered a program during the meal, and this was followed by a number of speeches in which the committee's work was extolled. Judge Page Morris acted as toastmaster. Mr. Hartley made a full report, reviewing the first proposal to build and how the location was selected. Mr. Congdon spoke of the membership and announced that sixty new members have been acquired since the club moved into its new building. He also said that there are many other men in the city who should belong, and asked that their membership be solicited by their friends in the club.

One of the best speeches of the evening was that by J. B. Cotton, and another, which proved very amusing, was by C. B. Woodruff, who responded to the toast "The Old Bachelors." Others who made addresses were F. A. Patrick, J. L. Washburn, L. J. Hopkins of Chicago, but formerly of Duluth, W. W. Walker, G. G. Barnum and William Harrison.

DR. HOVIS WILL GIVE ADDRESSES

Series of Bible Study Discussions to Be Given Weekly.

Dr. W. F. Hovis of the Endion M. E. church has been engaged by the Y. M. C. A. for a series of Bible study addresses. The subject of these addresses will be suggested from week to week by the young men present. A similar class before the holidays was led by Dr. Robert Yost, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

The attendance for the fall series was forty-one. The class meets each Wednesday at 6:15 o'clock for supper and at 7 p. m. the discussion begins, closing at 7:45. This club also seeks to interest young men who are strangers in the city.

During the absence of Rev. W. L. Staub, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church, the Y. M. C. A. supplied his pulpit last Sunday both morning and evening. Secretary W. E. Lauterbach spoke in the morning and in the evening, the following men from the Y. M. C. A. spoke in short addresses: Selvyn Smith, Ferris Johnson, J. Goodell and Bruce McDaniels. The young men have done a great deal of this pulpit work in different parts of the city.

JURY'S AWARD WAS EXCESSIVE

New Trial or $500 Cut Ordered in Case of Miss Miller.

Miss Selma Miller must agree to a $500 reduction in the $1,512 verdict awarded her by a district court jury last October in her personal injury suit against the Duluth Street Railway company, or a new trial will be granted. The traction company. Judge Ensign so held in an order filed yesterday with the clerk of the court.

Miss Miller was caught in the gate of a street car and dragged for some distance. She sued for damages and the jury awarded her $1,512 damages. Attorneys for the street railway asked the court to set aside the verdict on the grounds that it was excessive. The court concurs in the opinion that the award was larger than it should have been and orders that it be cut to $1,012 or a new trial granted to the company.

BOSTON "TECH" MEN PLAN ASSOCIATION.

An enthusiastic meeting of graduates of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (better known as "Boston Tech") was held yesterday afternoon. Plans were laid for a dinner and general business meeting to be held Jan. 31. Every loyal "Tech" man in this territory will of course make an effort to be present and lend his assistance in forming an association at the Head of the Lakes.

S. B. Sheldon of the Minnesota Steel company was elected chairman, with F. M. Fuller as secretary. The others present at the meeting were W. R. Peyton, '90; W. G. Zimmerman, '98; H. H. Cert, '04; F. M. Fuller, '06, and C. D. Steele, '08.

A great revival of interest has been shown by "Tech" men all over the world in the last few years. The purchase of a magnificent site for a new technology building and the plans for the building have added to this. When finished the buildings, equipment and corps of instructors will outrank any similar institution in the world.

REFERS CASE TO PROBATE COURT

Malfeasance Action Not Within Jurisdiction of District Court.

An action brought against an administrator by the heirs of an estate who allege malfeasance, is not within the jurisdiction of the district court according to a decision handed down yesterday afternoon by Judge Dancer.

The court sustained a demurrer interposed by the defense in a case in which Signa Stream Winters and her two sisters brought suit against Andrew D. Ellefsen, administrator of the estate of their father, John Stream, for $775.05. It is alleged that the administrator neglected to redeem certain property belonging to the estate at a tax sale.

Judge Dancer held that the matter should be thrashed out in probate court which had proper jurisdiction over such affairs.

WANTS FARM CREDIT SYSTEM PROVIDED.

Albany, N. Y., an. 14.—In an effort to reduce the high cost of living, Governor Glynn will recommend in a special message to the legislature that it establish an agricultural credit system. He thinks the passage of such legislation would help solve the problem.

The governor has invited a score of widely known bankers and agricultural authorities to confer with him on the subject.

At present the governor favors the system in operation in Germany. By it farmers may obtain loans for both long and short periods. The short term loans help the farmer harvest and sell his crops. The other assists him in purchasing land and equipment.

ATTEMPT TO KILL TURKISH EDITOR.

Paris, Jan. 14.—A double tragedy connected with Turkish political intrigue was enacted today at the Paris residence of Gen. Mehmed Cherif Pasha, one of the chiefs of the radical Turkish party.

A strange Turk called to see the Ottoman politician and was refused admission by the valet, Ismael Hakki, whom he immediately shot dead. Cherif Pasha's son-in-law, Salil Bey, hearing the commotion, ran into the corridor and shot and killed the assassin. The pasha has been the object recently of numerous threats, which he says emanate from the adherents of the Young Turks.

Cherif is the editor of a newspaper published here in the interests of constitutionalism in Turkey, and he also directs a widespread agitation in Turkey.

DEVISES TIME CHECKING SYSTEM

W. K. Fowler Works Out Ideal Plan for Use at City Hall.

William K. Fowler, chief deputy in the city assessor's office, has devised a time keeping system which will not only show the hours worked by the employes but on what particular branch of office activity they have been engaged.

At the end of each day he will be able to ascertain how much time any employe has spent on the personal property assessment, the real property assessment, money and credits, or special assessments. In this way the separate costs of each branch of work can readily be computed and will be incorporated with the regular reports of the office.

He submitted the plan to Finance Commissioner Voss, and it met with his approval. Bids for the books, which will cost but little, will be received and the new system instituted as soon as the books are received. Efficiency is a prime requisite of the employes in the office of the assessor and this system is expected to facilitate the checking of those on the assessor's payroll.

WITNESSES TELL OF JAPANESE CATASTROPHE

Nagasaki, Japan Jan. 14.—A vivid description of the awe-inspiring scene on the island of Sakura during the eruption and tidal wave of Monday was given today by the captain of a Japanese steamer which arrived here from Kagoshima. The captain rescued 300 persons.

"It was perilous to approach the land," he says, "as columns of water burst up continuously from the gulf, while on the land pillars of fire rose into the air from the acres of blazing sugar cane. At the same time people and cattle ran pellmell toward the beach in a wild effort to escape.

"The steamers in the gulf lowered rowboats to pick up the hundreds of people who were drifting helplessly on misshapen rafts or swimming while holding planks and pieces of timber. All were uttering piteous cries.

"Hundreds stood along the shore, unable to find any means of escape. Some of them waved towels and clothing attached to bamboo poles in order to attract attention. Many of the people were only half conscious, suffering from burns or injuries.

"Detachments of ambulance men, police and troops from Kagoshima worked like madmen in the mission of rescue."

Saw Men Crushed.

Hitoyoshi, Japan, Jan. 14.—"The disaster at Kagoshima was almost indescribable," declared Judge Urabe, a refugee from that town, who arrived here today. "On the evening of Jan. 12 the buildings in Kagoshima crumbled up and fell. I saw men crushed to the earth as they were fleeing from their homes.

"All points to the north of Kogashima were crowded with despairing refugees as I passed through. Many of these people were so stricken with fear that they resembled clay figures. Weeping women, begrimed with ashes, straggled along, carrying infants in their arms. Others were dragging with them the sick and aged.

"One nonagenarian on the island of Sakura refused to allow himself to be rescued, saying he wished to die on the sacred isle. He was, however, forced along with the other fugitives."

OBITUARY

Dr. Edgar C. Spitzka, an authority on diseases of the nervous system and on insanity, died suddenly at his home in New York, Jan. 13, of apoplexy. He testified at the trial of Guiteau, assassin of President Garfield, finding that the defendant was insane. For years Dr. Spitzka had attended electrocutions and other executions of prisoners put to death by the state, and he made a study of the brains of criminals. He was the discoverer of the interoptic lobes of the lower brain, and the author of many medical works. He was 61 years old.

Capt. David H. Walker, commander of Company H, Wisconsin National Guard, and municipal judge of Rhinelander, Wis., was found dead in a chair at his home today.

George Orr, argonaut of the early Montana days and last survivor of Bill Fairweather's party that in 1858 stumbled upon the famous gold deposits in Alder gulch, the biggest bonanza district in the West, died suddenly in Hamilton, Mont., Jan. 12. Alder gulch has yielded $120,000,000 gold, but Orr failed to get much of it, and though he had prospected practically ever since in every camp of Montana and Utah, the yellow metal always eluded him and the end found him at the age of 84 poor and still prospecting.

BERNHARDT AT LAST IN LEGION OF HONOR.

New York, Jan. 14.—From Paris comes the news that at last the name of Sarah Bernhardt has been added to the roll of fame of the legion of honor. Her claims have been put forward several times before, but the influence of a strong element in French society prevented the French actress from obtaining the decoration. Among the famous women who are possessors of the red ribbon are Adelina Patti, Mme. Curie, the Baroness de Rothschild, Mme. Paquin and Mme. Dutrieu, the aviator.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE—DRINK TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger-Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

PAYS ANNUAL ROYALTIES

Steel Corporation Will Give Great Northern Ore Owners $5,533,500.

Companies' Control Ends in 1915; Hill Steel Plant Rumored.

The United States Steel corporation this month will pay to the Great Northern Ore trustees a total of $5,533,500, representing the royalty on ore taken out during 1913. This will be the next to the last payment by the United States Steel corporation to the Great Northern Ore company, as the contract between the two corporations will be abrogated on Jan. 1, 1915.

Under the terms of the agreement the United States Steel corporation will have paid to the Great Northern Ore company from 1907 to 1914 inclusive $27,243,000 on 27,000,000 tons of ore taken out. The royalty paid in 1907 was 85 cents a ton. The royalty in 1913 amounted to $1.054 per ton, and this year it will reach $1.088 per ton. The amount paid by United States Steel last year was equivalent to $3.69 per share on Great Northern Ore's $150,000,000 capitalization, and this year it will be $4.35 per share.

Under the agreement the United Steel corporation should have mined 5,250,000 tons in 1913 and 6,000,000 tons are called for in the current year.

Seeks New Market.

The Great Northern Ore trustees will after this year be compelled to seek a market for their ore apart from the Steel corporation, and they are already making active preparations to get their mines in shape for an aggressive campaign for business. It is believed that the Steel corporation will be a purchaser of ore from the Hill properties after its lease expires but only to a limited extent, and the question now interesting manufacturers is where the trustees are going to be able to find an outlet for the 6,000,000 tons of ore that the United States Steel corporation would have taken out annually had its lease been extended.

The largest independent steel companies including the Republic Iron & Steel company, Cambria Steel company, Bethlehem Steel company, and Pennsylvania and Maryland Steel companies, are thought to be well protected in ore supplies for a long period of years.

New Hill Steel Plant.

This has given rise to rumors that have been current from time to time that James J. Hill and his associates have under contemplation the establishing of a large steel plant at the Head of the Lakes. Stories in that connection have been taking on a more definite form of late. It is intimated that a project that has been under cover for some time may be announced within the next few months.

The following table shows the tons of ore, amount of royalty per ton and amount available ford ividends under the agreement between the United States Steel corporation and Great Northern Ore from 1907 to 1914, inclusive:

Year.	Tons mined.	Royalty per ton.	Avail. for divs. on ore ctfs.
1914	6,000,000	$1.088	$6,528,000
1913	5,250,000	1.054	5,533,500
1912	4,500,000	1.020	4,590,000
1911	3,750,000	.986	3,697,500
1910	3,000,000	.952	2,865,000
1909	2,250,000	.918	2,065,500

It is probable that the speakers, who will address the gathering, will be announced.

The banquet will begin at 8 o'clock. Tickets will be limited to 150 and it is said that most of these have already been spoken for. The committee in charge of the affair consists of: James W. Preston, L. A. Simonson and George M. Jensen.

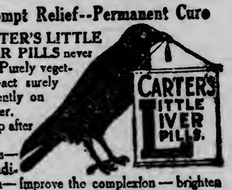

At the meeting tomorrow night members of the club will also take up the request to have the Soo railroad establish a passenger and freight station for this section of the city. Merchants say that when the passenger trains begin operation through the West end and West Duluth that there will be considerable traffic originate here, and for the accommodation of the residents of this section of the city they wish a depot.

The club will also make inquiries into the proposition to open Railroad street from Garfield avenue to the Soo and Northern Pacific docks west of Sixth avenue. It is claimed that little has been done so far in this matter by the city officials and that the merchants want immediate action taken. The thoroughfare has been closed for about five years resulting, say the merchants, in all freight from these docks having to be taken up town before delivered in the West end. This they aver runs the cost of transportation up to a high figure.

ISANTI WOODSMAN DIES.

Is Brought From Camp to Cloquet, But Soon Expires.

He was 34 years old and is survived by a wife and several children living at Isanti. The body was taken to Isanti for burial this morning.

GOOD TIMES COMING SAYS UNDERWOOD

Republicans Tell House Disaster Looms Before Nation.

Washington, Jan. 14.—An industrial awakening "that will put the panic preachers to shame," was promised by Democratic Leader Underwood after Republicans in the house had painted dark pictures of ruin and desolation as the result of Democratic legislation.

"The Democratic party," declared Mr. Underwood, "has achieved for the American people more than has been accomplished heretofore in the history of our government. We have secured the results which the Republican party struggled for in the course of thirty years; the results which they gave their pledges to secure, and which for term after term of congress were left undone. I look forward to unusual prosperity throughout the country in the next year."

Double Shifts in Mills.

The Democratic leader said the steel mills in his district were working double shifts, despite the fact, that practically all of their product was put on the free list in the Democratic tariff bill. Business in the Pittsburg steel district, he said, was also improving. He quoted John Wanamaker, saying that "the breeders of panic ought to be deported."

"What I have to say to the birds of ill omen who preach disaster, hoping to bring back their party into power," Mr. Underwood continued, "is this:

"The industrial depression we have been passing through has lasted for more than a year. It began before Woodrow Wilson was elected. Before the coming elections next fall there will be an industrial awakening that will put to shame the panic preaching brokers who cry disaster in order to bring about depression."

MILL CITY SCHOOL HEAD VOTED OUT

Board of Education Fails By 6 to 1 to Re-elect Jordan.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 14.—Charles M. Jordan, for twenty-two years superintendent of the Minneapolis public schools, was deposed last night from his position, effective at the end of the present school year, when the board of education adopted a resolution not to re-elect him by a vote of 6 to 1.

This action brought to an end a bitter controversy over which the people have been wrought up for several weeks. Numerous mass meetings have been held protesting against the board's proposed action.

COURT DISSENTS IN BANKRUPTCY CASE

Rules That Conveyance of Property By Blackwood Was Justifiable.

Judge Ensign in district court yesterday set aside the verdict returned Sept. 10 by the jury in the case of William E. Bergen as trustee in bankruptcy for George E. Blackwood against John A. Blackwood. The jury found that certain property which stood in the name of John A. Blackwood was in reality owned by George E. Blackwood and properly a part of the bankrupt's estate. Judge Ensign dissents from this opinion and holds that the verdict was not justified by the evidence.

After Bergen had taken charge of the bankrupt estate he discovered that George E. Blackwood had conveyed certain real estate to his brother, John A. Blackwood on June 11, 1913, a few weeks before the filing of the former's petition in bankruptcy. The property is farm land located in section 2, 50-20. Bergen, on behalf of the creditors, brought suit against John A. Blackwood to recover the title, alleging that the transfer was made without valid consideration and solely for the purpose of defrauding the bankrupt's creditors.

In his answer to the action, John A. Blackwood declared that the property in question had always been his but that it had been held in the name of his brother until last June when the conveyance was made.

WRIGHTS WIN SUIT OVER AEROPLANES.

New York, an. 14.—The decision of Judge John R. Hazel of the United States court at Buffalo, reached on Feb. 26 last, that the Wright brothers were the pioneer inventors of what is known as the "warping system of lateral control," and the first men to fly heavier than air machines, is affirmed by Judges Lacombe, Cox and Ward of the United States circuit court of appeals in this city. They reached this decision on reviewing the complaint of the Wright company against the Herring-Curtiss company.

Bismarck, N. Warden Talcott says the prison population is hardly large enough to keep the various penitentiary industries, the twine mill, brick yard, farm, tailoring, etc., in operation.

FINAL ARGUMENTS IN TRACTION FRANCHISE CASE

Attorneys Will Spend Three or Four Days Discussing the Evidence.

Attorneys For the Company Have Their Inning First.

Final arguments in the quo warranto proceedings instituted several months ago by the attorney general at the instance of the city for the purpose of testing the validity of the traction company's legislative franchise of 1881 were begun this morning in district court before Judge Cant.

The case has been hanging fire in the trial court since Oct. 10, when it was brought to trial on its merits after a legal skirmish in the Federal court, where the company attempted to secure an injunction against the city from proceeding with the quo warranto suit, and failed. The taking of testimony on both sides required several days and scores of witnesses were called to the stand to testify as to their impressions during the first few years of the company's existence.

It is expected that the arguments will not be concluded before the end of the week and it is not unlikely that the case may not be submitted until the first part of next week.

Oscar Mitchell of the firm of Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell, who, with Thomas S. Wood and Henry F. Greene, has been conducting the fight for the street railway company, will argue the company's side of the case and it is expected that Frank B. Kellogg of St. Paul, of the firm of Davis, Kellogg, Severance & Olds, who appeared in the action as attorneys for the city, together with Frances W. Sullivan and City Attorney Harvey Clapp, will present the argument on behalf of the municipality. At the trial of the case Mr. Sullivan and R. E. Olds conducted the examination of the witnesses on behalf of the city and Mr. Mitchell did the questioning for the company.

It was agreed in court this morning among the attorneys and the court that the traction company should have its inning first. Mr. Mitchell outlined briefly the grounds on which the company is standing in the fight. After Mr. Mitchell has concluded his argument, he may be supplemented by Henry F. Greene, one of the counsel for the company.

Statute of Limitations.

In his opening remarks to the court, Mr. Mitchell stated that as a preliminary question, he believed that the court should determine whether or not the action is barred by reason of the statute of limitations. He said that this point had been raised before but that it had not been pressed. If this were a proceeding brought by an individual to have his rights determined under a contract entered into thirty years ago, it was argued, the court would have no difficulty in saying that it was an action barred after six years.

The claim will be made during the course of the argument that the company in good faith made a substantial compliance with the requirements of the franchise and that this substantial compliance with the conditions of the grant was accepted by all of the parties interested.

Under this proposition the company contends among other things that:

1. The provisions of Section 2 of the franchise were inserted in the act at the request of the village for the purpose of securing the construction of the road, and to prevent the franchise from being obtained and held by the persons indefinitely without the construction of the line. This purpose, it is claimed the evidence shows, was accomplished and a temporary car operated over the line literally within the year.

2. The performance by the company and its acceptance by the village amount in law to a substantial performance of the conditions of the franchise.

3. Substantial performance was all that was necessary.

4. What was done by the company, as testified to by the witnesses in the case, amounted to substantial performance by the company.

5. The franchise was a contract. The village was a party to the contract, with power to enforce or accept the permanence of the obligations of the company and that the acceptance by the village of the performance by the company, and the continued acquiescence thereunder is now binding upon the city and state.

Chief Contention.

The main contention of the city in the case, Mr. Mitchell argues, is based on the proposition that the grant to the railway company was absolutely terminated at the end of the year by failure to comply with the conditions contained in section 2 of the legislative franchise act.

If its rights had so ended, it is argued, then it was a trespasser on the streets. Any property owner could have sued it as improperly occupying the street. The village could have compelled it to remove its tracks. In any action that might have been brought it could not have justified itself by reason of any rights to be upon the streets.

It will also be argued that all three parties to the contract beginning with a resolution of the village council in 1882 and extending up to the entry of judgment in the mandamus case in November, 1912, have constantly construed the franchise and the performance or attempt at performance of its conditions, as vesting in the company the right to occupy the streets.

In this connection it is claimed that the state has recognized the validity and existence of the franchise of 1881 in the following ways:

1. By the amendment of 1883 taking away the power of the village to grant a street railway franchise.

2. By the express provisions of the city charter of 1887 with reference to the water and light plant and the absence of any provision with reference to street railways.

3. Taxing the franchise.

4. Failure to assert or attempt to enforce a forfeiture.

Recognized By City.

The village and city have likewise recognized the validity of this franchise at all times, it is claimed, as follows:

1. By various resolutions ordering tracks to be laid down.

2. By various legal proceedings brought under the charter.

3. By various ordinances and resolutions passed recognizing the lawful occupancy of the streets by the company.

The "home rule charter" granted by the legislature to the city of Duluth in 1900 provided that all rights and privileges granted to the street railway should continue and be in force with the same validity as they formerly had. It is argued that it cannot be presumed that it was the intention of the legislature during the period of eighteen years immediately preceding that the village and city should be without a street railway.

The company, it is contended, has of course recognized the existence and validity of the franchise. It has made large expenditures and its officers passed through all of the discouraging experiences of pioneers in the development of the public service corporation. The company, as disclosed by the evidence adduced at the trial, was in the hands of a receiver for a considerable period of time and its officers were forced to indorse paper in amounts sufficient to bankrupt every one of them. It is claimed that it was only by recognition of the validity of the franchise that the company was reorganized and again put on a solvent footing.

Another point which will be argued will be that the city and state, by their "delay and implied invitation to invest in the securities of the company, inducing the expenditures of millions of dollars upon the faith in the existence of the franchise" have waived the right to insist upon a forfeiture and are now conclusively estopped from denying the existence and validity of the company's franchise. Having stood by for thirty years while millions of dollars have been expended on the faith of this franchise, neither the city nor the state is now in position, it is contended, to raise any question as to its validity.

Mr. Kellogg for the city, will follow with the arguments on the other side of the case. J. C. Netherway, assistant attorney general, who has been present in court throughout the entire proceeding, may also take some part in the argument.

WORK NEARS COMPLETION

Revaluation of Duluth Electric System Will Soon Be Done.

Charles L. Pillsbury of Minneapolis, the city's consulting electrical expert in the revaluation being made of the physical holdings of the Duluth-Edison company's plant, is in the city today conferring with W. B. Rittenhouse, who is in charge of the work.

The outside work will soon be finished. The checking of the underground work has been completed and only about 15 per cent of the overhead work remains.

Mr. Rittenhouse is now preparing to reduce the mass of figures to concrete form. The outside crews have been bringing in reports of wires, poles, conduits, arc lamps, etc., and this will be translated into the form which is most interesting to the public, namely the valuation in dollars and cents. It was to consult with Mr. Rittenhouse relative to plans for shaping this part of the work as well as to review what has been done thus far that Mr. Pillsbury is in Duluth today. He expects to return to Minneapolis tonight. He expressed himself as well pleased with the progress that has been made by the local men under the direction of Mr. Rittenhouse.

The committee expects to leave for Rhinelander tomorrow morning, where its next hearings will be held.

James Anderson Porter Accused of Stealing Nineteen Fountain Pens.

James Anderson Porter, colored barber and waiter, was arrested last night by Sergeant Roberg on a charge of stealing nineteen fountain pens and their cases, valued at $30.38, from Smith & Smith's drug store at 101 West Superior street.

Porter was picked up on West Superior street as he was trying to dispose of the pens to a pawnbroker and second-hand dealer. Two boys who claim to have seen him steal the case of pens gave his description to the police. The boys followed him and saw him fill his pocket with pens on a wholesale house platform at the foot of First avenue west. When an officer from headquarters went to the spot James Anderson Porter had departed, but he found half a dozen pens which he had left behind. In the meantime Porter was arrested while trying to raise some ready cash on the loot.

When arraigned in police court this morning on a charge of grand larceny, James Anderson Porter asked for an examination and his hearing was set for next Monday afternoon. Bail was fixed at $500.

PLEADS GUILTY TO ROBBING MAIL

Carl Lee of Pine City Indicted By U. S. Grand Jury.

The Federal grand jury, which went into session yesterday afternoon, made its first report today by returning two true bills.

The first indictment was against Carl Lee, who was charged with stealing and carrying away a sack of mail at Pine Creek, Minn., on Oct. 5, 1913. The contents of the mail bag are unknown to the jury. He was arraigned before Judge Page Morris of the United States district court and he entered a plea of guilty. Lee probably will be sentenced this afternoon.

The second indictment will be kept secret until after the man indicted has been arrested.

After its report to Judge Morris, the grand jury took a recess and then returned to its chambers. It is understood that the jury will be in session for several days yet as the list of criminal cases to be considered is a long one.

SHOOTS MAN WHO WOULD AID FAMILY

Farmer Barricades House and Defies the Officials.

Mayville, N. Y., Jan. 14.—Edward Beardsley of Summerdale, barricaded in his farm house and heavily armed, today successfully defied the efforts of Sheriff Anderson and a posse of twenty men to dislodge him.

Beardsley is wanted for the shooting of J. W. Putnam, county overseer of the poor, who went to the house yesterday on an errand of mercy and was shot twice. His condition is critical.

After the shooting Beardsley barricaded himself in the house, took up a commanding position in an attic window and and invited the officers to come and get him. This morning the posse attempted to storm the place, but a fusillade of bullets drove back the officers, who did not return the fire for fear of injuring Mrs. Beardsley and the children. Beardsley fired twenty-five shots, none of which took effect. He sent out word that he would not be captured alive.

"Yes, daughter, that's FINE for SPRAINS"

You've only put it on twice, and the pain's all gone, and my arm's 'bout as well as ever. I sure never saw anything so quick as Sloan's."

So say thousands of others who have used Sloan's Liniment for many years for burns, scalds, cuts and sprains.

Helped Her Knee
Mrs. T. E. Williams, of Chicago, Ill., writes: "This winter I sprained my knee, and a friend recommended Sloan's Liniment. I used it and it did me lots of good."

A Quick Improvement

At five o'clock I purchased a bottle of your Liniment, used it five or six times before I went to bed, and the next day I was able to use my hand as usual."

Best for Sprained Wrist
Miss H. S. Spokesfield, of Linwood, Mass., writes: "The other day I called on my neighbor, a beautiful old lady 75 years old, who had fallen upstairs and sprained her wrist. I asked her what she was doing for it, and she said she was using Sloan's—the best liniment there is."

"The whole range of literature is set forth in the Bible," she said, and she outlined the richness of coloring and Oriental thought found in the stories. She related the story of Joseph and his brethren, of Esther, of Deborah, of Ruth and of Samson, and her reading of the "Song of Solomon" was a delightful bit of the program, the speaker comparing it to a drama, separating it into acts and scenes.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Let Us Pause—Before Subscribing to Hysterical Clamor.

It is no part of my intention to either disparage or dispute the claims of the investigators of the great social evil. It is too important an undertaking and too necessary a reform to receive other than the heartiest support from me.

I would do anything possible to assist in clearing the pathway of our girls and women of the mire of ignorance and the slough of evil in which thousands flounder helplessly and hopelessly all the time. I sincerely hope that we shall never rest until the knowledge that will protect all women is disseminated to the four corners of the earth, until laws are adequate, till more than living wages are paid and until every man who actually preys upon womankind has been dissolved in quick-lime.

But let us be careful how we spread fact, fabrication and theory relative to the social evil. Let us be careful that we do not pin the white badge of innocence on every girl and woman victim of evil doing simply because they are of the weaker sex. Let us be open to the conviction that every mysterious disappearance in which a woman figures is not directly traceable to human fiends in the form of men who with drugged cup and poisoned needle lay snares for the innocent.

Let us pause ere we destroy the sense of personal responsibility for good or evil in the female, without which neither man nor woman would count above the beasts of the jungle. Let us call a halt before we make men fear to tender us the civilities of decent living. Let us cease kindling the fires of sex opposition with hysterical accusations that have no basis in fact.

I have read within the week, a half dozen lurid tales in which girls have sought to conceal their own folly. Entrapped, they have attempted to show how they have been tricked or lured against their will or knowledge into dens of iniquity. Investigation has proved them all false. Victims, truly, but willing ones of their not more guilty companions.

So thoroughly has the idea permeated that men are everywhere lying in wait to lure the unwary and innocent women, that decent men are beginning to fear to offer women the most ordinary courtesy out of fear that it will be mistrusted and spurned. This is regrettable. Courtesies between the sexes need to be cultivated instead of discouraged.

Please remember, in spite of the horrible stories told of the lengths to which men go to entrap the innocent girl, that the woman who does not court objectionable attentions will not meet with any she cannot manage, once in ten thousand times.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Motion pictures.
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

While Gaby Deslys, who will be at the Lyceum next week, receives a large salary, she is very careful of her earnings and watches every expenditure with the same care that an expensive cashier might do in a banking institution, and she hates to see anyone get the best of her.

Last season her company went to Philadelphia for a week before it opened at the Winter Garden, and she made an arrangement with one of the leading hotels that her maid should have her meals for $1. She told the maid of the charge but forgot to add that it should be table d'hote. The maid, thinking it was so cheap, invited the valet to dine with her and when the bill came to Gaby it was for $16.50. They had eaten a la carte. Poor Gaby's heart was nearly broken, but the little French maid's stomach was well filled.

The vivid photoplay, "Checkers," will be seen today for the last time at the Lyceum theater. The film is in five parts and shows Checkers in the betting ring with a goldpiece given him by his sweetheart to bet on a long chance. The crowd is mad with enthusiasm, the horses are seen neck and neck and Checkers' choice is apparently hopelessly beaten. So vividly is the situation represented that it is difficult to realize that the whole thing is unreal.

For tomorrow, Friday and Saturday, "Quo Vadis" will return.

After many years of experimenting with various kinds of monkeys, Edward Gillette, whose trained monkeys are a hilarious comedy feature of this week's Orpheum bill, has confined himself to two breeds as being the most intelligent. He uses but two kinds of monkeys in his act. The larger ones are baboons from Abyssinia, and the smaller are macques monkeys from the island of Sumatra in the Indian ocean.

The two animals have widely different habits. The baboons walk on all fours and frequent the rocks and cliffs. The monkeys are tree dwellers entirely.

"These little monkeys are especially intelligent," said Mr. Gillette, "and in their native country the black men train them to climb trees and shake down fruit and nuts. They are quite widely used for this purpose, and learn to distinguish between ripe and green fruit.

"It seems to be the general belief that the baboons are treacherous and vicious animals, but I haven't a treacherous or a vicious monkey in my collection. They are very powerful animals and of a very nervous, high strung temperament, but I have never had one of them attack me in all the time I have been training them. Perhaps it is because I always feed them myself, four times a day, and never go near them when I feel I cannot be patient with them, no matter what they do. Patience is the one quality an animal trainer must have."

For the last two times tonight, the present vaudeville bill will show at the Empress. Tom Sidello and company put on a very clever black art act that creates many laughs. Miss Brehich sings while H. T. MacConnell relates many jokes and has a somewhat different monologue which is a surprise. The last act, "The Schoolmaster," showing a burlesque of a schoolroom scene, is making quite a good impression. The songs are of the popular kind, while the dances are lively and the jokes new and original. Pictures of good variety open and close the program.

"The Deep Purple," the successful play by Paul Armstrong and Wilson Mixner, which comes to the Empress tomorrow matinee for a three-day run, is heralded as an example of a new school of dramatic endeavor.

"The Deep Purple" takes its audience into the haunts of the modern criminal, not the petty crook, the sneak-thief or the housebreaker, but he who works for big stakes through his analysis of the human weaknesses of those with whom he deals.

SKATING AT CLUB RESUMED

Bonspiel Progresses So Rapidly That Only One Floor Is Needed.

Playing in the several events progressed so rapidly during the first two days of the bonspiel, that it was decided this morning to use only the curling floor during the remainder of the week and to again open the upper floor for skating. The announcement was made by John MacGregor, secretary of the club.

The progress of the bonspiel was never so rapid as it has been this year.

Only one more event, the Consolation this afternoon. Play in the five chief events is past the first rounds and more than half the games in the bonspiel have been played.

Should the United States rinks win the International from Canada this afternoon, a new draw will have to be made for the former rinks, who will play down for the trophy and the first and second prizes. If the Canadians win, only six rinks will play down.

The skating ice will be ready for the skaters this afternoon and will be open to members of the club regularly from now on.

FAMILY TAKEN SICK.

Buttermilk Consumed By North Dakotans Causes Ptomaine Poisoning.

Cayuga, N. D., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The family of Edward Kempf were taken suddenly ill. Barely able to notify their neighbors they were later relieved by a physician. All had ptomaine poisoning. After considerable investigation it was found that the only thing in which all participated was some "fresh" buttermilk. Some of the remaining milk has been sent to a chemist for analysis to determine if it contained poison.

Cottonwood Lake, N. D., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Discouraged over the failure of this town to secure a railway K. H. It will go into voluntary liquidation and Mr. Kanne will seek a location in some of the railroad towns in this state or Montana and organize a new bank.

COUPLE GOING TO DANCE, IN RUNAWAY.

Inkster, N. D., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—While taking a young lady to a country dance, Meller Engh lost control of the team he was driving. The rig was upset and both were thrown from the vehicle. The young lady was not injured, but Engh suffered a fracture of one leg.

GIRL'S SPLIT SKIRT NEARLY STOPS DANCE.

Rutland, N. D., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—A split skirt nearly broke up a dance near here and precipitated a fight between some young men. A pretty schoolma'am was one of the guests at the dance. She wore one of the latest mode dresses, a rather advanced form, which attracted a great deal of attention and some comment was made by young men at the dance. This was overheard by the young lady's escort, who concluded the best way to educate the critical youths was to hammer something into them with his fists. They retalited in kind and there was much excitement.

HENRY FORD AND OTHERS.

I believe it is better for the nation, and far better for humanity, that between 20,000 and 30,000 people should be contented and well fed than that a few millionaires should be made.—Henry Ford in Sunday New York Times.

Here is the heart of the Ford benefaction, and the heart of pending social problems.

It is because industries have been run largely to make a few multimillionaires and because they have failed to make multitudes prosperous and contented that there are discontent and poverty and slums and unrest and a multitude of more or less well directed uprisings and stirrings of the human aspiration for social justice.

What has Henry Ford contributed to the solution of this problem of social justice?

Much, it is to be hoped; for surely his is a mighty and magnificent beneficence. A great deal of its social value depends upon how it is regarded—as a gift or charity, or as a voluntary concession of a social right.

We are interested hugely in the comments on this instance. Few employers have been quoted, and about the only way to judge how employers feel about it is by the remarks of public prints which represent more explicitly the employer point of view than the general point of view. For instance, the New York Sun:

> This is millennial of intention. But is sweeping worth five dollars a day, and can any program of industrial justice be founded on an economic foundation?

Again, the New York Times:

> Serious disturbances in the automobile industry labor market will, of course, follow. The Ford company cannot hire all the men, yet there will be unrest and dissatisfaction in the shops of other companies. Strikes are likely enough, and conditions of peace cannot be looked for until the equilibrium is somewhat restored.

Other publications, such as the Wall Street papers, are even more pessimistic and dismayed. The trend of discussion from this angle seems inspired by a very natural fear of anything that disturbs the policy of treating wage-earners as profit-producing automatons to be rewarded with as slight a share of the wealth they produce as they can possibly be induced to content themselves with.

This, however, is only a minor note in the chorus. Far more numerous are such deductions as this from the Philadelphia Telegraph:

> We should like to interpret it as an even more striking indication that big business intends to be more than negatively "good;" that it intends to align itself on the side of the economic revolution at present quietly at work under the charter of the "new freedom" being granted to the country in response to repeated but hitherto thwarted demands.

And the dominant note is such optimism as this from the Chicago News:

> Wages and profit-sharing plans that give exceptional rewards in labor should result in the building up of a force of superior workers. By their well directed toil the efficiency of the Ford plant should reach a still lower cost of production, an increased output and still greater profits.

Ford is not the first employer to adopt the profit-sharing plan, thus virtually making his workers partners in the business; though no such experiment on a scale so revolutionary and epoch-making has been attempted before. That it ought to increase contentment and therefore efficiency goes without saying; that it will do so is almost as certain. A workman in a plant which shares profits equally between stockholders and employes is not likely to risk his employment by negligence.

And as this is profit-sharing, and the greater the profits the greater each man's share, so that each man while working for "the boss" is also working for himself, why shouldn't he do more and better work?

Of course there are business enterprises where there is nothing to divide; and of course the beneficence of an amazingly prosperous enterprise such as Ford's will be embarrassing to such employers. But such as these will be out of business or prosperous soon, and in the latter event the problem put up to all large employers by the Ford example will confront them.

Whatever the meaning and the bearing upon the current economic revolution of this incident, and whatever it may mean to other employers and employes, of this there can be no doubt: that the twenty thousand Ford workers who participate in the distribution of ten millions of profits, who fall heir to the benefit of an eight-hour day, and who go upon the basis of a rigid minimum wage for adults of five dollars a day, will be removed—so long as the business will warrant it—from the turmoil and conflict of existing economic pressure, and will be making automobiles with a right good will and zealous industry that will make it still more difficult for the employers of less contented workers to compete with the employers of these well contented ones.

A Japanese city had three hundred and fifty earthquakes in one day, then a volcanic eruption, and then a tidal wave. Those people ought to demand a grand jury investigation of the department of public safety.

WAR.

It would be hard for the mightiest preacher to preach a better sermon against the folly and wickedness of war than there was in a little dispatch from Bulgaria in The Herald last evening.

War found, in that portion of Macedonia allotted to Bulgaria, 175,000 adult males. When war had passed by there were 42,500.

War found in Bulgarian Thrace nearly 494,000 adult males. When war had passed there were but 225,000.

War found in the district of Mustapha Pasha 33,000 adult males, and when war had passed 4,000 remained.

And yet there are statesmen and newspapers that preach bigger and bigger armaments! Nothing else is to be expected of men who make war a business, of men who makes a business of selling war materials, or of men and newspapers who voice the hopes of such as these.

But the real interest in the Wisconsin vice investigation will center around the findings in Oshkosh.

THE POSTOFFICE AND THE CIVIL SERVICE.

The annual postoffice appropriation bill, as it was submitted to congress yesterday, includes a provision removing assistant postmasters—there are twenty-four hundred of them—from the civil service list and placing them on a spoils basis.

That paragraph should be stricken from the bill before it is enacted into law. To adopt it as it stands is to take a long step backward—to halt the march of progress and to command it to retreat. It will lay the Democratic party open to a charge of ruthless spoils-seeking, and to a reckless violation of its own professions in the selfish interest of job-hunters and patronage-dispensers.

If there is a department where civil service rules should prevail, and where they should be extended rather than curtailed, it is the postoffice. This department comes closer to the people than any other, because it renders them vaster and more useful service than any other. It should be safeguarded rigidly from the spoilsman, and it should not be demoralized by such encroachments as the postoffice appropriation bill now threatens.

To let that section stand in the bill, knowing that it is a provision that President Wilson would veto if it came before him on its own merits, would be to take an unfair advantage of the absurd constitutional restriction which prevents a president from vetoing a single provision in a measure without vetoing the whole bill.

Democracy, which is earning the trust of the American people, should not be so foolish as to risk forfeiting that trust by the adoption of such a petty raid upon the civil service fold as the postoffice bill proposes.

The stork is reported to be dying off in Germany. Probably certain political cynics will say the new tariff has something to do with this, too.

RETURNING FROM CANADA.

The United States commissioner of immigration in Montreal estimates that two hundred thousand people who emigrated from the United States to Canada will return to their native land this year. His statistics show also that a hundred and fifty thousand returned to this country from Canada in 1913. So it is apparent that the rush from the United States to Canada is over, and that the tide is turned.

Returning emigrants, asked the the fact that the overwhelming majority are from Northwestern Canada, and that they crossed into Canada originally through the border communities west of Lake Superior.

In other words, a very large proportion of them crossed Minnesota—many of them came from Minnesota—to seek their fortunes in a foreign land.

And in crossing Minnesota they passed by their greatest opportunity—or what will be their greatest opportunity when Minnesota adopts a businesslike land policy.

Minnesota, in studying the question whether it should continue its present reactionary land policy or adopt a progressive new one, should consider what it would mean if it could arrest and attract to its idle acres this tide of enterprising homeseekers, either coming or going.

Ralph Lopez, who was smoked out of a Utah mine, is reported to be in California. With an experience like his it seems as if he'd feel more at home in Pittsburg.

THE FIRST STEP SEEMS WISE.

In sending to the senate the appointment of John Skelton Williams, assistant secretary of the treasury, as comptroller of the currency and ex-officio member of the Federal reserve board, President Wilson takes his first step in the weightiest responsibility that has rested upon him thus far in his term of office—the creation of the board which will have general and far-reaching supervision over the working of the new banking law.

And the step seems to have been wisely taken, and in a manner and spirit that promises well.

Mr. Williams, though comparatively a young man,—he is forty-nine,—is well fitted by personal capacity and experience to be a member of the splendid organization which the president is building up around him. He has been an organizer and officer of railroads, trust companies and banks, and he has been successful both in private and public capacities. The appointment is a strong one, and the fact is of large importance because while on its face it is merely filling the vacant office of comptroller of the currency, in reality it is the first appointment to the reserve board.

Rumors of opposition by large financial interests to Mr. Williams's appointment need worry nobody. Since this opposition is not founded in any suspicion of his integrity or capacity, it is simply an assurance that the president intends, so far as he can compass it, that the new currency law shall serve the fundamental purpose for which it was enacted—to secure as wide a distribution as possible of financial power and financial resources.

According to all reports, conditions in Northern Mexico are distinctly Villa-nous.

Why Should Not 1914 Be a Get-Together Year?

New York Herald: President Wilson's healthy optimism over the prospect of co-operation on the part of leaders in the business world in bringing about readjustment to new conditions has proved fully warranted. The president has made clear, time and again, that he is not against Big Business, and now Big Business is showing that not only is it not opposed to the president and his policies, but that these have its cordial support.

Why should not President Wilson have the same kind of support from all other elements that go to make up the composite of American life? Why should not 1914 be a "get together" year to mark the beginning of an Era of Good Feeling similar to that which gave to the administration of another Virginian its most enviable place in history?

James Monroe was able to devote his energies to the economic development of the country because, as history tells us, "party issues were dead" during his incumbency of the presidency. Party issues are just as dead today. Some politicians there are who are seeking—by loud protestations of superior virtue or by raucous croakings of calamity—to attract attention to themselves, but they fool nobody. The people of the United States know that there are today no real party issues, and there is no indication of tendency on their part to permit themselves to be led into division over spurious or false issues.

A Verified Marvel of Science.

New York World: Reports in The World Magazine of yesterday from physicians who were present at a clinic in which Dr. William H. Fitzgerald of Hartford demonstrated the production of local anaesthesia in any part of the body at will by pressure upon certain nerve centers of the tongue, mouth, throat and pharynx, put the discovery into the class of virtually verified marvels of science. It is conceded by Dr. Fitzgerald himself that the process is but in its infancy and needs further development; but on the other hand, there is no skepticism among those that saw the experiments as to the wonderful efficacy of the method as applied before their eyes.

That the discovery amounts to that of a new truth of great value to scientists generally, and especially to medical men, may be accepted as proved. It remains to be seen to what extent the new process will be an improvement upon existing methods of producing anaesthesia. Like all other new revelations of the inner mysteries of life, it is as likely to be underrated as overrated at first consideration. The essential is that something has demonstrably been discovered that was not known before; that it has been usefully applied in relieving pain and remedying disease, and that another name is added to the lengthening list of American scientists whose works have benefited humanity at large.

Got to Be a Candidate First.

Macon, Ga., Telegraph: When Zeb Vance was governor of North Carolina he took a trip to Baltimore. At the hotel he met an old Southern negro serving as porter whom he knew. The governor knew how religious old darkies were, so he led him into a talk on religious matters, on which the old darky spoke with some fervor.

"Well, now, Joe," said the governor, "do you really believe in this matter of election by God that you speak of?"

"'Deed I do, Marse Vance," said old Joe seriously.

"Well, do you think I am elected to be saved?"

"Seasely know, Marse Vance, but I nebber heerd yit of anyone being 'lected what wasn't a candidate."

Hiding the Worst.

Philadelphia Bulletin: "We miss President Wilson's quiet and trenchant wit sadly here at Princeton," said an instructor in Greek.

"I remember, at one of President Wilson's receptions, I complained of a man who boasted of his bad habits.

"'When a man,' said the president, 'boasts of his bad habits, you may rest assured that they're the best he has.'"

Mark Twain's First Literary Venture

From "Sketches New and Old."

I was a very smart child at the age of 13—an unusually smart child I thought at the time. It was then that I did my first newspaper scribbling, and most unexpectedly to me it stirred up a fine sensation in the community. It did, indeed, and I was very proud of it, too. I was a printer's "devil," and a progressive and aspiring one. My uncle had me on his paper (the Weekly Hannibal Journal, $2 a year in advance—500 subscribers—and they paid for it in cordwood, cabbages and unsalable turnips), and on a lucky summer's day he left town to be gone a week, and asked me if I thought I could edit one issue of the paper judiciously. Ah! didn't I want to try!

Higgins was the editor of the rival paper. He had lately been jilted, and one night a friend found a note on the poor fellow's bed, in which he stated that he could no longer endure life and had drowned himself in Bear creek. The friend ran down there and discovered Higgins wading ashore. He had concluded he wouldn't do it. The village was full of it for several days, but Higgins did not suspect it. I thought this was a fine opportunity. I wrote an elaborately wretched account of the whole affair and then illustrated it with villainous cuts engraved on the bottom of wooden type with a jackknife—one of them a picture of Higgins wading out into the creek in his shirt with a lantern sounding the depth of the water with a walking stick. I thought it was desperately funny and was densely unconscious that there was any moral obliquity about such a publication. Being satisfied with this effort I looked around for other worlds to conquer, and it struck me that it would make good interesting matter to charge the editor of a neighboring country paper with a piece of gratuitous rascality and "see him squirm." I did it, putting it into the form of a parody on "The Burial of Sir John Moore," and a pretty crude parody it was, too. Then I lampooned two prominent citizens outrageously, not because they had done anything to deserve it, but merely because I thought it was my duty to make the paper lively.

Next I gently touched up the newest stranger—the lion of the day, the gorgeous journeyman tailor from Quincy. He was a simpering coxcomb of the first water, and the loudest dressed man in the state—and an inveterate woman killer. Every week he wrote "lushy" poetry for the Journal about his newest conquest. His rhymes for my week were headed "To Mary in H—l," meaning Mary in Hannibal, of course. But while setting up the piece I was suddenly riven from head to heel by what I regarded as a perfect thunderbolt of humor, and I compressed it into a snappy footnote at the bottom—thus: "We will let this thing pass just this once; but we wish J. Gordon Runnells to understand that we have a character to sustain, and from this time forth when he wants to commune with his friends in h—l he must use some other medium than the columns of this journal."

The paper came out, and I never knew anything to attract so much attention as those playful trifles of mine.

For once the Hannibal Journal was in demand—a novelty it had not experienced before. The whole town was stirred. Higgins dropped in with a double-barreled shotgun early in the forenoon. When he found out that it was an infant (as he called me) that had done him the damage, he simply pulled my ears and went away; but he sized up his situation that night and left town for good. The tailor came with his goose and a pair of shears; but he despised me, too, and departed for the South that night. The two lampooned citizens came with threats of libel and went away incensed at my insignificance. The country editor pranced in with a warwhoop next day, suffering for blood to drink; but he ended by forgiving me cordially and inviting me down to the drug store to wash away all animosity in a friendly bumper of "Fahnestock's Vermifuge." It was his little joke. My uncle was very angry when he got back—unreasonably so, I thought, considering what an impetus I had given the paper, and considering also that gratitude for his preservation ought to be uppermost in his mind, inasmuch as by his delay he had so wonderfully escaped dissection, tomahawking, libel and getting his head shot off. But he softened when he looked at the accounts and saw that I had actually booked the unparalleled number of thirty-three new subscribers, and had the vegetables to show for it—cordwood, cabbages, beans and unsalable turnips enough to run the family for two years!

The Plowman.

Clear the brown path, to meet his colter's gleam!
Lo! on he comes, behind his smoking team,
With toil's bright dewdrops on his sunburnt brow,
The lord of earth, the hero of the plow!

First in the field before the reddening sun,
Last in the shadows when the day is done,
Line after line, along the bursting sod,
Marks the broad acres where his feet have trod.

Still, where he treads, the stubborn clods divide,
The smooth, fresh furrow opens deep and wide;
Matted and dense the tangled turf upheaves,
Mellow and dark the ridgy cornfield cleaves.

Up the steep hillside, where the laboring train
Slants the long track that scores the level plain;
Through the moist valley, clogged with oozing clay,
The patient convoy breaks its destined way.

At every turn the loosening chains resound,
The swinging plowshale circles glistening round,
Till the wide field one billowy waste appears,
And wearied hands unbind the panting steers.

These are the hands whose sturdy labor brings
The peasant's food, the golden pomp of kings;
This is the page whose letters shall be seen
Changed by the sun to words of living green.

This is the scholar whose immortal pen
Spells the first lesson hunger taught to men;
These are the lines which heaven-commanded Toil
Shows on his deed—the charter of the soil!

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chief Justice White of the supreme court of the United States has a habit of using reverent little expletives in his every-day conversation. If one were to ask him about his health he would probably say:

"I'm very well today, praise God."

He uses the phrase so much that sometimes he runs it in without stopping to think. The other day, so runs the story, an old friend met him on the street and inquired:

"How's your wife, Mr. Chief Justice?"

"Not quite so well today, thank you, praise God," replied White.

When he starts any place on a train, Representative Walter L. Hensley of Missouri deposits his grips and things by his seat and then makes a bee line at once for the smoking compartment. But his object is not so much to smoke as to engage other travelers in conversation in regard to their views on the upkeep of the United States navy.

Hensley is the man who got up the resolution for a naval holiday a year long. The idea is for the United States and Great Britain to get together and interest other major league nations in a scheme to build no more battleships for a year, and see if everything doesn't go on just about as well.

Hensley likes to find out at first hand what people think about his proposition and make a few converts as he goes along. And he finds the average Pullman smoking compartment as good a place as any in which to operate.

A little while ago Hensley leaned back in his smoking-compartment seat, with a paper in his lap, and remarked:

"Well, I hope this naval holiday thing the papers are talking about goes through."

That started the discussion, which was the object of his remark.

One right prosperous-looking young stranger ventured to say:

"What do any of us care whether they build one battleship a year or six battleships?"

"You seem to be overlooking the fact," suggested Hensley, "that the average American family has to pay about $50 a year toward the expenses of the national government, a big item of which is the navy."

"Well, I don't suppose my share is more than about a nickel," went on the man blandly: "I have very little taxable property. It may cost some of the big fellows something, but why should I worry? Let them figure it out."

"I'll bet you though," suggested Hensley, "that you pay more in Federal taxes than Andrew Carnegie."

And the man shouted at the absurdity of the idea.

"The Federal taxes are all indirect," reminded Hensley. "Now, you pay a good deal of money to the government in taxes on the cigars you smoke. Mr. Carnegie doesn't use tobacco. You probably drink a little. Mr. Carnegie doesn't. He is a modest dresser. You probably buy three sults of clothes to his one. You doubtless eat twice as much as he does. So I imagine that you pay more Federal taxes than he does."

The man said little at the time, but he was greatly flattered and puffed up over what Hensley had told him.

A half hour later Hensley overheard the man fussing with his wife as they were walking to the dining car. He asserted his manhood in this fashion:

"You may think I'm an awful boob, but let me tell you this: "I contribute more toward keeping this government going than a man like Andrew Carnegie does."

A pair of out-of-town visitors sat in one of the senate galleries looking over the human exhibits down below. They made comments on the appearance of this, that, and the other senator, and finally espied Senator Newlands of Nevada.

"Ah, what an odd-looking man is that!" exclaimed one of the pair, pointing.

"Indeed, isn't he!" agreed the other one. "I don't know that I ever saw a face quite like that. He isn't at all bad looking, but how unusual."

"Yes," went on the first one, "he looks so indignant all the while—as if somebody had just insulted him."

"And did you ever see a senator with a plaid vest just like that? I wonder who he can be?"

It chanced that a few moments later Senator Newlands himself entered the gallery and the visitors got an even better look at him. He sat down directly in front of them and conversed with a woman who had been sitting there for some time with a look of quiet amusement on her face.

The woman was Newland's wife.

A "Successful" Man

Peoria Journal: The chances are you never heard of Charles Edgar Appleby. We never did until we saw in the New York papers the other day mention of his death. Yet by the standards of success which the passing generation worshiped, Appleby was one of the greatest geniuses in the country, for at his death, in his 90th year, he left a fortune of $40,000,000.

It was sixty-six years ago that Appleby, a young lawyer from Jersey, entered New York city in search of a career. He at once specialized in the laws of real estate and formed a connection with the American agent of Louis Philippe, the deposed king of France. One or two deals in city property successfully pulled off in this connection gave him a small sum of free money as working capital; and that was all the start he needed.

In the years which followed Appleby studied the trend of population and watched for bargains in city lots. He always paid cash and sold or held as his judgment decreed. He made some losses, but in the main he gambled on a sure thing, for every baby born in New York, every person attracted thither added to the pressure on land values and put money in his pocket.

His speculation in land made nobody happier and added no value to the general welfare. It was wholly, sordidly, selfish. The gains he made were at the expense of the community. The community made this wealth and he took it. Yet the money did him little good. He was not known in public affairs. He had few intimates and fewer friends. And now he sleeps in a little lot in Greenwood cemetery, the smallest parcel of real estate he ever owned, and in a little while not soul will remember that such a man ever lived.

And they used to call such a career successful.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

Not a Lazy Man's Country.

Brown's Valley Tribune: Minnesota is really the state of golden opportunities for the man of moderate means but with a will to hustle.

Right You Are, Sir.

Fairmont Sentinel: The next legislature, which will be simon pure nonpartisan, should non-partisanize every office in the state. The idea of voting for men because of the tag they wear is absurd.

A Good Man For the Job.

Buffalo Journal: Someone had the wisdom to suggest Mr. Cashman of Owatonna for railroad and warehouse commissioner. By all means get him into the game and tell the voters that for once they can make no mistake in giving him the job. He is a Democrat in a Republican state, but very few give a hang for the party name now, as it is the results we are after. Senator Cashman has posted himself in his fights for the distance tariff bill, so is qualified, and we believe would be square with the railroads as well as to insist that they give the people a square deal

Well, Where's the Harm?

Bemidji Pioneer: The Progressives and Republicans better be careful or the Gopher state will have a Democrat in another year. With candidates of all three parties in the field, history of the 1912 presidential campaign may be repeated.

Nothing Sure About It Yet.

Several attempts have been made to get a candidate in the field against Henry Rines for state auditor, but the more his opponents look over the field the more discouraging it looks to them. The fact is that the Rines candidacy takes so well with the public, that it is doubtful if he has any serious opposition. The record of Mr. Rines in the past is such that the public has great confidence in his honesty and competency.

Did You Ever See It Different?

Luverne Journal: We don't know, but to our limited vision it would appear that if President Wilson's currency bill was worth praising after passage it was worth voting for to help its passage. Some Republican statesmen indulged in this kind of inconsistency last week—and they had good company in the person of the Democratic Senator Hitchcock, who bitterly opposed the measure during the time it was before the senate and then came up to the chalk mark scratched by party discipline the last minute and voted for the bill.

It Gave Them Something to Talk About.

Perham Enterprise: Congressman Miller, who went to the Philippines as a scout for the Republicans, returned with a long wail about the conditions as he found them which he ascribed to the policy of the Democrats in allowing the Filipinos a large share in their own government. Aside from the fact that Mr. Miller is one of several nine-spot congressmen from Minnesota it looks like a concerted effort to make political capital or to prevent the disturbance of certain private interest, which rely upon American government for protection.

They Show Good Sense.

Ada Herald: The Moorhead banks have discontinued the practice of giving away calendars and have donated the money formerly used for this purpose towards the expense of maintaining a county agent. Hundreds of thousands of dollars are spent each year on calendar advertising that brings little return on the investment.

Lincoln the Humorist

From "Politicians and a Sense of Humor," by Henry S. Pritchell, in Scribner's magazine: And the politicians are right about Lincoln. He is pre-eminently the greatest of our political leaders. But we accord him this praise not on the ground of a larger moral purpose and a clearer intellect than the other leaders of his day. Other men there were in the great political drama in which his part lay whose devotion was as great as his. There were those who stated the case for freedom as clearly. But the difference is this: All these leaders—honored as they are and as they deserve to be—lost their perspective at one time or another. Lincoln never did. He never took himself too seriously. He never harbored the notion that he was indispensable to the country's progress. He never deceived himself into thinking that the whole American people were passing by when only a brass band was coming up the street. Above every other political leader of his time he had the saving grace of a humane imagination, a true sense of humor. It was out of the true sense of perspective which this combination of qualities brought that he was able to realize clearly two truths which were vital to the politics of his own day and which are equally important to our own: First, that waiting is sometimes the highest form of action; and, second, that patience is oftentimes the finest expression of courage. It requires something more than good morals and high thinking to wait and to be patient. It is possible only to him who has a human perspective, to him whose morals and intellect are vitalized by a humane imangination. And this endowment comes rarely except to him who rises directly out of the common people. Humanity renews itself by its own children. It is rarely saved from without. One cannot imagine Shakespeare or Lincoln born to the purple.

In the tradition now fast gathering about the name of Lincoln we are prone to think of his story-telling as a minor element in his character, useful indeed, but, after all, trivial as compared with his moral and intellectual qualities.

Love Your Work.

Lord Avebury: Do not look on your work as a dull duty. If you choose you can make it interesting. Throw your heart into it, master its meaning, trace out the causes and previous history, consider it in all its bearings, think how many even the humblest labor may benefit, and there is scarcely one of our duties which we may not look to with enthusiasm. You will get to love your work, and if you do it with delight you will do it with ease. Even if at first you find this impossible, if for a time it seems mere drudgery, this may be just what you require; it may be good like mountain air to brace up your character.

Christmas Eve Fears.

Springfield Union: We were almost afraid to hang up our stocking on Christmas eve. For all we knew some miserable scoundrel might have dropped a bunch of New Haven stock in it.

NO TEN-MINUTE-A-DAY WIFE.

Collier's Weekly: Feminism by all means—only that doesn't commit one to accepting every statement advanced by Mme. Inez Milholland Boissevain. Take her remark the other day about ten minutes in every twenty-four hours being enough for "keeping house." Now, ten minutes may do in a Manhattan apartment house, where babies are against the law, but who calls running a Manhattan apartment "housekeeping?" In our town there are no uniformed hallboys to fall back on; no speaking tubes or dumb waiters or "maid service included" in the lease. One cannot have breakfast brought to one's bed for the asking; some time, somehow, that breakfast has to be cooked. The housekeeper in our town is a homemaker. She has mending to do, and stops letter writing or preparing a club paper on H. G. Wells to kiss a "hurted place" and make it well. Mrs. Inez's flippancy about ten minutes a day doing for keeping house is a crying injustice to the best, the most efficient, the most lovable of all "feminists." It isn't even on a par with the kaiser's "three Ks" ineptitude—Kirk, Kitchen and Kids. We should live divided between a very present fear of ptomaine poisoning and a recurrent dread of death by slow starvation—if ours were a ten-minute-a-day wife.

I would rather be a 'low brow' editor and tell 2,000,000 people something they never heard before and have them believe me, than be a 'high brow' editor and tell 1,800 people something they have heard 1,000 times before, and have them disagree with me."

WORK FARM RULES MADE

Joint Commission Takes Inspection Jaunt to Correctional Institution.

Arthur H. Crassweller Re-elected President for Ensuing Year.

Following a personal inspection of the joint county and city work farm site, the members of the board of joint county and city work farm commissioners yesterday convened for their first meeting of the year. The board adopted a set of working rules for its employes and the inmates at the farm and transacted other important business.

Arthur H. Crassweller was re-elected president of the board and A. P. Silliman was again selected as vice president. Supt. Ward is secretary of the board.

The members of the commission who visited the farm yesterday morning found ten prisoners recently sent out by the city at work there. The board members expressed themselves as highly pleased with the progress which has been made in developing the project.

The cost of the temporary buildings recently erected was $2,233.84. Yesterday the board authorized $4,000 worth of fire insurance on the buildings and contents. Supt. Ward recommended that the purchase of a sawmill and a rock crusher contemplated by the board be delayed until spring and that operations at the farm this winter be largely confined to road building and land clearing.

The superintendent also suggested that some arrangement be made whereby prisoners after completing their sentences might be allowed to work at the farm long enough to earn money sufficient to buy suitable clothing before leaving. There is no provision for outfitting the men when they leave.

The New Rules.

The following is the set of rules adopted by the commission for the government of employes and inmates of the farm, the same being subject to the approval of the district court:

Government of Employes.

"Employes are prohibited from selling to or buying anything from an inmate of the work farm.

"Employes shall not give presents to or receive presents from any of the inmates.

"The use of profane, indecent, abusive or insulting language by employes toward inmates is prohibited.

"Employes are forbidden to use liquor of any kind or have same in their possession while on duty.

"Employes are instructed to forbid any one to bring liquor onto the county and city work farm.

"Any infraction of discipline on part of inmates will be reported to the officer in charge of the institution as soon as possible.

"Employes are required to give prompt and faithful obedience to the orders of the officers in charge of the institution.

Government of Inmates.

"Inmates of county and city work farm must obey all rules and regulations of the institution and all orders given them by employes of the work farm.

"Inmates must not speak to visitors nor give to or receive anything from them without permission of an officer.

"All inmates are required to keep themselves neat and clean. They must do all they can at all times to preserve property and to keep the buildings and grounds in a clean, neat and sanitary condition.

"No insolent, profane or disrespectful language will be allowed by any inmate under any circumstance.

"Inmates shall be required to labor diligently during the hours detailed for work. Much or loud talking on the part of inmates will not be allowed."

Revamps The Blood And Drives Out The Impurities

Famous Remedy Works in the Billions of Cells to Scatter the Toxics that Cause Blood Sickness.

Throughout the body billions of tiny cells are constantly at work picking out from the blood their own essential nutriment. And there is one ingredient in S. S. S., the famous blood purifier that assists in this important cellular activity. It so stimulates these cells, so completely gets into the tiniest interstices, that the cells aid each other in rejecting from the circulating blood those toxics and poisons that constitute disease. The body is a net work of blood vessels and the assimilable nature of S. S. S. is such that it is thus enabled to assist in the work of the liver to burn up impurities; to aid the kidneys to discharge acids and other poisons; to arouse the skin to a more healthy evaporation of poisons from the skin tissues. It is this intense and constant assistance of S. S. S. to the natural processes of cellular digestion and functional elimination that accounts for such rapid recoveries from rheumatism, catarrh, liver trouble, weak kidney action and all blood disorders. S. S. S. being purely a vegetable combination is welcome to the weakest stomach. It interferes in no way with any of the natural secretions of the body. And by its influence in keeping down the tendency of germs to multiply rapidly in diseased conditions, the power of self-elimination is asserted and health is recovered. The entire absence of any mineral substance in S. S. S. assures a perfectly safe medicinal action without the slightest fear of any of those morbid effects so often experienced from the use of crude drugs in treating severe attacks of disordered or diseased blood. S. S. S. is so well known, has such a host of staunch champions, and has completely overcome such a variety of morbid blood conditions that it commands the attention of those who realize the great necessity for just such a remedy.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. at any drug store and don't permit anyone to impose upon you by offering something "just as good."

S. S. S. is prepared only in the laboratory of The Swift Specific Co., 401 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

FINDS STORY WAS UNTRUE

Attorney Forbes Looks Into Life History of H. E. Carlton.

Convicted Forger's Claim That He Was "Black Sheep" Unfounded.

If Harry E. Carlton, alias Weinberger, 38 years old and a self-confessed forger, gets into trouble again after he has been released from Stillwater penitentiary where he is now serving a sentence of from one to five years, it will be to his advantage to manufacture a new "sob" story when he is brought before the court. The old one he has been using won't work again.

Carlton, when we came before Judge Ensign on Dec. 15 last, to receive his sentence following his plea of guilty to information charging him with forgery, tearfully told the court the sad, sad story of his life.

Was a "Black Sheep."

He pictured himself as the "black sheep" of a prominent family, as one who had the advantages of refined associations and a college education. He told how he had been siezed by the wanderlust and how he had drifted from the straight and narrow course into a life of crime.

"Spare my people! Spare my father and mother. Don't drag them into this. They must not know," was Carlton's pathetic appeal to the court when pressed for the name of his relatives for the purpose of making the record of his case complete.

Carlton finally disclosed to the court that his father was a "prominent practicing physician" in the city of Columbus, Ohio. He gave his father's name as Mansfield and when asked by the court to explain the difference in the name he gave and that of his father, he enlightened the court that the Columbus physician was his stepfather.

He also stated that he had a sister who was a member of the faculty of Rush Medical college and gave her name to the court as Dr. Lee Constable.

Finds Story Untrue.

Mason M. Forbes, first assistant county attorney, who appeared for the state in the case, since Carlton's commitment to Stillwater has conducted an investigation of Carlton's story. He finds it to be sadly lacking in truth.

Carlton's true name, it appears, is Weinberger, and so far as can be learned his story about being the son of a prominent physician of Columbus, Ohio, is manufactured. The officials of Rush Medical college never heard of Dr. Lee Constable, his alleged sister.

The police of Columbus, Ohio, however, have informed the county attorney's office that Carlton, alias Weinberger, was arrested for grand larceny in Columbus. He was, however, allowed to plead guilty to a lesser offense.

Carlton's last offense was forging a check for $29.40 and passing it on Phillip Acker on Nov. 29 last. He was arrested in St. Paul in company with a woman, who was also brought back to Duluth. The woman, Myrtle Hannigan, was sent to the county jail for violating her parole. She is well known to the police.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

"THE SAME TO YOU."

To the Editor of The Herald:

The Orphanage Guild of St. James extend their sincere thanks for your kind assistance in publishing the notices for their Christmas donation day. May the new year be full of prosperity and good cheer, and thanking you again for all past favors, I am thankfully yours, GERTRUDE M. GONSKA,
Corresponding Secretary.

Duluth, Jan. 10.

"TO HIM THAT HATH SHALL IT BE GIVEN."

To the Editor of The Herald:

Our city commissioners did surely show their true colors to the people, when about a month ago they cut the wages for the street-cleaners from $2.30 to $2.00 a day.

How would you five gentlemen like to have your salaries cut to below the cost of living?

And then last Monday you all came out in favor of raising the salaries for a big number of the high-paid officials.

If it costs more for the heads of departments to live, what about the men in the ranks? If the captain cannot live on $1,100 a year how are the police and firemen to live on less than $900? The trouble is that our commissioners are not workingmen, and they don't look down far enough to see that the patrolmen, firemen and even the street-cleaners have to pay the same prices, if not more, for their necessities.

Thanking you for the space, I am, yours truly, O. H. PEARSON.

Duluth, Jan. 12.

CURLEY ELECTED MAYOR OF BOSTON

Gets 43,309 Votes Out of Total of 80,000 Cast.

Boston, Jan. 14.—Congressman James M. Curley was chosen mayor of Boston yesterday by a majority of 6,000 votes over Thomas J. Kenney, president of the city council. Of a total of 80,000 votes polled, the victorious candidate received 43,309 and President Kenney had 37,250.

The congressman's election to a four-year term as mayor is the latest step in a continuous political career which began as a city councilman in 1900. Since that time he has been elected to the Massachusetts house of representatives, board of aldermen and to congress, where he is now serving his second term. In 1903 Mr. Curley was convicted by a jury in the Federal court of conspiring to defraud the government by impersonating another man at a civil service examination. He served a sentence of two months in the Charles street jail without interruption to his political fortunes.

Both Mr. Kenney and Mr. Curley are Democrats in national politics, although they ran without political designation and the Democratic voters in the city were divided in their support.

The city made its usual pronounced declaration in favor of license, the vote being: Yes 48,341, no 26,908.

GOPHER STATE BIG PRODUCER

Minnesota Products Found in All Parts of World, Says Furlong.

State Agricultural Society Head Lauds State at Annual Meet.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 14.—John D. Furlong, president of the Minnesota State Agricultural society, in his annual address yesterday afternoon before the fifty-fourth annual meeting of the society in the assembly room at the capital lauded the Gopher state as one of the great producers of about every thing man needs in this world. All of the officers of the state fair board and many delegates of the state agricultural society and federated societies are attending the meeting which will be in session until Friday when officers will be elected. A feature of today's meeting will be an address by James J. Hill.

President Furlong in welcoming the delegates said he did not intend to make a speech on Minnesota, as the subject was "too big for a humble granger of few words." He said he merely referred to the great state because it would be impossible to hold the great Minnesota state fair unless the society had the co-operation of the people of the state behind it.

Gopher Products Everywhere.

"Go where we may, we cannot get away from Minnesota's products," he said. "If we cross the ocean we find the big ship is hurled along by a propeller made from Minnesota's iron; if we ride from Cape Town to Cairo across the whole length of Africa, our train is drawn by a locomotive also made from Minnesota's iron. We will eat bread at Manila, Canton or Calcutta which was made from Minnesota's wheat. If we went to the moon we would depend upon Minnesota's products to feed us on our journey."

Referring to the 1913 exposition he said the fair is great because of co-operation of the people of the state with the society and because of generous publicity given the exposition by the press of Minnesota.

"Printer's ink has made the great fair a possibility," he said.

Have $10,512 Balance.

Annual reports of Secretary J. C. Simpson and treasurer A. H. Turrittin were filed. The latter's report shows the cash receipts for 1913 were $316,814.19, and cash disbursements $313,613.79, leaving with the balance of the previous year and the contingent fund, a treasurer's balance on Dec. 1, 1912, of $10,512.77. The expenses of the 1913 fair, including $69,670.58 paid as premiums aggregated $217,244.32. In addition to this, $28,227.85 was spent for permanent improvements and $23,479.21 for maintenance of the grounds.

The report includes a review of the 1913 exposition and notes the improvements in the various departments. It shows there were 3,359 exhibitors in the various departments as against 1,830 at the 1912 fair and 1,652 at the 1911 fair.

BEAT CHILD WHO GOT TIRED ON LONG HIKE

Former Chicago Clergyman Arrested By Posse in California.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 14.—Benjamin De Grier, formerly a Chicago clergyman, who became erratic several days ago and took his 13-year-old daughter on a nineteen-mile walk, during which he beat the child almost to death, was captured in the hills north of here yesterday by a posse which the girl set on his trail. He was taken to the county hospital to await the action of a lunacy commission.

De Grier took his daughter from the home of her grandmother in Lordsburg, north of Pomona, Monday, and started with her to walk to Los Angeles.

The child became weary on the way and he beat her with a club. Strengthened by fright, the child started to run, but he knocked her down with a rock. A rancher rescued her, but De Grier escaped into the hills.

DATES FOR RESERVE BANK HEARINGS SET

Minnesotans Can Go to Chicago Jan. 19 and 20.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Revised plans for the Western trip of the reserve bank organization committee show that to the list of thirteen cities originally selected as points where public hearings will be given, two have been added, Lincoln, Neb., the home of Secretary of State Bryan, and El Paso, Tex. The time to be consumed on the trip has been cut four days by careful pruning of the allottments previously given several cities, and the committee now expects to be back in Washington, Feb. 18. This will be four days ahead of the time limit set for national banks to signify their intention to enter the new system.

In addition to the announcement of a change in its trip plans, the committee also made public the times and places for hearing representatives of cities and towns not to be visited.

With the nomination by President Wilson of John Skelton Williams as comptroller of the currency it became possible that the full reserve bank organization committee might make the Western trip. The comptroller is ex-officio member, and if the nomination of Mr. Williams is confirmed by the senate before the committee leaves Saturday, he very probably will go along.

Schedule of Trip.

As revised, the Western trip will be made on the following schedule:

Chicago, Jan. 19 and 20.
St. Louis, Jan. 21 and 22.
Kansas City, Jan. 23.
Lincoln, Jan. 24.
Denver, Jan. 25 (Sunday) and Jan. 26.
Seattle, late afternoon, Jan. 28 and 29.
Portland, Or., Jan. 30.
San Francisco, afternoon Sunday, Feb. 1 and Feb. 2 and 3.
Los Angeles, Feb. 4, 5 and half day, Feb. 6.
El Paso, afternoon, Feb. 7.
Houston, Feb. 8 and 9.
New Orleans, Feb. 11 and 12.
Atlanta, half day, Feb. 13, 14 and Sunday, Feb. 15.
Cincinnati, Feb. 16.
Cleveland, Feb. 17.

Hearings for cities not to be visited will be granted at several places on the regular schedule. At Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Detroit and Des Moines will be heard.

WOMAN IS ARMED AND READY TO FIGHT

Mrs. Ross of Washington "Not Afraid of Crowd of Men."

Aberdeen, Wash., Jan. 14.—Mrs. Margaret M. Ross, Democratic politician, driven from her homestead on North River, Pacific county, by sixteen masked men who also burned the Ross home following a feud over the woman's claim to the property, has returned to the land armed with a rifle. She was accompanied by two sons, who were also armed.

Before starting from the home of W. D. McCormick, near here, where she had been since Sunday, Mrs. Ross said she would go to South Bend, the county seat, today and swear out warrants for the arrest of the men who drove her from her farm.

"I am not afraid of that crowd of men," Mrs. Ross said before leaving the McCormick place. "They took me by surprise Sunday night, but if they come again, they will find me prepared to take care of myself and my property. I will take a rifle with me and I know how to use it."

C. E. SOCIETIES TO HOLD RALLY

Program of Speaking and Music for Friday Night.

The Christian Endeavorers of the city will meet for their quarterly rally Friday evening of this week at the Westminster church, Fifty-eighth avenue west.

Rev. Charles N. Thorp, pastor of the Pilgrim Congregational church will be the principal speaker, and the musical part of the program is in the hands of Charles Towner of the Westminster Presbyterian Endeavor society.

This is the first quarterly rally of the year, and it is expected that a large number will be in attendance, as the membership of the city union has been augmented in numbers recently by the addition of the Proctor M. E. Epworth league, which has about fifty members.

Other societies represented will be: First Baptist, First Presbyterian, First Christian, Glen Avon Presbyterian, Harvey Webb M. E., Highland Presbyterian, Lakeside Presbyterian, Pilgrim Congregational, Second Presbyterian, Union church, Westminster Presbyterian. A banner will be presented to the society having the best percentage of its membership present, the banner now being in the possession of the Union church Christian Endeavor society. The executive committee of the local city union is also planning for the appearance in Duluth in the near future of Rev. Daniel A. Poling, who is national superintendent of "Christian Citizenship" for the United Society of Christian Endeavor.

The meeting Friday evening will start promptly at 7:45 with Thomas Johnson, president of the city union, presiding.

PRETENDER WILL AVOID SCANDAL.

Brussels, Belgium, Jan. 14.—The duke and duchess of Orleans, desiring to avoid scandal and the cost of the proceedings have agreed to withdraw from the courts the suit tsarted by the duchess for separation, alimony and the restitutions of large sums she had advanced to her husband. They agreed also to submit to arbitration the questions of the property and of the amount the duke should allow his wife after separation.

The bringing of the suit by the duchess aroused great interest in Europe, where the duke is recognized as the pretender to the French throne. The duchess, to whom he was married in 1836, was formerly the Archduchess Marie Dorothea Amelia of Austria. They have no children.

The Third Regiment, M. N. G., will hold an individual, competitive "drill down" at the Armory tomorrow night. Both local and range companies of the regiment will take part.

The drill will be conducted along the lines of the old district school spelling match. Five men will represent each organization. Besides companies A, C and E of Duluth, Company F of Eveleth and Company M of Hibbing will be represented.

Judges for the event will be Capt. Arthur A. Caswell, commanding Company B, Third infantry, and Capt. Edward M. van Dusee, Jr., commanding Company H. First infantry.

EXPECT BIG LAND SALES

D. & I. R. Agents Hope to Beat Record of 20,000 Acres in 1913.

Settlers at Meadowlands and Floodwood Tripled in Three Years.

From present indications the land department of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad looks forward to its 1913 record of sales of nearly 20,000 acres of land to settlers being eclipsed during the present year.

"We are already in receipt of a surprising number of inquiries and a considerable acreage has been sold since the first of the year," said D. M. Cole, sales manager of the company today. "Our Virginia office is doing well even now in closing sales to parties from the range towns who are giving up mining to take up farming, and we have inquiries and people coming in here from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York state, Northern Iowa and Southern Minnesota.

Settlers Are Tripled.

To illustrate the extent of the attention now being directed to Northern Minnesota, and the agricultural development that is taking place through it, Mr. Cole mentioned that the number of settlers in the Meadowlands district now 1,500, having trebled within the last three years. Almost a similar rate of progress has also been scored in settlements opened up by the company at Floodwood, in Aitkin county and at Cook.

Though last season was an unfavorable one for growing root crops on account of the excessive moisture, the settlers did well on the average and many of them are now urging friends and relatives in the old settled states to sell out and move this way. That is said to be proving the most effective agency in promoting settlement in this territory.

Mr. Cole avers that the Duluth & Iron Range railroad's demonstration farm at Meadowlands under the direction of W. A. Dickinson, its agricultural superintendent, has afforded splendid assistance to settlers in suggesting farming operations along the proper lines. Dairying and the growing of roots have been found the most profitable branches up this way, and they are considered capable of almost unlimited expansion.

Farmers' Clubs Organized.

Through the agency of twenty-three farmers' club organized last year, growers were able to find outlets for all their root crops. It is estimated that yields of potatoes through the various districts averaged 200 bushels to the acre last fall, and all surplus stocks were marketed on a basis of about 75 cents a bushel. It is mentioned for example, that potatoes by the carlot were shipped from Meadowlands to French Lick, Ind. Onions were found especially profitable. Yields of these at Meadowlands ran from 500 to 600 bushels per acre and they were disposed of at from 80 to 90 cents per hundred pounds, f. o. b. Meadowlands, thus netting handsome returns for the work involved in their cultivation.

A creamery established at Floodwood two years ago has brought surprising returns to its patrons and has led to a movement for the building of others in the near future. A large creamery plant is in fact now being established at Meadowlands and a $3,500 dairy barn has been built there.

To Distribute More Stock.

As a result of the success attending its distribution of three carloads of Holstein cattle in St. Louis county last fall, it is proposed by the railroad company to bring up a number of carloads of them next spring for disposition among the settlers.

Touching upon the plans of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad's land department during the present year, Mr. Cole said that through the opening of new roads at Floodwood, additional tracts would be made available for settlement there. Large blocks of land in the Payne district and at other points on the mai nline of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad up to Forbes, seventy miles north of Duluth, will also be placed on the market.

FLIPPANT LETTER CAUSES REMOVAL.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Maj. Louis H. Rand of the army engineers will be relieved of his duties in charge of the river work in the Cincinnati district because, in approving a bridge at Duncan, Ohio, he wrote the supervisors of Muskingum county that the structure would suit the need of inhabitants "who were not too old or too drunk." The supervisors brought Maj. Rand's letter to the attention of Secretary Garrison, who decided to relieve Maj. Rand and write a letter of apology to the supervisors.

WILL SPEND VACATION TOURING THE SOUTH

M. S. LLOYD.

M. S. Lloyd, well known deputy clerk of the Duluth municipal court, will leave Thursday evening for a vacation in the South.

After visiting with his brother, E. A. Lloyd, at Birmingham, Ala., he will spend the remainder of his time in a number of the larger centers of the Gulf states, including New Orleans and Mobile, and at the famous Florida pleasure resorts.

Mr. Lloyd admits that he will miss the glorious winter weather which Duluth is enjoying, but he explains that in other years he has left Duluth during the summer months and has roasted in the scorching East.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, streaked and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color, thickness and lustre of your hair and remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant. OUR ISLAND POSSESSIONS

Population More Than Entire United States Century Ago.

Great Progress Made in Porto Rico in Fifteen Years.

Washington, Jan. 14.—The total number of islands under the possession of the United States at the present time is 8,000, according to a report just received by the National Geographic society. The wonderful development of our island possessions since the unfurling of the American flag over them is shown in the report, which follows:

"The islands under the possession of the United States now support a population of 10,000,000, or more than the entire United States a century ago. Their commerce exceeds $300,000,000, or more than that of the United States in any year prior to 1850; the American capital invested in them aggregates approximately $400,000,000; they send us $100,000,000 of their products every year, and take in exchange nearly $100,000,000.

"The island of Luzon, in the Philippines, is as large as Belgium, Holland and Denmark, which support a population of 15,000,000; Mindanao is as big as Indiana, Hawaii is as large as Connecticut, and Porto Rico is larger than Delaware and Rhode Island put together.

Porto Rico's Progress.

"When the United States took hold of Porto Rico fifteen years ago there was but one building in the entire island which had been erected for school purposes; today there are 1,200 buildings erected for school purposes. There were 25,000 pupils enrolled in the public schools in the first year of the American administration; now the total is 175,000. The island then had one well constructed road of forty miles, connecting its two principal cities; now there are nearly 1,000 miles of road suitable for motor vehicles. Then the production of sugar, the principal crop, was 65,000 tons a year; now it is 355,000. The foreign commerce was about $20,000,000 a year; now it is nearly $100,000,000. Then the island bought about $2,500,000 worth of our products a year; now nearly $40,000,000. Porto Rico and Hawaii supply about one-fourth of the enormous amount of sugar used in the United States.

Prosperous Hawaii.

"Hawaii has been extremely prosperous since it came permanently under the American flag in 1900. The assessed value of property has increased one-half in that time, the value of the sugar crop has more than doubled, the deposits in banks have trebled, and the deposits in saving banks have quadrupled. The irrigation system is the marvel of the engineering world, and the quantity of sugar produced per acre is far in excess of that of any other spot on the globe.

"The Alaskan islands and mainland cost us $7,500,000, an expenditure that many believed to be quite unjustifiable; yet for many years the annual value of the seal skins alone approximated the cost of the entire area, while at present the value of the canned salmon sent us from Alaska in a single year is twice as much as the entire possession cost."

Denies Rabbits Are Tubercular.

Minot, N. D., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rabbits romping over the prairies of North Dakota are as healthy as one might wish, according to Dr. L. V. Parker, head of the Minot branch of the North Dakota public health laboratory, who maintains that the recent report of a state physician that the rabbits are tubercular, is without foundation.

How to Make Your Hair Beautiful

Ten Minutes' Home Treatment Works Wonders, Stops Falling Hair, Itching Scalp and Dandruff and Makes the Hair Soft, Brilliant, Lustrous and Fluffy.

Better than all the so-called "hair tonics" in the world is a simple old-fashioned home recipe consisting of plain Bay Rum, Lavona (de composee), and a little Menthol Crystals. These three mixed at home in a few minutes, work wonders with any scalp. Try it just one night and see. Get from your druggist 2 oz. Lavona, 6 oz. Bay Rum and ½ drachm Menthol Crystals. Dissolve the Crystals in the Bay Rum and pour in an 8 oz. bottle. Then add the Lavona, shake well and let it stand for an hour before using. Apply it by putting a little of the mixture on a soft cloth. Draw this cloth slowly through the hair, taking just one small strand at a time. This cleanses the hair and scalp of dirt, dust and excessive oil and makes the hair delightfully soft, lustrous and fluffy. To stop the hair from falling and to make it grow again rub the lotion briskly into the scalp with the finger tips or a medium stiff brush. Apply, night and morning. A few days' use and you cannot find a single loose or straggling hair. They will be locked on your scalp as tight as a vise. Dandruff will disappear and itching cease. In ten days you will find fine downy new hairs sprouting up all over your scalp and this new hair will grow with wonderful rapidity.

Any druggist can sell you the above. The prescription is very inexpensive and we know of nothing so effective and certain in its result.

WOOD URGES ARMY NEEDS

Makes Final Report as Chief of Staff to Garrison.

Horses for Use of Militia Are Among Recommendations.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Four steps of vital importance, essential to place the United States army in a state of reasonable preparedness for possible war, are recommended to Secretary Garrison by Maj. Gen. Wood in his last annual report as chief of staff. Gen. Wood proposes:

First—Establishment of a reserve of trained men sufficient to bring the regular army immediately to full statutory strength and to replace the losses of the first three months of war.

Second—Prompt provision of the remaining 50 per cent of the artillery project, including guns as yet unprovided for and the necessary ammunition for those now made or under manufacture.

Third—Creation of the necessary organizations to give three complete tactical infantry divisions within the continental limits of the United States.

Eliminate the Unfit.

Fourth—Enactment of such personnel legislation as will eliminate effectively the unfit, and stimulate the efficient officer to continued efforts through establishing a condition under which progress in rank and command will have a close and dependent relationship upon fitness and accomplishment.

The establishment of the reserve and the completion of the artillery project Gen. Wood said should be carried out at once to avert disaster in time of war. The shortage of ammunition, he added, constituted a grave danger, as the ammunition could not be manufactured without great delay.

The tactical infantry divisions are necessary to complete one field army of about 70,000 regular troops within the continental limits of the United States. This would mean a field army of 70,000 mobile troops in a population of more than 80,000,000.

Mexican Border Patrol.

The report referred to the Mexican situation only in connection with the border patrol for the enforcement of the neutrality laws and the protection of the people on the border. Gen. Wood said this work has been performed in an admirable manner, indicating a high degree of discipline.

In connection with the creation of a reserve, which he regards as the most important army matter that has been in congress in many years, Gen. Wood pointed out that in case of war the army would require immediately several thousand officers. He suggested the creation of a reserve of officers by selecting each year 400 young men from the graduating classes of military schools with army officers as instructors, to be commissioned provisional second lieutenants in the army for periods of one year, subject only to physical examination.

Gen. Wood expressed the opinion that the Philippine scouts should not be included in estimating the strength of the army, and pointed out that their exclusion would permit the organization of the infantry, field artillery and engineers necessary to complete three tactical infantry divisions.

Horses For Militia.

"To encourage the development of the cavalry army, now sadly deficient in the militia, the general suggested legislation authorizing the maintenance of a limited number of horses for the guardsmen. New York, he said, was the only state which had made progress during the last year toward the completion of a divisional militia organization, and its militia may shortly be expected to complete the plans for smoothly passing into Federal service in case of need. The report favored Federal pay for the militia when it is promptly available for Federal service.

Gen. Wood recommended adding to the military academy, upon physical examination alone, young men of proper character who have passed entrance examinations to schools and colleges whose tests equal requirements at West Point.

Closer accountability by the colleges receiving government aid and instructors was recommended.

AGED BURGLAR GETS LENIENCY

Anton Gasper Pleads Guilty and Is Freed on Parole.

Anton Gasper, 63 years old, pleaded guilty yesterday afternoon in Judge Cant's division of the district court to an indictment charging him with burglary. The court decided to give the prisoner another chance and released him on his own recognizance, continuing his case for sentence until March 14, when he will appear in court. In the meantime he will report to Col. F. E. Resche, probation officer.

Gasper on New Year's day broke into the E. A. Ruggles grocery store at Lakeside and stole a quantity of canned goods, tobacco and other articles. Arthur Gasper, a son, aged 18, who was held to the grand jury on the same charge, was not indicted. A no true bill was returned in his favor. The Gaspers reside at 4801 Cooke street.

HOSTETTER AT FARMERS' MEET

Institutes to Be Held at Wright, Cromwell and Nemadji.

A. B. Hostetter, district agricultural agent, will attend farmers' institutes arranged under the direction of H. A. Pflughoeft, Carlton county agricultural agent, at Wright, Cromwell and Nemadji, this week.

The first of the meetings will take place at Wright this afternoon and evening. Mr. Hostetter and others will give talks along dairy lines and will also discuss the subject of potato growing. In the evening a stereopticon lecture will be given. Meetings of a similar nature will be held Thursday afternoon and evening at Cromwell, and Friday afternoon and evening at Nemadji.

A Carlton county farmers' institute will be held Friday and Saturday in Cloquet. Mr. Hostetter expects to attend the Saturday sessions.

Two Concerns Bankrupt.

New York, Jan. 14.—The A. Morton Oppenheim company, Sixth avenue dealers in women's wearing apparel and shoes, and Frazin & Oppenheim, Sixth avenue shoe dealers, were thrown into bankruptcy yesterday by creditors. The liabilities of the A. Morton Oppenheim company are estimated at more than $100,000, with assets totalling almost as much. The shoe dealers liabilities are given as $100,000, assets $60,000. The concerns are separate but have some creditors in common.

OKLAHOMA CITY WINS CAPITAL FIGHT.

Muskogee, Okla., Jan. 14.—Final decision in favor of Oklahoma City was rendered yesterday in the litigation involving the transfer of the capital from Guthrie to Oklahoma City when Judge Russell, sitting as a special judge for the supreme court, held invalid the referendum petitions against the transfer.

MONTREAL FIRE LOSS $500,000.

Montreal, Jan. 14.—Fire which seriously threatened the business center of Montreal was subdued yesterday afternoon only after a stubborn fight. The loss is estimated at $500,000. The four-story warehouse of Frothingham & Workman, hardware wholesalers, was wrecked completely. Adjoining buildings caught and for a time the historic Notre Dame cathedral was threatened.

Battling in a temperature 25 degrees below zero, firemen were not only hampered by the cold, but by the fact that half a dozen other fires broke out almost simultaneously. At one time only seven pieces of apparatus were left with which to combat the central fire. Nearly every fireman sustained frost bites, and so serious were the injuries and the effects of the cold that offices nearby were turned into hospitals.

KONKEL ON THE STAND

Superior Mayor Testifies Before Vice Commission---Charges Unfairness.

Says Segregated District Was Established By Vote of Council.

For two hours and forty minutes yesterday afternoon Mayor Konkel of Superior parried questions and explained actions of his administration and maintained that "the laws of the state were enforced in Superior with a view to protecting the majority," during the closing session of the Wisconsin vice legislative commission which for four days has been investigating various forms of vice in Superior. The session came to a close at 6:40 p. m. and members of the commission left on a late train for Ashland where the investigations will be resumed this morning.

Shortly after the mayor was put on the stand it was apparent that the questions put by Chairman Teasdale would be on a different line from any that had formerly been put to witnesses. The questions were not only relative to the mayor's duties as the chief executive officer of Superior but also as to steps taken by him in the enforcement of the laws.

"My duties of office," said the mayor in response to a question, "are to enforce the laws of the state and the ordinances of the city."

When asked if he knew what segregation means and if he was aware that a segregated district existed in Superior he responded by saying that he understood that a segregated district was a place where prostitution was carried on without molestation. In response to the charge that the mayor was violating his duties of office by non-enforcement of the laws of the state which prohibited such a district, the mayor said:

"I deny that the law is not enforced. It is being enforced with a view to protecting the majority of the people."

Mayor Konkel said he knew that fines were being regularly paid by the landladies of these houses and that these fines amounted to about $53 per month. He said he had not been aware just who collected the fines or how they were recorded by the judge of the municipal court. He said the court had full jurisdiction in the matter and that he, as mayor, had no authority over the court.

Pities the Women.

Chairman Teasdale read a section of the state law providing for fines of the owners of houses used for prostitution and asked whether this was being enforced. The mayor said he did not believe so and when asked why not, intimated that it had not occured to him, as he believed that levying such a fine would only react in higher rents being paid by the "poor unfortunate women."

When asked to explain what he meant by enforcing the law for the majority of the people, the mayor went into a lengthy explanation showing that the subject of segregation had been an issue in a campaign in the spring of 1908 and that Victor Linley had then been beaten by Former Mayor Crumpton by a decisive vote of the people in the primary election. The mayor asserted that the elimination of the segregated districts had not proven successful during the administration of Mayor Linley, it having resulted, he said, in the women "scattering all over town." The mayor also said that Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Paul and even Duluth had found that the elimination of the district had not eliminated prostitution. The mayor said the segregated district was a heritage and that the district had been in existence for over twenty years.

"It was established during the administration of Mayor Woodward, and at that time Rev. D. B. Cheney was Mr. Woodward's personal adviser," declared Mayor Konkel. He said that he had official records to show that the district had been formally established by the city and quoted from the city council proceedings of June 17, 1908, at which time the aldermen passed resolutions authorizing the police to round up all the women and place them under supervision in the present district. These resolutions, according to the proceedings read by the mayor, passed the council by a vote of 16 to 1.

Scores Women Out.

Throughout the testimony of the mayor, about forty women, who had been present at a closed session of the commission, listened to the testimony of the mayor. They left hurriedly when a discussion of the work of an "operator" from a detective agency was brought up and when Mayor Konkel said that the young man would not have had red blood in his veins if he had been able to withstand the temptations of the young woman operator."

Several tilts between the chairman and the mayor occurred during the session, the latter contending that the commission was not giving him a "square deal" in wishing to hurry him through.

"You have been here four days hearing charges against me and now you want to cut it short and not give me an opportunity to defend myself," declared the mayor.

Chairman Teasdale said that such was not the case but charged the mayor with trying to prolong the meeting by dragging out the testimony and bringing in "stuff" which was immaterial.

The mayor refuted charges made by Father Ross and others who testified that the city commission had done nothing to help elevate the moral tone of the city. He said that the commissioners had appropriated money for the employment of a woman police officer, a probation officer and the organization of social and civic centers in schools and other places, and that the ordinance relating to the curfew was being strictly enforced.

"My idea of reform is that it should begin at home," said the mayor.

During the afternoon about ten women went on the stand. Nothing material is said to have been presented by them, although all agreed that the laws were not being strictly enforced and each was unanimous against the present existing conditions and for the abolishment of the "red light" district. Lax enforcement of saloon and pool-room ordinances were also charged. Among the women who appeared on the stand were Miss Adelia Thielam, assistant secretary of the Public Welfare association, and Miss Glenora L. Camp of the state free employment bureau.

while the population has sought refuge in the shrines and temples in the hills.

The postoffice was one of the first buildings to collapse in Kagoshima, at the start of the earth disturbance. The staff escaped, and after the first panic erected a hut in a field and are now busily engaged in repairing the telegraph equipment.

Kagoshima is protected from looters by patrols of police and troops.

All Americans Safe.

All Americans who were in the vicinity are safe. Word to this effect has been recived here from Carl F. Deichman, the American consul at Nagasaki, who telegraphed as follows:

"A private telegram states that Americans in Kagoshima fled to Sendai, near Kagoshima. All safe."

Several American missionaries were stationed at Kagoshima.

Sakura-Jima, at the height of its eruption, is pictured in reports as a terrifying mountain of fire. The air for miles around is thick with ashes and smoke. The police and soldiers of Kagoshima, soon after the disturbance began, made many rescues from the island of Sakura.

The people at first did not seem to realize their danger and were slow in trying to escape. It is feared that many were killed before reaching the seashore. Thousands, pursued by a rain of fiery stones, knelt on the beach, half sumerged in water, and gesticulated wildly to the steamers and fishing boats for aid. One small steamer saved 300 persons, while the other boats also did noble rescue work.

The cruiser Tone reported yesterday that Sakura had been entirely evacuated.

Relief Boats Turned Back.

The Japanese destroyers that were dispatched to the scene were unable to complete the journey. Stormy weather and high seas compelled them to return to Sasebo. The second squadron of armored cruisers, consisting of the Iwate, Tokiwa and Yakumo, was then hurriedly sent off and is expected to reach Kagoshima tonight.

Thick atmosphere for the moment, interferes with wireless reports.

Official advices from Kumamoto, dated yesterday, reported that place shrouded with ashes from the eruption of Sakura-Jima. Energies there are directed toward the repair of the railroad so that water and rice may be sent to the hungry refugees near Kagoshima.

With the distress caused by the volcano eruptions and earthquakes in the south and serious famine in the north, the government is bending every energy to relieve the double affliction. Naval vessels with food and other supplies, will be sent as speedily as possible.

In Tokio this morning a sulphurous odor in the air was followed by squalls, thunder and rain. The storm is attributed to the disturbed meteorogical conditions resulting from the earth disturbances in the south.

Died Seeking Safety.

Miyazki, Japan, Jan. 14.—A party of refugees from the stricken island of Sakura arrived here today. They reported that the inhabitants of 300 houses composing the village of Seto on that island lost their way in trying to reach the seashore, and probably all perished together. The refugees declare that hundreds were drowned in trying to swim across the Gulf of Kagoshima. They add that the volcano of Sakura-Jima has completely changed its form, several new craters having opened.

The hail of ashes ceased here today after lasting thirty-six hours. A heavy rain has cleared the atmosphere.

WILSON TELLS WHAT TRUST LAWS HE WOULD LIKE TO SEE ENACTED

dent's forthcoming message satisfies the views of every member of the cabinet, and that those members in close touch with the business world believe the industry of the country will find healthful reassurance in it.

Predict Trade Commission.

Members of the senate committee, after a two-hour conference with the president, said he had read them his message and discussed many of its details at length. Some of the senators had no doubt that an interstate trade commission with limited powers to assist the courts in carrying out decrees of discussion would be created. They all appeared certain, too, that legislation prohibiting interlocking directorates would be put through; that penalties would be imposed in every case upon individuals, and that personal guilt would be distinctly fixed.

The main point in the discussion was the extent to which the Sherman law should be supplemented. The president is understood to have pointed out that it was necessary to remove all doubt as to what constituted a restraint of trade, believing that public sentiment no longer was that restraints of trade could be reasonable.

Get It Over By June.

The president, it was said, seemed to think that it would be well to concentrate attention of congress on the trust legislation, so as to have it out of the way by June.

The president also, it was said, laid emphasis upon the spirit with which the task should be approached, contending that since big business was manifesting a disposition to conform to "the spirit of the times," it was desirable to treat the problem with a feeling of friendliness and co-operation rather than of radical antagonism.

Mr. Wilson is said to have indicated his wish that trust legislation be kept within a well-defined scope, and some of the senators said afterward that while there might be various bills drafted, they would follow the lines the president pointed out today.

Talked to Cabinet.

President Wilson yesterday gave the members of his cabinet his ideas on the government's relation to big business, the field that anti-trust legislation should cover in the present session of congress, and the spirit with which he believes the task should be approached.

Peace, and not war, a feeling of friendly conciliation rather than of hostile antagonism, and yet a constructive program that will eliminate uncertainty about the law and stimulate the growth of legitimate business—these are the fundamentals of the president's plan of action to be embodied in the message which he will read at a joint session of congress next week. He presented the document to the cabinet yesterday and worked all afternoon on some minor changes as a result of the meeting. Members of the cabinet spoke of the message as a progressive declaration, that would reassure the business world as to the sincere intentions of the administration to deal fairly with it.

Cardinal Features.

While the president has not yet revealed his views on detailed legislation, he hopes his message will be the guiding star that will keep the scope of activity within a well-defined compass, eliminating so far as possible any congestion of radical bills that might be misinterpreted by the outside world. So far as is known, the cardinal features of the president's plan are:

First—Supplementing the Sherman anti-trust law to reduce the debatable area around it.

Second—The prohibition of interlocking directorates.

Third—Location of individual responsibility and the fixing of personal guilt for all violations.

Fourth—The creation of an interstate trade commission to perform functions not only of a bureau of investigation, but to determine by its investigations whether decrees of dissolution or mandates of the court are carried out.

Wants No Delay.

The president is proceeding on the theory that legislation is necessary at this time, and that there should be no delay in accomplishing these reforms on which public sentiment is agreed.

The reecnt action of J. P. Morgan & Co. in voluntarily withdrawing from numerous directorates on account of "a change in public sentiment" is cited by administration supporters as evidence that the business world expects interlocking directorates to be dissolved. In this connection Mr. Wilson believes the whole course of public opinion has undergone a remarkable change in the last few years.

The president is reiterating to those with whom he is discussing the subject, a view expressed in his preconvention speeches two years ago—that to stop "joy riding" it is necessary to "arrest the chauffeur and not the automobile." He is expected to recommend in his message that the law with respect to personal guilt should be vigorously enforced, and provision made in all legislation for individual offenses.

No "Twilight Zone."

One of the most important features of the anti-trust program is the interstate trade commission. This organization differs from the kind of commission which was advocated by the national Progressive party during the last campaign, in that it would not be vested with powers of regulation, but would be the medium through which the government would keep the business world informed and eliminate the "twilight zone" in big industry.

TWO ARE SAID TO BE INDICTED FOR SENDING MOYER FROM HANCOCK

is only a question of time until they kick over the traces. Therefore, if you men stick to your strike, the companies will be welcoming you back."

Mr. Roach said that it was his belief the strike would receive continued support from the American Federation of Labor. He discussed Governor Ferris' investigations, with particular reference to the attitude of the employers of union labor as such.

"The governor brought out mostly those things which tend to stir up hard feelings and keep the men and employers apart," he said. "No one could listen to the public hearings and remain unconvinced that the union is more liberal minded than the United Mine Owners."

Called Ferris "a Farce."

Charles Tanner, who returned after a few days' absence at Ishpening and Negaunee, was more direct in his criticisms of the state executive.

"The governor's investigation was as much of a farce as the governor himself," was one of his shots which scored a hit with his audience.

Mr. Mackenzie drew a parallel between the local strike and that of the coal miners of Colorado. "The Colorado owners say they are not opposed to organized labor, but don't wish to deal in any way with the United Mine Workers," he said. "Just in the same way the copper mine owners here say they have no objections to unions, but will have nothing to do with the Western Federation of Miners. In neither case is the fight a question of the recognition of one union, but of upholding the principles of trades unionism."

Ill-Feeling Shown.

Evidences of ill-feeling between the strikers and deputies have also come to light, despite the advice of union leaders that the men refrain from opposing peace officers. Last night some seventy-five strikers were dispersed from the vicinity of the union's supply store in Ahmeek village after it was alleged they had jeered English miners returning from the mine of that name a mile away. The strikers were inclined to argue that the county officers had no jurisdiction in the village, but the deputy in charge refused to discuss the technical question, and overruled the objectors.

News from Washington regarding the possibility of a congressional investigation caused some comment, and company men were inclined to think that perhaps such a hearing might aid the situation. They based this attitude upon the allegations that Walter B. Palmer, the department of labor investigator who was here last summer, had given undue prominence to street gossip, and drawn unsupportable conclusions therefrom, adding that a fair committee would be the best means of putting corrections of such alleged misstatements on record. Hitherto the companies have been firm supporters of Governor Ferris in his declaration that the state could best care for the strike problem and that Federal activity would be unwelcome.

KOZLOWSKI IS CONSECRATED.

The monsignors present included Joseph Rainer, M. J. Lichemes, P. M. Abbelen and Joseph G. Pinten of Marquette, Mich.

The visiting bishops included all from Wisconsin districts, and Bishops Paul B. Rhode, Chicago; Peter J. Muldoon, Rockford, Ill., and Joseph Schrembs, Toledo, Ohio. Four hundred visiting priests also attended. A banquet and other functions followed the consecration.

Bishop Kozlowski's formal entry is planned for this evening, following a big procession of Polish uniformed societies.

ledges of Grand Manan and that part of her upper works had been swept away.

The weather conditions were a little more favorable for the search for the Cobequid today, although a dense mist still hung over the water. The snow storm had passed, but the temperature remained several degrees below zero and a thirty-tknot northeaster whipped the sea.

U. S. Cutter to the Rescue.

Hope for the vessel rests chiefly on the efforts of the United States revenue cutter Woodbury and the Canadian government steamer Lady Laurier. The Canadian cable steamer Tyrian did not go out from Campobello.

Lieut. Randolph Ridge, Jr., commander of the Woodbury, was last reported making a stubborn fight through heavy seas. He is now beyond wireless range, but was thought to be close to Grand Manan.

Kronprinzessin Near Port.

New York, Jan. 14.—The North German Lloyd liner Kronprinzessin Cecilie, reported yesterday to be among the vessels racing to the rescue of the stranded steamer Cobequid, was passing Nantucket at 4:30 a. m. today and should reach her pier here this afternoon. No word had been received by the line this morning from her commander as to whether he received the Cobequid's wireless calls for help.

Some Craft Missing.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 14.—Although the northwest gale had abated somewhat today, the New England coast still was lashed by terrific seas and shipping was endangered.

Nothing had been learned early in the day as to what became of the crew of six men who abandoned the schooner John Paul, which was picked up by the revenue cutter Acushnet and afterwards sank. The British schooner Greta and the fishing schooner Two Brothers still were missing.

The temperature remained below zero throughout New England. Trains were delayed by the difficulty in making steam.

FATALLY SCALDED BY BOILING COFFEE

Child Is Fourth Victim Near Tomah, Wis., in Fortnight.

Tomah, Wis., Jan. 14.—Ruth, the 3-year-old daughter of John Reisenauer, a farmer living in the township of Clifton, near here, was fatally burned today by a pot of boiling coffee falling upon her from the kitchen stove. This is the fourth fatal burning to take place at Tomah and vicinity within the last two weeks.

NO CITY ON THE LAKES HAS PURE WATER

views to the Canadian and United States government.

Six Months' Investigation.

Dr. McLaughlin has spent about six months on the investigation and his field covered every mile of boundary water from Duluth, at the head of Lake Superior to the point where the St. Lawrence river leaves the New York state boundary. He had several assistants and they made use of every possible means to examine the water suspected of sewage pollution. His report in part was as follows:

"The field investigation covered the waters of the Rainy river, parts of Rainy lake and Lake of the Woods; that part of Lake Superior known as Thunder Bay; St. Mary's river; Lake St. Clair; Detroit river; the western end, central portion and eastern end of Lake Erie; the Niagara river, the western and eastern ends of Lake Ontario; the St. Lawrence river to Cornwall, and that portion of the St. John river which forms the international boundary between Maine and New Brunswick. Samples of water were taken from 1,400 sampling points and over 19,000 samples were taken and examined bacteriologically.

Bulk of Lakes Pure.

"In certain localities in the Great Lakes and in all their connecting waters dangerous sewer pollution was shown to exist, but the bulk of the Great Lakes waters remain in their pristine purity.

"At the mouth of the Detroit river and at the mouth of the Niagara river, serious pollution extends normally more than ten miles into the lakes, and on one occasion was found 16 and 18 miles from shore. The distance from the cities of pure water in the lakes, the enormous cost of long pipe lines, coupled with the engineering difficulties in placing intakes beyond the 70-foot depth, makes it impracticable in most instances to secure pure water from the lakes without treatment. The present position of intakes is such that there is not a single municipality using water from the Great Lakes or their connecting rivers which can be said to possess a safe water supply without treatment. The pollution from vessels renders the St. Mary's river above the cities of Sault Ste. Marie unfit as a source of water supply without treatment.

"Because of sewage pollution, there is no point in the St. Clair river from which a safe water supply could be secured without treatment. The Detroit river is grossly polluted from shore to shore below Lake St. Clair. Gross pollution in the Niagara river extends along the American shore from Buffalo to Strawberry island throughout the entire Tonawanda channel and below the falls gross pollution extends from shore to shore throughout the entire river and for miles out into Lake Ontario."

SIX MEN FALL 100 FEET IN MINE CAGE

Mulberry, Kan., Jan. 14.—Three miners were killed today when a cage carrying six miners to their work in Mine No. 7 of the Spencer-Newlins company here was dropped 100 feet to the bottom of the shaft by the breaking of the cable. The other three men in the cage were injured, probably fatally.

THREE TICKETS FOR PENNSYLVANIA VOTE

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 14.—According to leaders of the Washington party, who gathered here today to discuss plans for the important state campaign about to open, Pennsylvania Progressives will not join in any fusion movement for United States senator or state offices. If this plan is carried out, it will mean a three-cornered fight between Progressives, Democrats and Republicans.

Pennsylvania will elect in November a United States senator, Boies Penrose's term expiring next year; a governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of internal affairs, thirty-six congressmen and legislators.

Under the new direct primary election law, all party conventions are done away with and all candidates will be selected by direct vote at the primary to be held in May. Leaders said candidates may be discussed today, but that the conference was not called for the purpose of naming or indorsing any one for office.

ORGANIZE RURAL SOCIAL CENTER

Ottawa, Kan., Jan. 14.—The first of a series of rural social centers, which, if a plan recommended by Prof. William McKeever of the child welfare department of the University of Kansas is carried out, will be formed throughout Kansas, was organized near Ottawa today. Forty families entered the organization and chose for it the name "Valley View" and Mud Creek Country club. Eight hundred dollars was subscribed for a clubhouse.

WOMEN HELP ARREST MILWAUKEE GUNMAN

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 14.—Herman Zastrow, who has terrorized the residents of the fashionable east side for four months, lies dying in Emergency hospital from a bullet wound sustained during a pistol duel with Albert Arendt, watchman at the summer home of W. O. Goodrich.

Arendt discovered Zastrow in the act of pilfering the Goodrich house and opened fire. Several shots were exchanged, and when wounded, Zastrow fled. He went to the home of M. C. Moore, another wealthy East sider, where upon his entrance he was covered by revolvers in the hands of the three women members of the family. He fled when ordered out of the house, and boarded a car from which he was taken in an unconscious condition by the police.

Zastrow escaped in September from the Green Bay, Wis., reformatory, to which place he was sent for highway robbery when but 17 years old.

THREE AND ONE-HALF YEARS FOR MUTINY.

Wilmington, Del., Jan. 14.—Three years and six months in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta and $100 fine was the sentence imposed in the United States court on each of the seven men who were convicted last week on a charge of mutiny on the bark Manga Reva shortly after the vessel put out to sea on a voyage from Philadelphia to San Francisco.

NO—guess Mike Gibbons can't hit. And hitting means two things. Some can hit but can't. Sounds paradoxical, doesn't it? We mean—yes, go on, what do you mean? Well, that there are strong, rugged fellows, carrying plenteous weight around the back and shoulders, who have the force and not the marksmanship. In the Spanish war the Spaniards let loose a lot of big stuff—but not very much of it took effect.

Well that brings us back to Mike Gibbons. What has Mike to do with the Spanish war? He reminds us of the Spanish, because he is so different. Gibbons is one of the best sharp shooters in the business.

They said he couldn't hit. He makes the other fellows help him hit and hurt. "Wild Cat" Ferns was and is reputed as the toughest welter in the business. None of the others wanted any of his game. Mike made him come tearing in and then popped him. The force of the blow was redoubled by the contact with the rushing Ferns.

Yes, Gibbons apparently knows how to hit. Wonder if this knowledge will do the St. Paul phantom any good when he hooks up against McFarland.

Packey also knows some of the finer and more educated angles of the game. They both know how to hit. Don't believe that they don't. They can make their blows count. But the chances are that neither of them will rush headon into a blow.

Did you ever come to think of it—one of the reasons why a clever boxer often knocks out a slugging rushing boxer is because of the fact that the slugger assists the clever one by impaling himself, so to speak, upon the end of a boxing glove.

That is so, nevertheless.

Looks Like a Live One.

GUSTAV FRISTENSKY beat the man Frank A. Gotch called the greatest wrestler in America. Naturally Frank had himself out of the picture when he named Americus of Baltimore as the greatest of all the American wrestlers. Americus is one grand and great wrestler—perhaps the most representative of the United States, now that Gotch is out of the game for the time being—and he was pinned to the mat in two straight falls by the latest, and some say the greatest, wrestler that has ever come over from the other side of the brine.

It is about time they sent us a real one. Some of the foreign brood have been lemons, pure and simple. Americus was trained to the very minute for the contest with Fristensky. Some of the best men in this country assisted in the preparation of the Baltimore speed marvel. The contest with Americus was the real and rigid test for the giant Bohemian, and the decisive and workmanlike win of Fristensky stamps him as one of the best in the world.

American wrestlers who assisted in the preparation of the gigantic Bohemian declared that he is even more powerful than Mahmout—and that he is well versed in the catch-as-can-can game. The fact of the business is that at the present time most of the good wrestlers on the other side of the pond are wrestling in the catch-as-catch-can style, and the result is going to be that the real European wrestlers of the future will be just as skillful as the best men of this country.

Starting with the winning of the amateur heavyweight tournament of his native land, Bohemia, Gustav Fristensky has never lost a match. Some believed that the invader would be vanquished by the tricks, the resourcefulness, the wonderful speed and the finished wrestling ability of Americus. It was the same Americus who gave Frank Gotch the hardest match of the past two years. To win over Americus Fristensky must possess the real class.

The Federal Mystery.

WHAT do you think of the Federals? "Well, come to think of it, we haven't given the subject very much thought." "Do you think Ban Johnson is behind the Federal league?" "Holy cats! Where did you get that idea?" "Well, you see, none of the players of the American have been drafted or signed or stolen by the new league. This leads me to suspect at least that Ban Johnson is busily engaged in promoting the third league." "That's a new one. Quick and peddle it to the outside newspapers."

"You see I thought that possibly Ban might take a lot of stock in the new league and thereby make money." "So you think Ban is going to take a lot of stock in the new league? That's more than the public is doing."

"No, but really, who is behind this league?" "That's what we are all wondering." "How can they afford to spend so much money?" "Where have they spent any money? The Federal league up to the present time, so far as we know, is making mind bets."

"Do you think it will last?" "That's the greatest problem. Charles W. Murphy says no." "Is there room for three leagues?" "Cities like Cincinnati and St. Louis haven't had any baseball for years—there might be at that." "Thought St. Louis and Cincinnati had teams?" "Well, you were wrong."

Seriously, now—we are serious—either the Federal league is serious or it is going to prove the greatest joke since Barnum received serious attention for the two-headed lady. For years the old game has gone along as an accepted institution in all its intricate details. The fact that a player should have nothing to say regarding his personal freedom or inclination, has never been considered very closely. The further fact that baseball is a sort of closed corporation, has also failed to excite much contemplation upon the part of the public.

Some of the inside details of the greatest of all games—or of the business side of the greatest of all games—promises to result in the revision of some of the rules, if nothing more.

RESERVES ARE BEATEN BY "Y"

Naval Indoor Baseball Team Makes Poor Showing.

The Y. M. C. A. indoor ball team defeated the naval reserves by a score of 12 to 4 last night. The reserves started out with a rush, getting four runs in the first two innings, but after that Harris settled down and pitched great ball, holding them runless for the remainder of the game. The feature of the game was the home run by Olund of the naval reserves with two men on bases. Smith and Rictor played star games for the Y. M. C. A. team. The score and lineup:

NO CHANGES IN FOOTBALL RULES

Chairman of Committee Says Present Game Is Satisfactory.

Boston, Jan. 14. — No material changes will be made in the football rules for next season in the opinion of Edward K. Hall, chairman of the intercollegiate football rules committee.

"I have heard and received no complaint against the present set of rules governing football," he said. "As far as I know no changes will be recommended at the meeting in New York. It seems to be the almost unanimous opinion of football men and of the intelligent football public that the game at present is satisfactory.

"Until it has had a much more complete development, it would hardly seem wise to consider any fundamental changes. Wherever and whenever there has been any discussion of the merits of the game as played last fall, there has been no suggestion that any basic change be made in the rules."

JURY SANCTIONS BOXING CONTESTS

Verdict in Willard Case Amounts to That in Effect.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 14.—By its verdict yesterday in the Jess Willard case the jury sanctions boxing contests such as have been conducted in California since the prize-fighting statute was amended in 1909.

Joseph Ford, deputy district attorney, who prosecuted Willard, asked for a verdict which would prevent all ring contests where the intention to deliver a knockout blow was obvious. After the verdict Ford said there would be no prosecutions in the future unless the law was further amended.

Originally there were twelve accused with Willard. The first charge, filed immediately after the death of Young, was manslaughter. This was changed to violation of the prize-fight law and the charges against the eleven co-defendants were dismissed.

SHUTTING OFF SOME OF PLAYERS' GLORY.

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 14.—Members of Princeton's football eleven in the future will not be permitted to write "expert" stories of the games for the newspapers under their own names, according to an announcement by members of the board of athletic control. It declared the sentiment of the board was against the practice and that they expected to bring the matter up at the next meeting. That a rule would be issued against the practice, was felt certain.

Some critical stories were written last fall by several players which were frowned upon, although no official action was taken.

FIRST GAME FOR CENTRAL

Hig School Basket Ball Team Will Meet Cloquet.

On Friday evening in the Washington school gymnasium the Central high school basket ball team will play its first regularly scheduled game of the season, meeting the Cloquet team. In addition to the big contest of the evening the combination freshmen-sophomore quint will also meet the Proctor high school team.

It is very likely that this game will decide who will be the regulars for the present season. The members of the squad will get together tomorrow and elect a captain. Upon the showing of the different candidates for the team in the Cloquet game will depend in a great measure who makes the team as regulars.

Coach Schilling believes that he has a very strong quint and is going to make a strong bid for the state championship. The team has been drilled long for the opening game of the schedule and should make a strong showing.

HANSON MAKES GOOD RECORD

Duluth Boy Wins Wrestling Title of Two Dakotas.

Carl Hanson, the pride of the West end, is back from a tour of the country, during which the stocky Scandinavian middleweight wrestler met and defeated some of the best wrestlers of the Northwest.

The other evening at White Earth, N. D., the Duluth boy wrestled Sailor Jack off his feet, the Sailor being saved, according to the statement of Hanson, because the referee called the contest a draw at the end of two hours of wrestling at the earnest request of the Sailor.

While he was away from Duluth, Hanson defeated Roxie Orris, a brother of Otto Sutor, the undisputed holder of the welterweight championship of the world. Sailor Mechler, called the champion of the two Dakotas, was so thoroughly beaten at the hands of the stocky Duluth youngster that the Sailor's father leaped into the ring and refused to permit the contest to go further.

Stefonowicz, who weighs 165 pounds, was also beaten by Hanson. John Samuelson was also beaten at White Earth by the West end boy, and with this match was supposed to go the championship of the two Dakotas.

Hanson started wrestling in this city and has always been a favorite with the fans. Game, fair and good-natured, Carl showed the makings of a real wrestler, and his record since leaving Duluth would indicate that he is rapidly learning the inside stuff of the grappling art.

It was explained that Ritchie sprained the tendon on one of his road workouts.

BANQUET FOR "MACS."

Program for Wednesday Night Announced Exclusively in Companion.

There "will be sounds of revelry by night" at the Commercial club when the curlers will hold their banquet this evening. "Plans are being formulated" which will assure us that there will be a "pleasant time had by all participants." The followers of the roarin' game will be the honored guests of the Commercial club and also of the local curling club, which has done so much to put Duluth on the map.

We firmly believe that with the talent that will take part in the program that will follow the meal, there will truly be a "feast of soul and a flow of reason." Not only will the eloquence be of the highest class, but there will be exceptionally good musical numbers by various members of the curling clan. Following is the toast list, over which S. H. LITTLE JOURNEYS TO THE HOMES OF GREAT CURLERS

G. B. REEDAL,
At the Age of 2 Years.

Somebody asked the other day at the curling rink:

"Where is Phillips, Wis.?

"Hashaw man," said Ron Smith, "That's where Reedal lives."

And that simply goes to show that Ron Smith is a very definite man.

This Reedal is some man. Even one of our little journeys failed to prove more—but what else need be proven? Before we took the trouble—later, pleasure—to get acquainted with this attenuated bunch of energy we knew that he was exceedingly popular among the curlers, and has been, lo, these many years.

When G. B. Reedal started to put Phillips on the curling map both he and Phillips were practically unknown. Now Reedal is better known than Phillips.

Yesterday morning was a wonder morning for G. B. R. He defeated Ron Smith, 13 to 9, in the Minneapolis event. Now that may not seem unusual but it really was, for that was the first time in fifteen years that he has put it over on the big Scot from Bruce county, now of Duluth. And take it from us he did not fail to rub it into Ron in celebration of the event. Just while we are diverting our attention from the main issue we might add that there is another skip from Phillips—developed by Reedal, by the way—who has a painful habit of missing his trains each year. He can't tear himself away from the ice in time to take the train he and his companions plan on, so he has to take the next one. That is Parkinson, who used to play third for Reedal.

But to return to our muttons as the English would say: Reedal has all the money there is around Phillips. He has bales of it, our little journey revealed, and to find out what business he is in would be to ascertain what businesses there are in Phillips, Wis.

He is about as long on physique as he is on coin, and while quite companionable he is inclined to be quiet. He wears one of those quiet smiles that one often sees on busy men. The accompanying picture of him as he appeared when about two years old shows the kind of a smile we mean. It has become a habit and is carried wholly unconsciously. It is said that he was quite a tractable child but with a firm will—called, in children, stubbornness. He still has that sort of a will, but in adults it is known as strong-mindedness.

On the whole G. B. R. is what is known to curlers as a "regular fellow."

Soop 'er oop mon! Just to show we know Scotch.

Four thirteen-head games yesterday afternoon isn't bad at all, we think. And they certainly drew the attention of some exciting crowds and made the Scotch game "jus' a wee bit mor-r-re inter-r-restin'."

* * *

And probably the most exciting game so far during the 'spiel was played yesterday afternoon between Willie Dinham of our own midst and E. L. Helmbagh of Superior. The score was 7 to 7 at the end of the twelfth head and then the two young players went into the thirteenth with toe and nail. How they did fight. And when the smoke cleared away an dthe shouting had ceased, our own little Willie had copped the game. His last stone was perfect and it won the game, 8 to 7. We want to mention right here, not because Willie lives right where the Fireside Companion is printed, that his rink has lost only twice so far and each time by only one point. That's not so bad for a young fellow.

* * *

Bill Carson, a Peg curler, went without a defeat up to late yesterday afternoon. Good work Bill.

* * *

Now for the International. Remember what we did to the Canuck brothers last year? Just let us all keep that in mind when the play starts this afternoon.

* * *

Someone asked Arthur Michaud if he enjoyed any other sport in this little world and Artie replied rather hastily, we think, that he enjoyed motoring very much. And that reminds us of a story.

Arthur was out driving his car and was going at a pretty good pace, when an officer stopped him. The latter insisted that A. A. go to jail and appear in court.

"What'll the fine be?" inquired the fair youth.

"Five dollars," from the minion of the law.

"Here, take ten," said the motorist, "I'm coming back pretty soon at the same speed."

* * *

You wouldn't believe that Doc Williams of Winnipeg is a cat fancier, would you? Well, he isn't.

* * *

And while we are on the subject of Doc, the editor wants to say that never has he seen a better picture of our old friend Sherlock Holmes than Doc makes.

* * *

Father McCutcheon, better known as the man who put the curl in curling way back sixty-four years ago, made Art Michaud go thirteen heads yesterday afternoon. The 77-year-old player put up a wonderful game and lost out, just because he was all in. This is no alibi, just the truth.

* * *

Johnny Oldham showed his old form yesterday afternoon when he beat Hy Cameron of St. Paul by the score of 15 to 3. Why didn't you let Hy pad his score card, Johnny? He's a visitor, you know.

* * *

Our genial brother, Rudy Schiller, is making quite a hit at the spiel this year. He not only beat McNabb of Grand Rapids Monday afternoon, but climbed all over Pratt of Eveleth yesterday afternoon to the tune of 10 to 4. Rudy looks as if he might be a little rudy to the players in his plan of grabbing a trophy or three.

* * *

We miss Dunbar.

* * *

Someone suggested a dance of nations at the big feed this evening. We might have a Scotch reel by McNabb; a wooden-shoe dance by Strassburger; an Irish jig by Kelly; a French dance by Fregeau, and a Polish two-step by Chrudinsky.

* * *

Someone called up the curling club yesterday afternoon and asked Jack McGregor if Steve Jones was in.

"Sure," answered the blithe secretary, "why, do you want to talk to him?"

"No," came back the voice, "I was wondering if he wasn't wasting his time and playing pinochle instead of curling. Thank you."

The fellows are getting friendly now. Yesterday afternoon two of the rinks joined in and sang "A Wee Doch and Dorris."

* * *

Walter L. Dash of New Duluth, who won the Ordway trophy at St. Paul last year, is out for it again this year. Go to it, Walter?

* * *

Everybody to the banquet tonight. Remember, 6:30, at the Commercial club.

Lefty Is Tractable.

St. Louis, Mo., Jar. 14.—Manager Huggins of the St. Louis Nationals announced today that he had come to terms with "Lefty" Robinson, pitcher, who was traded to St. Louis by Pittsburg in the recent deal by which Konetchy, Mowrey and Harmon were transferred to Pittsburg Nationals.

LITTLE JOURNEYS TO THE HOMES OF GREAT CURLERS

The secret is out about W. D. Stewart of St. Paul. It has been a subject of much conjecture as to what the dickens makes him so hard to beat. In one of our little journeys to the homes of great curlers, we investigated this matter and to our astonishment found that the matter is very simple at least to one of our deductive mind.

You see Bill is in the lime, cement and brick business, and has taken on the character of his wares.

Not only that, but his familiarity with handling of hard materials makes it a mere commonplace to handles the stanes that he hurls from one end of the rink to the other—hence his facility in their propulsion. That, by the way, is a good word—propulsion.

Bill is a great patron of almost all kinds of indoor sports, but chief among them is smoking. We tried to find another hobby besides curling and smoking, but his likes are so varied that it would be hard to determine just what else he has a passion for. He has a habit of looking straight at a person while talking, a habit acquired when quite young—when, in fact, only a recent arrival. The accompanying picture of him, taken on his first birthday, illustrates our idea. You observe how unswervingly he was looking into the camera. As a matter of fact he was looking for the little bird to appear. As the twig is bent, so is the tree inclined; Bill seems to be still looking for that bird. His biography in brief is like that of most men:

He was born (presumably), went from long to short dresses, then to "pants," short at first but later lengthened, went to school, got licked a few times—generally by the teacher—went into business, and spends his leisure time in winter at curling, and smoking. He's Scotch, a good curler, a good fellow, and aside from the fact that he hails from St. Paul, a perfect gentleman.

Larry McLean Signs.

New York, Jan. 14.—John B. (Larry) McLean is a Giant again. The big catcher who starred for the Giants in the world's series last fall signed his contract in the New York National league club offices yesterday. The local club also received the signed contract of Ferdinand Schupp, a young pitcher.

C. A. C. Wins Again.

In a game featured by hard hitting the C. A. C. indoor baseball team defeated the Y. M. S. aggregation by the score of 16 to 2. The game was played in the C. A. C. gymnasium. The losing team was outplayed in every department of the game. Summers of the Catholic club whiffed fourteen of the Y. M. S. batsmen, and in all-round work the C. A. C. boys excelled.

TWO RINKS REMAIN IN THE UNDEFEATED CLASS

Brewer-Whyte and Carson Have Not Tasted Defeat.

Surprises Are the Rule as the Curling Show Progresses.

The second day of the Northwestern International bonspiel was distinctly featured by the play of what appears to be the chief hope of the Duluth Curling club, the crack Brewer-Whyte rink, which came through three draws undefeated and remains as one of the two rinks that has not gone down to defeat.

Starting the 11:30 a. m. draw with a victory over Iltis, the two-skip combination followed this victory by a close and hard fought win from Evered of West Duluth and then supplemented the splendid work of the preceding draws by coming back and taking Little Artie Michaud into camp in the late draw of the afternoon.

Walter Evered gave the Brewer-Whyte combination the scare of their lives. In the eighth head the West Duluthians were leading by two points. The Brewer-Whyte bunch picked up one point and then Evered and cohorts came back and piled up a lead of two. It looked like good night game for the hope of the uptown club. But the B. W.'s gathered strength and courage and by some of the best curling that the bonspiel has brought out laid three rocks in the last head and thus escaped the threatened scathing. It was some narrow escape, too.

Schiller Is Beaten.

The first day rush of Rube Schiller came to a sad and untimely end yesterday. Langtry of Winnipeg took the measure of Rube and then McIver of Port Arthur repeated the bitter dose.

In the charmed circle of the undefeated are the Brewer-Whyte combination and the veteran Carson. Reedal of Phillips forfeited yesterday and this put him out of the list of undefeated rinks. Stephenson of Superior went through the first day and part of the second day undefeated, but came to grief at the hands of Lenont of Virginia in the early afternoon draw.

Outcomes Uncertain.

One of the charming characteristics of the spiel has been the extreme consistency of the upsets of the supposedly strong rinks at the hands of rinks that have not been seriously considered. This has brought the spiel into the first quarter of the third day with only two undefeated rinks and has kept the play even and joyfully prevented any piling up of events and has also kept the men behind the works, John MacGregor and Ray Withrow, extremely jubilant.

Yesterday proved a feature day in every meaning of the word. There were six thirteen-head games and other contests were marked by close scores and some excellent play.

In the early afternoon draw the Michaud - McCutcheon, Dinham - Heimbaugh, Stephenson-Lenont, Hurdon-Dash and Dunlop-Hunter games went to extra heads, and in the 5:30 draw the Oldham-Cameron contest also went to thirteen heads.

While surprises have been the glaring characteristic of the spiel to date, among the strongest rinks must be listed the Brewer-Whyte combination, Schiller, Carson, Williams of Winnipeg, Stewart of St. Paul, Wade, Phillips, Hunter of Minneapolis, and several others, though it must be confessed that there has been so many and so unexpected results that it is a more or less fruitless task in selecting any but the two undefeated ones as showing much greater form than the general average.

This is what makes a real bonspiel and in this regard the present spiel is fulfilling all the hopes of the officials.

Spiel Going Smoothly.

Never before in the history of a Duluth spiel have the events been run off so smoothly. Credit should be reflected upon Secretary John MacGregor of the club and Ray Withrow, who during the past few years has been the man behind the draws.

Both of these gentlemen are giving their entire time to the running of the spiel and they are doing a very fine job of it. Nothing but praise has been heard for the method and manner of running the big show, which with its nineteen sheets of ice, is about the largest spiel that has ever been staged in this country under one roof.

Following are the results of the late draws of yesterday:

FORD NEGOTIATING WITH FEDERALS

Chicago, Jan. 14.—Manager Joe Tinker of the Chicago Federals was in conference here yesterday with Russell Ford, pitcher of the New York Americans, who came here from Minneapolis.

It is explained that players signed by Tinker will not necessarily appear in local uniforms. He is acting partly as an employment agent for the new league.

Tinker said that Victor Saier, who has renewed his contract with the Cubs, was offered a three years' contract at $6,000 a year to play with the Federals and intimated that Murphy must have outbid him.

Mowrey a Deserter.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 14.—Mike Mowrey of the Pittsburg National league baseball club last night signed a three-year contract with the local Federal league club.

Levinsky Bests Flynn.

New York, Jan. 14.—Battling Levinsky had the better of Porky Flynn of Boston in a ten-round bout here last night.

Chance Signs Players.

New York, Jan. 14.—Two more of Frank Chance's players have signed contracts for next season. The men whose services in 1914 are thus secured by the New York American league club are Outfielder James Eschenbeck, recalled from Jersey City of the International league, where he made a fine record last season, and First Baseman Owen Quinn, who was purchased from the Kingston club of the New York and New Jersey league last summer and was sent to Galveston in the Texas league for the rest of the season.

ADDITIONAL SPORTING NEWS

DULUTH RINK STILL HAS CLEAN LIST OF VICTORIES

Reedal and Carson Close Behind With One Forfeit Apiece.

Scotch Music While International Event is Being Played.

As yet the Brewer-Whyte combination remains undefeated in the big bonspiel.

The forfeiting by Carson in the Patrick-Duluth event leaves the Duluth four as the only undefeated rink in the spiel. There is no chance of Carson and the Brewer-Whyte rink meeting before the finals or semi-finals of one of the events, and it may be that both of the rinks will be far down in the spiel before meeting in what is bound to prove one of the banner contests of the week.

In the early morning draw the Brewer crowd took the veteran Thomas Tam O'Shanter Cameron of St. Paul down the defeat lane, beating the enthusiastic St. Paul skip by the score of 12 to 8. With the form that has marked the playing of the crack Duluth four—though the members object strenuously to being called cracks—continued, it should be the lot of the Brewer-Whytes to come through the day unscathed—but if there is anything that a curler loathes and detests, it is to have optimistic prophecies made concerning him.

Carson Comes Back.

After declaring himself out of the Patrick event, the ancient and venerable Bill Carson came back this morning for the early draw of the St. Paul Jobbers' event and continued the amazing run of victories that has marked his play since the first game.

Reedal of Phillips is another of the strong combinations that continues to win. Reedal is charged with one loss through a forfeit. The rink has not been actually beaten on the ice during the present spiel. In the early draw of today the Reedal rink continued the strong play that has characterized its progress down through the draws, by defeating Helmick of Duluth—and Helmick has a rink that is very hard to beat.

McLeod of Minneapolis put Steve Jones of this town out of the running of the Western Curling club event in the early draw. Schiller struck form after the disastrous session yesterday and gave Lowe of Winnipeg a terrific beating in the Patrick-Duluth event, the Duluth rink having the visitor down 10 to 2 when play was suspended.

McDermott's kid rink was another of the well known fours to go out of an event in the early draw, the beating being neatly administered by our own own Ron McLeod. Smith of Superior rather surprised the talent by beating Defiel in the Patrick.

The Scotch Music.

One of the features of the large time of this afternoon, when the International was in progress, was the music (?) by the Scotch band.

J. E. MacGregor claimed the musicians (?) were from Scotland, but the Scotch are most clannish in claiming anything within reason as being from their own land. The musicians looked like the real article and played as if their souls were in their instruments. There was something in them.

It looks now as if there is no doubt in the least regarding the completion of the play. The temporary rinks will be removed from the skating surface on the second floor of the club late today and there will will be skating at the rink during the evening.

Naturally the International is the big event of the week and the games are being watched by the largest galleries of the week. The banquet of tonight marks the social event of the spiel and will give some of the curlers their first real rest since the start of the spiel.

ST. LOUIS FEDERAL GROUNDS.

League Gets Park in Almost Center of the City.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 14.—Lloyd H. Rickart, secretary of the Federal baseball league, has announced that the St. Louis Federal club has closed a deal whereby the club acquired the use of Hadlan park for the season of 1914. He would not say this meant the purchase of the park, in spite of persistent rumors to that effect which prevailed in Chicago and St. Louis all the day. A conference between the park owners and the Federal league representatives, which began early yesterday afternoon and lasted into the night, was shrouded with secrecy.

Mr. Rickart said work on the park would commence at once, and that when the season opened, it would have a seating capacity of at least 20,000. Hadian park is located almost in the exact center of the city.

LIL' ARTHA AND MORAN TO FIGHT

Negro Gets Big Check to Appear in Championship Bout.

Paris, Jan. 14.—"Jack" Johnson, the negro pugilist, and Frank Moran, the Pittsburg heavyweight, today signed articles for a twenty-round bout for the championship of the world to be fought on or before the Paris Grand Prix race during the first or second week of June, this year.

Johnson was handed a check for $35,000, while Moran is guaranteed $1,000.

The fight will take place in Paris.

The articles were signed in the Pavilion Dauphine in the Bois de Boulogne. Johnson arrived there in a racing motor car and a long discussion of the terms ensued. Johnson raised numerous objections, one of which was his demand to be paid interest on the amount of the check which is not payable until the day of the fight.

Johnson agreed not to fight anybody else before meeting Moran in the ring and if the colored pugilist fails to fight he is to forfeit the $35,000 except the sum of $5,000 for his training expenses.

The signatures to the articles were finally affixed in the presence of many managers, promoters, boxing men and other sportsmen and Johnson and Moran then drank each other's health in goblets of champagne. Three moving picture machines were working in the meantime.

Charles MacCarthy intimates that the group he represents which is supplying the money, is actuated by the desire to see the heavyweight championship of the world taken by a white man. The group consists of three American millionaires residing in Paris, and does not comprise William Astor Chanler. The promoters say they are convinced that Moran will win.

FITZSIMMONS IS IN GOOD SHAPE

Asks Court to Permit His Return to Ring---Experts Say He Is Fit.

New York, Jan. 14.—Robert Fitzsimmons, former heavyweight champion boxer of the world, appeared before Justice Seabury in the supreme court today and asked through counsel to be permitted to appear in the ring, a privilege denied him by the state athletic commission.

"When I return to the ring in this town," said Fitzsimmons, "there will be no more foot races or tangos inside the ropes. I think the public can see enough tangoing in the cabaret shows. What people want is some genuine boxing."

Affidavits were submitted to show that Fitzsimmons is still in good physical trim. Mike Donovan, instructor of boxing at the New York Athletic club, set forth that Fitzsimmons could meet the best in the ring without danger. Anthony J. Drexel of Philadelphia expressed the same opinion. Fitzsimmons is now 53 years old.

Further argument will be heard on Friday.

MAY TAKE SCARLET FEVER.

Every Member of Badger Basket Ball Team Exposed—One Ill.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 14.—Every member of the University of Wisconsin basket ball team was exposed to scarlet fever on the return trip from Indiana yesterday.

All the members of the fraternity were in the house at the time except Paul Egbert of La Crosse. The prisoners included Smith, Diggle and Hass of the basket ball team.

Whether the rest of the team will be placed under quarantine depends upon the decision of the board of health.

MANY DEATHS WERE VIOLENT

Twenty Suicides and Five Murders in Duluth Last Year.

Death Rate Only 10.9 Per Thousand on 90,000 Population.

Ninety-nine of 987 deaths in Duluth during 1913, or approximately 10 per cent, were of a violent nature, according to statistics prepared by Deputy M. J. Segal of the health department for the annual report.

Twenty of these were suicides and five were murders. Of the suicides seven were by shooting, five by poisoning, four by hanging, two by using cutting or piercing instruments, one by drowning and one was unclassified. Four of the five murders were committed by the use of fire arms, while the other is not classified.

Other violent causes of death were: Burns, 6; falling, 12; drowning, 16; machinery, 4; railroad accidents, 18; street car injury, 1; other vehicles, 2; starvation, 1; excessive cold, 1, and electricity, 2. No deaths were due to automobile accidents.

Tuberculosis was the greatest single cause of death, 114 being due to the white plague. Cancer caused 60 deaths; typhoid, 21; diseases of the nervous system, 57, of which 22 were from apoplexy; diseases of the circulatory system, 98, of which 78 were heart disease; disease of the respiratory system, 143, of which 107 were pneumonia; diseases of the digestive system, 106; Bright's disease and similar diseases, 74; diseases of infants, 94; senility, 18, and skin disease, 1.

The total of 1913, or 987, shows an increase of 104 deaths over 1912, when the total was 883. The number of violent deaths in 1912 increased from 73 in 1912 to 99 in 1913, or a gain of 26. The total deaths from tuberculosis decreased from 123 in 1912 to 114 in 1913. The death rate, figured on a population of 90,000, was 10.9 per thousand, which is very low.

The total number of births for 1913 has not been determined but it is estimated that it will approximate 2,000, showing over 1,000 more births than deaths.

"WOODROW WILSON."

President Wilson received the following reply today from Emperor Yoshihito:

"Pray accept my sincerest thanks for the sympathetic message sent by yourself and American people for the terrible disaster."

NO USE WORKING, SAYS BALDWIN

Four "Easy Marks" Reply to Ike's Appeal for a Wife.

New York, Jan. 14.—On the theory that most unmarried women are "easy marks," Isaac Baldwin inserted the following advertisement in the Orange County Gazette of Caldwell, N. J.:

Wanted—A wife; one who understands housekeeping, is reliable and will hold my rights as well as her own, and will come as my housekeeper and will stay. She must be city broken, educated, know music, be able to entertain me when I come home at night. She must have an income to support both of us, and will watch for my interests as well as her own. If suited will marry. A widow between the ages of 22 and 42, without children, or with not more than one child preferred. Isaac Baldwin, Caldwell, N. J.

When inquiry was made in Caldwell no one seemed to know Isaac Baldwin, but after much detective work he was found working as a farm laborer at $30 a month on the country estate of Charles R. Leacraft, who is related to Theodore Roosevelt.

Baldwin is 55 years old, 6 feet 4 inches in height, with a decided stoop of his shoulders and a scraggly brown beard that reaches to his chest.

"Yes, that was my advertisement, and I was in town today and got answers from four women. They simply prove my contention that as long as a man is in demand there's no use of me working. Any one of these easy marks will support men and they say they'll be glad to do it. But I'm not going to plunge into this thing heedlessly," he continued, as he squirted much tobacco juice, "because I'm looking for the best bargain I can make."

"Are you offering yourself as a sort of white slave?"

"Well, I won't be a salve for any living woman. She's got to do the slave business. I've worked on a farm all my life and I just woke up. One of these women has her own farm and an automible. That sounds pretty good to me. But, as I say, I'm not plunging heedlessly. We'll see what another week's mail brings and then I may make a choice."

"Have you enough money to start a home?"

"Laws, no! That's what I want. I want a woman who's got a home and a piano and who can sing and make music to put me to sleep. I want a good sensible woman with her own home who is willing to be my housekeeper there on trial. If I like her I will marry her."

Baldwin has been a farm laborer all his life. He said his wardrobe consisted of the overalls he was wearing, that he never wore a "boiled shirt" or white collar in his life, and that he never had his boots polished. He prided himself on being "rough and ready."

LOCAL BANKS FALL IN LINE

Make Application to Join the Federal Reserve System.

Duluth's four national banks will join the Federal reserve system.

Such was the decision reached in the passing of concurrent resolutions to that effect at their annual meetings yesterday. This resolution of the shareholders will be acted upon at the organization meeting of the American Exchange National bank to be held this afternoon, and at the meetings of the First National and City National banks to be held probably during the present week.

The Northern National bank directors concurred in the resolution yesterday. The applications of the banks will be forwarded to Washington within a few days.

No changes were made in the directorates of the institutions, the personnel being the same as appeared in The Herald yesterday.

"BE CONCILIATORY" IS SAVAGE'S ADVICE

Head of Independent Telephone Men Addresses Convention.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—The most important event that has occurred in the telephone business, according to Manford Savage, president of the National Independent Telephone association, was the recent decision of the American Telephone & Telegraph company to dissolve—in accordance with the wishes of the department of justice—the connection between the Western Union company and the telephone system.

In his address to the annual convention of the association, Mr. Savage declared that the independent telephone men had now the opportunity to establish their independent footing if they would unite upon a plan of action. It was the sense of the independents that local exchanges and short, long-distance lines should be owned by local companies, he said, and that the country-wide long distance lines should be a common carrier available to all. A conciliatory attitude on the part of the independents was recommended by Mr. Savage.

WOULD COLLECT ON PROMISSORY NOTES.

Two suits on promissory notes were started in district court this morning by Ada L. Cash. In one action she is seeking to recover $800 and interest from Erick Bergquist and wife on a note which became due in 1904 and on which interest was paid up to 1912, and in the other suit she asks for judgment on an unpaid promissory note for $500 given in 1909 by August Sieger and his wife. Both of the notes were secured by mortgages on city property and the court is asked to order a sale of the property to satisfy her claim.

ASKS DIVORCE ON DESERTION CHARGES.

On the grounds of desertion, Elizabeth Manley Burke, 28, started suit for divorce this morning in district court from Arthur J. Burke, 37, to whom she was married in this city on April 15, 1901. She alleges that he abandoned her on July 19, 1906, and that the last time she heard from him, he was in a mining camp in Montana. She asks the court for allmony and the custody of their two children, Leonard, 10; and Wilfred, 8.

INJURY CASE AGAINST CITY BEING TRIED.

In Judge Fesler's division of the district court this morning, a jury was drawn to try the personal injury suit brought ny Fred Colby against the city and Charlotte C. BEGINS LIFE TERM IN PENITENTIARY.

Jovan Zorola, self-confessed murderer of Patrolman Neil J. Mooney, left this afternoon in the custody of Sheriff John R. Meining for Stillwater, where he will spend the rest of his life.

For quick justice it is believed that the Zorola case will break all records. Within eight days of the time he shot down the officer at New Duluth, he will be in a prison cell as a life convict.

In less than a week after the shootings, he had been captured, indicted, arraigned, and sentenced to life imprisonment. He pleaded guilty to a charge of murder in the first degree.

YOUTH AND AGE TO THE WORK FARM.

Two prisoners, one 61 years old and the other but 22 years of age, were sentenced to the work farm for thirty days each by Judge Windom when arraigned in police court this morning. Patrick Murphy, bent and gray and shaking from the effects of protracted indulgence in strong drink, admitted that he had been drunk.

George Rice, strong and healthy, confessed to being of the class which neither toils nor spins. They will be taken to the work farm this afternoon or tomorrow to start sessions of thirty days, during which time they will renew their acquaintance with manual labor.

ANOTHER ARREST IN LEEGSON CASE.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—Isaac Bond, the latest negro suspect wanted in connection with the murder last October of Miss Ida Leegson, an art student, was arrested here today. He declared he was innocent. Bond was released from the penitentiary at Jefferson City, Mo., last August after serving a term for the murder of one David Jones at Cape Girardeau, Mo., in September, 1908.

A photograph of Bond was identified as that of the man who pawned some of Miss Leegson's jewelry the day after the murder. The identification was by Max Binkovitz, a clerk in the pawnshop of Eli Nierman, with whom the jewelry was pledged.

D., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Encouraged by the hope of congress passing a bill to provide for additional architects, the people of Dickinson are hoping to secure the Federal building. The bill for the appropriation passed both branches of congress and was signed more than a year ago.

WANTED PROTECTION DESPITE HIS SIZE.

Abraham Davis is about twice as big as Abraham Levine. The two men were arrested on charges of disorderly conduct, the police asserting that they were fighting in a room at 1609 West Michigan street. They were arraigned in police court yesterday afternoon and both denied the allegation. The court allowed them to go on their own recognizance after ordering them to appear this afternoon for trial. As they were about to leave, Davis, who is a giant beside Levine, asked Capt. Fiskett to provide him with a bodyguard to escort him home. "And Davis had with him another man who was to act as a witness for him," said the captain.

GREAT HELP TO FARMERS

North Dakota Better Farming Movement Is Accomplishing Much.

Annual Report of President Thomas Cooper Details 1913 Work.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Better Farming movement's achievements in North Dakota in 1913 was set forth in the annual report of Secretary and Director Thomas P. Cooper, issued today.

Of the fifty counties in North Dakota twenty-two are united in the Better Farming movement, or about one-third the actual area of the state and practically one-half the best agricultural sections.

Engaged in the work in this area are twenty-five male field agents and one field woman, whose efforts are being made to introduce labor-saving devices and more sanitary methods into the rural homes of the state and to lighten the burdens of the women on the farms.

Co-operates With Many Farmers.

The Better Farming association has the direct co-operation of 5,165 farmers and in the territory in which the field agents operate 22 per cent of the farmers are co-operating in some form.

The field agents have 44,612 acres of land in the co-operation with the farmers and in addition there are many thousands of acres that are directly affected as a result of the partial adoption of the plans of the field agents by farmers who are not co-operating under the supervision of the agents.

An appeal which cannot be ignored is made directly to the pocketbook of the farmers by the showing that the additional crops grown on acreage actually under the direction of the field agents was $114,000 last year, and the fact that the average yields of the demonstration farms was greater than that of the fields farmed in the ordinary way to the extent of: Corn, 11 bushels; wheat, 5.5; oats, 6.2; barley, 6.4; rye, 3; potatoes, 26 bushels, and clover, 4 tons.

The field agents were instrumental in the distribution of 30,000 of alfalfa seed and had 3,612 acres of alfalfa directly under their supervision. This yielded in two cuttings an average of 2.3 tons per acre.

Encourage Livestock Industry.

It was in the introduction of additional livestock into the state that the work of the field agents was of a nature that will be most lasting. Dairy and beef cattle types of pure bred and high grades they were directly responsible for the shipment into the state of 3,600 cows. In addition there are 168 thoroughbred sires. The benefit of these in the improvement of the cattle already in the state will be most marked in the future years. There were 15,590 sheep brought into the state as well as a large number of hogs.

During 1913 the association was responsible for the conducting of another corn contest in which the youth of the state participated and a Ransom county boy won first honors with a yield of 106 bushels of matured corn.

The first pork production contest ever held in the United States was also conducted under the auspices of the association.

The field agents were directly responsible for the construction of eighty-one silos during 1913 and in their territory 150 new ones were built, and increased interest in dairying and raising and finishing beef for market has been created.

ASHLAND SCHOOL BOARD IS WINNER

Patron Loses Suit to Reinstate Daughter in School.

Ashland, Wis., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The mandamus proceedings instituted by E. H. Allen against the local school board to compel that body to reinstate his daughter in the public schools was dismissed by Judge Risjord in circuit court.

Allen objected to his daughter taking the physical culture exercise as prescribed by the school board on the ground that a parent had a right to designate what studies his child should take and which not to take. He objected because he said the girl had to wear bloomers, take shower baths and to exercise before a man instructor.

Bloomers Not Required.

The board in its answer replied that bloomers were not required, and that shower baths were optional which practically left the question up to whether the parents had the right to designate the studies of their children regardless of the state law requiring certain studies or the school board to provide a course of study.

Free To Men!

Strength and Vigor

New Invention

COURAGE NEVER FORSAKES THE MANLY MAN.

A new Sanden mechanical invention for the easy self-use of debilitated or enervated men, will interest a certain percentage who need that kind of aid, but the little illustrated treatise on sex, described below (sent free, sealed, by mail for the asking) is of interest TO ALL MEN, young and elderly alike. It should be in the hands of every man in the world who can read the English language. To date over a million copies of this private treatise have been printed and sent out free. Nothing like it was ever before published.

Mr. Reader: If you want the whole simplified truth, as I see it, in relation to that now widely discussed and vastly important phase of the sex subject which we call MANLY STRENGTH: if you want to know its legitimate uses, what you should or should not do to preserve it, how to make the proper efforts to restore it when once lost, and just what are the real and what are the imaginary results of certain forms of abuse which, unfortunately, are world-wide: if you want all this information, gleaned during my 30 years' practical experience in this field, all told in the simplest form, condensed, revised and systematized for the easy reading of men the world over, then you may have it free in my little treatise (book form), containing 8,000 words and 30 half-tone photo reproductions. Everything is complete. Please see coupon below.

SANDEN, Author.

As to my mechanical device, the Sanden Vitalizer, that may interest you as being a clever invention, even if you do not require a "strengthener" in your own case. In fact, I always send an illustrated description of it as a part of my free book on sex subjects. This little vitalizer represents the very latest scientific idea in mechanical self-treatment. It is entirely separate and apart from drugs or medicines. It is complete in itself. Nothing but the vitalizer is to be used. It weighs only several ounces, and is worn on the body all night. It generates a continuous, perceptible, though pleasant flow of a marvellous FORCE which I call VITALITY. The system appears to absorb this FORCE while you sleep. Men everywhere have said my Vitalizer takes pain out of the back almost at once and restores manly strength in 60 to 90 days. Over 200,000 of these Vitalizers are now in use or have recently been used by men, and generally after every other known treatment failed.

I send some special attachments with the Vitalizer, so it may be used by women as well as by men, where there is rheumatism, kidney, liver, stomach, bladder disorders, etc. You may not need the Vitalizer, but if you do I will be pleased to make some liberal proposition whereby you may have one to wear. We can correspond about that later, if you so wish, but first get the free book that you may know all.

Do you know, my friend, that this mysterious energy which we call Manhood or Manly Strength represents the BIG power which is behind every worthy achievement of our day? And if through the medium of the printed words in my little free book I may be the means of changing you or any other man from a state of physical debility and weakness into one of full vital, manly vigor, then I give you a foundation of energy and power which puts you in the same class with the biggest, strongest, most vital fellow of your acquaintance.

Men as well as women, everywhere, are influenced and charmed by that natural force which the truly manly man ever radiates. Get my free book and see what you can learn about your own vitality which you do not now know.

A call at my office, if you live in or near this city, will enable you to test the force of the Vitalizer as it is generated. Office hours, 9 to 6. Sunday, 10 to 1. Or otherwise please write for the free book.

WHAT MY FREE BOOK GIVES YOU

As stated elsewhere, by sending me the coupon below, you are entitled to receive by return mail, sealed, my little illustrated book of advice on sex subjects, and I will include, as well, a full description of the Sanden Vitalizer, telling you upon what terms you may have one for your own use if you wish to try one. Therefore, please send coupon today.

ALANGO TOWNSHIP OFFICERS ENJOINED

Prevented By Court Order From Paying for Surveying.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—An order has been issued by Judge Hughes restraining the officials of the township of Alango from paying $600 to A. E. Dyer, county surveyor. Mr. Dyer and his assistants surveyed a quarter section of land in the township, but Fred Soarl, the plaintiff in the case, contends that the township officials failed to pass a resolution properly awarding the contract.

It is said the township supervisors entered into a contract with the county surveyor on June 1, 1913, and he was to receive $10 a day. The township officials are temporarily enjoined from paying Mr. Dyer and his men and are ordered to show cause why the injunction should not be made permanent. The case will be heard in district court here.

Overpaid on Contract.

The Colvin-Robb Lumber company of Eveleth has commenced suit in district court against Frank J. Hughes of this city, claiming that he has been overpaid on a logging contract. It is claimed that they made a contract with him to cut 75,000 feet of logs and that on April 21, 1913, they paid him $2,555, and that after the payment had been made they found a mistake and asked Hughes to have the logs rescaled. This, it is claimed, he refused to do, and subsequently a rescale was made by the surveyor general of logs and lumber for the district, which disclosed that Hughes had been overpaid the sum of $910.61, for which they ask judgment. Crassweller, Crassweller & Blu of Duluth are the attorneys for the plaintiff and Ernest B. Mills of Virginia for the defendant.

ALICE VILLAGE TO HAVE SEWER

Hibbing Council Will Heed Request From That Section.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Action on the employment of a visiting nurse recommended to the council by a local physician was deferred at the meeting last evening pending a report from the health department on the necessity of such an official and the scope of her work.

It is understood that the school authorities and women's clubs of the village are heartily in favor of the move and that petitions will be presented to the health board or council urging favorable action.

Alice to Have Sewer.

A committee of Alice residents who appeared before the council last evening with a request that steps be taken towards the construction of a sewer system in that rapidly growing section were informed after they had advanced their arguments that the council had already ordered plans and specifications prepared for a connecting ditch between Alice and the main sewer ditch now being built south of the village proper and that workmen would be started on a portion of the ditch next week. It was explained to the committee that it would be impossible to start any system until the big sewer ditch had been completed and that the Alice project was a tremendous one owing to the different grades.

Clerks' Salaries Raised.

The salaries of the present clerks in the accountant's office were raised, one additional clerk was added and another man will be secured for a week or ten days in an effort to get the books posted up to date so that the expert accountant may not be delayed in his investigation which started today. Messrs. Junker and Fleming were given the increases and placed in charge of the office and Joe Haley was added to the staff.

CONTRACTORS TO REFUND TO CITY

Will Pay Back to Virginia If Overpayment Can Be Shown.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—City Engineer E. F. Johnson in a report to the city council last night explained the overpayments to paving contractors, which are alleged to have been discovered by the chartered accountants during a recent investigation of permanent improvements made during the years 1910, 1911 and 1912.

Mr. Johnson claims that the engineer in the employ of the accountants in measuring the paving omitted 1 per cent of the actual width of the street and that had this been included the figures submitted by the auditors and the original measurements made by him would have checked within a few square yards. Accompanying the report was a letter from H. L. Bartlett & Co., general contractors, in which they stated that if it could be shown that they had been overpaid on their contract they were willing to make an immediate refund.

Wants Some City Money.

B. N. Jercissati filed notice through his attorneys of a claim against the city for personal injuries in the sum of $500. Mr. Jercissati was riding in a hack in a funeral procession from Eveleth to Virginia on Dec. 23, 1913, and when the procession was near the Auburn dump a blast was fired by a gang of men in the employ of the street department of the city. The dirt from the blast was thrown over 200 feet and a large quantity of it alighted on the horses and hack which Mr. Jercissati was occupying. The horses became frightened and ran away and the hack was badly demolished. Mr. Jercissati received injuries to his back, right arm and was also cut about the head. John Ellerd, the driver of the hack, was also badly injured and he has also filed a claim against the city for $500. The matter was referred to City Attorney D. D. Morgan.

New Precinct Not Feasible.

City Attorney Morgan reported that in his opinion the establishment of a second precinct in the First ward, for the accommodation of voters on the North side, which was petitioned for at last week's meeting of the council, is not feasible at this time for the reason that the time before election is too short to take the necessary steps for the establishment of the new voting place.

The street and alley committee was empowered to purchase 400 feet of hose to be used in flooding the municipal skating rinks.

TOWER COMMERCIAL CLUB HAS ELECTION

A. H. Lofgren Chosen President and Reports of Officer Heard.

Tower, Minn., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—At its annual meeting Monday nihgt the Commercial club elected A. H. Lofgren president; G. C. Carlson, vice president; W. G. Gallien, secretary, and J. D. Murphy, treasurer. The directors elected were: Dr. R. L. Burns, I. G. Ketcham and J. B. Frederickson.

The reports of Vice President Olson and Secretary Gallien showed the club had had a successful year. There were thirty-nine members in good standing at the close of 1913. The vice president made several recommendations, which, if carried out, will do much to forward the interests of Tower and Lake Vermilion. The treasurer's report showed a healthy financial condition.

I. G. Ketcham and J. P. Scanlon were elected to membership. The club is now in the fourth year of its activity and has accomplished much good for the city, among the most important of which was the dredging of the river the past summer.

HIBBING COUNCIL TO AID MOVEMENT

Will Help Scheme of Having Trolley Line Carry Mail.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hibbing will do its share toward urging the adoption of a mail service by the Mesaba Electric company, the council last night authorizing the recorder to write a letter to the postoffice department to send a man to investigate the subject.

Thad S. Benn appeared before the council on behalf of the Mountain Iron club, the originators of the movement, and said that the other villages along the line of the road had taken similar action and asked that Hibbing do all in its power to secure the innovation.

Plan Pouch System.

The present idea is to have a pouch system operating between the different villages, the cars being met by a representative of the postoffice at the different stations to take the pouches to the offices where the mail will be distributed. The car employes will not be authorized to accept letters on the cars but will only take the sealed pouches given them by the postoffice officials.

It is understood that the officials of the road are favorable to such a plan, though the compensation they will receive for the trouble will be very small.

BAR SALOON KEEPERS FROM CITY COMMISSION

Madison, Wis., Jan. 14.—The state supreme court yesterday sustained as constitutional the commission form of government in Appleton, by deciding in behalf of the Appleton board of fire and police commissioners in the suit brought against it by William Bloomer, a discharged policeman.

The court holds constitutional the provision that no saloon keeper shall be eligible as a member of the commission. The court says the office is not a constitutional one and also justifies the law on the assumption that possibly, if one or more retail liquor dealers were placed on the governing board of a city, their private interests might conflict with their duty to the public. This is held as a legitimate reason for their disqualification.

Bloomer, in his contention before the supreme court, claimed his removal was illegal because the police and fire commission which was in existence when the city changed to the commission form was the only legal board authorized to remove from the force.

MOTHER! IS CHILD'S STOMACH SOUR, SICK?

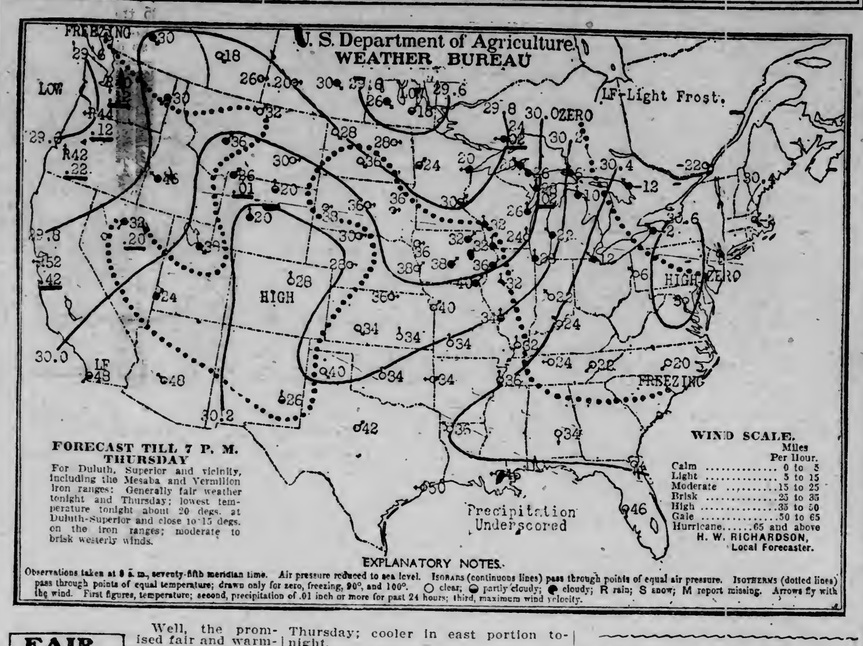

If Cross, Feverish, Constipated, Give "California Syrup of Figs."

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

RENOVATING OLD PAVING

Cincinnati Not Resurfacing With Concrete, as Understood Here.

Successful in Filling Interstices With Grout Flush to Top.

That Cincinnati has been resurfacing some old granite block pavements with concrete, using the old granite blocks as a foundation and the concrete as a wearing surface, is incorrect, as shown by correspondence between City Engineer John Wilson and Charles Wuest, Jr., assistant engineer of highways of Cincinnati.

The suggestion was recently made that Superior street might be treated in a similar manner and for that reason City Engineer Wilson wrote Cincinnati's engineering department for definite information.

The Cincinnati engineer replied that his city has been doing some work along the line of reconstructing old granite block pavements, but that the method has been to fill the interstices between the blocks with grout, bringing them up flush with the top. A smooth surface has been obtained by troweling the grout on top of the blocks and working it over the blocks with "squeegees" with a rubber or leather edge. This is also done in Duluth for grout fillings, but none of the concrete is left on top of the paving blocks.

Engineer Wuest writes that in a number of instances it was necessary to entirely replace the old blocks with new granite. He states that in many instances it was found necessary, principally on account of the temperature, to keep streets blocked to traffic for two or three weeks. He says that while the pavements have not been down a sufficient length of time to determine whether they will give entirely satisfactory service, he believes that the ultimate result will be satisfactory and economical.

City Engineer Wilson says that the method followed in Cincinnati has been illustrated in Duluth on parts of Superior street. The whole street has not been treated in this manner but various sections have been so rebuilt. Among them was the pavement replaced after a long strip had been removed to enable conduits to be placed underground. Grouting was used to fill the interstices and floated over the top to give a smooth surface. That part of the street was closed to traffic until the concrete filler had set.

The pieces which have been treated in that manner are now in better condition than rest of the pavement, according to the engineer. He says that where the city has made repairs a pitch filler has been used in order that the least possible interference with traffic should be caused, but finds that the results have not been nearly as good as where the grout filler was used.

COAL HEAVIER WITH EVERY MOVE MADE

Evidence Is Introduced in Western Fuel Company Case.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 14.—Coal bought and sold by the Western Fuel company became heavier every time it was rehandled, according to figures from the company's books read in court by the government. Eight directors and employes of the company are on trial under charges of defrauding the government by obtaining undeserved customs rebates.

An instance presented by the government was the discharge of 8,418 tons of imported coal into the steamer Algoa in 1908. The coal remained there eighteen months, and when it was taken out it weighed, according to the books, 859 tons more than when it went in. From barges the same coal was loaded into American steamers with a jump in weight, and upon this final weight the company collected a customs rebate.

Edwin P. Powers, former assistant superintendent for the company, testified that although only one in every fifteen buckets was weighed, he never had received instructions from the company to make this fifteenth bucket heavier than the others.

FILM COMPANY IS TRUST IN TEXAS.

Austin, Tex., Jan. 14.—The General Film company of New York pleaded guilty to violating the monopoly section of the Texas anti-trust law, paid a fine of $25,000 and was enjoined from discriminating in the distribution of its films against exhibitors who deal also with so-called "independent" producers.

Actress Tells Secret

A Well Known Actress Tells How She Darkened Her Gray Hair and Promoted Its Growth With a Simple Home Made Mixture.

Miss Blanche Rose, a well-known actress, who darkened her gray hair with a simple preparation which she mixed at home, in a recent interview at Chicago, Ill., made the following statement: "Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray hair and make it soft and glossy with this simple recipe, which they can mix at home. To a half pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ oz. of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the required shade. This will make a gray haired person look 20 years younger. It is also fine to promote the growth of hair, relieves itching and scalp humors and is excellent for dandruff and falling hair.

THREE INDICTED FOR ROBBERY

J. Sparski Identifies Men Who "Strongarmed" and Robbed Him.

Joe Vaska, 26, Frank Liman, 27, and Mike Grbich, 24, the trio alleged to have "strongarmed" and robbed John Sparski of $25 on the evening of Jan. 7 at Eighth avenue west and Superior street, were jointly indicted in a true bill which was returned by the January grand jury which made a second partial report to Judge Cant in district court yesterday afternoon.

Sparski claims that he met the three men and that they induced him to start out with them to Superior. They had no sooner lured him from the glare of a saloon window, he claims, than he was set upon and robbed. He claims that one of the men grabbed his arms, another held his legs and the third relieved him of his roll. The robbers escaped. Later in the evening three men were picked up as suspects. Sparski identified the defendants as the men who had committed the robbery.

The grand jury yesterday afternoon also returned eight other indictments, which were secret, the defendants not being in custody. In his first report, the jury returned seven indictments and four no-true bills. Yesterday's report, it is understood, will dispose of practically all of the criminal cases presented before the grand jury at this term of court. The jury, however, will probably be engaged the remainder of the week in investigating charges which have been made against the police department.

During the week, the jury may return a special report on county institutions which they have inspected through committees. Sheriff John R. Jolning and County Commissioners Walter Swanstrom, John Tischer and Alex Frazer have been called before the grand jury as witnesses. It is believed that the jury wanted their testimony with reference to the county jail situation.

HAVE YOU HAD THE GRIP!

There are certain disorders, such as the grip, that especially debilitate and make the body an easy prey for more dangerous diseases. Ask those who have had the grip regarding the present condition of their health and most of them will answer: "Since I had the grip I have never been well." They still have profuse perspiration, the persistent weakness of the limbs, the disordered digestion, shortness of breath and palpitation of the heart caused by the thin-blooded condition in which the grip almost always leaves its victim after the fever and influenza have subsided. They are furthermore, at the mercy of relapses and of complications, often very serious. In an attack of the grip there is a rapid thinning of the blood and not until the blood is built up again is complete health restored.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills quickly make the blood rich and red, drive out the lingering germs from the system and transform despondent grip victims into cheerful, healthy men and women.

Farmers Beat Good Roads.

Rochester, Minn., Jan. 14.—Efforts for the construction of roads under the Elwell law in Olmstead county, that would eventually give a state road from Stewartville to this city, and from this city on to the Twin Cities, have met with failure, because of the intense agitation against the proposition among farmers in the county.

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a tablespoonful of Salts if Back hurts or Bladder bothers.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active. Agent, Wirth's Red Cross Drug Store, 13 West Superior street.

IT'S REALLY GETTING QUITE SAFE TO VENTURE OUT.

GRAFT BOOK BEFORE JURY

Madame Gain Subpoenaed--Statute of Limitations May Apply.

Slow progress is being made by the January grand jury in its police department probe and it is doubtful if the investigation will be completed before the end of the week.

Mary Le Flohic, alias Madam Gain, formerly a notorious resort keeper of this city, was served with a subpoena yesterday while at the courthouse.

It is understood that she will be asked to bring her so-called "graft" book before the grand jury showing, according to the editor of the morning paper, where $40,000 has been paid out to policemen during her days in Duluth's restricted district.

It is thought unlikely that should any such revelation be made that the grand jury will indict any member of the police force who might have been in the service at the time when the madam was engaged in immoral traffic on St. Croix avenue. The graft charges, if any might be brought, are outlawed, it is believed, by the statute of limitations.

Among the witnesses called before the grand jury this morning were ex-Mayor Marcus B. Cullum, Mr. and Mrs. Fred McCaskill, Otto H. Haebnke, and Hugh Wakefield. Among the witnesses yesterday afternoon were R. A. Simpson, janitor for the Duluth Telephone company, B. P. Garnett, Lars Rue, nd James G. Dunne.

TANGO POPULAR WITH NEW YORK SKATERS

MARGARET MASON AND PARTNER.

This has been such a mild winter that there has been little chance for ice sports around New York. The winter dwellers at Tuxedo, however, seized on one cold day to get out on the ice and made the most of the brief freezing spell. One way in which they enjoyed themselves was in waltzing and trotting and tangoing on the ice. This picture shows Miss Margaret Mason, the daughter of Mrs. George Grant Mason, taking a few tango steps with a partner. Ice tangoing is regarded as the very latest thing in winter dance diversion.

JIM HILL PAYS $1,000 FOR EAR

Is Shown 14-Inch Minnesota-Grown Corn at St. Paul.

He Advises Farmers to Turn Attention to Alfalfa.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—James J. Hill today paid $1,000 for a glimpse of a 14-inch ear of Minnesota-grown corn. John J. Furlong, president of the Minnesota State Agricultural society, produced the 14-inch ear at the session of the society at the capital this morning, and Mr. Hill, the principal speaker at the morning session, said he would make good his promise to pay $1,000 to Mr. Furlong should the latter obtain such a sample of corn grown in this state.

At the close of Mr. Hill's address, President Furlong produced the corn. He exhibited several 14-inch ears, declaring they were "samples he had brought from home."

Mr. Furlong explained to the delegates that he and Mr. Hill some months ago were discussing crop conditions in Minnesota and Mr. Hill had asked him about the large ears grown in the state. He told Mr. Hill that 14-inch corn could be grown here.

"I promised to produce some fourteen-inch ears for Mr. Hill and I take pleasure in showing them," Mr. Furlong said as he presented the ears to Mr. Hill.

And Hill Paid.

"Yes," replied Mr. Hill, "and if I remember the conversation correctly I promised to pay you $1,000 if you produced such ears. These are certainly fine ears, and I will give you a check."

Mr. Hill addressed the 400 delegates for two hours this morning on farming conditions in Minnesota. He said he looked for the time when alfalfa would be looked upon by farmers of Minnesota as wheat has been regarded. He said alfalfa could be grown in every part of the state, and that its production will improve not only the pocketbook, but also the state of the human mind, thereby eliminiting that state of mind which causes people to go elsewhere in search of gold.

He considered agriculture better than a gold mine, asserting that the farm crops of the United States in one year produced more wealth than all the gold mines of the world in twenty years.

WHITE SALE

"When You Think of White—Think of Gray's," It Pays—Here's Pleasant Proof

You find what you want—in the year's best assortments—at the year's lowest prices—at Gray's, now. The daily crowds of eager buyers—the good-natured way they wait their turn—tell a story that needs no explanation. By way of reminder we simply hint at some of the reasons below:

The January Sale of Undermuslins Is a Time and Money Saver!

The 1914 styles require especially snug-fitting under garments that produce no suggestion of bulkiness, and our January White Sale offers the proper garments.

The flat trimming is a style feature of many of our undermuslins. The slashed skirt effects in the new combination Princess Slips and Underskirts are in evidence here.

Have You Seen How Pretty and Practical the New Marcella Garments Are?

Last year we found it difficult to supply the demand, and this year the new styles almost require Marcella undermuslins. The Marcella combinations are especially practical, combining in one garment a short skirt—a closed drawer—and an open drawer.

Prices range $1.00 to $3.00 the garment; some especially good values are offered at $1.25 and $2.00.

BROKEN LINES OF CORSETS AT BROKEN PRICES.

$1.00 for Dainty Gowns
Several choice styles—a big order, placed opportunely, enables us to make the price only a dollar.

Among the New Styles of Lingerie brought from Paris was a Charming Princess Slip which cost the American Factory $37.00

The clever designers of the American Maker have produced a similar garment following closely the same lines and same style, but by using less expensive laces, though equally beautiful in design, and cloth costing no more than women are accustomed to pay—the result is a stylish, distinctive, well-made Princess Slip that we can offer you at only $3.50.

Most women would prefer to buy these garments at $3.50 than the French hand-made high duty paid garments which would be $37.00.

WHEAT CLOSES AT THE TOP

Market Gains at Finish With Strength in Coarse Grains.

Flaxseed Bulges on Good Buying by Crushers Through Session.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 14.—The market was strong at the close in sympathy with coarse grains. May wheat closed ½c up and July ⅝c up. May durum closed ¼c up.

Oats closed ⅝c up at 36¾@37⅜c. Rye closed unchanged at 52½@55½c and barley unchanged at from 45c to 67c.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 88⅛@88¼c bid, and calls at 88½@88⅝c bid.

At Winnipeg, January oats closed at 33½c and May at 37⅛c.

In keeping with higher Liverpool cables, light receipts and a stronger position in coarse grains, the wheat market was stronger up to the final hour today. Business, however, was in small volume, and the market was featureless.

Strength was helped along by a higher closing in Buenos Ayres as a result of further bullish news regarding the crop yield over there. Advices were also at hand to the effect that fears of damage to the winter crop in this country are entertained as a result of the plant being without snow protection in some sections, and alternately freezing and thawing out.

Inspections at Duluth today were only 39 cars against 142 last year, but at Minneapolis they came to one more than last year with 270 cars. Arrivals at Winnipeg were only 80 cars compared with 387 a year ago, the movement being held up by the wave of cold weather which swept over the Canadian West. Over 250 cars were reported as in sight up there for tomorrow.

Stocks of all grains in Duluth elevators have increased 211,000 bu in the last three days and now aggregate 18,601,000 bu of which 12,404,000 bu are wheat.

May wheat opened unchanged at 88⅜c and gained ¾c during the first three hours' business. The July option opened ⅛c up at 90¼c and strengthened ⅛c more.

May durum opened unchanged at 87⅞c and advanced ¼c.

Flax Closes Strong.

Flaxseed was strong at the opening today on the execution of a number of buying orders. These filled, the market turned sluggish throughout the session with trades being put through on a basis of from ⅜c to ⅝c over yesterday's close. On the appearance of further near the close quotations firmed up again and final prices showed advances of 1c in each option.

Small receipts and a higher closing at Buenos Ayres were bullish factors. Business was confined to the May option.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.51¼ and closed at $1.55¼. The May option closed at $1.51¼ nominally.

At Winnipeg, January flax closed at $1.29¾ and May at $1.36 asked.

Parker Paine received the following from Kansas City: "The past ten days have been trying ones on wheat. Temperatures have alternated from 40 degs. above to 15 degs. below freezing, thawing one day and freezing solid the next. Yellow spots appearing on the soft wheat are numerous."

At Minneapolis the cash demand was fair for top grades, but slow for the ordinary offerings. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at from 1c over May to 1½c under, and velvet chaff at from 1c to 1½c discount. There were some scattered flour sales in small lots, and a little for export. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from 86⅞c to 89⅜c and No. 2 northern at from 84⅜c to 86⅜c.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Wheat is steady on unfavorable weather in Argentina and reports of closing of navigation on the Danube. The market was dull, with some realizing on a quieter demand for both Plata and Manitoba parcels.

"Corn was lower on cheaper new Plata offers and rain in Argentina. The Danube continues to offer freely."

Baker received the following wire from Chicago today: "With American spot corn selling around 88c and Liverpool and La Plata selling at from 2 to 3c discount, it shows there is not only a big discrepancy in the merit of La Plata corn, but it also makes our price of May corn look low to me."

Price Current of Cincinnati says: "Winter conditions now prevail over the grain belt, and although there is lack of snow covering, the soil is in a good state to take a freeze without doing damage to the winter plant. Alternate freezing and thawing, which is the great danger in an open winter, has not yet occurred to any extent. The country seems to be willing to sell corn. Hog slaughterings for the week ending Jan. 10, were 685,000 compared with 635,000 for the preceding week and 690,000 for the corresponding period one year ago."

A petition is being prepared on the produce exchange, New York, for the purpose of making Buffalo a delivery point on grain contracts. Buffalo is a distributing point whereby grain can be shipped to all North Atlantic ports for export and be distributed through the East for milling. Such a delivery is regarded as very important if the Canadian government acts favorably on the question of free wheat, which will come up at the meeting of parliament this month.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Go Up on Reports of Damage.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—Reports of damage by alternate freezing and thawing in the winter crop belt sent wheat prices upgrade today. Bullish sentiment was increased by rains in Argentina and to the closing of navigation on the Danube. There was liberal selling, however, on the advance. Opening figures were ⅛c to ¼c higher and the market scored a further gain.

Continued export demand for hard winter wheat kept the market pointed upward. The close was strong, ⅞c above last night.

Assertions that shipping demand had considerably improved helped make corn firm. Commission houses for the most part lined up on the bull side. Prices started ⅛c to ⅜@½@2c higher, and continued to climb.

Three separate concerns bought more than a million bushels each. Argentine offerings at the seaboard were said to have dried up. The close was strong, ⅞c net higher.

Oats rose with other grain. Traders, though, were more evenly divided than in the neighboring pits.

An advance in hog prices gave the provision market strength. First sales ranged from 5c to 17½c higher, with an additional subsequent upturn.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Market Under Pressure in Morning But Develops Better Tone.

Bullish Operations Resumed on Large Scale and Prices Rise.

New York, Jan. 14.—Special movements among shares of secondary importance provided a cover for profit-taking sales in the active list this morning. After these offerings were absorbed prices moved upward again, but subsequently the list weakened.

Steel was under pressure at the hands of professionals, who based their operations on the expectations that the forthcoming quarterly report would be unfavorable. Weakness of copper metal abroad was reflected in a mild degree here. Fluctuations were usually narrow until shortly before noon, when the whole list moved off. Reading and Lehigh Valley declined 1.

Bonds were firm.

Aside from a few of the less active stocks, there were on fluctuations of consequence at the opening of the market today. Trading was fairly active and the undertone was good. Texas company continued its rapid reaction from the high level reached on Monday, declining 1½. American tobacco also lost 1½. Louisville and Rock Island preferred rose 1.

Offerings of large amounts of Steel gave direction to the early market, but the relapse was trivial in the leading shares. Oil stocks broke badly, Texas company losing 3 and Mexican Petroleum 5 points.

Professional selling let up in the afternoon and the market had a better tone. Acute weakness of some of the specialties was due to efforts to realize.

Investment buying caused substantial advances in some high priced railroad shares and the whole market was more active and higher. Atlantic Coast Line and Louisville & Nashville improved 3 points each.

The market closed firm. The shorts scrambled to cover when bullish operations were resumed on a large scale. Heavy buying orders were executed all around the room. Prices mounted 1 to 2 points above yesterday's closing.

KONKEL MAY BE RECALLED

Petition Already Being Circulated As Result of Vice Disclosures.

A petition for the recall of Mayor Konkel was started last night at a meeting of the Brotherhood societies of the First Methodist church of the East end. The petition had the names of fifty signers, according to a statement made by Rev. Mr. Knowles, pastor of the church. Watson S. Moore of Duluth was one of the principal speakers of the evening.

Similar petitions will, it is said, be circulated among the various men's clubs of the different churches during the next two weeks and according to the promoters of the petition it is expected to have enough signers so that it may go before the people for election at the primary day.

The recent investigation made by the Wisconsin vice commission, relative to the non-enforcement of the laws regulating saloons, houses of illfame, pool rooms and other resorts, is the principal reason why the petitions have been started at this time. It is also intimated that petitions for the recall of some other public officials may be started.

Railroads

PRIVILEGE IS GIVEN LOCKPORT

Milling-in-Transit Allowed at New York Point.

Washington, Jan. 14.—The shippers' privilege of milling wheat at Lockport, N. Y., in transit from Minneapolis to New York, without paying more than the rates on flour between the two points plus the regular milling in transit privilege charge was sustained in an order today by the interstate commerce commission. The decision involves lake and rail and Erie canal shipment.

G. Roy Hall, secretary of the traffic commission of the Commercial club, is not in the city today, but C. E. Macdonald, secretary of the board of trade and also a member of the traffic commission, says that he believes the case is similar to that by which Chicago was given a milling-in-transit privilege some time ago.

"At that time," said Mr. Macdonald, "Chicago started a case against Minneapolis to have the rate on flour lowered from 10 to 7½ cents. This was denied but Chicago was granted a milling-in-transit privilege. It appears to me that the Lockport case is much the same, and that the Chicago case has simply been extended so that Lockport will be included in the privilege."

RATE INCREASE IS SUSPENDED

Necessity of Advance on Potatoes to Be Investigated.

Washington, Jan. 14. — Increased rates of 2 cents per 100 pounds on potatoes in carloads from Minnesota, Wisconsin and South Dakota, producing points to Louisville, Cincinnati, Jeffersonville, Ind., and a number of other general freight association territory points which were to have become operative Thursday, were suspended yesterday by the interstate commerce commission for four months, pending an investigation.

This will affect Duluth territory, chiefly along the Great Northern, running through Itasca county and the northwestern part of the state; and also south of here around Princeton, Milaca, and other points. It is said to have no local effect.

RAIL COMMISSION TO DECIDE CASE

North Dakota Body Will Not Further Delay Excess Baggage Ruling.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state railway commission refuses to grant a further postponement of the excessive baggage case preferred by the traveling men against the railways, claiming too exorbitant rates on excess baggage. After hearing the roads here the commission adjourned and stated a decision would be announced later.

The traveling men presented their side of the case last July and the roads asked for a postponement to prepare their side and today wanted longer time that the interstate commerce commission might make a ruling. The commission decided to go ahead and make some kind of a decision and if either side objects the matter can then be appealed.

TO ELECTRIFY 440 MILES OF ROAD

St. Paul Railway Will Use Natural Power Near Puget Sound.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway is preparing to electrify 440 miles of its Puget Sound extension. In this undertaking, seven huge plants will utilize natural waterpower, which up to the present has gone to waste. It is reported that new track work undertaken by the company through Minnesota and Iowa has resulted in eliminating 110 grade crossings, while to further protect the public safety, automatic signals and interlocking plants have been installed over the system.

Officials of the St. Paul road point with pride to a half-century of remarkable development.

From a single track of 200 miles in 1863 the system has expanded to 3,160 miles, a large part of which is double tracked. From one state it has grown to twelve, an empire which contains over 25,000,000 people, which embraces almost one-third of the total area of the United States, and yet which fifty years ago was nearly all an untracked wilderness. The annual wealth production in this territory, estimated to be $10,000,000,000, shows the immensity of this domain and its development.

FATAL CLIFF FALL.

Montana Militiaman Who Worried Coxey's Army Is Dead.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 14.—Gerald Sullivan, one of Montana's best known militia officers, and a former regular army officer, succumbed to injuries Monday afternoon, the result of stumbling over a cliff. Gerald distinguished himself in 1904 by capturing an army of Coxeyites who had stolen a train at Butte and were making their way east. He tore up the track near Fort Keogh and planted a half dozen Gatling guns along the Northern Pacific tracks. He was in at Philippine campaign of the Spanish war.

A TALK TO DEALERS

Advertising is bringing you and the manufacturer closer together. It is reducing the expense of getting goods to market and is putting the middleman in the background.

Most manufacturers are willing to do more than merely ask you to buy their wares.

They are willing to help you sell them. They are willing to come right into the columns of The Herald and make a market for you.

All they ask you is that you show the goods intelligently. In their advertising they are making certain pledges to the public and they want you to help them keep them.

It's something that will be mutually pleasant and mutually profitable.

They want you to push when they pull.

Co-operate with the manufacturer who is willing to help you.
